EX GRATIA PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION TO THE LETELIER AND MOFFITT FAMILIES. BOENINGER AFFIRMED THAT PRESIDENT AYLWIN'S STATEMENT ON THIS MATTER IN HIS NOVEMBER 20 LETTER TO PRESIDENT BUSH REFLECTS THE PRESIDENT'S AND THE GOVERNMENT'S CONSIDERED JUDGEMENT AND FULL CONFIDENCE THAT WITH ELIMINATION OF THE KENNEDY AMENDMENT RESTRICTIONS THEY WILL HAVE THE VOTES NECESSARY IN BOTH THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES AND THE SENATE FOR RATIFICATION OF THE ACCORD.

3. BOENINGER ALSO TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT A SENIOR GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL WOULD BE PREPARED TO GIVE THE SAME ASSURANCE TO MICHAEL MOFFITT. CHILE'S AMBASSADOR TO THE U.S. IS NOW IN SANTIAGO, BUT VICE FOREIGN MINISTER EDMUNDO VARGAS WILL BE IN THE U.S. LATER THIS WEEK AND HE COULD DELIVER SUCH A MESSAGE TO MR. MOFFITT PERSONALLY OR BY TELEPHONE, BOENINGER SAID.

EL SALVADOR: WORLD CALLS FOR END TO FMLN ATTACKS

LAST WEEK, WE SAID EL SALVADOR'S FMLN GUERRILLAS SHOULD "BEGIN TO NEGOTIATE SERIOUSLY TOWARD A CEASE-FIRE AND A FINAL POLITICAL SETTLEMENT." THE FMLN VIOLENCE OF LAST WEEK RESULTED IN OVER 500 CASUALTIES, INCLUDING 179 DEATHS AND 85 CIVILIAN CASUALTIES. FMLN USE OF SURFACE-TO-AIR MISSILES LAST WEEK WAS A SIGNIFICANT ESCALATION OF THE CONFLICT.

THE UNITED STATES IS NOT ALONE IN CALLING FOR AN END TO THE VIOLENCE IN EL SALVADOR:

-- THE PRESIDENTS OF ALL FOUR NEIGHBORING CENTRAL AMERICAN COUNTRIES CALLED FOR "A PROMPT END TO THE MILITARY ACTIONS;"

-- THE COLOMBIAN, MEXICAN AND VENEZUELAN FOREIGN MINISTERS MADE AN APPEAL FOR AN "IMMEDIATE END TO HOSTILITIES;"

-- THE SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTRY SAID THE SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR "CANNOT JUSTIFY A NEW SPIRAL OF VIOLENCE . . . THESE ACTIONS ARE REJECTED BY THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY;"

-- CANADA'S FOREIGN MINISTER SAID, "THIS OFFENSIVE ACTION BY THE FMLN IS A BACKWARD STEP;"

-- SALVADORAN ARCHBISHOP ROSA CHAVEZ TOLD HIS CONGREGATION, "WE CANNOT AGREE WITH THIS OFFENSIVE;" AND

-- THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS ISSUED "A FERVENT APPEAL FOR RESTRAINT . . . SO THAT THE CONTINUING CYCLE OF VIOLENCE DOES NOT JEOPARDIZE THE NEGOTIATING PROCESS."

WE WELCOME PRESIDENT CRISTIANI'S STATEMENT THAT NEGOTIATIONS WILL CONTINUE DESPITE THE FMLN ATTACKS. IT IS TIME FOR THE FMLN TO CEASE ITS ATTACKS AND RETURN TO THE NEGOTIATING TABLE, IN GOOD FAITH AND WITHOUT FURTHER DELAY.

1. SUMMARY: MILITARY COOPERATION IN THE JESUIT

INVESTIGATION HAS BEEN CAUTIOUS AND UNSATISFACTORY, BUT POSSIBLY CORRECT WITHIN THE CONTEXT OF THE SALVADORAN LEGAL SYSTEM. FOR A YEAR THE EMBASSY HAS PRESSURED THE ESAF TO CONDUCT A PARALLEL INVESTIGATION IN SUPPORT OF JUDGE ZAMORA'S INQUIRY. INSTEAD, THE ESAF HAS HALTINGLY AND UNIMAGINATIVELY COMPLIED WITH MOST OF THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE CIVILIAN INVESTIGATION. THE SIU INVESTIGATION PRODUCED THE PRIMARY SUSPECTS WITHIN SEVEN WEEKS OF THE MURDER AND BY MOST ACCOUNTS WAS A REASONABLY COMMENDABLE JOB. SEVERAL ESAF OFFICERS RESPONDED TO JUDGE ZAMORA'S REQUESTS FOR EVIDENCE AND SOME HAVE WAIVED THEIR PRIVILEGE NOT TO APPEAR IN PERSON TO TESTIFY. MOST SIGNIFICANTLY, AN ESAF COLONEL IS UNDER DETENTION AND FACES PRISON FOR THE FIRST TIME IN SALVADORAN MEMORY. ON THE OTHER HAND, ELEMENTS IN THE MILITARY HAVE NOT BEEN HELPFUL. SOME HAVE DESTROYED EVIDENCE, ARRANGED HIGHLY IRREGULAR COUNSEL WITH A SINGLE DEFENSE TEAM AND SIMPLY FAILED TO TELL THE TRUTH. FINALLY, IT SEEMS CLEAR THAT THE HIGH COMMAND KNEW WHO KILLED THE JESUITS SHORTLY AFTER THE CRIME, BUT DID NOT PASS THAT KNOWLEDGE TO COMPETENT AUTHORITY FOR ANOTHER FIVE WEEKS. IT APPEARS THAT THE ESAF BROKERED A SOLUTION THAT WAS ACCEPTABLE TO ITS DISPARATE ELEMENTS AND THEREBY ATTEMPTED TO ESTABLISH THE LIMITS OF THE CIVILIAN INVESTIGATION. END SUMMARY.

THE BOTTOM LINE - SOME POSITIVE RESULTS

2. THE GOOD NEWS IS THAT THE ESAF HAS PROVIDED MORE COOPERATION IN THE JESUIT CASE THAN ANY OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS CASE INVOLVING THE MILITARY TO DATE. FOR THE FIRST TIME AN ESAF COLONEL HAS BEEN INDICTED AND IS

SAN SA 15850 00 OF 03 2723308Z 002441 SO24

BEING HELD. IT NOW APPEARS (THOUGH NOT ASSURED) THAT THE ESAF WILL ALLOW GUILLERMO BENAVIDES MORENO TO BE CONVICTED FOR ORDERING THE MURDER OF THE JESUITS AND SERVE TIME IN JAIL. THE FACT THAT BENAVIDES HAS BEEN UNDER HOUSE ARREST IN THE NATIONAL POLICE FOR ELEVEN MONTHS--RUMORS OF BEACH TRIPS NOTWITHSTANDING--INDICATES THAT THE ESAF IS FINALLY WILLING TO CONCEDE THAT, IN CERTAIN CASES, THE LAW APPLIES EVEN TO COLONELS.

3. THE SIU HAS, BY MOST ACCOUNTS, RUN A PROFESSIONALLY RESPECTABLE INVESTIGATION. WITHIN SEVEN WEEKS AFTER THE MURDER, THE SIU IDENTIFIED ALL OF THE CURRENT SUSPECTS AND OBTAINED CONFESSIONS FROM ALL BUT BENAVIDES, THE ALLEGED INTELLECTUAL AUTHOR OF THE CRIME. US, BRITISH AND SPANISH POLICE EXPERTS HAVE ALL PRAISED THE SIU'S EXECUTION OF A DIFFICULT AND PAINSTAKING INVESTIGATION. THE SIU FOCUSSED ON MILITARY SUSPECTS FROM THE BEGINNING OF ITS INVESTIGATION, APPARENTLY WITHOUT INTERFERENCE. ALTHOUGH SOME ESAF COLLEAGUES HAVE VILLIFIED LTC MANUEL RIVAS FOR HIS ROLE IN THE INVESTIGATION, THE HIGH COMMAND APPARENTLY SUPPORTED HIM IN BRINGING INDICTMENTS AGAINST THE MILITARY SUSPECTS.

4. IT IS ALSO NOTEWORTHY THAT THE MILITARY HAS ALLOWED JUDGE ZAMORA TO CONDUCT HIS INVESTIGATION WITHOUT APPARENT INTERFERENCE. FORMER MOD LARIOS INSTALLED A SPECIAL PHONE LINE TO THE JUDGE TO ALLOW DIRECT COMMUNICATION. COL. PONCE HAS TALKED TO THE JUDGE ON A FEW OCCASIONS. FOR HIS PART, JUDGE ZAMORA IS GRATEFUL FOR THE ESAF'S PROVISION OF ESTADO MAYOR LOG BOOKS AND THE TESTIMONY OF 32 ESAF OFFICERS. OF THOSE, SEVEN COLONELS WAIVED THEIR RIGHT NOT TO APPEAR IN PERSON IN ORDER TO TESTIFY. ONLY TANDONA COLONELS PONCE, MACHUCA AND CARILLO SCHLENKER HAVE OPTED TO SEND WRITTEN REPLIES TO QUESTIONS.

FAULTING THE ESAF

5. THE ESAF HAS ALSO FALLEN SHORT ON SEVERAL COUNTS. THE HONOR COMMISSION WAS THE ESAF'S FIRST BLUNDER. IT PRESCRIBED FOR ITSELF ONLY THE NARROWEST POSSIBLE MANDATE--TO TRY TO GET THE MURDERERS TO CONFESS--AND FAILED. THE INDIVIDUALS NAMED TO THE COMMISSION WERE WEAK AND THE COMMISSION SEEMED DESIGNED TO HAVE A NEGLIGIBLE IMPACT ON THE CASE.

6. EVEN MORE FRUSTRATING WAS THE ESAF'S ROLE IN THE DESTRUCTION OF THE MILITARY ACADEMY LOGBOOKS, ALLEGEDLY INCIGED BY ORDER OF LTC. CAMILO HERNANDEZ TWO WEEKS AFTER THE MURDERS. HERNANDEZ LIKELY HAD A ROLE IN THE MURDERS, AND IF HE TAMPERED WITH EVIDENCE, IT MAY HAVE BEEN TO SAVE HIS OWN SKIN. FOR ITS PART, THE ESAF HAS BEEN UNABLE TO ESTABLISH THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE MIDNIGHT BURNING OF THE LOGBOOKS AND STILL FAILS TO UNDERSTAND WHY US INTERLOCUTORS ARE SO EXERCISED OVER THE INCIDENT.

UNCLASSIFIED

THE DEFENSE COUNSEL'S STRATEGY--MOST LIKELY ENHANCED BY INDIVIDUAL ESAF CONTRIBUTORS--IS ALSO INFURIATINGLY CYNICAL. A SINGLE TEAM OF ATTORNEYS DEFENDS BENAVIDES, TWO LIEUTENANTS, AND FIVE ENLISTED MEN FOR THE JESUIT MURDERS, MANY OF WHOM PROVIDED CONFLICTING EXTRA-JUDICIAL STATEMENTS. THE SAME COUNSEL DEFENDS CAMILO HERNANDEZ ON HIS OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE CHARGE AND A COUPLE OF ATLACATL SERGEANTS FOR

Declassified under [redacted] in part

PERJURY. THE TICKET OF ADMISSION FOR THIS FREE DEFENSE IS SIMPLY DENYING EVERYTHING. ONE LIEUTENANT HAS REPORTEDLY BEEN ASSURED THAT IF HE STAYS WITHIN THE FOLD, EVERYTHING WILL TURN OUT WELL.

6. OTHER EXAMPLES OF THE ESAF'S FAILURE TO COOPERATE INCLUDE:

- THE APPARENT REFUSAL OF LTC. ESCOTZABAL TO REMEMBER WHO RECEIVED AND RECORDED THE NOVEMBER 16 12:30 AM ESTADO MAYOR LOGBOOK ENTRY THAT THE JESUIT PRIESTS HAD BEEN KILLED.

- THE FAILURE OF ESAF TESTIMONIES TO ESTABLISH THE PRECISE CHAIN OF COMMAND BETWEEN PONCE AND BENAVIDES ON NOVEMBER 16.

WHILE THESE ARE ADMITTEDLY PERIPHERAL ISSUES, THEY [redacted] SUSPICION OF ESAF COVER-UP.

THE COVER-UP PROBLEM

9. WHEN WE REFER TO A COVER-UP, WE REFER TO TWO DISTINCT SCENARIOS. ONE POSSIBILITY IS THAT THE HIGH COMMAND ORDERED THE MURDER OF THE JESUITS AND SELECTED BENAVIDES TO TAKE THE BLAME. THE SECOND POSSIBILITY IS THAT THE HIGH COMMAND LEARNED OF THE ATLACATL UNIT'S ROLE IN THE MASSACRE AND HINDERED THE INVESTIGATION IN ORDER TO BROKER A SOLUTION THAT WOULD BE ACCEPTABLE TO DISPARATE ESAF FACTIONS. THE INVESTIGATION HAS FAILED TO PRODUCE THE ANSWER TO WHICH SCENARIO IS THE CORRECT ONE.

10. THE EMBASSY HAS INFORMATION INDICATING THAT CERTAIN ESAF OFFICERS KNEW WHO KILLED THE JESUITS NEARLY A MONTH BEFORE THE SUSPECTS WERE CHARGED. ACCORDING TO THIS ACCOUNT, ONE OF THE SUSPECTS BRIEFED LTC LEON LINARES, COMMANDER OF THE ATLACTL, ABOUT HIS UNIT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE MURDERS IN MID-DECEMBER.

11. THE BUCKLAND AFFAIR ALSO INDICATES THAT HIGH RANKING ESAF OFFICERS WERE AWARE OF BENAVIDES' ROLE IN THE KILLINGS BEFORE HIS INDICTMENT. EVEN IF BENAVIDES DID NOT CONFESS TO MANUEL RIVAS, AS BOTH CLAIM, AVILES APPARENTLY KNEW WHO KILLED THE JESUITS IN MID-DECEMBER. BUCKLAND'S ACCOUNT OF HIS CONVERSATIONS WITH AVILES INDICATES THAT AVILES WAS WAITING FOR THE HIGH COMMAND TO BROKER A SOLUTION. IN BUCKLAND'S VERSION OF THEIR DECEMBER 20-21 CONVERSATION STATEMENTS, AVILES IS PORTRAYED EXPRESSING CONFIDENCE THAT THE MURDERERS WOULD BE BROUGHT TO JUSTICE.

12. IF THE ESAF DID BROKER AN "ACCEPTABLE" SOLUTION, IT APPEARS THAT THE PRIMARY SUSPECTS HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED. IT MAY BE THAT THE BROKERED SOLUTION PROTECTS CAMILO HERNANDEZ. AT THIS TIME, THERE IS NO ADMISSIBLE EVIDENCE TO INDICT HERNANDEZ FOR MURDER; HE IS CHARGED FOR OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE.

13. BASED ON THE EVIDENCE AND OTHER AVAILABLE INFORMATION, BENAVIDES SEEMS TO BE THE HIGHEST RANKING OFFICIAL INVOLVED IN THE MURDER. WHILE THERE ARE STILL A HANDFUL OF SECONDARY ISSUES LEFT TO EXPLORE IN THE INVESTIGATION, WE BELIEVE THAT OUR INTEREST NOW LIES IN PRESSING FOR CONVICTION AND INCARCERATION OF THE KILLERS, BOTH PLANNERS AND SHOOTERS. IT IS CLEAR THAT THE ESAF AND THE GOES RESENT THE EMBASSY

INSISTANCE ON A "COMPLETE INVESTIGATION", WHICH THEY TAKE TO MEAN EXPOSURE AND PUNISHMENT IN THE COVER-UP AS WELL AS THE KILLINGS. THEY FIND THIS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND AND INEVITABLY ASK WHAT WE WANT--SPECIFICALLY. BY ACKNOWLEDGING THE SUCCESSFUL ELEMENTS OF THE JESUIT INVESTIGATION, WE COULD SEND A SIGNAL THAT THE SALVADORANS WILL UNDERSTAND--THAT WE ARE SATISFIED WITH THE EVIDENCE AGAINST THE ACTUAL MURDERERS, THAT THEY SHOULD BE CONVICTED, BUT THAT WE DO NOT INTEND TO PURSUE THE POST-CRIME ALLEGATIONS OF COVER-UP.

CHILE: TERRORIST ACTIVITY

Segregate 11/28/95

WA-194

R

- Terrorist activity continues to be one of the most serious and frustrating problems confronting the Aylwin Government.

  -- During the Pinochet regime, several terrorist groups initiated violent protest against the government. This included indiscriminate bombings, assassinations and armed robberies.

  -- The dissident faction of the leftist Manuel Rodriguez Patriotic Front (FPMR/D) and the Lautaro Youth Movement (MJL) are the most active groups. They seek to destabilize the moderate center-left government now in power.

  -- The Aylwin Government is concerned about Cuban assistance to these groups and in part for that reason has not yet resumed diplomatic relations with Cuba.

- Most terrorist activity has been directed at Chilean military/police officials or political institutions, but several Mormon chapels have also been bombed.

- Two recent bombings appear to have been targeted at Americans and caused death or serious injury to several people. The Embassy reports that the Chilean authorities have not been able to identify which groups are responsible.

  On November 3, a bomb went off at a restaurant in the coastal town of Vina del Mar, injuring three American sailors from the aircraft carrier Abraham Lincoln.

  -- On November 17, a bomb inside a baseball bat exploded during a game between the American-Chilean Chamber of Commerce and the University of Chile, killing a Canadian businessman and causing Assistant RSO Thomas Colin to lose his right eye.

  -- The Department issued a travel advisory (see attached copy) which remains in effect until December 15.

- Continuing acts of terrorism have put the GOC on the defensive against center-right opposition charges that the return to democracy has led to an increase in terrorist activity.

  -- The Aylwin Government is attempting to deal with the problem by increasing the number of police assigned to counter-terrorist details and by appointing special judges to investigate the most serious terrorist acts.

CERTIFICATION UNDER SECTION 726(b) OF THE INTERNATIONAL SECURITY AND DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1981

Pursuant to section 726(b) of the International Security and Development Act of 1981 ("the Act") and section 1-201(a)(20) of Executive Order 12163, as amended, "I hereby certify that: A) the Government of Chile has made significant progress in complying with internationally recognized principles of human rights; B) the provision of the assistance, articles and services described in provisions (1)-(4) of section 726(b) of the Act to Chile is in the national interest of the United States; and C) the Government of Chile is not aiding or abetting international terrorism and has taken appropriate steps to cooperate to bring to justice by all legal means available in the United States or Chile those indicted by a United States grand jury in connection with the murders of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt.

Justification for Certification That the Conditions Set Forth in Section 726(b) of the International Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1981 Have Been Met

Human Rights Progress

Requirements for certification as set forth in Section 726(b) of the International Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1981 have been met. The Government of Chile has made significant progress in complying with internationally recognized principles of human rights. The former government, with its poor human rights record, was replaced in March of this year with a freely elected government committed to the full observance of human rights. Some of the more important actions taken to date that attest to this commitment are the following:

-- President Aylwin appointed a Commission on Truth and Reconciliation to investigate cases of serious human rights abuses committed during the previous military regime. Its mandate is to determine compensation for the victims and their families and to recommend legal and administrative measures to prevent the recurrence of such abuses.

-- The National Congress passed a law establishing the National Office of Returnees to facilitate the reincorporation of returning exiles into Chilean society.

-- The National Congress established a permanent Commission on Human Rights, Nationality and Citizenship to monitor respect for basic rights.

-- The Government of Chile ratified the OAS American Convention on Human Rights.

Security Assistance Relationship

The provision of assistance, articles and services is in the national interest of the United States, since lifting the prohibition on security assistance and the sale of defense articles and services will enable the United States Government and the Government of Chile to reestablish a normal relationship. This will help to develop the Chilean armed forces as an institution subordinate to and supportive of democratically elected, civilian government.

International Terrorism

The Government of Chile is not aiding or abetting international terrorism. Since President Patricio Aylwin assumed office in March, we have no evidence that the Government of Chile is aiding or abetting such activity. On the contrary, there is ample evidence that the Aylwin government is committed to full respect for human rights.

With respect to the Letelier case, the Government of Chile has taken appropriate steps to cooperate to bring to justice by all legal means available in the United States or Chile those indicted by a United States grand jury in connection with the murder of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt. Since taking office, the Aylwin Government has committed itself to a strategy to pursue criminal proceedings against those Chileans alleged to have participated in the 1976 car bomb assassination. Under this plan, the Government of Chile introduced a package of judicial reform laws that would, inter alia, transfer jurisdiction of the Letelier/Moffitt case from military to civilian courts. That portion of the law was approved by the Chamber of Deputies on September 28 and by the Senate on November 15. A high level GOC official has assured us that provisions transferring jurisdiction cannot now be modified or deleted, this law will be enacted as final legislation soon and that President Aylwin will sign it immediately thereafter.

The Government of Chile has also committed itself to request the Supreme Court's appointment of a special investigating judge ("ministro en visita") to try the case as soon as President Aylwin signs the bill allowing transfer of jurisdiction over the case. Under Chile's civil law system, the judge will have broad powers to gather evidence and question those with relevant information.

In addition, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs has taken other action related to the Letelier case by conducting an administrative investigation into the matter of issuance of falsified passports during the previous government. The results have already been turned over to a civilian court for further investigation.

Although Section 726(b) solely addresses the criminal aspect of the Letelier/Moffitt case, the Government of Chile has also agreed to consider the question of civil compensation for the families of the victims. In June 1990, the United States Government and the Government of Chile signed an agreement to create an international commission that would determine the amount of compensation the Government of Chile would award the families on an ex gratia basis. The request for ratification was submitted to the Chamber of Deputies on August 1. The relevant committee is scheduled to complete its review by the end of November. President has designated this as a "urgent" matter, upon which the Chilean Congress is to act within 30 days. Now that significant movement on passage of the law transferring jurisdiction from military to civilian courts has occurred, we anticipate that the Government of Chile has the support it requires to take prompt action on ratification of the compensation agreement.

White House Press Briefing - Background and Talking Points:

- o Civilian government has been in office since March 11, 1990.
- o The previous military government lasted from September 11, 1973 to March 11, 1990.

Key political issues:

-- Civilian-military relations: President Patricio Aylwin has shown great skill during the transition to democracy in handling the military. Even though General Pinochet remains as Commander-in-Chief of the Army, he and the other military leaders recognize civilian authority and respect constitutional limits.

Human rights abuses: Aylwin named a commission to investigate the worst cases of abuse that occurred under the previous regime. Its non-judicial mandate is to clarify what happened, recommend compensation for the victims and their families, and establish safeguards to prevent such abuses from happening again.

Consolidation of democratic institutions: Aylwin heads a moderate, center-left coalition government. While he has broad multiparty support for his tax, labor and consitutional reforms, he faces a Senate controlled by the center-right opposition on more controversial legislation.

Need to Respond to Social Needs. The Aylwin Government must respond to the pent-up desire for improved housing, health and education while maintaining a sound economy and a balanced budget.

Key economic/trade issues:

-- Rising inflation: Expansionary policies pursued by the previous government before it left office (increased spending and increased money supply) left the new government with the problem of rising inflation. Higher oil prices caused by the Gulf crisis has accentuated the problem. The GOC is committed to curbs on government spending to alleviate the problem.

-- Export diversification: Although Chile has expanded into new areas (fruit, forestry products, seafood), Chile remains very dependent on copper exports which provided over 40 percent of foreign exchange earnings last year.

-- Debt: Chile is a model of successful debt management and in recent years has used debt-equity swaps to expand investment. The GOC recently signed a loan agreement with the NMB Bank of Holland for $20 million to fund social programs--a sign that Chile has reentered the voluntary capital markets.

-- Free Trade Agreement: Chile wishes to sign an FTA with us and believes it should be accorded the same treatment as Mexico.

Questions and Answers

Q. What makes the Enterprise for the Americas Initiative any better than earlier U.S. development programs for Latin America, i.e. the Alliance for Progress which was a failure?

A. -- THE INITIATIVE IS NOT A NEW FOREIGN AID PROGRAM.

-- IT IS BASED ON THREE MAJOR COMPONENTS: TRADE, INVESTMENT AND DEBT REDUCTION.

-- IT IS DESIGNED TO STIMULATE HEMISPHERIC GROWTH THROUGH OPEN TRADE MARKETS.

-- IN ADDITION, IT WILL STRENGTHEN ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY IN THE HEMISPHERE.

Q. How will Chile benefit from this?

A. -- CHILE WILL BENEFIT FROM ALL THREE ASPECTS OF THE INITIATIVE.

-- MOST IMMEDIATELY, CHILE WILL BENEFIT FROM THE DEBT REDUCTION ASPECTS OF THE PLAN, WITH A SIGNIFICANT REDUCTION OF ITS OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT-TO-GOVERNMENT DEBT.

Q. How can the USG talk about hemisphere-wide free trade and still have such protectionist measures as marketing orders?

A -- MARKETING ORDERS ARE NOT PROTECTIONIST. THEY ARE IN ACCORD WITH GATT PRINCIPLES. MOREOVER, THE EC COUNTRIES AND JAPAN IMPOSE COMPARABLE KINDS OF QUALITY STANDARDS ON IMPORTED PRODUCE.

-- THEY APPLY EQUALLY TO DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN PRODUCERS.

-- THEY ARE NOT INTENDED TO PREVENT IMPORTS FROM ANY COUNTRY, BUT RATHER TO ENSURE A HIGH QUALITY PRODUCT TO THE CONSUMER.

Q. How can President Bush travel to Chile when the State Department has a travel advisory for Chile in effect?

A. -- TRAVEL ADVISORIES ARE INTENDED TO PROVIDE TRAVELERS WITH AN ASSESSMENT OF LEVELS OF VIOLENCE IN THE COUNTRIES THEY PLAN TO VISIT. THIS ONE DOES NOT ADVISE AGAINST TRAVEL TO CHILE.

-- RECENT BOMBINGS IN CHILE, SOME OF WHICH CAUSED DEATH AND SERIOUS INJURY TO INNOCENT BYSTANDERS, INCLUDING U.S. CITIZENS, LED US TO THAT DECISION.

-- NEVERTHELESS, WE ARE CONFIDENT THAT PRESIDENT BUSH WILL ENJOY ADEQUATE SECURITY WHILE VISITING CHILE.

Q. Why doesn't the U.S. focus on dealing with its drug problem at home rather than trying to stop the trafficking in Latin America?

A. -- OUR DOMESTIC DRUG STRATEGY EMPHASIZES DRUG ABUSE PREVENTION. STATISTICS INDICATE THAT PREVENTION EFFORTS ARE PAYING OFF.

-- WE ARE COOPERATING WITH CHILE IN BOTH DRUG ABUSE PREVENTION AND INTERNATIONAL DRUG TRAFFICKING CONTROL.

I. SETTING

- President Bush is the first U.S. president to visit Chile in thirty years. His visit is seen in Chile as an important sign of support for Chile's first democratically elected government in over sixteen years which took office in March 1990.

  The transition to democracy marks a new period in bilateral relations and a renewal of a traditional friendship. We have worked hard to put the following problems inherited from the previous regime behind us:

  -- GSP/OPIC Benefits: This week USTR announced Chile's return to GSP after the GOC produced a new industrial property law that satisfied the IPR standard for reinstatement. OPIC benefits were restored in October in response to the improved worker rights situation.

  -- Kennedy-Harkin Sanctions: This week you recommended lifting the sanctions on security assistance in recognition of the improved human rights situation, plus the steps taken by the GOC to pursue the Letelier case and to compensate the families.

- Christian Democrat President Patricio Aylwin has proven to be a very skillful leader of a moderate center-left coalition government, but faces a continuing problem with leftist terrorist activity. The political right criticizes him for the way he has handled relations with the U.S. The above accomplishments should help mute their criticism.

- Key events: the President's working luncheon with President Aylwin and his speech before the joint session of the Congress.

II. OBJECTIVES

- Demonstrate support for democracy and our desire to put Pinochet-era frictions behind us.

- Applaud the GOC's decision to continue the free-trade, open-market policies of the previous regime and its successful debt management.

- Note Chile's positive response to the President's Enterprise for the America's Initiative.

  -- Highlight fruitful discussions on trade and investment like the ones we had in mid-November under the Bilateral Framework Agreement signed October 1.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Declassify on: OADR

- Underscore the importance of a successful conclusion of the Uruguay Round and seek Chile's support in pushing for more open agriculture markets.

  -- We also urge Chile to take a more active role to support our efforts to extend and improve GATT rules on services, IPR rights and trade-related investment measures.

- On narcotics, we are aware of Chile's concern about being used as a transit point and about increased money-laundering.

  -- We have proposed an agreement to require financial institutions to record and governments to share information about currency transactions. We hope to begin negotiations soon.

- Nuclear non-proliferation is of the highest importance. We urge the GOC to bring the Treaty of Tlatelolco into force, which would open the way toward bilateral cooperation in nuclear energy technology.

III. PROBLEM AREAS

- The GOC will press hard to negotiate a bilateral FTA with us, arguing that Chile's new economy justifies at least the same treatment as Mexico.

  -- We see Chile as a strong candidate for an FTA, but our first priority is Mexico. We do not require that Chile wait until its neighbors in the southern cone are ready for a multilateral FTA with us. We will meet before September 1991 to assess progress under the framework agreement with respect to an FTA.

- The political opposition sees marketing orders as a symbol of protectionist sentiment in the U.S.

  -- We are aware of Chilean concerns and are eager to minimize the adverse but limited impact on Chilean fruit exports. To that end, Secretary Yeutter has proposed a training program to help exporters meet the standards. The standards aim to increase U.S. fruit consumption and will benefit Chilean exporters.

- Chilean fruit exporters continue to pressure the GOC to push for compensation for losses caused by the 1989 poisoned grapes embargo.

  -- We have urged them to sue in the U.S. courts if they feel the evidence warrants doing so.

SUBJECT: CODEL LEAHY: MEETINGS IN SANTIAGO

1. SUMMARY: SENATOR LEAHY AND REPRESENTATIVES RICHARDSON AND ESPY MET WITH CHILEAN PRESIDENT AYLWIN, CHILEAN SENATORS AND THE VICE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE TO DISCUSS BILATERAL ISSUES INCLUDING THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT, GSP, AND BILATERAL AGRICULTURE TRADE DISPUTES. END SUMMARY.

2. ON NOVEMBER 19, 1990 SENATOR PATRICK LEAHY (D-VERMONT), REPRESENTATIVES MICHAEL ESPY (D-MISS), AND BILL RICHARDSON (D-NM), WITH AMBASSADOR, CALLED ON CHILEAN PRESIDENT AYLWIN. SENATOR LEAHY COMMENTED THAT ALL AMERICANS HOLD CHILE IN HIGH REGARD FOR THE MANNER IN WHICH DEMOCRACY HAS BEEN RESTORED. HE ADDED THAT AS A POLITICIAN, HE HAS PARTICULAR RESPECT FOR PRESIDENT AYLWIN'S MANAGEMENT OF HIS COALITION, AND MORE IMPORTANTLY HIS RELATION WITH FORMER PRESIDENT AND NOW ARMY COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF PINOCHET. THESE SENTIMENTS WERE ALSO REFLECTED IN COMMENTS BY REPRESENTATIVES ESPY AND RICHARDSON. PRESIDENT AYLWIN SAID HE WELCOMED THE VISIT BECAUSE THE OPINIONS AND ACTIONS OF THE U.S. CONGRESS ARE VERY IMPORTANT FOR CHILE.

3. SENATOR LEAHY OFFERED TO RELAY ANY MESSAGES PRESIDENT AYLWIN MIGHT HAVE FOR PRESIDENT BUSH IN VIEW OF THE UPCOMING MEETING BETWEEN THE TWO HEADS OF STATE IN SANTIAGO. AYLWIN WELCOMED THE OFFER AND SAID THAT HE HAD ONE MAJOR THEME: CHILE'S LONG AND FINALLY SUCCESSFUL EFFORT TO RESTORE ITS DEMOCRACY HAS NOT ELICITED THE INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT THAT MOST CHILEANS HAD EXPECTED. THE USG, IN PARTICULAR, IS SEEN NOT MERELY TO HAVE NOT EMBRACED DEMOCRATIC CHILE, BUT TO STILL BE CASTIGATING THE COUNTRY FOR THE CRIMES OF THE PINOCHET GOVERNMENT. THIS MANIFESTS ITSELF IN THE CONTINUED EXCLUSION OF CHILE FROM GSP AND THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT RESTRICTIONS.

4. ON GSP, PRESIDENT AYLWIN COMMENTED THAT CHILE WAS EXCLUDED FROM THE PROGRAM FOR GROSS VIOLATIONS OF LABOR RIGHTS DURING THE LAST REGIME. THESE VIOLATIONS NO LONGER EXIST. NOW, HOWEVER, THE USG IS IMPOSING A NEW REQUIREMENT THAT CHILE PROVIDE INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PROTECTION. AYLWIN SAID HIS GOVERNMENT HAS PASSED A FLAWED INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY RIGHTS BILL WHICH HE INTENDS TO IMPROVE BY USING A SUPPRESSIVE VETO TO ELIMINATE THE MOST DAMAGING ELEMENTS. HE ASKED THAT THE CODEL URGE PRESIDENT BUSH TO ACCEPT HIS ASSURANCE THAT THE BEST POSSIBLE LAW WILL BE PASSED AND TO EFFECT NO FURTHER BARRIERS TO CHILE'S RE-ENTRY INTO THE GSP.

5. PRESIDENT AYLWIN NOTED THAT THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN CHILE HAS IMPROVED DRAMATICALLY. DEALING WITH PAST ABUSES, HOWEVER, REMAINS A PROBLEM. THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT CHANGES IN CHILE'S DUE PROCESS LAWS HAVE BEEN APPROVED IN THE HOUSE OF DEPUTIES AND THE SENATE THAT WILL MOVE THE JURISDICTION ON THE LETELIER/MOFFITT CASE FROM THE MILITARY TO THE CIVILIAN COURT SYSTEM. WHILE SOME ELEMENTS OF THIS LEGISLATION MUST NOW GO TO A MIXED HOUSE SENATE COMMISSION FOR FINAL REVIEW, AYLWIN MADE CLEAR THAT THOSE PORTIONS OF THE LAW DEALING WITH THE LETELIER/MOFFITT CASE HAVE PASSED BOTH THE HOUSE AND SENATE AND ARE NOT NOW SUBJECT TO FURTHER CHANGE. HE SAID THAT THE LAW COULD BE PROMULGATED WITHIN THIRTY DAYS.

6. AYLWIN SAID THAT THE ISSUE OF COMPENSATION FOR THE LETELIER AND MOFFITT FAMILIES WILL BE TREATED SEPARATELY. THE AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION WILL BE DETERMINED BY AN INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION, THE MEMBERS OF WHICH HAVE ALREADY BEEN SELECTED. HOWEVER, BEFORE THE GOC CAN OFFER COMPENSATION IT MUST GET CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL. AYLWIN WAS CONFIDENT THAT HE WOULD BE ABLE TO MUSTER THE NECESSARY SUPPORT IN BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS.

7. SENATOR LEAHY EMPHASIZED THAT THE LETELIER-MOFFITT MURDERS REMAIN A KEY CONCERN IN THE U.S. AND THAT THE KENNEDY-HARKIN RESTRICTIONS SHOULD NOT BE LIFTED UNTIL THERE IS CLEAR MOVEMENT TO BRING THOSE ACCUSED OF THE CRIMES TO JUSTICE AND TO COMPENSATE THE LETELIER AND MOFFITT FAMILIES. THE FACT THAT GEN. PINOCHET IS STILL THE COMMANDER OF THE ARMY MAKES THIS IMPERATIVE, THE SENATOR OBSERVED. PRESIDENT AYLWIN COMMENTED THAT HE UNDERSTANDS THE SENATOR'S POSITION, BUT PINOCHET IS USING THE KENNEDY-HARKIN RESTRICTIONS TO HIS OWN ADVANTAGE. IN EFFECT, PINOCHET CLAIMS THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S INABILITY TO RESTORE FULL MILITARY-TO-MILITARY RELATIONS IS A SIGN OF WEAKNESS. AYLWIN NOTED THAT RESTORATION OF MILITARY-TO-MILITARY TIES WOULD BE THE BEST WAY TO ENSURE THAT THE CHILEAN MILITARY DEVELOPS AN APPRECIATION OF THE NEED FOR CIVILIAN CONTROL.

8. REPRESENTATIVE RICHARDSON AGREED THAT U.S./CHILE BILATERAL RELATIONS HINGE IMPORTANTLY ON RESOLUTION OF THE LETELIER/MOFFITT MURDERS. HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT IT IS HARMFUL TO HOLD THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT HOSTAGE TO THE CRIMES OF THE PINOCHET GOVERNMENT. HE SAID THAT HE WOULD WORK TO SEE THAT THE KENNEDY-HARKIN RESTRICTIONS ARE LIFTED AND THAT CHILE IS REINSTATED IN THE GSP.

9. REPRESENTATIVE ESPY SHARED MANY OF SENATOR LEAHY'S CONCERNS ON THE LETELIER-MOFFITT CASE. HE URGED PATIENCE IN WORKING TOWARD FULL RESTORATION OF MILITARY-TO-MILITARY RELATIONS, COMMENTING THAT CHILE'S RENEWED DEMOCRACY IS ONLY 8 MONTHS OLD. HE ADDED THAT LIKE AN UNBORN BABY, FRIENDS KNOW IN ADVANCE THAT THEY WILL LOVE THE CHILD WHEN IT IS BORN, BUT THAT THEY NONETHELESS WANT TO SEE THE BABY

BEFORE FULL COMMITTING. IN THE SAME SENSE, HE SAID ALL OF DEMOCRATS FRIENDS WELCOME THE CHANGES IN CHILE, BUT WANT TO BE SURE THAT THE RENEWED DEMOCRACY PROSPERS AYLWIN RESPONDED THAT THE "BABY" WAS BORN 6 MONTHS AGO, IS VISIBLE FOR ALL TO SEE, AND NEEDS ITS FRIENDS NOW. HE ADDED THAT CHILE HAS A LONG HISTORY OF DEMOCRACY AND THAT THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT WAS A SAD ABERRATION.

MEETING CHILEAN SENATORS

11. SENATOR LEAHY, REPRESENTATIVES RICHARDSON AND ESPY, AND AMBASSADOR MET WITH CHILEAN PARLIAMENTARIANS INCLUDING SENATORS FREI (CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT), LAVENDERO (CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT), ROMERO (NATIONAL RENEWAL), ALESSANDRI (INDEPENDENT-CONSERVATIVE), AND SINCLAIR (APPOINTED INDEPENDENT-CONSERVATIVE, RETIRED ARMY GENERAL AND FORMER GOVERNING JUNTA MEMBER). SENATOR FREI WELCOMED THE U.S. DELEGATION. HE COMMENTED THAT HE WAS PLEASED TO HAVE HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO VISIT WITH SENATOR LEAHY IN WASHINGTON AND WAS DELIGHTED THAT THE SENATOR AND REPRESENTATIVES NOW WOULD SEE CHILE FIRST HAND. HE NOTED THAT THERE ARE A NUMBER OF BILATERAL ISSUE OUTSTANDING, SUCH AS THE U.S. FARM BILL'S TREATMENT OF MARKETING ORDERS, THAT NEED TO BE EXAMINED.

12. SENATOR LEAHY COMMENTED THAT THIS WAS HIS FIRST VISIT TO SOUTH AMERICA AND THAT HE WAS ESPECIALLY INTERESTED IN CHILE BECAUSE OF THE RETURN TO DEMOCRACY AND THE VIBRANT CHILEAN ECONOMY. HE OFFERED TO SEND A COPY OF THE 1990 FARM BILL TO THE CHILEAN SENATORS. HE CAUTIONED THAT IT WAS OVER 2000 PAGES IN LENGTH AND THAT THE SECTION ON MARKETING ORDERS WAS LIMITED TO TWO PARAGRAPHS. HE ADDED THAT PROVISION IS BEING MADE TO TRAIN CHILEAN INSPECTORS ON U.S. STANDARDS. SENATOR LEAHY NOTED THAT THERE IS NOTHING BUT GOOD WILL IN THE U.S. CONGRESS FOR CHILE AND THAT THERE IS A POSITIVE DESIRE TO FIND A SOUND WORKING RELATIONSHIP.

13. SENATOR ROMERO LAUNCHED A RAMBLING INTERVENTION CENTERED ON HIS LIST OF PERCEIVED U.S. INJURIES TO CHILE. HE SAID THAT IT WAS IMPORTANT THAT MEMBERS OF THE U.S. CONGRESS HEAR DIRECTLY CHILE'S CONCERNS. IN VIEW OF THE TRANSITION TO DEMOCRACY AND CHILE'S LONG SUPPORT OF U.S. INTERNATIONAL GOALS, HE SAID THAT HE WAS SURPRISED THAT THE USG HAD GONE OUT OF ITS WAY TO PENALIZE CHILE. HE POINTED TO THE MARKETING ORDERS, THE POISONED GRAPES ISSUE, THE EXCLUSION OF CHILE FROM GSP AND THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT. ROMERO ASKED THAT NOTHING BE DONE TO IMPLEMENT MARKETING ORDERS UNTIL THE USTR HAS VERIFIED THAT THEY ARE GATT LEGAL. ROMERO'S FINAL POINT WAS THAT CHILE'S RETURN TO DEMOCRACY SEEMS TO HAVE HAD NO IMPACT ON U.S./CHILEAN BILATERAL RELATIONS.

14. SENATOR LEAHY RESPONDED THAT THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH MARKETING ORDERS OR OTHER AGRICULTURAL TRADE ISSUE. IT DEALS SPECIFICALLY WITH THE USG'S RELATIONS WITH THE CHILEAN MILITARY AND THE CONTINUING LEADERSHIP ROLE OF GENERAL PINOCHET. REGARDING THE AGRICULTURE TRADE ISSUES, SENATOR LEAHY NOTED THAT HE IS THE CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE. HE SAID THAT THE FIRST TIME ANYONE HAD RAISED CHILE'S CONCERNS ON MARKETING ORDERS DIRECTLY WITH HIM WAS WHEN THE CHILEAN SENATORS TRAVELLED TO WASHINGTON -- AFTER THE 1990 FARM BILL HAD BEEN PASSED. HE NOTED THAT NO ONE FROM THE ADMINISTRATION OR THE CHILEAN EMBASSY IN WASHINGTON HAD EXPRESSED ANY CONCERN TO HIM ABOUT THE MARKETING ORDERS. IF THEY HAD, HE SAID, HE COULD HAVE AT LEAST ENTERED SOME COMMENT IN THE RECORD AFTER THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE COMPLETED ITS WORK. HE COMMENTED THAT HE WOULD BE DELIGHTED TO WORK WITH THE CHILEANS ON ISSUES IN THE FUTURE BUT ASKED THAT THEY SET UP AN EFFECTIVE MEANS OF COMMUNICATION BEFORE ACTIONS ARE FINALIZED.

15. REPRESENTATIVE ESPY RECALLED THAT THE HOUSE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE HAD BEEN DRIVEN BY THE CALIFORNIA DELEGATION TO INCLUDE MARKETING ORDERS IN THE FINAL FARM BILL. OTHER STATE DELEGATIONS WERE LARGELY NEUTRAL ON THE ISSUE. CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON JOINED SENATOR LEAHY IN CALLING FOR BETTER COMMUNICATIONS ON AGRICULTURE AND OTHER TRADE ISSUES. HE SAID HAD THE STRENGTH OF THE CHILEAN OPPOSITION BEEN KNOWN IT IS QUESTIONABLE THAT THE NEW MARKETING ORDERS WOULD HAVE BEEN ACCEPTED. HE WENT FURTHER ON THE ISSUES OF GSP, THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT AND THE GRAPE POISONING ISSUE. HE SAID THAT AS A FRIEND OF CHILE HE WOULD SEEK LEGISLATIVE RELIEF ON ALL OF THESE ISSUES.

16. THE CODEL AND AMBASSADOR CALLED ON SUB-SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE, MAXIMILIANO COX FOR FURTHER DISCUSSION OF AGRICULTURE ISSUES. COX EXTENDED MINISTER FIGUEROA'S APOLOGIES FOR NOT BEING ABLE TO ATTEND THE MEETING. SENATOR LEAHY SAID THAT HE HAD JUST COME FROM A MEETING WITH A NUMBER OF CHILEAN SENATORS AND HAD GONE OVER AGRICULTURE ISSUES WITH THEM. HE SAID THAT THERE IS A SUBSTANTIAL STORE OF GOOD WILL TOWARD CHILE IN THE U.S. CONGRESS. ANY PERCEIVED TRADE BARRIERS PLACED ON CHILE BY THE U.S. CONGRESS ARE THUS UNINTENTIONAL. THESE SENTIMENTS WERE SHARED BY REPRESENTATIVES RICHARDSON AND ESPY.

17. SENATOR LEAHY SAID THAT HE HOPED TO LEAVE THE MESSAGE THAT THE TWO COUNTRIES SHOULD NOT LET RHETORIC OR SYMBOLS GET IN THE WAY OF ENHANCED TRADE FLOWS. COX AGREED AND NOTED THAT BETTER COMMUNICATION IS THE KEY TO INSURE SMOOTH RELATIONS.

18. COMMENT: IT WAS EXTREMELY USEFUL FOR CODEL LEAHY, WITH ITS STRONG AGRICULTURE ORIENTATION VISIT CHILE WHILE U.SCHILE RELATIONS ARE IN SHARP FOCUS. IN THEIR CONTACTS WITH THE PRESS ALL CODEL MEMBERS PROJECT GOOD WILL AND STRONG U.S. INTEREST IN IMPROVED RELATIONS AS WELL AS RECOGNITION OF THE STRIDES CHILE HAS MADE BOTH POLITICALLY AND ECONOMICALLY. THE CODEL HAS NOT CLEARED THIS CABLE. END COMMENT.

SUBJECT: Certification to Remove Prohibition on Assistance to Chile

Issue for Decision

Whether to certify, pursuant to Section 726(b) of the International Security Cooperation and Development Act of 1981, that: A) the Government of Chile has made significant progress in complying with internationally recognized principles of human rights; B) the provision of certain assistance, articles or services to Chile is in the national interest of the United States; and C) the Government of Chile is not aiding or abetting international terrorism and has taken appropriate steps to cooperate to bring to justice by all legal means available in the United States or Chile those indicted by a United States grand jury in connection with the murders of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt.

This certification would lift the Kennedy-Harkin prohibitions on furnishing military assistance, permit the sale of defense articles and services to Chile and enable our defense relationship with Chile to be normalized.

Essential factors

1. Authority to Certify. Section 726(b), also known as the Kennedy-Harkin amendment, prohibits furnishing most forms of security assistance, sales by the USG of defense articles or services, and licensing of commercial exports of defense articles or services "unless and until the President submits to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate a detailed report certifying" that the above three conditions have been met. The authority to make this certification has been delegated to you. (Executive Order 12163 of September 12, 1979, as amended, section 201(a)(20).)

DECLASSIFIED

2. Elements of the Certification

a. Chile has made significant human rights progress. Under the democratically elected government headed by President Patricio Aylwin, the GOC has made significant progress in complying with internationally recognized principles of human rights. Since last March, when Aylwin took office, the GOC has made it abundantly clear that it is fully committed to the full observance of human rights. The following attest to this commitment:

-- President Aylwin named a Commission on Truth and Reconciliation to investigate cases of serious human rights abuses committed during the previous military regime. Its mandate is to determine compensation for the victims and their families and to recommend legal and administrative measures to prevent the recurrence of such abuses.

-- The National Congress passed a law establishing the National Office of Returnees to facilitate the reincorporation of returning exiles into Chilean society.

-- The Chamber of Deputies in the National Congress established a permanent Commission on Human Rights, Nationality and Citizenship to monitor respect for basic rights.

-- Legislation was introduced to make more specific vaguely defined and far-reaching state security laws.

-- Freedom of speech and press are largely unrestricted. The restrictions, including self-censorship, that prevailed under the military regime have been removed.

-- There exist no unreasonable restrictions on peaceful assembly and association.

-- The United Nations Human Rights Commission terminated its mandate for a Special Rapporteur on the grounds that the situation in Chile had improved sufficiently to no longer require one.

-- Under Aylwin, the GOC has ratified the OAS American Convention on Human Rights.

b. Provision of assistance is our national interest. Now that the years of military dictatorship and human rights abuses have ended and Chile has returned to its democratic traditions, it is in our mutual interest to put this troublesome legacy from the previous government behind us. Our desire is to provide appropriate support for the new democratic government, helping Chile become an example of political freedom and a model of open economic policies. Removal of the sanctions will allow us to resume a broad range of security assistance and related programs which help strengthen the development of the Chilean military as a professional, apolitical institution, subordinate to and supportive of democratically elected, civilian government.

c. Chile is not aiding and abetting international terrorism and has taken appropriate steps to bring to justice those indicted in connection with the Letelier Case. The GOC, under President Alywin, is not aiding or abetting international terrorism. In fact, it committed to full observance of human rights and is working to combat international terrorism.

The Letelier case has cast a shadow over U.S.-Chile relations since 1976 when Chilean exile Ambassador Orlando Letelier and American citizen Ronni Moffitt were killed by a car bomb in Washington. We have long made clear to the GOC that removal of the Kennedy-Harkin sanctions could not occur until the GOC stopped aiding or abetting international terrorism and until it took "appropriate steps" to bring to justice those indicted in the U.S. for their involvement in these murders. In seeking to bring to justice those indicted in connection with the murders, we sought the following specific actions: enactment of legislation that would transfer jurisdiction of the Letelier case (referred to in Chile as the "passports case") from military to civilian courts and appointment of a special investigating judge to prosecute the case.

The Aylwin Government considers resolution of this case to be a strong moral imperative and has committed itself to a strategy to pursue criminal proceedings against those Chileans alleged to have participated in the assassination. Under this plan, the GOC has introduced a package of judicial reform laws (the Cumplido Laws) that would, inter alia, transfer jurisdiction of the case from military to civilian courts. That portion of the law was approved by the Chamber of Deputies on September 28 and by the Senate on November 15. The law will enter into force shortly when the two houses work out in conference other sections of the package and Aylwin signs the final bill. High level Chilean Government officials have assured us that the language on transfer of jurisdiction is not subject to revision or deletion.

On November 21, President Aylwin sent a letter to President Bush assuring him that as soon as the final bill is passed, he will request that the Supreme Court appoint an investigating judge to try the case. He further informed President Bush that he was confident this would happen shortly. The GOC has initiated action on the "passports case" with an administrative investigation by the Foreign Ministry into the matter of falsified passports issued during the previous government. The results have been handed over to a civilian court for further investigation.

A related issue is that of monetary compensation for the Letelier and Moffitt families. In June of this year, the USG and the GOC signed a bilateral agreement to create an international commission that would determine the amount of compensation to be awarded the families by the GOC on an ex gratia basis. Aylwin also made a commitment to have the Congress take up, as an urgent matter, approval of the bilateral agreement that would permit payment to be made to the families. The request for ratification was submitted to the Chamber of Deputies on August 1. The relevant committee will complete its review by the end of November. Passage by both houses is expected in December.

3. Other Considerations

A number of the Democratic Senators and Congressmen interested in this issue believe we should wait until the Chilean government actually implements the goals we have set for lifting Kennedy-Harkin sanctions. H believes that while those members disagree with the lifting of the sanctions, their concern for the Aylwin government's stability will forestall more vociferous criticism. Senator Leahy said that he intended to raise this issue with the Deputy Secretary at this morning's breakfast -- you may wish to speak with the Deputy Secretary regarding Leahy's views.

The attorney representing the families has voiced concerns about early certification, including its effect on the compensation agreement. However, a senior Chilean official has offered to meet with concerned family members this week to convey reassurances regarding eventual ratification of the compensation agreement. In addition we will attempt to mute the families' criticism by arranging a meeting with their lawyer to explain the justification for certification as soon a decision is made.

Despite the possibility of some adverse publicity, certification at this time is appropriate to support the extraordinary progress that Chile has made on the human rights front and to recognize that the GOC has taken several difficult steps on a course designed to lead to a thorough investigation of the assassination.

A final consideration is that President Bush will be visiting Chile next week as part of his South American trip. A timely decision would greatly enhance the President's visit.

Recommendation

For the foregoing reasons, we recommend that you sign the attached certification (Tab 1), and authorize H to transmit it together with the justificaton (Tab 2) to the appropriate members of Congress.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Office of the Assistant Secretary/Spokesman

For Immediate Release November 30, 1990

STATEMENT BY MARGARET TUTWILER/SPOKESMAN

THE SECRETARY OF STATE ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT THE KENNEDY-HARKIN PROHIBITIONS ON SECURITY ASSISTANCE AND ARMS SALES TO CHILE IN EFFECT SINCE 1976 WILL BE LIFTED.

SECRETARY BAKER MADE THE DECISION TO CERTIFY CHILE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS SET FORTH IN SECTION 726(b) OF THE INTERNATIONAL SECURITY COOPERATION AND DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1981. THE SANCTIONS WILL BE LIFTED AS SOON AS THE CERTIFICATION IS TRANSMITTED TO THE APPROPRIATE MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

SECTION 726(b) REQUIRES THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE MAKE SIGNIFICANT PROGRESS IN COMPLYING WITH INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED PRINCIPLES OF HUMAN RIGHTS, NOT AID OR ABET INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM, AND TAKE APPROPRIATE STEPS TO BRING TO JUSTICE BY ALL LEGAL MEANS AVAILABLE IN THE UNITED STATES OR CHILE THOSE INDICTED BY A UNITED STATES GRAND JURY IN CONNECTION WITH THE MURDERS OF ORLANDO LETELIER AND RONNI MOFFITT. IT ALSO REQUIRES THAT THE PROVISION OF SECURITY ASSISTANCE, ARTICLES AND SERVICES TO CHILE BE IN THE NATIONAL INTEREST OF THE UNITED STATES.

Justification for Certification That the Conditions Set Forth in Section 726(b) of the International Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1981 Have Been Met

Human Rights Progress

Requirements for certification as set forth in Section 726(b) of the International Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1981 have been met. The Government of Chile has made significant progress in complying with internationally recognized principles of human rights. The former government, with its poor human rights record, was replaced in March of this year with a freely elected government committed to the full observance of human rights. Some of the more important actions taken to date that attest to this commitment are the following:

-- President Aylwin appointed a Commission on Truth and Reconciliation to investigate cases of serious human rights abuses committed during the previous military regime. Its mandate is to determine compensation for the victims and their families and to recommend legal and administrative measures to prevent the recurrence of such abuses.

-- The National Congress passed a law establishing the National Office of Returnees to facilitate the reincorporation of returning exiles into Chilean society.

-- The National Congress established a permanent Commission on Human Rights, Nationality and Citizenship to monitor respect for basic rights.

-- The Government of Chile ratified the OAS American Convention on Human Rights.

Security Assistance Relationship

The provision of assistance, articles and services is in the national interest of the United States, since lifting the prohibition on security assistance and the sale of defense articles and services will enable the United States Government and the Government of Chile to reestablish a normal relationship. This will help to develop the Chilean armed forces as an institution subordinate to and supportive of democratically elected, civilian government.

International Terrorism

The Government of Chile is not aiding or abetting international terrorism. Since President Patricio Aylwin assumed office in March, we have no evidence that the Government of Chile is aiding or abetting such activity. On the contrary, there is ample evidence that the Aylwin government is committed to full respect for human rights.

With respect to the Letelier case, the Government of Chile has taken appropriate steps to cooperate to bring to justice by all legal means available in the United States or Chile those indicted by a United States grand jury in connection with the murder of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt. Since taking office, the Aylwin Government has committed itself to a strategy to pursue criminal proceedings against those Chileans alleged to have participated in the 1976 car bomb assassination. Under this plan, the Government of Chile introduced a package of judicial reform laws that would, inter alia, transfer jurisdiction of the Letelier/Moffitt case from military to civilian courts. That portion of the law was approved by the Chamber of Deputies on September 28 and by the Senate on November 15. A high level GOC official has assured us that provisions transferring jurisdiction cannot now be modified or deleted, this law will be enacted as final legislation soon and that President Aylwin will sign it immediately thereafter.

The Government of Chile has also committed itself to request the Supreme Court's appointment of a special investigating judge ("ministro en visita") to try the case as soon as President Aylwin signs the bill allowing transfer of jurisdiction over the case. Under Chile's civil law system, the judge will have broad powers to gather evidence and question those with relevant information.

In addition, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs has taken other action related to the Letelier case by conducting an administrative investigation into the matter of issuance of falsified passports during the previous government. The results have already been turned over to a civilian court for further investigation.

Although Section 726(b) solely addresses the criminal aspect of the Letelier/Moffitt case, the Government of Chile has also agreed to consider the question of civil compensation for the families of the victims. In June 1990, the United States Government and the Government of Chile signed an agreement to create an international commission that would determine the amount of compensation the Government of Chile would award the families on an ex gratia basis. The request for ratification was submitted to the Chamber of Deputies on August 1. The relevant committee is scheduled to complete its review by the end of November. President has designated this as a "urgent" matter, upon which the Chilean Congress is to act within 30 days. Now that significant movement on passage of the law transferring jurisdiction from military to civilian courts has occurred, we anticipate that the Government of Chile has the support it requires to take prompt action on ratification of the compensation agreement.

BY SOME 750 JOURNALISTS AND OBSERVERS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD AND, DESPITE A FEW GLITCHES, WERE ACCLAIMED AS GENUINE, FREE, AND FAIR. WHILE DOING FAIRLY WELL IN CONGRESSIONAL AND OTHER LOCAL RACES, THE GOVERNING CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS SUFFERED DEFEAT IN THE PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST: DC SECGEN ALFONSO CABRERA CAME IN A DISTANT THIRD AND WAS ELIMINATED FROM PARTICIPATING IN THE JANUARY 6 RUN-OFF. SOME 56 PERCENT OF ELIGIBLE VOTERS PARTICIPATED. THE TOP TWO VOTE-GETTERS WERE JORGE CARPIO OF THE NATIONAL CENTRIST UNION (UCN) WITH UNDER 26 PERCENT OF THE VOTE AND JORGE SERRANO OF THE SOLIDARITY ACTION MOVEMENT (MAS) WITH JUST OVER 24 PERCENT. THE UCN GOT THE LARGEST BLOC OF CONGRESSIONAL DEPUTIES AND TOOK THE LARGEST NUMBER OF MUNICIPALITIES. GUERRILLA CALLS TO BOYCOTT THE ELECTIONS AND FORMER DICTATOR RIOS MONT'S CALL TO TURN IN NULL BALLOTS, LARGELY WENT UNHEEDED.

2. THE ELECTORAL RESULTS RAISED THE PROSPECT OF RELIGIOUS TENSIONS IN GUATEMALA. ROMAN CATHOLIC CARPIO IS PAIRED OFF AGAINST PROTESTANT SERRANO. THE CARPIO

CAMPAIGN RAISED THE RELIGIOUS ISSUE HOPING TO DRAW THE SUPPORT OF THE STILL LARGELY CATHOLIC ELECTORATE. IT IS UNCLEAR IF SUCH AN APPEAL WILL PROVE ATTRACTIVE TO GUATEMALA'S RELIGIOUSLY TOLERANT POPULATION.

3. WHILE FAILING TO HAVE A MAJOR IMPACT ON THE ELECTIONS, GUERRILLA ACTIVITY INCREASED THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF GUERRILLAS COMMITTING SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS (THESE SHOULD BE INCLUDED IN THE 1990 COUNTRY REPORT). THE INFORMAL PEACE TALKS WENT ON HOLD; THE TALKS APPARENTLY WILL NOT PICK UP AGAIN UNTIL A NEW GOG TAKES OFFICE.

4. CERJ LEADER AMILCAR MENDEZ RECEIVED THE ROBERT F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL HUMAN RIGHTS AWARD IN WASHINGTON DC. HE REPORTED RECEIVING NUMEROUS THREATS ON HIS LIFE DURING THE MONTH. THERE WAS LITTLE IF ANY PROGRESS ON MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS CASES OF THE PAST. THE MURDER OF AMCIT MICHAEL DEVINE REMAINED UNSOLVED AS DID THE BRUTAL STABBING DEATH OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG. THERE WAS SOME PROGRESS IN PROSECUTING POLICEMEN SUSPECTED OF MURDERING A STREET CHILD AND THE NATIONAL POLICE DIRECTOR ANNOUNCED THAT SINCE HE TOOK OFFICE LAST JULY OVER 1000 POLICEMEN HAD BEEN CHARGED WITH A VARIETY

OF CRIMES AND DISMISSED FROM THE FORCE.

LEAVE FOR HIS HOME; A WOMAN GUERRILLA, WHOM VILLAGERS IDENTIFIED AS A FOREIGNER, SHOT HIM. HE DIED A FEW MINUTES LATER. ALSO ON NOVEMBER 14, NEAR SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE, A CLAYMORE MINE KILLED JUAN LUIS DE LA CRUZ AND SERIOUSLY INJURED HIS BROTHER ERNESTO LUIS. BOTH HAD BEEN COLLECTING WOOD ALONG THE ROAD LEADING TO CHICHE WHEN THEY ACTIVATED THE MINE. EGP GUERRILLAS HAVE PREVIOUSLY CONDUCTED CLAYMORE AMBUSHES OF MILITARY CONVOYS IN THAT AREA. ON THE 18TH, TWO OFF-DUTY AND UNARMED MEMBERS OF THE CIVIL PATROL IN SANTA MARIA DE JESUS (SACATEPEQUEZ), CRISTOBAL AND DAMIAN ORON CUC, WERE KIDNAPPED FROM THEIR HOME BY ARMED MEN APPARENTLY BELONGING TO ORPA. BOTH WERE LATER FOUND TORTURED, APPARENTLY WITH ACID AND SHARP INSTRUMENTS, AND SHOT DEAD. THE TOWN OF SANTA MARIA, 50 KMS FROM THE CAPITAL, WAS ATTACKED BY ORPA LAST FEBRUARY; THREE CHILDREN DIED.

7. AS PER THE OCTOBER HUMAN RIGHTS SUMMARY (GT 13465), ON OCTOBER 6, THE LARGELY INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP CERJ REPORTED THE KIDNAPPING IN QUICHE AND SUBSEQUENT MURDER OF MEMBER SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA. ON NOVEMBER 17, HOWEVER, THE NATIONAL POLICE ISSUED A PRESS

STATEMENT CLAIMING THAT FORENSIC ANALYSIS SHOWED HE DIED OF AN ALCOHOL OVERDOSE. FURTHERMORE, THE POLICE CLAIM, HE HAD NEVER BEEN KIDNAPPED AND HAD BEEN FOUND DEAD ON OCTOBER 8 IN ZONE 1 OF THE CAPITAL. LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS DISPUTED THE POLICE CLAIM. THE CASE OF SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA HAS DRAWN CONSIDERABLE INTERNATIONAL ATTENTION AND US CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRIES.

DISAPPEARANCES

8. A MAJOR NEWS STORY IN THE LOCAL PRESS WAS THE REAPPEARANCE OF "DISAPPEARED" RIGHT-WING EXTREMIST LEONEL SISNIEGA OTERO (REPORTED IN OUR 1989 REPORT ON GUATEMALA). SISNIEGA VANISHED IN SEPTEMBER 1989 AS AUTHORITIES WERE LOOKING FOR HIM FOR SUSPICION OF BEING INVOLVED WITH HIS SON, AN ARMY CAPTAIN, IN A SERIES OF GRENADE ATTACKS. THE GOG CLAIMED SISNIEGA FLED TO A NEIGHBORING COUNTRY AND DENIED HIS FAMILY'S CLAIM THAT HE WAS BEING HELD IN A SECRET PRISON. CHARGES AGAINST SISNIEGA WERE SUBSEQUENTLY DROPPED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE. SISNIEGA CLAIMED THAT THE GOG HAD HELD HIM BECAUSE HE COULD HAVE BEEN A MAJOR PLAYER IN THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. WIDESPREAD SKEPTICISM GREETED HIS STORY OF BEING HELD CAPTIVE SINCE SEPTEMBER 1989.

INTERNAL CONFLICT

9. THE PEACE TALKS PROCESS APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN PUT ON HOLD UNTIL A NEW GOG TAKES OFFICE. BOTH CARPIO AND SERRANO HAVE EXPRESSED RELUCTANCE TO ENGAGE IN CONVERSATIONS WITH THE GUERRILLA COMMANDERS UNTIL THE AFTER THE NEW GOG TAKES OVER. THIS IS CLEARLY A DISAPPOINTMENT FOR LAME-DUCK PRESIDENT CEREZO WHO HAD HOPED TO LEAVE OFFICE AS THE "PEACE PRESIDENT." ACCORDING TO THE AGREEMENT SIGNED LAST MAY BETWEEN THE ESQUIPULAS-CREATED NATIONAL RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (CNR) AND THE GUERRILLA ORGANIZATION, THE URNG, THE NEXT SET OF TALKS IS TO INVOLVE THE GOG AND THE ARMY.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

10. ON THE OCCASION OF "DAY OF THE JOURNALIST," NOVEMBER 30, THE GUATEMALAN PRESS ASSOCIATION (APG) ISSUED A STATEMENT CLAIMING THAT ITS MEMBERS CONTINUE TO FEEL THREATENED IN GUATEMALA. AS TO UNDERSCORE THIS SENSE OF THREAT, APG VICE PRESIDENT BYRON BARRERA, WHO SURVIVED AN ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT ON OCTOBER 26 (SEE OCTOBER WRAP-UP) WHICH COST HIS WIFE'S LIFE, LEFT GUATEMALA ON NOVEMBER 3 FOR MEXICO. BARRERA ISSUED AN OPEN LETTER, WHICH RAN IN ALL THE LOCAL PAPERS, SEVERELY CRITICAL OF THE GOG AND THE ARMY FOR FAILING TO PREVENT THE SORT OF VIOLENCE WHICH KILLED HIS WIFE AND ALMOST KILLED HIM.

ADDRESS BY H.E. Mr. PATRICIO AYLWIN AZOCAR AT THE BANQUET OFFERED IN HONOUR OF PRESIDENT BUSH

R

Mr. President:

It is an honour for the people of Chile and for me as their President to be receiving in this country the President of a great nation with which we have long had ties of friendship.

At this crucial moment for mankind and for our own nation, your visit provides a promising opportunity for further strengthening the promising signs discernible on the pages of history that are being written now, as we near the end of this century.

These signs, Mr. President, owe their origin to the principles that inspired the founders of our Republics.

Although our nations belong to different cultural traditions, they share the honour of having been born as a result of the burning desire to forge a new world with the ideal of liberty as its guiding star. The inspiring assertions that "we hold it self-evident that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights" and that governments "derive their just powers from the consent of the governed", together with the conviction that the way we live together should be governed by democratic rules and institutions, reflect the values which the founding fathers of both our nations took as their guide and thanks to which the finest pages of our countries' history have been written.

Destiny has brought us together ever since we emerged as free nations. Sometimes our relations have been marked by understanding and respect; sometimes they have been more distant. History has taught us that our relations have been most fruitful when both our countries have been true to those values which lie at the very root of our identity.

It is those values which have permitted us to meet today as democratic nations to help build the future that our fathers dreamed of and that we owe it to our children to bequeath to them.

A refreshing wave of democracy is sweeping through the world.
This fact, that cannot but gladden the hearts of all men of good will, naturally strengthens the bonds between our countries and makes it our duty to redouble our efforts to live democracy to the full and care for it like the priceless treasure it is.

In the last few years, Chile itself has been a symbol of this new era.

Its recent history has been that of a nation which has fought for peace with the arms of peace and has never failed to confirm its ardent love of liberty.

UNCLASSIFIED

We Chileans are justly proud of returning to the democratic traditions which distinguished us for 150 years. The process in which we are now engaged has not been the result of any chance event, but represents the mature decision of a nation which has preferred understanding to confrontation and dialogue rather than brute force. The Chilean people have learnt through their own suffering the cost of uncompromising dogmatism.

This has been a long and arduous effort involving both those of us who are now in the Government and also the Opposition, but it has enabled us to forge ahead in the reconstruction of our democracy and the solution of the most urgent problems of our fellow-citizens.

Our first priority has been to promote authentic national reconciliation. In order to achieve this, it is necessary to heal the wounds that still lie open. For this reason, we shall continue to do all we can to seek the truth and ensure that justice is done, within the limits of the possible, in all cases of violations of human rights, including of course those of Ronny Moffit and Orlando Letelier.

At the same time, we are responding to the tremendous challenge of putting into effect a development strategy which will enable us to promote economic growth and overcome poverty against a background of democracy, freedom and social justice.

The path we have chosen for this is the one most in keeping with the way we see our mission. It is quite true that this limits our freedom of action somewhat, and some observers of the Chilean democratic process may find this difficult to understand. It is precisely this delicate balance between continuity and change, however, which enables us to feel sure that we are building a solid system for the Chileans of today and those of tomorrow too.

The document formally ending the Cold War which was signed in Paris two weeks ago is a clear indication that this is a good moment for establishing new flexible, creative and supportive ways of tackling the challenges of the present.

It is an inspiring invitation to us to face up with redoubled energy to the great problems that currently affect mankind: overcoming the poverty that assails millions of people on our planet; preserving the environment for present and future generations; combating the scourge of drug trafficking, which finds its victims especially among young people; doing away with nuclear weapons and banning for ever the chemical and bacteriological weapons whose menace looms over the future survival of our Earth.

Today there are prospects for co-operation which were undreamed-of only a few years ago and in which Latin America has an active role to play. The countries of our region are now taking decided steps towards real -- not just proposed -- integration, thanks to the strengthened confidence now reigning among our nations and the implementation of new forms of bilateral and multilateral relations, and this is of itself a contribution to global security.

UNCLASSIFIED

Against this new world background, the Gulf crisis is a conflict that disturbs and saddens mankind. However, the determined response of the United Nations -- which Chile unreservedly supports -- shows that now, as never before, there is a concerted will to enforce respect for international law as the basis for civilized coexistence among nations.

I cannot fail to take this opportunity, Mr. President, to say how much we appreciate the determined efforts which you and your Government are making to defend the principles that have been violated by this totally unjustifiable invasion, while at the same time seeking to find a peaceful solution to this crisis. It is our earnest hope that your efforts will be crowned with success, for they echo the yearning for peace that is felt by mankind as a whole.

The changes that are taking place in the world economy also open up new possibilities for our countries.

Here in the region, there is a growing consensus on the need to decentralize resource allocation, eliminate restrictions on the activity of the private sector, and promote free trade and international competition.

Against this background, economic growth depends primarily on the creativeness, effort and inventiveness of the individual.

Chile has already set out along this path and is willing and able to go further.

In an interconnected world, however, our own will and efforts -- while very necessary elements -- are by no means sufficient on their own.

It is also necessary that the more highly industrialized nations should commit themselves in deeds and not just in words to the attainment of free trade and real openness of markets.

At present, our exports face serious hindrances in the developed markets. As you yourself said only a few days ago in Mexico, "trade-distorting subsidies and artificial barriers mean that some of the players are winners or losers even before the game begins".

In this same period, the applicability of these principles is being appraised in the Uruguay Round of GATT. We are firmly on the side of all countries that aspire to authentic free trade.

Chile is by its very nature an exporting country, and we therefore want to compete on the basis of the quality of our products and not the demarcation of markets by bureaucratic decree.

UNCLASSIFIED

When President Eisenhower visited Chile in the National Congress, he enhanced the value given by his country to the efforts of other free nations to secure their prosperity by means of reducing the commercial barriers and the maximum use of the resources and added - in words that became precursory- that "a common market should be aimed not only to increase the trade within the region but to raise the level of the world trade".

Thirty years after the "Enterprise for the Americas" proposed by you, Mr. President, open interesting perspectives so as to consolidate this desire.

Your vision of a free trade area covering the whole continent is a bold concept, in line with the aspirations and interests of all Americans, whether from the North, Centre or South. This could be a historic opportunity, and we should not let it slip through our fingers. What is needed is to define time limits, mechanisms and criteria and to ensure that the enterprise is flexible enough to advance gradually, allowing those economies which are ready to open up their economies and integrate to do so rapidly, either bilaterally or multilaterally. Chile is keen to participate actively in this process, in line with our policy of seeking our proper place in international markets.

Mr. President:

In the last few years, the relations between our countries have been adversely affected by painful events which we regret just as much as you do.

However, the conditions which gave rise to these differences have now radically changed. Since the democratic government took office, we have made joint efforts to remove the obstacles which impeded normal relations between the United States and Chile, and this has already given concrete results.

The ongoing contacts maintained between our governments and the meeting which we had two months ago in the White House have enabled us to make real progress in solving the problems of the past and laying the foundations for a new phase of fruitful collaboration.

We have noted with satisfaction how all the situations which impeded full bilateral relations have now been resolved: the investment insurance benefits under the Overseas Private Investments Corporation (OPIC) have been recovered; Chile has returned to the Generalized System of Preferences, and the Kennedy Amendment has now been lifted. All this makes it easier to deal with the remaining issues in the new spirit of understanding and awareness that we are building.

In this connection, we greatly appreciate, as a reflection of this new spirit, the approval by the United States Congress of a programme of assistance to our country in the fields of health and housing and the signing of a Framework Trade Agreement which is already in operation and helping to solve our differences in the trade field as well as promoting an increase in investments.

Mr. President:

Your presence here in Chile marks the dawn of a new era in the relations between our countries: a period in which imagination and creativeness can flourish without outmoded restrictions; an era in which those who desire freedom will not have to knock down walls but rather help to build new hopes; a period in which our nations will together seek justice and solidarity. This is our fervent desire, which we may perhaps best express in the words of President Lincoln: "With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in".

Ladies and gentlemen:

I invite you now to lift your glasses and drink to President Bush, to the fullest success of his brave campaign for peace in a kinder and gentler world, and to the friendship of our nations.

God bless the Americas!

1. Q: PRESIDENT BUSH, WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW YOUR OPINION OF THE POLITICAL TRANSITION OF CHILE AND ON

THE BEHAVIOR OF THE ARMED FORCES OF CHILE DURING THIS PERIOD OF TRANSITION. WE WOULD LIKE YOUR COMMENT.

PRESIDENT BUSH: IT SEEMS TO ME THAT THERE IS GREAT ENTHUSIASM IN THE UNITED STATES FOR THIS TRANSITION, FOR THIS SOLIDIFICATION OF CHILE'S DEMOCRACY. AND I'M NOT AN EXPERT ON HOW THE ARMY AND THE CIVILIAN-CONTROLLEDQVERNMENT IS INTERACTING, BUT FROM THE UNITED STATES' STANDPOINT, CHILE IS PROJECTING A COMMITMENT TO DEMOCRACY AND A COUNTRY THAT IS CONTROLLED BY A POPULARLY ELECTED PRESIDENT. AND THAT'S THE SIGNAL THAT IS GOING ALL AROUND THE WORLD AND IS BEING SO WELL RECEIVED IN THE UNITED STATES AND IN OTHER COUNTRIES AS WELL.
2. MR. HUNT OF THE AP.

Q: MR. PRESIDENT DO YOU BELIEVE THE PROMISE BY SADDAM HUSSEIN TO RELEASE THE HOSTAGES IS CREDIBLE, AND WILL IT AFFECT THE U.S. WAR FOOTING IN THE PERSIAN GULF?

PRESIDENT BUSH: ONE, I HOPE IT IS CREDIBLE. TWO, NO SINGLE HOSTAGE SHOULD HAVE BEEN TAKEN IN THE FIRST PLACE. AND I HOPE THAT IT SHOWS THAT THE STRATEGY IS WORKING AND THAT SADDAM UNDERSTANDS THAT HIS HOSTAGE

POLICY HAS INCURRED THE CONDEMNATION OF THE WHOLE WORLD. AND WE'VE GOT TO CONTINUE TO KEEP THE PRESSURE ON. AND THIS WOULD BE WELCOMED IF TRUE, BUT IT WOULD NOT CHANGE MY THINKING ON HIS NEED TO COMPLY ONE HUNDRED PERCENT, WITHOUT CONDITION, TO THE U.S. RESOLUTIONS.

3. Q: MR. PRESIDENT, AT THE AIRPORT YOU PRAISED CHILE'S ECONOMIC POLICY AND THE EFFICIENCY OF A MARKET ECONOMY. HOWEVER, MANY PRODUCTS OF CHILE STILL HAVE MANY PROBLEMS ENTERING THE AMERICAN MARKET. HOW LONG WILL THE CHILEANS HAVE TO WAIT UNTIL THEY HAVE A REAL FREE TRADE WITH THE UNITED STATES?

UNCLASSIFIED

PRESIDENT BUSH: IN THE FIRST PLACE, THE BEST THING TO REDUCE BARRIERS IS TO HAVE A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION OF THE GATT ROUND, WHICH NOW APPEARS TO BE IN TROUBLE BECAUSE THE AGRICULTURE QUESTION HAS NOT BEEN ACCEPTED BY SEVERAL KEY PLAYERS IN THIS NEGOTIATION. SECONDLY, WE HAD GOOD DISCUSSIONS WITH THE PRESIDENT OF CHILE AND HIS TOP OFFICIALS HERE AT LUNCH ON HOW WE CAN MOVE FORWARD ON A TRADE AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND CHILE THAT ALSO WOULD BE HELPFUL IN REDUCING BARRIERS TO BILATERAL TRADE.

4. Q: I WONDER IF YOU WOULD TAKE CONTEXT OF WHAT IS GOING ON SINCE YOU GOT THE U.N. RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE USE OF FORCE. YOU KNOW, YOU MADE THE ANNOUNCEMENT LAST WEEK THAT THEY WERE RESUPPLYING OR HELPING TO RESUPPLY THE U.S. EMBASSY. NOW THE ANNOUNCEMENT ON THE HOSTAGES. MY QUESTION, MR. PRESIDENT, IS WHETHER YOU BELIEVE SADDAM IS SERIOUS ABOUT DEFUSING THE TENSION, OR IS PLAYING CHESS.

PRESIDENT BUSH: FIRST, I DON'T CONSIDER A COUPLE OF CASES OF PEPSI-COLA A SERIOUS RELEASE ON OUR BELEAGUERED EMBASSY IN KUWAIT. I HOPE, THOUGH, IN RESPONSE TO THE BROADER ASPECTS OF YOUR QUESTION, THAT SADDAM HUSSEIN IS GETTING THE MESSAGE--THE MESSAGE SO CLEARLY STATED IN THE LAST U.N. RESOLUTION. AND THE RELEASE OF ALL HOSTAGES WOULD BE A VERY GOOD THING. BUT THE PROBLEM IS THE AGRESSION

5. Q: PRESIDENT AYLWIN, WITH THE UNITED STATES IS THE CASE OF THE POISONED GRAPES. DURING THE LUNCH WITH PRESIDENT BUSH, DID YOU ADVANCE SOMETHING OF THAT MATTER? IS HE GOING TO HAVE SOME CONVERSATION OR ASK FOR A POSITION FOR THE DAMAGE DONE -- AND THE LOSSES OF CHILEAN EXPORTERS?

PRESIDENT AYLWIN: DURING THE LUNCHEON THAT WE HAD AND UP TO NOW, WE HAVE SPOKEN ABOUT MANY TOPICS RELATED TO THE WORLD SITUATION AND THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN CHILE AND THE UNITED STATES. AS PRESIDENT BUSH HAS SAID, WE HAVE PROGRESSED IN THE IDEA OF A BILATERAL TREATY OF FREE TRADE BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES.

I HAVE POINTED OUT TO THE PRESIDENT OUR SATISFACTION FOR THE PROGRESS -- THE POSITION OF THE UNITED STATES CONCERNING THE TOPICS THAT WERE -- AS TO WHAT IS CONCERNING THE INSURANCE INVESTMENT, THE GENERAL PREFERENCE SYSTEM AND THE KENNEDY AMENDMENT. THE TOPIC YOU ARE TALKING ABOUT IS GOING TO BE THE SUBJECT OF SOME OF OUR CONVERSATIONS IN THE MEETING THAT WE WILL HAVE THIS AFTERNOON, PRESIDENT BUSH AND MYSELF.

PRESIDENT BUSH:-- LET ME SAY I WILL BE PREPARED TO FULLY DISCUSS THAT AND TO ASSURE THE PEOPLE OF CHILE THAT THERE IS NO DISCRIMINATION THAT WAS INTENDED, OR THAT IS INTENDED, AND THAT I'M GLAD OUR COUNTRY IS MOVING BRISKLY FORWARD ON THESE BILATERAL TRADE MATTERS.

6. MR. COCHRAN, NBC.

Q: MR. PRESIDENT, THERE WERE REPORTS THIS MORNING OUT OF NEW YORK, APPARENTLY, LINKING AMERICAN DIPLOMATS TO A SUGGESTION THAT THE U.S. MIGHT GO ALONG WITH A U.N. RESOLUTION BACKING A MIDEAST PEACE CONFERENCE. THIS WAS LINKED WITH SADDAM'S LATEST

STATEMENT ABOUT THE HOSTAGES. SINCE THEN WE UNDERSTAND THAT SECRETARY BAKER HAS DENIED ANY CHANGE IN THE U.S. POSITION. CERTAINLY YOU HAVE SAID THERE SHOULD NEVER BE ANY LINKAGE, AND YOU'RE AWARE THAT SADDAM IS TRYING TO LINK THEM. HOWEVER, HAVING SAID THAT THERE IS NO LINKAGE, CAN YOU OFFER ANY HOPE THAT THE UNITED STATES MIGHT TAKE A FAVORABLE POSITION TOWARD A MIDEAST PEACE CONFERENCE?

PRESIDENT BUSH: THE QUESTION IS THE AGGRESSION AGAINST KUWAIT. THERE WILL BE, AND IS, NO LINKAGE TO THE PALESTINIAN -- THE WEST BANK QUESTION. AND TO HELP CLARIFY, I WOULD REFER PEOPLE TO SECRETARY BAKER'S STATEMENT TODAY, TO MY COMMENTS AT A PRESS CONFERENCE IN HELSINKI WITH MR. GORBACHEV, AND TO WHAT I SAID AT THE UNITED NATIONS IN MY SPEECH. I HOPE THAT WILL MAKE CLEAR THERE IS NO LINKAGE. THE

UNITED STATES, OF COURSE, REMAINS INTERESTED IN A SOLUTION TO THAT OTHER QUESTION. BUT THERE IS NO LINKAGE WITH WHAT HAS HAPPEN IN KUWAIT, OR WHAT WILL HAPPEN IN KUWAIT.

CONTRERAS, ONE OF THE FIRST PERSONS ACCUSED OF PARTICIPATING IN THE CRIME OF THE DEATH OF LETELIER -- HE SAID THAT THE PEOPLE RESPONSIBLE FOR THAT CRIME HAD TO BE SEARCHED FOR IN THE UNITED STATES. WHAT IS YOUR OPINION ABOUT THIS PARTICULAR POINT?

PRESIDENT BUSH: I AM AFRAID I DON'T KNOW THE DETAILS OF WHAT HE WAS REFERRING TO, SO I JUST CAN'T HELP YOU.

I THINK THE PRESIDENT HAD MOVED TO TRY TO GET THAT CONTENTIOUS MATTER CLEARED UP, BUT I JUST AM SORRY, I DON'T KNOW THE DETAILS OF THAT ENOUGH TO KNOW TO WHOM HE'S REFERRING.

8. Q: TO BRING MR. CONTRERAS BEFORE THE CIVIL COURT WILL THAT SATISFY THE UNITED STATES?

PRESIDENT BUSH: I KNOW WHAT YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT, BUT I JUST CAN'T RESPOND ON THAT SPECIFIC POINT BECAUSE I HONESTLY DON'T KNOW THE ANSWER TO THAT QUESTION.

9. Q: MR. PRESIDENT, IN MAKING HIS ANOUNCEMENT TOD'AY SADDAM HUSSEIN SAID HE WAS MOVED TO RELEE THESE HOSTAGES BY WHAT HE CALLED, "POSITIVE DIPLOMATIC CHANGES." ARE THERE ANY SECRET NEGOTIATIONS, BACKDOOR NEGOTIATIONS GOING ON NOW, BETWEEN IRAQIS AND THE U.S.? AND WHEN YOU SIT DOWN WITH FOREIGN MINISTER AZIZ, WILL YOU BE LAYING DOWN THE LAW, OR WILL YOU BE OFFERING FURTHER INCENTIVES TO ENCOURAGE

IRAQ TO LEAVE KUWAIT?

PRESIDENT BUSH: ONE, THERE ARE NO SECRET NEGOTIATIONS, DIRECT OR INDIRECT WITH IRAQ OVER THIS QUESTION. NONE. AND THERE WILL BE NONE -- SECRET NEGOTIATIONS OF THAT NATURE. SECONDLY, I AM NOT LOOKING FOR INCENTIVE OR FURTHER INCENTIVE. WHAT I WANT TO DO IS BE SURE, BY GOING THIS LAST, EXTRA STEP FOR PEACE, THAT THE IRAQIS KNOW FROM ME, AND AZIS KNOWS FROM ME, AND SADDAM HUSSEIN KNOWS DIRECTLY FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE WHAT IS AT STAKE IN THIS MATTER AND HOW SUPPORTIVE THE UNITED STATES IS OF THE CONSOLIDATED U.N. POSITION. AND THAT'S WHAT IT'S ABOUT.

UNCLASSIFIED

AND I SAID THAT BEFORE AND I'LL KEEP REPEATING IT, BECAUSE I DON'T WANT ANY PEOPLE TO THINK THERE ARE SECRET NEGOTIATIONS GOING ON OR THAT I, ON BEHALF OF THIS WORLDWIDE COALITION, WILL EVEN CONSIDER MAKING A CONCESSION, IF YOU WILL -- OR YOU CAN CALL IT INCENTIVE -- INCENTIVE, IF YOU WILL. THAT IS NOT WHAT THESE MEETINGS ARE ABOUT.

10. Q: PRESIDENT BUSH, ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT AYLWIN HAS SAID THAT YOU'RE GOING TO TALK ABOUT THE GRAPES IN PRIVATE CONVERSATIONS, I WOULD LIKE TO KNOW WHAT ACTION WOULD YOUR GOVERNMENT BE ABLE TO TAKE REGARDING THIS PROBLEM THAT WAS ORIGINATED AND THAT HAS HAD A NEGATIVE EFFECT ON CHILEAN EXPORTS AND SEVERAL STUDIES HAVE PROVED THAT THEY WERE POISONED IN THE UNITED STATES?

WENT TO GREAT ENDS TO REMOVE THAT TYLENOL AND TO CHANGE THEIR PACKAGING AND TO CORRECT THIS SCARE. AND I CITE THAT SO PEOPLE IN CHILE WILL KNOW THAT IT ISN'T THE CHILEAN GRAPES THAT WAS SINGLED OUT. THIS IS THE WAY, IN THE UNITED STATES, WE APPROACH MATTERS THAT CAN ADVERSELY AFFECT THE HEALTH OF OUR PEOPLE.

TO SHOW THAT PERSISTENCE PAYS OFF, I'LL RECOGNIZE THIS GENTLEMAN OVER HERE, EVEN THOUGH HE'S NOT WITH THE NORTH AMERICAN PRESS.

11. Q: MR. PRESIDENT, THE INITIATIVE FOR THE AMERICAS HAS BEEN CONSIDERED AS A POSITIVE AND IN AN OPTIMISTIC WAY BY MOST OF THE GOVERNMENTS OF LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN. HOWEVER, THERE ARE ALSO STRONG CRITICISMS CONCERNING THE BUREAUCRATIC CONTRADICTIONS BETWEEN YOUR DISCOURSE AND THAT OF THE AMERICAN CONGRESS, WHICH HAS MEANT THAT THERE SEEMS TO BE NO REAL WILL ON BEHALF OF THE KEY AGENCIES OF THE UNITED STATES IN ORDER TO PROGRESS IN A MORE SPEEDY WAY TOWARDS THE INTEGRATION IN OUR CONTINENT.

PRESIDENT BUSH: I THINK THAT THERE IS A DETERMINATION TO MOVE FORWARD. SOME OF THESE PROCEDURES TAKE A LONG TIME. AND YES, CONGRESS IN OUR SYSTEM MUST BE BROUGHT ALONG AS A FULL PARTNER. AND SECONDLY, THIS INITIATIVE IS NOT GOING TO BE AN EMPTY SLOGAN; I AM DETERMINED TO FOLLOW UP ON THIS. AND I THINK THE COUNTRIES WITH WHOM I HAVE TALKED FEEL THAT THE PROCESS IS MOVING FORWARD PROPERLY. I WISH IT COULD BE MUCH FASTER. BUT LET ME GUN DOWN,

12. Q: MR. PRESIDENT, I'D LIKE TO COME BACK TO JOHN'S QUESTION ABOUT A MIDDLE EAST PEACE CONFERENCE. YOU'VE SO STRONGLY AND YOUR AIDES HAVE SO VEHEMENTLY DENIED ANY INTENTION TO MOVE TO A PALESTINIAN CONFERENCE OF ANY SORT. IS THAT BECAUSE YOU ARE SIMPLY CONCERNED THAT SADDAM HUSSEIN WOULD SAY, SEE, I HAVE EXTRACTED SOMETHING FROM PRESIDENT BUSH? OR, IF NOT, JUST WHAT CONDITIONS REMAIN TO BE MET FOR YOU TO AGREE TO A MIDEAST PEACE CONFERENCE?

PRESIDENT BUSH: FROM THE VERY BEGINNING SADDAM HUSSEIN HAS TRIED TO JUSTIFY HIS ILLEGAL AGGRESSION

AGAINST KUWAIT BASED ON AN OVERALL MIDDLE EAST PROBLEM THAT INVOLVES THE WEST BANK AND THE PALESTINE QUESTION. AND WE ARE NOT GOING TO GET DIVERTED FROM THE FULL IMPLEMENTATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS' RESOLUTIONS IN ORDER TO GIVE HIM SOME FACE-SAVING WAY OUT OF SOMETHING HE SHOULDN'T HAVE GOTTEN INTO IN THE FIRST PLACE.

AS YOU KNOW, JIM BAKER HAD BEEN VERY ACTIVE UP UNTIL QUITE RECENTLY IN TRYING TO MOVE THAT WHOLE PEACE PROCESS FORWARD. WE CONTINUE TO BE VERY INTERESTED IN MOVING THE PEACE PROCESS FORWARD. BUT IT WILL NOT BE LINKED IN ANY WAY WITH SADDAM HUSSEIN'S AGGRESSION. I DON'T CARE ABOUT FACE; HE DOESN'T NEED ANY FACE. HE NEEDS TO GET OUT OF KUWAIT

RELEASED IN PART

NICARAGUA

(LOU) More From the Paris CG: While donors praised many aspects of the GON's presentation, it was largely considered inadequate and lacking in detail. Donors were concerned about the GON's inability thus far to implement some needed reforms, especially reduction of the fiscal deficit, cutting the public payroll, and exerting greater control over domestic credit creation. Despite the lack of progress on donations, the World Bank will consider (1) using IDA funds to pay interest on IBRD loans and (2) assistance for commercial debt reduction and buybacks; the IDB is expected to approve $4 million for the social investment fund. France announced its arrears clearance donation will rise to $3 million. (Paris 36326, TWSmith)

(C) Disarmament Commission Off to Inauspicious Start: FSLN press reports state that the Jinotega chapter of the National Disarmament Commission began work by searching five sites in the town. Most of the weapons and paraphernalia claimed to have been found appear to be RN-related; some of it was found at the home of the ANPDH regional director. Marta Baltodano said that the home did contain 4 uniforms and 2 broken radios, but reports of ammunition discovered there are Sandinista propaganda. Embassy comment: The GON created the disarmament commission with the best intentions, but the commission could be manipulated to serve Sandinista interests. (Managua 8367, AEarl)

(C) Minister of External Affairs Kruger goes to Moscow. Kruger is presumably going to discuss rescheduling GON's bilateral debt. According to Vice Minister Vidaurre, GON owes the Soviets $3.5 billion (excluding military debt). The Soviets are flexible, though they have asked for the repayment of $70 million in cash given a few years ago. There has been a similar lack of progress in resolving the $500 million owed to Mexico. (Managua 8300, AEarl)

EL SALVADOR

(LOU) OAS to Begin Electoral Observation: 150 OAS observers will arrive in El Salvador on January 3, five days before the campaign begins, according to the coordinator of the OAS election observer group. (San Salvador 16410, DRobinson)

(C) Jesuit Case to Plenary: Gutierrez Castro, President of the Supreme Court, informed embassy legal officer that a decision had been made to elevate the Jesuit case to the plenary stage. Post anticipates a lengthy appeals process before evidence in the case is presented to a jury. (Embassy/Desk telcon, DRobinson)

(U) Reaction to Delivery of U.S. Military Aid: The FMLN called the accelerated delivery of $48.1 million in military assistance to El Salvador "warmongering and interventionist." Salvadoran Army Deputy Chief of Staff, Mauricio Vargas, said the aid is "a good message to the FMLN that it cannot toy with the dialogue process." (FBIS, DRobinson)

COSTA RICA

(S) GOCR and North Korea Exchange Ideas—Nothing More: Last week Fonmin Niehaus met with North Korean Ambassador and DCM to Managua, following up on visit made by ruling Social Christian Unity Party legislator to North Korea. Niehaus stated to Embassy, more than once, that the South Koreans had no problems with GOCR-GONK contacts and, in any event, the GOCR has "no interest whatsoever" in ties with the North. (San Jose 13972, CCockburn)

(C) No Consensus on Consensual Boardings: The GOCR again complained to Embassy about a consensual boarding by USCG, 15 miles from Costa Rican coast. The boarding reportedly took place last Thursday night and the GOCR was unaware of USCG activity in the area. We last received a similar complaint from the GOCR in August. The Embassy finessed the situation and averted an official complaint. The GOCR does not object to consensual boardings but would like to be made aware of USCG operations, if only to avoid embarassment. It is in our interest to become more sensitive to Costa Rican concerns as we continue to seek ways to strengthen cooperation on narcotics matters. INM will convey latest GOCR concerns to USCG. (INM/CCockburn)

(U) PL-480 Advances Macroeconomic Reform: As a result of PL-480 conditionality, the GOCR finalized action to end a 40-year government monopoly over the importation and marketing of basic grains. The private sector will now be allowed to directly import yellow corn, which could signal the extinction of the government's National Production Council. As we steadily lose ESF leveraging to encourage reform, PL-480 (of less importance to Costa Rica) is proving to be an effective tool to achieve macroeconomic reforms. (San Jose 13926, CCockburn)

HONDURAS

(LOU) World Bank CG Report: The December 5 CG covered the macroeconomic situation and social conditions in Honduras. There was agreement that the GOH had an urgent need for higher levels of fast-disbursing balance of payments assistance and Honduras Social Investment Fund contributions. GOH difficulties obtaining a bridge loan to clear IDB and World Bank arrears cast a cloud over the meeting. (Paris 36457, DLShuler)

(C) CONADI to be Dissolved: Callejas has supported legislation dissolving the state-owned investment corporation, both to end the financial drain of the CONADI companies and to close a scandalous chapter in Honduran politics. The President has decided that prosecuting the powerful businessmen responsible for sacking the corporation is politically impossible. The Embassy is concerned that the liquidation process will succumb to political pressures unless Callejas monitors it personally. (Tegu 20730, DLShuler)

GUATEMALA:

(LOU) ATITLAN MASSACRE: MOD Bolanos has announced the detachment at the base near Santiago Atitlan will be relocated within two weeks. Two soldiers, the base commander and a sergeant, are to be tried in military court. There is no mention of trying the soldiers who fired upon the crowd at the base. EMBASSY COMMENT: There is no one person responsible for the massacre. What is clear is the army did not plan it and the Mayor of the town encouraged the residents to march on the base. CEN COMMENT: A press release from the Embassy in Washington states that Cerezo has set up a commission on the case. This is not so. Only the Human Rights Ombudsman, on his own, is conducting an investigation. (Guatemala 14888, DMcCarthy).

(C) DEVINE CASE: Former Guatemalan Army Chief of Staff Marroquin said he agreed with Embassy's assessment that the Army High Command is covering up the facts and preventing an effective investigation. He suggested keeping the case alive until the next government takes office. EMBASSY COMMENT: We believe he is correct in saying that as long as the current senior Army leaders are unchanged, our progress on the case will be limited. CEN COMMENT: We believe we need to press hard to get the case resolved before Cerezo leaves office. (Guatemala 14906, DMcCarthy).

Dear Michael:

I just returned from Chile with President Bush and thought you might be interested in the enclosed copy of President Aylwin's remarks at the State Dinner for the President. I thought that it was encouraging that President Aylwin went out of his way to pay special mention of his commitment to ensure that "justice is done" in the Letelier-Moffitt case. His public commitment to make such an effort, along with his private commitment in his letter to President Bush represent what I trust are firm commitments of the Chilean government. Please feel free to stay in touch as we continue to press for progress on this issue.

Sincerely,

Bernie Aronson

2. (C) RSO COMMENT: GOC SECURITY FORCES MADE A CONCERTED EFFORT TO PROTECT USG FACILITIES, PRIVATE SECTOR INSTALLATIONS ASSOCIATED WITH THE UNITED STATES AND MORMON CHAPELS DURING THE PERIOD LEADING UP TO AND INCLUDING THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO CHILE. ON THE WHOLE, THIS EFFORT WAS A SUCCESS. ALTHOUGH TERRORISTS DID INITIATE TWO ATTEMPTS NEAR HE CONSULATE (REF C), HEAVY SECURITY AROUND THE BUILDING PREVENTED THEM FROM APPROACHING CLOSER THAN 150 METERS. UNKNOWN INDIVIDUALS ALSO DETONATED A BOMB NEAR THE CROWNE PLAZA HOTEL WHERE THE PRESIDENTIAL ADVANCE TEAM OFFICES WERE LOCATED; HOWEVER, HEAVY SECURITY AROUND THE HOTEL FORCED THOSE RESPONSIBLE TO DETONATE THE BOMB MORE THAN A BLOCK AWAY. THE ONLY PRIVATE SECTOR U.S. ASSOCIATED BUSINESS THAT WAS HIT WAS THE MCDONALDS RESTAURANT THAT RECENTLY OPENED IN SANTIAGO (REF A). RSO HAD PREVIOUSLY SPOKEN TO THE OWNER, WHO INDICATED THAT HE HAS BEEN RECEIVING THREATS FROM VARIOUS PEOPLE WHO CLAIMED TO REPRESENT THE SENDERO LUMINOSO AND THE PALESTINE LIBERATION ORGANIZATION SINCE THE RESTAURANT OPENED. THE OWNER, WHO IS JEWISH, ATTRIBUTED SOME OF THIS TO ANTISEMITISM. POST WAS GRATIFIED THAT NO BINATIONAL CENTERS (BNC'S) WERE VICTIMIZED DURING THE VISIT. POLICE MAINTAINED A PRESENCE AT ALL MAJOR BNC'S FROM DEC. 4 - 7. MORMON INSTALLATIONS RECEIVED THE BRUNT OF ANTIAMERICAN INCIDENTS THAT OCCURRED DURING THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT. ALL TOLD, POST ISE-AWARE OF TEN BOMBINGS THAT WERE DIRECTED AGAINST CHAPELS AND ONE INCIDENT DIRECTED AGAINST TWO MORMON AMCIT MISSIONARIES AT A PRIVATE RESIDENCE (REF D). POLICE DID ATTEMPT TO IDENTIFY MORMON CHAPELS THAT COULD BE LIKELY TARGETS AND DID PATROL THESE AREAS. END COMMENT.

3. (C) A RANKING MEMBER OF THE CARABINEROS DE CHILE STATED TO RSO THAT CARABINEROS HAVE MADE A NUMBER OF OVERTURES TO MORMON OFFICIALS IN CHILE REGARDING THE DEVELOPMENT OF A RESPONSE PLAN THAT WOULD LEAD TO THE APPREHENSION OF INDIVIDUALS WHO ATTACKED MORMON CHAPELS. THIS OFFICIAL COMPLAINED THE MORMONS WERE UNRESPONSIVE. RSO ALSO EXPERIENCED THIS ATTITUDE IN SEPTEMBER 1998. AT THAT TIME, CARABINEROS PROPOSED THAT MORMONS ESTABLISH OBSERVATION POSTS NEAR THEIR CHAPELS AND CALL A SPECIAL TELEPHONE NUMBER THAT CARABINEROS STATED WOULD ELICIT A QUICK RESPONSE IN THE EVENT THE OBSERVERS RE ORTED ANYTHING SUSPICOUS. WHEN RSO APPROACHED A RANKING AMCIT MORMON OFFICIAL WITH THIS P ROPOSAL, THE OFFICIAL INDICATED TO RSO THAT HE WAS NOT INTERESTED IN THIS TYPE OF OPERATIONAL COOPERATION WITH THE POLICE.

1. (U) SR. FRANCIS WILHELM, HEAD OF THE THREE-PERSON GROUP CURRENTLY VISITING GUATEMALA IN CONNECTION WITH THE REPORTED KIDNAPING AND TORTURE OF ANCIT URSULINE NUN DIANA ORTIZ (NOVEMBER 2-3, 1989), ISSUED A PRESS RELEASE DECEMBER 16. AS PER REF A (BEING REPEATED TO LEGATT/MEXICO), AMBASSADOR, DCM, PAO, CONOFF, AND POLOFF MET THE ORTIZ DELEGATION AT THE EMBASSY DECEMBER 5. MAIN POINTS OF THE PRESS RELEASE ARE SUMMARIZED BELOW. ENTIRE TEXT MAILED TO ARA/CEN

-- (U) "THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY AND NATIONAL POLICE WERE DIRECTLY INVOLVED IN AND RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SURVEILLANCE, KIDNAPPING AND TORTURE OF SR. DIANA. BECAUSE OF THIS THEY CHOSE NOT TO DO A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION OF THIS CASE AND INSTEAD SIMPLY CALLED HER DISAPPEARANCE A 'SELF-KIDNAPPING' AND BEGAN A SMEAR CAMPAIGN BLAMING THE VICTIM IN AN ATTEMPT TO DISCREDIT HER TESTIMONY."

-- (U) DESPITE PROMISES MADE IN APRIL BY PRESIDENT CEREZO TO APPOINT A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE CRIME AGAINST ORTIZ "THE COMMISSION HAS NOT ACTED. IN FACT, IT HAS NOT EVEN MET." THE PRESIDENT, THE VICE-PRESIDENT, AND THE INTERIOR MINISTER "REFUSED TO MEET WITH US DURING THIS TRIP."

-- (U) "WE SHALL HOLD THE NEXT GOVERNMENT OF GUATEMALA TOTALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE COMMISSION AND A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF THIS CASE."

-- (U) "IN OCTOBER OF THIS YEAR OUR CONGRESS PASSED A LAW REGARDING OUR GOVERNMENT'S MILITARY AND ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA. THE LANGUAGE WITH THIS ACT STATED THAT FUTURE ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA WILL DEPEND ON A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF SR. DIANA'S CASE BY THIS COMMISSION. WE SHALL RETURN TO GUATEMALA SHORTLY AFTER THE NEW PRESIDENT TAKES OFFICE TO ASSURE THAT THE COMMISSION IS CONVENED AND A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF THIS CASE IS CONDUCTED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE."

-- (U) "WE ARE VERY ENCOURAGED BY THE FACT THAT MR. JORGE SERRANO PROMISED A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF SR.

GUATEM 15884 1215877Z SHB2233

DIANA'S CASE."

-- (U) THE NATIONAL POLICE CLAIM TO HAVE LOST THE FILES IN THIS CASE.

-- (U) "JUDGE ANTONIO MOSQUERA ESTRADA OF THE COURT OF FIRST INSTANCE IN ANTIGUA ADVISED US THAT ON JAN. 30, 1990 HE SENT A SET OF LETTERS ROGATORY TO THE SUPREME COURT OF GUATEMALA TO BE SENT BY DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS TO SR. DIANA IN THE USA, SO THAT SHE COULD PRESENT THIS COURT WITH A FORMAL DECLARATION REGARDING HER CASE. ALTHOUGH THESE LETTERS ROGATORY HAVE APPARENTLY REACHED THE STATE DEPARTMENT, THEY HAVE NOT YET BEEN SENT TO SR. DIANA. WE ANXIOUSLY AWAIT THEIR DELIVERY SO THAT SR. DIANA CAN RESPOND TO THEM AS SOON AS POSSIBLE."

-- (U) IN THE LAST FEW MONTHS, SR. DIANA "HAS MADE SIGNIFICANT PROGRESS. . . LAST MONTH SHE WAS INTERVIEWED FOR A NATIONAL NEWS BROADCAST IN THE STATES AND MADE HERSELF AVAILABLE FOR AN INTERVIEW WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT AS WELL."

-- (U) "WE CRY FOR JUSTICE. WE CAN NOT ALLOW THE SECURITY FORCES OF GUATEMALA TO ESCAPE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR ACTS. WE CANNOT CLOSE OUR EYES. . . WE FOLLOW THIS COURSE THAT GOD HAS CHOSEN FOR US, NOT ONLY ON BEHALF OF THE CHURCH, OUR ORDER, AND SR. DIANA, BUT ALSO FOR THE PEOPLE OF GUATEMALA, ESPECIALLY THE WOMEN."

2. (LOU) COMMENT: IT IS OUR UNDERSTANDING FROM PREVIOUS STATE REPORTING (REF B) THAT ORTIZ'S ATTORNEY ASKED THE DEPARTMENT NOT TO MOVE AHEAD WITH THE LETTERS ROGATORY UNTIL SUCH TIME AS THE COMMISSION REFERRED TO ABOVE BEGAN TO FUNCTION. IS THIS CORRECT? IF SO, THEN THE PRESS STATEMENT NEEDS TO BE REFUTED ON THIS KEY POINT.

SUBJECT: DELEGATION LOOKING INTO REPORTED TORTURE OF AMCIT ORTIZ CRITICIZES STATE DEPT.

REF: (A) GT 14832 (NOTAL), (B) STATE 175747

1. (U) SR. FRANCIS WILHELM, HEAD OF THE THREE-PERSON GROUP CURRENTLY VISITING GUATEMALA IN CONNECTION WITH THE REPORTED KIDNAPING AND TORTURE OF AMCIT URSULINE NUN DIANA ORTIZ (NOVEMBER 2-3, 1989), ISSUED A PRESS RELEASE DECEMBER 10. AS PER REF A (BEING REPEATED TO LEGATT/MEXICO), AMBASSADOR, DCM, PAO, CONOFF, AND POLOFF MET THE ORTIZ DELEGATION AT THE EMBASSY DECEMBER 5. MAIN POINTS OF THE PRESS RELEASE ARE SUMMARIZED BELOW. ENTIRE TEXT MAILED TO ARA/CEN

— (U) "THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY AND NATIONAL POLICE WERE DIRECTLY INVOLVED IN AND RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SURVEILLANCE, KIDNAPPING AND TORTURE OF SR. DIANA. BECAUSE OF THIS THEY CHOSE NOT TO DO A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION OF THIS CASE AND INSTEAD SIMPLY CALLED HER DISAPPEARANCE A 'SELF-KIDNAPPING' AND BEGAN A SMEAR CAMPAIGN BLAMING THE VICTIM IN AN ATTEMPT TO DISCREDIT HER TESTIMONY."

— (U) DESPITE PROMISES MADE IN APRIL BY PRESIDENT CEREZO TO APPOINT A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE CRIME AGAINST ORTIZ "THE COMMISSION HAS NOT ACTED. IN FACT, IT HAS NOT EVEN MET." THE PRESIDENT, THE VICE-PRESIDENT, AND THE INTERIOR MINISTER "REFUSED TO MEET WITH US DURING THIS TRIP."

— (U) "WE SHALL HOLD THE NEXT GOVERNMENT OF GUATEMALA TOTALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE COMMISSION AND A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF THIS CASE."

— (U) "IN OCTOBER OF THIS YEAR OUR CONGRESS PASSED A LAW REGARDING OUR GOVERNMENT'S MILITARY AND ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA. THE LANGUAGE WITH THIS ACT STATED THAT FUTURE ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA WILL DEPEND

ON A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF SR. DIANA'S CASE BY THIS COMMISSION. WE SHALL RETURN TO GUATEMALA SHORTLY AFTER THE NEW PRESIDENT TAKES OFFICE TO ASSURE THAT THE COMMISSION IS CONVENED AND A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF THIS CASE IS CONDUCTED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE."

-- (U) "WE ARE VERY ENCOURAGED BY THE FACT THAT MR. JORGE SERRANO PROMISED A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF SR. DIANA'S CASE."

-- (U) THE NATIONAL POLICE CLAIM TO HAVE LOST THE FILES IN THIS CASE.

-- (U) "JUDGE ANTONIO MOSQUERA ESTRADA [OF THE COURT OF FIRST INSTANCE IN ANTIGUA] ADVISED US THAT ON JAN. 30, 1990 HE SENT A SET OF LETTERS ROGATORY TO THE SUPREME COURT OF GUATEMALA TO BE SENT BY DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS TO SR. DIANA IN THE USA, SO THAT SHE COULD PRESENT THIS COURT WITH A FORMAL DECLARATION REGARDING HER CASE. ALTHOUGH THESE LETTERS ROGATORY HAVE APPARENTLY REACHED THE STATE DEPARTMENT, THEY HAVE NOT YET BEEN SENT TO SR. DIANA. WE ANXIOUSLY AWAIT THEIR DELIVERY SO THAT SR. DIANA CAN RESPOND TO THEM AS SOON AS POSSIBLE."

-- (U) IN THE LAST FEW MONTHS, SR. DIANA "HAS MADE SIGNIFICANT PROGRESS. . . LAST MONTH SHE WAS INTERVIEWED FOR A NATIONAL NEWS BROADCAST IN THE STATES AND MADE HERSELF AVAILABLE FOR AN INTERVIEW WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT AS WELL."

-- (U) "WE CRY FOR JUSTICE. WE CAN NOT ALLOW THE SECURITY FORCES OF GUATEMALA TO ESCAPE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR ACTS. WE CANNOT CLOSE OUR EYES. . . WE FOLLOW THIS COURSE THAT GOD HAS CHOSEN FOR US, NOT ONLY ON BEHALF OF THE CHURCH, OUR ORDER, AND SR. DIANA, BUT ALSO FOR THE PEOPLE OF GUATEMALA, ESPECIALLY THE WOMEN."

2. (LOU) COMMENT: IT IS OUR UNDERSTANDING FROM PREVIOUS STATE REPORTING (REF B) THAT ORTIZ'S ATTORNEY ASKED THE DEPARTMENT NOT TO MOVE AHEAD WITH THE LETTERS ROGATORY UNTIL SUCH TIME AS THE COMMISSION REFERRED TO ABOVE BEGAN TO FUNCTION. IS THIS CORRECT? IF SO, THEN THE PRESS STATEMENT NEEDS TO BE REFUTED ON THIS KEY POINT.

PRESIDENT BUSH: I WANT TO SALUTE YOU AND CHILE AS AN INTERNATIONAL FORCE AND A MAJOR LEADER IN THE HEMISPHERE.

PRESIDENT AYLWIN: WHEN WE MET IN OCTOBER IN WASHINGTON WE COVERED THREE POINTS. I WANT TO GIVE YOU MY THANKS FOR THREE OF THEM: OPIC, GSP AND THE LIFTING OF THE KENNEDY AMENDMENT SANCTIONS. IT REMAINS FOR OUR ADVISORS TO WORK OUT THE FOURTH: A FREE TRADE AGREEMENT.

PRESIDENT BUSH: THE ENTERPRISE FOR THE AMERICAS INITIATIVE IS NOT A SLOGAN. CHILE IS A MODEL OF WHAT CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED AND BRINGS IT ALL TOGETHER. YOU MENTIONED GSP AND OPIC, THEY CAN HELP ATTRACT INVESTMENT. A FREE TRADE AGREEMENT IS VERY IMPORTANT. AND CHILE IS A EARLY CANDIDATE FOR DEBT RELIEF WITH AN ENVIRONMENTAL EMPHASIS, AND, WITH IDB SUPPORT, FOR INVESTMENT SUPPORT. WE HAVE NO LINGERING RESERVATION ON ANY THEME.

ON NUCLEAR NON-PROLIFERATION, THE STEPS TAKEN BY ARGENTINA AND BRAZIL ARE POSITIVE. I HOPE THAT SUITS CHILE. YOU WOULD FIT AND IT WOULD ALSO FURTHER ISOLATE FIDEL.

PEOPLE ASK WHY NOT IMPROVE RELATIONS WITH CASTRO. HE IS STILL SUPPORTING INTERVENTION AND TERRORISM. HE PROBABLY STILL SUPPORTING CHILEAN TERRORISTS. WE NOW HE IS SUPPORTING THE FMLN. HE IS GOING AGAINST THE TIDE. SOME ARGUE THAT IF WE NORMALIZE RELATIONS IT WOULD DETER HIM. I WON'T IMPROVE RELATIONS WITHOUT REAL CHANGE. I WON'T DO THAT.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTED TRAVEL ADVISORY FOR CHILE

1. SECRET/NOFORN - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. IN WAKE OF RECENT INCIDENTS, EMBASSY IS AWARE OF THE INTEREST IN THE DEPARTMENT IN POSSIBLY EXTENDING A TRAVEL ADVISORY FOR CHILE. THE POST'S EXECUTIVE ACTION COMMITTEE CONVENED ON DECEMBER 10, 1990 TO REVIEW THE SITUATION.

FOR THE REASONS STATED BELOW, THE EEAC UNANIMOUSLY CONCLUDED THAT AN ADVISORY IS NOT NECESSARY, DESIRABLE OR WARRANTED AT THIS STAGE, AND

THAT THE CURRENT ADVISORY SHOULD BE ALLOWED TO EXPIRE AS PLANNED, ON DECEMBER 15, 1990:

-THE RECENT UPSWING IN VIOLENCE IS ASSOCIATED WITH TRANSITORY EVENTS, MOST NOTABLY PRESIDENT BUSH'S DECEMBER 6-7 VISIT, ABOUT WHICH KNOWN EXTREMIST GROUPS

HAD GIVEN ADVANCE WARNING. SUCH VIOLENCE AS HAS OCCURRED, HOWEVER, HAS NOT BEEN AIMED AT AMERICAN TOURISTS OR BUSINESS TRAVELERS, WHO WERE NOT AT RISK IN ANY OF THE INCIDENTS WHICH HAVE OCCURRED IN RECENT MONTHS.

--DESPITE HEIGHTENED TERRORIST ACTIVITY RELATING TO PRESIDENT BUSH'S VISIT, INCLUDING THE TWO INCIDENTS IN WHICH U.S. OFFICIAL PERSONNEL WERE TARGETED -- THE U.S.S. ABRAHAM LINCOLN IN VINA DEL MAR AND THE AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SOFTBALL TEAM AT THE NATIONAL STADIUM IN SANTIAGO -- WE BELIEVE IT IS PREMATURE AND PERHAPS MISTAKEN TO CONCLUDE THAT THERE IS A NEW TREND OF REAL SIGNIFICANCE.

--THERE IS NO PATTERN OF RANDOM VIOLENCE IN CHILE. TERRORIST ACTIVITY FOR THE MOST PART HAS BEEN CONFINED TO THE OUTLYING, POORER AREAS OF METROPOLITAN SANTIAGO. WHILE U.S. ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS BINATIONAL CENTERS HAVE BEEN TARGETED IN AND OUT OF SANTIAGO, SUCH CASES HAVE OFTEN BEEN IN RESPONSE TO SPECIFIC EVENTS ELSEWHERE, E.G., OPERATION JUST CAUSE.

--THE VIOLENCE TARGETED AT THE MORMON CHURCH HAS BEEN A PROBLEM OF LONG STANDING IN CHILE. IT DOES NOT APPEAR TO BE AIMED AT AMERICANS IN GENERAL, BUT RATHER AT AN INSTITUTION THAT EXTREMISTS HAVE TRIED TO IDENTIFY WITH IMPERIALISM AND INTERVENTION. (AND WE NOTE THAT LATTER DAY SAINTS CHURCH LEADERS IN CHILE HAVE REFUSED TO COOPERATE WITH CHILEAN OFFICIALS ON PREVENTIVE MEASURES OR TO HEED THE COUNSEL OF THE RSO.)

--TRADITIONALLY, THERE HAS BEEN A DRAMATIC DECREASE IN TERRORIST ACTIVITY IN CHILE DURING THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY SEASON AND THE AUSTRAL SUMMER VACATION MONTHS OF JANUARY AND FEBRUARY. WE EXPECT THAT TREND TO CONTINUE.

--WE RECOMMEND ADDITIONAL TIME TO MONITOR EVENTS AND A REVIEW IN THE FIRST PART OF THE NEXT YEAR.

(S) CHILE: Armed Man Enters Consulate Grounds. Early this morning, a very drunk and confused man carrying a revolver entered the Consulate grounds over the wall and encountered three on-duty security guards. No one was directly threatened but the intruder did at one point fire one shot into the air. He threatened to commit suicide and demanded to speak to a USG official, claiming he was a former member of the CNI (state intelligence apparatus under Pinochet) and feared for his life. He gradually calmed down enough to be turned over to the Carabineros who now have him in custody and will have him arrained in court. The incident appears to have been handled well. No one was hurt. (Stevens)

(LOU) CHILE: Letelier's Son Passes Memo to Bush. At the request of President Bush, Ambassador Gillespie answered the memorandum that Juan Pablo Letelier, Deputy and son of Orlando Letelier, handed to the President when he visited the Chilean Congress last week. The memo details the history of the Letelier case, summarizes GOC efforts under Aylwin to meet the requirements of the Kennedy amendment for certification, and states that lifting the amendment recognizes "the progress made in human rights standards" (sic) in Chile. It concludes by asking the USG to help to clarify the Letelier-Moffitt case. The Ambassador's response assures him that the USG wishes to see justice done. (Stevens)

(U) CHILE: Congressman Berman Codel. Congressman Howard Berman, member of the House Committees on the Budget, Foreign Affairs and Judiciary, will head a codel to Chile January 11-14. He will be accompanied by five other members of the House. (Stevens)

(C) CHILE: Counterterrorism Assessment. S/CT has called an interagency meeting on terrorism in Chile for Monday, December 17. Reps from DOD and CIA will attend. DS and INR have been asked to provide an assessment of the current situation. There will be a general discussion on what we might be able to offer--given budget constraints--in the way of counterterrorism assistance. (Stevens)

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT BUSH'S VISIT TO CHILE

1. (C) SUMMARY: PRESIDENT BUSH'S HISTORIC VISIT TO CHILE COMPLETED NORMALIZATION OF THE U.S.-CHILEAN

RELATIONSHIP; UNDERSCORED CHILE'S EXEMPLARY RETURN TO DEMOCRACY; UNDERLINED CHILE'S ECONOMIC LEADERSHIP IN THE HEMISPHERE; AND LAID THE GROUNDWORK FOR ADVANCING A FREE TRADE AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE U.S. AND CHILE WITHIN THE CONTEXT OF PRESIDENT BUSH'S ENTERPRISE FOR THE AMERICA'S INITIATIVE. PRESIDENTS BUSH AND AYLWIN PROJECTED GOOD PERSONAL CHEMISTRY, AND CHILEANS WIDELY COMMENTED ON PRESIDENT BUSH'S "SIMPATICO" PERSONALITY. THE TIMELY REMOVAL OF KENNEDY/HARKIN AMENDMENT SANCTIONS AND RESTORATION OF GSP EFFECTIVELY MUTED OPPOSITION CRITICISM. EVEN FORMER PRESIDENT PINOCHET JOINED IN THE WELCOMING CHORUS, CLAIMING CREDIT FOR CHILE'S ECONOMIC SUCCESS STORY. FROM A LOGISTICAL POINT OF VIEW, THE VISIT WAS AN UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS; THE GOC WORKED HAND-IN-GLOVE WITH THE WHITE HOUSE ADVANCE TEAM AND THE EMBASSY, AND SPARED NO EFFORT TO ACCOMMODATE OUR EVERY NEED. END SUMMARY.

HISTORIC VISIT TO CHILE

2. (U) THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE WARMLY RECEIVED PRESIDENT BUSH, THE FIRST AMERICAN PRESIDENT TO VISIT IN 30 YEARS. THE MEDIA AND POLITICAL LEADERS MADE SPECIAL MENTION OF THE PRESIDENT'S CHARM AND EASY GOING MANNER.

THROUGHOUT THE TWO-DAY VISIT, THE PRESIDENT PRAISED CHILE'S EXEMPLARY DEMOCRATIC TRANSITION AND SUCCESSFUL FREE MARKET ECONOMIC MODEL. THE REMOVAL OF KENNEDY/HARKIN AMENDMENT SANCTIONS AND RESTORATION OF GSP ON THE EVE OF THE VISIT EFFECTIVELY MUTED CRITICISM FROM THE CENTER-RIGHT OPPOSITION AND REINFORCED THE VISIT'S POSITIVE TONE. ONLY THE INCREASINGLY ISOLATED COMMUNIST PARTY OPPOSED THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT. THERE WERE ISOLATED TERRORIST INCIDENTS, INCLUDING BOMBINGS OF SEVERAL MORMON CHURCHES, OF THE RECENTLY-INAUGURATED MCDONALD'S RESTAURANT AND OF AN EMPTY PARKING LOT NEAR THE HOLIDAY INN CROWNE PLAZA WHERE MOST OF THE ADVANCE TEAM WAS QUARTERED, BUT THEY APPEARED NOT TO BE CALCULATED TO INJURE AND DID NOT MAR THE VISIT. THE CARABINEROS (NATIONAL POLICE) EFFECTIVELY CONTROLLED A HANDFUL OF

EXTREME LEFT DEMONSTRATORS WHO TRIED TO STAGE AN UNAUTHORIZED PROTEST MARCH. PREDICTED MAJOR DEMONSTRATIONS DID NOT MATERIALIZE.

COMMENTATORS NOTED THAT PRESIDENT BUSH'S DECISION NOT TO PREACH TO THE CHILEANS ON THEIR INTERNAL SITUATION WAS A GOOD ONE, AND SETS HIM APART FROM HIGH LEVEL VISITORS FROM OTHER COUNTRIES. UPON GREETING PRESIDENT BUSH, DEPUTY JUAN PABLO LETELIER, SON OF ASSASSINATED FOREIGN MINISTER ORLANDO LETELIER, SANTIAGO'S RADIO "CHILENA" NETWORK REPORTED THAT TWO ARMED INDIVIDUALS BOMBED THE RECENTLY-OPENED MCDONALD'S RESTAURANT IN THE LOS CONDES NEIGHBORHOOD OF THE CAPITAL AT 10:30 P.M., DECEMBER 6. ACCORDING TO THE RADIO, THE INDIVIDUALS PULLED UP TO THE RESTAURANT IN A TAXI, ENTERED, AND CLIMBED TO THE SECOND FLOOR EATING AREA. THE ASSAILANTS LEFT A BOMB AND FLED, AFTER SHOUTING A WARNING TO THE PATRONS TO "GET DOWN." NO ONE WAS INJURED BY THE BLAST AND DAMAGE WAS REPORTED TO BE LIGHT. THE ASSAILANTS ESCAPED IN THE SAME TAXI DRIVEN BY AN ACCOMPLICE, THE RADIO SAID. THE TAXI WAS FOUND A FEW BLOCKS FROM THE RESTAURANT, THE RADIO ADDED, WITH THE LEGITIMATE DRIVER TIED UP IN THE TRUNK. U.S. EMBASSY REPORTING INDICATED THE ASSAILANTS LEFT PAMPHLETS AT THE SCENE IDENTIFYING THEMSELVES AS MEMBERS OF THE MANUEL RODRIGUEZ PATRIOTIC FRONT (FPMR) AND DENOUNCING THE VISIT OF PRESIDENT BUSH TO CHILE.

-- NOTED PRESIDENT AYLWIN HAS PROPOSED TO BRAZILIAN AND ARGENTINE COUNTERPARTS THAT GOC, GOB AND GOA WAIVE TREATY OF TLATELOLCO INTO FORCE SIMULTANEOUSLY. (ARONSON URGED RAPID MOVEMENT AND SAID U.S. IS PREPARED TO SEND EXPERTS TO CHILE TO HELP IMPLEMENT SAFEGUARDS.)

-- PRAISED LIFTING OF KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT SANCTIONS AND DESCRIBED A CIVIL-MILITARY COMMISSION THAT WILL CONSIDER SUBSTANCE OF INCIPIENT BILATERAL MILITARY RELATIONSHIP. (ARONSON ASSURED WE WOULD MOVE QUICKLY TO IMPROVE MILITARY-MILITARY TIES).

(ARONSON SAID WE ARE READY AS SOON AS THE GOC IS READY.)

-- LOOKED FOR U.S. SUPPORT IN ASPIRATIONS FOR GREATER COMMERCIAL ACCESS TO PACIFIC BASIN COUNTRIES. (ARONSON STRESSED NEED TO WORK CLOSELY TOGETHER IN GATT NEGOTIATIONS TO LOWER TRADE BARRIERS WORLDWIDE.)

-- PROPOSED MECHANISM FOR REGULAR BILATERAL DIPLOMATIC CONSULTATIONS. (ARONSON MADE NO COMMITMENT, BUT INVITED VARGAS FOR INFORMAL TALKS EARLY NEXT YEAR.)

-- AGREED (IN RESPONSE TO ARONSON'S REQUEST) TO PROCEED WITH ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING TALKS IN CONTEXT OF BERRY AMENDMENT REQUIREMENTS. END SUMMARY.

TOASTS TO AUSPICIOUS FUTURE

3. IN OPENING TOAST DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER AND HOST EDMUNDO VARGAS RECALLED THAT AT WORKING LUNCH FOR A/S ARONSON DURING MARCH 11 AYLWIN INAUGURATION VARGAS HAD EXPRESSED THE NEW GOVERNMENT'S DESIRE TO OVERCOME RESTRICTIONS THAT WERE A LEGACY OF THE PAST. ALTHOUGH IT HAS NOT BEEN EASY, HE SAID, MOST OF THESE BARRIERS HAVE BEEN OVERCOME THROUGH "HARD WORK AND GOODWILL." THE U.S. AND CHILE ENJOY A TRADITION OF COOPERATIVE RELATIONS. THIS TRADITION CAN NOW BE RESUMED, BECAUSE THE USG AND THE GOC SHARE IMPORTANT GOALS -- THE EXPANSION AND CONSOLIDATION OF DEMOCRACY, THE PROTECTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS, INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY, AND A CLEAN ENVIRONMENT. "THIS VISIT," VARGAS CONCLUDED, "IS A VERY IMPORTANT OPPORTUNITY TO DISCUSS THE BRIGHT FUTURE OF OUR RELATIONSHIP."

4. IN RETURN TOAST ARONSON OBSERVED THAT HE COULD HAVE MADE VIRTUALLY THE SAME REMARKS, AND THAT THIS WAS A SOLID INDICATION OF THE GROWING STRENGTH OF OUR RELATIONS. HE MADE TWO POINTS. FIRST, THE SPIRIT OF COOPERATION AND MUTUAL TRUST THAT ENABLED THE U.S. AND GOC "TO CLEAR AWAY THE BAGGAGE OF THE PAST" SHOULD SERVE AS A MODEL FOR HOW WE NOW PROCEED. SECOND, THE FUTURE OF THE RELATIONSHIP IS BRIGHT. WITH THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITS DEMOCRACY, CHILE WILL BECOME A POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC MODEL FOR THE ENTIRE HEMISPHERE. THE U.S. DESIRES A SPECIAL RELATIONSHIP WITH SUCH A POTENTIALLY INFLUENTIAL COUNTRY.

LETELIER: INVESTIGATORY JUDGE IMMINENT

5. VARGAS BEGAN THE SUBSTANTIVE AGENDA BY REVIEWING PROGRESS ON THE LETELIER CASE. THE AYLWIN ADMINISTRATION IS CRITICAL OF THE PINOCHET REGIME'S HANDLING OF THE CASE FOR TWO REASONS. FIRST, THE

PREVIOUS GOVERNMENT WAS NOT SERIOUS ABOUT BRINGING THE PESPONSIBLE PARTIES TO JUSTICE. BECAUSE OF CONSTITUTIONAL LIMITATIONS, THE CURRENT GOVERNMENT CANNOT EXTRADITE SUSPECTS TO THE UNITED STATES. BECAUSE OF ITS COMMITMENT TO TRUTH AND HUMAN RIGHTS, HOWEVER, IT IS COMMITTED TO BRINGING THE GUILTY PARTIES TO JUSTICE. THE ONLY WAY TO ACHIEVE THIS GOAL IS THROUGH AN OFFICIAL CHILEAN INVESTIGATION. THE PASSAGE BY BOTH LEGISLATIVE CHAMBERS OF THE "LEYES CUMPLIDO," WHICH ENABLE A CHANGE IN JURISDICTION OF THE CASE FROM MILITARY TO CIVIL COURTS, WILL FACILITATE THE INVESTIGATION. VARGAS SAID THAT THE MINISTRIES OF JUSTICE AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS WILL ASK THE PRESIDENT TO APPOINT A SPECIAL INVESTIGATORY JUDGE (MINISTRO EN VISITA) AS SOON AS THE LAW IS PROMULGATED.

6. THE SECOND LETELIER-RELATED MATTER IN WHICH THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT TAKES ISSUE WITH ITS PREDECESSOR RELATES TO THE QUESTION OF COMPENSATION. THE GOC IS COMMITTED TO THE PRINCIPLE OF COMPENSATION, AND BELIEVES THAT THE BRYAN COMMISSION IS THE BEST MECHANISM IN WHICH TO EFFECT IT. VARGAS STATED THAT DISCUSSION OF COMPENSATION WILL BEGIN IN THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE OF THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES ON DECEMBER 11. THE GOVERNMENT "HOPES AND EXPECTS" THAT BOTH THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES AND THE SENATE WILL APPROVE THE U.S.-GOC MOU THIS MONTH, CLEARING THE WAY FOR THE COMMISSION TO BEGIN WORK IN THE FIRST WEEK OF MARCH. VARGAS SAID THAT HE MET WITH ANDRES AGUILAR OF THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE IN NEW YORK THE PREVIOUS WEEK, AND THAT AGUILAR IS LOOKING FORWARD TO CHAIRING THE COMMISSION.

7. ARONSON RESPONDED THAT THIS REPORT WAS HELPFUL AND ENCOURAGING. THE LETELIER CASE IS A SENSITIVE ISSUE FOR BOTH GOVERNMENTS. THE BUSH ADMINISTRATION INHERITED THE KENNEDY AMENDMENT, WHICH AFFECTED RELATIONS WITH CHILE, WHILE THE GOC "INHERITED THE LEGACY OF A TERRIBLE CRIME." HE THANKED VARGAS FOR THE LETTER THAT PRESIDENT AYLWIN WROTE TO PRESIDENT BUSH, COMMENTING THAT IT GREATLY FACILITATED THE DECISION TO LIFT KENNEDY-HARKIN SANCTIONS. WITH THE PRESIDENT'S CERTIFICATION OF CHILEAN PROGRESS ON THE LETELIER CASE, THE INTEGRITY OF OUR BILATERAL RELATIONSHIP IS NOW ON THE LINE. IT IS IMPERATIVE THAT THE GOC PURSUE THE CASE AGGRESSIVELY.

NUCLEAR NON-PROLIFERATION: HOPE FOR A REGIONAL BREAKTHROUGH

8. CARLOS PORTALES, DIRECTOR GENERAL OF FOREIGN POLICY AT THE FOREIGN MINISTRY, ADDRESSED THE ISSUE OF NUCLEAR NON-PROLIFERATION. HE NOTED THAT DESPITE THE FACT THAT

ARGENTINA, BRAZIL AND CHILE ARE ALL SIGNATORIES OF THE TREATY OF TLATELOLCO, CHILEANS HAVE BEEN CONCERNED FOR MANY YEARS ABOUT THE SCOPE AND AMBITION OF THE ARGENTINE AND BRAZILIAN NUCLEAR PROGRAMS. A FEW DAYS AGO, PRESIDENT AYLWIN SIGNED A LETTER TO PRESIDENTS COLLOR AND MENEM ASKING THEM TO ACT TOGETHER TO WAIVE TLATELOLCO INTO FORCE. GIVEN ITS INTEREST IN PREVENTING NUCLEAR PROLIFERATION IN SOUTH AMERICA, CHILE DESERVES AND WOULD BENEFIT FROM COOPERATION ON NUCLEAR ISSUES WITH THE USG, PARTICULARLY WITH THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY. THIS STEP WOULD HAVE IMPORTANT BENEFITS. TECHNICALLY, IT WOULD RAISE NUCLEAR SAFETY STANDARDS IN CHILE. POLITICALLY, IT WOULD BUILD CONFIDENCE IN THE

SANTIA 09733 08 OF 06 1316342 832337 5859155

BILATERAL RELATIONSHIP WITHIN THE MILITARY, BECAUSE THAT INSTITUTION HAS THE BURDEN OF DEFENDING CHILE FROM THE AGGRESSIVE NUCLEAR PROGRAMS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES.

9. NOTING THAT THE JOINT ANNOUNCEMENT BY PRESIDENTS MENEM AND COLLOR ON THE REORIENTATION OF THEIR NUCLEAR PROGRAMS WAS FRONT-PAGE NEWS IN THE UNITED STATES, ARONSON REMARKED THAT THE NON-PROLIFERATION ISSUE IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT IN THE UNITED STATES. THE USG HOPES THAT CHILE WILL MOVE RAPIDLY TO IMPLEMENT FULLY THE TERMS OF THE INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC ENERGY AGREEMENT AND TO WAIVE TLATELOLCO INTO FORCE. ARONSON SAID THE USG WOULD SEND NUCLEAR EXPERTS TO CHILE TO IMPLEMENT FULL-SCOPE SAFEGUARDS, AND AGREED THAT SUCH AN ARRANGEMENT WOULD ENTAIL POLITICAL BENEFITS. THE CAUSE OF DEMOCRACY CAN ONLY BE FURTHERED IF THE CHILEAN PEOPLE SEE THAT DEMOCRACY BRINGS THEM GREATER SECURITY FROM THE THREAT OF NUCLEAR WAR.

10. DEFENSE MINISTER ROJAS REMARKED THAT THE ISSUE IS "VERY DELICATE." HE SAID THAT BOTH ARGENTINA AND BRAZIL SPENT USD SIX BILLION ON THEIR NUCLEAR PROGRAMS IN THE SEVENTIES AND ALMOST ACHIEVED NUCLEAR MILITARY CAPACITY. HE ASSERTED THAT CHILE HAS ONLY HARNESSED THE ATOM FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES. ALTHOUGH HE APPLAUDED THE JOINT ANNOUNCEMENT, ROJAS CAUTIONED THAT BOTH THE USG AND THE GOC MUST FOCUS ON HOW FAR THE ARGENTINES AND THE BRAZILIANS WILL GO TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS ON THEIR NUCLEAR PROGRAMS. ARONSON CONCLUDED DISCUSSION ON THIS ITEM BY SAYING THAT REDUCING THE LIKELIHOOD OF REGIONAL ARMS RACES BODES WELL FOR LATIN AMERICA.

STRENGTHENING THE BILATERAL MILITARY RELATIONSHIP

11. REFERRING TO DISCUSSION OF THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT, ROJAS TURNED TO THE LARGER ISSUE OF CIVIL-MILITARY RELATIONS IN CHILE. "DEFENSE IS A VERY SENSITIVE ISSUE IN THIS GOVERNMENT," HE SAID. "YOU CAN GUESS WHY." CONTRARY TO THE EXPECTATIONS OF MANY OBSERVERS, THE CIVIL-MILITARY RELATIONSHIP UNDER THE DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT HAS TURNED OUT TO BE QUITE HEALTHY. "WHEN WE MET AT THE INAUGURATION NINE MONTHS AGO" HE REMARKED, "THE WORLD WAS CALM, BUT CHILE WAS TURBULENT. NOW, THE SITUATION IS REVERSED." THE LIFTING OF THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT RESTRICTIONS WILL FURTHER STRENGTHEN THE CIVIL-MILITARY RELATIONSHIP. OFFICIALLY, HE SAID, THE CHILEAN MILITARY HAS TAKEN THE POSITION THAT IT WAS NOT BADLY AFFECTED BY THE EMBARGO. IN FACT,

HOWEVER, THE LIFTING OF THE RESTRICTIONS WILL HAVE AN EXTREMELY POSITIVE EFFECT. WITHIN THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS, THE GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY WILL FORM A SPECIAL COMMISSION

TO EXPLORE HOW EACH SERVICE CAN TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE POSSIBILITIES OFFERED BY A BILATERAL MILITARY RELATIONSHIP WITH THE UNITED STATES. ROJAS SAID HE WAS DELIGHTED TO RECEIVE SECRETARY CHENEY'S INVITATION TO WASHINGTON IN JANUARY, BUT ADDED THAT HE WOULD UNDERSTAND IF EVENTS ELSEWHERE IN THE WORLD RESULT IN THE TRIP'S POSTPONEMENT.

12. ARONSON EXPLAINED THE USG'S GOALS IN THE RENEWAL OF THE BILATERAL MILITARY RELATIONSHIP. BY WORKING WITH THE CHILEAN MILITARY, THE USG HOPES TO HELP THE CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT TO CONVINCE GENERALS AND ADMIRALS THAT DEMOCRACY PROVIDES PALPABLE BENEFITS TO THEIR INSTITUTIONS. HE CAUTIONED THAT U.S. BUDGET PREPARATIONS

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ARA/NEA REARCS

FOR FY 1992 WERE ALMOST CONCLUDED, AND IT WOULD THUS BE DIFFICULT FOR THE USG TO PROVIDE RESOURCES TO THE MILITARY IN THE SHORT TERM. THERE ARE OTHER WAYS, HOWEVER, TO BUILD A BILATERAL RELATIONSHIP, AND THE USG WILL PURSUE THESE OPTIONS. ARONSON ADDED THAT A NEW SOUTHCOM COMMANDER HAD JUST COME ON BOARD. HE TOLD ROJAS THAT HE COULD ARRANGE FOR LT. GEN. JOULWAN TO VISIT CHILE IF SUCH A TRIP WAS DEEMED DESIRABLE. ROJAS THANKED ARONSON FOR THE OFFER, AND CONCLUDED THAT THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY WOULD SEEK TO INITIATE COLLABORATIVE ARRANGEMENTS ON A WIDE RANGE OF MILITARY-RELATED AREAS OF MUTUAL INTEREST.

13. ARONSON CONCLUDED DISCUSSION OF THIS AGENDA ITEM BY VOICING THE USG'S APPRECIATION FOR CHILEAN ADHERENCE TO THE UN SANCTIONS ON IRAQ. HE MENTIONED THAT THE USG WAS AWARE OF THE INTEREST OF SOME CHILEAN ARMS MANUFACTURERS IN RENEWING COMMERCIAL RELATIONSHIPS WITH IRAQ FORGED DURING ITS WAR WITH IRAN. THE UNITED STATES IS DETERMINED TO MAINTAIN THE SANCTIONS. VARGAS RESPONDED THAT "WE HAVE SUPPORTED THE SANCTIONS THROUGHOUT THE CRISIS, AND CONTINUE TO SUPPORT THEM." ROJAS INTERJECTED THAT ARMS FLOWS FROM CHILE TO IRAQ STOPPED YEARS AGO WHEN CHILEAN INDUSTRIALIST CARLOS CARDOEN BUILT MUNITIONS FACTORIES IN IRAQ. BOTH INDICATED THAT THE GOC WAS KEEPING CLOSE TABS ON CARDOEN'S OPERATIONS.

---

14. THE NEXT AGENDA ITEM CONCERNED THE RETURN OF A PEACE CORPS PROGRAM TO CHILE. ARONSON SAID THAT THIS STEP WOULD STRENGTHEN THE BILATERAL RELATIONSHIP FURTHER, AND THAT IF THE GOC WAS INTERESTED, THE USG WOULD WORK TO IMPLEMENT ITS PROPOSAL. VARGAS RESPONDED THAT THE GOC HAD "NO DISAGREEMENT AT ALL" WITH THE RETURN OF THE PEACE CORPS, AND THAT IT WAS ESPECIALLY INTERESTED IN A PROGRAM ORIENTED TO ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AND TECHNOLOGY TRANSFER.

POISONED GRAPES: A FRIENDLY EXCHANGE

15. VARGAS REFERRED TO THE FDA EMBARGO ON CHILEAN FRUIT RESULTING FROM THE DISCOVERY OF THREE POISONED CHILEAN GRAPES IN 1989. ASSURING ARONSON THAT HE WOULD NOT BELABOR THE POINT, HE OBSERVED THAT THE ISSUE GREATLY CONCERNS THE CHILEAN PUBLIC. IT THUS WARRANTS BILATERAL ATTENTION. ARONSON REPLIED THAT HE UNDERSTOOD THE IMPORTANCE OF THE ISSUE, AND RECOGNIZED THAT CHILEAN PRODUCERS AND EXPORTERS HAVE SUFFERED LOSSES. IF THEY SEEK COMPENSATION FROM THE USG FOR DAMAGES, THEY SHOULD PURSUE THEIR CASE IN THE AMERICAN COURT SYSTEM. VARGAS NOTED THAT THE GOC "DOES NOT WANT TO PRECLUDE OTHER WAYS OF RESOLVING THE DISPUTE," BUT ARONSON REJECTED THE POSSIBILITY OF A POLITICAL SETTLEMENT, REPEATING THAT THE USG WOULD ONLY COMPENSATE THE CHILEANS IF DULY OBLIGATED

BY A U.S. COURT.

A PLEA FOR FOOD AID

16. MONICA JIMENEZ, A PROMINENT CIVIC EDUCATOR AND ADVISOR TO THE FIRST LADY, MADE AN APPEAL FOR U.S. FOOD

AID. SHE SAID THAT SHE WAS SUMMONED TO THE LUNCH JUST HOURS BEFORE BY PRESIDENT AND MRS. AYLWIN. CHILE DOES NOT CURRENTLY RECEIVE SUCH U.S. ASSISTANCE BECAUSE OF ITS RELATIVELY HIGH PER-CAPITA INCOME LEVEL. NONETHELESS, MANY POCKETS OF POVERTY REMAIN, AND THE NEED FOR DONATED

FOOD IS GREAT. ANTICIPATING A NEGATIVE RESPONSE TO A DIRECT GRANT OF FOOD, SHE ASKED INSTEAD FOR A DEVELOPMENT GRANT. THE GOC WOULD USE THESE FUNDS TO PURCHASE FOOD LOCALLY TO FEED PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN THROUGH THE CENTERS OPERATED BY THE FOUNDATION INTEGRA HEADED BY THE PRESIDENT'S WIFE. (NOTE. INTEGRA HAS 528 CENTERS IN TARGETED PRIORITY AREAS THAT FEED SOME 45,000 PRE-SCHOOLERS. END NOTE.) AIDREP EXPLAINED THAT CHILE'S SUSTAINED IMPROVEMENTS IN INCOME LEVELS AND SOCIAL INDICATORS LIMIT U.S. OPTIONS. AGATT ADDED THAT U.S. FOOD AID CARRIES TWO CONDITIONS -- THAT THE AID NOT DISRUPT DOMESTIC PRODUCTION (WHICH OCCURRED PREVIOUSLY WHEN THE U.S. PROVIDED FOOD AID TO CHILE), AND THAT IT NOT DISPLACE FOREIGN SALES BY AMERICAN PRODUCERS. ARONSON SAID WE WOULD STUDY THE PROPOSAL FOR POSSIBLE FUNDING UNDER THE CHILD SURVIVAL ACCOUNT, AND HE ACCEPTED A LETTER DETAILING THE CHILEAN REQUEST. (NOTE. LETTER IS BEING FAXED TO AID/LAC/SAM. END NOTE.) ARONSON EMPHASIZED, HOWEVER, THAT POSSIBLE RESUMPTION OF FOOD AID WOULD HAVE TO BE VIEWED IN ECONOMIC, NOT POLITICAL, TERMS, AND THEREFORE MIGHT PROVE DIFFICULT TO ACHIEVE DESPITE THE IMPROVED BILATERAL ATMOSPHERE. DEFMIN ROJAS CONCLUDED THE DISCUSSION BY ASSOCIATING HIMSELF PERSONALLY WITH THE APPEAL FOR RENEWED FOOD ASSISTANCE, COMMENTING THAT SUCH A PROGRAM "WOULD BENEFIT BOTH OF US."

PACIFIC BASIN: IDEAS ON INTEGRATING CHILE

17. MOVING TO THE FINAL AGENDA ITEM, DIRGEN FOR FOREIGN

POLICY PORTALES DISCUSSED THE GOC'S INTERNATIONAL TRADING PRIORITIES. WHILE THE OPPORTUNITIES AFFORDED BY THE ENTERPRISE FOR THE AMERICAS INITIATIVE (EAI) WILL RECEIVE THE BULK OF THE GOC'S ATTENTION, CHILE IS ALSO INTERESTED IN FORGING LINKS WITH THE BOOMING ECONOMIES ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PACIFIC. AS THE PACIFIC BASIN'S KEY ACTOR, THE UNITED STATES COULD HELP CHILE TO ACHIEVE THIS GOAL. PORTALES LAMENTED THAT LATIN AMERICA IS SEEN AS THE BACKWARD COUSIN OF THE PACIFIC BASIN, AND INSISTED THAT LATIN COUNTRIES HAVE MUCH IN COMMON WITH OTHER PACIFIC RIM COUNTRIES.

18. ARONSON SAID THAT ONE OF THE MANIFESTATIONS OF THE CHILEAN ECONOMIC MIRACLE WAS THE HIGH VOLUME OF CHILEAN EXPORTS TO EAST ASIA. HE SAID THAT THE U.S. AND GOC SHOULD WORK TOGETHER IN THE GATT TO ENSURE THAT AGRICULTURAL BARRIERS IN ASIA, AS WELL AS EUROPE, ARE ELIMINATED. HE URGED CHILE TO TAKE A POSITION OF LEADERSHIP ON THIS ISSUE. SECOND, HE NOTED THAT CONTINUED PROGRESS ON A U.S.-CHILE FREE TRADE AGREEMENT AND OTHER ELEMENTS OF THE EAI COULD MAKE CHILE MORE ATTRACTIVE TO INVESTORS ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PACIFIC. HE ARGUED THAT CHILE COULD BECOME THE MODEL FOR ALL THREE ASPECTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE -- DEBT, INVESTMENT, AND TRADE. ARONSON NOTED THAT THE U.S. DOES NOT YET HAVE FULL AUTHORITY FROM CONGRESS TO RESTRUCTURE OFFICIAL DEBT AS ENVISIONED IN THE EAI, BUT THAT WE EXPECT TO GET IT AFTER

JANUARY WHEN THE NEW CONGRESS CONVENES. AT THAT POINT, WE

19. VARGAS NOTED THAT A WIDE RANGE OF BILATERAL ISSUES, INCLUDING SOME NOT DISCUSSED AT THE LUNCH, WARRANT FURTHER DISCUSSION AND CONSULTATION. HE SUGGESTED THAT BOTH GOVERNMENTS WOULD BENEFIT FROM A MORE FORMAL CONSULTATIVE MECHANISM. ARONSON REPLIED THAT THE IDEA WAS "VERY USEFUL," BUT MADE NO EXPLICIT COMMITMENT. HE SAID FURTHER DISCUSSIONS WOULD BE USEFUL, AND INVITED VARGAS TO VISIT WASHINGTON EARLY IN 1991.

20. ARONSON CONCLUDED BY URGING THE GOC TO NEGOTIATE WITH THE USG ON A KERRY AMENDMENT AGREEMENT THAT WOULD GIVE THE USG AND THE GOC ACCESS TO RECORDS OF LARGE CASH TRANSACTIONS. VARGAS REPLIED THAT THE GOC HAD REVIEWED THE ISSUE AND IS PREPARED TO PROCEED.

Excmo. Señor
Charles A. Gillespie
Embajador de los EE.UU.de America.
Agustinas 1343
Santiago

Estimado Sr. Embajador,

La ausencia por un viaje al extranjero no impidió contestar dentro del tiempo debido su carta del 27.11.90, recibida poco antes de partir, cuando ya el tiempo se me hacía escaso. Mi secretaria me informa haber transmitido a la suya lo antedicho.

Habiendo regresado sólo el Lunes último, nos encontramos al día siguiente en la Embajada de Argentina y le reitero personalmente mis excusas.

He releído ahora su carta con mucha atención. Entiendo su comentario sobre mi artículo referente a la Enmienda Kennedy, que publicó "El Mercurio" el 16.11.90, como una invitación a que yo extienda el examen de la misma a la publicación de un nuevo artículo.

En éste, yo habría de salvar la omisión en que incurrí en el anterior, respecto del "tercer elemento" que en 1981 se introdujo a su texto. Es asunto reproducible, pues Ud. lo hace subrayando sus términos.

Interesa, en cambio, señalar que para sugerir la necesidad de que yo comente publicamente acerca del "tercer elemento", Ud. sostiene que en él radica "the only controversial element" de la Enmienda.

El "único", pues Ud. considera que los demás "solicitantes para la derogación o levantamiento" de tal Enmienda "are not at issue".

No participo de su opinión, sino que comparto plenamente la del Excmo. Sr. Aylwin quien declaró a los periodistas al retirarse de su entrevista con el Excmo. Sr. Bush. "No hay ninguna razón que justifique que subsistan aplicando medidas restrictivas que tuvieron su origen en la violación de los derechos humanos".

Como representante en Chile de los EE.UU., Ud. sostiene que las condiciones referentes a los derechos humanos (y, por ende, terrorismo) "no están en discusión".

¿Qué es lo que está en discusión, por consiguiente? Lo indica su carta: el "tercer elemento".

Los derechos humanos y la solidaridad ante el terrorismo están consagrados y resguardados por el Derecho Internacional. Mi artículo que a Ud. no le satisface fue escrito como un estudioso de tal disciplina.

No lo amplíe para salvar una omisión deliberada. El "tercer elemento" persigue hacer imperativo en Chile el veredicto de un jurado norteamericano. La Excmo. Corte Suprema ya decidió que las pruebas tenidas en cuenta por dicho jurado al pronunciarse no eran admisibles en nuestro Derecho interno.

¿Cuál es el "interés nacional" de los EE.UU. que todavía impide al Excmo. Sr. Bush iniciar el trámite de la derogación de la Enmienda? ¿El que nuestro Primer Mandatario obligue al Tribunal Supremo a cambiar su sentencia? No puedo hacerlo. El Excmo. Sr. Aylwin es un patriota y un gran jurista.

El Derecho Internacional no reconoce el imperio de una ley nacional en el territorio de un tercer país, a menos de haber acuerdo al respecto entre ambos estados. No lo ha habido respecto del "tercer elemento".

Si Ud. sabe cierto que corresponde hacer cumplir "el tercer elemento" está en sus manos hacerlo. Yo considero que, además de vejatorio, el cumplimiento general de ese texto vulneraría gravemente las gestiones para "normalizar" las relaciones entre nuestros países.

Agradezco los elogiosos conceptos que vierte sobre mi persona. No los merezco y, con todo, me halagan sumamente.

Le acompaño fotocopias de un antiguo artículo mío (de 1976) sobre la Enmienda Platt en discusión en su Congreso, y el comentario que publicó al respecto Don Ernesto Barros Jarpa, ex-Ministro de RR.EE. de Chile y Profesor Emérito de la Universidad de Chile.

Con recuerdos para su señora, le saluda cordialmente.

Sergio Gutiérrez Olivos.

SUBJECT: The Mormon View on Terrorism in Chile

I contacted Ned Christensen, Deputy Director of Security for the Mormon church, on Dec. 13 to discuss the latest series of bombings of Mormon facilities in Chile.

Christensen said that the bombings are an unfortunate price the church had to pay for its work in Chile. He noted that the church has 421 buildings plus an additional 40 under lease making it difficult to develop adequate security measures. Most of the bombings, he said, caused only minor damage and no injuries (except for the roughing up of an elder during a service). In a more recent incident, guerrillas set a chapel on fire but "allowed" the congregants to escape.

Christensen said that the church has been trying to counter the terrorist's attempts to identify the church with the USG with a PR campaign. They have also asked the police to beef up mobile patrols around their facilities. The police, he said, have been accomodating, but are unable to fully cover the nearly 100 church sites in Santiago, not to mention the rest of the country.

Asked why Mormon officials rejected a police suggestion to establish observation posts near the churches, Christensen said that congregations would be hard pressed to man so many posts. Furthermore, he felt that volunteers in isolated posts would be exposed to possible danger. The church would rather put up with some physical damage to buildings than risk harm to their members.

I also asked if there was anything we could do to assist. Christensen said, only half jokingly, that no more trips by the President would help reduce the number of incidents. He thought that the number of attacks rose in correlation with exogenous USG actions, e.g. a presidential visit, the Panama invasion. The church has instructed its representatives in Santiago to stay in touch with the Embassy.

Ironically, Christensen pointed out, U.S. missionaries seemed to have fewer security problems in Peru where the general level of violence is much greater. Neither Sendero Luminoso nor the MRTA were targetting Mormons, he said. The fact that Mormon missionaries were dressed in a distinctive manner was an advantage, according to Christensen, since this clearly identified them as religious workers. (Comment: Religious vocation did not prevent two nuns from being killed by Sendero in the last three months.)

POLICY CONSIDERATIONS

Chile returned to a democratically-elected civilian government on March 11, 1990, after more than 16 years of military rule with the inauguration of Patricio Aylwin on that date.

The Kennedy-Harkin amendment, lifted in early December, imposed an embargo on all arms sales and other security assistance to Chile because of human rights violations committed under the Pinochet regime, including the murder of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt in Washington in 1976. These constraints meant that an entire generation of Chilean military officers had no exposure to U.S. military training and doctrine. Nor had they been exposed to the respect for democracy and civilian government that characterizes the U.S. armed forces. Re-establishing cooperative military-to-military programs under the new civilian government will help build Chilean armed forces support for democracy and demonstrate our commitment to work with freely-elected governments. Such programs will increase the likelihood that the Chilean military would support our objectives in Latin America, including narcotics interdiction, and regional defense and cooperation.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Objectives

- Demonstrate solid U.S. support for the civilian government, still less than a year old.
- Strengthen the development of the Chilean military as a professional, apolitical institution, subordinate to and supportive of democratically-elected, civilian governments.
- Increase the attractiveness of U.S. military equipment to the Chilean armed forces.

Status

U.S. security assistance to Chile was terminated in 1976 by the Kennedy-Harkin amendment. Further restrictions, placed on sales of military equipment and services to Chile in 1976, were imposed in 1981, but were modified in 1990. Under President Aylwin, Chilean government cooperation to resolve the Letelier case has been sufficient to allow the Secretary of State to announce on December 1, 1990, certification of Chile under Section 726(b) of the 1981 International Security Cooperation and Development Act. This makes possible renewed defense cooperation and sales to Chile.

FY 1992 Request

The proposed FY 92 FMF program would provide funding now that power has been transferred to a democratically-elected, civilian government. The funds would be used for the maintenance of existing, aging U.S.-origin miitary equipment. IMET would provide professional military education, management and technical training. Emphasis would be on command and staff courses for Army, Air Force, and Navy. Mobile training teams would be programmed for in-country naval mine warfare training. and Air Force technical assistance for their fighter and transport aircraft.

SUBJECT: MORE PUBLIC REACTION TO SR. DIANA ORTIZ CASE; TAKES ON ELECTORAL ROLE

REF: GUATEMALA 15157

1. LOCAL PRESS OVER THE WEEK-END AND TODAY (DECEMBER 17) HAS GIVEN EXTENSIVE PUBLICITY, INCLUDING EDITORIAL COMMENT, TO THE CASE OF ANCIT URSULINE NUN SR. DIANA MAE ORTIZ. RENEWED PUBLIC INTEREST IN THIS 13-MONTH OLD CASE WAS GENERATED BY THE RECENT VISIT TO GUATEMALA OF

HER ATTORNEYS, PAUL SOREFF AND SHAWN ROBERTS, AND THE HEAD OF THE KENTUCKY-BASED URSULINE ORDER, SR. FRAN WILHELM. THE CASE HAS BECOME ENMESHED IN LOCAL ELECTORAL POLITICS.

2. "SIGLO XXI" OF DECEMBER 15 RAN AN ARTICLE CITING CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP MSGR. PROSPERO PENADOS DEL BARRIO SUPPORTING THE ACCOUNT GIVEN BY SOREFF, ET AL, OF ORTIZ'S KIDNAPPING AND TORTURE NOVEMBER 2-3, 1989. THE ARCHBISHOP IS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT THE GOG MUST STOP COVERING UP FOR THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CRIME AGAINST ORTIZ; HE BLAMES THE ARMY AND THE POLICE FOR THIS CRIME. THE ARCHBISHOP IS FURTHER CITED AS SAYING THAT ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT CEREZO ASKED HIM TO FORM PART OF A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE ORTIZ CASE, THIS COMMISSION HAS NO LEGAL AUTHORITY AND IS WORTHLESS. THE SAME EDITION OF THE PAPER ALSO RAN AN ARTICLE CITING THE EMBASSY SPOKESMAN AS SAYING THE USG WANTS TO SEE THIS EVENT RESOLVED. THE STATEMENT POINTS OUT THAT THE ORTIZ DELEGATION MET THE AMBASSADOR AND THAT THE EMBASSY PLAYED A ROLE IN ARRANGING ITS SCHEDULE OF CALLS ON GOG OFFICIALS.

3. "LA PRENSA" OF DECEMBER 16, CARRIED A STATEMENT BY SOREFF IN WHICH HE SAYS HE HAS MET 15 US CONGRESSMEN REGARDING THIS CASE. THESE CONGRESSMEN, ACCORDING TO THE STATEMENT AS CARRIED, ARE "ANGRY ABOUT WHAT IS HAPPENING IN GUATEMALA AND WILL TAKE INTO ACCOUNT PROGRESS ON THIS CASE WHEN REVIEWING AID LEVELS FOR NEXT YEAR." SOREFF IS ALSO QUOTED AS SAYING THAT ALTHOUGH "PRESIDENT CEREZO HAD THE COURAGE TO FORM AN

INVESTIGATORY COMMISSION, HE SOON FELT PRESSURE FROM THE

MINISTER OF DEFENSE AND OTHERS AND DECIDED THE NEXT GOVERNMENT WOULD HANDLE THE CASE."

4. "EL GRAFICO" OF DECEMBER 17 RAN AN EDITORIAL, "CLASH BETWEEN CHURCH AND STATE," CALLING FOR A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION INTO THE ORTIZ CASE. WHILE THE EDITORIAL WAS CRITICAL OF ORTIZ'S FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THE REQUIREMENTS OF GUATEMALAN LAW, I.E., TO FILE A FORMAL COMPLAINT AND GIVE TESTIMONY, IT SAID THAT THE POLICE CLAIM TO HAVE LOST THE FILES ON THE CASE RAISES DOUBTS ABOUT THE CASE WHICH NEED TO BE THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATED AS CALLED FOR BY THE ARCHBISHOP AND THE AMERICAN EMBASSY. "EL GRAFICO" IS OWNED AND RUN BY UCN PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE JORGE CARPIO.

5. COMMENT: THE ORTIZ CASE SEEMS DESTINED TO PLAY A PART IN THE CURRENT ELECTORAL CAMPAIGN--A CAMPAIGN WHICH IS INCREASINGLY CHARACTERIZED BY A DEBATE OVER RELIGION BETWEEN CATHOLIC JORGE CARPIO AND HIS RIVAL PROTESTANT JORGE SERRANO. THE ARCHBISHOP'S COMMENTS ON THE COMMISSION PROMISED BY PRESIDENT CEREZO ARE THE FIRST ONES WE CAN REMEMBER HIM MAKING. WE HAVE LITTLE FAITH THAT THE COMMISSION, PARTICULARLY OVER A YEAR AFTER THE REPORTED EVENT, WILL EVER MAKE MAJOR PROGRESS IN GETTING TO THE BOTTOM OF THIS CASE. JUSTICE REMAINS ELUSIVE. STROOCK

ARA Portion of Memo to Selin on Travel Advisory for Chile:

Embassy Santiago and ARA believe that a travel advisory is not warranted because:

-- Recent violence is associated with transitory events, specifically President Bush's December 6-7 visit and the visit of the U.S.S. Abraham Lincoln. The violence that has occurred has not been aimed at U.S. tourists or business travelers.

-- There have been only two incidents where U.S. personnel were targeted, the bombing of the sailors at a restaurant in Vina del Mar and the bomb in a baseball bat that exploded at the National Stadium in Santiago.

-- Terrorist activity for the most part has been confined to the outlying, poorer areas of metropolitan Santiago.

-- The violence targeted at the Mormon Church is a problem of long standing in Chile. It is aimed at an institution that extremists have tried to identify with imperialism and intervention.

In light of the above, Embassy Santiago and ARA recommend additional time to monitor events and a review in the first part of next year before any further action is taken to reinstate a travel advisory.

1. (U) ON DECEMBER 16 AT 0930 HRS., TEN INDIVIDUALS FROM THE MOVIMIENTO JUVENIL LAUTARO (MJL) ENTERED A MORMON CHAPEL LOCATED IN THE CONCHALI SECTION OF

SANTIAGO WHILE 28 MORMONS, INCLUDING ONE AMCIT MISSIONARY, WERE INSIDE CONDUCTING A SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS. THE MJL INDIVIDUALS FORCED EVERYONE AT GUNPOINT TO GO OUTSIDE WHILE THEY POURED FLAMMABLE LIQUID AROUND THE INTERIOR OF THE BUILDING. THE ENSUING FIRE GUTTED THE CHAPEL AND MORMON OFFICIALS HAVE DESCRIBED IT AS A TOTAL LOSS. THE MJL INDIVIDUALS DO NOT APPEAR TO HAVE RECOGNIZED THE FACT THAT AN AMCIT WAS AT THE SCENE. PRIOR TO LEAVING, THE INDIVIDUALS SPRAYPAINTED MJL SLOGANS AND "YANKEES AFUERA DE CHILE" ON THE OUTSIDE WALL OF THE CHAPEL.

2. (U) ON DECEMBER 14 AT 2330 HRS., UNKNOWN INDIVIDUALS DETONATED A BOMB IN FRONT OF ANOTHER MORMON CHAPEL LOCATED IN CONCHALI. POLICE SOURCES STATED THAT THE BOMB WAS COMPOSED OF 300 GRAMS OF EXPLOSIVE GELATIN. DAMAGE WAS DESCRIBED AS LIGHT. NO ONE CLAIMED CREDIT FOR THIS INCIDENT.

3. (C) ON DECEMBER 17, RSO SPOKE WITH [redacted] A MORMON SECURITY OFFICIAL IN SALT LAKE CITY. [redacted] WAS CONCERNED THAT THE DECEMBER 16 INCIDENT MAY BE A HARBINGER OF A MORE AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN BY THE MJL AGAINST MORMON INSTALLATIONS AND PERSONNEL IN CHILE. MEMORANDUM

TO : M - Mr. Ivan Selin

FROM : CA - Elizabeth M. Tamposi EMT

SUBJECT : Travel Advisory for Chile

ISSUE FOR DECISION

Whether or not to issue a travel advisory for Chile over the objections of ARA.

ESSENTIAL FACTORS

CA, S/CT and DS's Position:

The current travel advisory (Tab A) expired December 15.

Of the 260+ bombs detonated in Chile over the past year, 46 Mormon churches, five American banks, and two American businesses were targeted. There were seven other incidents of anti-American terrorism. The Embassy itself has reported that the pace of terrorist action has picked up and the attack's sophistication is noteworthy.

In addition, over the December 15 weekend, more bombs were detonated, one of which destroyed a Mormon church.

A chronology of terrorist and violent acts in Chile from January through November 17 (Tab B - Santiago 9476) and a copy of the DS Electronic Bulletin Board since November 17 (Tab C) are attached.

DS/POL/TAD advises that they propose to raise Santiago's threat level from "medium" to "high". In order to avoid charges of operating a "Double Standard," the American public must be made aware of the increasing incidence of terrorist activity in Chile, much of it aimed at American targets.

In light of the above, CA, S/CT and DS believe that a travel advisory is warranted and propose the text located at Tab D.

ARA and Embassy Santiago's Position:

Recent violence is associated with transitory events, specifically President Bush's December 6-7 visit and the visit of the U.S.S. Abraham Lincoln. The violence that has occurred has not been aimed at U.S. tourists or business travelers.

There have been only two incidents where U.S. personnel were targeted, the bombing of the sailors at a restaurant in Viña del Mar and the bomb in a baseball bat that exploded at the National Stadium in Santiago.

Terrorist activity for the most part has been confined to the outlying, poorer areas of metropolitan Santiago.

The violence targeted at the Mormon Church is a problem of long standing in Chile. It is aimed at an institution that extremists have tried to identify with imperialism and intervention.

In light of the above, Embassy Santiago and ARA recommend additional time to monitor events and a review in the first part of next year before any further action is taken to reinstate a travel advisory.

RECOMMENDATION

Recommend you authorize the issuance of the attached travel advisory for Chile (TAB D). (CA, S/CT, and DS favor)

* THE PROBLEM IS THAT THE NOV. ADVISORY WAS TOO WEAK EVEN THEN. THIS PROPOSED ADVISORY REPRESENTS THE CURRENT SITUATION. IF MONITORING SUGGESTS A LESSENING OF THREATS, WE WILL ADJUST.

This proposed advisory represents the current situation. If monitoring suggests a lessening of threats, we will adjust.

TO DISCUSS THE RECENT INCREASE IN TERRORIST ATTACKS AIMED AT MORMON TARGETS IN LATIN AMERICA AND, SPECIFICALLY, IN CHILE. THE MEETING INCLUDED REPRESENTATIVES FROM ARA/SC, ARA/AND, S/CT, DS, CA AND INR. AS A RESULT OF THE MEETING, S/CT FOLLOWED UP ON PREVIOUS CONTACTS WITH MORMON CHURCH SECURITY OFFICIAL [redacted] IN SALT LAKE CITY. [redacted] SAID THAT THE BOMBINGS ARE AN UNFORTUNATE PRICE THE CHURCH HAS TO PAY FOR ITS WORK IN CHILE, AND NOTED THAT MORMON OFFICIALS ARE TRYING TO COUNTER THE TERRORIST'S ATTEMPTS TO IDENTIFY THE CHURCH WITH THE USG THROUGH A PR CAMPAIGN. HE ALSO TOLD S/CT THAT THEY HAVE ASKED THE CHILEAN POLICE TO INCREASE PATROLS AROUND THEIR FACILITIES. IN A SUBSEQUENT CONVERSATION WITH [redacted] (WHICH TOOK PLACE AFTER THE MOST RECENT BOMBINGS REPORTED IN REF A), S/CT NOTED THAT [redacted] SEEMED MUCH MORE CONCERNED WITH THE SECURITY SITUATION IN CHILE. [redacted] SAID THAT HE MAY TRAVEL TO CHILE AND OTHER LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES IN JANUARY TO ASSESS THE SITUATION, BUT ASKED THAT THE EMBASSY NOT REVEAL THIS INFORMATION TO LOCAL MORMON CHURCH OFFICIALS AT THIS TIME. S/CT WILL STAY IN TOUCH WITH MORMON CHURCH SECURITY OFFICIALS. ADDITIONALLY, DAS MCLEAN WILL CONTACT CHURCH OFFICIALS, AND WILL RAISE THE ISSUE WITH KEY MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

3. DEPARTMENT APPRECIATES EVALUATION OF FACTORS SPECIFIC TO THE CHILEAN CONTEXT THAT MIGHT HELP EXPLAIN THE RECENT INCREASE IN THESE INCIDENTS (REFS A AND B). FURTHER ANALYSIS OF WHAT IS DRIVING THIS SITUATION WOULD BE GREATLY APPRECIATED. ADDITIONALLY, PLEASE ADVISE WHETHER

I. Key Anti-Narcotics Officials

Government of Guatemala -

Attorney General: Rodolfo CARDENAS Villagrande

Minister of Government: Carlos Augusto MORALES Villatoro

Treasury Police: Lic. Mario LOPEZ Tenorio

National Police: Julio CABALLEROS Seigne

U.S. Embassy -

Ambassador: Thomas STROOCK

Coordinator of Narcotics Affairs(DCM): Phillip B. TAYLOR

NAS Director: Alan SMILEY

DEA: Bob STIA

II. Country Overview

Guatemala has increased in importance as a producer of opium and marijuana. U.S. officials also estimate that as much as 150 kilograms of heroin are smuggled into the United States after undergoing conversion from opium to heroin in Mexico. Guatemala is also important to the cocaine trade, serving as a transit point for narcotics headed to the U.S. via Mexico or across the Gulf of Mexico and for precursor chemicals destined for South America. Guatemala has conducted effective eradication efforts, and cooperates with U.S. officials on a chemical tracking program and interdiction efforts. Money laundering is not a major factor. There are indications of guerrilla involvement in opium production.

III. Narcotics Control

A. Illicit Drug Pattern

Poppy cultivation. In FY-88, INM estimated 350 hectares of poppy to be under cultivation in Guatemala. By FY-89, that figure had reached 750 hectares. Today, crop estimates range up to 2,500 hectares. Prices paid for opium have tripled in the past year and there has been significant movement of opium gum into the interior (i.e. away from the Mexican border) of Guatemala. This movement may indicate an increase in morphine labs in Guatemala. Until the Fall of 1990, there was no indication of heroin production in Guatemala. Now, for the first time, there are clear indications that a heroin lab is operating in San Marcos department in Northwest Guatemala.

Cannabis cultivation is concentrated in the El Peten department in northeastern Guatemala, along the border with Belize. As much as 250 hectares of cannabis may currently be in production. Most Guatemalan cannabis is exported by trafficking organizations in Belize

Guatemala is an increasingly important transit route for Colombian cocaine bound for the United States. Traffickers, using Guatemala's dozens of uncontrolled airfields, either refuel their aircraft in Guatemala on their journey northward, or offload cocaine to U.S.- bound conveyances, especially tractor-trailers. Essential (precursor) chemicals routinely enter Guatemala, mostly for transshipment to Central and South America. In 1988, the local DEA office (working in cooperation with Government of Guatemala law enforcement personnel) captured 400 kilos of cocaine. In 1989, this amount rose to four tons. Thus far in 1990, more than 14 tons of cocaine have been intercepted.

B. INM Programs

In FY 89, INM provided $357,000 for law enforcement support to include training, and communications and other equipment, for the Treasury Police, detector dogs; and expenses for fuel, herbicides, hangar rental, heliport construction, utilities, per diem for 12 Guardia de Hacienda guards and door gunners assigned to the program, and some administrative costs for an aerial eradication program. In FY 1990, INM has reserved $357,000 for law enforcement support. We also provide support for the Joint Intelligence Collection Center (JICC).

Aviation assets. In addition to the support included in the country program noted above, INM's Air Wing supports an aerial eradication of opium poppy program. This operation currently employs seven aircraft, fifteen contract pilots and mechanics, one INM air operations officer, and is augmented by twelve Guatemalan Treasury Police personnel. The aircraft consist of three T-65 Turbo-Thrush spray planes, two Bell 212 helicopters, one UH-1H helicopter, and one C-208 Cessna Caravan. The aircraft are piloted by INM's aviation support services contractor. The helicopter co-pilots are Guatemalan civilians employed by the same INM contractor. The twelve Guatemalan Treasury Policemen serve as helicopter door gunners and as hangar guards. The helicopters operate out of a forward air base at Huehuetenango, some 80 miles northwest of Guatemala. A heliport constructed with INM funds at Huehuetenango has significantly enhanced mission performance and will pay for itself within six months through fuel savings alone.

C. Other USG Presence/Assistance

U.S. support for Guatemalan anti-drug efforts has increased. In FY 1988, DEA expanded their country office in Guatemala with additional agent support. In FY 89, the U.S. Coast Guard conducted maritime law enforcement training at both San Jose and the Atlantic port of Puerto Barrios for the Guatemalan Navy, the Treasury Police and Customs Personnel. Also in FY 89, USAID funded legal experts to assist the Interior Ministry in drafting a new drug law. USAID and USIS are funding the publication of educational material on drug abuse.

D. New and Pending Issues

Alan Smiley, the regional NAS is responsible for the narcotics programs in Belize, El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala.

The Anti-Drug abuse act of 1986 established a threshold of 5 metric toms of opium production in order for an illicit drug producing country to qualify as a "major" producer. All major drug producing and transit countries require a Presidential certification of full cooperation in narcotics control in order to receive foreign economic assistance. According to aerial surveys, in 1989 Guatemala grew sufficient opium poppy to meet this threshold requirement. Consequently, in 1990 Guatemala was added to the list of major illicit drug producing and transit countries which must be certified by the President each March 1 in order to receive their foreign aid.

A first round of elections was held November 11. A runoff will be held on Januuary 6, and a new government will be inaugurated on January 14. Narcotics has not been a significant issue in the campaign.

INM helicopters in Guatemala serve two primary missions: crop spotting and search and rescue. As part of their search and rescue capability, the helicopters are armed with machine guns borrowed from the Guatemalan army, in the event that an INM aircraft should go down in a hostile part of the country. These guns are manned by Treasury Police officers assigned to the aerial eradication program. Prior to mounting the guns on the helicopters in 1989, INM aircraft were periodically fired upon by narcotics cultivators and were occasionally hit. Since mounting the guns, the attacks have stopped. During that time, the helicopters have never had to fire a shot in anger. Because the Guatemalan machine guns are very old and of questionable serviceability, an Embassy-DEA initiative is underway to replace the well-worn Guatemalan weapons with new USG-provided M-60D machine guns. DEA Headquarters is attempting to obtain the new gun from DOD. INM will continue to enforce strict rules of engagement concerning the authorized use of both its aircraft and the machine guns mounted on them.

INM is supporting an Embassy request to add an additional DEA analyst to the DEA office in Guatemala.

SUBJECT: CONGRESS PASSES THE CUMPLIDO LAWS OVER OBJECTIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT

1. (U) ON DECEMBER 20, BOTH THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES AND SENATE PASSED THE CUMPLIDO LAWS, A PROVISION OF WHICH WILL ENABLE THE LETELIER MOFFITT CASE TO PASS FROM THE MILITARY COURT SYSTEM TO A CIVILIAN COURT. THE SET OF LEGAL REFORMS WAS PASSED UNANIMOUSLY BY THOSE PRESENT; DEPUTY JUAN PABLO LETELIER SON OF ONE OF THE VICTIMS, ABSTAINED BECAUSE OF HIS PERSONAL INTEREST IN THE MATTER. THE PACKAGE OF LAWS WERE SENT TO THE PRESIDENT FOR PROMULGATION.

2. (U) IN COMPLIANCE WITH LEGAL STATUTES, THE SUPREME COURT WAS GIVEN AN OPPORTUNITY TO COMMENT ON THE LAWS BEFORE THEY WERE PASSED BY THE CONGRESS. IN A SPLIT

OPINION, THE COURT CRITICIZED TWO POINTS. THE PROVISION FOR A MINISTER OF THE SUPREME COURT TO ASSUME JURISDICTION IN CASES WHICH "COULD AFFECT THE INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS OF THE STATE WITH OTHER COUNTRIES" (THE LETELIER MOFFITT CLAUSE) AND THE REFERRAL OF LONGSTANDING CASES FROM THE MILITARY COURTS TO CIVILIAN COURTS (WHICH AFFECTS POLITICAL PRISONERS). THE COURT REASONED THE FIRST WAS UNNECESSARY SINCE AN EXISTING PROVISION OF LAW WOULD GIVE THE APPEALS COURT JURISDICTION IN CASES WITH INTERNATIONAL RAMIFICATIONS. IT ALSO COMPLAINED THE SECOND PROVISION WOULD OVERBURDEN THE CIVILIAN COURTS AND ACTUALLY DELAY NOT SPEED UP CASES INVOLVING POLITICAL PRISONERS.

3. (C) ACCORDING TO A LEGAL EXPERT AT THE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY AND TO PARTY FOR DEMOCRACY DEPUTY JORGE SCHAULSOHN, THE SUPREME COURT'S OPINION OF LEGISLATION IS NOT BINDING ON THE CONGRESS, WHICH IS OBLIGED ONLY TO CONSIDER THE VIEWS OF THE COURT. BY PASSING THE REFORM PACKAGE, THE CONGRESS IN EFFECT OVERRODE THE COURT'S OBJECTIONS.

4. (C) IT IS NOT KNOWN EXACTLY WHEN THE GOVERNMENT WILL PROMULGATE THE CUMPLIDO LAWS IN VIEW OF THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS. SENATOR MAXIMO PACHECO HOWEVER TOLD EMBOFF ON DECEMBER 21 THAT PRESIDENT AYLWIN WOULD ACT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE AFTER THE LAWS WERE PASSED TO PROMULGATE THEM AND TO NAME THE JUDGE TO ASSUME RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE LETELIER MOFFITT CASE. UNITED NATIONS, ELECTIONS FOR WHICH WILL TAKE PLACE DURING THE FIRST PERIOD OF ECOSOC SESSIONS, IN APRIL-MAY OF 1990.
IT IS NECESSARY TO POINT OUT THAT CHILE PRESENTED THIS CANDIDACY DURING THE PREVIOUS PERIOD OF ECOSOC SESSIONS. NEVERTHELESS, IT WAS DECIDED TO WITHDRAW THE CANDIDACY FOR THE PERIOD 1992-1994, AS A WAY TO FAVOR THE REGIONAL CONSENSUS WITHIN THE GRULAC AS THERE WERE MORE CANDIDATES THAN VACANCIES AVAILABLE AT THAT TIME.

NEVERTHELESS: DURING THE LAST MEETING OF ECOSOC IT WAS DECIDED TO INCREASE THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION BY TEN SEATS, WHICH WOULD BE DISTRIBUTED AMONG THE REGIONAL GROUPS, THREE OF WHICH CORRESPOND TO THE LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN GROUP. THIS IMPLIES THAT THERE WILL WILL BE A TOTAL OF SIX VACANCIES FOR THE NEXT ELECTIONS.

THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE ATTACHES GREAT IMPORTANCE TO THE WORK DONE BY THAT COMMISSION AND IS CONFIDENT THAT AN ACTIVE PARTICIPATION BY OUR COUNTRY, WHICH HAS BEEN ABSENT FROM IT FOR SIXTEEN YEARS, COULD CONTRIBUTE SUBSTANTIALLY TO PREPARING RECOMMENDATIONS AND REPORTS RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS, CONSIDERING

SUBJECT: NARCOTICS MATTERS: NATIONAL SURVEY ON THE USE OF DRUGS IN JAMAICA (1990)

1. SUMMARY: A SURVEY ON DRUG USE IN JAMAICA CARRIED OUT BETWEEN AUGUST AND OCTOBER OF 1990 SHOWS THAT IN THE 1980'S JAMAICA BECAME ONE OF THE TRANSSHIPMENT POINTS THROUGH WHICH COCAINE ENTERED THE U.S. THIS DEVELOPMENT ALSO LED TO THE CREATION OF LOCAL CARIBBEAN MARKETS FOR THE TRANSSHIPPED DRUGS, AGGRAVATING THE PROBLEM OF CARIBBEAN DRUG USE AND ABUSE. THE SURVEY SUGGESTS THAT JAMAICA HAS BECOME A MARKET FOR THE SALE AND DISTRIBUTION OF COCAINE AND CRACK, BOTH TO TOURISTS AND LOCAL RESIDENTS. IT

REVEALS THAT; (1) HARD DRUG USE IS RISING RAPIDLY IN JAMAICA, (2) MOST HARD DRUG USERS ARE MALES WITH A HISTORY OF MULTIPLE DRUG USE, AND (3) HARD DRUG USE IS PRIMARILY CONFINED TO KINGSTON AND THE TOURIST AREAS. THE SURVEY ALSO RECOMMENDS DEVELOPING A STRATEGY AIMED AT DOMESTIC DRUG USE TO COMPLEMENT EXISTING ERADICATION AND INTERDICTION EFFORTS. END SUMMARY.

AWARENESS OF THE DRUG PROBLEM:

2. AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF RESPONDENTS IN THE SAMPLE IS AWARE THAT JAMAICA HAS A DRUG USE PROBLEM. OVER 90' CLEARLY BELIEVE THAT DRUG USE BY JAMAICAN YOUTH IS A SERIOUS PROBLEM. HOWEVER, THE MAJORITY OF THE RESPONDENTS THINK THAT UNEMPLOYMENT/SHORTAGE OF INCOME IS THE NUMBER ONE PROBLEM ADVERSELY AFFECTING THE COUNTRY'S YOUTH. DRUG USE IS IDENTIFIED AS THE NUMBER TWO PROBLEM FOLLOWED BY LACK OF EDUCATION AND SPORTS FACILITIES.

CONSUMPTION OF LEGAL AND ILLEGAL DRUGS:

3. THE SURVEY INDICATES THAT THE USE OF COCAINE AND CRACK IS RISING RAPIDLY, WITH 55' OF USERS HAVING STARTED SINCE 1986. COCAINE IS LARGELY USED BY YOUNG MALES, THE GREAT MAJORITY OF WHOM ALSO USE MARIJUANA AND ALCOHOL AND SMOKE CIGARETTES. THIS MULTIPLE DRUG PATTERN IS NOT PREVELANT AMONG FEMALES. CIGARETTES,

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

MARIJUANA, AND ALCOHOL ARE CONSUMED BY MORE THAN 40' OF JAMAICAN MALES. THE CONSUMPTION LEVEL IS LOWER AMONG FEMALES, RANGING BETWEEN 14 AND 21 PERCENT. CLEARLY, THE PATTERN OF CONSUMPTION REFLECTS THE JAMAICAN VIEW THAT THESE DRUGS DO NOT POSE A SIGNIFICANT DANGER TO THE USERS OR THE COUNTRY. FURTHERMORE, THE SURVEY INDICATES THAT CONSUMPTION OF MARIJUANA, COCAINE AND CRACK ARE MORE PREVALENT IN THE UPPER AND LOWER INCOME GROUPS, RATHER THAN AMONG THE MIDDLE INCOME GROUP. WHILE FEWER MALES CONSUME COCAINE AND CRACK COMPARED TO MARIJUANA AND ALCOHOL, THE LEVEL OF COCAINE AND CRACK CONSUMPTION BY YOUNG MALES IN URBAN AREAS IS STILL A CAUSE FOR CONCERN.

4. THE DATA SUGGEST THAT THERE ARE APPROXIMATELY 22,000 PERSONS IN JAMAICA CURRENTLY USING COCAINE AND CRACK COMPARED TO APPROXIMATELY 240,000 (MAINLY MALE) ACTIVE MARIJUANA USERS. THE SURVEY SUGGESTS THAT THE LEVEL OF MARIJUANA USE IN JAMAICA IS COMPARABLE TO THE OVERALL LEVEL OF MARIJUANA USERS IN THE U.S. HOWEVER, CONSUMPTION OF COCAINE AND CRACK IS CLEARLY

BELOW THE U.S. LEVEL PRIMARILY BECAUSE OVERALL FEMALE CONSUMPTION OF THESE DRUGS IS STILL QUITE NEGLIGIBLE. ON THE OTHER HAND, MALE CONSUMPTION LEVELS IN JAMAICA ARE SLIGHTLY ABOVE THE OVERALL MALE/FAMALE CONSUMPTION OF COCAINE AND CRACK IN THE U.S.

5. FREQUENCY OF DRUG USE ALSO REVEALS A SHARP CONTRAST BETWEEN MARIJUANA USERS AND USERS OF COCAINE AND CRACK. AMONG COCAINE AND CRACK USERS THERE IS A

GREATER CONCENTRATION OF DAILY AND WEEKLY USE OF COCAINE AND CRACK COMPARED TO MARIJUANA. CONCENTRATION OF DAILY AND WEEKLY USE OF COCAINE AND CRACK INDICATES THE COMPULSIVE NATURE OF THE HABIT, COMPARED WITH A MORE EVEN SPREAD BETWEEN FREQUENT AND OCCASIONAL USERS OF MARIJUANA. ALSO, MARIJUANA AND HARD DRUG USERS (COCAINE AND CRACK) INDICATE QUITE DIFFERENT FEELINGS, MOODS, AND SENSATIONS AS A RESULT OF USING THESE DRUGS. MARIJUANA USERS STRESSED THE CALMING, MEDITATIVE, AND RELAXING EFFECT OF THE DRUG. ON THE OTHER HAND, HARD DRUG USERS EMPHASIZED BOTH

THE CALMING AND RELAXING EFFECT OF COCAINE AND CRACK AS WELL AS FEELINGS OF STRENGTH, POWER, INVINCIBILITY, AGGRESSIVENESS, AND HYPERACTIVITY.

ROLE MODELS:

6. THE SURVEY INDICATES THAT 78% OF THE MALES HAVE USED AT LEAST ONE OF THE FOUR LEGAL OR ILLEGAL DRUGS (CIGARETTES, ALCOHOL, MARIJUANA, COCAINE AND CRACK)

COMPARED TO ONLY 40% OF THE FEMALES. THIS CREATES A PROBLEM FOR EFFORTS AT DEMAND REDUCTION IN DRUG USE SINCE MANY PERSONS ENGAGED IN DEMAND REDUCTION PROGRAMS ARE FEMALE WHILE THE ROLE MODELS, SUCH AS REGGAE AND DANCE HALL ARTISTS, POLITICAL DONS, DRUG KING PINS AND POSSE LEADERS, SUCCESSFULL PROFESSIONALS, RENEGADE COPS, COMMUNITY AND GANG LEADERS IN THE GHETTO, WHO UNCONSCIOUSLY OR SOMETIMES CONSCIOUSLY PROMOTE DRUG USE, ARE ALL MALES.

DRUG DISTRIBUTION NETWORKS:

7. THE SURVEY SHOWS THAT 16% OF URBAN RESPONDENTS ADMITTED HAVING SEEN COCAINE AND 29% ADMITTED HAVING FRIENDS WHO ARE USERS OF COCAINE OR CRACK. THIS SUGGESTS THAT THERE IS AN EXTENSIVE NETWORK OF PEOPLE

WHO ARE CLOSE TO HARD DRUG USE AND ACTIVITIES OR HAVE ACCESS TO THESE DRUGS. ALSO, IT INDICATES THAT HARD DRUG USE COULD INCREASE CONSIDERABLY ABOVE THE LEVEL OF 22,000 PERSONS CURRENTLY IDENTIFIED AS HARD DRUG USERS IN JAMAICA.

8. ALTHOUGH COCAINE AND CRACK HAVE NOT REPLACED MARIJUANA ON THE LOCAL MARKET, THE AFFORDABILITY OF BOTH HAS HELPED DEVELOP A RAPIDLY EXPANDING HARD DRUG MARKET IN JAMAICA (PARTICULARLY IN THE INNER CITY AREAS). THE SURVEY INDICATES THAT THE LOCAL HARD DRUG BUSINESS IS CONTROLLED BY THREE MAIN ELEMENTS:
---U.S. BASED JAMAICAN POSSE MEMBERS WHO USE SURPLUS U.S. DOLLARS TO FINANCE COCAINE IMPORTS INTO JAMAICA;

---LOCAL BUSINESS INTERESTS WHO HAVE SWITCHED FROM MARIJUANA EXPORTS TO THE HIGHLY LUCRATIVE COCAINE BUSINESS, AND;
---GUN CRIMINALS AND GUNMEN WHO UP TO THIS TIME OPERATED AS ENFORCERS FOR POLITICAL PARTIES HAVE SWITCHED TO THE HARD DRUGS BUSINESS AS A MORE VIABLE ECONOMIC ALTERNATIVE TO POLITICS.

9. THE HARD DRUGS COMING INTO JAMAICA ORIGINATE FROM SOUTH AMERICA BUT NEW ROUTES THROUGH CENTRAL AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN HAVE BEEN DEVELOPED. THESE NEWER ACCESS ROUTES, SUCH AS PANAMA, MEXICO, HAITI, AND ANTIGUA PROVIDE THE SOURCES FROM WHICH MUCH OF THE LOCAL HARD DRUGS FLOW INTO OUR PORTS OF ENTRY AS TIGHT ENFORCEMENT ACTIVITY IN THE U.S. HAS RAISED THE RISK OF USING MORE ESTABLISHED ACCESS ROUTES. AND, THE HEAVY CONCENTRATION OF LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENTS EFFORTS AT DETECTING ILLEGAL DRUGS IN OUT GOING CARGO HAS LEFT THE DOOR WIDE OPEN FOR IMPORTS OF ILLEGAL HARD DRUGS IN LEGITIMATE CARGO AND BAGGAGE ENTERING JAMAICA BY SEA AND AIR AND BY HIGGLERS (BLACK MARKETERS) AND OTHER MORE ESTABLISHED IMPORTERS.

ANALYST'S RECOMMENDATIONS

10. THE DANGER IS REAL. THE USE OF CO
CAINE AND
CRACK IS A GROWING PROBLEM IN JAMAICA (PARTICULARY, AMONG JAMAICA'S YOUNG, MALE URBAN POPULATION). HOWEVER, UNTIL QUITE RECENTLY, THE GENERAL PUBLIC PERCEPTION OF THE NARCOTICS ISSUE WAS OF SOMEONE ELSE'S PROBLEM IN WHICH A FEW JAMAICANS WERE INVOLVED. THIS VIEW HAS CHANGED AS WIDE SPREAD

UNCLASSIFIED

PUBLICITY ABOUT JAMAICAN INVOLVEMENT, PARTICULARLY IN THE U.S., HAS BECOME A SOURCE OF EMBARRASSMENT AND THE EXTENT OF DOMESTIC ABUSE HAS GROWN AND BEEN MORE WIDELY PUBLICIZED.

11. THE ANALYST RECOMMENDS DEVELOPING A STRATEGY AIMED AT DOMESTIC DRUG USE TO COMPLEMENT THE EXISTING ERADICATION AND INTERDICTION EFFORTS. HIS RECOMMINDATIONS ARE:

(A) THE NEED FOR CLEAR DISTINCTIONS BETWEEN FIGHTING DRUG ABUSE AS AGAINST ADVOCATION TOTAL ABSTINENCE WHICH MESSAGE DRUG USERS SIMPLY IGNORE;

(B) THE NEED TO TAKE ACCOUNT OF THE HIGH PROPENSITY TO USE DURGS IN THE SOCIETY AND THE TENDENCY OF DRUG USERS TO SHIFT FROM ONE DRUG TO ANOTHER WHEN LIFE SYTLES AND ECONOMIC CIRCUMSTANCES CHANGE;

(C) THE NEED TO EMPHASIZE MORE MODERATE USE OF DRUGS RATHER THAN HOPING FOR COMPLETE ABSTINENCE IN A SOCIETY WHERE QEER GROUP PRESSURE TO USE DRUGS IS GREAT ON BOTH ADULTS AND TEENAGERS;

(D) THE NEED FOR EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS THAT DEAL WITH BOTH LEGAL AND ILLEGAL DRUGS, AND;

(E) THE RECOGNITION THAT BEHIND THE GROWING PATTERN OF DRUG USE IS THE PROMOTION OF ATTRACTIVE DRUG RELATED LIFESTYLES BUILT AROUND FLASHY NEW CARS, LOTS OF SPENDING MONEY, DISPLAYS OF JEWLRY, DRUG USE, DANCE HALL AND REGGAE MUSIC, GUNS, NIGHT CLUBBING AND CASUAL SEX WHICH ARE ASSOCIATED WITH ROLE MODELS THAT APPEAL TO THE YOUTH.

COMMENT:

12. STONE'S SURVEY IS A VALUABLE ADDITION TO OUR UNDERSTANDING OF DRUG USE IN FAMAICA AND SHOULD HELP US BETTER FOCUS A VARIETY OF U.S. GOVERMENT PROGRAMS AIMED AT COMBATTING ILLEGAL DRUG USE AND TRAFFICKING. THE SURVEY MAKES CLEAR THAT DRUG USE IS AN INGRAINED ELEMENT OF THE LIFESTYLES OF CERTAIN GROUPS. FURTHER, IT IS CLEAR THAT ANY PROGRAM AIMED AT COMBATTING DRUG USE MUST BE LONG TERM, START WITH YOUNG CHILDREN, AND WILL REQUIRE SIGNIFICANT INVOLVEMENT OF EDUCATIONAL AND HEALTH ORGANIZATIONS AS WELL AS LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES.

1. SANTIAGO IS A MEDIUM THREAT POST. THERE ARE FOUR ACTIVE TERRORIST GROUPS OPERATING IN CHILE -- THE MANUEL RODRIQUEZ PATRIOTIC FRONT (FPMR); THE AUTONOMOUS MANUEL RODRIQUEZ PATRIOTIC FRONT-DISSIDENT (FPMR/D); THE REVOLUTIONARY LEFT MOVEMENT (MIR); AND THE MAPU/LAUTARO GROUP.

2. PRIOR TO NOVEMBER 1990, MOST SIGNIFICANT TERRORIST ACTS WERE DIRECTED AGAINST GOC PERSONNEL AND INSTALLATIONS. THIS PAST NOVEMBER, HOWEVER, TWO BOMBINGS OCCURRED THAT WE BELIEVE WERE ORCHESTRATED TO EITHER KILL OR SERIOUSLY INJURE AMCITS. ON NOV. 5, A BOMB EXPLODED IN VINA DEL MAR, AN OCEAN RESORT

TOWN 150 KMS. FROM SANTIAGO. THE BOMB WAS PLACED IN FRONT OF A RESTAURANT FREQUENTED BY U.S. NAVY PERSONNEL ON LIBERTY FROM A VISITING AIRCRAFT CARRIER. THREE U.S. SAILORS WERE SLIGHTLY INJURED. ON NOV. 17, A BOMB EXPLODED DURING A SOFTBALL GAME AT A STADIUM IN SANTIAGO. THE LOCAL AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TEAM WAS THE TARGET. ONE PERSON WAS KILLED AND THREE OTHERS WERE INJURED, INCLUDING AN AMCIT MISSION EMPLOYEE WHO LOST AN EYE.

3. WE ARE NOT SURE IF THESE INCIDENTS MARK THE BEGINNING OF A NEW TERRORIST TREND, OR IF THEY WERE TRANSITORY INCIDENTS LINKED TO THE RECENT VISIT TO CHILE BY PRESIDENT BUSH.

4. POST HAS NO SPECIFIC TREAT INFORMATION REGARDING CODEL BERMAN.

5. STREET CRIME, WHICH IS ENDEMIC TO MANY LARGE SOUTH AMERICAN CITIES, APPEARS TO BE INCREASING IN SANTIAGO. RSO RECOMMENDS THAT DUE CAUTION BE EXERCISED WHEN TRAVELING THROUGHOUT THE CITY, ESPECIALLY IN THE DOWNTOWN AREA NEAR THE CHANCERY AND WHEN USING THE SUBWAY. VISITORS SHOULD AVOID CARRYING LARGE SUMS OF MONEY AND SHOULD AVOID WEARING EXPENSIVE-LOOKING JEWELRY THAT WOULD ATTRACT THIEVES. TAXIS ARE RECOMMENDED AFTER DARK, EVEN FOR SHORT DISTANCES.

SUMMARY

2. PINOCHET'S DECISION TO PUT THE ARMY ON ALERT DECEMBER

19 FOLLOWED A BREAKDOWN IN PINOCHET-INITIATED TALKS WITH THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT ON A POLITICAL SOLUTION TO ARMY-RELATED SCANDALS IN EXCHANGE FOR PINOCHET'S EARLY RETIREMENT. WHILE THE ACTION CAUGHT THE GOC OFF BALANCE, IT MORE SIGNIFICANTLY HIGHLIGHTED PINOCHET'S PERSONAL VULNERABILITY IN ONGOING INVESTIGATIONS. IT ALSO DEMONSTRATED THAT THE NAVY, AIR FORCE AND CARABINERO CINCS--WHO DISTANCED THEMSELVES FROM THE "ACUARTELAMIENTO"--WOULD NOT SIDE WITH THE ARMY AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT. ONCE BURNED, THE GOC IS LIKELY TO BE TWICE CAUTIOUS ABOUT CONCESSIONS TO PINOCHET IN RETURN FOR HIS EARLY RETIREMENT.

3. ON DECEMBER 19, ARMY COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF AUGUSTO PINOCHET PUT THE ARMY ON GRADE ONE ALERT (ACUARTELAMIENTO, GRADO UNO). (FYI: GRADE ONE REQUIRES ALL SOLDIERS AND OFFICIALS TO REPORT TO THEIR UNITS AND REMAIN ON A STATE OF ALERT. END FYI.) ALTHOUGH ACCOUNTS OF EVENTS LEADING TO THAT DECISION DIFFER IN SOME ASPECTS, EMBASSY SOURCES AND MEDIA REPORTS CONCUR THAT THE PROXIMATE CAUSE WAS PINOCHET'S BELIEF THAT MINISTER OF DEFENSE PATRICIO ROJAS WAS ATTEMPTING TO PRESSURE HIM

ON A PROPOSED DEAL--INITIALLY FLOATED BY THE PINOCHET CAMP--THAT WOULD ENTAIL PINOCHET'S EARLY RETIREMENT IN EXCHANGE FOR PINOCHET ACTIONS FAVORABLE TO THE ARMY, PINOCHET AND PINOCHET'S FAMILY. IN GENERAL TERMS, THE GOC WOULD INTERVENE TO DAMPEN JUDICIAL INVESTIGATIONS IN THE ARMY'S "CUTUFA" FINANCIAL SCANDAL (REF A) AND A CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY INTO A DUBIOUS ARMY BUSINESS TRANSACTION WITH PINOCHET'S SON. IT WOULD ALSO ACT TO MODERATE THE FINDINGS AND LESSEN THE IMPACT OF THE NATIONAL TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION (RETTIG) COMMISSION CONCERNING HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES DURING THE MILITARY REGIME. IN RETURN, PINOCHET'S INTERMEDIARIES AND PERHAPS PINOCHET HIMSELF HAD INDICATED PINOCHET'S WILLINGNESS TO STEP DOWN SOMETIME IN 1991 OR EARLY 1992. ROJAS, HOWEVER, REPORTEDLY INSISTED ON AN APRIL 15, 1991

DEADLINE. ALTHOUGH ROJAS SUBSEQUENTLY DENIED HE HAD MADE ANY ULTIMATUM, IT APPEARS CERTAIN THAT PINOCHET CALLED THE ALERT TO SIGNAL HIS DISCONTENT OVER THE HANDLING OF THE RETIREMENT ISSUE.

4. THE GOC WAS STARTLED BY THE ARMY ALERT, BUT REGAINED ITS COMPOSURE AS IT BECAME APPARENT, FAIRLY EARLY ON, THAT THERE WAS NO DANGER OF WIDER ACTION. DRAMA WAS HEIGHTENED BY LIVE COVERAGE BY ALL LOCAL TV STATIONS OF PRESIDENT AYLWIN'S ADVISORS GATHERING AT HIS RESIDENCE FOR DISCUSSIONS INTO THE EARLY MORNING HOURS OF DECEMBER 20. GOVERNMENT SPOKESMEN (MININSTER SECRETARY GENERAL OF GOVERNMENT CORREA AND VICE MINISTER OF INTERIOR VELASCO) STRESSED THAT DEMOCRACY WAS NOT THREATENED AND THAT THE SITUATION WAS CALM THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. FINALLY, ACCEPTING A CHARACTERIZATION PUT FORWARD BY THE ARMY,

DEFENSE MINISTER ROJAS ANNOUNCED THAT THE "ALERT" 'HAS NOT AN "ACUARTELAMIENTO" BUT RATHER A MORE ROUTINE "SECURITY, READINESS AND LIAISON" EXERCISE--DELIBERATELY PLAYING THE MATTER DOWN. ROJAS ALSO SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THE ARMY WOULD BE EXPECTED TO CLARIFY ITS ACTION, AND THE GOC SUBSEQUENTLY ISSUED A TERSE COMMUNIQUE STATING THAT AYLWIN HAD CALLED PINOCHET TO THE MONEDA (PRESIDENTIAL) PALACE FOR AN EXPLANATION.

RELATIONS WERE, UNDERSTANDABLY, STILL TENSE DURING THE TRANSITION PERIOD. PINOCHET STUCK TO THE EXERCISE STORY, BLITHELY DISMISSING CRITICISM THAT THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD HAVE BEEN NOTIFIED IN ADVANCE.

WHAT DID PINOCHET GAIN? WHAT DID HE LOSE?

6. THE OFFICIAL ARMY COMMUNIQUE DESCRIBED THE "EXERCISE" AS A COMPLETE SUCCESS AND STATED--IN WHAT WAS WIDELY INTERPRETED AS A JIBE AT THE GOC FOR ITS INITIAL UNFOCUSED REACTION--THAT ITS OBJECTIVES HAD BEEN ACHIEVED. WHILE THERE ARE REPORTS THAT COMPLIANCE WITH THE ALERT WAS NOT AS FULL AS THE ARMY LEADERSHIP WOULD HAVE LIKED, PINOCHET CLEARLY GOT THE GOC'S ATTENTION. WHAT HE DID NOT GET WAS THE BACKING OF THE OTHER SERVICE CHIEFS. REPORTEDLY, AIR FORCE CINC MATTHEI, NAVY CINC MARTINEZ AND CARABINERO DIRECTOR STANGE CALLED PRESIDENT AYLWIN WHEN NEWS OF THE ARMY ACTION BROKE TO STATE THEIR SUPPORT FOR THE GOVERNMENT. FOR THE MAJORITY OF THE CHILEAN POPULATION, THE EVENT WAS MERELY AN UNSETTLING DIVERSION FROM CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY PREPARATIONS.

7. PINOCHET'S MAIN SHORT-TERM GAIN WAS TO RALLY ARMY SUPPORT FOR HIS STAYING ON AS ARMY CINC TO PROTECT PERCEIVED INSTITUTIONAL INTERESTS AND TO THWART WHAT HE PRESENTED AS GOC PRESSURE TO FORCE HIM OUT. IN THE MEDIUM AND LONG TERM, HOWEVER, PINOCHET'S CREDIBILITY INSIDE THE ARMY--AS IS CERTAINLY THE CASE IN THE CIVILIAN SECTOR--COULD WELL BE UNDERMINED BY INFORMATION COMING TO LIGHT ABOUT FAMILY-'BELATED FINANCIAL SCA'NS AND THE PERCEPTION THAT HE HAS BEEN TRYING TO NEGOTIATE A DEAL TO PROTECT PRINCIPALLY HIS PERSONAL IMAGE AND INTERESTS.

8. PINOCHET'S ABILITY TO PURSUE EFFECTIVE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE GOC HAS BEEN IMPAIRED. BY MOVING SO DRAMATICALLY TO PROTECT HIS PERSONAL REPUTATION AND THE ARMY'S PRESTIGE HE HAS UNDERSCORED THAT BOTH ARE AT RISK. IT WOULD BE VERY DIFFICULT FOR THE GOC TO LIMIT THE SCOPE OF THE INVESTIGATIONS ABOUT FINANCIAL SCANDALS OR TO LESSEN THE IMPACT OF THE RETTIG COMMISSION FINDINGS WHEN THEY ARE ISSUED. UNTIL NOW THE GOVERNMENT HAS TRIED

TO WORK WITH THE MEDIA TO DAMPEN SENSATIONALIST REPORTING ABOUT THE ARMY, E.G., IN THE WAKE OF THE DISCOVERY OF HUMAN RIGHTS VICTIMS' REMAINS AT PISAGUA (REF C). ALTHOUGH SPOKESMEN FOR THE POLITICAL PARTIES IN THE GOVERNING COALITION HAVE FOLLOWED AYLWIN'S LEAD IN NOT BAITING PINOCHET OR THE ARMY, SOME ARE LESS LIKELY NOW TO RISK THEIR POLITICAL FUTURES BY APPEARING COWED BY THE ARMY. ONE POLITICIAN ALREADY BURNED IS PARTY FOR DEMOCRACY (PPD) DEPUTY JORGE SCHAULSON, WHO IS PRESIDENT OF THE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING THE ARMY'S BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH PINOCHET'S SON. SCHAULSON CONFIRMED TO POLOFF PRESS REPORTS THAT HE INDICATED TO PINOCHET ADVISER MAJOR GENERAL JORGE BALLERINO THE WEEK PRECEDING THE ARMY ALERT THAT HE WOULD BE GUIDED IN THE INVESTIGATION BY WHATEVER POLITICA'L AGREEMENT BALLERINO COULD WORK OUT WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

9. THE ALERT DRAMA HAS ALSO DAMAGED THE KEY CONDUIT FOR COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN PINOCHET AND THE GOVERNMENT. BALLERINO'S CREDIBILITY AS AN INTERLOCUTOR PROBABLY HAS

BEEN TARNISHED, WHILE ROJAS--WHOM AYLWIN HAS RECONFIRMED AS THE GOC'S ONLY AUTHORIZED POINT OF CONTACT--HAS BEEN WIDELY CRITICIZED ON THE RUMOR CIRCUIT FOR HIS HANDLING OF THE DIALOGUE. THERE MAY STILL BE ROOM FOR A DEAL, BUT IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO WORK THROUGH EITHER OF THESE TWO.

10. FINALLY, HAVING CALLED THE ARMY TO THE BARRACKS ONCE, IT WILL BE DIFFICULT FOR PINOCHET TO REPEAT THE MANEUVER TO ANY MEANINGFUL POLITICAL EFFECT. A MORE DRASTIC ARMY MOVE WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO IMAGINE WITHOUT

11. THE GOC'S INITIAL REACTION WAS CONFUSED AND UNCERTAIN, AND ITS DECISION TO SUPPORT THE BROMIDE THAT THE ARMY ALERT WAS MERELY AN EXERCISE WAS WEAK AND LACKED CREDIBILITY. NEVERTHELESS, THE GOC AVERTED A CRISIS BY NOT PANICKING. PINOCHET WAS FORCED TO ACCOUNT TO AYLWIN FOR THE ARMY'S BEHAVIOR, HOWEVER RELUCTANTLY AND UNREPENTANTLY, AND CIVILIAN AUTHORITY OVER THE MILITARY WAS PUBLICLY REASSERTED. THE ACTIONS OF CHIEFS OF THE OTHER TWO MILITARY SERVICES AND THE DIRECTOR OF THE CARABINEROS NOT ONLY UNDERCUT PINOCHET AND THE ARMY BUT ENHANCED AYLWIN'S POSITION AS THE ULTIMATE COMMANDER OF THE MILITARY FORCES. AYLWIN ALSO GOT INDIRECT SUPPORT FROM THE CHURCH: THE PRESIDENT OF THE EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH DENOUNCED THE ARMY'S "EXERCISE" AS A SIGN OF DISRESPECT FOR THE POPULATION. THE MAJOR PARTY IN THE OPPOSITION, NATIONAL RENEWAL, ALSO CONDEMNED THE ARMY'S REACTION. THOSE WITHIN ITS RANKS WHO HAVE URGED A MORE CRITICAL ATTITUDE TOWARD THE PINOCHET REGIME'S HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES HAVE PROBABLY BEEN STRENGTHENED. THIS MAY PAY DIVIDENDS TO THE GOVERNMENT WHEN THE RETTIG REPORT COMES OUT.

12. THE ARMY ALERT AND THE STIR IT CREATED ARE A SHARP REMINDER THAT THE TRANSITION FROM MILITARY TO CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT IS ONGOING AND STRAINED. THERE WILL BE MORE TURBULENCE AS THE PROCESS GOES FORWARD. ON THE POSITIVE SIDE, WITH EACH CIVIL-MILITARY CONFRONTATION, THE GOVERNMENT HAS GAINED STATURE OR AT LEAST NOT LOST IT--WHILE PINOCHET HAS EXPENDED IRREPLACEABLE AMMUNITION. GILLESPIE

THE CONGRESS THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL JANUARY 7, WHEN IT WILL TAKE UP FINAL APPROVAL OF THE SALES TAX AND BEGIN EXAMINING THE REMAINING TAX PACKAGE ITEMS.

IN CONJUNCTION WITH SPLITTING THE TAX PACKAGE, THE GOCR INTRODUCED A SERIES OF ECONOMIC MEASURES TO REDUCE LIQUIDITY, RAISE REVENUE AND INCREASE THE COST OF IMPORTS. ALL THESE ACTIONS MET WITH THE APPROVAL OF THE IMF, WHICH MOVED CLOSER TO REACHING AN ACCORD WITH THE GOCR ON DISBURSING FUNDS. MEANWHILE, A 5.7 (RICHTER SCALE) EARTHQUAKE ON DECEMBER 23 REMINDED COSTA RICANS THAT THE WHOLE COUNTRY, NOT JUST THE ECONOMY, IS ON SHAKY GROUNDS. THE GOCR PROMISED TO GIVE PRIORITY TO REBUILDING THE ROUGHLY 1000 HOUSES DESTROYED BY THE QUAKE, THOUGH THE GOVERNMENT COULD ENCOUNTER DIFFICULTIES IN ACCOMPLISHING THIS TASK GIVEN ITS FISCAL CRISIS.

ECONOMIC PROBLEMS CONTINUED TO WEIGH ON CALDERON'S POPULARITY, WITH A POLL FINDING HIS LABORS DISAPPROVED OF BY A 33-31 PERCENT MARGIN. CALDERON PUBLICLY TOOK THIS IN STRIDE, TELLING THE PRESS THAT, GIVEN THE SERIOUS MEASURES BEING INSTITUTED, HIS RATING WAS QUITE STRONG. PLN POLITICIANS SAW THE POLL AS FURTHER CONFIRMATION THAT THEY CAN'T LOSE IN 1994. THE CURRENT LEADER IN THE LIBERATION

4. THE JOHN HULL WATCH

THE HUNT FOR JOHN HULL BECAME A HOT PRESS THEME IN DECEMBER, AS NEWSPAPERS SALIVATED OVER THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE FUGITIVE RANCHER MIGHT BE RETURNED TO COSTA RICA TO STAND TRIAL FOR THE LA PENCA BOMBING. HULL WAS FIRST REPORTED IN JUIGALPA, NICARAGUA, LATER SAID TO HAVE DISAPPEARED TO SAN SALVADOR, AND THEN REPORTED BACK IN NICARAGUA. FINALLY, ON DECEMBER 26, LEADING DAILY LA NACION REPORTED LOCATING HIM IN ORLANDO, FLORIDA. HULL'S RAPID MOVEMENTS WERE IN RESPONSE TO THREATS BY COSTA RICAN AUTHORITIES TO REQUEST HIS DETENTION IN NICARAGUA, PENDING EXTRADITION. PRIOR TO FLEEING, HULL TOLD THE TICO TIMES THAT, "THE COSTA RICAN GOVERNMENT UNDER (EX-PRESIDENT) MONGE APPROVED, THEIR COLONELS WERE AT MY HOUSE...NOTHING WAS DONE WITHOUT THE APPROVAL OF THE COSTA RICAN GOVERNMENT." LAUGHING, HULL CONTINUED THAT, "WHEN I WAS IN JAIL, MONGE SENT ME A MESSAGE THAT HE WAS WITH ME MORALLY AND SPIRITUALLY. I WOULD HAVE LIKED HIM TO BE WITH ME PHYSICALLY."

5. NO PEACE FOR UPAZ

THE UN-CHARTERED UNIVERSITY FOR PEACE (UPAZ) CELEBRATED ITS TENTH ANNIVERSARY DECEMBER 12. UPAZ

OFFICIALS PLANNED TO READ AN "HONOR ROLL" OF NAMES OF THOSE WHO HELPED FOUND THE UNIVERSITY. AMONG THOSE ON THE LIST WAS KURT WALDHEIM. DEMONSTRATORS GATHERED OUTSIDE THE CEREMONY, HOWEVER, PROTESTING THE INCLUSION OF "WAR CRIMINAL" WALDHEIM'S NAME. REALIZING THEIR GAFFE, UPAZ OFFICIALS OMITTED WALDHEIM'S NAME WHEN THE LIST WAS READ.

DESPITE THIS BROUHAHA, AND MISGIVINGS ON THE PART OF SOME COSTA RICAN OFFICIALS WHO SEE UPAZ AS LESS A SCHOOL THAN A HANGOUT FOR REGIONAL LEFTISTS, PRESIDENT CALDERON GAVE THE EVENT'S KEYNOTE ADDRESS. FOLLOWING HIS SPEECH, HOWEVER, THE PRESIDENT AND OTHERS RUSHED OUT OF THE CEREMONY WHEN A SUSPICIOUS BRIEFCASE WAS SPOTTED. POLICE DOGS INDICATED THE VALISE CONTAINED A BOMB, AND AN OFFICER SHOT THE LOCK OFF THE QUESTIONABLE BRIEFCASE. ONLY PAPERS WERE FOUND, LATER CLAIMED BY A NICARAGUAN STUDENT. ALL IN ALL, A TOUGH DAY FOR NEW UPAZ RECTOR JAIME MONTALVO CORREA.

A NICARAGUAN SUMO INDIAN LEADER MET WITH US DECEMBER 13 TO OFFER THE SERVICES OF FIFTEEN FORMER CONTRAS (ALL SUMOS) FOR THE STRUGGLE AGAINST SADDAM HUSSEIN. THE SUMOS ASKED FOR ARMS AND TRANSPORTATION TO SAUDI ARABIA, WHERE THEY INTENDED TO STAND ALONGSIDE ALLIED FORCES IN THE DESERT. APPARENTLY, THE FIFTEEN JUDGE

Negotiations

In his inaugural address on June 1, 1989, President Cristiani called for talks between the Government of El Salvador (GOES) and the guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN). Direct talks were held in September and October 1989. Further rounds were scheduled for November and December, and the GOES sent a negotiating team to Caracas in November, but the meeting did not take place when the FMLN launched a major offensive into San Salvador, which claimed 3,500 lives.

In December 1989, President Cristiani, joined by the other Central American presidents, called for the UN Secretary General to assist in peace talks. Representatives of the GOES and the FMLN met in Mexico City in March 1990 for preparations and in Geneva in April to begin UN-sponsored talks. The GOES proposed an immediate ceasefire under international supervision. The FMLN took the position that a ceasefire could not be agreed upon until political issues had been resolved. The parties agreed in May in Caracas that the "initial objective" of the talks was to achieve political accords on the armed forces, human rights, the judicial system, the electoral system, constitutional reform, social and economic problems, and UN verification of agreements in order to reach a ceasefire agreement by mid-September. After a ceasefire, negotiations are to continue on implementation of the political accords.

Subsequent talks have focused on human rights and military reform. The FMLN in June proposed that certain armed forces elements be dissolved, the officer corps be purged of certain individuals, and that "exemplary prosecutions" take place in four cases of human rights abuses. The government put forward a proposal for restructuring the armed forces and security forces upon a ceasefire leading to cessation of the conflict. This proposal included: (a) separation of the police and military forces and strengthening civilian control; (b) reduction of the armed forces to at least prewar levels; (c) the dissolution of certain units on a phased basis to begin upon declaration of a ceasefire; (d) acceptance of exemplary prosecution in the four cases proposed by the FMLN as well as in four cases attributed to the guerrillas; and (e) a prompt and systematic examination of the professional qualifications of all military officers, including their human rights performance. During the talks, the government has moved several officers with unsatisfactory records on human rights out of command positions.

Starting with the July round, the government requested that the UN mediator put forward proposals on armed forces reform as a means of breaking the impasse that had developed. The FMLN refused to consent to such active mediation on the armed forces issue.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

In July, the two sides signed an agreement on human rights drafted by the UN and agreed to support the establishment of a UN human rights monitoring commission. In September, the parties agreed that the UN human rights monitoring commission should begin its work immediately. The UN has indicated, however, that the monitoring will not begin until both parties agree to a ceasefire, although it has agreed to set up an office to prepare for an eventual monitoring commission.

In August the FMLN tabled a new proposal on military reform which contained more extensive demands than did its previous position. It called for the dissolution of the armed forces, the removal of all colonels and generals, and trials and punishment in thousands of cases of alleged human rights abuses.

In September the FMLN said that it was not prepared to discuss active UN mediation or the issue of armed forces reform, but was prepared to discuss: access by journalists to conflictive zones; formation of a joint FMLN-GOES commission to look into the investigation of the Jesuit murder case; provision to the FMLN of a purported National Intelligence Directorate investigation of the Romero killing; inclusion of national and international public opinion at the negotiating table; and the effort within the UN Security Council to pass a resolution on the talks. The government suggested forming working groups on specific issues, extending the talks by several days, and meeting again in two weeks, rather than the customary four-week interlude between rounds. The FMLN rejected the proposals and insisted on meeting again in six weeks.

In September, while in New York for a meeting with UN Secretary General Perez de Cuellar, FMLN delegation members Shafik Handal, Salvador Samayoa, Mercedes de Carmen Letona and Miguel Saenz made the following comments regarding the peace talks to a group of Americans: "The negotiation doe- not have a lot of admirers, particularly not among you. But we have to view it as a very important political instrument for the change of the correlation of forces in the country. Everything they offer; we say it is not enough; we want more. So now we have reached an impasse. It has been very important for us that it be projected as an impasse in order to counteract the publicity campaign of the government (intended to) project an image of great will towards peace, of the possibility of peace being at hand. We then did what we had to do. We devised a scheme of failure and deadlock and we were able to avoid the deadline that we had for the middle of September. We are now going to be able to play it more at ease during the negotiation."

In October the FMLN dropped its refusal to consent to active UN mediation on the armed forces issue, and ideas emerged which both parties indicated could serve as the basis for further negotiation. On November 20 the FMLN began a military offensive which continued until December 28, when the FMLN announced a "suspension" of the offensive for December 31. No further face-to-face meetings between the parties occured until January 3.

The Interparty Dialogue Commission

The Interparty Dialogue Commission (IPDC), made up of representatives of all nine registered political parties, (including those with political ties to the FMLN) reached agreement on an electoral reform proposal on September 17, the day the September round of government-FMLN talks was scheduled to adjourn. The government suggested that the sides remain in session to ratify the accord. The FMLN refused. Among other provisions, the IPDC agreement would raise the number of National Assembly deputies to 84 from the current 60, with 20 members elected from a national list, extend the voter registration deadline, and regulate campaign access to the electronic information media. The changes are designed primarily to help opposition political parties. Most of the key reforms have been passed into law, although the provisions on campaign spending on the media were not passed by the Assembly, and some IPDC participants have objected to this failure.

FMLN Receipt of Lethal Military Assistance

On November 22 the guerrillas began using sophisticated SA-14 surface-to-air missiles, shooting down two GOES aircraft to date. The use of the missiles significantly escalates the conflict. It also allows the guerrillas to operate in larger units and maintain contact with government forces for longer periods.

On November 22 the firing tube from an expended SA-14 missile was found in the area where one of the aircraft was shot down on November 23. The Government of the Soviet Union subsequently confirmed to the United States that the missile had been supplied to the Sandinista Popular Army (EPS) in Nicaragua in February 1986. On January 2, 1991 the EPS issued a communique stating that four Sandinista military officers and eleven Salvadoran citizens had been arrested for illegal arms trafficking of: six SA-14 firing mechanisms, sixteen SA-14 rockets, two SA-7 firing mechanisms, and twelve SA-7 rockets. The communique stated that the weapons had been sold in Managua in October 1990 for "thousands of dollars" to FMLN leader Joaquin Villalobos and another FMLN representative identified as "Rodrigo". The EPS also confirmed the Soviet information that the captured missile tube had been provided to the EPS by the USSR and announced the creation of a Soviet/EPS commission to look into the illegal diversion.

In July 1990, two FMLN members were arrested in Managua by Nicaraguan authorities after a search of their vehicle revealed 20 hand grenades and 7 rocket-propelled grenade rounds. On August 27, 1990 a van driven by a Frenchwoman was stopped by Honduran troops as it entered Honduras from Nicaragua carrying: 229 81mm mortar tails with charges, 28 bags with 30 charges each for 81mm mortars, and 80 packages with 10 charges each for 81mm mortars. The van was also carrying FMLN battle plans, code books, transmission manuals, falsified identification documents, and 4 plotting boards for 81mm mortars. FMLN attacks in Usulutan during their November 1990 offensive closely followed the plans captured.

The FMLN's heavy expenditure of ammunition during the offensive launched on November 20, 1990 indicates that they do not foresee shortages of ammunition for their Soviet- and North Korean-made weapons. We also have not had any reports of significant logistical problems, as we have received in the past when the guerrillas have begun to run low on ammunition.

The FMLN has no source of supply in El Salvador for their Soviet-style weapons and relies on external support for ammunition and other materiel. This support has continued since the FY91 Appropriations Act was signed into law on November 5. Intelligence sources continued to report suspected seaborne deliveries from Nicaragua during November. Furthermore, the Government of Nicaragua has admitted that members of the Sandinista army supplied Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles to the FMLN, in violation of their agreement with the Soviet Union. The evidence of this continuing support was shared with Congress on January 8, 1991.

FMLN Attacks on Civilians and Injuring Civilians

US Embassy statistics indicate that in the first seven months of 1990 there were 55 noncombat killings of civilians for suspected political motives. Of these, 31 appear to have been killed by the FMLN (including those attacks for which the FMLN has claimed credit) 4 by the military (see below) and 20 by assailants who are as yet unidentified. On April 3, the day before the UN-mediated talks were announced, a guerrilla car bomb in San Salvador killed six civilians and injured dozens. During the August round of negotiations, an FMLN mortar attack aimed at the President's offices hit a residential area and left six civilians wounded. Church and business groups, political parties and non-governmental human rights organizations have condemned the FMLN's use of homemade catapult type mortars called "rampas" and "tepezquintles" in populated areas due to their inaccuracy and resulting civilian casualties. On October 23, heavy explosive charges thrown from such primitive mortars were launched against the military High Command headquarters but instead destroyed at least one home, killing two children, aged 8 and 18, and wounding several others.

On November 20 the FMLN launched the largest military offensive since their so-called "general" offensive of November 1989 which had resulted in the deaths of about 3,500 people. Auxiliary Bishop of San Salvador Rosa Chavez labeled the "violent actions launched by the FMLN a slap in the face to the Salvadoran people". The presidents of all four neighboring Central American republics acting jointly, the Colombian, Venezuelan and Mexican Foreign Ministers also acting jointly, the Soviet Foreign Ministry, Canada's Foreign Minister, the State Department and the Secretary General of the United Nations all also issued calls for cessation of the violence soon after the FMLN launched their offensive.

In this latest offensive, the FMLN used mortars in many attacks, causing heavy civilian casualties and damage to the hospital in Chalatenango. The FMLN also used civilian homes as cover in Usulutan and Chalatenango, sometimes forcing the occupants to remain in order to inhibit Armed Forces counter-fire. Preliminary indications are that 16 civilians have been killed and 108 wounded from November 20 to the end of December as a result of the offensive.

The Puntarenas, Costa Rica, Central American Presidents' Summit (December 15-17) declaration denounced the FMLN for the offensive The presidents stated they were troubled by the"qualitative escalation of the armed conflict", demanded that the FMLN immediately halt the use of its sophisticated weapons, and called upon the UN observer group in Central America (ONUCA) to conduct an investigation to determine where the weapons came from. The presidents recognized that the GOES has agreed to hold "open and serious talks on all topics included in the peace process agenda, including that of the Salvadoran armed forces." They demanded the FMLN observe an immediate ceasefire, refrain from hindering the March legislative and municipal elections, give up the armed struggle, and rejoin the democratic life of El Salvador.

On March 13, 1990 the FMLN General Command, saying that they were "responding to the calls of the various social political and economic sectors of the country" promised "total suspension of sabotage" against public transport, commercial establishments, and telephonic communications. They also promised "total suspension" of attacks against civilians and public servants not part of the Salvadoran Armed Forces. Despite the March communique, however, the FMLN offensive in late November 1990 included a significant increase in FMLN attacks on civilian targets. There were no military assets, for example, in Nejapa, Apopa, or Quetzaltepeque, the sites of heavy guerrilla attacks. The FMLN attacked coffee and cotton farms and processing equipment, crop dusters, public transport, telephone equipment, bank branches, and other purely civilian property in various locations.

Specific attacks on civilian targets during the offensive launched November 20, 1990 include the following: On November 25, FMLN urban commandos bombed 6 banks in the capital. On November 27, FMLN forces destroyed an estimated $195,000 worth of machinery in a coffee processing plant in northern Usulutan Department. During the month of November the FMLN carried out more than 100 sabotage attacks on the electrical power grid. The damage to the system left some areas, including many lower-income neighborhoods, without water. On December 4, an FMLN attack using explosives damaged the local telephone office, town hall, jail, and a bank in Tonacatepeque, located north of the capital. On December 5, the FMLN established a roadblock near El Barillo in La Libertad Department and damaged 3 buses, 2 trucks, and 4 cars. The guerrillas told the drivers that these actions were in reprisal for their lack of support during the November 1989 offensive. On December 5 and 7, FMLN urban commandos bombed two banks in San Salvador. On December 10, the FMLN burned two buses in La Libertad. On December 12, FMLN urban commandos dynamited 4 more banks in San Salvador. On December 12 guerrillas also attacked the Osicala municipality building, destroying the mayor's office and the telephone office.

In conducting attacks, the FMLN routinely invades civilian homes to use them as firing positions, thus exposing the inhabitants to danger from combat. During the November 1990 offensive the FMLN repeated tactics of the November 1989 "general" offensive by knocking holes in the walls of civilian homes to be able to move more easily between firing positions in the neighborhoods they had invaded.

Recent examples of attacks by the FMLN harming civilians include:

-- On November 28, in Los Chorros, an 8-year-old girl selling tortillas along the roadside was shot and killed when FMLN guerrillas attacked her soldier-customers. A 70-year old woman also was killed in the incident.

-- On November 29, the FMLN attacked Mariona Prison on the outskirts of San Salvador, killing 2 soldiers, a guard, and an inmate. At least 13 civilians also were wounded in the attack.

-- On November 30, the FMLN exploded a bomb in San Salvador's crowded central market, wounding nine civilian bystanders, including four children, plus two soldiers.

-- On December 5, a 13-month-old girl was killed by shrapnel during an FMLN attack on a small contingent of Salvadoran Marines guarding a gas station in Jiquilisco, Usulutan department.

-- On December 6, a woman in Usulutan department was wounded when an explosive charge launched by the FMLN toward a nearby army base struck her home instead.

-- On December 11, an explosive charge placed on a power pole in the outskirts of San Salvador by the FMLN wounded 2 girls playing nearby.

-- Also on December 11, an FMLN attempt to bombard the army's 5th brigade in San Vicente left one civilian wounded and damaged two private homes and at least one municipal building located near the military base.

FMLN Attack on US Helicopter

On January 2, 1991 at about 2:30 p.m., three US Army crew members were killed when their transport helicopter was shot down by small arms fire in eastern El Salvador. The FMLN claimed responsibility. The helicopter was returning from a routine resupply mission from San Salvador to its base in Honduras. The FMLN at first said that the three servicemen were found dead inside their aircraft but later said that they had administered first aid to the crewmen and sent them to a hospital with peasants. Eyewitness reports and forensic studies indicate that two of the US servicemen survived a controlled crash and were subsequently executed by the FMLN. US personnel in El Salvador are non-combatants. The helicopter shot down had no role in supporting the Salvadoran Armed Forces and no role in combat in El Salvador.

Armed Forces Attacks on Civilians and Injuring Civilians

The United Nations' Human Rights Commission October 1990 annual report on El Salvador indicated that there were fewer human rights violations in 1990 than in 1989, although the situation continues to be serious. The report cites both the Catholic Archbishopric legal aid office Tutela Legal and the government Human Rights Commission as noting that summary executions alleged to have been committed by the security forces were down markedly in the first seven months of 1990. The UN report concluded that government institutions, including the President, made a conscientious effort to improve human rights practices and that military personnel are liable to prosecution for offenses. On July 31, 1990 the Salvadoran Armed Forces issued a general order establishing new procedures for arrests and detentions to conform with the human rights accords reached with the FMLN on July 26. This has reportedly resulted in a significant decrease in arrests by the military.

Strict rules of engagement designed to avoid collateral damage to civilians have been laid down by the government. In one incident, however, the Armed Forces admitted fault in the rocketing of San Jacinto Guancorita, Chalatenango by an Air Force helicopter on February 11, 1990 as a guerrilla unit retreated through the town. The Air Force was ordered to pay compensation to the families of the victims. The Salvadoran Government states that it is determining the amounts and recipients of this compensation.

The following is an update on human rights violations reported to have been committed by the military:

-- Two sergeants accused of raping a woman and killing her father in March 1990 are in custody and the case against them should be ready for trial by the end of the year.

-- On May 3, a jury convicted an enlisted man (later sentenced to 16 years in prison) for the 1982 murder of US citizen Michael Kline, but acquitted the other two defendants.

-- In May, twenty-six members of the Civil Defense Forces were sentenced to thirty years in prison for the 1982 rape and murder of twenty-three people.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

-- Also in May, seven Civil Guards were sentenced to thirty years in prison for the murder and robbery of four people in 1984.

-- In June, an Army sergeant was sentenced to thirty years in prison for the murder of two people in March 1988.

-- On June 4, a jury found a soldier innocent of killing a television soundman on election day in 1989.

-- A soldier who killed a 17-year old on August 22, 1989 was turned over to a civilian court, but a trial date has not yet been set.

-- On December 13 1990, artillery brigade soldiers in La Libertad allegedly beat Roberto Linares Cambara and burned him with cigarettes. Mr. Linares is a member of the National Council of the Popular Social Christian Movement National Council. Officers of the US Embassy interviewed Mr. Linares, officers of the Artillery Brigade and Minister of Defense Ponce. Ponce stated that an investigation has begun.

Other reported incidents which the Embassy has been unable to confirm include:

-- The Catholic Archbishopric legal aid office, Tutela Legal, reports that a man was reported to have been killed on April 1 1990 by Civil Defense personnel on suspicion of being a guerrilla.

-- Tutela Legal reports that on May 16 1990 two unidentified men are reported to have been taken by men in uniform with Second Brigade patches into a wooded area. Their bodies were found with what Tutela Legal says were wounds caused by M-16 rifles and 45 caliber pistols.

-- The non-governmental Human Rights Commission reports that on July 11 a man was captured by the Belloso Immediate Reaction Battalion and that his body was found on July 16. The man's mother is reported to maintain that her son was killed by the same troops that captured him. The National Police and the Belloso Battalion deny the accusation.

There is ample evidence that death squad activity was conducted in the past with the direct participation and involvement of elements of the Armed Forces. The present government has clearly condemned such practices and is committed to ending them, but persons suspected of past involvement in death squad killings remain at liberty and continued vigilance is required to prevent the resumption of such practices.

Civil Defense forces in particular are alleged to continue to engage in human rights abuses. Although the GOES has successfully brought to trial several Civil Defense members accused of such abuses, credible reports persist of isolated, unapproved violations by such personnel. The US has made clear that it expects the GOES to continue to vigorously prosecute offenders so as to deter further abuses. The GOES has proposed to dissolve the Civil Defense upon a ceasefire with the FMLN. All but 8 of the 33 military officers named by the FMLN in October 1989 in San Jose on an initial list of human rights offenders have been moved out of command positions as of January 1991.

RELEASED

Specific Cases

The Jesuit Case: Nine members of the Salvadoran military have been accused of the murder of six Jesuit priests and two others on November 16, 1989. The case was raised to the trial stage on December 7, 1990 on charges of acts of terrorism, murder, destruction of evidence, perjury and conspiracy.

Since January, the judge in the case has also detained three enlisted men on perjury charges. In addition, Lieutenant Colonel Carlos Camilo Hernandez, the Deputy Director of the Military Academy at the time of the murders, has been indicted for obstruction of justice for allegedly burning the logbooks kept at the military school on the night of the slaying.

President Cristiani assigned the Special Investigative Unit (SIU) to the case, which by January 1990 had developed forensic evidence that implicated the accused in the murders. In January, a military honor board was also formed to investigate the case and concluded that there was considerable evidence implicating the accused in the massacre. On January 16, 1990, Colonel Guillermo Alfredo Benavides Moreno, the director of the Military Academy, was arrested in connection with the crime. Three lieutenants and four enlisted men were arrested on charges of having committed the murders. A ninth soldier, who deserted in December, was also charged with murder but has not been located.

This is the first case in which a Salvadoran colonel has been prosecuted for involvement in a human rights violation. Nevertheless, the Armed Forces' cooperation in the investigation has not been satisfactory to date. Some military officers have provided sketchy or contradictory testimony and the absence of full cooperation by all military officers has raised questions about possible involvement beyond those currently indicted, although no firm evidence yet exists on this point.

Senior government officials, Legislative Assembly members, and Salvadoran military officers of the rank of colonel and above are not required under law to give legal testimony in person. On September 7, President Cristiani waived his privileges and gave four hours of personal testimony in the judge's chambers. A number of senior Salvadoran military officers followed suit, waiving their privilege and testifying in person before the judge, while others testified in writing.

Scotland Yard, the FBI, and the Spanish National Police reviewed the investigatory work of the SIU.

Col. Benavides and seven other defendants have been under detention since January 1990. On December 7, 1990 Fourth Penal Court Judge Zamora raised the case to the trial stage. This decision was immediately appealed by the defendants. If the appeals court concurs with Judge Zamora, he will establish an eight-day period in which new evidence and testimony can be received. New suspects can also be indicted during this period. At the end of the eight days, a jury will be selected and a trial date set.

The Administration has emphasized to the GOES that the United States Government, both executive and legislative branches, remain united in our belief that the prosecution and investigation of these crimes must be thorough and professional. Moving the case to the trial phase must not mean that the investigation as a whole ends. Additional questions remain unanswered. All possible efforts must be made to determine whether all those responsible for planning or executing these crimes have been identified. We hope and expect that vigorous prosecution of those accused of either perjury or obstruction of evidence in the case may lead to additional evidence. The United States will continue to closely monitor the conduct of this case and hold the Salvadoran Government, and especially the Armed Forces, to the highest standards as the case moves through the judicial process.

Murder of Ten Peasants Near San Francisco (San Sebastian Case): On September 12, 1988, a military patrol detained ten peasants from Canton San Francisco, San Sebastian Municipality, San Vicente Department. Soon afterwards, villagers heard two explosions and small arms fire. The next day, they found the dead bodies of all ten peasants. The military claimed that eight suspected FMLN collaborators and two captured guerrillas were killed when the column escorting the detainees to the helicopter was ambushed by guerrillas. The victims' families allege that the military executed all ten. The judge in San Sebastian investigated the killings and concluded that the villagers had been murdered. In November 1988, then-President Duarte assigned the case to the SIU.

There was little progress in the case until Vice President Quayle visited El Salvador in February 1989 and emphasized US concern about the case. A special military honor board was formed to review the evidence and found cause to dismiss two officers and seven enlisted men from military service and turn them over to a civilian judge for prosecution. Eventually, a total of twelve soldiers were arrested between February 13 and March 2, 1989. Several writs of habeas corpus filed in March 1989 were not resolved by the Supreme Court until September 1989 when the case was remanded to the court in San Sebastian.

On February 8, 1990, the judge of the first instance court of San Sebastian ruled that there was insufficient evidence to proceed to trial against ten of the accused and ordered their release. At the same time, he ordered trial proceedings initiated against Major Mauricio de Jesus Beltran and a sub-sergeant. The defense and the prosecution immediately filed appeals of the judge's ruling.

On April 27, the San Vicente appeals court ordered trial proceedings initiated against Beltran in the original court but held that there was insufficient evidence to initiate trial proceedings against the sub-sergeant. In addition, the appeals court also confirmed the finding of insufficient evidence against the other ten defendants, dropped all charges against them, and ordered their immediate release.

Major Beltran, the only remaining defendant, is in custody and awaiting trial. On June 26, the Supreme Court granted a petition from the prosecutors and transferred the case against Major Beltran from San Sebastian to the Sixth Criminal Judge of San Salvador.

Murders of Michael Hammer, Mark Pearlman and Jose Rodolfo Viera (The Sheraton Case): On January 4, 1981 Jose Rodolfo Viera, head of the Agrarian Reform Institute, Michael Hammer and Mark Pearlman, both of the American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD) were murdered. In April 1981 the Salvadoran Government arrested Ricardo Sol Meza, the owner of the Sheraton hotel where the murders had been committed, and requested the extradition of Hans Christ, a businessman who had fled to the United States. In the fall of 1981 a judge suspended all action in the case on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence to implicate Christ and Sol Meza in the murders. That decision was upheld by a court of appeals in April 1982 and Sol Meza was released. In September 1982 two Salvadoran National Guard enlisted men confessed to having committed the murders and had alleged that Lt. Rodolfo Lopez Sibrian and Capt. Eduardo Ernesto Alfonso Avila and businessman Hans Christ ordered them to kill Viera and the two Americans. In December 1982 the case against Lopez Sibrian was dismissed due to insufficient evidence against him. In April 1983 an appellate court upheld the dismissal of charges against Lopez Sibrian and in November 1983 the supreme court denied the appeal of the appellate court decision. On December 19, 1983, as a result of the direct intervention by then-Vice President Bush, Captain Avila was arrested. On March 22, 1984 Avila was released. The two enlisted men were convicted of the murders on February 14, 1986.

Bombing of FENASTRAS Headquarters: A bomb killed ten people and wrecked the offices of the FENASTRAS labor federation on October 31, 1989. In the days following the bombing, President Cristiani called for an investigatory commission to look into the crime, FENASTRAS initially refused to permit the SIU to conduct a physical examination of the site or the bodies. Salvadoran investigators, assisted by FBI explosives incidents personnel, were not permitted by FENASTRAS to visit the site until November 8, 1989. By then the site had been cleaned up by FENASTRAS employees, which destroyed much of the evidence. Efforts to investigate the bombing were further hampered by the beginning of the FMLN's major military offensive eleven days after the bombing. In September 1990, FENASTRAS leaders offered to present new evidence regarding the bombing and asked the US Embassy for assistance. To date, however, they have produced no new evidence or witnesses.

The Constitution calls for election by universal suffrage of a one-term president, a unicameral Congress, and municipal officers; it mandates an independent judiciary and a Human Rights Ombudsman, who reports to Congress. Jorge Serrano won the 1991 presidential elections with 68 percent of the vote, taking office on January 14. Several hundred foreign observers and journalists monitored the elections and found them to be free and fair.

The armed forces operate with significant institutional and legal autonomy, particularly in security and military matters. The army, which has responsibility for national security, has been fighting a leftist insurgency for 31 years; it includes a Mobile Military Police (PMA) that guards key facilities and has a limited anticrime role. The National Police and the Treasury Police report to the Interior Minister, a civilian. About 500,000 men in Voluntary Civil Defense Committees (CVDC), more commonly called Civil Self-Defense Patrols (PAC), perform counterinsurgency operations in rural areas. Despite a constitutional prohibition, membership in the PAC's in conflict zones is often involuntary. The security forces and the PAC's committed numerous and serious human rights violations during 1991.

Agriculture and commerce dominate the largely private enterprise economy, with coffee, cotton, sugar, and bananas accounting for the bulk of export earnings. During its first months, the Serrano Government took steps to combat inflation, stabilize exchange rates, lower interest rates, and carry out other economic and fiscal reforms. The economy grew at a real rate of 3.2 percent.

In 1991 the military, civil patrols, and the police continued to commit a majority of the major human rights abuses, including extrajudicial killings, torture, and disappearances of, among others, human rights activists, unionists, indigenous people, and street children. The motive behind many of the abuses appears to be the belief, whether factual or based on spurious information, that the victims were in some way supportive of or sympathetic to the guerrillas. Guerrillas also committed human rights violations, including killings of policemen and others, kidnapings, forced labor and recruitment, wide use of mines and other explosives, and the use of children in combat.

Many human rights cases in which the United States had officially expressed interest remained unsolved, such as: the 1985 disappearances of U.S. citizens Blake and Davis, the 1989 kidnapings of several Rununel Junam Council of Ethnic Communities (CERJ) members, the disappearance and murder of university students, the kidnaping and abuse of American nun Diana Ortiz, the knife attack on members of the Peace Brigades (PBI), the murders of Hector Oqueli, Gilda Flores, Gonzalez Gamarra, and Villanueva de Barrera in 1990, and the disappearances of Maria Tiu Tojin and her daughter from a relocation center in 1990. The Army High Command continued to impede a thorough investigation into the murder by army personnel of American citizen Michael Devine in 1990. Because of a lack of sufficient progress on human rights in Guatemala, the United States has not resumed its military aid program, suspended since December 1990.

Despite continuing serious abuses and lack of progress on many cases, the current Government has shown more political will than its predecessor in promoting respect for human rights and in pursuing violators. President Serrano has demonstrated a commitment to control the military and to end the impunity of human rights violators. Two army personnel, including an officer, were arrested for the 1990 Santiago Atitlan massacre and were convicted and sentenced to prison, and a suspect tied to the military staff of former President Cerezo was arrested in the 1990 Myrna Mack murder case (see Section 1.a.). A few PAC members were arrested for the murders of some human rights activists. In August the President announced the creation of a cabinet-level Human Rights Commission to advise him and respond to reports of violations. The military agreed to participate in peace negotiations led by President Serrano with the Guatemala National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) guerrilla coalition. Overall, the human rights situation improved from 1990, with the greatest improvement seen in the willingness of increasing numbers of Guatemalan organizations and individuals to address publicly and openly sensitive human rights issues.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Section 1 Respect for the Integrity of the Person, Including Freedom from:

a. Political and Other Extrajudicial Killing

Media and other reports indicated the 1991 murder toll to be higher than the official figures of 1,800 to 2,000. While common crime caused the vast majority of violent deaths, the number of politically motivated killings, though fewer than in 1990, was very high. Preliminary reporting from the Human Rights Ombudsman listed 258 complaints of political killings (compared to 304 for all of 1990). The Archbishop's Human Rights Office reported 575 political executions for the same period; a local human rights group, the Mutual Support Group (GAM), reported 796 "political killings" but did not define the term.

Most of these killings are credibly believed to have been committed by the armed forces and persons associated with or protected by the army, such as the civil defense patrols. Most of them took place in areas of military-guerrilla conflict, where the military often fails to distinguish between guerrillas and noncombatants. The security forces were probably involved in many vigilante killings of criminals or criminal suspects. The criminal backgrounds of many of these victims suggests that the killers had access to police, court, and prison data.

The security forces are virtually never held accountable for human rights violations. With few exceptions, the Government failed properly to investigate, detain, and prosecute perpetrators of extrajudicial and politically motivated killings. Often the army fails to cooperate with police, courts, and prosecutors to bring to justice army personnel involved in abuses. This was particularly evident throughout 1991 in the stalled investigation of the murder of American citizen Michael Devine in 1990. The Ombudsman, the Attorney General, and human rights groups have also found unambiguous eyewitness and physical evidence of killings by the PAC's; several clandestine cemeteries were found containing summarily executed victims, some showing signs of torture. PAC leaders enjoy army backing and virtual de facto immunity from prosecution, and they are feared in many rural communities.

The armed forces and PAC's frequently threatened and sometimes killed human rights activists. CERJ is a rural-based human rights organization dedicated mainly to opposing involuntary service in the civil patrols. Juan Perebal and one son, members of CERJ, were shot dead near Chunima (Quiche Department) on February 17. Another son survived the shooting and identified the attackers as Manuel Perebal Ajtzalam and Manuel Xon Lares, former PAC leaders. The victims had previously implicated the two attackers in the 1990 kidnaping of Sebastian Velasquez Mejia, another CERJ member who was later found dead. The two ex-PAC leaders had more than 10 outstanding arrest warrants, and efforts by police to arrest them failed when armed civil patrol members intervened. However, due to the intervention of President Serrano, in July both surrendered, and judicial proceedings were under way at year's end. Other such killings included CERJ members Miguel Tzoy Colel, who had received death threats for refusing to join a PAC; Toman Ventura Xon; Celestino Vicente Julay; and Camilo Ajqui Jimon who, according to one credible report, was attacked with knives and nearly decapitated by three men who also threatened his wife.

There were several notable extrajudicial killings of political party members, an army general, and a police investigator. In April, two men in Guatemala City killed Dinora Perez, a young woman involved in forming a new leftist political party, the United Guatemala Party (PGU). In 1991 most PGU members, including 1985 Social Democratic Party vice-presidential candidate Luis Zurita, fled abroad. The killers clearly meant to abort the PGU. In January gunmen killed Escuintla Mayor Marco Tulio Collado, following a period during which he had received threats. Relatives blamed "right-wing extremists." A crime which might be linked to the 1990 murder case of Myrna Mack was the murder in August of Police Homicides Investigation Chief Jose Luis Merida, who handled--among other sensitive tasks--the investigation into Mack's death. In May two men killed active-duty general and former defense attache to the United States Anacleto Maza. Reports indicate Maza was about to reveal information concerning corruption in the army commissary and corrupt acts by government officers involved with the national airline.

In June armed men killed Oscar Oswaldo Luna, a member of the San Carlos University (USAC) maintenance workers' union who had taken part in a bitter strike in which USAC officials were held hostage. Although President Serrano ordered that the killing be thoroughly investigated, there were no results by year's end. There continued to be credible reports that policemen and private security guards tortured and killed street children, although there were fewer such reports in 1991. A court in March sentenced four policemen to long prison terms for the beating death of "street child" Nahamon Carmona Lopez in 1990. However, a higher court found errors in sentencing, and, as 1991 ended, the case was remanded to the lower court. The case against two other policemen accused of involvement in the deaths of four other street children in 1990 continued in court.

Guerrillas were also responsible for extrajudicial killings in 1991. In June, Genaro Cabrera Gomez, a guerrilla who accepted amnesty, was tortured and killed; a note stated that guerrillas killed him for "treason." Relatives of Lorenzo Perebal and Andres Lopix, Solola military commissioners (civilian army employees whose main job is to ensure compliance with the draft), said guerrillas kidnaped and murdered both men in October.

In June police arrested five PAC members in Alta Verapaz for the death that month of Domingo Xe. Noel Beteta Alvarez, suspected of stabbing Myrna Mack, was arrested following deportation from the United States. At the time of Mack's death, Beteta was working for the presidential military staff of the prior administration. In December a court found sufficient prima facie evidence against Beteta to justify judicial proceedings. These were under way as 1991 ended. The discovery of eleven torture and murder victims in August led to the quick arrest of seven navy personnel, including the commander of the Pacific naval base. In March the Supreme Court dismissed the Government's appeal of the 1990 dismissal by an appeals court of the convictions of six Quetzaltenango policemen for the kidnaping and murder of two students in 1986.

b. Disappearance

The Ombudsman's office's preliminary report for 1991 indicated that he had received 182 complaints of disappearances (compared to 233 for all 1990). The Archbishop's Human Rights Office reported 144 disappearances for the period, while the GAM reported 126 kidnapings. Most political disappearances were credibly believed to have been committed by persons linked to the armed forces; the Government did not identify and prosecute these persons.

According to witnesses, a reported member of CERJ, Felipe Lopez Mendoza, was abducted in June by two men near Santa Cruz del Quiche; no record of his arrest or detention was ever found. In June Yolanda Figueroa, a leader in the Custom Workers Union, was the intended victim of a kidnaping. A Treasury Policeman foiled the crime, wounding two assailants. In April CERJ leader Amilcar Mendez reported a kidnaping attempt in Guatemala City in which men tried to drag him from his car into another vehicle, desisting only when a crowd gathered. In May CERJ member Miguel Sucuqui charged that he was the victim of an aborted kidnaping attempt by a local PAC.

c. Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

As in past years, many bodies found throughout Guatemala bore signs of torture or postmortem mutilation. Such treatment, however, is not necessarily evidence of security force involvement: gangs and other criminals, as well as guerrillas, all use torture. There were, nevertheless, many credible reports of torture and mistreatment by security forces. There were also credible reports of the use of excessive force by police at the time of arrest and of abusive treatment by army personnel, civil defense patrols, military commissioners, and police of persons in rural areas.

In April police in Chiquimula arrested the ex-secretary general of the electric workers' union, Otto Ivan Rodriguez, claiming that he belonged to a car theft ring. They beat him, nearly blinding him in one eye. The abuse ended when a judge had Rodriguez taken from the local jail to one in Guatemala City where he received medical treatment. He was freed on April 25 and left the country. Another reported case of abuse in official detention was that of Messrs. Rosales, Trujillo, and Castillo who were arrested in August. Representatives of the Archbishop's Human Rights Office visited the three prisoners and confirmed that they were abused by the National Police. The Human Rights Ombudsman, reporting on the case, denounced the police and demanded the resignation of the National Police Director, a retired Army Colonel. He was replaced by a civilian, the first to head the police in many years. Judicial proceedings were begun against the police officers thought to be involved in the torture. Julio Chualcuben, who was kidnaped on December 16, 1990, was found near death on a rural highway 10 days later and taken to a hospital, where he remained semicomatose until June. After regaining consciousness, he did not have the use of his voice, legs, and right arm, but he described his ordeal by writing with his left hand. According to his account, military commissioners accused him of being a guerrilla and took him to Solola's army base, where he was interrogated, tortured, and left for dead. During his ordeal, base officers had ignored writs of habeas corpus presented on his behalf. The case has not been investigated. In March the Ombudsman charged abuse at an army base near Izabal where victims and other people in the area said that the base commander and military commissioners sought to push them off land wanted by a local firm. The Ombudsman asked the Defense Minister to investigate; the commander was put at the "disposal" of a military judge. Nothing further was heard about the incident by year's end.

The Government undertook efforts to end police abuse of street children; the new police director on several occasions made clear he would not tolerate abuse of street children, and reports of such incidents declined in 1991. However, on October 23 two police cadets stopped and beat 17-year old Walter Federico Flores, leaving him in the street unconscious, when Flores objected to turning over his identification papers. The Minister of Interior promised to look into the matter but, as of the end of the year, no results had been announced. The Attorney General appointed a special prosecutor and a special investigator to look into the case of Sister Diana Ortiz, an American nun who reported being kidnaped, raped, and tortured in November 1989.

d. Arbitrary Arrest, Detention, or Exile

A court-issued arrest warrant is required unless a person is caught committing a crime. Police may not keep a suspect for over 6 hours without bringing him to a judge. The law provides for bail, access to lawyers, and limits to 20 days the time anyone may be held, after which he must be charged or freed. Authorities must produce detainees on request.

Despite these safeguards, there are frequent credible reports of arbitrary arrest and incommunicado detention by security forces. Those engaged in such detentions routinely ignore writs of habeas corpus. A preliminary report by the Human Rights Ombudsman indicated that his office was investigating 10 credible complaints of illegal arrest in the capital. There was reliable evidence of detentions by guerrillas. Guerrillas forced some rural residents to take part in patrols similar to PAC patrols. Guerrillas operating near the capital were also reported to have taken several civilian hostages in October.

Exile is not used.

e. Denial of Fair Public Trial

The Constitution provides for an independent judiciary comprised of a Court of Constitutionality, a Supreme Court, Appeals Courts, and several courts of special jurisdiction, such as labor courts. Military courts have jurisdiction over military personnel, including military commissioners but not members of the PAC, thereby limiting the ability of civilian courts to prosecute military personnel in human rights abuse cases. Civilian trials are public; defendants have the right to be present and to legal representation. An appeals court automatically reviews convictions.

The judicial system is virtually ineffective in human rights cases. Most human rights violations are never investigated; security forces are reluctant to investigate cases in which their colleagues are implicated. Judges are susceptible to intimidation and corruption, suffer low pay, bad working conditions, and low morale. In October the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court denounced pressure on judges by army officers in rural areas, and U.N. Human Rights Expert Christian Tomuschat echoed those charges.

There are no known political prisoners.

f. Arbitrary Interference with Privacy, Family, Home, or Correspondence

The Constitution provides for the inviolability of home, correspondence, and private documents, provisions that are not always respected. Army intelligence units monitor private communications. In addition, officials enforcing the military draft frequently entered homes and places of business without the legally required court orders.

The Constitution requires that PAC service be voluntary. However, army officers, military commissioners, and PAC leaders often pressure men in conflict zones to become PAC members. There are credible reports that those who refuse to serve have suffered serious abuse, including death.

g. Use of Excessive Force and Violations of Humanitarian Law in Internal Conflicts

Despite the efforts of President Serrano, the internal armed conflict entered its 31st year in 1991 and continued to be a cause of major human rights violations. There continued to be charges of indiscriminate army "carpet bombings" and artillery barrages; given the small, tightly controlled aerial and artillery assets of the army, these charges are not credible. In October the press reported an aerial attack on a guerrilla-controlled Popular Community in Resistance (CPR) named Caba just prior to the scheduled visit of U.N. Human Rights Expert Tomuschat. Subsequent information, however, showed the firing was not aimed at Caba, but was in response to guerrillas 3 kilometers away who had fired on an army helicopter. Little information exists on the fate of many captured guerrillas. Information from previous years, however, leads to the conclusion that such persons often faced torture and death at the hands of their military captors. There were some documented cases, however, of guerrillas who applied for and received amnesty and were well treated.

In October the army charged that guerrillas summarily executed four wounded soldiers; the report was plausible but without independent confirmation. Guerrillas used children as young as 12 years of age in combat and as young as 7 in such noncombat roles as lookouts and couriers. They also made wide use of landmines and other explosives, including "pamphlet bombs," one of which injured a girl at the capital's zoo. In February the Guerrilla Army of the Poor (EGP) in northern Quiche attacked a 13-man PAC, killing 10 and wounding 3. Witnesses said the EGP had caught the lightly armed PAC in a well-laid ambush and summarily executed some of the wounded. The Human Rights Ombudsman, who barely escaped injury when his helicopter took guerrilla fire, found that the EGP violated international humanitarian law. In March guerrillas ambushed a police car escorting a bicycle race in Solola; two policemen died and the car was set afire. Guerrillas killed two more policemen in Nueva Vinas in July. This incident led to a public outcry, and in August guerrillas promised they would no longer target policemen. Since then, no more attacks have taken place.

In March police dislodged squatters on a Pacific coast estate, Finca Olga Maria. A woman was killed and several other persons, including police, were hurt. Three foreigners of the Peace Brigades were arrested and required to leave Guatemala. The Ombudsman charged that the police used premeditated lethal force and acted without a judicial order. A police official was removed from his post by the Interior Minister, and murder charges were filed against him.

An army lieutenant and a sergeant were arrested, convicted, and sentenced to 4 years and 16 years respectively for the 1990 Santiago de Atitlan massacre in which 14 people were killed, including two children, during a peaceful demonstration against army abuses. Armed army personnel on patrol approached the town of Santiago de Atitlan in mid-1991 but were confronted by local residents and turned away.

Section 2 Respect for Civil Liberties, Including:

a. Freedom of Speech and Press

The Constitution provides for freedom of expression, and critics of the Government, including guerrilla leaders, had access to the media--nearly all of which, including television, is privately owned. A range of organizations, many critical of the Government, have their own publications, including the Ombudsman, who began a monthly newsletter during the year. However, a series of attempts of undetermined origin to intimidate the media occurred in August and September. These included anonymous telephone threats and the placing of a powerful bomb (deactivated by security forces) in a large office building where many foreign and domestic press agencies are located. Two men entered the offices of the press agency NOTIMEX, threatened the secretary, and rifled through files. Two days later, the home of the NOTIMEX correspondent was entered and ransacked. The local International Press Service (IPS) correspondent had to leave Guatemala after receiving threats, but the office remained open. The Government did little to investigate these incidents.

There were numerous warnings to journalists not to publish articles on the cases of Michael Devine, Myrna Mack, the attempted murder of journalist Byron Barrera (his wife died in the attack) in 1990, and on several U.S. narcotics-related extradition requests. Many journalists complained that the Serrano Administration showed little sympathy or concern for threatened newsmen. Media representatives openly denounced the threats and vowed to continue their work on human rights cases and other sensitive topics. Nevertheless, there continued to be self-censorship on certain topics, such as investigative reporting into corruption in the military or into illegal actions by powerful politicians.

b. Freedom of Peaceful Assembly and Association

The Constitution recognizes the rights of peaceful assembly and association: parades, rallies, marches, forums, debates, and seminars on various topics, including human rights, took place openly and freely. Organizations require legal association status, a cumbersome and expensive procedure which works against organizations without good funding or legal counsel. While legally organizations must have association status, not having it did not stop groups, including some with foreign ties, from operating openly. In October Guatemala played host to an international indigenous peoples' gathering entitled "500 Year Struggle Against Oppression" to mark the anniversary of Christopher Columbus' arrival in America.

c. Freedom of Religion

No state religion exists. Religious freedom is constitutionally guaranteed and is generally respected in practice. Religious personnel are sometimes threatened, abused, or killed for political reasons. About 70 percent of Guatemala is nominally Catholic, but many other faiths openly exist.

d. Freedom of Movement Within the Country, Foreign Travel, Emigration, and Repatriation

The Government did not restrict foreign travel, nor did it revoke citizenship for political reasons. Movement inside Guatemala was unrestricted except in some conflict areas. The EGP continued to limit travel in areas under their control. The army, military commissioners, and the PAC also limited travel in some areas.

Repatriation of refugees continued; 1,200 to 1,300 returned during 1991 and plans were under way for repatriation of many of the 40,000 to 45,000 refugees in Mexico.

Section 3 Respect for Political Rights: The Right of Citizens to Change Their Government

Guatemalans have the right to change their government by peaceful and democratic means. Universal suffrage by secret ballot exists for those 18 years of age or older; there are no property or literacy requirements. Voting is not mandatory. National elections were held on November 11, 1990, and, following a run-off on January 6, Jorge Serrano took office as President on January 14. International observers found the elections to be free and fair. Eight parties or groupings from center-left to far-right have seats in the Congress as do several independents.

Section 4 Governmental Attitude Regarding International and Nongovernmental Investigation of Alleged Violations of Human Rights

The Government did not hinder international human rights groups. Local human rights groups and organizations are permitted to operate in Guatemala, but members of some of these groups continue to suffer threats and violence at the hands of the security forces or the PAC's (see Section 1.a.).

The office of the Human Rights Ombudsman expanded in size and activity. It issued many reports and criticized both the Government and guerrillas for abuses. The office remained the most reliable source of objective information on human rights practices. The Government's relations with the Human Rights Ombudsman were often tense; officials often imputed political motives to his criticisms. However, the Government responded to some criticism by naming special prosecutors to handle particularly notorious cases and creating a cabinet-level human rights advisory committee. When CERJ leader Amilcar Mendez reported threats, he quickly received a police escort. However, Mr. Mendez reported that President Serrano made statements that unfairly associated him with guerrilla activities.

Senior officials met representatives of numerous foreign and international nongovernmental human rights organizations, several of which have local offices. The U.N. Human Rights Expert visited Guatemala and received wide press coverage for his often-critical comments. Some foreign groups took part in the location and exhumation of clandestine cemeteries. The International Committee of the Red Cross operated openly and visited villages controlled by the guerrillas.

Over one half of the population is culturally indigenous and the rest culturally European. While having equal legal rights, many indigenous people still remained outside the country's predominant culture, language, and economy. Rural indigenous men were more likely than urban counterparts to be drafted by the army or forcibly recruited by guerrilla groups. Indigenous people suffered most of the serious human rights abuses (see Sections 1.a. and 1.b.). Although there are some indigenous army officers, congressmen, and judges, there is widespread and pervasive discrimination against indigenous people, who have limited educational and employment opportunities. Illiteracy among indigenous people is prevalent. Over half of the population are not native Spanish speakers and face myriad difficulties in interactions with officials, few of whom speak indigenous languages, thereby limiting access to a variety of public services, including the judicial system.

Women are active in the labor force, especially in the textile industry, agriculture, retail business, and in lower paying public sector jobs. Several women hold prominent political positions, including at the cabinet level. Despite legal protection, women face job discrimination and receive lower pay than men. There are no major organizations devoted to women's issues. Violence against women, including domestic violence, remains common but receives little attention. Criminal sexual violence often goes unreported by victims, and relatively few rape cases came to court. The Ombudsman named a woman as a deputy with particular responsibility for violations of women's rights.

Aside from private clubs that bar membership to persons of certain religions, Guatemala is very tolerant of religious diversity. Government and business has senior personnel from many faiths.

Section 6 Worker Rights

a. The Right of Association

Workers have the right to join or form unions. About 8 percent of the work force is organized, including much of the public sector. Due to their complexity, provisions of the Labor Code serve to hinder both the ability to organize unions and to obtain the necessary legal recognition. During 1991 the Government used administrative powers to simplify rules for union recognition. Unions must have at least 20 members, but craft unions of skilled workers employed by several companies are permitted. Some employers, however, seek to avoid unionization by forming several entities of fewer than 20 workers each. A court ruling in 1990 opened the possibility that unions could organize these separate entities into a single union. Workers have the right to strike, but procedures involved made legal strikes cumbersome; most occur without permission. In practice, the Government made no effort to determine their legality. The structural weakness of organized labor and the lack of funds limit the duration of most strikes.

Union leaders may serve only one term in a union office, but by rotating offices the same persons stay on unions' boards of directors. The Constitution protects the right of political participation for individuals and drops previous prohibitions restricting participation by unions and their leaders. One prominent union leader was elected to Congress in 1990; two others are alternates. Unions may form federations and confederations, and join international organizations.

A "solidarity" movement was active; critics charged it was promoted by management to rival genuine unions. Unions continued to operate in workplaces which have "solidarity" associations. The Government made clear these associations exist as civic organizations, and, as such, need not limit the ability of legal trade unions to function.

A draft Labor Code, drawn up with help from the International Labor Organization (ILO), remained under consideration by the Labor Committee in Congress. The Committee gave a favorable recommendation on July 10 in the first of three required readings.

Local and international labor and human rights groups, including the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, charged that unionists were "particular targets of death squads." There have been threats and violence against unionists by members of the security forces (see Sections 1.a. and 1.c.). However, labor violence generally involved "thugs" used on an ad hoc basis by employers opposed to unions. Perpetrators of these criminal acts are seldom prosecuted.

At its May-June 1991 session, the ILO's Committee on Freedom of Association (CFA) noted with deep regret that, other than indicating the possibility of adopting a policy of guaranteeing the protection, safety, and freedom of action of trade union leaders enabling them to carry out their functions, the Government failed to provide any specific information on measures taken either in this regard or on the outcome of judicial inquiries into the death and torture of a large number of trade union leaders. The CFA again urged the Government to set up independent judicial inquiries to ascertain the facts in these cases. In a related development, the ICFTU called for a full investigation of reports that former union leader Otto Rodriguez was tortured following his arrest for alleged car theft. The National Ombudsman for Human Rights met with trade union leaders in early December to hear complaints related to threats against them or other union activists. Following this session, the Ombudsman committed his organization to establish a special office, headed by a union leader, to handle complaints related to trade union activities.

b. The Right to Organize and Bargain Collectively

Workers have the legal right to organize and bargain collectively but often face discriminatory antiunion actions by employers. Labor Courts, responsible for enforcing laws prohibiting such discrimination, are ineffective. The Labor Ministry indicated its intention to concentrate on improving the administration of labor laws.

Labor laws and regulations apply throughout Guatemala. The law authorizing establishment of export processing zones specifies that all Labor Code provisions be applied. However, in April the Ministry of labor and Social Welfare, with the assistance of the Human Rights Ombudsman, issued a report on the textile plants in the export zone sector. The report documented worker rights abuses in some plants, including mistreatment of workers, low wages, long hours, and poor working conditions. The report put forward proposals to protect workers, and the Government created a commission to propose reforms to the 1989 export processing zone law.

c. Prohibition of Forced or Compulsory Labor

The Constitution bars forced labor, and the practice generally does not exist. However, some groups charge that forced participation in the PAC violated prohibitions against forced labor. There have been credible reports of isolated instances of unpaid PAC members being used to provide free manual labor, but no systematic pattern of such abuse was established.

d. Minimum Age for the Employment of Children

The Constitution bars employment of minors under the age of 14. In the industrial sector where the Labor Code is fairly easy to enforce, child labor is uncommon but not, however, in the informal and agricultural sectors. Children often help run family businesses, work as domestic help, engage in begging, and wash automobiles. A local organization, Casa Alianza, which promotes the rights of street children, estimated that over 5,000 children live in the capital city's streets; they are often involved in prostitution and other crimes.

e. Acceptable Conditions of Work

The workday is legally 8 hours and the workweek 44 hours, but a tradition of much longer hours remains. As noted in the April report on the export processing zone industry, most owners of textile plants paid minimum wages for a 12-hour day, violating both the Constitution and the Labor Code. Several complaints of beatings and firings of textile workers accused of failing to meet work requirements were made to the Labor Ministry. Labor inspectors, who report to the Labor Courts, were accused of a lack of diligence in enforcing the 8-hour day, in part because the highly mobile third-country textile plants move when they find conditions more attractive elsewhere.

Little was done to educate workers and employers about the potential harmful effects of certain chemicals and procedures. Even simple precautions, such as the use of helmets and hearing protection on construction sites, were rarely taken. In November the Government issued a decree requiring all employers to provide medical facilities on work sites, a decree to which employers have objected. A similar reaction was noted to an earlier decree that required payment of a bonus based on years of service to all workers who retire or who are no longer required by employers. Insufficient time has passed to judge if these decrees will be enforced.

Mimimum wages are set by law and are the de facto wages for most rural and urban workers. A bilateral committee representing labor and management is named each year from each economic sector to review minimum wage levels and to make recommendations for increases. In the event agreement is not possible, the Government may decree such increases. In late 1991 the Government decreed increase in the minimum wage for several industrial sectors. Rural workers had their minimum wage increased in 1990 at a slightly lower monthly rate. The Minister of Labor in late November publicly announced that many rural and urban workers are not receiving the minimum wage established for their sector. While some skilled workers earned wages higher than the minimum, most are paid below the legal minimum. Labor Ministry inspectors have been unable to enforce the minimum wage law. These wages do not provide a decent standard of living; over 75 per cent of the population lives below the Guatemalan poverty line.

INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

1. HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES WERE VERY MUCH IN THE PUBLIC EYE IN DECEMBER. THE MONTH OPENED WITH THE MASSACRE OF 14 INDIGENOUS DEMONSTRATORS BY SOLDIERS NEAR SANTIAGO DE ATITLAN (SOLOLA). THIS MASS KILLING PROVOKED AN UNPRECEDENTED STORM OF CRITICISM OF THE MILITARY FROM ALL SECTORS OF GUATEMALAN SOCIETY. BOTH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES CONDEMNED THE KILLINGS AS DID THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE GUATEMALAN CONGRESS, WHICH UNANIMOUSLY CALLED UPON THE GOG TO PROVIDE COMPENSATION TO THE FAMILIES OF THE SANTIAGO VICTIMS. THE ARMY HAS ARRESTED A LIEUTENANT AND A SERGEANT FOR SPARKING THE INCIDENT THAT LED TO THE TRAGEDY. IN RESPONSE TO LOCAL RESIDENTS' PLEAS, A CALL FROM CONGRESS, AND, MOST IMPORTANT, AN ORDER FROM PRESIDENT CEREZO, THE ARMY CLOSED ITS BASE NEAR SANTIAGO. IN A LAST MINUTE SESSION, CONGRESS RATIFIED THE 1988 AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE MFA AND THE ICRC, GRANTING THE INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS THE RIGHT TO OPERATE OPENLY IN GUATEMALA, A DEFEAT FOR HARDLINERS WHO OPPOSE AN ICRC PRESENCE.

2. HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO WAS VERY ACTIVE. HE ISSUED A REPORT LABELING THE SANTIAGO MASSACRE AS "GENOCIDE." HIS OFFICE SPONSORED A "HUMAN RIGHTS FORUM" FEATURING THE TWO PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES, JORGE CARPIO OF THE UCN AND JORGE SERRANO OF THE MAS. HE ISSUED FIGURES FOR 1990 ON POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES AND CONDEMNED THE GUERRILLAS

FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. THE GUERRILLAS' DECEMBER 17 DESTRUCTION OF THE "MOCA" BRIDGE KILLED AN INNOCENT PASSER-BY AND WOUNDED ANOTHER. THE GUERRILLAS CLAIM DOWNING BRIDGES AND POWER LINES IS A LEGITIMATE MILITARY TACTIC AS IT MAKES THE ARMY SPREAD ITSELF THIN.

3. THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN GOT PERSONAL AND NASTY. UCN CANDIDATE CARPIO CONTINUED TO HAMMER AWAY ON THE RELIGIOUS ISSUE, ASKING CATHOLICS TO REJECT HIS PROTESTANT RIVAL. HE ACCUSED SERRANO OF BEING PERSONALLY CORRUPT, INDEBTED, AND IN LEAGUE WITH THE GOVERNING CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC (DCG) PARTY. THE SERRANO CAMPAIGN REJECTED THE CHARGES, ACCUSED THE UCN OF RECEIVING DRUG MONEY AND VOWED TO SUE FOR SLANDER. AS THE MONTH ENDED, POLLS SHOWED SERRANO WITH A HUGE LEAD.

4. THE UNITED STATES ANNOUNCED THE SUSPENSION OF MILITARY ASSISTANCE (FMF) TO THE GUATEMALAN ARMY. A STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE EMBASSY AND THE DEPARTMENT EXPLAINED THE SUSPENSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS GROUNDS, IN PARTICULAR ON THE LACK OF PROGRESS MADE IN INVESTIGATING THE JUNE 6 MURDER OF ANCIT BUSINESSMAN MICHAEL DEVINE. THERE IS EVIDENCE OF MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN THE KILLING. END INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

POLITICAL AND EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS

5. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN ESTIMATED THAT GUATEMALA EXPERIENCED 384 POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS DURING 1990. THE OMBUDSMAN ATTRIBUTED MOST OF THE KILLINGS TO THE SECURITY FORCES, INCLUDING CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS; MOST TOOK PLACE IN RURAL AREAS AND INVOLVED INDIGENOUS PERSONS SUSPECTED OF INVOLVEMENT IN SOME MANNER WITH GUERRILLA MOVEMENTS. THESE FIGURES DO NOT INCLUDE THE APPARENTLY LARGE NUMBER OF VIGILANTE-STYLE KILLINGS OF SUSPECTED CRIMINALS WHICH OCCUR ON A REGULAR BASIS. THE OMBUDSMAN CONDEMNED THE KILLING BY GUERRILLAS OF DR. EDWIN SALVADOR RIOS CALDERON, WHO DIED WHEN HE DROVE OVER THE "MOCA" BRIDGE EARLY MORNING DECEMBER 17, JUST AS GUERRILLA DEMOLITION CHARGES EXPLODED. THE OMBUDSMAN ALSO CONDEMNED THE EXISTENCE OF RIGHT- AND LEFT-WING DEATH SQUADS.

6. THE MUTUAL SUPPORT GROUP CLAIMED THAT ONE OF ITS MEMBERS, DIEGO IC SUI, WAS SHOT DEAD ON THE NIGHT OF DECEMBER 10. HIS BODY, CONTAINING THREE BULLET WOUNDS, WAS FOUND NEAR THE MAIN BUS TERMINAL OF THE CAPITAL. HE HAD APPARENTLY PARTICIPATED IN A DEMONSTRATION BY A NUMBER OF LABOR AND "POPULAR" ORGANIZATIONS EARLIER THAT EVENING IN FRONT OF THE NATIONAL PALACE. POLICE REPORTED NO LEADS. AMERICAS WATCH BROUGHT A U.S. MEDICAL FORENSIC DELEGATION TO GUATEMALA WHICH ASKED FOR AND RECEIVED PERMISSION FOR THE EXHUMATION OF THE BODY OF CERJ ACTIVIST SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA. THE DELEGATION CONFIRMED THAT THE BODY WAS INDEED THAT OF VELASQUEZ, REPORTED KIDNAPPED OCTOBER 6 IN QUICHE DEPARTMENT. THE DELEGATION WAS NOT ABLE, HOWEVER, TO OBTAIN PERMISSION TO CONDUCT A COMPLETE AUTOPSY TO DETERMINE THE CAUSE OF DEATH. A NATIONAL POLICE STATEMENT IN NOVEMBER CLAIMED VELASQUEZ DIED OF AN ALCOHOL OVERDOSE IN GUATEMALA CITY.

DISAPPEARANCES

7. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE REPORTED GUATEMALA SUFFERED 233 POLITICALLY MOTIVATED DISAPPEARANCES IN 1990. AS WITH POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS (SEE PARA 5), THE OMBUDSMAN BLAMED THE MAJORITY OF THESE DISAPPEARANCES ON THE SECURITY FORCES. AS THERE IS NO CREDIBLE EVIDENCE

OF SECRET PRISONS OPERATING IN GUATEMALA. AN APPARENTLY REASONABLE ASSUMPTION IS THAT THESE DISAPPEARANCES HAVE RESULTED IN DEATH.

EXCESSIVE FORCE IN AN INTERNAL CONFLICT

4. VERY EARLY ON DECEMBER 2, SOLDIERS AT THE PANABAJ OUTPOST, ABOUT TWO KMS. FROM SANTIAGO (SOLOLA), FIRED ON A LARGE CROWD OF DEMONSTRATORS, KILLING 14 AND WOUNDING AT LEAST 26 PERSONS. THE DEMONSTRATION WAS BY INDIGENOUS PERSONS FROM SANTIAGO ATITLAN UPSET BY AN ATTEMPT BY TWO SOLDIERS TO KIDNAP A RESIDENT OF SANTIAGO. TENSION IN THE AREA, ONE OF CONSIDERABLE GUERRILLA AND BANDIT ACTIVITY, HAD BUILT UP OVER THE PAST YEAR, WITH LOCAL RESIDENTS CHARGING THAT THE PANABAJ MILITARY DETACHMENT (ABOUT 150 MEN) WAS THE SOURCE OF MUCH VIOLENCE AND CRIMINAL ACTIVITY. THE MASSACRE GENERATED UNPRECEDENTED CRITICISM OF THE MILITARY FROM ALL SECTORS OF SOCIETY. BOTH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES QUICKLY CONDEMNED THE DETACHMENT'S ACTIONS AS DID THE GUATEMALAN CONGRESS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN ISSUED A REPORT VERY CRITICAL OF THE MILITARY AND CALLED THE MASSACRE AN EXAMPLE OF THE POLICY OF GENOCIDE FOLLOWED AGAINST INDIGENOUS PEOPLE IN GUATEMALA. PRESIDENT CEREZO, ACCEDING TO DEMANDS FROM SANTIAGO'S RESIDENTS AND THE CALL OF CONGRESS, ORDERED THE ARMY TO CLOSE THE DETACHMENT AT PANABAJ; BY THE END OF THE MONTH THE BASE WAS NEARLY ENTIRELY VACANT WITH A SMALL NUMBER OF SOLDIERS REMAINING BEHIND TO PROTECT LARGE ITEMS OF EQUIPMENT. THE ARMY HAS PROMISED TO CLOSE COMPLETELY THE BASE.

5. GUERRILLA FORCES CLAIMED CREDIT FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF AN IMPORTANT BRIDGE, "EL MOCA," ALONG THE INTERNATIONAL PACIFIC HIGHWAY (CA-2). THE BLAST THAT DOWNED THE 92-METER LONG BRIDGE ALSO KILLED GUATEMALAN PSYCHIATRIST EDWIN SALVADOR RIOS CALDERON AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDED HIS DRIVER, GUBERCINDO GOMEZ LOPEZ; THE TWO MEN WERE PASSING OVER THE BRIDGE IN A TRUCK WHEN THE EXPLOSIVE CHARGES DETONATED. ON DECEMBER 27, THE OMBUDSMAN ISSUED AN EIGHT-PAGE REPORT SEVERELY CRITICIZING THE GUERRILLAS FOR VIOLATING HUMAN RIGHTS, INCLUDING THE RIGHT TO LIFE, BY THEIR ATTACKS ON ECONOMIC TARGETS SUCH AS THE "MOCA" BRIDGE. HE ALSO ACCUSED THE GUERRILLAS OF VIOLATING THEIR PLEDGE, MADE DURING THE INFORMAL PEACE TALKS IN SPAIN, TO REFRAIN FROM ATTACKS DURING THE ELECTORAL PERIOD AND TO SUSPEND ATTACKS ON THE ECONOMIC INFRASTRUCTURE. THE OMBUDSMAN

ALSO ACCUSED THE GUERRILLAS OF DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY.

6. A PRESS REPORT INDICATED THAT JOSE LUIS CHABAL CHUY, A CAMPESINO NEAR ALOTENANGO (SACATEPEQUEZ), LOST HIS LEFT LEG ON DECEMBER 27 TO A GUERRILLA-PLACED MINE. GUERRILLA MINES ARE TAKING AN INCREASING TOLL OF CIVILIANS. THE ARMY DOES NOT USE MINES.

PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY

7. THERE WERE SEVERAL PEACEFUL DEMONSTRATIONS, RALLIES, AND MARCHES THROUGHOUT THE MONTH. MOST WERE CONNECTED TO THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGNS. SOME, HOWEVER, WERE IN PROTEST OVER THE DETERIORATING ECONOMY AND REPORTED PLANS TO RAISE BUS FARES IN RESPONSE TO RISING FUEL COSTS. ON DECEMBER 18, A NUMBER OF LABOR AND "POPULAR" ORGANIZATIONS HELD A RALLY IN FRONT OF THE NATIONAL PALACE WHICH BECAME ROWDY. THE NATIONAL CHRISTMAS TREE WAS SET ABLAZE BY THE DEMONSTRATORS.

RELIGION

11. THE ISSUE OF RELIGION CONTINUED TO FEATURE IN THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN. THE UCN HAMMERED AWAY AT CATHOLICS NOT TO VOTE FOR PROTESTANT SERRANO. DESPITE ATTEMPTS TO MAKE RELIGION A MAJOR ISSUE, HOWEVER, POLLS CONTINUED TO SHOW LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN THE PREFERENCES OF CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT VOTERS; SERRANO CONTINUED TO TAKE TWO-THIRDS TO THREE-FOURTHS OF THE VOTE. THESE POLLS, HOWEVER, WERE TAKEN BEFORE THE "DIRTY" CAMPAIGN INTENSIFIED; A NEW POLL WILL BE RELEASED ON JANUARY 3.

RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS

12. THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN PICKED UP IN DECEMBER DESPITE THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN SPONSORED A DECEMBER 7 "HUMAN RIGHTS FORUM" IN WHICH BOTH CANDIDATES TOOK PART. THE FORUM QUICKLY BECAME A SAVAGE DEBATE BETWEEN THE CANDIDATES AND IS THE ONLY DIRECT DEBATE THAT WILL TAKE PLACE BETWEEN THE TWO. THE ELECTION WILL BE ON JANUARY 6; VOTER TURN-OUT IS EXPECTED TO BE LIGHT, BELOW THE 56 PERCENT TURN-OUT FOR THE NOVEMBER 11 FIRST ROUND OF VOTING. THERE WILL BE CONSIDERABLY FEWER INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS FOR THE JANUARY ROUND THAN THERE IN NOVEMBER. THE ELECTIONS ARE EXPECTED TO BE FREE AND FAIR.

INTERNATIONAL INVESTIGATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

13. A MAJOR DEVELOPMENT OVER THE PAST MONTH IN THIS FIELD WAS THE RATIFICATION BY CONGRESS OF AN AGREEMENT SIGNED IN SEPTEMBER 1989 BETWEEN THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND THE GENEVA-BASED INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS (ICRC). THE AGREEMENT ALLOWS THE ICRC TO OPEN AN OFFICE HERE AND TO OPERATE FREELY THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. IN PRACTICE, THE ICRC HAS BEEN OPERATING HERE PRIOR TO THE CONGRESSIONAL RATIFICATION BUT WITHOUT OFFICIAL STATUS. THE AGREEMENT AND ITS RATIFICATION IS A BLOW AGAINST ARMY HARDLINERS WHO WANTED NO ICRC PRESENCE HERE; THEY FEAR THE ICRC WILL BESTOW UPON THE URNG (GUATEMALAN NATIONAL REVOLUTIONARY UNITY) RECOGNITION AND LEGITIMACY AS A COMBATANT CO-EQUAL OF

THE ARMY.

14. THE HUMAN RIGHTS PROJECT (HRP), AMERICAS WATCH (AW), AND THE INTERNATIONAL LAWYERS' COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS (ILCHR) SENT DELEGATIONS TO GUATEMALA DURING DECEMBER. THE HRP DELEGATION INCLUDED THREE U.S. CONGRESSMEN AND NUMEROUS HILL STAFF AIDES. THE AW DELEGATION INCLUDED US FORENSIC SPECIALISTS. ALL THREE DELEGATIONS MET SENIOR GOG OFFICIALS, INCLUDING THE PRESIDENT, THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE, AND TOP LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS.

15. THE CHAIRMAN OF THE GUATEMALAN CONGRESSIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE AND HIS COUNTERPART ON THE DEFENSE COMMITTEE CALLED FOR THE REAPPOINTMENT OF A UN RAPPORTEUR ON HUMAN RIGHTS FOR GUATEMALA. BOTH SAID THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION HERE MERITS SUCH A STEP BY THE UN COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS (UNHRC) AT ITS NEXT SESSION AND THAT THE PRESENT ARRANGEMENT WHEREBY THE UNHRC PROVIDES AN "EXPERT" UNDER "ADVISORY SERVICES" IS INADEQUATE. BOTH INTEND TO SPONSOR A CONGRESSIONAL RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A RAPPORTEUR.

1. HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES WERE VERY MUCH IN THE PUBLIC EYE IN DECEMBER. THE MONTH OPENED WITH THE MASSACRE OF 14 INDIGENOUS DEMONSTRATORS BY SOLDIERS NEAR SANTIAGO DE ATITLAN (SOLOLA). THIS MASS KILLING PROVOKED AN UNPRECEDENTED STORM OF CRITICISM OF THE MILITARY FROM ALL SECTORS OF GUATEMALAN SOCIETY. BOTH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES CONDEMNED THE KILLINGS AS DID THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE GUATEMALAN CONGRESS, WHICH UNANIMOUSLY CALLED UPON THE GOG TO PROVIDE COMPENSATION TO THE FAMILIES OF THE SANTIAGO VICTIMS. THE ARMY HAS ARRESTED A LIEUTENANT AND A SERGEANT FOR SPARKING THE INCIDENT THAT LED TO THE TRAGEDY. IN RESPONSE TO LOCAL RESIDENTS' PLEAS, A CALL FROM CONGRESS, AND, MOST IMPORTANT, AN ORDER FROM PRESIDENT CEREZO, THE ARMY CLOSED ITS BASE NEAR SANTIAGO. IN A LAST MINUTE SESSION, CONGRESS RATIFIED THE 1989 AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE MFA AND THE ICRC, GRANTING THE INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS THE RIGHT TO OPERATE OPENLY IN GUATEMALA, A DEFEAT FOR HARDLINERS WHO OPPOSE AN ICRC PRESENCE.

2. HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO WAS VERY ACTIVE. HE ISSUED A REPORT LABELING THE SANTIAGO MASSACRE AS "GENOCIDE." HIS OFFICE SPONSORED A "HUMAN RIGHTS FORUM" FEATURING THE TWO PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES, JORGE CARPIO OF THE UCN AND JORGE SERRANO OF THE MAS. HE ISSUED FIGURES FOR 1990 ON POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES AND CONDEMNED THE GUERRILLAS FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. THE GUERRILLAS' DECEMBER 17 DESTRUCTION OF THE "MOCA" BRIDGE KILLED AN INNOCENT PASSER-BY AND WOUNDED ANOTHER. THE GUERRILLAS CLAIM DOWNING BRIDGES AND POWER LINES IS A LEGITIMATE MILITARY TACTIC AS IT MAKES THE ARMY SPREAD ITSELF THIN.

3. THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN GOT PERSONAL AND NASTY. UCN CANDIDATE CARPIO CONTINUED TO HAMMER AWAY ON THE RELIGIOUS ISSUE, ASKING CATHOLICS TO REJECT HIS PROTESTANT RIVAL. HE ACCUSED SERRANO OF BEING PERSONALLY CORRUPT, INDEBTED, AND IN LEAGUE WITH THE GOVERNING CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC (DCG) PARTY. THE SERRANO CAMPAIGN REJECTED THE CHARGES, ACCUSED THE UCN OF RECEIVING DRUG MONEY AND VOWED TO SUE FOR SLANDER. AS THE MONTH ENDED, POLLS SHOWED SERRANO WITH A HUGE LEAD.

4. THE UNITED STATES ANNOUNCED THE SUSPENSION OF

MILITARY ASSISTANCE (FMF) TO THE GUATEMALAN ARMY. A STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE EMBASSY AND THE DEPARTMENT EXPLAINED THE SUSPENSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS GROUNDS, IN PARTICULAR ON THE LACK OF PROGRESS MADE IN INVESTIGATING THE JUNE 8 MURDER OF AMCIT BUSINESSMAN MICHAEL DEVINE. THERE IS EVIDENCE OF MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN THE KILLING. END INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

5. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN ESTIMATED THAT GUATEMALA EXPERIENCED 304 POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS DURING 1990. THE OMBUDSMAN ATTRIBUTED MOST OF THE KILLINGS TO THE SECURITY FORCES, INCLUDING CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS; MOST TOOK PLACE IN RURAL AREAS AND INVOLVED INDIGENOUS PERSONS SUSPECTED OF INVOLVEMENT IN SOME MANNER WITH GUERRILLA MOVEMENTS. THESE FIGURES DO NOT INCLUDE THE APPARENTLY LARGE NUMBER OF VIGILANTE-STYLE KILLINGS OF SUSPECTED CRIMINALS WHICH OCCUR ON A REGULAR BASIS. THE OMBUDSMAN CONDEMNED THE

After more than 16 years of military rule, on March 11, 1990, with the inauguration of President Patricio Aylwin, Chile returned to democratic, civilian government. The Chilean armed forces, particularly the Air Force and the Carabineros (Chile's national police force), have been supportive of the new democratic government. Chile has implemented U.N. sanctions against Iraq, including a complete halt to sales of defense equipment to Iraq.

Human rights violations committed under the Pinochet regime, including the murder of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt in Washington in 1976, led to passage of the Kennedy-Harkin amendment which imposed a ban on all arms sales and other security assistance to Chile. These constraints meant that an entire generation of Chilean military officers had no exposure either to U.S. military training and doctrine or to the respect for democracy, human rights and civilian government that characterizes the U.S. armed forces.

Under the Aylwin Government enough progress had been made in the Letelier case to permit lifting the Kennedy-Harkin sanctions in December 1990. This means that cooperative military-to-military programs can be reestablished to help build Chilean armed forces support for democracy and demonstrate our commitment to work with freely elected governments. Such programs will increase the likelihood that the Chilean military will support our objectives in Latin America, including narcotics interdiction, and regional defense and cooperation.

Objectives

- Demonstrate U.S. support for the civilian government, still less than a year old.
- Help shape Chilean threat analysis and military structure decisions to reflect national and regional political and economic realities.
- Strengthen the development of the Chilean military as a professional, apolitical institution, subordinate to and supportive of democratically elected, civilian governments.
- Increase the marketability of U.S. military equipment to the Chilean armed forces.

UNCLASSIFIED

Status

U.S. security assistance to Chile was terminated in 1974. Further restrictions on sales of military equipment and services to Chile were imposed in 1976 and 1981, but were modified in 1990. Under President Aylwin, Chilean government cooperation to resolve the Letelier case has been sufficient to allow the Secretary of State to announce on December 1, 1990, certification of Chile under Section 726(b) of the 1981 International Security Cooperation and Development Act. This makes Chile eligible for renewed defense cooperation and sales.

FY 1992 Request

The proposed FY-92 FMF program would provide funding now that power has been transferred to a democratically elected, civilian government. The funds would be used for the maintenance of existing, aging U.S.-origin military equipment. IMET would provide professional military education, management and technical training. Emphasis would be on command and staff courses for Army, Air Force, and Navy. Mobile training teams would be programmed for in-country naval training and Air Force technical assistance for their fighter and transport aircraft.

1. AS PER OUR PHONE CONVERSATION OF THE 11TH, I AM SENDING OUR SUGGESTED REWRITE OF THE 1990 GUATEMALA HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT. I URGE THE DEPARTMENT TO STICK CLOSELY TO THE FOLLOWING VERSION. THANKS FOR YOUR KIND ATTENTION TO THIS MATTER.
BEGIN TEXT

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR ELECTION BY UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE OF A ONE-TERM PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL CONGRESS--INCREASED IN 1990 FROM 100 TO 116 MEMBERS--AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS; IT MANDATES AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY AND A HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, RESPONSIBLE TO CONGRESS. (INSERT: THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES A LENGTHY LIST OF RIGHTS. JORGE SERRANO ELIAS OF THE SOLIDARITY ACTION MOVEMENT (MAS) PARTY WON THE SECOND ROUND OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS ON JANUARY 6, WITH 68 PERCENT OF THE VOTE, AND WAS SWORN IN JANUARY 14, 1991. THE ELECTIONS WERE MONITORED BY SEVERAL HUNDRED INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS AND JOURNALISTS AND WERE FOUND TO BE FREE, FAIR, AND GENUINE.)

THE MILITARY HAS THE PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITY FOR NATIONAL SECURITY AND HAS BEEN FIGHTING AN ENTRENCHED LEFTIST INSURGENCY FOR ALMOST 30 YEARS. THE 43,000-MAN ARMY INCLUDES A 3,000-MAN MOBILE MILITARY POLICE THAT GUARDS KEY FACILITIES AND TAKES PART IN ANTI-CRIME OPERATIONS. THE NATIONAL POLICE (12,000 MEN) AND THE TREASURY POLICE (2,000) REPORT TO THE INTERIOR MINISTER. (DELETE: THESE SECURITY AND POLICE FORCES ARE NOT UNDER EFFECTIVE CIVILIAN CONTROL AND HAVE COMMITTED SERIOUS AND WIDESPREAD HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. NOTE: WE SAY THIS LATER) ABOUT 500,000 MEN IN CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEES (CVDC) CARRY OUT COUNTERINSURGENCY AND LAW-AND-ORDER TASKS; ALTHOUGH SERVICE IN THE CVDC IS SUPPOSED TO BE VOLUNTARY, (DELETE: IT SOMETIMES IS COERCED) (INSERT: BUT IN CONFLICTIVE ZONES OFTEN IS NOT. NOTE: THAT IS MORE ACCURATE)

(INSERT: HOBBLED BY A WEAK JUSTICE SYSTEM AND A LACK OF WILL, AUTHORITIES DID NOT STEM GROWING VIOLENCE. DESPITE NOTABLE IMPROVEMENT OVER THE PERFORMANCE OF PAST YEARS, RELIABLE EVIDENCE INDICATES SECURITY FORCES STILL COMMITTED, WITH ALMOST TOTAL IMPUNITY, A MAJORITY OF THE MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. MOST VICTIMS WERE RURAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUSPECTED OF INVOLVEMENT WITH GUERRILLA MOVEMENTS. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WHICH REPORTS TO THE GUATEMALAN CONGRESS, REPEATEDLY DENOUNCED THE LACK OF POLITICAL WILL ON THE PART OF THE GOVERNMENT TO PROTECT HUMAN RIGHTS.

SECURITY AND POLICE FORCES AND CIVIL PATROLS CONTINUED TO COMMIT, WITH ALMOST TOTAL IMPUNITY, A MAJORITY OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. THESE FORCES WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR WIDESPREAD EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, TORTURE, AND DISAPPEARANCES OF PROMINENT POLITICIANS (NOTE: THERE IS NO EVIDENCE SECURITY FORCES HAVE ATTACKED POLITICIANS. VIOLENCE, WHICH INCLUDED MURDER OF SOLDIERS AND POLICEMEN, ROBBERY, ECONOMIC SABOTAGE, INDISCRIMINATE USE OF LAND MINES, KIDNAPING, FORCED LABOR AND RECRUITMENT, AND THE USE OF CHILDREN IN COMBAT. IN MAY TALKS IN MADRID BETWEEN (INSERT: THE POLITICAL LEADERSHIP OF THE) GUERRILLAS AND (INSERT: GUATEMALAN) POLITICAL PARTY REPRESENTATIVES, THE GUERRILLAS PROMISED TO HALT ATTACKS ON ECONOMIC AND CIVILIAN TARGETS AND NOT TO ENGAGE IN ACTIONS WHICH COULD DISRUPT THE NOVEMBER (INSERT: AND JANUARY) ELECTIONS. THESE PROMISES WERE BROKEN (DELETE: IN SEPTEMBER) WHEN ATTACKS ON (INSERT: THE) ECONOMIC INFRASTRUCTURE (INSERT: CONTINUED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, INCLUDING DURING THE ELECTIONS.

THERE WERE GUERRILLA ATTEMPTS TO DISCOURAGE VOTERS FROM CASTING THEIR BALLOTS; THESE EFFORTS INCLUDED ROADBLOCKS, DESTRUCTION OF BRIDGES AND POWER LINES, AND PROPAGANDA EFFORTS TO DISCREDIT THE VALIDITY OF THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. GUERRILLAS, IN AUGUST, ALSO ATTACKED AND DESTROYED A MEDICAL COMPOUND OPERATED BY AN AMERICAN FAMILY IN THE PETEN AND THREATENED MEMBERS OF THAT FAMILY WITH DEATH. THERE CONTINUED TO BE EVIDENCE OF GUERRILLA INVOLVEMENT IN THE PRODUCTION AND TRAFFICKING OF OPIUM.)

THE GUATEMALAN ECONOMY IS HEAVILY DEPENDENT ON AGRICULTURE; THE MAJOR SOURCE OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE EARNINGS IS COFFEE. DUE PRIMARILY TO A WEAK MONETARY POLICY, INFLATION ACCELERATED SHARPLY, EXACERBATING ALREADY LOW LIVING STANDARDS. (DELETE: THE GOVERNMENT IMPLEMENTED AN ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM IN OCTOBER AND REAL ECONOMIC GROWTH WAS EXPECTED TO BEGIN TOWARD THE END OF 1990.)

THERE WAS NO RESOLUTION OF PAST CASES IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES HAS EXPRESSED STRONG AND CONTINUING INTEREST, SUCH AS THE 1985 DISAPPEARANCES OF AMERICAN CITIZENS BLAKE AND DAVIS, THE 1988 EL AQUACATE MASSACRE, THE 1989 DISAPPEARANCES OF 11 STUDENTS OF SAN CARLOS UNIVERSITY, 6 OF WHOM WERE FOUND MURDERED. (DELETE: AND THE 1989 CASE OF AMERICAN CITIZEN NUN DIANA ORTIZ) (INSERT: THE 1989 KNIFE ATTACK ON PEACE BRIGADE MEMBERS, THE 1990 MURDERS OF HECTOR OQUELI AND ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG.) CITING INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE, A COURT REVERSED THE 1988 CONVICTION OF SIX POLICEMEN FOR

THE 1987 MURDERS OF TWO MEN IN QUETZALTENANGO -- THE ONLY CASE IN WHICH MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY (DELETE: OR POLICE) FORCES HAD (DELETE: EVER) BEEN CONVICTED FOR A MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATION. (INSERT: THE GOVERNMENT APPEALED THE RULING.)

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

SECTION 1 RESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE PERSON, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM:
A. POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING

PRESS REPORTS AND OTHER CREDIBLE INFORMATION SHOWED THAT THE MURDER RATE IN 1990 WAS AT LEAST THREE TIMES HIGHER THAN THE OFFICIAL RATE OF 2,000 HOMICIDES NATIONWIDE. WHILE MOST KILLINGS RESULTED FROM PERSONAL VENDETTAS AND CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES, A (DELETE: INCREASING NOTE: WE DON'T KNOW IF POLITICAL KILLINGS ARE INCREASING; NO RELIABLE FIGURES FROM PREVIOUS YEARS) NUMBER WERE POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CALCULATED THERE WERE 384 POLITICALLY-MOTIVATED MURDERS IN 1990, AND THAT MOST OF THE VICTIMS WERE KILLED BY THE MILITARY OR PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH OR PROTECTED BY THE ARMY, SUCH AS CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS. (DELETE: MANY (INSERT: MOST) OF THESE KILLINGS TOOK PLACE IN AREAS OF MILITARY-GUERRILLA CONFLICT. (DELETE: WHERE THE MILITARY IS OFTEN RELUCTANT TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN GUERRILLAS AND NON-COMBATANTS SUCH AS CIVILIAN ACTIVISTS. NOTE: THIS IS NOT THE PROBLEM; THE ARMY WON'T ALLOW THE ARREST AND TRIAL OF PERSONS SUSPECTED OF BACKING GUERRILLAS. NO PROOF THEY GO AFTER THEM JUST BECAUSE THEY ARE ACTIVISTS.)

A (DELETE: NUMBER) (INSERT: FEW OR SOME) (DELETE: PROMINENT; NOTE: NO PROMINENT POLITICIANS WERE KILLED IN 1990) POLITICIANS WERE KILLED AND MANY (INSERT: REPORTED RECEIVING) (DELETE: RECEIVED) DEATH THREATS IN THE MONTHS LEADING UP TO THE (DELETE: NOVEMBER) ELECTIONS. ON JULY 25 CENTRIST CONGRESSMAN OTTO ROLANDO MUANO AND HIS DRIVER WERE KILLED 55 MILES FROM GUATEMALA CITY. CANDIDATE, SOLOMON BLANCO. MORE VIOLENCE FOLLOWED IN SAN PEDRO ACOPILAS INCLUDING THE VIOLENT DEATH IN SEPTEMBER OF CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT ACTIVIST SEBASTIAN MORALES. IN AUGUST, THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT MAYOR OF COYOTENANGO, SUCHITEPEQUEZ, ROBERTO VALLEJOS, WAS SHOT NEAR HIS HOME; HE SURVIVED. THE IDENTITY AND MOTIVES OF THE KILLERS REMAINED UNKNOWN AT YEAR'S END.

IN JANUARY ARMED MEN SEIZED SALVADORAN LEFTIST HECTOR OQUELI AND GUATEMALAN ATTORNEY GILDA FLORES IN THE CAPITAL. THEIR BODIES WERE FOUND HOURS LATER NEAR THE SALVADORAN BORDER. THE CRIME LED TO STRONG LOCAL, U.S. GOVERNMENT, AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL DEMANDS FOR A

COMPLETE INVESTIGATION. THE GOVERNMENT CONDEMNED THE KILLINGS, BUT DID LITTLE TO CONDUCT A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION. A REPORT ISSUED IN JUNE CONCLUDED, WITH SCANT SUBSTANTIATION, THAT (INSERT: FRIENDS OF OQUELI AND) SALVADORANS WERE RESPONSIBLE. THERE WERE NO ARRESTS. (DELETE: AND NO FURTHER ACTION IN THE CASE AS OF YEAR'S END.)

THE MILITARY AND CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEES, OR CIVIL PATROLS, FREQUENTLY THREATENED AND SOMETIMES KILLED HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS (INSERT: SUSPECTED OF INVOLVEMENT WITH THE GUERRILLAS). THE ROHOJEL JUNAM COUNCIL OF ETHNIC COMMUNITIES (CERJ) IS A RURAL-BASED HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION DEDICATED MAINLY TO OPPOSING (DELETE: ILLEGAL) OBLIGATORY SERVICE IN (DELETE: THE FREQUENTMO483 -4.6
OFFICER PROMISED THE SUSPECTS QUICK FREEDOM IF THEY AGREED TO BE ARRESTED AND BROUGHT BEFORE A JUDGE. ARRESTED IN MAY, BOTH MEN WENT FREE IN JUNE FOR "LACK OF EVIDENCE." ON APRIL 18 MASKED GUNMEN KILLED CERJ ACTIVIST JOSE VICENTE GARCIA IN FRONT OF HIS FAMILY; HE PREVIOUSLY REPORTED TO AUTHORITIES THAT HE HAD RECEIVED DEATH THREATS. RELIABLE INFORMATION INDICATES THAT THE KILLERS, ALTHOUGH NOT OF THE MILITARY, WERE SHIELDED BY ARMY OFFICERS.

(INSERT: ON MARCH 17, NINE PEOPLE WERE SEIZED NEAR MALACATAN (SAN MARCOS) BY ARMED MEN. THE BODIES OF FIVE LATER APPEARED: TEODORO MEJIA, ARCADIO MEJIA, EFRAIN VENTURA, LUIS VENTURA, AND JOAQUIN ORTEGA. A SURVIVOR, A CHILD, WAS ALSO FOUND. WHILE INFORMATION WAS INCONCLUSIVE, LOCAL OBSERVERS BLAMED THE ARMY. SAN MARCOS IS A VERY CONFLICTIVE REGION IN WHICH GUERRILLA ACTIVITY (THAT SAME DAY GUERRILLAS KILLED A SAN MARCOS POLICE CHIEF), DRUG TRAFFICKING, AND ARMY OPERATIONS ARE COMMON. NOTE: THIS CASE WAS DELETED. WE GET CONGRESSIONALS ON IT. PUT BACK IN THE REPORT.)

ON SEPTEMBER 11 MIRNA ELIZABETH MACK CHANG, A GUATEMALAN

ACADEMIC RESEARCHING ISSUES AFFECTING DISPLACED PERSONS IN THE HIGHLANDS, WAS STABBED OR CUT 17 TIMES AND KILLED NEAR HER OFFICE IN GUATEMALA CITY. THE MUTUAL SUPPORT GROUP (GAM) AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS AND UNIVERSITY GROUPS DENOUNCED THE KILLING AS POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. ALTHOUGH INITIAL INDICATIONS WERE THAT THE KILLING WAS A ROBBERY (THE KILLERS TOOK HER PURSE AND CREDIT CARDS), GIVEN HER RESEARCH WORK ON DISPLACED PERSONS, OTHER MOTIVES CANNOT BE RULED OUT.

(INSERT: IN OCTOBER, THE CERJ REPORTED THAT AN ACTIVIST, SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, WAS KIDNAPPED, IN THE PRESENCE OF WITNESSES, AND SUBSEQUENTLY MURDERED. THE FOLLOWING MONTH, THE NATIONAL POLICE ISSUED A RELEASE THAT CLAIMED VELASQUEZ HAD NOT BEEN KIDNAPPED AND HAD, IN FACT, DIED OF AN ALCOHOL OVERDOSE IN THE CAPITAL. NO RELIABLE AUTOPSY WAS PERFORMED ON THE VICTIM AND HIS CAUSE OF DEATH REMAINED UNDETERMINED AT YEAR'S END. A FOREIGN FORENSIC TEAM, HOWEVER, WAS ABLE TO OBTAIN PERMISSION TO HAVE HIS BODY EXHUMED FOR THE PURPOSES OF

THE CERJ REPORTED THE DEATHS OF OTHER ACTIVISTS DURING THAT MONTH (NOTE SEE OUR OCTOBER SUMMARY FOR THE NAMES)) NOTE: ALSO CHECK THE NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER SUMMARIES FOR OTHER CASES, SUCH AS DIEGO IC SUT OF THE GAM OR WHICH WE GET LETTERS; THESE ARE CASES WHICH THE HILL AND OTHERS GET WORKED UP ABOUT--JUSTIFIABLY SO--AND WE MUST SHOW, GIVEN THE INTEREST IN GUATEMALA, THAT WE KNOW WHAT IS GOING ON--EVEN IF THAT MAKES THE REPORT A LITTLE LONG.)

GUERRILLA INSURGENTS KILLED CIVILIANS, OFF-DUTY SOLDIERS AND POLICEMEN. IN JULY GUERRILLAS IN SAN RAFAEL PETZAL, HUEHUETENANGO, SHOT AND KILLED TWO UNARMED MEN AND WOUNDED EIGHT OTHERS PARTICIPATING IN A CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL. MANY POLICEMEN IN RURAL AREAS WERE KILLED DURING 1990 IN WAYS STRONGLY SUGGESTING GUERRILLA INVOLVEMENT. (INSERT: IN NOVEMBER, PERSONS SUSPECTED OF BEING ORPA GUERRILLAS KIDNAPPED, TORTURED, AND MURDERED TWO BROTHERS, CRISTOBAL AND DAMIAN ORON CUC, NEAR SANTA MARIA DE JESUS (SACATEPEQUEZ). THE BROTHERS BELONGED TO A LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL.)

THE (DELETE: POLICE) (INSERT: SECURITY FORCES) WERE PROBABLY INVOLVED IN MANY VIGILANTE KILLINGS OF CRIMINALS OR CRIMINAL SUSPECTS. THE MEDIA REPORTED FREQUENT DISCOVERIES OF BODIES IN OR NEAR MAJOR CITIES, PARTICULARLY THE CAPITAL, OFTEN WITH SIGNS OF TORTURE OR POST-MORTEM MULTILATION. THE CRIMINAL BACKGROUNDS OF MANY OF THESE VICTIMS SUGGESTS THAT THE KILLERS HAD ACCESS TO POLICE, COURT, AND PRISON DATA.

SECURITY FORCES WERE ALSO INVOLVED IN THE KILLINGS OF OTHER CIVILIANS. IN JUNE LONG-TIME RESIDENT U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE WAS ABDUCTED, BRUTALLY TORTURED, AND EXECUTED NEAR HIS HOME IN PETEN DEPARTMENT. (DELETE: AT FIRST THE ARMY TRIED TO COVER UP THE CRIME, BUT) SUBSEQUENT INFORMATION SHOWED THAT ARMY PERSONNEL PARTICIPATED IN THE KILLING. IN SEPTEMBER PRESIDENT CEREZO PUBLICLY ACKNOWLEDGED THE POSSIBILITY OF SECURITY FORCE INVOLVEMENT AND PROMISED A FULL INVESTIGATION. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN ALSO INDICATED HE HAD INFORMATION SHOWING POSSIBLE MILITARY INVOLVEMENT. IN SEPTEMBER, THE COURT IN FLORES, PETEN, ISSUED ARREST

WARRANTS FOR SEVERAL PERSONS, INCLUDING FIVE SOLDIERS, FOR SUSPICION OF INVOLVEMENT IN THE MURDER OF MR. DEVINE. LATE THAT MONTH, THE ARMY ANNOUNCED THE ARREST OF (DELETE: SEVERAL) (INSERT: FIVE) SOLDIERS FOR THE CRIME. (INSERT: THE PETEN MILITARY ZONE COMMANDER WAS REMOVED.) (DELETE: HOWEVER, BY THE END OF THE YEAR, THE GOVERNMENT AND THE MILITARY WERE STALLING THE INVESTIGATION.) (INSERT: IN DECEMBER, THE UNITED STATES SUSPENDED MILITARY ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA BECAUSE OF THE LACK OF PROGRESS ON THIS CASE AND THE GOVERNMENT'S LACK OF WILL TO PURSUE IT ENERGETICALLY.)

IN 1990 THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT POLICEMEN (INSERT: AND PRIVATE SECURITY GUARDS) TORTURED AND EVEN KILLED STREET CHILDREN. AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL (AI) ISSUED A REPORT IN JULY DETAILING THESE ABUSES, AND REPORTED THREATS AGAINST WITNESSES AND PERSONS WORKING WITH THE STREET CHILDREN. FOUR POLICEMEN WERE ARRESTED FOR THE MURDER OF 13-YEAR-OLD NAHAMAN CARMONA LOPEZ, WHO WAS KICKED TO DEATH; AS THE YEAR ENDED, THE FOUR POLICEMEN WERE ON TRIAL. POLICE (DELETE: CLAIM TO BE) (INSERT: WERE NOTE: WE HAVE REPORTED ON THE (INVESTIGATIONS) INVESTIGATING SEVERAL REPORTS OF TORTUE OF STREET CHILDREN, (INCLUDING AN INCIDENT IN WHICH EIGHT HOMELESS TEENAGERS WERE KIDNAPED AND BRUTALIZED BEFORE BEING SHOT IN THE HEAD. (INSERT: THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE, HOWEVER, THAT KILLING OR ABUSING STREET CHILDREN WAS SYSTEMATIC OR AN OFFICIALLY SANCTIONED POLICY EITHER OF THE POLICE OR THE GOVERNMENT.)

THE SECURITY FORCES (DELETE: AND POLICE FORCES) ARE

VIRTUALLY UNACCOUNTABLE (DELETE: TO CIVILIAN AUTHORITIES) FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. (INSERT: WHILE MANY MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES WERE ARRESTED, TRIED, AND CONVICTED FOR A RANGE OF CRIMES, INCLUDING MURDER,) WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO (INVESTIGATE, DETAIN, AND PROSECUTE THOSE PERPETRATORS OF EXTRAJUDICIAL AND (DELETE: OTHER) (INSERT: POLITICALLY MOTIVATED) KILLINGS WHO WERE CONNECTED WITH THE (DELETE: MILITARY AND POLICE) (INSERT: SECURITY) FORCES. OFFICERS, FROM ENGAGING IN EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THESE (DELETE: EGREGIOUS) ABUSES CONTINUED DESPITE ATTEMPTS BY FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS, SOME SENIOR GUATEMALAN MILITARY OFFICERS, THE OMBUDSMAN, AND THE NEW POLICE DIRECTOR TO CHANGE POOR HUMAN RIGHTS ATTITUDES AND PRACTICES WITHIN THE SECURITY FORCES. (DELETE:ONE EFFORT INCLUDED THE FIRING OF LARGE NUMBERS OF CORRUPT AND ABUSIVE POLICEMEN.) (INSERT: IN OCTOBER, THE POLICE DIRECTOR FIRED APPROXIMATELY 500 POLICEMEN FOR A VARIETY OF ABUSES, INCLUDING CORRUPTION.)

THE ONLY CASE ON RECORD IN WHICH MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES (DELETE:OR THE POLICE)WERE CONVICTED FOR SERIOUS

HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES WAS REVERSED IN AUGUST WHEN AN APPEALS COURT FOUND "INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE" TO UPHOLD THE 1988 CONVICTIONS OF 6 POLICEMEN FOR THE 1986 ABDUCTIONS AND MURDERS OF TWO UNIVERSITY-AFFILIATED AGRONOMISTS, RENE LEIVA CAYAX AND DANILO ALVARADO MEJIA. THE GOVERNMENT APPEALED THE DECISION AND THE DIRECTOR OF POLICE SAID HE WOULD NOT ACCEPT THE MEN BACK INTO THE POLICE FORCE; (INSERT: AS 1990 ENDED, THE COURT HAD NOT RULED ON THE APPEAL.)

B.
DISAPPEARANCE

THERE WERE NO CERTAIN FIGURES FOR 1990 ON THE NUMBER OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS (DELETE: BUT THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CONCLUDED THAT DISAPPEARANCES INCREASED.) ACCORDING TO A GOVERNMENT REPORT RELEASED EARLY IN 1990, AUTHORITIES KNEW OF 2,568 DISAPPEARANCES FROM ALL CAUSES DURING THE YEAR ENDING JANUARY 1990. THE REPORT STATED THAT THE POLICE RESOLVED 1,743 OF THOSE: 1,537 PEOPLE WERE FOUND SAFE, 35 WERE IN HOSPITALS, AND 191 WERE DEAD. OF THE REMAINING 825, POLICE CLAIMED THAT 198 CONSISTED OF FALSE REPORTS AND 205 WERE PERSONS WHO HAD REAPPEARED BUT HAD NOT BEEN REPORTED AS SUCH. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CALCULATED THAT GUATEMALA SUFFERED SOME 233 POLITICALLY MOTIVATED DISAPPEARANCES DURING 1990. THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO SOLVE ANY OF (DELETE: THE, INSERT: THESE) DISAPPEARANCES; THE OMBUDSMAN CONCLUDED SECURITY FORCES WERE RESPONSIBILE FOR THE MAJORITY OF THESE CASES. THE

OMBUDSMAN'S (DELETE:GENERAL) FIGURES AND CONCLUSIONS ARE CREDIBLE.

IN FEBRUARY, TWO DISAPPEARANCES IN THE CAPITAL DREW MUCH FOREIGN AND LOCAL ATTENTION, PROMPTING A RESOLUTION BY GUATEMALA'S CONGRESS CALLING FOR THE VICTIMS' RELEASE AND FOR AUTHORITIES TO PREVENT AND RESOLVE THESE SORTS

OF INCIDENTS. BOTH CASES ENDED, FORTUNATELY, IN RELEASE OF THE VICTIMS. ON FEBRUARY 6, SAN CARLOS UNIVERSITY LAW STUDENT ARMANDO OSCAR PIEDRASANTA WAS TAKEN BY ARMED MEN, BEATEN, AND ABANDONED ALONG A HIGHWAY EARLY THE FOLLOWING DAY. THE AUTHORS AND MOTIVES WERE UNKNOWN; THE ASSUMPTION WAS PIEDRASANTA WAS SUSPECTED OF "SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES." HE REPORTEDLY LEFT GUATEMALA. ON FEBRUARY 18, DR. CARMEN ANGELICA VALENZUELA ARGUETA, A PEDIATRICIAN, WAS ABDUCTED FROM HER CAR IN BROAD DAYLIGHT IN THE CAPITAL BY ARMED MEN (DELETE: IN A FOUR-WHEEL DRIVE VEHICLE WITH TINTED WINDOWS) THE KIDNAPING LED TO A STRONG PUBLIC DEMAND FOR HER RELEASE. (INSERT: INCLUDING THE HIGHLY PUBLICIZED INVOLVMENT OF THE U.S. EMBASSY). SHE WAS FREED FEBRUARY 18. (INSERT: SPECULATION AS TO REASONS FOR VALENZUELA'S ABDUCTION RANGED FROM SUSPICION OF INVOLVEMENT WITH GUERRILLA SYMPATHIZERS TO REPORTS SHE WAS GOING TO DENOUNCE RAMPANT CORRUPTION IN THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH.)

IN APRIL, (INSERT: DESPITE A SELF-PROCLAIMED EASTER WEEK CEASEFIRE,) GUERRILLAS ABDUCTED TWO OFF-DUTY SOLDIERS IN THE PETEN. THE SOLDIERS WERE EVENTUALLY FREED. IN AUGUST MILITARY COMMISSIONER SERGIO GOMEZ WAS REPORTEDLY ABDUCTED BY SEVEN HEAVILY ARMED GUERRILLAS IN OLIVE

GREEN UNIFORMS NEAR THE CONFLICTIVE ZONE OF TAJUMULCO, SAN MARCOS, A STRONGHOLD OF THE ARMED REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATION OF THE PEOPLE (ORPA).

SECURITY FORCES (DELETE: ARE PROBABLY; REPLACE WITH: MAY BE) RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DISAPPEARANCES OF SEVERAL MEMBERS OF HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS (INSERT: SUSPECTED OF INVOLVEMENT IN SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES). LUIS MIGUEL SOLIS PAJARITO, A MEMBER OF A DISPLACED PERSONS ORGANIZATION, NATIONAL COMMISSION ON DISPLACED GUATEMALANS (CONDEG), DISAPPEARED MAY 3 IN THE CAPITAL.

FOUR CERJ MEMBERS WHO DISAPPEARED IN APRIL 1989 IN

NO PROGRESS WAS MADE IN THE INVESTIGATION OF THE REPORTED KIDNAPING ON NOVEMBER 2-3, 1989 OF U.S. CITIZEN SISTER DIANA ORTIZ. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

(INSERT: DURING 1990 THERE CONTINUED TO BE CLEAR EVIDENCE AND CREDIBLE REPORTS OF TORTURE AND OTHER MISTREATMENT LEADING TO THE DEATHS OF PERSONS DETAINED EXTRAJUDICIALLY BY MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES. THERE WERE CREDIBLE ACCOUNTS OF TORTURE AND MENTAL ABUSE

FROM PERSONS WHO ESCAPED FROM OR WERE RELEASED BY CAPTORS APPARENTLY LINKED TO THE SECURITY FORCES. MANY BODIES FOUND THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA BORE SIGNS OF TORTURE OR POST MORTEM MUTILATION. TORTURE, HOWEVER, IS NOT PRIMA FACIE EVIDENCE THAT A CRIME HAS POLITICAL MOTIVATION; CRIMINAL GANGS AND OTHERS RESOLVING PERSONAL VENDETTAS OFTEN USE TORTURE.

THERE WERE NO VERIFIED REPORTS DURING THE YEAR OF INHUMAN OR CRUEL TREATMENT OF DETAINEES IN OFFICIAL POLICE CUSTODY. THERE WERE, HOWEVER, CREDIBLE REPORTS OF THE USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE BY POLICE AT THE TIME OF ARREST AND OF ABUSIVE TREATMENT BY ARMY, CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND POLICE OF PERSONS IN RURAL AREAS. (DELETE: THERE WERE CREDIBLE ACCOUNTS OF PHYSICAL AND MENTAL ABUSE FROM PERSONS WHO ESCAPED FROM OR WERE RELEASED BY CAPTORS APPARENTLY LINKED TO THE SECURITY FORCES. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN ACKNOWLEDGED THAT CIVIL PATROLS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, SUCH AS DEATH THREATS AND POSSIBLY EVEN MURDER (SEE SECTION 1.A.). AUTHORITIES MUST PRODUCE DETAINEES ON REQUEST. INVOLUNTARY EXILE IS NOT USED.

DESPITE THESE LEGAL SAFEGUARDS, THERE ARE FREQUENT

REPORTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST OR DETENTION BY THE SECURITY FORCES. THERE WERE ALSO CREDIBLE REPORTS OF SECURITY FORCE "SAFEHOUSES" USED TO CONDUCT ILLEGAL DETENTIONS, INTERROGATIONS, AND, AT TIMES, TORTURE AND MURDER. WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS ARE IGNORED BY THOSE (DELETE: SECURITY AGENTS) CONDUCTING ILLEGAL ARRESTS.

ON AUGUST 17 THE DAILY NEWSPAPER EL GRAFICO, OWNED BY (INSERT: DEFEATED) (INSERT: NATIONAL CENTRIST UNION (UCN)) PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE JORGE CARPIO, REPORTED UCN ACTIVIST MAXIMILIANO VASQUEZ WAS ARRESTED BY A MILITARY COMMISSIONER BECAUSE OF POLITICAL ACTIVITIES. IN A LETTER THE NEXT DAY, THE ARMY SPOKESMAN DENIED THE CLAIM, STATING VASQUEZ WAS ARRESTED BY POLICE ON CRIMINAL CHARGES; A POLICE SOURCE SUPPORTED THAT VERSION. (INSERT: THE ARMY VERSION OF THE INCIDENT APPEARED CREDIBLE. ) IN SEPTEMBER CERJ CHARGED THAT 86 PERSONS FROM IN AND AROUND AMACHEL (QUICHE) HAD BEEN FORCIBLY TRANSPORTED TO AND WERE BEING ILLEGALLY HELD AT A MILITARY INSTALLATION IN NEBAJ (QUICHE). THE OMBUDSMAN AND THE UN (INSERT: APPOINTED) HUMAN RIGHTS EXPERT TRAVELED TO QUICHE TO INVESTIGATE THIS ALLEGATION. THEY WERE NOT ABLE TO CONFIRM THE ALLEGATION OF MISTREATMENT OR ILLEGAL DETENTION. IT WAS NEVER CLEAR, HOWEVER, WHETHER (INSERT: THE PERSONS) HAD MOVED THERE OF THEIR OWN FREE WILL (INSERT: AS THE ARMY CLAIMED THEY HAD). (INSERT: CERJ SUBSEQUENTLY CHARGED THAT A YOUNG WOMAN AND HER CHILD WERE FORCIBLY REMOVED FROM NEBAJ BY SOLDIERS WHO SUSPECTED HER OF INVOLVEMENT WITH THE EGP GUERRILLAS. AT YEAR'S END, THIS CASE HAD NOT BEEN RESOLVED.) (DELETE: ALL 86 PERSONS WERE LIVING NEAR NEBAJ AT YEAR'S END).

COMPRISED OF A COURT OF CONSTITUTIONALITY, A SUPREME COURT, APPEAL COURTS, AND SEVERAL COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION. MILITARY COURTS HAVE JURISDICTION ONLY OVER THE ARMY, INCLUDING MILITARY COMMISSIONERS. CIVILIAN TRIALS ARE PUBLIC; DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE PRESENT AND TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION. CONVICTIONS ARE AUTOMATICALLY REVIEWED BY AN APPEALS COURT. THERE WERE NO POLITICAL PRISONERS. HOWEVER, DESPITE SOME EFFORTS AT REFORM, IN PRACTICE THE JUDICIARY REMAINED TROUBLED, SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION (DELETE: BY THE MILITARY NOTE: THEY ARE SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION BY JUST ABOUT ANYBODY), AND SUFFERING CORRUPTION, LOW MORALE AND POOR PAY.

A U.S.-FUNDED MODEL COURT PROGRAM RUN BY HARVARD UNIVERSITY ENDED AND WAS NOT RENEWED. THOSE OPERATING THE PROGRAM EXPRESSED FRUSTRATION WITH THE LACK OF POLITICAL WILL ON THE PART OF THE CIVILIAN AUTHORITIES TO REFORM THE NATION'S COURT SYSTEM AND TO UNDERTAKE PROSECUTIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENDERS. ON THE MORE POSITIVE SIDE, THE CONGRESS BEGAN CONSIDERATION OF A RADICAL REVISION OF THE PENAL CODE DESIGNED TO MODERNIZE, SPEED UP, AND MAKE THE JUSTICE SYSTEM MORE EFFICIENT. HOWEVER, THE PROPOSED NEW CODE WOULD STILL BE BOUND BY A CONSTITUTIONAL RESTRICTION ON TRYING MILITARY PERSONNEL IN CIVILIAN COURTS, THEREBY LIMITING THE ABILITY OF THOSE COURTS TO ACT AGAINST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSERS IN UNIFORM.

CORRESPONDENCE, AND PRIVATE DOCUMENTS. WHILE THIS PROVISION WAS USUALLY RESPECTED, THERE WERE EXCEPTIONS. THE ARMY FORCEABLY RECRUITED SOLDIERS BY TAKING PERSONS OFF THE STREETS OR FROM THEIR HOMES WITHOUT A COURT ORDER. THE PRESS REPORTED, FOR EXAMPLE, THAT ON SEPTEMBER 3 MILITARY COMMISSIONERS SHOT ARMANDO MONTOYA OF EL PROGRESO, JUTIAPA, IN THE COURSE OF EFFORTS TO FORCEABLY RECRUIT HIM. (INSERT: THE CONSTITUTION DOES, HOWEVER, PROVIDE FOR UNIVERSAL MILITARY SERVICE.)

THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT SELF-DEFENSE ORGANIZATIONS BE VOLUNTARY. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, RESPONDING TO A REQUEST FROM CERJ, FOUND THAT WHILE THE

DECREE CREATING THE CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEES AND PATROLS WAS CONSTITUTIONAL, FORCED PARTICIPATION EXISTED IN VIOLATION OF BOTH THE DECREE AND THE CONSTITUTION. IN MARCH, THE CHAIRMEN OF THE CONGRESSIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE DEFENSE COMMITTEES GAVE SIMILAR TESTIMONY. IN MOST PARTS OF THE COUNTRY, SELF DEFENSE COMMITTEES AND PATROLS APPEAR TO BE LARGELY VOLUNTARY. AS IN PAST YEARS, HOWEVER, THE DEGREE OF VOLUNTARISM IN CONFLICTIVE PARTS OF QUICHE AND HUEHUETENANGO IS OPEN TO SERIOUS QUESTION; THERE ARE SCATTERED REPORTS OF FORCED PARTICIPATION IN SMALL COMMUNITIES IN SOLOLA AND BAJA VERAPAZ DEPARTMENTS. THE ARMY DENIES IT PRESSURES, THREATENS, OR PERSECUTES THOSE WHO ADVOCATE AGAINST THE COMMITTEES OR WHO REFUSE TO JOIN. THERE IS, HOWEVER, CREDIBLE EVIDENCE THAT SUCH PERSONS HAVE SUFFERED SERIOUS ABUSES, INCLUDING MURDER.

C.
USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

THE 30-YEAR ARMED INTERNAL CONFLICT CONTINUED DURING 1990. THERE WERE ACCUSATIONS OF INDISCRIMINATE USE OF AIRCRAFT AND ARTILLERY BY THE MILITARY ON CIVILIAN TARGETS. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN LOOKED INTO REPORTS OF A MAJOR AERIAL ATTACK IN (INSERT: LATE DECEMBER 1989) ON A SMALL COMMUNITY IN QUICHE; A DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN COULD FIND NO EVIDENCE OF BOMBING. GIVEN THE SMALL, TIGHTLY CONTROLLED AERIAL AND ARTILLERY ASSETS, CHARGES OF "CARPET" BOMBING, MASS ARTILLERY

BARRAGES, AND ATTACKS BY HELICOPTER GUNSHIPS GENERALLY DO NOT APPEAR TO BE CREDIBLE. THERE WAS LITTLE RELIABLE INFORMATION IN 1990 ON THE FATE OF CAPTURED GUERRILLAS. INFORMATION FROM PREVIOUS YEARS, HOWEVER, LEADS TO THE CONCLUSION THAT SUCH PERSONS OFTEN FACED TORTURE AND DEATH AT THE HANDS OF THEIR MILITARY CAPTORS. (INSERT: THERE WERE DOCUMENTED CASES, HOWEVER, OF GUERRILLAS WHO APPLIED FOR AND RECEIVED AMNESTY AND WERE WELL TREATED.)

THE YEAR BEGAN WITH INCREASED GUERRILLA MILITARY ACTIVITY, INCLUDING ATTACKS ON THE ECONOMIC INFRASTRUCTURE, PROMPTING THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN TO DENOUNCE THE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS OF THE GUERRILLAS. THERE IS RELIABLE INFORMATION THAT GUERRILLAS TARGETED POLICEMEN FOR MURDER (SEE SECTION 1.A.). IN MAY, GUERRILLAS IN HUEHUETENANGO AMBUSHED A CIVILIAN TRUCK TRANSPORTING SICK AND INJURED SOLDIERS IN CIVILIAN DRESS TO HOSPITAL; EIGHT WERE KILLED. GUERRILLAS ALSO KILLED CHILDREN AND OTHER UNARMED CIVILIANS IN ATTACKS ON ARMY PATROLS. IN AUGUST, THERE WAS A RELIABLE REPORT THAT A GUERRILLA-LAID "CLAYMORE" MINE KILLED TWO SMALL GIRLS IN QUICHE.

ON AUGUST 31, GUERRILLAS IN THE PETER OVERMAN AND DESTROYED A MEDICAL-DENTAL COMPOUND OPERATED BY A LONG-RESIDENT AMERICAN MISSIONARY FAMILY, THE STOLTZFUZ. THE COMPOUND WAS DESTROYED, MEDICAL SUPPLIES STOLEN, AND THE FAMILY HELD AT GUNPOINT AND THREATENED WITH DEATH UNLESS THEY LEFT GUATEMALA. A PRESS RELEASE FROM THE GUERRILLA-CONTROLLED NEWS AGENCY CERIGUA CLAIMED GUERRILLAS CARRIED OUT THE ATTACK IN RETALIATION

FOR THE FAMILY'S ALLEGED SUPPORT OF THE ARMY, I.E., THE MISSIONARIES HAD TREATED SERIOUSLY WOUNDED SOLDIERS. ONE OF THE AMERICANS SUFFERED FURTHER HARASSMENT IN THE CAPITAL, APPARENTLY AT THE HANDS OF GUERRILLAS.

DESPITE PROMISES (INSERT: MADE IN TALKS IN SPAIN) NOT TO CARRY OUT ACTIONS WHICH COULD INTERFERE WITH THE ELECTIONS, GUERRILLAS RESUMED ATTACKS IN SEPTEMBER AND THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF INSURGENTS' EFFORTS TO PREVENT PEOPLE FROM TAKING PART IN POLITICAL ACTIVITY. IN DECEMBER, ORPA GUERRILLAS DESTROYED THE MOCA BRIDGE IN SUCHITEPEQUEZ DEPARTMENT KILLING AN INNOCENT PASSER-BY, DR. EDWIN SALVADOR RIOS, AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDED HIS DRIVER. SECTION 2
RESPECT FOR CIVIL LIBERTIES INCLUDING:

A.
FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION, AND DURING 1990 THERE WERE NO INDICATIONS OF OFFICIALLY ORDERED OR SANCTIONED EFFORTS TO RESTRICT IT. VOCAL CRITICS OF THE GOVERNMENT, PARTICULARLY IN THIS ELECTION YEAR, HAD WIDESPREAD MEDIA ACCESS. A NEW DAILY, SIGLO XXI, COMMENCED PUBLICATION AND TOOK A LINE GENERALLY CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, AS DID THE OTHER THREE MAJOR PAPERS. PRESS RELEASES, PAID ADVERTISEMENTS, AND OTHER ANTI-GOVERNMENT PRONOUNCEMENTS BY POLITICAL PARTIES, PRIVATE SECTOR GROUPS, LABOR UNIONS, HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, AND GUERRILLA GROUPS RAN WITHOUT OFFICIAL INTERFERENCE. FOREIGN FILMS, TELEVISION PROGRAMS, BOOKS, MAGAZINES, AND NEWSPAPERS WERE (INSERT: WIDELY) AVAILABLE, LIMITED ONLY BY COST (DELETE: AND HARD CURRENCY CONCERNS. NOTE: ANYONE CAN BUY DOLLARS AT WILL)

THERE CONTINUED TO BE SELF-CENSORSHIP ON CERTAIN TOPICS. JOURNALISTS ABANDONED SOME THEMES OR WATERED DOWN CONCLUSIONS RATHER THAN TEST THE LIMITS OF TOLERANCE OF CERTAIN GROUPS, PARTICULARLY THE SECURITY FORCES. THERE WAS NO PRESS DISCUSSION, FOR EXAMPLE, OF CORRUPTION IN THE ARMY, ALTHOUGH CIVILIAN CORRUPTION WAS AN ELECTORAL ISSUE. NEVERTHELESS, THERE WAS THOROUGH COVERAGE OF CHARGES BY THE U.S. EMBASSY THAT AN ACTIVE-DUTY MILITARY ADVISOR TO PRESIDENT CEREZO WAS INVOLVED IN DRUG TRAFFICKING. THE PRESS, HOWEVER, RAN NO INDEPENDENT INVESTIGATION OF THE CASE. (INSERT: IN OCTOBER, TWO PROMINENT JOURNALISTS WERE SHOT IN THE BARRERA WAS THE OWNER OF A WIRE SERVICE SUSPECTED BY SOME IN THE SECURITY FORCES OF BEING PRO-GUERRILLA. (INSERT: IN DECEMBER, HOWEVER, THE PRESS AND BOTH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES WERE VERY CRITICAL OF THE MILITARY'S BEHAVIOR IN THE MASSACRE AT SANTIAGO ATITLAN. EDITORIAL OPINION GENERALLY SUPPORTED THE DEMANDS OF SANTIAGO RESIDENTS.

THE UNIVERSITIES WERE RELATIVELY CALM DURING 1990. THERE WAS NO REPTITION OF THE 1989 KIDNAPPING AND MURDERS OF SEVERAL STUDENTS.)

B.
FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

THE CONSTITUTION RECOGNIZES THE RIGHT OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION. PARADES, RALLIES, MARCHES, FORUMS, PUBLIC DEBATES, AND SEMINARS TOOK PLACE OPENLY AND FREELY THROUGHOUT 1990. ORGANIZATIONS REQUIRE LEGAL ASSOCIATION STATUS, A CUMBERSOME AND EXPENSIVE PROCEDURE WHICH WORKS AGAINST ORGANIZATIONS WITHOUT GOOD FUNDING OR LEGAL COUNSEL. AS THE YEAR ENDED, FOR EXAMPLE, CERJ EFFORTS TO BECOME A REGISTERED ORGANIZATION HAD STILL NOT PROSPERED AFTER 18 MONTHS. THE LACK OF LEGAL ASSOCIATION STATUS, HOWEVER, DID NOT PREVENT A LARGE NUMBER OF ASSOCIATIONS, INCLUDING CERJ AND OTHERS WITH INTERNATIONAL TIES, FROM OPERATING AND HOLDING AUTHORIZED RALLIES AND MARCHES.

FREEDOM OF RELIGION

THERE IS NO STATE RELIGION. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IS PROVIDED FOR BY THE CONSTITUTION AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. WHILE 78 PERCENT OF THE POPULACE IS NOMINALLY ROMAN CATHOLIC, MANY INDIANS MIX TRADITIONAL AND CATHOLIC BELIEFS. A LARGE NUMBER OF OTHER FAITHS

OPERATE FREELY IN GUATEMALA: OVER 25 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION ADHERES TO A VARIETY OF PROTESTANT DENOMINATIONS, MANY WITH INTERNATIONAL TIES. AS A RULE, FOREIGN PRIESTS AND MISSIONARIES WORKED WITHOUT OFFICIAL INTERFERENCE. GUATEMALA HAS SMALL MORMON, JEWISH, BAHA'I, BUDDHIST, JEHOVA'S WITNESSES, AND ISLAMIC COMMUNITIES. (INSERT: RELIGION BRIEFLY SURFACED DURING THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN, WHEN ONE CANDIDATE SOUGHT TO MAKE THE RELIGION OF HIS OPPONENT A CAMPAIGN ISSUE. THIS ATTEMPT FAILED AS POLLS SHOWED THERE WAS VIRTUALLY NO DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE VOTING BEHAVIOR OF CATHOLICS AND PROTESTANTS.)

FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT RESTRICT FOREIGN TRAVEL DURING THE YEAR; CRITICS TRAVELED ABROAD FREELY AND RETURNED. THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT REVOKE CITIZENSHIP FOR POLITICAL REASONS. MOVEMENT WITHIN GUATEMALA WAS GENERALLY UNHINDERED EXCEPT IN AREAS OF MILITARY-GUERRILLA CONFLICT. THE GUERRILLA ARMY OF THE POOR (EGP) CONTINUED TO MAINTAIN TIGHT CONTROL OVER SEVERAL VILLAGES (INSERT: KNOWN AS CPRS) IN NORTHERN QUICHE AND SEVERELY RESTRICTED THE TRAVEL OF RESIDENTS WITH THREATS OF VIOLENCE AND WIDESPREAD USE OF LAND MINES. THE ARMY ALSO RESTRICTED MOVEMENT IN SOME AREAS.

(INSERT: SMALL-SCALE) REPATRIATION OF GUATEMALAN

REFUGEES FROM MEXICO CONTINUED DURING 1990, BUT MANY OF THE ESTIMATED 45,000 REFUGEES STILL IN UN CAMPS IN MEXICO WERE AWAITING THE OUTCOME OF PROPOSED MEXICAN LEGISLATION TO CHANGE THEIR STATUS AS WELL AS THE OUTCOME OF THE ELECTIONS IN GUATEMALA. MANY HAVE ESTABLISHED ROOTS IN MEXICO OVER THE YEARS AND WILL PROBABLY NOT RETURN. THE GOVERNMENT WELCOMED THOSE WHO DID, AND EFFORTS WERE MADE TO SETTLE THEM QUICKLY. (INSERT: BY YEAR END, THE SMALL GUATEMALAN REFUGEE CAMP IN HONDURAS HAD CLOSED WITH MOST OF THE REFUGEES RETURNING TO GUATEMALA.)

RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS

TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. (DELETE: BUT ELECTED CIVILIAN GOVERNMENTS HAVE LACKED THE ABILITY TO CONTROL THE MILITARY.) THERE IS UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT; VOTING AGE IS 18. THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS. NATIONAL ELECTIONS WERE HELD

NOVEMBER 11 WITH THE PARTICIPATION OF 20 REGISTERED POLITICAL PARTIES, AND NUMEROUS PRESIDENTIAL, CONGRESSIONAL, AND MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES. A RUN-OFF ELECTION BETWEEN THE TOP TWO PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES TOOK PLACE JANUARY 6 WITH A PEACEFUL TRANSFER OF POWER TO ANOTHER CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT ON JANUARY 14. CANDIDATE DEBATES AND CONGRESSIONAL SESSIONS WERE WIDELY COVERED BY THE LOCAL MEDIA. CANDIDATES HAD ACCESS TO MEDIA AND HELD RALLIES AND OTHER PUBLIC EVENTS WITHOUT OFFICIAL HINDRANCE. (INSERT: HUNDREDS OF FOREIGN OBSERVERS AND JOURNALISTS MONITORED THE GUATEMALAN ELECTIONS AND FOUND THEM TO BE FREE, FAIR, AND GENUINE.)

(INSERT: THERE SHOULD BE SOME BRIEF MENTION OF THE DEBATE OVER RIOS MONT'S CANDIDACY CONSIDERING HOW MUCH INTERNATIONAL ATTENTION IT DREW.)

DURING THE MEETING IN MADRID IN MAY BETWEEN GUERRILLA REPRESENTATIVES AND THOSE OF THE LEGAL POLITICAL PARTIES, BOTH SIDES AGREED TO HOLD CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY (INSERT: ELECTIONS) IN 1991. (INSERT: THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY WOULD REDRAFT THE CONSTITUTION SO AS TO ALLOW GUERRILLAS TO PARTICIPATE IN THE POLITICAL PROCESS).

(INSERT: SOME HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, SUCH AS GAM, CONAVIGUA, AND POSSIBLY CERJ, SHOWED A WILLINGNESS TO ENGAGE IN CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE AND ILLEGAL AND EVEN VIOLENT ACTIONS. IN MAY, THE GAM, PROTESTING THE DISAPPEARANCE OF SOLIS PAJARITO, ILLEGALLY OCCUPIED FOR SEVERAL DAYS THE OFFICES OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE

OF THE RED CROSS (ICRC). GAM ALSO THREATENED TO OCCUPY THE OFFICES OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN BUT WAS DISSUADED BY A WARNING FROM THE OMBUDSMAN THAT WE WOULD NOT TOLERATE ILLEGAL ACTIVITIES ON THE OFFICE'S PROPERTY. GAM WAS ALSO INVOLVED IN THE OCCUPATION OF THE CAVISA BOTTLING PLANT (SEE SEC 6). BRIGADAS DE GAM PERSONNEL EXCHANGED ROCKS WITH CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL

MEMBERS IN A VILLAGE NEAR CHICHICASTENANGO (QUICHE). GAM SOUGHT TO MARCH IN PROTEST OVER ALLEGEDLY OBLIGATORY PATROL MEMBERSHIP. THE MARCH TURNED VIOLENT WHEN, ACCORDING TO GAM AND OTHER WITNESSES, PATROL MEMBERS BEGAN PELTING THE MARCHERS WITH ROCKS; OTHER EYEWITNESS ACCOUNTS, HOWEVER, HAVE THE FIRST ROCKS THROWN BY MARCHERS. GAM AND CONAVIGUA ORGANIZED A DEMONSTRATION IN JUNE IN PACOC (QUICHE) WHICH TURNED VIOLENT WHEN, ACCORDING TO A RELIABLE EYEWITNESS, THE DEMONSTRATORS PELTED TWO LOCAL POLICEMEN WITH ROCKS. SOME DEMONSTRATORS LATER CLAIMED THERE HAD BEEN AN ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP THEM--THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE OF SUCH AN ATTEMPT. PERSONS CLAIMING TO BELONG TO CERJ AND BOASTING OF THE PROTECTION AFFORDED THEM BY THEIR INTERNATIONAL TIES WERE RELIABLY REPORTED BY AN EYEWITNESS TO HAVE ENGAGED IN PUBLIC THREATS AGAINST OFFICIALS IN ZACUALPA (QUICHE).)

(DELETE: VIOLENCE AGAINST LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS, PARTICULARLY CERJ MEMBERS, INCREASED DURING 1990. ACTIVISTS WERE FREQUENTLY THE TARGET OF HARASSMENT AND THREATS, AND SOMETIMES DISAPPEARANCE AND DEATH, USUALLY AT THE HANDS OF THE SECURITY FORCES OR THEIR HENCHMEN (SEE SECTIONS 1.A., B. AND C. END DELETE NOTE: THIS HAS ALREADY BEEN SAID OVER AND OVER).

(INSERT: MANY LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS REMAINED HIGHLY POLITICIZED. THE PRESIDENT'S ADVISORY COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, ENGAGED IN LITTLE ACTIVITY AND SEEMED MORE INTERESTED IN EFFORTS TO DEFEND THE OFFICIAL RECORD AT THE UN THAN IN CARRYING OUT WORK IN GUATEMALA. LOCAL NONGOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, SUCH AS GAM, CONAVIGUA, CIEPRODH, CERJ, WERE GENERALLY NOT GOOD SOURCES OF OBJECTIVE INFORMATION AND DID NOT HAVE A GREAT DEAL OF CREDIBILITY IN GUATEMALA.)

THE CONSTITUTIONALLY CREATED HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN OFFICE INCREASED ITS ACTIVITIES DURING THE YEAR UNDER ITS NEW HEAD, RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO. THE OFFICE ESTABLISHED AN INVESTIGATIONS UNIT AND UNDERTOOK ENERGETIC EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGNS AMONG THE PUBLIC AND THE SECURITY FORCES. THE OFFICE ISSUED STRONG STATEMENTS CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT AND THE SECURITY FORCES AND REPORTED THAT IT HAD INFORMATION SUGGESTING INVOLVEMENT BY THE MILITARY IN THE MURDER OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE (SEE SECTION 1.A). DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN ALVAREZ GUADAMUZ RISKED HIS LIFE IN MARCH TO SAVE CERJ LEADER AMILCAR MENDEZ FROM AN ATTACK BY CIVIL PATROLMEN IN PARRAXTUT; ALVAREZ AND MENDEZ WERE ESCORTING RETURNING FAMILIES WHO FLED PARRAXTUT IN THE WAKE OF THE MEJIA KILLING (SEE SECTION 1.A.) WHEN THEY WERE SET UPON. MENDEZ MANAGED TO FLEE BUT ALVAREZ WAS HELD AND THREATENED WITH DEATH. SOME DAYS LATER THE PATROL MEMBERS APOLOGIZED TO ALVAREZ; NO CRIMINAL CHARGES WERE FILED AGAINST THE ATTACKERS. THE FAMILIES RESUMED LIVING IN PARRAXTUT, BUT REPORTEDLY NOT ON A FULL-TIME

BASIS. AS OF YEAR'S END, THE OFFICE HAD NOT YET ISSUED A LONG-AWAITED REPORT ON THE 1988 EL AGUACATE MASSACRE. (INSERT: IN DECEMBER, THE OFFICE SPONSORED A NATIONALLY TELEVISED HUMAN RIGHTS FORUM IN WHICH BOTH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES PARTICIPATED.)

DISCRIMINATION BASED ON RACE, SEX, RELIGION, LANGUAGE, OR SOCIAL STATUS

ABOUT ONE HALF OF THE POPULATION IS CULTURALLY INDIGENOUS AND THE REST LADINO (WESTERNIZED) (DELETE: MESTIZO) (NOTE: MANY PEOPLE ARE NOT MESTIZO; THAT IS NOT A TERM USED HERE). ALTHOUGH HAVING EQUAL LEGAL RIGHTS, INDIGENOUS PEOPLE GENERALLY REMAINED OUTSIDE THE NATIONAL CULTURE, LANGUAGE, AND ECONOMY. INDIGENOUS MALES CONTINUED TO BE MUCH MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN (DELETE: LADINOS) (INSERT: RESIDENTS) TO BE DRAFTED INTO THE ARMY OR FORCIBLY RECRUITED INTO GUERRILLA GROUPS. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE COMBAT CASUALTIES AND MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES (SEE SECTIONS 1. A AND B.). THERE WERE A FEW INDIANS SERVING AS ARMY OFFICERS AND IN THE CONGRESS. THERE IS WIDESPREAD AND PERVASIVE SOCIAL DISCRIMINATION (DELETE: BY LADINOS) AGAINST THE INDIGENOUS PEOPLE.

WOMEN ARE VERY ACTIVE IN THE NATION'S WORK FORCE, PARTICULARLY IN AGRICULTURE, THE GROWING TEXTILE INDUSTRY, LOWER PAYING PUBLIC SECTOR JOBS, AND IN SMALL RETAIL BUSINESS. MANY WOMEN HELD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSTS DURING THE CEREZO ADMINISTRATION. DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACED DISCRIMINATION IN THE JOB MARKET. JOBS ARE OFTEN ADVERTISED ON THE BASIS OF SEX, WITH WOMEN GENERALLY SELECTED FOR LOWER PAYING ONES. THERE ARE NO NATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS DEVOTED TO WOMEN'S ISSUES. ONE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE IN THE 1990 ELECTION, RENE DE LEON, SELECTED A WOMAN AS HIS VICE-PRESIDENTIAL RUNNING-MATE AND ANOTHER, ALFONSO CABRERA, MADE "WOMEN'S ISSUES" A CAMPAIGN THEME.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE SUCH AS WIFE BEATING, REMAINED FREQUENT BUT GENERALLY RECEIVED LITTLE ATTENTION FROM THE POLICE OR PRESS.

CRIMINAL SEXUAL VIOLENCE OFTEN WENT UNREPORTED BY VICTIMS AND DID NOT RECEIVE A HIGH PRIORITY FROM POLICE; FEW CASES OF RAPE CAME BEFORE THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM.

WORKER RIGHTS

A.
THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION

WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO JOIN OR FORM UNIONS. ABOUT 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS UNIONIZED. THE LOW

PERCENTAGE IS DUE IN PART TO A CIVIL CODE WHICH HAS STRINGENT REQUIREMENTS FOR ORGANIZATIONS TO OBTAIN LEGAL STATUS. WHILE STATUTES SET A LIMIT OF A FEW DAYS FOR PROCESSING OF APPLICATIONS, DELAYS OF MONTHS OR YEARS ARE NOT UNUSUAL. MUCH OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR, HOWEVER, IS UNIONIZED. DESPITE HURDLES, 29 LEGAL UNIONS WERE FORMED IN 1990 WITH 14 MORE APPROVED AND AWAITING OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION. MORE THAN 25 PERCENT OF ALL UNIONS IN EXISTENCE WERE APPROVED UNDER THE CEREZO ADMINISTRATION.

UNIONS ARE REQUIRED TO HAVE A MINIMUM OF 20 MEMBERS, BUT A CRAFT UNION OF SKILLED WORKERS FROM SEVERAL COMPANIES IS PERMITTED. THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC CONFEDERATION, CUSG, FORMED SUCH A UNION AMONG MUNICIPAL WORKERS. IT HAD BEEN COMMON FOR EMPLOYERS TO FORM SEVERAL ENTITIES OF LESS THAN 20 WORKERS, IN THE HOPE WORKERS WOULD HAVE NO POSSIBILITY OF UNIONIZING. IN A VICTORY FOR UNIONS, A COURT RULED IN 1990 THAT AN ECONOMIC UNIT, LABORATORIOS BONIN IN THIS CASE, MUST BE TREATED AS A WHOLE. THE RULING WAS UNDER APPEAL AT YEAR'S END.

UNION LEADERS MUST SHOW THEY HAVE NO CRIMINAL RECORD, WORK AT THE COMPANY BEING UNIONIZED, AND CAN READ. THEY MAY SERVE ONLY ONE TERM, BUT BY ROTATING OFFICES THE SAME PERSON CAN STAY ON THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

ALTHOUGH THE LABOR CODE SETS RESTRICTIONS ON POLITICAL ACTIVITY BY UNION LEADERS, THIS REFLECTS PROVISIONS IN EARLIER CONSTITUTIONS. THE PRESENT CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL PARTICIPATION FOR INDIVIDUALS AND DROPS THE PROHIBITION FOR UNIONS.

UNIONS PLAYED A ROLE IN THE LAST TWO ELECTIONS AND NO EFFORT WAS MADE TO SANCTION THEM FOR THEIR ACTIVITIES. UNION LEADERS WERE CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS AND ACTIVELY TOOK PART IN CAMPAIGNING. (INSERT: ONE VERY PROMINENT LABOR LEADER WAS ELECTED TO CONGRESS WITH THE UCN PARTY AND TWO OTHERS ARE ALTERNATE CONGRESSMEN.)

GUATEM 00422 13 OF 15 121706Z SHB259?

A NEW LABOR CODE, DRAFTED WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (ILO) EXPERTS, IS UNDER ACTIVE CONSIDERATION BY THE LABOR COMMITTEE IN CONGRESS. AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE NEW CODE WOULD STREAMLINE THE REGISTRATION PROCESS BY LIMITING THE ROLE OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TO CERTIFYING THAT WORKERS HAD NOT BEEN COERCED INTO JOINING A UNION.

THERE IS A SOLIDARITY MOVEMENT WHICH CRITICS CHARGE IS PROMOTED BY MANAGEMENT TO RIVAL GENUINE TRADE UNIONS. THE LABOR MINISTRY (INSERT: ,HOWEVER,) HAS REFUSED TO REGISTER THESE ORGANIZATIONS AS UNIONS.

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, BUT PROCEDURES FOR A LEGAL STRIKE ARE CUMBERSOME. MOST STRIKES SIMPLY OCCUR WITHOUT PERMISSION AND, IN PRACTICE, THE MINISTRY OF LABOR MAKES NO EFFORT TO DETERMINE THEIR LEGALITY. THE FIRST LEGAL STRIKES IN MEMORY OCCURRED IN 1990--ALL THREE INVOLVED SMALL NUMBERS OF WORKERS. A DISSIDENT GROUP OF FORMER UNION LEADERS WAS ABLE TO OBTAIN A STRIKE VOTE BY EMPLOYEES OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY SYSTEM, BUT (DELETE: AT YEAR'S END THE TABULATION OF BALLOTS WAS INCOMPLETE) (INSERT: THE STRIKE NEVER TOOK PLACE). A MAJOR STRIKE INVOLVED THE

OCCUPATION OF THE CAVISA GLASS FACTORY, SUPPOSEDLY OVER THE ISSUE OF JOB STABILITY. MANAGEMENT REFUSED TO BARGAIN UNTIL WORKERS WITHDREW FROM THE FACTORY. AFTER 5 MONTHS OF LEGAL WRANGLES, COURTS ORDERED POLICE TO REMOVE THE WORKERS, SOME OF WHOM (DELETE: WERE ARMED. INSERT: CLAIMED THEY WERE TREATED HARSHLY. NOTE: NO ARMS WERE FOUND EVEN THOUGH THE POLICE EXPECTED THEM.) MANAGEMENT ESTIMATED $6 MILLION IN DAMAGES THROUGH NEGLECT AND PILFERAGE; THE FACTORY (DELETE: DID NOT INSERT: HAS NOT YET) REOPEN. UNIONS MAY FORM FEDERATIONS AND CONFEDERATIONS AND MAY JOIN INTERNATIONAL BODIES. THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC CONFEDERATION, CUSG, IS A PARTICIPANT IN THE INTER-AMERICAN REGIONAL ORGANIZATION OF WORKERS AND THROUGH IT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS (ICFTU); THE SOCIAL CHRISTIAN CONFEDERATION, CCTG, IS ACTIVE IN THE LATIN AMERICAN CONFEDERATION OF WORKERS, THE REGIONAL AFFILIATE OF THE WORLD CONFEDERATION OF LABOR. NO UNION OPENLY MAINTAINED RELATIONS WITH THE COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED WORLD FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS (WFTU), BUT SOME LABOR LEADERS IN EXILE, WHO CLAIM TO LEAD UNIONS, REPRESENTED THEM IN WFTU ACTIVITIES.

B.
THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

WORKERS HAVE THE LEGAL RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN ORGANIZING ACTIVITIES AND TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY, BUT VERY OFTEN ARE CONFRONTED BY DISCRIMINATORY ANTIUNION ACTIONS BY EMPLOYERS (DELETE: AND OTHERS). LARGELY DISCREDITED LABOR COURTS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR ENFORCING LAWS PROHIBITING SUCH ANTIUNION DISCRIMINATION. AN EXAMPLE OF COURT INEFFECTIVENESS WAS THE 1988 DECISION THAT TEXTILES FRANCISCO CAPUANO Y HIJOS REHIRE 68 WORKERS AND PAY BACK WAGES. TWO YEARS LATER, THE COURTS WERE STILL DEBATING THE COMPANY'S APPEAL OF THE $170 FINE FOR DISOBEYING THE ORDER. THIRTY-SIX WORKERS REMAINED UNEMPLOYED; THE REST TOOK OTHER JOBS, LOSING REEMPLOYMENT RIGHTS. ANOTHER CASE INVOLVED THE EL PILAR SUGAR MILL IN (INSERT: APRIL). WORKERS WERE FIRED AFTER REQUESTING A COURT INJUNCTION TO ENABLE THEM TO FORM A UNION. ONE WORKER, JUAN TARACH, WAS KILLED IN A CAR ACCIDENT AND MANAGEMENT TOOK NO ACTION TO ALLAY SUSPICION THAT (DELETE: OTHER SUCH) VIOLENCE MIGHT BE IMMINENT. EVENTUALLY, ALL BUT TWO WORKERS WITHDREW THEIR LEGAL CLAIMS. WHEN AN APPARENT ATTEMPT BY UNKNOWN PERSONS WAS MADE TO KILL THE TWO HOLD-OUTS, THEY OBTAINED ASYLUM IN CANADA. FOLLOWING A 5-MONTH OCCUPATION OF A BREWERY DISTRIBUTOR IN RETALHULEU, A VISITING JUDGE RULED IN AUGUST 1990 THAT THE WORKERS HAD

ENGAGED IN A LEGAL STRIKE. THE CASE, HOWEVER, WAS OVERRULED BY THE COURT OF APPEALS WHICH ORDERED THE PRESIDING LABOR JUDGE IN RETALHULEU TO REOPEN THE CASE. THE PRESIDING JUDGE THEN REPORTEDLY THREATENED TO ISSUE ARREST WARRANTS FOR THOSE STRIKERS ASKING FOR BAIL AND PAYMENT FOR DAMAGES. THE WORKERS VOTED ON AUGUST 31 TO END THE STRIKE (INSERT: AND ACCEPT SEVERANCE PAY SO THE DISTRIBUTOR COULD CLOSE.)

IN 1990 THE MINISTRY OF LABOR CONCLUDED A COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT WITH ITS UNION, THE FIRST SUCH AGREEMENT FOR CIVIL SERVANTS. THE GOVERNMENT, IN AN ELECTION YEAR MANEUVER, ATTEMPTED TO FORCE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING ON THE PRIVATE SECTOR THROUGH PROVISIONS IN AN INCENTIVE PAY LAW AND IN PROPOSED LEGISLATION ON SALARY POLICY; BOTH MET STRONG OPPOSITION FROM EMPLOYERS. MOST SALARIES ARE SET (DELETE: PRIMARILY (INSERT: UNILATERALLY) BY THE EMPLOYER THROUGH INDIVIDUAL NEGOTIATIONS, OR BY MINIMUM WAGE LEGISLATION.

LABOR LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLY UNIFORMLY THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. THE LAW WHICH AUTHORIZES THE ESTABLISHMENT OF EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES SPECIFIES THAT ALL LABOR CODE PROVISIONS WILL APPLY IN THEM.

ALTHOUGH MANY LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL GROUPS, INCLUDING THE ICFTU, CHARGE THAT UNIONISTS HAVE BEEN "PARTICULAR TARGETS OF DEATH SQUADS," AVAILABLE EVIDENCE DOES NOT ESTABLISH A PATTERN OF SYSTEMATIC ATTACKS ON UNIONISTS BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS OR PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE SECURITY FORCES. LABOR VIOLENCE GENERALLY INVOLVES

"THUGS" UTILIZED ON AN AD HOC BASIS BY EMPLOYERS AND OTHERS OPPOSED TO UNION ACTIVITIES. HOWEVER, THERE WERE THREATS TO AND VIOLENCE AGAINST UNIONISTS BY MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES (INSERT: APPARENTLY FOR SUSPICION OF INVOLVEMENT IN PRO-GUERRILLA ACTIVITIES).

MINIMUM AGE FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

THE CONSTITUTION BARS EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN UNDER THE AGE OF 14 YEARS. IN THE INDUSTRIAL SECTOR, WHERE LABOR

CODES WERE RELATIVELY EASY TO ENFORCE, CHILD LABOR DID NOT SEEM FREQUENT. IN THE INFORMAL AND AGRICULTURAL SECTORS, HOWEVER, SUCH LABOR IS COMMON. IT IS NOT UNUSUAL TO SEE CHILDREN HELPING RUN SMALL FAMILY BUSINESSES, BEGGING, AND WASHING OR GUARDING CARS. A LOCAL ORGANIZATION, CASA ALIANZA, ESTIMATES 5000 STREET CHILDREN (DELETE: WORK IN THE CAPITAL. IN RURAL AREAS, WHOLE FAMILIES WORKED.) THE LABOR MINISTER RECOGNIZED THE DIFFICULTY IN APPLYING CHILD LABOR LAWS WHEN POOR FAMILIES NEED THE INCOMES OF ALL MEMBERS TO SURVIVE.

ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

THE WORKDAY IS LEGALLY 8 HOURS AND THE WORKWEEK 44 HOURS, BUT A TRADITION OF LONGER WORK DAYS REMAINS. THIRD-COUNTRY OWNERS OF TEXTILE PLANTS REPORTEDLY PAID MINIMUM WAGES FOR A 12-HOUR DAY, VIOLATING BOTH THE CONSTITUTION AND THE LABOR CODE. THE MINISTRY OF LABOR HAD COMPLAINTS OF BEATINGS AND FIRINGS OF TEXTILE EMPLOYEES ACCUSED OF DOING LESS THAN THE EXPECTED WORKLOAD. LABOR INSPECTORS WERE NOT DILIGENT IN ENFORCING THE 8-HOUR DAY, IN PART BECAUSE THIRD-COUNTRY TEXTILE PLANTS MOVE WHEN THEY FIND CONDITIONS MORE ATTRACTIVE ELSEWHERE.

Report on El Salvador
Required Under the Foreign Assistance Appropriations Act of 1991

January 1991

Negotiations

In his inaugural address on June 1, 1989, President Cristiani called for talks between the Government of El Salvador (GOES) and the guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN). Direct talks were held in September and October 1989. Further rounds were scheduled for November and December, and the GOES sent a negotiating team to Caracas in November, but the meeting did not take place when the FMLN launched a major offensive into San Salvador, which claimed 3,500 lives.

In December 1989, President Cristiani, joined by the other Central American presidents, called for the UN Secretary General to assist in peace talks. Representatives of the GOES and the FMLN met in Mexico City in March 1990 for preparations and in Geneva in April to begin UN-sponsored talks. The GOES proposed an immediate ceasefire under international supervision. The FMLN took the position that a ceasefire could not be agreed upon until political issues had been resolved. The parties agreed in May in Caracas that the "initial objective" of the talks was to achieve political accords on the armed forces, human rights, the judicial system, the electoral system, constitutional reform, social and economic problems, and UN verification of agreements in order to reach a ceasefire agreement by mid-September. After a ceasefire, negotiations are to continue on implementation of the political accords.

Subsequent talks have focused on human rights and military reform. The FMLN in June proposed that certain armed forces elements be dissolved, the officer corps be purged of certain individuals, and that "exemplary prosecutions" take place in four cases of human rights abuses. The government put forward a proposal for restructuring the armed forces and security forces upon a ceasefire leading to cessation of the conflict. This proposal included: (a) separation of the police and military forces and strengthening civilian control; (b) reduction of the armed forces to at least prewar levels; (c) the dissolution of certain units on a phased basis to begin upon declaration of a ceasefire; (d) acceptance of exemplary prosecution in the four cases proposed by the FMLN as well as in four cases attributed to the guerrillas; and (e) a prompt and systematic examination of the professional qualifications of all military officers, including their human rights performance. During the talks, the government has moved several officers with unsatisfactory records on human rights out of command positions.

Starting with the July round, the government requested that the UN mediator put forward proposals on armed forces reform as a means of breaking the impasse that had developed. The FMLN refused to consent to such active mediation on the armed forces

In July, the two sides signed an agreement on human rights drafted by the UN and agreed to support the establishment of a UN human rights monitoring commission. In September, the parties agreed that the UN human rights monitoring commission should begin its work immediately. The UN has indicated, however, that the monitoring will not begin until both parties agree to a ceasefire, although it has agreed to set up an office to prepare for an eventual monitoring commission.

In August the FMLN tabled a new proposal on military reform which contained more extensive demands than did its previous position. It called for the dissolution of the armed forces, the removal of all colonels and generals, and trials and punishment in thousands of cases of alleged human rights abuses.

In September the FMLN said that it was not prepared to discuss active UN mediation or the issue of armed forces reform, but was prepared to discuss: access by journalists to conflictive zones; formation of a joint FMLN-GOES commission to look into the investigation of the Jesuit murder case; provision to the FMLN of a purported National Intelligence Directorate investigation of the Romero killing; inclusion of national and international public opinion at the negotiating table; and the effort within the UN Security Council to pass a resolution on the talks. The government suggested forming working groups on specific issues, extending the talks by several days, and meeting again in two weeks, rather than the customary four-week interlude between rounds. The FMLN rejected the proposals and insisted on meeting again in six weeks.

In September, while in New York for a meeting with UN Secretary General Perez de Cuellar, FMLN delegation members Shafik Handal, Salvador Samayoa, Mercedes de Carmen Letona and Miguel Saenz made the following comments regarding the peace talks to a group of Americans: "The negotiation does not have a lot of admirers, particularly not among you. But we have to view it as a very important political instrument for the change of the correlation of forces in the country. Everything they offer; we say it is not enough; we want more. So now we have reached an impasse. It has been very important for us that it be projected as an impasse in order to counteract the publicity campaign of the government (intended to) project an image of great will towards peace, of the possibility of peace being at hand. We then did what we had to do. We devised a scheme of failure and deadlock and we were able to avoid the deadline that we had for the middle of September. We are now going to be able to play it more at ease during the negotiation."

In October the FMLN dropped its refusal to consent to active UN mediation on the armed forces issue, and ideas emerged which both parties indicated could serve as the basis for further negotiation. On November 20 the FMLN began a military offensive which continued until December 28, when the FMLN announced a "suspension" of the offensive for December 31. No further face-to-face meetings between the parties occured until January 3.

The Interparty Dialogue Commission

The Interparty Dialogue Commission (IPDC), made up of representatives of all nine registered political parties, (including those with political ties to the FMLN) reached agreement on an electoral reform proposal on September 17, the day the September round of government-FMLN talks was scheduled to adjourn. The government suggested that the sides remain in session to ratify the accord. The FMLN refused. Among other provisions, the IPDC agreement would raise the number of National Assembly deputies to 84 from the current 60, with 20 members elected from a national list, extend the voter registration deadline, and regulate campaign access to the electronic information media. The changes are designed primarily to help opposition political parties. Most of the key reforms have been passed into law, although the provisions on campaign spending on the media were not passed by the Assembly, and some IPDC participants have objected to this failure.

FMLN Receipt of Lethal Military Assistance

On November 22 the guerrillas began using sophisticated SA-14 surface-to-air missiles, shooting down two GOES aircraft to date. The use of the missiles significantly escalates the conflict. It also allows the guerrillas to operate in larger units and maintain contact with government forces for longer periods.

On November 22 the firing tube from an expended SA-14 missile was found in the area where one of the aircraft was shot down on November 23. The Government of the Soviet Union subsequently confirmed to the United States that the missile had been supplied to the Sandinista Popular Army (EPS) in Nicaragua in February 1986. On January 2, 1991 the EPS issued a communique stating that four Sandinista military officers and eleven Salvadoran citizens had been arrested for illegal arms trafficking of: six SA-14 firing mechanisms, sixteen SA-14 rockets, two SA-7 firing mechanisms, and twelve SA-7 rockets. The communique stated that the weapons had been sold in Managua in October 1990 for "thousands of dollars" to FMLN leader Joaquin Villalobos and another FMLN representative identified as "Rodrigo". The EPS also confirmed the Soviet information that the captured missile tube had been provided to the EPS by the USSR and announced the creation of a Soviet/EPS commission to look into the illegal diversion.

In July 1990, two FMLN members were arrested in Managua by Nicaraguan authorities after a search of their vehicle revealed 20 hand grenades and 7 rocket-propelled grenade rounds. On August 27, 1990 a van driven by a Frenchwoman was stopped by Honduran troops as it entered Honduras from Nicaragua carrying: 229 81mm mortar tails with charges, 28 bags with 30 charges each for 81mm mortars, and 80 packages with 10 charges each for 81mm mortars. The van was also carrying FMLN battle plans, code books, transmission manuals, falsified identification documents, and 4 plotting boards for 81mm mortars. FMLN attacks in Usulutan during their November 1990 offensive closely followed the plans captured.

The FMLN's heavy expenditure of ammunition during the offensive launched on November 20, 1990 indicates that they do not foresee shortages of ammunition for their Soviet- and North Korean-made weapons. We also have not had any reports of significant logistical problems, as we have received in the past when the guerrillas have begun to run low on ammunition.

The FMLN has no source of supply in El Salvador for their Soviet-style weapons and relies on external support for ammunition and other materiel. This support has continued since the FY91 Appropriations Act was signed into law on November 5. Intelligence sources continued to report suspected seaborne deliveries from Nicaragua during November. Furthermore, the Government of Nicaragua has admitted that members of the Sandinista army supplied Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles to the FMLN, in violation of their agreement with the Soviet Union. The evidence of this continuing support was shared with Congress on January 8, 1991.

FMLN Attacks on Civilians and Injuring Civilians

US Embassy statistics indicate that in the first seven months of 1990 there were 55 noncombat killings of civilians for suspected political motives. Of these, 31 appear to have been killed by the FMLN (including those attacks for which the FMLN has claimed credit) 4 by the military (see below) and 20 by assailants who are as yet unidentified. On April 3, the day before the UN-mediated talks were announced, a guerrilla car bomb in San Salvador killed six civilians and injured dozens. During the August round of negotiations, an FMLN mortar attack aimed at the President's offices hit a residential area and left six civilians wounded. Church and business groups, political parties and non-governmental human rights organizations have condemned the FMLN's use of homemade catapult type mortars called "rampas" and "tepezquintles" in populated areas due to their inaccuracy and resulting civilian casualties. On October 23, heavy explosive charges thrown from such primitive mortars were launched against the military High Command headquarters but instead destroyed at least one home, killing two children, aged 8 and 18, and wounding several others.

On November 20 the FMLN launched the largest military offensive since their so-called "general" offensive of November 1989 which had resulted in the deaths of about 3,500 people. Auxiliary Bishop of San Salvador Rosa Chavez labeled the "violent actions launched by the FMLN a slap in the face to the Salvadoran people". The presidents of all four neighboring Central American republics acting jointly, the Colombian, Venezuelan and Mexican Foreign Ministers also acting jointly, the Soviet Foreign Ministry, Canada's Foreign Minister, the State Department and the Secretary General of the United Nations all also issued calls for cessation of the violence soon after the FMLN launched their offensive.

El Salvador Human Rights

In this latest offensive, the FMLN used mortars in many attacks, causing heavy civilian casualties and damage to the hospital in Chalatenango. The FMLN also used civilian homes as cover in Usulutan and Chalatenango, sometimes forcing the occupants to remain in order to inhibit Armed Forces counter-fire. Preliminary indications are that 16 civilians have been killed and 108 wounded from November 20 to the end of December as a result of the offensive.

The Puntarenas, Costa Rica, Central American Presidents' Summit (December 15-17) declaration denounced the FMLN for the offensive The presidents stated they were troubled by the"qualitative escalation of the armed conflict", demanded that the FMLN immediately halt the use of its sophisticated weapons, and called upon the UN observer group in Central America (ONUCA) to conduct an investigation to determine where the weapons came from. The presidents recognized that the GOE has agreed to hold "open and serious talks on all topics included in the peace process agenda, including that of the Salvadoran armed forces." They demanded the FMLN observe an immediate ceasefire, refrain from hindering the March legislative and municipal elections, give up the armed struggle, and rejoin the democratic life of El Salvador.

On March 13, 1990 the FMLN General Command, saying that they were "responding to the calls of the various social political and economic sectors of the country" promised "total suspension of sabotage" against public transport, commercial establishments, and telephonic communications. They also promised "total suspension" of attacks against civilians and public servants not part of the Salvadoran Armed Forces. Despite the March communique, however, the FMLN offensive in late November 1990 included a significant increase in FMLN attacks on civilian targets. There were no military assets, for example, in Nejapa, Apopa, or Quetzaltepeque, the sites of heavy guerrilla attacks. The FMLN attacked coffee and cotton farms and processing equipment, crop dusters, public transport, telephone equipment, bank branches, and other purely civilian property in various locations.

Specific attacks on civilian targets during the offensive launched November 20, 1990 include the following: On November 25, FMLN urban commandos bombed 6 banks in the capital. On November 27, FMLN forces destroyed an estimated $195,000 worth of machinery in a coffee processing plant in northern Usulutan Department. During the month of November the FMLN carried out more than 100 sabotage attacks on the electrical power grid. The damage to the system left some areas, including many lower-income neighborhoods, without water. On December 4, an FMLN attack using explosives damaged the local telephone office, town hall, jail, and a bank in Tonacatepeque, located north of the capital. On December 5, the FMLN established a roadblock near El Barillo in La Libertad Department and damaged 3 buses, 2 trucks, and 4 cars. The guerrillas told the drivers that these actions were in reprisal for their lack of support during the November 1989 offensive. On December 5 and 7, FMLN urban commandos bombed two banks in San Salvador. On December 10, the FMLN burned two buses in La Libertad. On December 12, FMLN urban commandos dynamited 4 more banks in San Salvador. On December 12 guerrillas also attacked the Osicala municipality building, destroying the mayor's office and the telephone office.

El Salvador Human Rights

In conducting attacks, the FMLN routinely invades civilian homes to use them as firing positions, thus exposing the inhabitants to danger from combat. During the November 1990 offensive the FMLN repeated tactics of the November 1989 "general" offensive by knocking holes in the walls of civilian homes to be able to move more easily between firing positions in the neighborhoods they had invaded.

Recent examples of attacks by the FMLN harming civilians include:

-- On November 28, in Los Chorros, an 8-year-old girl selling tortillas along the roadside was shot and killed when FMLN guerrillas attacked her soldier-customers. A 70-year old woman also was killed in the incident.

-- On November 29, the FMLN attacked Mariona Prison on the outskirts of San Salvador, killing 2 soldiers, a guard, and an inmate. At least 13 civilians also were wounded in the attack.

-- On November 30, the FMLN exploded a bomb in San Salvador's crowded central market, wounding nine civilian bystanders, including four children, plus two soldiers.

-- On December 5, a 13-month-old girl was killed by shrapnel during an FMLN attack on a small contingent of Salvadoran Marines guarding a gas station in Jiquilisco, Usulutan department.

-- On December 6, a woman in Usulutan department was wounded when an explosive charge launched by the FMLN toward a nearby army base struck her home instead.

-- On December 11, an explosive charge placed on a power pole in the outskirts of San Salvador by the FMLN wounded 2 girls playing nearby.

-- Also on December 11, an FMLN attempt to bombard the army's 5th brigade in San Vicente left one civilian wounded and damaged two private homes and at least one municipal building located near the military base.

FMLN Attack on US Helicopter

On January 2, 1991 at about 2:30 p.m., three US Army crew members were killed when their transport helicopter was shot down

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

by small arms fire in eastern El Salvador. The FMLN claimed responsibility. The helicopter was returning from a routine resupply mission from San Salvador to its base in Honduras. The FMLN at first said that the three servicemen were found dead inside their aircraft but later said that they had administered first aid to the crewmen and sent them to a hospital with peasants. Eyewitness reports and forensic studies indicate that two of the US servicemen survived a controlled crash and were subsequently executed by the FMLN. US personnel in El Salvador are non-combatants. The helicopter shot down had no role in supporting the Salvadoran Armed Forces and no role in combat in El Salvador.

Armed Forces Attacks on Civilians and Injuring Civilians

The United Nations' Human Rights Commission October 1990 annual report on El Salvador indicated that there were fewer human rights violations in 1990 than in 1989, although the situation continues to be serious. The report cites both the Catholic Archbishopric legal aid office Tutela Legal and the government Human Rights Commission as noting that summary executions alleged to have been committed by the security forces were down markedly in the first seven months of 1990. The UN report concluded that government institutions, including the President, made a conscientious effort to improve human rights practices and that military personnel are liable to prosecution for offenses. On July 31, 1990 the Salvadoran Armed Forces issued a general order establishing new procedures for arrests and detentions to conform with the human rights accords reached with the FMLN on July 26. This has reportedly resulted in a significant decrease in arrests by the military.

Strict rules of engagement designed to avoid collateral damage to civilians have been laid down by the government. In one incident, however, the Armed Forces admitted fault in the rocketing of San Jacinto Guancorita, Chalatenango by an Air Force helicopter on February 11, 1990 as a guerrilla unit retreated through the town. The Air Force was ordered to pay compensation to the families of the victims. The Salvadoran Government states that it is determining the amounts and recipients of this compensation.

The following is an update on human rights violations reported to have been committed by the military:

-- Two sergeants accused of raping a woman and killing her father in March 1990 are in custody and the case against them should be ready for trial by the end of the year.

-- On May 3, a jury convicted an enlisted man (later sentenced to 16 years in prison) for the 1982 murder of US citizen Michael Kline, but acquitted the other two defendants.

-- In May, twenty-six members of the Civil Defense Forces were sentenced to thirty years in prison for the 1982 rape and murder of twenty-three people.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

-- Also in May, seven Civil Guards were sentenced to thirty years in prison for the murder and robbery of four people in 1984.

-- In June, an Army sergeant was sentenced to thirty years in prison for the murder of two people in March 1988.

-- On June 4 a jury found a soldier innocent of killing a television soundman on election day in 1989.

-- A soldier who killed a 17-year old on August 22, 1989 was turned over to a civilian court, but a trial date has not yet been set.

-- On December 13 1990, artillery brigade soldiers in La Libertad allegedly beat Roberto Linares Cambara and burned him with cigarettes. Mr. Linares is a member of the National Council of the Popular Social Christian Movement National Council. Officers of the US Embassy interviewed Mr. Linares, officers of the Artillery Brigade and Minister of Defense Ponce. Ponce stated that an investigation has begun.

Other reported incidents which the Embassy has been unable to confirm include:

-- The Catholic Archbishopric legal aid office, Tutela Legal, reports that a man was reported to have been killed on April 1 1990 by Civil Defense personnel on suspicion of being a guerrilla.

-- Tutela Legal reports that on May 16 1990 two unidentified men are reported to have been taken by men in uniform with Second Brigade patches into a wooded area. Their bodies were found with what Tutela Legal says were wounds caused by M-16 rifles and 45 caliber pistols.

-- The non-governmental Human Rights Commission reports that on July 11 a man was captured by the Belloso Immediate Reaction Battalion and that his body was found on July 16. The man's mother is reported to maintain that her son was killed by the same troops that captured him. The National Police and the Belloso Battalion deny the accusation.

There is ample evidence that death squad activity was conducted in the past with the direct participation and involvement of elements of the Armed Forces. The present government has clearly condemned such practices and is committed to ending them, but persons suspected of past involvement in death squad killings remain at liberty and continued vigilance is required to prevent the resumption of such practices.

Civil Defense forces in particular are alleged to continue to engage in human rights abuses. Although the GOES has successfully brought to trial several Civil Defense members accused of such abuses, credible reports persist of isolated, unapproved violations by such personnel. The US has made clear that it expects the GOES to continue to vigorously prosecute offenders so as to deter further abuses. The GOES has proposed to dissolve the Civil Defense upon a ceasefire with the FMLN. All but 8 of the 33 military officers named by the FMLN in October 1989 in San Jose on an initial list of human rights offenders have been moved out of command positions as of January 1991.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Specific Cases

The Jesuit Case: Nine members of the Salvadoran military have been accused of the murder of six Jesuit priests and two others on November 16, 1989. The case was raised to the trial stage on December 7, 1990 on charges of acts of terrorism, murder, destruction of evidence, perjury and conspiracy.

Since January, the judge in the case has also detained three enlisted men on perjury charges. In addition, Lieutenant Colonel Carlos Camilo Hernandez, the Deputy Director of the Military Academy at the time of the murders, has been indicted for obstruction of justice for allegedly burning the logbooks kept at the military school on the night of the slaying.

President Cristiani assigned the Special Investigative Unit (SIU) to the case, which by January 1990 had developed forensic evidence that implicated the accused in the murders. In January, a military honor board was also formed to investigate the case and concluded that there was considerable evidence implicating the accused in the massacre. On January 16, 1990, Colonel Guillermo Alfredo Benavides Moreno, the director of the Military Academy, was arrested in connection with the crime. Three lieutenants and four enlisted men were arrested on charges of having committed the murders. A ninth soldier, who deserted in December, was also charged with murder but has not been located.

This is the first case in which a Salvadoran colonel has been prosecuted for involvement in a human rights violation. Nevertheless, the Armed Forces' cooperation in the investigation has not been satisfactory to date. Some military officers have provided sketchy or contradictory testimony and the absence of full cooperation by all military officers has raised questions about possible involvement beyond those currently indicted, although no firm evidence yet exists on this point.

Senior government officials, Legislative Assembly members, and Salvadoran military officers of the rank of colonel and above are not required under law to give legal testimony in person. On September 7, President Cristiani waived his privileges and gave four hours of personal testimony in the judge's chambers. A number of senior Salvadoran military officers followed suit, waiving their privilege and testifying in person before the judge, while others testified in writing.

Scotland Yard, the FBI, and the Spanish National Police reviewed the investigatory work of the SIU.

Col. Benavides and seven other defendants have been under detention since January 1990. On December 7, 1990 Fourth Penal Court Judge Zamora raised the case to the trial stage. This decision was immediately appealed by the defendants. If the appeals court concurs with Judge Zamora, he will establish an eight-day period in which new evidence and testimony can be received. New suspects can also be indicted during this period. At the end of the eight days, a jury will be selected and a trial date set.

The Administration has emphasized to the GOES that the United States Government, both executive and legislative branches, remain united in our belief that the prosecution and investigation of these crimes must be thorough and professional. Moving the case to the trial stage must not mean that the investigation as a whole ends. Additional questions remain unanswered. All possible efforts must be made to determine whether all those responsible for planning or executing these crimes have been identified. We hope and expect that vigorous prosecution of those accused of either perjury or obstruction of evidence in the case may lead to additional evidence. The United States will continue to closely monitor the conduct of this case and hold the Salvadoran Government, and especially the Armed Forces, to the highest standards as the case moves through the judicial process.

Murder of Ten Peasants Near San Francisco (San Sebastian Case): On September 12, 1988, a military patrol detained ten peasants from Canton San Francisco, San Sebastian Municipality, San Vicente Department. Soon afterwards, villagers heard two explosions and small arms fire. The next day, they found the dead bodies of all ten peasants. The military claimed that eight suspected FMLN collaborators and two captured guerrillas were killed when the column escorting the detainees to the helicopter was ambushed by guerrillas. The victims' families allege that the military executed all ten. The judge in San Sebastian investigated the killings and concluded that the villagers had been murdered. In November 1988, then-President Duarte assigned the case to the SIU.

There was little progress in the case until Vice President Quayle visited El Salvador in February 1989 and emphasized US concern about the case. A special military honor board was formed to review the evidence and found cause to dismiss two officers and seven enlisted men from military service and turn them over to a civilian judge for prosecution. Eventually, a total of twelve soldiers were arrested between February 13 and March 2, 1989. Several writs of habeas corpus filed in March 1989 were not resolved by the Supreme Court until September 1989 when the case was remanded to the court in San Sebastian.

On February 8, 1990, the judge of the first instance court of San Sebastian ruled that there was insufficient evidence to proceed to trial against ten of the accused and ordered their release. At the same time, he ordered trial proceedings initiated against Major Mauricio de Jesus Beltran and a sub-sergeant. The defense and the prosecution immediately filed appeals of the judge s ruling.

On April 27, the San Vicente appeals court ordered trial proceedings initiated against Beltran in the original court but held that there was insufficient evidence to initiate trial proceedings against the sub-sergeant. In addition, the appeals court also confirmed the finding of insufficient evidence against the other ten defendants, dropped all charges against them, and ordered their immediate release.

Major Beltran, the only remaining defendant, is in custody and awaiting trial. On June 26, the Supreme Court granted a petition from the prosecutors and transferred the case against Major Beltran from San Sebastian to the Sixth Criminal Judge of San Salvador.

Murders of Michael Hammer, Mark Pearlman and Jose Rodolfo Viera (The Sheraton Case): On January 4, 1981 Jose Rodolfo Viera, head of the Agrarian Reform Institute, Michael Hammer and Mark Pearlman, both of the American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD) were murdered. In April 1981 the Salvadoran Government arrested Ricardo Sol Meza, the owner of the Sheraton hotel where the murders had been committed, and requested the extradition of Hans Christ, a businessman who had fled to the United States. In the fall of 1981 a judge suspended all action in the case on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence to implicate Christ and Sol Meza in the murders. That decision was upheld by a court of appeals in April 1982 and Sol Meza was released. In September 1982 two Salvadoran National Guard enlisted men confessed to having committed the murders and had alleged that Lt. Rodolfo Lopez Sibrian and Capt. Eduardo Ernesto Alfonso Avila and businessman Hans Christ ordered them to kill Viera and the two Americans. In December 1982 the case against Lopez Sibrian was dismissed due to insufficient evidence against him. In April 1983 an appellate court upheld the dismissal of charges against Lopez Sibrian and in November 1983 the supreme court denied the appeal of the appellate court decision. On December 19, 1983, as a result of the direct intervention by then-Vice President Bush, Captain Avila was arrested. On March 22, 1984 Avila was released. The two enlisted men were convicted of the murders on February 14, 1986.

Bombing of FENASTRAS Headquarters: A bomb killed ten people and wrecked the offices of the FENASTRAS labor federation on October 31, 1989. In the days following the bombing, President Cristiani called for an investigatory commission to look into the crime. FENASTRAS initially refused to permit the SIU to conduct a physical examination of the site or the bodies. Salvadoran investigators, assisted by FBI explosives incidents personnel, were not permitted by FENASTRAS to visit the site until November 8, 1989. By then the site had been cleaned up by FENASTRAS employees, which destroyed much of the evidence. Efforts to investigate the bombing were further hampered by the beginning of the FMLN's major military offensive eleven days after the bombing. In September 1990, FENASTRAS leaders offered to present new evidence regarding the bombing and asked the US Embassy for assistance. To date, however, they have produced no new evidence or witnesses.

REPORT OF THE DECEMBER 1990 URSULINE DELEGATION TO GUATEMALA

Limited Case Background:

On November 2, 1989, Sister Dianna Ortiz, a missionary from the Ursuline Sisters of Maple Mount, Kentucky working in Guatemala, was kidnapped, tortured, and raped by members of the Guatemalan security forces.

In March of 1989, the Government of Guatemala officially closed the case of Sr. Dianna Ortiz and declared it to be a self-kidnapping. In April 1990, the Ursulines of Maple Mount, Kentucky sent a delegation headed by Sr. Fran Wilhelm to Guatemala in protest. As a result of that trip, the President of Guatemala officially reopened the case and agreed to appoint a Special Commission to investigate the case. (For further background and details see Report of April Delegation.)

When more than one month passed with no further action, the entire Kentucky and New Mexico congressional delegations wrote to President Cerezo urging him to appoint the Commission. In June, he appointed the Special Commission which included representatives of the Guatemala Congressional Human Rights Office (Ombudsman, Mr. Ramiro Carpio de Leon), the administration (unnamed), the religious community (Catholic Archbishop, Msgr. Prosper Penados), and the victim (Sr. Dianna's lawyer, Mr. Paul Soreff).

December Delegation:

However, by November of 1990, the Commission had not met. In fact, President Cerezo never responded to Mr. Soreff's repeated inquiries regarding the Commission. Accordingly, the Ursuline Community sent a legal delegation to Guatemala in December of 1990, headed by Sr. Fran Wilhelm. Mr. Paul Soreff and Ms. Shawn Roberts accompanied Sr. Wilhelm.

The delegation's primary purpose was to try and get President Cerezo to convene the Commission before leaving office in January, to secure support for the Commission's investigation of this case from the Presidential candidates (Jorge Serrano and Jorge Carpio), and to meet with each of the Commission's members.

Commission Members:

When we arrived in Guatemala we learned that President Cerezo, the Vice President, the Interior Minister, and the Vice Ministers of the Interior refused to meet with us. When we met with the Ombudsman (Ramiro Carpio de Leon) we learned that he had never been contacted by the President and did not even know about the Commission. He said that, although he was cautious about giving credibility to Commissions that do nothing, he would be willing to serve on this Commission if invited. He was very interested in this case and agreed to actively investigate. We found this meeting to be one of the most hopeful aspects of our trip.

We also met with Archbishop Penados. He expressed his willingness to serve on the Commission and informed us that President Cerezo had asked him to head the Commission. He also confirmed that the Interior Minister, Villatoro Morales had been vigorously opposing the Commission.

Presidential Candidates:

Jorge Carpio: Although our Embassy had arranged an appointment for us with Mr. Garcia Rodas, an aide to candidate Jorge Carpio, he was not there and despite our repeated efforts, we were not able to see either him or Mr. Carpio

Jorge Serrano: We first met at length with his campaign manager, Mr. Manuel Conde, who, although not very familiar with the case, was very solicitous of us. During our discussion, he expressed a lot of interest in the Commission and agreed to discuss the case with Mr. Serrano. He subsequently arranged for us to meet briefly with Mr. Serrano. When we met with Mr. Serrano the next day, he said that, if elected, his government would pursue human rights cases vigorously and he agreed to convene the Commission to investigate the Ortiz case as soon as possible.

Meetings with the Chief of Police and Judge:

We met with the Judge in Antigua who had been appointed to this case. We had previously been advised that he was a highly respected member of the court who would be fair. We found him to be an older and gentle man of great dignity who had already concluded that Sr. Dianna's entire story was a hoax. He did not believe that she had been tortured or burned and said that, in fact she had been burned, it had occurred after she left Guatemala. At first he did not recall there being any file on the case. Later he summoned a clerk who brought the thick court file which the Judge then allowed us to review.

When we met with Chief of the National Police, Caballeros, he told us that his office had lost the file on the case. He gave us the brief four page summary that remained. Sr. Dianna has stated that the Guatemalan police car she was transported in had the #7 in the license plate. In our meeting we learned that only approximately 32 police cars had a number 7 and that any of these cars could have been in Mixco at the time of the kidnapping.

U.S. Embassy and Congressional Delegation:

U.S. Ambassador Strock was very upset that Sr. Dianna had given a statement to Diane Sawyer of ABC. The fact that Sr. Dianna had, shortly thereafter, arranged to meet with a representative of the U.S. State Department, Ms. Deborah McCarthy, did little to quell his displeasure. (The State Department interview subsequently had to be postponed so that a representative of the U.S. Consular Affairs could also attend.) After extensive discussions, Ambassador Strook agreed that he would push the new government to implement the Special Commission and thoroughly investigate this case.

By coincidence, Congresspersons, Ms. Connie Morella (R. MD) and Mr. Rick Boucher (D. Va) along with several congressional staffers were in Guatemala at the same time we were. We gave them an extensive briefing on the case. Additionally, we had an various opportunities to talk informally with members of the delegation. The congresspersons, as well as all the staffers, seemed sincerely interested in this case and offered their support in the future. From them we learned that, even following our meetings at the U.S. Embassy, Ambassador Strook continued to emphasize what he characterized as Sr. Dianna's lack of cooperation.

Conclusion:

This trip pointedly brought home to us the reality of Guatemala's pattern for avoiding responsibility for human rights abuses by its security forces. Although somewhat disheartened by this reality, we are determined to do everything necessary to press the Government of Guatemala for a thorough investigation of this case.

Future Plans:

The Ursuline Community plans to send a delegation to Guatemala in early February to meet with the new president of Guatemala, and to arrange the first meeting of the Special Commission. To support this effort, signatures are being collected on both a House and a Senate letter urging President Serrano to implement the Commission as soon as possible.

SUBJECT: FINAL VERSION OF THE GUATEMALA HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT

1. THE FOLLOWING IS THE FINAL TEXT OF THE COUNTRY HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT AS IT WILL BE SENT TO THE CONGRESS BY JANUARY 31, 1991. YOU ARE REQUESTED TO REVIEW REPORT AND NOTIFY DEPARTMENT ASAP OF ANY FACTUAL ERRORS IT MAY CONTAIN. THIS REPORT MUST CONTINUE TO BE TREATED AS LOU - NOFORN UNTIL RELEASED BY CONGRESS. YOU WILL BE INFORMED OF THE RELEASE DATE BY SEPTEL.

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR ELECTION BY UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE OF A ONE-TERM PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL CONGRESS--INCREASED IN 1990 FROM 100 TO 116 MEMBERS--AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS; IT MANDATES AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY AND A HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, RESPONSIBLE TO THE CONGRESS. JORGE SERRANO ELIAS OF THE SOLIDARITY ACTION MOVEMENT (MAS) PARTY WON THE SECOND ROUND OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS ON JANUARY 6, WITH 68 PERCENT OF THE VOTE, AND WAS SWORN IN ON JANUARY 14, 1991. THE ELECTIONS WERE MONITORED BY SEVERAL HUNDRED INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS AND JOURNALISTS AND WERE FOUND TO BE FREE, FAIR, AND GENUINE.

THE ARMED FORCES HAVE THE PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITY FOR NATIONAL SECURITY AND HAVE BEEN FIGHTING AN ENTRENCHED LEFTIST INSURGENCY FOR ALMOST 30 YEARS. THE 43,000-MAN ARMY INCLUDES A 3,000-MAN MOBILE MILITARY POLICE FORCE THAT GUARDS KEY FACILITIES AND TAKES PART IN ANTICRIME OPERATIONS. THE NATIONAL POLICE (12,000 MEN) AND THE TREASURY POLICE (2,000) REPORT TO THE INTERIOR MINISTER. ABOUT 500,000 MEN IN CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEES (CVDC) CARRY OUT COUNTERINSURGENCY AND LAW-AND-ORDER TASKS; ALTHOUGH SERVICE IN THE CVDC IS SUPPOSED TO BE VOLUNTARY, IN CONFLICTIVE ZONES OFTEN IT IS NOT.

REAL ECONOMIC GROWTH DROPPED FROM 4 PERCENT IN 1989 TO 3.5 PERCENT IN 1990, DUE IN PART TO ERRATIC ECONOMIC POLICIES. IN THE FIRST PART OF THE YEAR, FOLLOWING THE FREEING OF INTEREST RATES AND THE ADOPTION OF A FLOATING

EXCHANGE RATE, THE GOVERNMENT PURSUED AN EXPANSIONARY MONETARY POLICY. IN SEPTEMBER THE GOVERNMENT ADOPTED A PROGRAM TO CURB MONETARY EXPANSION AND CUT INFLATION AND THE FISCAL DEFICIT. BY THE END OF THE YEAR, HOWEVER, THE GOVERNMENT HAD REVERTED TO AN EXPANSIONARY MONETARY AND FISCAL POLICY AND EFFECTIVELY FIXED THE EXCHANGE RATE. INFLATION JUMPED FROM 21.8 PERCENT ON A 12-MONTH BASIS IN

STATE 032343 312136Z SHB7731

JANUARY TO 56.8 PERCENT ON A 12-MONTH BASIS BY THE END OF NOVEMBER. THIS RISE, COMBINED WITH SLOWER GROWTH AND A CONTINUED HIGH POPULATION GROWTH RATE, NEGATIVELY AFFECTED THE GROWTH OF PER CAPITA INCOME.

DUE PRIMARILY TO A LACK OF WILL, AUTHORITIES DID NOT STEM GROWING VIOLENCE DURING 1990. RELIABLE EVIDENCE INDICATES THAT SECURITY FORCES AND CIVIL PATROLS COMMITTED, WITH ALMOST TOTAL IMPUNITY, A MAJORITY OF THE MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. THESE INCLUDED EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, TORTURE, AND DISAPPEARANCES OF, AMONG OTHERS, HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS, UNIONISTS, INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, AND STREET CHILDREN. WHETHER SUPPORTED BY FACT OR MERELY SPURIOUS INFORMATION, THE MOTIVE BEHIND MANY OF THE ABUSES APPEARS TO BE THE BELIEF THAT THE VICTIMS WERE SOMEHOW SUPPORTIVE OF OR SYMPATHETIC TO THE GUERRILLAS. THE INDEPENDENT OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN REPEATEDLY DENOUNCED THE LACK OF THE GOVERNMENT'S POLITICAL WILL TO PROTECT HUMAN RIGHTS. CRITICISM OF GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD BY THE U.S. AMBASSADOR AND THE U.S. GOVERNMENT DREW PUBLIC AND PRESS ATTENTION. IN MARCH THE U.S. AMBASSADOR WAS TEMPORARILY RECALLED TO WASHINGTON TO STRESS THE UNITED STATES' DISSATISFACTION WITH THE LACK OF PROGRESS IN INVESTIGATING CASES OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE. IN DECEMBER

THE UNITED STATES SUSPENDED DELIVERIES OF MILITARY ASSISTANCE BECAUSE OF EVIDENCE THAT SENIOR LEVELS OF THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY WERE PREVENTING AN EFFECTIVE INVESTIGATION INTO THE JUNE ABDUCTION, TORTURE, AND MURDER OF RESIDENT AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN MICHAEL DEVINE BY A GROUP OF MEN WHICH INCLUDED ARMY ENLISTED PERSONNEL. GUERRILLAS ALSO ENGAGED IN ACTS OF VIOLENCE, INCLUDING EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, INDISCRIMINATE USE OF LAND MINES, KIDNAPING, FORCED LABOR AND RECRUITMENT, AND THE USE OF CHILDREN IN COMBAT. IN MAY TALKS WERE HELD IN MADRID BETWEEN THE POLITICAL LEADERSHIP OF THE GUERRILLAS AND GUATEMALAN POLITICAL PARTY REPRESENTATIVES. THE GUERRILLAS PROMISED TO HALT ATTACKS ON ECONOMIC AND CIVILIAN TARGETS AND NOT TO ENGAGE IN ACTIONS THAT COULD DISRUPT THE NOVEMBER AND JANUARY ELECTIONS. THESE PROMISES WERE BROKEN; ATTACKS ON ECONOMIC INFRASTRUCTURE CONTINUED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, INCLUDING DURING THE ELECTIONS. IN AUGUST GUERRILLAS ALSO ATTACKED AND DESTROYED A MEDICAL COMPOUND OPERATED BY AN AMERICAN FAMILY IN THE PETEN AND THREATENED MEMBERS OF THAT FAMILY WITH DEATH.

THERE WAS NO RESOLUTION OF PAST CASES IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES HAS EXPRESSED STRONG AND CONTINUING INTEREST, SUCH AS THE 1985 DISAPPEARANCES OF AMERICAN CITIZENS BLAKE AND DAVIS, THE 1988 EL AGUACATE MASSACRE, THE 1989 DISAPPEARANCES OF 11 STUDENTS AT SAN CARLOS UNIVERSITY, 6 OF WHOM WERE LATER FOUND MURDERED, THE 1989 KNIFE ATTACK ON PEACE BRIGADE MEMBERS, AND THE 1990 MURDERS OF SECTOR OQUELI AND GILDA FLORES AND ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG. CITING INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE, A COURT REVERSED THE 1988 CONVICTION OF SIX POLICEMEN FOR THE 1987 MURDERS OF

TWO MEN IN QUETZALTENANGO-- THE ONLY CASE IN WHICH MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES HAD EVER BEEN CONVICTED FOR A MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATION.

THAN THE OFFICIAL RATE OF 2,000 HOMICIDES NATIONWIDE. WHILE MOST KILLINGS RESULTED FROM PERSONAL VENDETTAS AND CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES, A NUMBER WERE POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CALCULATED THERE WERE 384 POLITICALLY MOTIVATED MURDERS IN 1990, AND THAT MOST OF THE VICTIMS WERE KILLED BY THE ARMED FORCES OR PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH OR PROTECTED BY THE ARMY, SUCH AS CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS. MOST OF THESE KILLINGS TOOK PLACE IN AREAS OF MILITARY-GUERRILLA CONFLICT, WHERE THE MILITARY OFTEN FAILS TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN GUERRILLAS AND NONCOMBATANTS.

THE SECURITY FORCES ARE VIRTUALLY NEVER HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO INVESTIGATE, DETAIN, AND PROSECUTE THOSE PERPETRATORS OF EXTRAJUDICIAL AND POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS WHO WERE CONNECTED WITH THE SECURITY FORCES. OFTEN THE POLICE WERE UNWILLING TO INVESTIGATE

CASES AGGRESSIVELY IF THE MILITARY WAS THOUGHT TO BE INVOLVED. IT IS LIKELY THAT MILITARY OFFICIALS ALSO SHIELD LOWER RANKING PERSONNEL INVOLVED IN KILLINGS. THE GOVERNMENT ALSO DID NOT ACT TO PREVENT MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES, IN PARTICULAR CERTAIN RURAL MILITARY ZONE OFFICERS, FROM ENGAGING IN EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THESE ABUSES CONTINUED DESPITE ATTEMPTS BY FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS, SOME SENIOR GUATEMALAN MILITARY OFFICERS, THE OMBUDSMAN, AND THE NEW POLICE DIRECTOR TO CHANGE POOR HUMAN RIGHTS ATTITUDES AND PRACTICES WITHIN THE SECURITY FORCES. DURING THE YEAR, APPROXIMATELY 400 POLICEMEN WERE DISCHARGED FOR A VARIETY OF ABUSES, INCLUDING CORRUPTION. A FEW POLITICIANS WERE KILLED AND MANY REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS IN THE MONTHS LEADING UP TO THE ELECTIONS. ON JULY 25 CENTRIST CONGRESSMAN OTTO ROLANDO MUNOZ AND HIS DRIVER WERE KILLED 56 MILES FROM GUATEMALA CITY. THE FOLLOWING MONTH CENTRIST MAYORAL CANDIDATE CELSO MILAGRO GIRON WAS KILLED IN SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS, QUICHE; HE HAD BECOME A CANDIDATE AFTER THE KILLING OF THE PRIOR CANDIDATE, SOLOMON BLANCO. MORE VIOLENCE FOLLOWED IN SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS, INCLUDING THE VIOLENT DEATH IN SEPTEMBER OF CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT ACTIVIST SEBASTIAN MORALES. IN AUGUST THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT MAYOR OF CUYOTENANGO, SUCHITEPEQUEZ, ROBERTO VALLEJOS, WAS SHOT NEAR HIS HOME; HE SURVIVED. THE IDENTITY AND MOTIVES OF THE KILLERS IN THESE CASES REMAINED UNKNOWN AT YEAR'S END.

IN JANUARY ARMED MEN SEIZED SALVADORAN LEFTIST HECTOR OQUELI AND GUATEMALAN ATTORNEY GILDA FLORES IN THE CAPITAL. THEIR BODIES WERE FOUND HOURS LATER NEAR THE SALVADORAN BORDER. THE CRIME LED TO STRONG LOCAL, U.S. GOVERNMENT, AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL DEMANDS FOR A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION. THE GOVERNMENT CONDEMNED THE KILLINGS, BUT DID LITTLE TO CONDUCT A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION. A REPORT ISSUED IN JUNE CONCLUDED, WITH SCANT SUBSTANTIATION, THAT SALVADORANS WERE RESPONSIBLE. THERE WERE NO ARRESTS AND NO FURTHER ACTION IN THE CASE AS OF YEAR'S END.

THE ARMED FORCES AND CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEES, OR CIVIL PATROLS, FREQUENTLY THREATENED AND SOMETIMES KILLED HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS. THE RUMUJEL JUNAM COUNCIL OF ETHNIC COMMUNITIES (CERJ) IS A RURAL-BASED HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION DEDICATED MAINLY TO OPPOSING SERVICE IN THE CIVIL PATROLS. ON JULY 2 ARMED MEN IN PICKUP TRUCKS APPARENTLY SEIZED CERJ MEMBER PEDRO TIU CAC IN CHAJAB. HIS BODY WAS FOUND 2 DAYS LATER, REPORTEDLY WITH SIGNS OF BLOWS AND BULLET WOUNDS. ON MARCH 19 MARIA MEJIA RAMON CONAVIGUA, A LOCAL WIDOWS' ASSOCIATION ALSO CLAIMS AS A MEMBER) WAS KILLED IN HER HOME IN QUICHE, ALLEGEDLY BY TWO MILITARY COMMISSIONERS IN AN ATTACK THAT ALSO BADLY

WOUNDED HER HUSBAND, PABLO LASTRO TOJIN. DESPITE TOJIN'S IDENTIFICATION OF THE MEN, THE ARMY DENIED THAT THEY WERE COMMISSIONERS. REPORTEDLY, A QUICHE ARMY OFFICER PROMISED THE SUSPECTS QUICK FREEDOM IF THEY AGREED TO BE ARRESTED AND BROUGHT BEFORE A JUDGE. ARRESTED IN MAY, BOTH MEN WENT FREE IN JUNE FOR "LACK OF EVIDENCE." ON APRIL 18 MASKED GUNMEN KILLED CERJ ACTIVIST JOSE VICENTE GARCIA IN FRONT OF HIS FAMILY; HE PREVIOUSLY REPORTED TO AUTHORITIES THAT HE HAD RECEIVED DEATH THREATS. RELIABLE INFORMATION INDICATES THAT THE KILLERS, ALTHOUGH NOT OF THE MILITARY, WERE SHIELDED BY ARMY OFFICERS.

IN OCTOBER THE CERJ REPORTED THAT AN ACTIVIST, SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, WAS KIDNAPED AND MURDERED. AFTER HIS BODY WAS FOUND, THE POLICE ISSUED A STATEMENT THAT CLAIMED VELASQUEZ HAD NOT BEEN KIDNAPED AND THAT HE HAD DIED OF AN ALCOHOL OVERDOSE. NO RELIABLE AUTOPSY WAS PERFORMED ON THE VICTIM. A FOREIGN FORENSIC TEAM OBTAINED PERMISSION TO HAVE HIS BODY EXHUMED FOR THE PURPOSES OF IDENTIFICATION, BUT THE TEAM WAS NOT ALLOWED TO PERFORM AN AUTOPSY. THE CAUSE OF DEATH REMAINED UNKNOWN AT YEAR'S END. IN DECEMBER THE MUTUAL SUPPORT GROUP (GAM) CLAIMED THAT ONE OF ITS MEMBERS, DIEGO IC SUI, WAS SHOT DEAD ON DECEMBER 8. HIS BODY, WITH THREE BULLET WOUNDS, WAS FOUND NEAR THE MAIN BUS TERMINAL OF THE CAPITAL. POLICE REPORTED NO LEADS.

ON MARCH 17, NINE PEOPLE WERE SEIZED NEAR MALACATAN (SAN MARCOS) BY ARMED MEN. THE BODIES OF FIVE LATER APPEARED: TEODORO MEJIA, ARCADIO MEJIA, EFRAIN VENTURA, LUIS VENTURA, AND JOAQUIN ORTEGA. A SURVIVOR, A CHILD, WAS ALSO FOUND. WHILE INFORMATION WAS INCONCLUSIVE, LOCAL OBSERVERS BLAMED THE ARMY.

ON SEPTEMBER 11, MYRNA ELIZABETH MACK CHANG, A GUATEMALAN ACADEMIC RESEARCHING ISSUES AFFECTING DISPLACED PERSONS IN THE HIGHLANDS, WAS REPEATEDLY STABBED AND KILLED NEAR HER OFFICE IN GUATEMALA CITY. THE MUTUAL SUPPORT GROUP (GAM), OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, AND UNIVERSITY GROUPS DENOUNCED THE KILLING AS POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. INITIAL INDICATIONS WERE THAT THE KILLING COULD HAVE BEEN THE RESULT OF A ROBBERY ATTEMPT SINCE HER PURSE WAS TAKEN, BUT, GIVEN HER RESEARCH WORK ON DISPLACED PERSONS, POLITICAL MOTIVES COULD NOT BE RULED OUT.

IN JULY GUERRILLAS IN SAN RAFAEL PETZAL, HUEHUETENANGO, SHOT AND KILLED TWO UNARMED MEN AND WOUNDED EIGHT OTHERS PARTICIPATING IN A CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL. MANY POLICEMEN IN RURAL AREAS WERE KILLED DURING 1990 IN WAYS STRONGLY SUGGESTING GUERRILLA INVOLVEMENT. IN NOVEMBER PERSONS SUSPECTED OF BEING GUERRILLAS KIDNAPED, TORTURED, AND MURDERED TWO BROTHERS, CRISTOBAL AND DAMIAN ORON CHE, NEAR SANTA MARIA DE JESUS, SACATEPEQUEZ. THEY BELONGED TO A CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL.

THE SECURITY FORCES WERE PROBABLY INVOLVED IN MANY VIGILANTE KILLINGS OF CRIMINALS OR CRIMINAL SUSPECTS. THE MEDIA REPORTED FREQUENT DISCOVERIES OF BODIES IN OR NEAR MAJOR CITIES, PARTICULARLY THE CAPITAL, OFTEN WITH SIGNS OF TORTURE OR POSTMORTEM MUTILATION. THE CRIMINAL BACKGROUNDS OF MANY OF THESE VICTIMS SUGGESTS THAT THE KILLERS HAD ACCESS TO POLICE, COURT, AND PRISON DATA.

SECURITY FORCES WERE ALSO INVOLVED IN THE KILLINGS OF OTHER CIVILIANS. IN JUNE A LONGTIME RESIDENT, U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE, WAS ABDUCTED, TORTURED, AND EXECUTED NEAR HIS HOME IN PETEN DEPARTMENT. SUBSEQUENT INFORMATION SHOWED THAT ARMY PERSONNEL PARTICIPATED IN THE

KILLING. IN SEPTEMBER PRESIDENT CEREZO PUBLICLY ACKNOWLEDGED THE POSSIBILITY OF SECURITY FORCE INVOLVEMENT AND PROMISED A FULL INVESTIGATION. THE HUMAN RIGHTS ONDUDSMAN ALSO INDICATED HE HAD INFORMATION SHOWING POSSIBLE MILITARY INVOLVEMENT. IN SEPTEMBER THE COURT IN FLORES, PETEN, ISSUED ARREST WARRANTS FOR EIGHT MEN, INCLUDING SEVERAL SOLDIERS, FOR SUSPICION OF INVOLVEMENT IN THE MURDER. SIX MEN, INCLUDING FIVE ENLISTED MEN, WERE ARRESTED. DESPITE REPEATED REQUESTS BY THE UNITED STATES FOR QUICK ACTION, INCLUDING THE COMPLETION OF THE TWO OUTSTANDING ARREST WARRANTS AND THE FORMAL QUESTIONING OF FORMER SENIOR OFFICERS FROM THE LOCAL BASE, NO FURTHER STEPS WERE TAKEN AND THE CASE STALLED. AS A RESULT, IN DECEMBER THE UNITED STATES SUSPENDED MILITARY ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA.

IN 1990 THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT POLICEMEN AND PRIVATE SECURITY GUARDS TORTURED AND KILLED STREET CHILDREN. AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL (AI) ISSUED A REPORT IN JULY DETAILING THESE ABUSES, AND REPORTED THREATS AGAINST WITNESSES AND PERSONS WORKING WITH THE STREET CHILDREN. FOUR POLICEMEN WERE ARRESTED FOR THE MURDER OF 13-YEAR-OLD MARARAN CARMONA LOPEZ, WHO WAS KICKED TO DEATH; AS THE YEAR ENDED, THE FOUR POLICEMEN WERE ON TRIAL. THE POLICE WERE INVESTIGATING SEVERAL OTHER REPORTS OF TORTURE OF STREET CHILDREN, INCLUDING AN INCIDENT IN WHICH EIGHT HOMELESS TEENAGERS WERE KIDNAPED AND BRUTALIZED BEFORE BEING SHOT IN THE HEAD.

IN THE EARLY MORNING HOURS OF DECEMBER 2, A LARGE GROUP OF RESIDENTS OF THE TOWN OF SANTIAGO ATITLAN GATHERED IN FRONT OF THE LOCAL ARMY DETACHMENT TO PROTEST INCIDENTS OF MILITARY HARASSMENT AND VIOLENCE AGAINST THE TOWNSPEOPLE. THE SOLDIERS OF THE DETACHMENT OPENED FIRED AND KILLED 14 PEOPLE, INCLUDING 2 CHILDREN. THE OMBUDSMAN LABELED THE INCIDENT A "GENOCIDE" AGAINST INDIGENOUS PEOPLE. THE KILLINGS GENERATED NUMEROUS EXPRESSIONS OF CONDEMNATION, INCLUDING FROM BOTH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES, JORGE SERRANO AND JORGE CARPIO, AND THE CONGRESS. BY YEAR'S END THE LOCAL BASE HAD BEEN CLOSED. TWO SOLDIERS, INCLUDING AN OFFICER, WERE ARRESTED FOR HAVING TRIGGERED THE INCIDENT.

THE ONLY CASE ON RECORD IN WHICH MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES WERE CONVICTED FOR SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES WAS REVERSED IN AUGUST WHEN AN APPEALS COURT FOUND "INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE" TO UPHOLD THE 1988 CONVICTIONS OF 6 POLICEMEN FOR THE 1986 ABDUCTIONS AND MURDERS OF TWO UNIVERSITY-AFFILIATED AGRONOMISTS, RENE LEIVA CAYAX AND SANTLO ALVARADO MEJIA. THE GOVERNMENT APPEALED THE DECISION AND THE DIRECTOR OF POLICE SAID HE WOULD NOT ACCEPT THE MEN BACK INTO THE POLICE FORCE. AS 1990 ENDED, THE COURT HAD NOT RULED ON THE APPEAL.

B. DISAPPEARANCE

THERE WERE NO CERTAIN FIGURES FOR 1990 ON THE NUMBER OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS. ACCORDING TO A GOVERNMENT REPORT RELEASED EARLY IN 1990, AUTHORITIES KNEW OF 2,588 DISAPPEARANCES FROM ALL CAUSES DURING THE YEAR ENDING JANUARY 1990. THE REPORT STATED THAT THE POLICE RESOLVED 1,763 OF THOSE: 1,537 PEOPLE WERE FOUND SAFE, 35 WERE IN HOSPITALS, AND 191 WERE DEAD. OF THE REMAINING 825, POLICE CLAIMED THAT 198 CONSISTED OF FALSE REPORTS AND 196 WERE PERSONS WHO HAD REAPPEARED BUT HAD NOT BEEN REPORTED AS SUCH. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CALCULATED THAT GUATEMALA SUFFERED SOME 233 POLITICALLY MOTIVATED DISAPPEARANCES DURING 1990. THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO SOLVE ANY OF THESE DISAPPEARANCES; THE OMBUDSMAN

CONCLUDED THAT SECURITY FORCES WERE RESPONSIBILE FOR THE MAJORITY OF THEM. THE OMBUDSMAN'S FIGURES AND CONCLUSIONS ARE CREDIBLE.

IN FEBRUARY TWO DISAPPEARANCES IN THE CAPITAL DREW MUCH FOREIGN AND LOCAL ATTENTION, PROMPTING A RESOLUTION BY GUATEMALA'S CONGRESS CALLING FOR THE VICTIMS' RELEASE AND FOR AUTHORITIES TO PREVENT AND RESOLVE THESE KINDS OF INCIDENTS. BOTH CASES ENDED, FORTUNATELY, IN THE RELEASE OF THE VICTIMS. ON FEBRUARY 6, SAN CARLOS UNIVERSITY LAW STUDENT ARMANDO OSCAR PIEDRASANTA WAS TAKEN BY ARMED MEN, BEATEN, AND ABANDONED ALONG A HIGHWAY EARLY ON THE FOLLOWING DAY. THE AUTHORS AND MOTIVES WERE UNKNOWN; THE ASSUMPTION WAS THAT PIEDRASANTA WAS SUSPECTED OF "SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES." HE REPORTEDLY LEFT GUATEMALA. ON FEBRUARY 16, DR. CARMEN ANGELICA VALENZUELA ARGUETA, A PEDIATRICIAN, WAS ABDUCTED FROM HER CAR IN BROAD DAYLIGHT IN THE CAPITAL BY ARMED MEN. THE KIDNAPING LED TO A STRONG PUBLIC DEMAND FOR HER RELEASE. SHE WAS FREED FEBRUARY 18. NO REASON HAS EVER BEEN DETERMINED FOR HER ABDUCTION.

IN AUGUST MILITARY COMMISSIONER SERGIO GOMEZ WAS REPORTEDLY ABDUCTED BY SEVEN HEAVILY ARMED GUERRILLAS IN OLIVE GREEN UNIFORMS NEAR THE CONFLICTIVE ZONE OF TAJUMULCO, SAN MARCOS, A STRONGHOLD OF THE ARMED REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATION OF THE PEOPLE (ORPA).

SECURITY FORCES MAY BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DISAPPEARANCES OF SEVERAL MEMBERS OF HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. LUIS MIGUEL SOLIS PAJARITO, A MEMBER OF A DISPLACED PERSONS

ORGANIZATION, THE NATIONAL COMMISSION ON DISPLACED GUATEMALANS (CONDEG), DISAPPEARED MAY 3 IN THE CAPITAL. HIS WIFE, A MEMBER OF CAN, CHARGED THAT THE MILITARY WERE RESPONSIBLE AND THAT HER HUSBAND WAS BEING HELD IN ONE OF THE CAPITAL'S MILITARY FACILITIES. SHE FILED WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS WITH NO RESULT. SAMUEL DE LA CRUZ GOMEZ, REPORTEDLY A MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE OF PEASANT UNITY (CUC) AS WELL AS CERJ WAS KIDNAPED ON JULY 12 NEAR ZACUALPA, QUICHE, APPARENTLY BY AN ARMY PATROL. A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS WAS FILED, BUT DE LA CRUZ REMAINED MISSING AS OF YEAR'S END. FOUR CERJ MEMBERS WHO DISAPPEARED IN APRIL 1989 IN SUCHITEPEQUEZ HAVE NEVER BEEN FOUND AND ARE PRESUMED DEAD.

C. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

DURING 1990 THERE CONTINUED TO BE CLEAR EVIDENCE AND CREDIBLE REPORTS OF TORTURE AND OTHER MISTREATMENT LEADING TO THE DEATHS OF PERSONS DETAINED EXTRAJUDICIALLY BY MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES. THERE WERE CREDIBLE ACCOUNTS OF PHYSICAL TORTURE AND PSYCHOLOGICAL ABUSE FROM PERSONS WHO ESCAPED FROM OR WERE RELEASED BY CAPTORS APPARENTLY LINKED TO THE SECURITY FORCES. MANY BODIES FOUND THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA BORE SIGNS OF TORTURE OR POSTMORTEM MUTILATION. TORTURE, HOWEVER, IS NOT PRIMA FACIE EVIDENCE THAT SECURITY FORCES WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR A CRIME; CRIMINAL GANGS AND OTHERS PURSUING PERSONAL VENDETTAS ALSO USE TORTURE.

THERE WERE NO VERIFIED REPORTS DURING THE YEAR OF INHUMAN

OR CRUEL TREATMENT OF DETAINEES IN OFFICIAL POLICE CUSTODY. THERE WERE, HOWEVER, CREDIBLE REPORTS OF THE USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE BY POLICE AT THE TIME OF ARREST AND OF ABUSIVE TREATMENT BY ARMY, CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND POLICE OF PERSONS IN RURAL AREAS.

THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN ACKNOWLEDGED THAT CIVIL PATROLS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, SUCH AS DEATH THREATS AND POSSIBLY EVEN MURDER (SEE SECTION 1.A.). IN OCTOBER, IN CHUPOL AND PARRAXTUT, CIVIL PATROL MEMBERS ASSAULTED HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS, CIVILIANS, AND, IN ONE INSTANCE, DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN ALVAREZ (SEE SECTION 4.). SECURITY FORCES IN THESE AREAS APPEAR TO HAVE INSTIGATED THESE INCIDENTS.

NO PROGRESS WAS MADE IN THE INVESTIGATION OF THE REPORTED KIDNAPING AND TORTURE ON NOVEMBER 2-3, 1989, OF U.S. CITIZEN SISTER DIANA ORTIZ. A SPECIAL DELEGATION FROM THE UNITED STATES VISITED GUATEMALA TWICE, IN APRIL AND DECEMBER, TO PRESS THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT TO INVESTIGATE THE CASE. ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT CEREZO AGREED TO APPOINT A PUBLIC COMMISSION TO OVERSEE THE INVESTIGATION, IT NEVER MET. INFORMATION ON WHICH TO PURSUE THE CASE WAS LIMITED TO A SWORN AFFIDAVIT ISSUED BY SISTER ORTIZ IN JANUARY. DUE TO THE TRAUMA SHE ENDURED, SISTER ORTIZ WAS UNABLE TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL INFORMATION BUT INDICATED, THROUGH HER COUNSEL, THAT SHE WOULD DO SO ONCE SHE WAS MORE FULLY RECOVERED.

B. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE

A COURT-ISSUED ARREST WARRANT IS REQUIRED UNLESS A PERSON IS CAUGHT IN THE ACT OF COMMITTING A CRIME. ACCORDING TO THE CONSTITUTION, POLICE MAY NOT HOLD A PERSON FOR OVER 6 HOURS WITHOUT BRINGING HIM BEFORE A JUDGE. THE LAW PROVIDES FOR BAIL, ACCESS TO LAWYERS, AND LIMITS TO 20 DAYS THE TIME ANYONE MAY BE HELD FOR INVESTIGATION, AFTER WHICH HE MUST BE FORMALLY CHARGED WITH THE COMMISSION OF A CRIME OR RELEASED. AUTHORITIES MUST PRODUCE DETAINEES ON REQUEST. INVOLUNTARY EXILE IS NOT USED.

DESPITE THESE LEGAL SAFEGUARDS, THERE ARE FREQUENT REPORTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST OR DETENTION BY THE SECURITY FORCES. THERE WERE ALSO CREDIBLE REPORTS OF SECURITY FORCE "SAFEHOUSES" USED TO CONDUCT ILLEGAL DETENTIONS, INTERROGATIONS, AND, AT TIMES, TORTURE AND MURDER. WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS ARE IGNORED BY THOSE MAKING ILLEGAL ARRESTS.

ON AUGUST 17 THE DAILY NEWSPAPER EL GRAFICO, OWNED BY NATIONAL CENTRIST UNION (UCN) PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE JORGE CARPIO, REPORTER UCN ACTIVIST MAXIMILIANO VASQUEZ WAS ARRESTED BY A MILITARY COMMISSIONER BECAUSE OF HIS POLITICAL ACTIVITIES. IN A LETTER THE NEXT DAY, THE ARMY SPOKESMAN DENIED THE CLAIM, STATING VASQUEZ WAS ARRESTED BY POLICE ON CRIMINAL CHARGES; A POLICE SOURCE SUPPORTED THAT VERSION.

IN SEPTEMBER CERJ CHARGED THAT 46 PERSONS FROM IN AND AROUND AMACHEL, QUICHE, HAD BEEN FORCIBLY TRANSPORTED TO AND WERE BEING ILLEGALLY HELD AT A MILITARY INSTALLATION IN NEBAJ, QUICHE. THE OMBUDSMAN AND THE U.N.-APPOINTED

HUMAN RIGHTS REPRESENTATIVE TRAVELED TO QUICHE TO INVESTIGATE THIS ALLEGATION. THEY WERE NOT ABLE TO CONFIRM THE ALLEGATION OF MISTREATMENT OR ILLEGAL DETENTION. IT WAS NEVER CLEAR, HOWEVER, WHETHER THE PERSONS HAD MOVED THERE OF THEIR OWN FREE WILL. CERJ SUBSEQUENTLY CHARGED THAT A YOUNG WOMAN AND HER CHILD WERE FORCIBLY REMOVED FROM NEBAJ BY SOLDIERS. AT YEAR'S END, THIS CASE HAD NOT BEEN RESOLVED.

E. DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY COMPRISED OF A COURT OF CONSTITUTIONALITY, A SUPREME COURT, APPEALS COURTS, AND SEVERAL COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION. MILITARY COURTS HAVE JURISDICTION ONLY OVER THE ARMY, INCLUDING MILITARY COMMISSIONERS. CIVILIAN TRIALS ARE PUBLIC; DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE PRESENT AND TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION. CONVICTIONS ARE AUTOMATICALLY REVIEWED BY AN APPEALS COURT. THERE WERE NO POLITICAL PRISONERS. HOWEVER, DESPITE SOME EFFORTS AT REFORM, IN PRACTICE THE JUDICIARY REMAINED TROUBLED, SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION, AND SUFFERING CORRUPTION, LOW MORALE, AND POOR PAY.

A U.S.-FUNDED MODEL COURT PROGRAM RUN BY HARVARD UNIVERSITY ENDED AND WAS NOT RENEWED. THOSE OPERATING THE PROGRAM EXPRESSED FRUSTRATION WITH THE LACK OF POLITICAL WILL ON THE PART OF THE CIVILIAN AUTHORITIES TO REFORM THE NATION'S COURT SYSTEM AND TO UNDERTAKE PROSECUTIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENDERS. ON THE MORE POSITIVE SIDE, THE CONGRESS BEGAN CONSIDERATION OF A RADICAL REVISION OF THE

PENAL CODE DESIGNED TO MODERNIZE THE JUSTICE SYSTEM AND TO MAKE IT MORE EFFICIENT. HOWEVER, THE PROPOSED NEW CODE WOULD STILL BE BOUND BY A CONSTITUTIONAL RESTRICTION ON TRYING MILITARY PERSONNEL IN CIVILIAN COURTS, THEREBY LIMITING THE ABILITY OF THOSE COURTS TO ACT AGAINST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSERS IN UNIFORM.

F. ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME, OR CORRESPONDENCE

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE INVIOLABILITY OF HOME, CORRESPONDENCE, AND PRIVATE DOCUMENTS. WHILE THIS PROVISION WAS USUALLY RESPECTED, THERE WERE EXCEPTIONS. ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR UNIVERSAL MILITARY SERVICE, THE ARMY FORCIBLY RECRUITED SOLDIERS BY TAKING PERSONS OFF THE STREETS OR FROM THEIR HOMES WITHOUT A COURT ORDER.

THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS BE VOLUNTARY. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, RESPONDING TO A REQUEST FROM CERJ, FOUND THAT WHILE THE DECREE CREATING THE CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEES AND PATROLS WAS CONSTITUTIONAL, FORCED PARTICIPATION EXISTED IN VIOLATION OF BOTH THE DECREE AND THE CONSTITUTION. IN MARCH THE CHAIRMEN OF THE CONGRESSIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS AND DEFENSE COMMITTEES MADE THE SAME ARGUMENT. IN MOST PARTS OF THE COUNTRY, SELF DEFENSE COMMITTEES AND PATROLS APPEAR TO BE LARGELY VOLUNTARY. AS IN PAST YEARS, HOWEVER, THE DEGREE OF VOLUNTARISM IN CONFLICTIVE PARTS OF QUICHE AND HUEHUETENANGO IS OPEN TO SERIOUS QUESTION: THERE ARE SCATTERED REPORTS OF FORCED PARTICIPATION IN SMALL COMMUNITIES IN SOLOLA AND BAJA VERAPAZ DEPARTMENTS. THE ARMY DENIES IT PRESSURES, THREATENS, OR PERSECUTES THOSE WHO ADVOCATE AGAINST THE COMMITTEES OR WHO REFUSE TO JOIN THEM. THERE IS, HOWEVER, CREDIBLE EVIDENCE THAT SUCH PERSONS HAVE SUFFERED SERIOUS ABUSES, INCLUDING MURDER.

G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

THE 38-YEAR ARMED INTERNAL CONFLICT CONTINUED DURING 1990. THERE WERE ACCUSATIONS OF INDISCRIMINATE USE OF AIRCRAFT AND ARTILLERY BY THE MILITARY ON CIVILIAN TARGETS. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN LOOKED INTO REPORTS OF A MAJOR AERIAL ATTACK IN LATE DECEMBER 1989 ON A SMALL COMMUNITY IN QUICHE; A DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN COULD FIND NO EVIDENCE OF BOMBING. GIVEN THE SMALL, TIGHTLY CONTROLLED AERIAL AND ARTILLERY ASSETS, CHARGES OF

"CARPET" BOMBING, MASS ARTILLERY BARRAGES, AND ATTACKS BY HELICOPTER GUNSHIPS GENERALLY DO NOT APPEAR TO BE CREDIBLE. THERE WAS LITTLE RELIABLE INFORMATION IN 1990 ON THE FATE OF CAPTURED GUERRILLAS. INFORMATION FROM PREVIOUS YEARS, HOWEVER, LEADS TO THE CONCLUSION THAT SUCH PERSONS OFTEN FACED TORTURE AND DEATH AT THE HANDS OF THEIR MILITARY CAPTORS. THERE WERE SOME DOCUMENTED CASES, HOWEVER, OF GUERRILLAS WHO APPLIED FOR AND RECEIVED AMNESTY AND WERE WELL TREATED.

NOFORN

INFORMATION THAT GUERRILLAS TARGETED POLICEMEN FOR MURDER (SEE SECTION 1.A.). IN MAY GUERRILLAS IN HUEHUETENANGO AMBUSHED A CIVILIAN TRUCK TRANSPORTING SICK AND INJURED SOLDIERS IN CIVILIAN DRESS TO A HOSPITAL; EIGHT WERE KILLED. GUERRILLAS ALSO KILLED CHILDREN AND OTHER UNARMED CIVILIANS IN ATTACKS ON ARMY PATROLS. IN AUGUST THERE WAS A RELIABLE REPORT THAT A GUERRILLA-LAID CLAYMORE MINE KILLED TWO SMALL GIRLS IN QUICHE.

ON AUGUST 31, GUERRILLAS IN THE PETEN DEPARTMENT OVERRAN AND DESTROYED A MEDICAL-DENTAL COMPOUND OPERATED BY THE LONGTIME RESIDENT AMERICAN STOLTZFUZ MISSIONARY FAMILY. THE COMPOUND WAS DESTROYED, MEDICAL SUPPLIES STOLEN, AND THE FAMILY HELD AT GUNPOINT AND THREATENED WITH DEATH UNLESS THEY LEFT GUATEMALA. A PRESS RELEASE FROM THE GUERRILLA-CONTROLLED NEWS AGENCY CERIGUA CLAIMED GUERRILLAS CARRIED OUT THE ATTACK IN RETALIATION FOR THE FAMILY'S ALLEGED SUPPORT OF THE ARMY, I.E., THE MISSIONARIES HAD TREATED SERIOUSLY WOUNDED SOLDIERS. ONE OF THE AMERICANS SUFFERED FURTHER HARASSMENT IN THE CAPITAL, APPARENTLY AT THE HANDS OF GUERRILLAS.

DESPITE PROMISES MADE IN THE MAY 1990 PEACE TALKS IN MADRID NOT TO CARRY OUT ACTIONS WHICH COULD INTERFERE WITH THE ELECTIONS, GUERRILLAS RESUMED ATTACKS IN SEPTEMBER AND THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF INSURGENTS' EFFORTS TO PREVENT PEOPLE FROM TAKING PART IN POLITICAL ACTIVITY. GUERRILLA FORCES MAINTAINED TIGHT CONTROL OVER SEVERAL COMMUNITIES IN NORTHERN QUICHE, KNOWN AS COMMUNITIES OF RESISTING POPULACE (CPRS), IN WHICH THEY USED FORCED LABOR AND OBLIGATED PEOPLE TO JOIN GUERRILLA MILITIA UNITS.

GUERRILLAS USED CHILDREN AS YOUNG AS 13 YEARS OF AGE IN COMBAT.

IN NOVEMBER DURING A FORCED VILLAGE MEETING ORGANIZED BY ORPA GUERRILLAS IN THE TOWN OF LAS TROJES, SUCHITEPEQUEZ, THE GUERRILLAS GUNNED DOWN A 14 YEAR OLD CHILD, VICTOR DE JESUS SANCHEZ HERNANDEZ. ALSO IN NOVEMBER, A CLAYMORE MINE PLACED BY THE GUERRILLA ARMY OF THE POOR (EGP) GUERRILLAS KILLED JUAN LUIS DE LA CRUZ AND SERIOUSLY INJURED HIS BROTHER. IN DECEMBER ORPA GUERRILLAS DESTROYED THE NOCA BRIDGE IN SUCHITEPEQUEZ, KILLING AN INNOCENT PASSER-BY, DR. EDWIN SALVADOR RIOS, AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDING HIS DRIVER. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN SUBSEQUENTLY ISSUED A REPORT DENOUNCING THE GUERRILLAS FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. IN A PRESS CONFERENCE, HE ALSO ACCUSED THE GUERRILLAS OF ENGAGING IN DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY.

DURING THE YEAR, A SERIES OF GROUND-BREAKING INFORMAL TALKS WERE HELD BETWEEN GUERRILLA REPRESENTATIVES AND DIFFERENT SECTORS OF GUATEMALAN SOCIETY AIMED AT ENDING THE 30-YEAR INTERNAL CONFLICT. THESE DISCUSSIONS WERE SPONSORED BY THE NATIONAL RECONCILIATION COMMISSION AND MAY LAY THE BASIS FOR A PERMANENT SOLUTION TO THE LONG CONFLICT.

SECTION 2 RESPECT FOR CIVIL LIBERTIES, INCLUDING:

A. FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION, AND DURING 1990 THERE WERE NO INDICATIONS OF OFFICIALLY ORDERED OR SANCTIONED EFFORTS TO RESTRICT IT. VOCAL CRITICS OF THE GOVERNMENT, PARTICULARLY IN THIS ELECTION YEAR, HAD WIDESPREAD MEDIA ACCESS. A NEW DAILY, SIGLO XXI, COMMENCED PUBLICATION AND TOOK A LINE GENERALLY CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, AS DID THE OTHER THREE MAJOR PAPERS. PRESS RELEASES, PAID ADVERTISEMENTS, AND OTHER ANTIGOVERNMENT PRONOUNCEMENTS BY POLITICAL PARTIES, PRIVATE SECTOR GROUPS, LABOR UNIONS, HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, AND GUERRILLA GROUPS RAN WITHOUT OFFICIAL INTERFERENCE. FOREIGN FILMS, TELEVISION PROGRAMS, BOOKS, MAGAZINES, AND NEWSPAPERS WERE WIDELY AVAILABLE, LIMITED ONLY BY COST.

THERE CONTINUED TO BE SELF-CENSORSHIP ON CERTAIN TOPICS. JOURNALISTS ABANDONED SOME THEMES OR WATERED DOWN CONCLUSIONS RATHER THAN TEST THE LIMITS OF TOLERANCE OF CERTAIN GROUPS, PARTICULARLY THE SECURITY FORCES. THERE WAS NO PRESS DISCUSSION, FOR EXAMPLE, OF CORRUPTION IN THE ARMY, ALTHOUGH CIVILIAN CORRUPTION WAS AN ELECTORAL ISSUE. NEVERTHELESS, THERE WAS THOROUGH COVERAGE OF CHARGES BY THE U.S. EMBASSY THAT AN ACTIVE-DUTY MILITARY ADVISOR TO PRESIDENT CEREZO WAS INVOLVED IN DRUG TRAFFICKING. THE PRESS, HOWEVER, MADE NO INDEPENDENT INVESTIGATION OF THE CASE.

IN OCTOBER TWO PROMINENT JOURNALISTS WERE SHOT IN THE CAPITAL. VICTOR HUMBERTO GONZALEZ CAMARA, OWNER OF SEVERAL RADIO STATIONS AND FORMERLY ACTIVE IN LEFTIST POLITICS, WAS KILLED IN THE PRESENCE OF HIS MINOR SON BY UNKNOWN GUNMEN. BYRON BARRERA, VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE LEFT-OF-CENTER GUATEMALAN PRESS ASSOCIATION (APG), WAS SHOT AND SEVERELY INJURED; HIS WIFE DIED IN THE ATTACK. BARRERA SUBSEQUENTLY LEFT GUATEMALA.

THE UNIVERSITIES WERE RELATIVELY CALM DURING 1990. THERE WAS NO REPETITION OF THE 1989 KIDNAPINGS AND MURDERS OF SEVERAL STUDENTS.

B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

THE CONSTITUTION RECOGNIZES THE RIGHT OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION. PARADES, RALLIES, MARCHES, FORUMS, PUBLIC DEBATES, AND SEMINARS TOOK PLACE OPENLY AND FREELY THROUGHOUT 1990. ORGANIZATIONS REQUIRE LEGAL ASSOCIATION STATUS, A CUMBERSOME AND EXPENSIVE PROCEDURE WHICH WORKS AGAINST ORGANIZATIONS WITHOUT GOOD FUNDING OR LEGAL COUNSEL. AS THE YEAR ENDED, FOR EXAMPLE, CERJ EFFORTS TO BECOME A REGISTERED ORGANIZATION HAD STILL NOT PROSPERED AFTER 18 MONTHS. THE LACK OF LEGAL ASSOCIATION STATUS, HOWEVER, DID NOT PREVENT A LARGE NUMBER OF ASSOCIATIONS, INCLUDING CERJ AND OTHERS WITH INTERNATIONAL TIES, FROM OPERATING AND HOLDING AUTHORIZED RALLIES AND MARCHES.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

THERE IS NO STATE RELIGION. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IS PROVIDED FOR IN THE CONSTITUTION AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. WHILE 70 PERCENT OF THE POPULACE IS NOMINALLY ROMAN CATHOLIC, MANY INDIANS MIX TRADITIONAL AND CATHOLIC BELIEFS. A LARGE NUMBER OF OTHER FAITHS OPERATE FREELY IN

GUATEMALA: OVER 25 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION ADHERES TO A VARIETY OF PROTESTANT DENOMINATIONS, MANY WITH INTERNATIONAL TIES. AS A RULE, FOREIGN PRIESTS AND MISSIONARIES WORKED WITHOUT OFFICIAL INTERFERENCE. GUATEMALA HAS SMALL MORMON, JEWISH, BAHA'I, BUDDHIST, JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES, AND ISLAMIC COMMUNITIES.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT RESTRICT FOREIGN TRAVEL DURING THE YEAR; CRITICS TRAVELED ABROAD FREELY AND RETURNED. THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT REVOKE CITIZENSHIP FOR POLITICAL REASONS. MOVEMENT WITHIN GUATEMALA WAS GENERALLY UNHINDERED EXCEPT IN AREAS OF MILITARY-GUERRILLA CONFLICT. THE EGP CONTINUED TO MAINTAIN TIGHT CONTROL OVER SEVERAL VILLAGES IN NORTHERN QUICHE AND SEVERELY RESTRICTED THE TRAVEL OF RESIDENTS WITH THREATS OF VIOLENCE AND WIDESPREAD USE OF LAND MINES. THE ARMY ALSO RESTRICTED MOVEMENT IN SOME AREAS.

SMALL-SCALE REPATRIATION OF GUATEMALAN REFUGEES FROM MEXICO CONTINUED DURING 1990, WITH THE RETURN OF SOME 750-1,000 PEOPLE. MANY OF THE ESTIMATED 45,000 REFUGEES STILL IN CAMPS IN MEXICO WERE AWAITING EXPECTED CHANGES IN THEIR STATUS IN MEXICO AS WELL AS THE OUTCOME OF THE ELECTIONS IN GUATEMALA. MANY HAVE ESTABLISHED ROOTS IN MEXICO OVER THE YEARS AND WILL PROBABLY NOT RETURN. MANY REFUGEES ALSO INSIST ON THE RETURN OF LANDS THEY CONSIDERED THEIRS BUT TO WHICH, IN MANY CASES, THEY DID NOT HOLD TITLE. THE GOVERNMENT WELCOMED THOSE WHO RETURNED, AND EFFORTS WERE MADE TO SETTLE THEM QUICKLY. BY YEAR'S END, THE SMALL GUATEMALAN REFUGEE CAMP IN HONDURAS HAD CLOSED, WITH MOST OF THE REFUGEES RETURNING TO GUATEMALA.

SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. THERE IS UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT; VOTING AGE IS 18. THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS. NATIONAL ELECTIONS WERE HELD ON NOVEMBER 11 WITH 20 REGISTERED POLITICAL PARTIES FIELDING NUMEROUS PRESIDENTIAL, CONGRESSIONAL, AND MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES. A RUN-OFF ELECTION BETWEEN THE TOP TWO PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES TOOK PLACE ON JANUARY 6 WITH A PEACEFUL TRANSFER OF POWER TO ANOTHER CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT ON JANUARY 14. PARTICIPATION RATES IN THE TWO ROUNDS WERE 56 AND 46 PERCENT, RESPECTIVELY. CANDIDATE DEBATES AND CONGRESSIONAL SESSIONS WERE WIDELY COVERED BY THE LOCAL MEDIA. CANDIDATES HAD ACCESS TO THE MEDIA, AND HELD RALLIES AND OTHER PUBLIC EVENTS WITHOUT OFFICIAL HINDRANCE. HUNDREDS OF FOREIGN OBSERVERS AND JOURNALISTS MONITORED THE GUATEMALAN ELECTIONS AND FOUND THEM TO BE FREE, FAIR, AND GENUINE.

DURING THE MEETING IN MADRID IN MAY BETWEEN GUERRILLA REPRESENTATIVES AND THOSE OF THE LEGAL POLITICAL PARTIES, BOTH SIDES AGREED TO HOLD CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY ELECTIONS IN 1991. THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY WOULD REDRAFT THE CONSTITUTION SO AS TO ALLOW GUERRILLAS TO PARTICIPATE IN THE POLITICAL PROCESS.

VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT HINDER INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS VISITING AND WORKING IN GUATEMALA, AND SENIOR OFFICIALS MET REPRESENTATIVES OF SUCH ORGANIZATIONS AS AMERICAS WATCH, THE WASHINGTON OFFICE ON LATIN AMERICA, AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL, THE INTERNATIONAL LAWYERS' COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, AND A GROUP LOOKING INTO THE CASE OF AMERICAN CITIZEN DIANA ORTIZ (SEE SECTION 1.C.). REPRESENTATIVES OF THE U.N. AND THE ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES ALSO VISITED GUATEMALA. SOME FOREIGN HUMAN RIGHTS-RELATED GROUPS--BRIGADAS DE PAZ, PEACE BRIGADES INTERNATIONAL, AND WITNESSES FOR PEACE--SET UP PERMANENT OFFICES WITHOUT OFFICIAL INTERFERENCE. IN DECEMBER CONGRESS RATIFIED AN AGREEMENT SIGNED IN SEPTEMBER 1989 BETWEEN THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS (ICRC), ALLOWING THE ICRC TO OPEN AN OFFICE IN GUATEMALA AND TO OPERATE THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

THE GOVERNMENT, HOWEVER, PROVED SENSITIVE TO OUTSIDE CRITICISM OF ITS HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD, LABELING IT AS POLITICAL. PRESIDENT CEREZO ASSERTED THAT U.S. GOVERNMENT CRITICISM WAS DRIVEN BY A DESIRE "TO PAY BACK" GUATEMALA FOR ITS FOREIGN POLICY INDEPENDENCE.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADVISORY COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS ENGAGED IN LITTLE ACTIVITY AND SEEMED MORE INTERESTED IN

EFFORTS TO DEFEND THE OFFICIAL RECORD AT THE UNITED NATIONS THAN IN CARRYING OUT WORK IN GUATEMALA.

THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, ESTABLISHED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, INCREASED ITS ACTIVITIES DURING THE YEAR UNDER ITS NEW HEAD, RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO, WHO WAS APPOINTED BY CONGRESS. THE OFFICE ESTABLISHED AN INVESTIGATIONS UNIT AND UNDERTOOK ENERGETIC EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGNS AMONG THE PUBLIC AND THE SECURITY FORCES. THE OFFICE ISSUED STRONG STATEMENTS CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, SECURITY FORCES, AND THE GUERRILLAS. IT ALSO REPORTED THAT IT HAD INFORMATION SUGGESTING INVOLVEMENT BY THE MILITARY IN THE MURDER OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE (SEE SECTION 1.A.). DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN ALVAREZ GUARDADO RISKED HIS LIFE IN MARCH TO SAVE CERJ LEADER ADILCAR MENDEZ FROM AN ATTACK BY CIVIL PATROLMEN IN PARRAXTUT; ALVAREZ AND MENDEZ WERE ESCORTING RETURNING FAMILIES WHO FLED PARRAXTUT IN THE WAKE OF THE MEJIA KILLING (SEE SECTION 1.A.) WHEN THEY WERE SET UPON. MENDEZ MANAGED TO FLEE BUT ALVAREZ WAS HELD AND THREATENED WITH DEATH. SOME DAYS LATER THE PATROL MEMBERS APOLOGIZED TO ALVAREZ; NO CRIMINAL CHARGES WERE FILED AGAINST THE ATTACKERS. THE FAMILIES RESUMED LIVING IN PARRAXTUT, BUT REPORTEDLY NOT ON A FULL-TIME BASIS. AS OF YEAR'S END, THE OFFICE HAD NOT YET ISSUED A LONG-AWAITED REPORT ON THE 1988 EL AGUACATE MASSACRE. IN DECEMBER THE OFFICE SPONSORED AN UNPRECEDENTED NATIONALLY TELEVISED HUMAN RIGHTS FORUM IN WHICH BOTH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES PARTICIPATED.

SECTION 5 DISCRIMINATION BASED ON RACE, SEX, RELIGION, LANGUAGE, OR SOCIAL STATUS

ABOUT ONE HALF OF THE POPULATION IS CULTURALLY INDIGENOUS AND THE REST LADINO. ALTHOUGH HAVING EQUAL LEGAL RIGHTS, INDIGENOUS PEOPLE GENERALLY REMAINED OUTSIDE THE NATIONAL CULTURE, LANGUAGE, AND ECONOMY. INDIGENOUS MALES CONTINUED TO BE MUCH MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN RESIDENTS TO BE DRAFTED INTO THE ARMY OR FORCIBLY RECRUITED INTO GUERRILLA GROUPS. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE COMBAT CASUALTIES AND MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES (SEE SECTIONS 1.A. AND B.). THERE WERE A FEW INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SERVING AS ARMY OFFICERS AND IN THE CONGRESS. THERE IS WIDESPREAD AND PERVASIVE SOCIAL DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THE INDIGENOUS PEOPLE.

WOMEN ARE VERY ACTIVE IN THE NATION'S WORK FORCE, PARTICULARLY IN AGRICULTURE, THE GROWING TEXTILE INDUSTRY, LOWER PAYING PUBLIC SECTOR JOBS, AND IN SMALL RETAIL BUSINESS. MANY WOMEN HELD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSTS DURING THE CEREZO ADMINISTRATION. DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACED DISCRIMINATION IN THE JOB MARKET. JOBS ARE OFTEN ADVERTISED ON THE BASIS OF SEX, WITH WOMEN GENERALLY SELECTED FOR LOWER PAYING ONES. THERE ARE NO NATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS DEVOTED TO WOMEN'S ISSUES. ONE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE IN THE 1990 ELECTION, RENE DE LEON, SELECTED A WOMAN AS HIS VICE-PRESIDENTIAL RUNNING-MATE AND ANOTHER, ALFONSO CABRERA, MADE "WOMEN'S ISSUES" A CAMPAIGN THEME.

NOFORN

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE SUCH AS WIFE BEATING, REMAINED COMMON BUT GENERALLY RECEIVED LITTLE ATTENTION FROM THE POLICE OR PRESS. CRIMINAL SEXUAL VIOLENCE OFTEN WENT UNREPORTED BY VICTIMS AND DID NOT RECEIVE A HIGH PRIORITY FROM POLICE; FEW CASES OF RAPE CAME BEFORE THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION

WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO JOIN OR FORM UNIONS. ABOUT 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED. THE LOW PERCENTAGE IS DUE IN PART TO A CIVIL CODE THAT HAS STRINGENT REQUIREMENTS FOR ORGANIZATIONS TO MEET IN ORDER TO OBTAIN LEGAL STATUS. WHILE STATUTES SET A LIMIT OF A FEW DAYS FOR PROCESSING APPLICATIONS, DELAYS OF MONTHS OR YEARS ARE NOT UNUSUAL. MUCH OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR, HOWEVER, IS ORGANIZED. DESPITE THESE HURDLES, 29 NEW LEGAL UNIONS WERE FORMED IN 1990, WITH 14 MORE APPROVED AND AWAITING OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION. MORE THAN 25 PERCENT OF ALL EXISTING UNIONS WERE APPROVED UNDER THE CEREZO ADMINISTRATION.

UNIONS ARE REQUIRED TO HAVE A MINIMUM OF 20 MEMBERS, BUT CRAFT UNIONS OF SKILLED WORKERS FROM SEVERAL COMPANIES ARE PERMITTED. THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC-ORIENTED CONFEDERATION CUSG FORMED SUCH A UNION AMONG MUNICIPAL WORKERS. IT HAS BEEN COMMON FOR EMPLOYERS TO FORM SEVERAL ENTITIES OF LESS THAN 20 WORKERS, IN THE HOPE WORKERS WOULD HAVE NO POSSIBILITY OF ORGANIZING. IN A VICTORY FOR UNIONS, A COURT RULED IN 1990 THAT AN ECONOMIC UNIT, LABORATORIOS BONIN, IN THE CASE UNDER CONSIDERATION, MUST BE TREATED AS A WHOLE. THE RULING WAS UNDER APPEAL AT YEAR'S END.

UNION LEADERS MUST SHOW THEY HAVE NO CRIMINAL RECORD, WORK AT THE COMPANY BEING ORGANIZED, AND CAN READ. THEY MAY SERVE ONLY ONE TERM IN A PARTICULAR UNION OFFICE, BUT BY ROTATING OFFICES THE SAME PERSONS CAN STAY ON THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

ALTHOUGH THE LABOR CODE SETS RESTRICTIONS ON POLITICAL ACTIVITY BY UNION LEADERS, THIS REFLECTS PROVISIONS IN EARLIER CONSTITUTIONS. THE PRESENT CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL PARTICIPATION FOR INDIVIDUALS AND DROPS THE PROHIBITION FOR UNIONS. UNIONS PLAYED A ROLE IN THE LAST TWO ELECTIONS, AND NO EFFORT WAS MADE TO PENALIZE THEM FOR THEIR ACTIVITIES. UNION LEADERS WERE CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS AND ACTIVELY TOOK PART IN

CAMPAIGNING. ONE VERY PROMINENT LABOR LEADER WAS ELECTED TO CONGRESS WITH THE UCN PARTY, AND TWO OTHERS ARE ALTERNATE CONGRESSMEN.

A NEW LABOR CODE, DRAFTED WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (ILO) EXPERTS, IS UNDER ACTIVE CONSIDERATION BY THE LABOR COMMITTEE IN CONGRESS. AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE NEW CODE WOULD STREAMLINE THE REGISTRATION PROCESS BY LIMITING THE ROLE OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TO CERTIFYING THAT WORKERS HAD NOT BEEN COERCED INTO JOINING A UNION.

THERE IS A "SOLIDARITY" MOVEMENT WHICH CRITICS CHARGE IS PROMOTED BY MANAGEMENT TO RIVAL GENUINE TRADE UNIONS. THE LABOR MINISTRY, HOWEVER, HAS REFUSED TO REGISTER THESE ORGANIZATIONS AS UNIONS.

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, BUT PROCEDURES FOR A LEGAL STRIKE ARE CUMBERSOME. MOST STRIKES SIMPLY OCCUR WITHOUT PERMISSION, AND, IN PRACTICE, THE MINISTRY OF LABOR MAKES NO EFFORT TO DETERMINE THEIR LEGALITY. THE FIRST LEGAL STRIKES IN MEMORY OCCURRED IN 1990--ALL THREE INVOLVED SMALL NUMBERS OF WORKERS. A DISSIDENT GROUP OF FORMER UNION LEADERS WAS ABLE TO OBTAIN A STRIKE VOTE BY EMPLOYEES OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY SYSTEM, BUT THE STRIKE NEVER TOOK PLACE. A MAJOR STRIKE INVOLVED THE OCCUPATION OF THE CAVISA GLASS FACTORY, SUPPOSEDLY OVER THE ISSUE OF JOB STABILITY. MANAGEMENT REFUSED TO BARGAIN UNTIL WORKERS WITHDREW FROM THE FACTORY. AFTER 5 MONTHS OF LEGAL WRANGLES, COURTS ORDERED POLICE TO REMOVE THE WORKERS, SOME OF WHOM CLAIMED THEY WERE TREATED HARSHLY. MANAGEMENT ESTIMATED 6 MILLION IN DAMAGES THROUGH NEGLECT AND PILFERAGE; THE FACTORY HAS NOT YET REOPENED. THE CAVISA UNION NOW EXISTS IN NAME ONLY.

UNIONS MAY FORM FEDERATIONS AND CONFEDERATIONS AND JOIN INTERNATIONAL BODIES. CUSG IS A PARTICIPANT IN THE INTER-AMERICAN REGIONAL ORGANIZATION OF WORKERS AND THROUGH IT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS (ICFTU); THE SOCIAL CHRISTIAN CONFEDERATION, CGTG, IS ACTIVE IN THE LATIN AMERICAN CONFEDERATION OF WORKERS, THE REGIONAL ORGANIZATION OF THE WORLD CONFEDERATION OF LABOR. NO UNION OPENLY MAINTAINS RELATIONS WITH THE COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED WORLD FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS (WFTU), BUT SOME LABOR LEADERS IN EXILE, WHO CLAIM TO LEAD UNIONS, REPRESENT THEM IN WFTU ACTIVITIES.

ALTHOUGH MANY LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL GROUPS, INCLUDING THE ICFTU, CHARGE THAT UNIONISTS HAVE BEEN "PARTICULAR TARGETS OF DEATH SQUADS," AVAILABLE EVIDENCE DOES NOT ESTABLISH A PATTERN OF SYSTEMATIC ATTACKS ON UNIONISTS BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS OR PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE SECURITY FORCES. LABOR VIOLENCE GENERALLY INVOLVES "THUGS" USED ON AN AD HOC BASIS BY EMPLOYERS AND OTHERS OPPOSED TO UNION ACTIVITIES. HOWEVER, THERE WERE THREATS TO AND VIOLENCE AGAINST UNIONISTS BY MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

WORKERS HAVE THE LEGAL RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN ORGANIZING ACTIVITIES AND TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY BUT VERY OFTEN ARE CONFRONTED BY DISCRIMINATORY ANTIUNION ACTIONS BY EMPLOYERS. LARGELY DISCREDITED LABOR COURTS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR ENFORCING LAWS PROHIBITING SUCH ANTIUNION DISCRIMINATION. AN EXAMPLE OF COURT INEFFECTIVENESS WAS THE 1988 DECISION THAT TEXTILES FRANCISCO CAPUANO Y HIJOS

REHIRE 60 WORKERS AND PAY BACK WAGES. TWO YEARS LATER, THE COURTS WERE STILL DEBATING THE COMPANY'S APPEAL OF THE 17$ FINE FOR DISOBEYING THE ORDER. THIRTY-SIX WORKERS REMAIN UNEMPLOYED; THE REST TOOK OTHER JOBS, LOSING REEMPLOYMENT RIGHTS. ANOTHER CASE INVOLVES THE EL PILAR SUGAR MILL IN APRIL. WORKERS WERE FIRED IN MARCH, 3 DAYS AFTER OBTAINING A COURT INJUNCTION TO ENABLE THEM TO FORM A UNION. ONE WORKER, JUAN TARACH, WAS KILLED IN A CAR ACCIDENT AND MANAGEMENT TOOK NO ACTION TO ALLAY SUSPICION THAT VIOLENCE MIGHT BE IMMINENT. EVENTUALLY, ALL BUT TWO WORKERS WITHDREW THEIR LEGAL CLAIMS. WHEN AN APPARENT ATTEMPT BY UNKNOWN PERSONS WAS MADE TO KILL THE TWO HOLD-OUTS, THEY OBTAINED ASYLUM IN CANADA. FOLLOWING A 5-MONTH OCCUPATION OF A BREWERY DISTRIBUTION CENTER IN RETALHULEU, A VISITING JUDGE RULED IN AUGUST THAT THE WORKERS HAD ENGAGED IN A LEGAL STRIKE. THE CASE, HOWEVER, WAS OVERRULED BY THE COURT OF APPEALS, WHICH ORDERED THE PRESIDING LABOR JUDGE IN RETALHULEU TO REOPEN THE CASE. THE PRESIDING JUDGE THEN REPORTEDLY THREATENED TO ISSUE ARREST WARRANTS FOR THOSE STRIKERS ASKING FOR BAIL AND PAYMENT FOR DAMAGES. THE WORKERS VOTED ON AUGUST 31 TO END THE STRIKE AND ACCEPT SEVERANCE PAY SO THE DISTRIBUTOR COULD CLOSE.

NOFORN

IN 1990 THE MINISTRY OF LABOR CONCLUDED A COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT WITH ITS UNION, THE FIRST SUCH AGREEMENT FOR CIVIL SERVANTS. THE GOVERNMENT, IN AN ELECTION YEAR MANEUVER, ATTEMPTED TO FORCE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING ON THE PRIVATE SECTOR THROUGH PROVISIONS IN AN INCENTIVE PAY LAW AND IN PROPOSED LEGISLATION ON SALARY POLICY; BOTH MET STRONG OPPOSITION FROM EMPLOYERS. MOST SALARIES ARE SET UNILATERALLY BY THE EMPLOYER THROUGH INDIVIDUAL NEGOTIATIONS, OR BY MINIMUM WAGE LEGISLATION.

LABOR LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLY UNIFORMLY THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. THE LAW WHICH AUTHORIZES THE ESTABLISHMENT OF EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES SPECIFIES THAT ALL LABOR CODE PROVISIONS WILL APPLY IN THEM. IN SOME INSTANCES THERE HAVE BEEN DE FACTO RESTRICTIONS ON ORGANIZING BY TEXTILE COMPANIES IN THE EXPORT SECTOR CAUSED BY BUREAUCRATIC INEFFICIENCY IN APPLYING THE RELEVANT LEGAL PENALTIES.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS FORCED LABOR AND THE PRACTICE GENERALLY DOES NOT EXIST. THERE ARE ALLEGATIONS THAT CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS HAVE VIOLATED THE PROHIBITION AGAINST FORCED LABOR. THERE WERE CREDIBLE ISOLATED INSTANCES OF UNPAID PATROLMEN BEING USED FOR ROAD WORK, BUILDING BARRACKS, OR CUTTING FIREWOOD. NO SYSTEMATIC PATTERN OF SUCH ABUSE HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

THE CONSTITUTION BARS EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN UNDER THE AGE OF 14 YEARS. IN THE INDUSTRIAL SECTOR, WHERE LABOR CODES ARE RELATIVELY EASY TO ENFORCE, CHILD LABOR DOES NOT SEEM COMMON. IN THE INFORMAL AND AGRICULTURAL SECTORS, HOWEVER, SUCH LABOR IS COMMON. IT IS NOT UNUSUAL TO SEE CHILDREN HELPING RUN SMALL FAMILY BUSINESSES, BEGGING, AND WASHING OR GUARDING CARS. A LOCAL ORGANIZATION, CASA ALIANZA, ESTIMATES THAT 5,000 STREET CHILDREN LIVE IN CITY STREETS, DOING WHATEVER THEY CAN TO SURVIVE. IN RURAL AREAS, ENTIRE FAMILIES WORK. THE LABOR MINISTER RECOGNIZES THE DIFFICULTY IN APPLYING CHILD LABOR LAWS WHEN POOR FAMILIES NEED THE INCOMES OF ALL MEMBERS TO SURVIVE.

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

THE WORKDAY IS LEGALLY 8 HOURS AND THE WORKWEEK 44 HOURS, BUT A TRADITION OF LONGER WORKDAYS REMAINS. THIRD-COUNTRY OWNERS OF TEXTILE PLANTS REPORTEDLY PAID MINIMUM WAGES FOR

A 12-HOUR DAY, VIOLATING BOTH THE CONSTITUTION AND THE LABOR CODE. THE MINISTRY OF LABOR HAD COMPLAINTS OF BEATINGS AND FIRINGS OF TEXTILE EMPLOYEES ACCUSED OF DOING LESS THAN THE EXPECTED WORKLOAD. LABOR INSPECTORS, WHO REPORT TO THE LABOR COURTS, WERE NOT DILIGENT IN ENFORCING THE 8-HOUR DAY, IN PART BECAUSE THIRD-COUNTRY TEXTILE PLANTS MOVE WHEN THEY FIND CONDITIONS MORE ATTRACTIVE ELSEWHERE.

TRADITIONAL LANDOWNERS FILED LEGAL CHALLENGES TO AN OFFICIAL DECREE RAISING RURAL WAGES FROM 0.70 TO 2.00 PER DAY. ON OCTOBER 1, A GOVERNMENT DECREE SET THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR CONSTRUCTION WORKERS AT APPROXIMATELY 2.00 PER DAY. THIS IS THE DE FACTO WAGE IN THE URBAN SECTOR. ALTHOUGH THERE ARE STILL MORE THAN 20 SECTORS WITH LOWER WAGES, INCLUDING THE EXPORT PROCESSING SECTOR, IT IS EXPECTED THAT THE EFFECTIVE WAGE WILL REACH 2.00 FOR MOST PRODUCTIVE SECTORS. REAL WAGES HAVE NOT KEPT PACE WITH THE SHARP RISE IN INFLATION OVER THE YEAR.

EL SALVADOR

El Salvador has a freely elected democratic Government, with an executive branch headed by a president, a unicameral Legislative Assembly, and a separate but politically appointed judiciary. Alfredo Cristiani of the Nationalist Republican Alliance (ARENA) party was inaugurated President on June 1, 1989.

The Armed Forces of El Salvador (ESAF) include the public security forces and the civil defense forces (CDF). The security forces, composed of the National Police, National Guard, and Treasury Police, share law enforcement responsibilities and report to the Vice Minister of Defense. El Salvador does not yet have a civilian police force.

El Salvador has a mixed economy, and private property is generally respected. In mid-1989 the Cristiani administration implemented an economic adjustment program to reduce the role and size of the public sector in the economy. In so doing, the Government relinquished much of its economic planning and price-setting authority to market forces. Agriculture, the backbone of the economy (coffee accounts for 65 percent of foreign exchange earnings), responded particularly well during 1990 to the new incentives. However, further economic progress was hindered by guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti Front for National Liberation (FMLN), whose continued attacks on the electrical grid and other economic targets cost the country approximately $100 million in 1990. The FMLN, with the assistance of civilian support groups, has been at war with the governments of El Salvador since 1979.

In 1990 both the FMLN and the ESAF committed serious human rights violations, including political and other extrajudicial killings and disappearances. The FMLN also engaged in forced recruitment and caused civilian casualties by the indiscriminate use of land mines and attacks launched on and in residential areas. The ESAF engaged in the torture of detainees, arbitrary arrest and detention, and intimidation and abuse of noncombatants perceived as sympathetic to the FMLN. The possibility of a resurgence of rightwing death squad activity remained a serious concern.

With some notable exceptions, the justice system was unable to prosecute most of those responsible for human rights violations. The ESAF and the FMLN continued to avoid or resist legal accountability for such violations. The efficiency of the judiciary is also severely limited by political manipulation, corruption, and intimidation. In the Jesuit case, which arose from the massacre of six priests, their housekeeper, and her daughter by members of the elite Atlacatl Battalion in November 1989, members of the military have been charged with perjury and with destroying evidence, and others have failed to cooperate in the judicial proceedings. Nevertheless, the case moved to the trial stage in December. Eight suspects, including Col. Guillermo Benavides, former director of the military academy, have been arrested and are in custody.

Judges dropped most charges in two key human rights cases, the San Sebastian murders and the operation of a kidnaping ring. Some soldiers and CDF members were sentenced to prison in 1990 for various crimes, including the 1982 murder of U.S. citizen Michael Kline. However, military officers from prosecution for the numerous and grave human rights violations they have committed over the past decade.

Virtually all human rights monitors, including the United Nations Human Rights Commission (UNHRC) Special Rapporteur for El Salvador, agreed that there were fewer human rights violations by both the ESAF and the FMLN during 1990 than in 1989. The Special Rapporteur also noted that both sides were making conscientious efforts to improve their human rights performance. However, increased FMLN attacks late in the year led to additional human rights violations. Meanwhile, peace negotiations between the Government and the FMLN continued in 1990 under U.N. auspices. On July 26, the Government and the FMLN signed a human rights agreement in Costa Rica, calling on both sides to respect human rights and providing for a human rights verification agreement once a cease-fire takes effect. In September the Interparty Dialog Commission (IPDC), created to give political parties a voice in the negotiations, agreed on an electoral reform package for the March 1991 legislative and municipal elections.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Section 1 Respect for the Integrity of the Person, Including Freedom from:

a. Political and Other Extrajudicial Killing

Discerning a trend or pattern in the level of political violence in El Salvador is difficult, and the collection and classification of information on politically motivated killings is inexact. Common criminal murders may be disguised as political killings while political murders may be wrongly classified as common crimes.

Political and other killings by the FMLN continued in 1990. Credible sources cite the FMLN as responsible for the March 23 machine gun attack which killed Otto Valdemar Sorto, the son-in-law of air force commander General Rafael Villamariona; the June 18 killing of Berta Flores Beltran and Maria Elena Romero in Mejicanos, San Salvador; the July 9 killing of off-duty army Major Carlos Alonso Figueroa in San Salvador; the July 29 torture and murder of Victor Manuel Reyes, a CDF member; and the August 23 attack on a military ambulance, killing two and seriously injuring several others. The FMLN admitted that it murdered two American servicemen on January 2, 1991.

Credible reports of civilians killed for political reasons by the military and security forces persist. On March 10, Efrain and Cristina Cabrera were killed in La Hachadura, Ahuachapan. According to the government Human Rights Commission (CDH), armed and uniformed men broke into the Cabrera home, abused family members, and took money and electronic equipment. Efrain Cabrera was fatally shot in the head and his wife wounded. No serious investigation of the crime was being conducted as of year's end. The U.N. Special Rapporteur's report noted that Julian Rosales Lopez died from torture after being detained on February 2 by soldiers of the Atlacatl Battalion in San Salvador department, and that Begona Garcia Arandigoyen, an FMLN medical worker, was apparently captured and murdered by soldiers Cuscatlan, murdered Osmin Escobar on the suspicion that he was a guerrilla.

In 1990 various sources charged that rightwing death squads were operating. In an October report, Amnesty International (AI) charged that from January to August 1990 death squads had killed at least 45 people. The U.N. Special Rapporteur concluded that the ESAF's involvement or acquiescence in death squad activity was credible but difficult to verify. Guatemalan authorities and others claimed that a Salvadoran death squad killed Hector Oquell, the Deputy Secretary General of El Salvador's National Revolutionary Movement, and Gilda Flores, a Guatemalan lawyer, on January 11, in Guatemala. However, the Guatemalan Government offered no evidence of Salvadoran involvement in the murders. There is no investigation in progress in El Salvador. President Cristiani offered his cooperation to then-President Vinicio Cerezo, but his offer was never taken up.

b. Disappearance

The Constitution and government policy forbid unacknowledged detention by the security forces or the military. According to press reports, a total of 133 civilians disappeared between January and October. This figure included nonpolitical disappearances such as lost or runaway children aged 10 and over. Persons who desert their families, emigrate, or join guerrilla ranks may also account for some of the disappearances. Many persons reported missing by family members were later found to have been legally arrested and reported to human rights organizations, such as the CDH. Others reappear but are never removed from the lists of the disappeared.

There continued to be credible charges that persons disappeared after being seized by the ESAF during 1990. On December 5, 1989, brothers Juan Antonio and Julio Cesar Vasquez, of the San Cayetano agricultural cooperative, were apparently arrested by soldiers from the 7th military detachment (DM-7). On December 29, just after passing a police road block, four more cooperative members were apparently detained by soldiers from DM-7 and later taken away by armed men in civilian clothes. Two of the victims were reportedly seen by another member of the cooperative as they were being driven blindfolded toward Santa Ana by uniformed personnel. The ESAF deny knowing anything about the incidents, and judicial authorities have not conducted an in-depth investigation. On December 31, 1989, members of the FEDECOOPADES peasant organization stated that Angel Maria Flores and Julia Del Carmen Ponce, of the La Reforma cooperative, were taken away by heavily armed men in civilian clothes in Chalchuapa, Santa Ana. No word was received of their whereabouts until January 24, when a body which had been found by the side of a Santa Ana roadway in early January was identified as that of Flores; on January 29, a second body was identified as that of Ponce. FEDECOOPADES members charged that personnel from DM-7 were involved in the crime, but neither judicial nor police authorities conducted any investigation of the case. On January 9, 1990, Nelson Chinchilla, a foreman on a project in Ahuachapan funded by the [illegible] taken away from father refused to file a complaint, there was no formal investigation.

Between January and July, the press reported that 49 persons were abducted by the guerrillas, and 9 others were abducted by unknown assailants. Without knowing the motive, the identity of the abductors, or the personal history of the 9 victims, it is impossible to say whether any of these might have been politically motivated abductions.

c. Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

In 1990 there continued to be credible reports of torture and abuse of some detainees by the public security forces and the military. Reliable human rights monitors reported that detainees were threatened, deprived of food and sleep, subjected to prolonged interrogation while blindfolded, forced to stand for long periods of time, and beaten. Instances of severe beatings, rape, choking, use of a hood to asphyxiate, injection with unidentified drugs, and electric shock were also reported. Almost all detainees arrested for alleged FMLN membership claim to have been forced to sign confessions without being permitted to read them. Most reports charge that human rights violations occur during the 72-hour period of administrative detention, prior to the presentation of a prisoner before a judge. Despite new orders issued by the High Command on July 31 prohibiting such mistreatment, these abuses have continued.

The CDH reports complaints of mistreatment to the commanding officer of the unit implicated in the abuse and to the Ministry of Defense. The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) also reports its findings, based on interviews with prisoners and ex-prisoners or on information gathered from other sources, to the President and Minister of Defense. The CDH reported that the High Command is responsive to its complaints, although it is not clear what corrective action, if any, was taken. There were no prosecutions in 1990 of ESAF personnel for abuse of prisoners or detainees.

During 1990 government forces frequently resorted to abusive tactics to intimidate noncombatants perceived as sympathizing with the FMLN. On December 13, soldiers in La Libertad department detained and tortured Roberto Cambara, a political organizer and a member of the Popular Christian Socialist Movement's (MPSC) National Council. Opposition leaders accused civil defense units of abuses, including harassment of their campaign workers. In July the CDH charged that civil defense members were committing violent crimes and abuses of authority with alarming frequency, and that these actions were provoking fear and insecurity among civilians. The U.N. Special Rapporteur also noted the use of intimidation and threats, including the circulation of death lists, by government forces against certain groups such as labor unions, cooperatives, and peasant movements which are perceived as sympathetic to the FMLN. The U.N. Special Rapporteur noted incidents in 1990 of continuing intimidation by the ESAF against some members of religious groups. In a 1990 report, the Inter-American Human Rights Commission (IAHRC) cited the ESAF's harsh treatment of [illegible]

Physicians for Human Rights (PHR) asserts that medical and other humanitarian workers confront similar problems.

An August 21 transfer of prisoners from La Esperanza penitentiary, near San Salvador, to other penal institutions touched off intense controversy. The nongovernmental Human Rights Commission of El Salvador (CDHES) charged that 52 political prisoners had disappeared and been beaten by First Brigade soldiers. The ICRC and other human rights groups later confirmed that none of the prisoners were kidnaped or disappeared, nor did First Brigade soldiers participate in the transfer other than to provide security. The Human Rights office of the Lutheran Church lodged a formal complaint with the Attorney General alleging that prisoners were violently routed out of their cells, beaten, and threatened with death. Prison authorities denied charges of mistreatment. However, it is probable that excessive force was used to effect the transfer, although reports of death threats are probably exaggerated.

On August 20, Jesuit priests Jon Cortina and P. Nicolas Alvarenga were shot at in Guarjila, Chalatenango. Both priests charged that they were the targets of an army sniper attack. The ESAF denied the charge. At year's end, the ESAF and the CDH had yet to release the results of their investigations.

d. Arbitrary Arrest, Detention, or Exile.

The Constitution prohibits arbitrary arrest. However, during the first half of 1990, there were numerous cases of arbitrary arrest and detention, particularly when subversive activity was suspected. From January to August, according to Ministry of Defense statistics, the security forces detained 881 persons, including 53 foreigners, on suspicion of subversive offenses. Of those detained, 433 were subsequently released and never formally charged, while the remainder were consigned to the courts, deported, or sent to juvenile facilities. The IAHRC reported incidents in which government forces, when unable to locate the persons they were looking for, arrested members of the detainees' immediate families.

The Constitution requires that all persons detained by the ESAF be turned over to the courts within 72 hours of arrest (or 15 days during a state of exception) or be freed, but this requirement is frequently ignored. Although it is a crime for the public security forces or the military to hold a suspect longer than 72 hours, violators are rarely prosecuted for this crime. The ESAF routinely fail to notify the courts during the 72-hour period of administrative detention, and the accused are seldom provided legal counsel during this period. Regulations require that security and military forces register detainees and have them examined by a doctor or a nurse upon entry into a detention facility. In arrests related to the insurgency, the ESAF is required to notify promptly the family of the detainee, Tutela Legal, the CDH, and the ICRC.

During the arraignment proceedings, the judge may order the accused detained for up to an additional 72 hours (or 15 days under the state of emergency) to determine if the evidence warrants holding the accused for further investigation. This time limit is normally, but not without exception, adhered to in practice.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

In practice, however, these requirements are rarely observed, primarily due to the backlog of cases. All persons held in the prison system, however, are incarcerated by judicial order, if not by sentence.

As a recourse against illegal detention, any accused person may, from the time it appears that a court will issue an arrest warrant until the trial is completed and a sentence imposed, request a review from an appeals court or the Supreme Court on the legal basis for the detention. Such an appeal freezes action on the case until the higher court has rendered its decision.

On July 31, the High Command sent a general order to the ESAF establishing a new standard operating procedure (SOP) on arrests and treatment of prisoners. The new procedure was promulgated to bring government practice into line with the human rights accords signed in San Jose on July 26. The SOP prohibits arrests without a written order from a judge unless a person is caught in the act of committing a crime ("in the act" was defined as immediately before, during, or up to 24 hours after a crime is committed); or if someone denounces a suspected criminal to the authorities; or if a person is in possession of some instrument used in the crime. In all other cases, the SOP directs that arrests be made only by members of the public security forces (not the military), pursuant to a written order from a competent authority. Except for arrests made "in the act," officers must wear uniforms, carry public security force identification cards, and make all arrests between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. The SOP also requires that officers inform detainees, in easily understood language, of the reason for their arrest and the charges against them at the time of arrest. It also directs security forces to allow detainees immediately to contact and consult privately with legal counsel or anyone else they wish. It requires military units and the security forces to place special emphasis on cooperation with writs of habeas corpus.

Various nongovernmental sources indicate that the public security forces and the military have made an effort to comply with the requirements of the new SOP. Complaints of arbitrary arrest and detention have decreased substantially since July 31, and the rate of arrests was reportedly a quarter of what it was prior to that date.

In an attempt to improve public accounting for detainees, the Supreme Court opened an information office on August 1. The office is supposed to receive timely reports from the courts, the military, and the public security forces on arrests and the status of detainees. In practice, the courts routinely provide timely information on detainees under their jurisdiction, but there are credible reports that the ESAF sometimes report detentions late or not at all.

Bail is available for some minor offenses but is seldom used.

There are no provisions in the law for exile. Many FMLN leaders claim to be in "self-imposed" exile and might be subject to arrest for participation in guerrilla operations if they were to return to El Salvador.

e. Denial of Fair Public Trial

peace. The court structure is divided into five levels: justices of the peace, courts of the first instance (trial courts); chambers of the second instance (appeals courts), chambers of the Supreme Court, and the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court hears appeals from appellate courts, decides writs of habeas corpus and constitutional questions, and settles disputes between the legislative and executive branches. Jury verdicts can be neither overruled by a judge nor appealed to a higher court. However, the sentence may be appealed successively up to the Supreme Court. Appeals are rare.

Although a public defender can be made available to the defendant in the investigative stage, their number is still insufficient to ensure that due process is given to more than a small percentage of indigent detainees. Defendants must be represented by counsel at the trial, and counsel is appointed by the court if none has been selected by the defendant. In theory, defendants have the right to the presumption of innocence; protection from self-incrimination; legal counsel; freedom from coercion; to be present in court; the opportunity to confront witnesses; and compensation for damages due to judicial error. In practice, almost all of these rights are restricted to various degrees.

Although nominally independent of the executive and legislative branches, in practice the judiciary is strongly influenced through the appointments process. Political affiliation or family ties, rather than professional capabilities, are often the most important criteria in appointing judges. Reappointment is based more on a judge's political loyalty than on integrity or professional qualifications. Ten years of war have added to the pressures on judicial personnel, who have always been vulnerable to political influence, bribes, and threats. Judges are often afraid to investigate or prosecute members of the armed forces or the FMLN; death threats are also common in cases which involve organized crime. The absence of a military justice system means that those offenders whom the military will not publicly identify are seldom, if ever, subject to the civilian courts. Although judicial reform programs have helped effect technical improvements since 1984, the weak and inefficient judiciary continues to be a serious impediment to improving the country's human rights record.

Historically, civilian judicial authority has not extended to the military officer corps. Some low-ranking members of the military and police have been discharged and turned over to the civilian courts for trial on criminal charges, but traditionally officers of the armed and security forces have been treated differently from other citizens before the law. Judges are frequently reluctant to bring charges against them, and colleagues often fail to cooperate in the prosecution of crimes imputed to a fellow officer. There have been exceptions. Col. Benavides, three lieutenants, and four enlisted men were arrested on January 16, 1990, on murder charges in connection with the Jesuit case. President Cristiani and several senior military officers waived certain privilges and gave testimony in person, and the case moved to the trial stage in December. In May 26 members of the civil defense forces were sentenced to 30 years in prison for the [illegible] murder of 23 peasants in San Pedro Perulapan

Rubina Reyes was convicted of the 1982 murder of U.S. citizen Michael Kline (two other defendents were acquitted) and sentenced to 15 years. Also in June an army sergeant was sentenced to 30 years in prison for the 1988 murder of two Guatemalan businessmen. In addition, the military turned over an Atlacatl Battalion soldier to the civilian courts for trial in the August 1989 death of 17-year-old Miguel Ernesto Miranda Reina.

On the other hand, elements of the military continue to resist a full investigation of the Jesuit case. Evidence has been fabricated and destroyed, some witnesses have provided false testimony, and members of the military have generally failed to cooperate in the judicial proceedings. In June Lieutenant Colonel Carlos Camilo Hernandez (Deputy Director of the Military Academy at the time of the murders), was indicted for obstruction of justice. In August and September, three Atlacatl Battalion enlisted men were arrested on perjury charges relating to testimony they gave in the case.

The case against 12 soldiers held for the 1988 murders of 10 peasants in San Sebastian virtually collapsed in 1990. In April the San Vicente appeals court ordered trial proceedings to be initiated against Maj. Mauricio de Jesus Beltran Granados, but also decided on questionable grounds to release the other 11 defendants because of insufficient evidence. On June 4, a jury found a soldier innocent of the election day 1989 killing of journalist Mauricio Pineda de Leon; media reports claimed that several soldiers attended the 1-day trial, possibly intimidating the jury. The case against military officers (both active-duty and retired) and rightwing civilians who ran a kidnaping and auto theft ring in the early 1980's also virtually collapsed in 1990. In May, a new judge in the case suddenly dropped arrest orders against five of the six fugitives. Of the remaining three defendants, only two (Major Jose Alfredo Jimenez and Lieutenant Rodolfo Lopez Sibrian) remained in custody at year's end.

In September prison authorities reported there were 167 political prisoners (CDHES puts the figure at 194) detained for terrorist activities and another 58 detained for related offenses.

f. Arbitrary Interference with Privacy, Family, Home, or Correspondence.

The Government generally does not interfere arbitrarily in the personal lives of citizens, although the Constitution gives the Government the right to intervene when national security is threatened. The military draft is applied arbitrarily; the sons of the wealthy or the well-connected are almost never required to serve.

According to the Constitution, before entering a private dwelling the security forces must have the resident's consent, a warrant, or a reasonable belief that a crime is being or is about to be committed. In practice, the ESAF often uses forced entry without a warrant to carry out arrests and investigations. The ESAF also frequently intercepts mail deliveries in war zones. Wiretapping of telephone communications by the Government [illegible] roadblocks, expropriating food and medical supplies, intercepting mail, and forcing villagers to attend indoctrination sessions. They engage in forced recruitment to fill their ranks or to obtain laborers and porters. FMLN committees often exercise a high degree of coercive control over refugee camps. The guerrillas have often demonstrated their willingness to use intimidation, including murder, to enforce obedience.

g. Use of Excessive Force and Violations of Humanitarian Law in Internal Conflicts

Credible charges of improper air force bombings near civilian populations resulting in civilian deaths continued in 1990, especially in areas of intense guerrilla activity such as Chalatenango, Cabanas, and Morazan where military operations received close air support. The air force accepted responsibility for the deaths of 5 civilians and the injury of 15 others during a February 11 engagement between the military and the FMLN in Chalatenango. The High Command ordered the air force to pay compensation to the families of the victims, but none had been paid by the end of 1990.

The ESAF controls the flow of supplies and access of humanitarian organizations to villages (including refugee communities) in areas of combat or heavy guerrilla presence. There have been credible reports supporting the ESAF's assertion that supplies are being diverted to the guerrillas. Groups that work with repatriated communities in war zones have admitted that they barter or sell goods to the guerrillas. U.S. media reports, as well as numerous local sources, maintain that uniformed FMLN guerrillas routinely use resettlement camps as support bases.

The FMLN often forcibly occupies civilian homes for use as shelters and bases to attack government targets. This tactic was used when the FMLN attacked Ilopango Air Base in October, and again during their "limited offensive" in November. The guerrillas' use of unmarked, indiscriminately placed mines and booby traps is also a major cause of death and maiming among peasants. However, the use of these mines may be declining: they killed 40 civilians in 1989 and 8 in the first 7 months of 1990.

Section 2 Respect for Civil Liberties, Including:

a. Freedom of Speech and Press

During 1990, there were no governmental restrictions on freedom of speech and the press. El Salvador has a vigorous local press which regularly prints commentary strongly critical of the Government. There are five daily newspapers, five television stations, and numerous radio stations, all of which provide nationwide coverage. There are also two cable television systems that broadcast news programs from abroad. The Government owns two television channels and one radio station. The ESAF also operate a radio station, as does the Catholic Church. Television interviews feature a full range of political figures, labor leaders, human rights activists, private sector representatives, and government officials. One television station aired an exclusive 30-minute interview with FMLN commander Shafik Handal in September. Three of the periodicals, bulletins, and paid advertisements in the daily press.

Academic freedom is provided for by the Constitution and generally respected by the Government. There is no government interference with university curriculums. However, the Government forced the University of El Salvador to close during the November 1989 FMLN offensive but allowed it to reopen 7 months later. FMLN elements exploit the University's autonomy, which prohibits law enforcement authorities from entering the campus, by using the facilities as a safe haven and staging center for urban operations.

b. Freedom of Peaceful Assembly and Association

Any association not formed for criminal purposes is legal and permitted in El Salvador. Numerous political, professional, religious, labor, and social organizations, including some allied with the FMLN, operate without legal restriction. Groups from the left and the right criticize the Government and hold marches and demonstrations without government interference. In 1990 there were large, uneventful demonstrations on May Day and on September 15 by groups strongly critical of the Government and its policies. However, the U.N. Special Rapporteur noted ESAF harrassment and abuse of the members of certain groups, such as labor unions and peasant organizations (see Section 1.c.).

In contrast to 1989, there were no violent demonstrations in 1990. There were no reports of politically motivated violence against the offices of nongovernmental organizations in 1990. Due largely to the destruction of evidence by FENASTRAS activists and the noncooperation of witnesses, there has been no further investigation and no charges brought in the October 31, 1989, bombings of the offices of the FENASTRAS labor federation and the Committee of Mothers of Political Prisoners, Disappeared and Assassinated of El Salvador (CO-MADRES). In September 1990, FENASTRAS leaders offered to present new evidence regarding the bombing and asked the U.S. Embassy for assistance. By year's end, however, FENASTRAS had provided no new information nor produced the witnesses it claimed to have.

c. Freedom of Religion

Freedom of religion is provided for by the Constitution and is respected in practice. The country is predominantly Roman Catholic, but an estimated 20 percent of the population practices other faiths, mostly Protestant.

d. Freedom of Movement Within the Country, Foreign Travel, Emigration, and Repatriation

The Constitution establishes the right of free movement. Article 97 specifically states that foreigners may not involve themselves in the internal political affairs of the country. This Article has been used on occasion by the Government to deny entry or to deport foreigners it believes might violate that section of the law. Local military commanders require that foreigners apply for permission to enter war zones and often restrict entry when military operations are under way in those areas. Movements by [illegible] those without proper identification documents are subject to arrest and detention.

In 1985 there were an estimated 525,000 displaced persons in El Salvador. By October 1990, about 125,000 still required government assistance. There may be another 7,000 persons who were not registered with the Government and receive assistance from private relief organizations. An additional 22,000 Salvadorans are refugees in other Central American countries and in Mexico, and more than 550,000 are estimated to be undocumented immigrants in the United States.

In July the Government established a repatriation assistance office to facilitate full reintegration of repatriated persons into Salvadoran society. The office is supposed to coordinate assistance to repatriates, help them obtain identification documents, and coordinate the introduction of basic services, such as health, education, and sanitation, into repatriated communities. In early 1990, the Ministry of Public Works responded to the request of the Segundo Montes repatriated community (near Meanguera, Morazan) and constructed a bridge across the Torola River. Although there have been reports of the FMLN collecting tolls on it, the bridge has opened markets and better communication between northern and southern Morazan for the first time in 4 years.

The Government, with assistance from the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the ICRC, has registered some 400 Nicaraguan refugees, although officials estimate as many as 3,000 are residing in the far southeastern part of the country. Registered refugees are free to travel within El Salvador.

The Government imposes no control on emigration and cooperates with international organizations that arrange Salvadoran emigration to other countries.

Section 3 Respect for Political Rights: The Right of Citizens to Change Their Government

The Constitution provides the rights and procedures by which citizens can change their government by peaceful means. The Constitution allows all political parties that do not advocate armed opposition to the democratic system to participate in the electoral process. It establishes the right to membership in any legally recognized party, and even parties with links to the FMLN are permitted to participate in elections. Voting is by secret ballot.

There have been six national elections since 1982. On March 19, 1989, six parties, representing a wide spectrum of political views, participated in the presidential election in which the incumbent Christian Democratic Party (PDC) lost the presidency to the Nationalist Republican Alliance (ARENA). It marked the nation's first democratic transfer of power from a ruling party to the opposition.

The FMLN refused to participate in the 1989 elections and sought to disrupt the process through attacks and threats. Nevertheless, the elections saw the participation of political groups previously allied to the FMLN and the return to the political scene of leftist leaders Guillermo Ungo and Ruben plans to field candidates in the national legislative and municipal elections scheduled for March 1991.

The IPDC agreed on an electoral reform package for the March 1991 legislative and municipal elections. The agreement brought together for the first time nine political parties, including the Nationalist Democratic Union (UDN--the electoral arm of the Communist Party of El Salvador). The UDN, which did not participate in the 1989 elections, stated that it will participate in the 1991 elections whether or not a cease-fire is in place.

Section 4 Governmental Attitude Regarding International and Nongovernmental Investigation of Alleged Violations of Human Rights.

The Government continued to be receptive to groups interested in human rights. High-ranking government officials and military officers met regularly during 1990 with visiting legislators from different countries and with members of human rights organizations, church and labor groups, and others.

Americas Watch and the Lawyers Committee for Human Rights maintain a joint office in San Salvador. The ICRC has an agreement with the Government that permits it to work in the war zones to assist noncombatants, to visit prisoners and detainees accused of guerrilla activity, and to make confidential reports to the Government on human rights issues. Tutela Legal and the CDH also have access to the prisons. The U.N. Special Rapporteur made his tenth annual visit to the country in October. The Lutheran Church, the National Association of Indigenous Persons (ANIS), many labor unions, universities, and other nongovernmental organizations also have human rights and legal assistance offices which operate without legal restriction.

Domestic human rights organizations active in El Salvador include the CDH and Tutela Legal. The CDH receives testimony about human rights violations, conducts investigations, and reports to local commanding officers and the Ministry of Defense when it discovers a case of abuse. However, neither former President Duarte nor President Cristiani ever appointed the five-member executive board that is supposed to guide the CDH's work and give it necessary political support. National and international human rights organizations view it as a public relations branch of the Government with no real role in monitoring or reporting on the human rights situation. Nonetheless, the CDH remains the best source of information regarding detainees and a good source on the condition of those released from custody.

Tutela Legal often conducts its own investigations by visiting persons detained by the security forces, doing some on-site investigations, and reporting its findings to government authorities. Although it is the main human rights investigative agency in El Salvador and is well respected internationally, Tutela Legal's methodology has sometimes been criticized. Tutela Legal has occasionally asserted, based on circumstantial evidence alone, that certain killings were perpetrated by the Government when such was not the case. Human rights instruction is a formal and regular part of police recruit training and officers' classes. The CDH, the

El Salvador is an ethnically homogeneous country, though a small segment of the population claims to have descended solely from indigenous peoples. There is no official discrimination against them. Discrimination in housing, jobs, and education is not a major problem. The Government neither permits nor condones discrimination.

Under the Constitution, women enjoy the same legal rights as men. In practice, however, women are faced with various forms of de facto discrimination. Salaries for women are generally lower than those for men, and employers are often reluctant to hire women, alleging that they are regarded as less reliable than men.

Violence against women, including domestic violence, is widespread, but the lack of reliable statistics makes it impossible to gauge its precise extent. There are credible reports that judges often dismiss rape charges on the pretext that the victim provoked the crime.

Section 6 Worker Rights

a. The Right of Association

The 1983 Constitution prohibits the Government from using nationality, sex, race, creed, or political philosophy to prevent workers from organizing themselves into unions or associations. This provision was intended to provide the legal framework for secondary legislation, including a revised labor code which has never been enacted. In the wake of the April 1990 agreement between the Government and the FMLN to renew peace talks, President Cristiani established a tripartite socioeconomic commission to review conditions in El Salvador. The commission formed six subcommittees, one of which is dedicated to discussing the reform of labor legislation. The subcommittee is chaired by the Labor Minister and includes prominent labor and business leaders. Efforts to achieve a consensus on labor legislation reform continued, but no proposal had been forwarded to the legislature by year's end.

A confusing and sometimes conflicting set of laws governing labor relations remains in place. While existing statutes provide protections which are enforceable under the Constitution, their inconsistencies often result in cumbersome procedures and significant delays.

Legally, only private sector nonagricultural workers have the right to form unions and to strike. Employees of the nine autonomous public agencies may form unions but are barred from striking. The absence of specific laws granting public employees the right to strike does not deter such strike activity. Existing law bars agricultural workers and employees of government ministries and departments from forming unions or striking. These employees are represented by associations which, in practice, participate in activities the same as unions, including resorting to strikes. Public sector associations, through a coordinating body called the Interstatal, staged a series of coordinated strikes during the

The labor code requires that disputes go through direct bargaining, conciliation, and arbitration before a strike can be called. Labor courts, which are part of the judicial system and are ultimately responsible to the Supreme Court, are competent to determine the legality of strikes. In practice, both labor and management often ignore the onerous and time-consuming legal requirements, and most strikes are therefore technically illegal. In several instances, workers have occupied factory premises as part of a work stoppage. In cases where such activity is part of an illegal strike, security forces have intervened on occasion.

Public sector workers staged a series of work stoppages during the year demanding wage increases, and there were a number of private sector strikes.

There are approximately 150 active trade unions, employee associations, and peasant organizations in El Salvador. Their combined membership is just over 400,000, roughly 15 percent of the work force. The National Union of Workers and Peasants (UNOC), claiming some 200,000 members, remains by far the country's largest labor organization. These organizations freely elect their officers in accordance with their individual constitutions and bylaws. Leaders of worker organizations appear regularly on television, publicize their views in the country's major newspapers, and conduct seminars on various issues without government interference. Unions have also been able to organize or participate in peaceful public demonstrations without government interference.

The state of emergency declared by President Cristiani in response to the FMLN offensive of November 1989 limited freedom of association until the state of emergency was lifted in April 1990. Unions were able to conduct business on a normal basis despite the state of emergency, however, and were required only to request prior authorization for large meetings, and such permission appeared to have been routinely granted during 1990. Both the pro-FMLN National Unity of Salvadoran Workers (UNTS) and UNOC held general assemblies during the state of emergency without interference from the authorities. Under the state of emergency, one union meeting was broken up and the participants briefly held when senior military officials failed to inform lower-level officials that authorization for the meeting had been granted. The union leaders were quickly released when the improper arrest was pointed out to the military High Command. Nevertheless, incidents of harassment and violence against unionists and members of cooperatives by government forces continued in 1990 (see below and Sections 1.b. and 1.c.).

There are no restrictions on affiliation with international labor organizations, and Salvadoran unions freely affiliate with such groups without prior authorization, including the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, the World Confederation of Labor, and the Communist-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions.

In 1990 the Committee on Freedom of Association (CFA) of the International Labor Organization (ILO) continued its consideration of four cases based on complaints filed by several international and Salvadoran labor organizations alleging violations of ILO Convent[illegible] date back to 1981, allege, inter alia, that the Government was implicated in the murder, harassment, intimidation, and disappearance of trade unionists, and the destruction of trade union property, and that certain public employees were denied the right to organize and bargain collectively, and were not protected from antiunion discrimination. The CFA noted the Government's reply, according to which an agreement had been concluded on the reinstatement of the dismissed trade union leaders of the telecommunications sector. The November CFA meeting again expressed deep preoccupation with violence against trade unionists. Acts alleged to have occurred in 1990 included an assault by the National Guard and Police on the premises of the Democratic Workers Confederation (CTD) and the arrest of 17 of its members, and the disappearance of an officer of the teachers union (ANDES). Noting its awareness of the difficulties presently facing the Government, the CFA again appealed that it take all practical measures to guarantee normal exercise of trade union and human rights, to institute judicial inquiries, and to assure that arrested trade unionists are released.

b. The Right to Organize and Bargain Collectively

The right of collective bargaining is granted in Article 39 of the Constitution, and article 269 of the labor code. Under the labor code, only private sector workers can exercise this right, but the Constitution is interpreted broadly to provide all workers the right to bargain collectively. Private sector unions use the mechanism of collective bargaining extensively, and a similar collective bargaining practice is also followed, albeit in a more informal manner, between public employees and the Government.

The Director General's Office of the Ministry of Labor is responsible for overseeing the implementation of collective bargaining agreements and for acting as a conciliator in labor-related disputes in the private sector and autonomous government institutions. The Ministry of Labor took part in the negotiation or adaptation of 137 collective contracts in 1990. More collective contracts were signed in 1990 than in 1989.

The relationship between the business community and the labor movement improved somewhat during 1990, but a large reservoir of distrust remains. Labor leaders perceive the Cristiani Government as being antilabor, and, as before, businessmen frequently take measures to prevent unions from being formed. Union leaders have also complained about lengthy and complex procedures required to register new unions.

Article 47 of the Constitution states that union officials at the time of their election, throughout their term, and for 1 year following their term shall not be fired, suspended for disciplinary reasons, removed, or debased in their work conditions except for legal cause. This provision is generally observed in practice. Twice since 1986 the Supreme Court has reaffirmed constitutional safeguards protecting trade unions, worker associations, peasant organizations, and their leaders from arbitrary and capricious behavior by management and/or the Government.

Special Project (1993)

discourage labor organizing. The Labor Ministry maintains that it has received no complaints from workers in the zone. However, the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations contends that stringent registration requirements and other harassment effectively block union organizing efforts.

c. Prohibition of Forced or Compulsory Labor

The Constitution prohibits forced or compulsory labor, except in cases of public calamity and other instances specified by law.

In 1990, as it has for a number of years, the ILO's Committee of Experts noted with concern the provisions in the penal code that allow the imposition of sentences involving compulsory labor and has made suggestions on how to improve existing legislation and practice. Reform of the penal code is being considered by the Legislative Assembly. The FMLN continues to force civilians, including minors, to serve as porters, spotters, and couriers for the guerrilla army.

d. Minimum Age for Employment of Children

The Constitution prohibits the employment of children under the age of 14. The labor code states that exception may be made only in cases where it can be demonstrated that such employment is absolutely indispensable to the sustenance of the minor and his family. This is most often the case with children of peasant families who traditionally work with their families during planting and harvesting seasons.

The Constitution also prohibits the employment of persons under 18 and all women in occupations considered hazardous. The law is enforced through inspections by the Ministry of Labor. Inspections during 1990 uncovered a number of violations which reportedly were corrected.

e. Acceptable Conditions of Work.

The Government's national minimum wage council recommends increases in the minimum wages for commercial, industrial, service, and agroindustrial employees. Over the past several years, wages have not kept pace with inflation. In April the Government authorized the first increase in the minimum wage since 1986. Workers in commerce, industry, and the service sector have a minimum daily salary of approximately $3 in the capital and $2.90 in outlying areas. Agricultural workers received a minimum of approximately $1.75 a day. For the most part, minimum wages are inadequate to meet the Ministry of Economy's standard of basic necessity, and an estimated 40 percent of the population lives below the poverty level. Wage rates for most categories of workers are higher than the legal minimums, especially in the private sector. In 1990 laborers earned an average of $171.50 per month, while clerk typists earned $271.90 per month, and mechanics $320.35 per month.

The law limits the workday to 6 hours for minors between 14 and 18 years of age and 8 hours for adults. Premium pay is mandated for longer hours. The average workweek is 44 hours.

The Constitution and the labor code require employers, attempts to enforce the applicable regulations. According to Ministry figures, its Inspector General's office conducted approximately 35,000 work site inspections between January 1 and September 30. Many of these occurred in commercial, industrial, and service establishments. The Inspector General's Corps cited employers for numerous infractions and assessed fines.

EL SALVADOR HAS A FREELY ELECTED DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT, WITH AN EXECUTIVE BRANCH HEADED BY A PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY, AND A SEPARATE BUT POLITICALLY APPOINTED JUDICIARY. ALFREDO CRISTIANI OF THE NATIONALIST REPUBLICAN ALLIANCE (ARENA) PARTY WAS INAUGURATED PRESIDENT ON JUNE 1, 1989.

THE ARMED FORCES OF EL SALVADOR (ESAF) INCLUDE THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES AND THE CIVIL DEFENSE FORCES (CDF). THE SECURITY FORCES, COMPOSED OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, NATIONAL GUARD, AND TREASURY POLICE, SHARE LAW ENFORCEMENT RESPONSIBILITIES AND REPORT TO THE VICE MINISTER OF

EL SALVADOR HAS A MIXED ECONOMY, AND PRIVATE PROPERTY IS GENERALLY RESPECTED. IN MID-1989 THE CRISTIANI ADMINISTRATION IMPLEMENTED AN ECONOMIC ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM TO REDUCE THE ROLE AND SIZE OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR IN THE ECONOMY. IN SO DOING, THE GOVERNMENT RELINQUISHED MUCH OF ITS ECONOMIC PLANNING AND PRICE-SETTING AUTHORITY TO MARKET FORCES. AGRICULTURE, THE BACKBONE OF THE ECONOMY (COFFEE ACCOUNTS FOR 65 PERCENT OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE EARNINGS), RESPONDED PARTICULARLY WELL DURING 1990 TO THE NEW INCENTIVES. HOWEVER, FURTHER ECONOMIC PROGRESS WAS HINDERED BY GUERRILLAS OF THE FARABUNDO MARTI FRONT FOR NATIONAL LIBERATION (FMLN), WHOSE CONTINUED ATTACKS ON THE ELECTRICAL GRID AND OTHER ECONOMIC TARGETS COST THE

COUNTRY APPROXIMATELY 100 MILLION IN 1990. THE FMLN, WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF CIVILIAN SUPPORT GROUPS, HAS BEEN AT WAR WITH THE GOVERNMENTS OF EL SALVADOR SINCE 1979.

IN 1990 BOTH THE FMLN AND THE ESAF COMMITTED SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, INCLUDING POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES. THE FMLN ALSO ENGAGED IN FORCED RECRUITMENT AND CAUSED CIVILIAN CASUALTIES BY THE INDISCRIMINATE USE OF LAND MINES AND ATTACKS LAUNCHED ON AND IN RESIDENTIAL AREAS. IN JANUARY 1991, THE FMLN MURDERED TWO US MILITARY MEN AFTER SHOOTING DOWN THEIR HELICOPTER IN SAN MIGUEL DEPARTMENT. WITH SOME NOTABLE EXCEPTIONS, THE JUSTICE SYSTEM WAS UNABLE TO PROSECUTE MOST OF THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. THE ESAF AND THE FMLN CONTINUED TO AVOID OR RESIST LEGAL ACCOUNTABILITY FOR SUCH VIOLATIONS. THE EFFICIENCY OF THE JUDICIARY IS ALSO SEVERELY LIMITED BY POLITICAL MANIPULATION, CORRUPTION, AND INTIMIDATION. IN THE JESUIT CASE, WHICH AROSE FROM THE MASSACRE OF SIX PRIESTS, THEIR HOUSEKEEPER, AND HER DAUGHTER BY MEMBERS OF THE ELITE ATLACATL BATTALION IN NOVEMBER 1989, MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY HAVE BEEN CHARGED WITH PERJURY AND WITH DESTROYING EVIDENCE, AND OTHERS HAVE FAILED TO COOPERATE IN THE JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS. NEVERTHELESS, THE CASE MOVED TO THE TRIAL STAGE IN DECEMBER. EIGHT SUSPECTS, INCLUDING COL. GUILLERMO BENAVIDES, FORMER DIRECTOR OF THE MILITARY ACADEMY, HAVE BEEN ARRESTED AND ARE IN CUSTODY.

JUDGES DROPPED SOME CHARGES IN TWO OTHER KEY HUMAN RIGHTS CASES, THE SAN SEBASTIAN MURDERS AND THE OPERATION OF A KIDNAPING RING. SOME SOLDIERS AND CDF MEMBERS WERE SENTENCED TO PRISON IN 1990 FOR VARIOUS CRIMES, INCLUDING THE 1982 MURDER OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL KLINE. HOWEVER, MILITARY OFFICERS, PEOPLE WITH INFLUENCE, AND FMLN GUERRILLAS ENJOY VIRTUAL IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION FOR THE NUMEROUS AND GRAVE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS THEY HAVE COMMITTED OVER THE PAST DECADE.

EL SALVADOR, AGREED THAT THERE WERE FEWER HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY BOTH THE ESAF AND THE FMLN DURING 1990 THAN IN 1989. THE SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ALSO NOTED THAT BOTH SIDES WERE MAKING CONSCIENTIOUS EFFORTS TO IMPROVE THEIR HUMAN RIGHTS PERFORMANCE. HOWEVER, INCREASED FMLN ATTACKS LATE IN THE YEAR LED TO ADDITIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. MEANWHILE, PEACE NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT AND THE FMLN CONTINUED IN 1990 UNDER U.N. AUSPICES. ON JULY 26, THE GOVERNMENT AND THE FMLN SIGNED A HUMAN RIGHTS AGREEMENT IN COSTA RICA, CALLING ON BOTH SIDES TO RESPECT HUMAN RIGHTS AND PROVIDING FOR A HUMAN RIGHTS VERIFICATION AGREEMENT ONCE A CEASE-FIRE TAKES EFFECT. IN SEPTEMBER THE INTERPARTY DIALOG COMMISSION (IPDC), CREATED TO GIVE POLITICAL PARTIES A VOICE IN THE NEGOTIATIONS, AGREED ON AN ELECTORAL REFORM PACKAGE FOR THE MARCH 1991 LEGISLATIVE AND MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

SECTION 1 RESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE PERSON, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM:

A. POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING

DISCERNING A TREND OR PATTERN IN THE LEVEL OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE IN EL SALVADOR IS DIFFICULT, AND THE COLLECTION AND CLASSIFICATION OF INFORMATION ON POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS IS INEXACT. COMMON CRIMINAL MURDERS MAY BE DISGUISED AS POLITICAL KILLINGS WHILE POLITICAL MURDERS MAY BE WRONGLY CLASSIFIED AS COMMON CRIMES.

POLITICAL AND OTHER KILLINGS BY THE FMLN CONTINUED IN 1990.

CREDIBLE SOURCES CITE THE FMLN AS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MARCH 23 MACHINE GUN ATTACK WHICH KILLED OTTO VALDEMAR SORTO, THE SON-IN-LAW OF AIR FORCE COMMANDER GENERAL RAFAEL VILLAMARIONA; THE JUNE 16 KILLING OF BERTA FLORES BELTRAN AND MARIA ELENA ROMERO IN MEJICANOS, SAN SALVADOR; THE JULY 9 KILLING OF OFF-DUTY ARMY MAJOR CARLOS ALONSO FIGUEROA IN SAN SALVADOR; THE JULY 29 TORTURE AND MURDER OF VICTOR MANUEL REYES, A CDF MEMBER, AND THE AUGUST 13 ATTACK ON A MILITARY AMBULANCE, KILLING TWO AND SERIOUSLY INJURING SEVERAL OTHERS. THE FMLN ADMITTED THAT IT MURDERED TWO AMERICAN SERVICEMEN ON JANUARY 2, 1991.

CREDIBLE REPORTS OF CIVILIANS KILLED FOR POLITICAL REASONS BY THE MILITARY AND SECURITY FORCES PERSIST. ON MARCH 10, EFRAIN AND CRISTINA CABRERA WERE KILLED IN LA HACHADURA, AHUACHAPAN. ACCORDING TO THE GOVERNMENT HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDH), ARMED AND UNIFORMED MEN BROKE INTO THE CABRERA HOME, ABUSED FAMILY MEMBERS, AND TOOK MONEY AND ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT. EFRAIN CABRERA WAS FATALLY SHOT IN THE HEAD AND HIS WIFE WOUNDED. NO SERIOUS INVESTIGATION OF THE CRIME WAS BEING CONDUCTED AS OF YEAR'S END. THE U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR'S REPORT NOTED THAT JULIAN ROSALES LOPEZ DIED FROM TORTURE AFTER BEING DETAINED ON FEBRUARY 2 BY SOLDIERS OF THE ATLACATL BATTALION IN SAN SALVADOR DEPARTMENT, AND THAT BEGONA GARCIA ARANDIGOYEN, AN FMLN MEDICAL WORKER, WAS APPARENTLY CAPTURED AND MURDERED BY SOLDIERS ON SEPTEMBER 10. THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOPRIC'S OFFICE OF LEGAL AID, TUTELA LEGAL, CHARGED THAT ON MARCH 11 A MEMBER OF THE CDF IN ROSARIO DE CUSCATLAN, CUSCATLAN, MURDERED OSMIN ESCOBAR ON THE SUSPICION THAT HE WAS A GUERRILLA.

IN 1990 VARIOUS SOURCES CHARGED THAT RIGHTWING DEATH SQUADS WERE OPERATING. IN AN OCTOBER 1990 REPORT, AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL (AI) CHARGED THAT FROM JANUARY TO AUGUST 1990 DEATH SQUADS HAD KILLED AT LEAST 45 PEOPLE. THE U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR CONCLUDED THAT THE ESAF'S INVOLVEMENT OR ACQUIESCENCE IN DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY WAS CREDIBLE BUT DIFFICULT TO VERIFY. GUATEMALAN AUTHORITIES AND OTHERS CLAIMED THAT A SALVADORAN DEATH SQUAD KILLED HECTOR OQUELI, THE DEPUTY SECRETARY GENERAL OF EL SALVADOR'S NATIONAL REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT, AND GILDA FLORES, A GUATEMALAN LAWYER, ON JANAURY 11, IN GUATEMALA. HOWEVER, THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT OFFERED NO EVIDENCE OF SALVADORAN INVOLVEMENT IN THE MURDERS. THERE IS NO INVESTIGATION IN PROGRESS IN EL SALVADOR. PRESIDENT CRISTIANI OFFERED HIS COOPERATION TO THEN-PRESIDENT VINICIO CEREZA, BUT HIS OFFER WAS NEVER TAKEN UP.

B. DISAPPEARANCE

THE CONSTITUTION AND GOVERNMENT POLICY FORBID UNACKNOWLEDGED DETENTION BY THE SECURITY FORCES OR THE MILITARY. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, A TOTAL OF 133 CIVILIANS DISAPPEARED BETWEEN JANUARY AND OCTOBER. THIS FIGURE INCLUDED NONPOLITICAL DISAPPEARANCES SUCH AS LOST OR RUNAWAY CHILDREN AGED 10 AND OVER. PERSONS WHO DESERT THEIR FAMILIES, EMIGRATE, OR JOIN GUERRILLA RANKS MAY ALSO ACCOUNT FOR SOME OF THE DISAPPEARANCES. MANY PERSONS REPORTED MISSING BY FAMILY MEMBERS WERE LATER FOUND TO HAVE BEEN LEGALLY ARRESTED AND REPORTED TO HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, SUCH AS THE CDH. OTHERS REAPPEAR BUT ARE NEVER REMOVED FROM THE LISTS OF THE DISAPPEARED.

VASQUEZ, OF THE SAN CAYETANO AGRICULTURAL COOPERATIVE, WERE APPARENTLY ARRESTED BY SOLDIERS FROM THE 7TH MILITARY DETACHMENT (DM-7). ON DECEMBER 29, JUST AFTER PASSING A POLICE ROAD BLOCK, FOUR MORE COOPERATIVE MEMBERS WERE APPARENTLY DETAINED BY SOLDIERS FROM DM-7 AND LATER TAKEN AWAY BY ARMED MEN IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES. TWO OF THE VICTIMS WERE REPORTEDLY SEEN BY ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE COOPERATIVE AS THEY WERE BEING DRIVEN BLINDFOLDED TOWARD SANTA ANA BY UNIFORMED PERSONNEL. THE ESAF DENY KNOWING ANYTHING ABOUT THE INCIDENTS, AND JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES HAVE NOT CONDUCTED AN IN-DEPTH INVESTIGATION. ON DECEMBER 31, 1989, MEMBERS OF THE FEDECOOPADES PEASANT ORGANIZATION STATED THAT ANGEL MARIA FLORES AND JULIA DEL CARMEN PONCE, OF THE LA REFORMA COOPERATIVE, WERE TAKEN AWAY BY HEAVILY ARMED MEN IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES IN CHALCHUAPA, SANTA ANA. NO WORD WAS RECEIVED OF THEIR WHEREABOUTS UNTIL JANUARY 24, WHEN A BODY WHICH HAD BEEN FOUND BY THE SIDE OF A SANTA ANA ROADWAY IN EARLY JANUARY WAS IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF FLORES; ON JANUARY 29, A SECOND BODY WAS IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF PONCE. FEDECOOPADES MEMBERS CHARGED THAT PERSONNEL FROM DM-7 WERE INVOLVED IN THE CRIME, BUT NEITHER JUDICIAL NOR POLICE AUTHORITIES CONDUCTED ANY INVESTIGATION OF THE CASE. ON JANUARY 9, 1990, NELSON CHINCHILLA, A FOREMAN ON A PROJECT IN AHUACHAPAN FUNDED BY THE U.S. AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT WAS TAKEN AWAY FROM A PROJECT SITE BY A GROUP OF HEAVILY ARMED MEN IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES. ON JANUARY 31, A BODY WHICH EARLIER HAD BEEN FOUND BY THE SIDE OF A ROAD IN CHALCHUAPA, SANTA ANA, WAS EXHUMED

AND IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF CHINCHILLA. BECAUSE CHINCHILLA'S FATHER REFUSED TO FILE A COMPLAINT, THERE WAS NO FORMAL INVESTIGATION.

BETWEEN JANUARY AND JULY, THE PRESS REPORTED THAT 49 PERSONS WERE ABDUCTED BY THE GUERRILLAS, AND 9 OTHERS WERE ABDUCTED BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS. WITHOUT KNOWING THE MOTIVE, THE IDENTITY OF THE ABDUCTORS, OR THE PERSONAL HISTORY OF THE 9 VICTIMS, IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY WHETHER ANY OF THESE MIGHT HAVE BEEN POLITICALLY MOTIVATED ABDUCTIONS.

C. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMEN"

IN 1990 THERE CONTINUED TO BE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF TORTURE AND ABUSE OF SOME DETAINEES BY THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES AND THE MILITARY. RELIABLE HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS REPORTED THAT DETAINEES WERE THREATENED, DEPRIVED OF FOOD AND SLEEP, SUBJECTED TO PROLONGED INTERROGATION WHILE BLINDFOLDED, FORCED TO STAND FOR LONG PERIODS OF TIME, AND BEATEN. INSTANCES OF SEVERE BEATINGS, RAPE, CHOKING, USE OF A HOOD TO ASPHYXIATE, INJECTION WITH UNIDENTIFIED DRUGS, AND ELECTRIC SHOCK WERE ALSO REPORTED. ALMOST ALL DETAINEES ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED FMLN MEMBERSHIP CLAIM TO HAVE BEEN FORCED TO SIGN CONFESSIONS

WITHOUT BEING PERMITTED TO READ THEM. MOST REPORTS CHARGE THAT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS OCCUR DURING THE 72-HOUR PERIOD OF ADMINISTRATIVE DETENTION, PRIOR TO THE PRESENTATION OF A PRISONER BEFORE A JUDGE. DESPITE NEW ORDERS ISSUED BY THE HIGH COMMAND ON JULY 31 PROHIBITING SUCH MISTREATMENT, THESE ABUSES HAVE CONTINUED.

THE CDH REPORTS COMPLAINTS OF MISTREATMENT TO THE COMMANDING OFFICER OF THE UNIT IMPLICATED IN THE ABUSE AND TO THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE. THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS (ICRC) ALSO REPORTS ITS FINDINGS, BASED ON INTERVIEWS WITH PRISONERS AND EX-PRISONERS OR ON INFORMATION GATHERED FROM OTHER SOURCES, TO THE PRESIDENT AND MINISTER OF DEFENSE. THE CDH REPORTED THAT THE HIGH COMMAND IS RESPONSIVE TO ITS COMPLAINTS, ALTHOUGH IT IS NOT CLEAR WHAT CORRECTIVE ACTION, IF ANY, WAS TAKEN. THERE WERE NO PROSECUTIONS IN 1990 OF ESAF PERSONNEL FOR ABUSE OF PRISONERS OR DETAINEES.

DURING 1990 GOVERNMENT FORCES FREQUENTLY RESORTED TO ABUSIVE TACTICS TO INTIMIDATE NONCOMBATANTS PERCEIVED AS SYMPATHIZING WITH THE FMLN. ON DECEMBER 13, SOLDIERS IN LA LIBERTAD DEPARTMENT DETAINED AND TORTURED ROBERTO CAMBARA, A POLITICAL ORGANIZER AND A MEMBER OF THE POPULAR CHRISTIAN SOCIALIST MOVEMENT'S (MPSC) NATIONAL COUNCIL. OPPOSITION LEADERS ACCUSED CIVIL DEFENSE UNITS OF ABUSES, INCLUDING HARASSMENT OF THEIR CAMPAIGN WORKERS. IN JULY THE CDH CHARGED THAT CIVIL DEFENSE MEMBERS WERE COMMITTING VIOLENT CRIMES AND ABUSES OF AUTHORITY WITH ALARMING FREQUENCY, AND THAT THESE ACTIONS WERE PROVOKING FEAR AND INSECURITY AMONG CIVILIANS. THE U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ALSO NOTED THE USE OF INTIMIDATION AND THREATS, INCLUDING THE CIRCULATION OF DEATH LISTS, BY GOVERNMENT FORCES AGAINST CERTAIN GROUPS SUCH AS LABOR UNIONS, COOPERATIVES, AND PEASANT MOVEMENTS WHICH ARE PERCEIVED AS SYMPATHETIC TO THE FMLN. THE U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, HOWEVER, NOTED INCIDENTS IN 1990 OF CONTINUING INTIMIDATION BY THE ESAF AGAINST SOME MEMBERS OF RELIGIOUS GROUPS. IN A 1990 REPORT, THE INTER-AMERICAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (IAHRC) CITED THE ESAF'S HARSH TREATMENT OF CIVILIANS LIVING IN WAR

ZONES. AMONG OTHER OFFENSES, THE IAHRC CITED SEARCHES, THREATS, ARBITRARY PROHIBITIONS, AND EXCESSIVE CONTROL OF THE ENTRY OF FOOD AND MEDICAL SUPPLIES. A FEBRUARY 1990 REPORT BY PHYSICIANS FOR HUMAN RIGHTS (PHR) ASSERTS THAT MEDICAL AND OTHER HUMANITARIAN WORKERS CONFRONT SIMILAR PROBLEMS.

AN AUGUST 21 TRANSFER OF PRISONERS FROM LA ESPERANZA PENITENTIARY, NEAR SAN SALVADOR, TO OTHER PENAL INSTITUTIONS

TOUCHED OFF INTENSE CONTROVERSY. THE NONGOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION OF EL SALVADOR (CDHES) CHARGED THAT 52 POLITICAL PRISONERS HAD DISAPPEARED AND BEEN BEATEN BY FIRST BRIGADE SOLDIERS. THE ICRC AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS LATER CONFIRMED THAT NONE OF THE PRISONERS WERE KIDNAPED OR DISAPPEARED, NOR DID FIRST BRIGADE SOLDIERS PARTICIPATE IN THE TRANSFER OTHER THAN TO PROVIDE SECURITY. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE OF THE LUTHERAN CHURCH LODGED A FORMAL COMPLAINT WITH THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ALLEGING THAT PRISONERS WERE VIOLENTLY ROUTED OUT OF THEIR CELLS, BEATEN, AND THREATENED WITH DEATH. PRISON AUTHORITIES DENIED CHARGES OF MISTREATMENT. HOWEVER, IT IS PROBABLE THAT EXCESSIVE FORCE WAS USED TO EFFECT THE TRANSFER, ALTHOUGH REPORTS OF DEATH THREATS ARE PROBABLY EXAGGERATED.

ON AUGUST 20, JESUIT PRIESTS JON CORTINA AND P. NICOLAS ALVARENGA WERE SHOT AT IN GUARJILA, CHALATENANGO. BOTH PRIESTS CHARGED THAT THEY WERE THE TARGETS OF AN ARMY SNIPER ATTACK. THE ESAF DENIED THE CHARGE. AT YEAR'S END, THE ESAF AND THE CDH HAD YET TO RELEASE THE RESULTS OF THEIR INVESTIGATIONS.

D. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE.

THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS ARBITRARY ARREST. HOWEVER, DURING THE FIRST HALF OF 1990, THERE WERE NUMEROUS CASES OF ARBITRARY ARREST AND DETENTION, PARTICULARLY WHEN SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITY WAS SUSPECTED. FROM JANUARY TO AUGUST, ACCORDING TO MINISTRY OF DEFENSE STATISTICS, THE SECURITY FORCES DETAINED 861 PERSONS, INCLUDING 53 FOREIGNERS, ON SUSPICION OF SUBVERSIVE OFFENSES. OF THOSE DETAINED, 433 WERE SUBSEQUENTLY RELEASED AND NEVER FORMALLY CHARGED, WHILE THE REMAINDER WERE CONSIGNED TO THE COURTS, DEPORTED, OR SENT TO JUVENILE FACILITIES. THE IAHRC REPORTED INCIDENTS IN WHICH GOVERNMENT FORCES, WHEN UNABLE TO LOCATE THE PERSONS THEY WERE LOOKING FOR, ARRESTED MEMBERS OF THE DETAINEES' IMMEDIATE FAMILIES.

THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT ALL PERSONS DETAINED BY THE ESAF BE TURNED OVER TO THE COURTS WITHIN 72 HOURS OF ARREST (OR 15 DAYS DURING A STATE OF EXCEPTION) OR BE FREED, BUT THIS REQUIREMENT IS FREQUENTLY IGNORED. ALTHOUGH IT IS A CRIME FOR THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES OR THE MILITARY TO HOLD A SUSPECT LONGER THAN 72 HOURS, VIOLATORS ARE RARELY PROSECUTED FOR THIS CRIME. THE ESAF ROUTINELY FAIL TO NOTIFY THE COURTS DURING THE 72-HOUR PERIOD OF ADMINISTRATIVE DETENTION, AND THE ACCUSED ARE SELDOM PROVIDED LEGAL COUNSEL DURING THIS PERIOD. REGULATIONS REQUIRE THAT SECURITY AND MILITARY FORCES REGISTER DETAINEES AND HAVE THEM EXAMINED BY A DOCTOR OR A NURSE UPON ENTRY INTO A DETENTION FACILITY. IN ARRESTS RELATED TO THE INSURGENCY, THE ESAF IS REQUIRED TO NOTIFY PROMPTLY THE FAMILY OF THE DETAINEE, TUTELA LEGAL, THE CDH, AND THE ICRC.

UNDER THE STATE OF EMERGENCY) TO DETERMINE IF THE EVIDENCE WARRANTS HOLDING THE ACCUSED FOR FURTHER INVESTIGATION. THIS TIME LIMIT IS NORMALLY, BUT NOT WITHOUT EXCEPTION, ADHERED TO IN PRACTICE. THE JUDGE IS THEN ALLOWED 120 DAYS TO INVESTIGATE SERIOUS CRIMES OR 45 DAYS FOR LESSER OFFENSES, BEFORE BRINGING THE ACCUSED TO TRIAL OR DISMISSING THE CASE. IN PRACTICE, HOWEVER, THESE REQUIREMENTS ARE RARELY OBSERVED, PRIMARILY DUE TO THE BACKLOG OF CASES. ALL PERSONS HELD IN THE PRISON SYSTEM, HOWEVER, ARE INCARCERATED BY JUDICIAL ORDER, IF NOT BY SENTENCE.

AS A RECOURSE AGAINST ILLEGAL DETENTION, ANY ACCUSED PERSON MAY, FROM THE TIME IT APPEARS THAT A COURT WILL ISSUE AN ARREST WARRANT UNTIL THE TRIAL IS COMPLETED AND A SENTENCE IMPOSED, REQUEST A REVIEW FROM AN APPEALS COURT OR THE SUPREME COURT ON THE LEGAL BASIS FOR THE DETENTION. SUCH AN APPEAL FREEZES ACTION ON THE CASE UNTIL THE HIGHER COURT HAS RENDERED ITS DECISION.

ON JULY 31, THE HIGH COMMAND SENT A GENERAL ORDER TO THE ESAF ESTABLISHING A NEW STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE (SOP) ON ARRESTS AND TREATMENT OF PRISONERS. THE NEW PROCEDURE WAS PROMULGATED TO BRING GOVERNMENT PRACTICE INTO LINE WITH THE HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORDS SIGNED IN SAN JOSE ON JULY 26. THE SOP PROHIBITS ARRESTS WITHOUT A WRITTEN ORDER FROM A JUDGE UNLESS A PERSON IS CAUGHT IN THE ACT OF COMMITTING A CRIME ("IN THE ACT" WAS DEFINED AS IMMEDIATELY BEFORE, DURING, OR UP TO 24 HOURS AFTER A CRIME IS COMMITTED); OR IF SOMEONE DENOUNCES A SUSPECTED CRIMINAL TO THE AUTHORITIES; OR IF A PERSON IS IN POSSESSION OF SOME INSTRUMENT USED IN THE CRIME. IN ALL OTHER CASES, THE SOP DIRECTS THAT ARRESTS BE MADE ONLY BY MEMBERS OF

UNCLASSIFIED

THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES (NOT THE MILITARY), PURSUANT TO A WRITTEN ORDER FROM A COMPETENT AUTHORITY. EXCEPT FOR ARRESTS MADE "IN THE ACT," OFFICERS MUST WEAR UNIFORMS, CARRY PUBLIC SECURITY FORCE IDENTIFICATION CARDS, AND MAKE ALL ARRESTS BETWEEN 6 A.M. AND 6 P.M. THE SOP ALSO REQUIRES THAT OFFICERS INFORM DETAINEES, IN EASILY UNDERSTOOD LANGUAGE, OF THE REASON FOR THEIR ARREST AND THE CHARGES AGAINST THEM AT THE TIME OF ARREST. IT ALSO DIRECTS SECURITY FORCES TO ALLOW DETAINEES IMMEDIATELY TO CONTACT AND CONSULT PRIVATELY WITH LEGAL COUNSEL OR ANYONE ELSE THEY WISH. IT REQUIRES MILITARY UNITS AND THE SECURITY FORCES TO PLACE SPECIAL EMPHASIS ON COOPERATION WITH WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS.

VARIOUS NONGOVERNMENTAL SOURCES INDICATE THAT THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES AND THE MILITARY HAVE MADE AN EFFORT TO COMPLY WITH THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE NEW SOP. COMPLAINTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST AND DETENTION HAVE DECREASED SUBSTANTIALLY SINCE JULY 31, AND THE RATE OF ARRESTS WAS REPORTEDLY A QUARTER OF WHAT IT WAS PRIOR TO THAT DATE.

IN AN ATTEMPT TO IMPROVE PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FOR DETAINEES, THE SUPREME COURT OPENED AN INFORMATION OFFICE ON AUGUST 1. THE OFFICE IS SUPPOSED TO RECEIVE TIMELY REPORTS FROM THE COURTS, THE MILITARY, AND THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES ON ARRESTS AND THE STATUS OF DETAINEES. IN PRACTICE, THE COURTS ROUTINELY PROVIDE TIMELY INFORMATION ON DETAINEES UNDER THEIR JURISDICTION, BUT THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT THE ESAF SOMETIMES REPORT DETENTIONS LATE OR NOT AT ALL.

BAIL IS AVAILABLE FOR SOME MINOR OFFENSES BUT IS SELDOM USED.

THERE ARE NO PROVISIONS IN THE LAW FOR EXILE. MANY FMLN LEADERS CLAIM TO BE IN "SELF-IMPOSED" EXILE AND MIGHT BE SUBJECT TO ARREST FOR PARTICIPATION IN GUERRILLA OPERATIONS IF THEY WERE TO RETURN TO EL SALVADOR.

E. DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY APPOINTS THE 14 MAGISTRATES OF THE SUPREME COURT FOR 5-YEAR TERMS. THE SUPREME COURT APPOINTS ALL LOWER COURT MAGISTRATES, JUDGES, AND JUSTICES OF THE PEACE. THE COURT STRUCTURE IS DIVIDED INTO FIVE LEVELS: JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, COURTS OF THE FIRST INSTANCE (TRIAL COURTS), CHAMBERS OF THE SECOND INSTANCE (APPEALS COURTS), CHAMBERS OF THE SUPREME COURT, AND THE SUPREME COURT. THE SUPREME COURT HEARS APPEALS FROM APPELLATE COURTS, DECIDES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS AND CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTIONS, AND SETTLES DISPUTES BETWEEN THE LEGISLATIVE AND EXECUTIVE BRANCHES. JURY VERDICTS CAN BE NEITHER OVERRULED BY A JUDGE NOR APPEALED TO A HIGHER COURT. HOWEVER, THE SENTENCE MAY BE APPEALED SUCCESSIVELY UP TO THE SUPREME COURT. APPEALS ARE RARE.

ALTHOUGH A PUBLIC DEFENDER CAN BE MADE AVAILABLE TO THE DEFENDANT IN THE INVESTIGATIVE STAGE, THEIR NUMBER IS STILL INSUFFICIENT TO ENSURE THAT DUE PROCESS IS GIVEN TO MORE THAN A SMALL PERCENTAGE OF INDIGENT DETAINEES. DEFENDANTS MUST BE REPRESENTED BY COUNSEL AT THE TRIAL, AND COUNSEL IS APPOINTED BY THE COURT IF NONE HAS BEEN SELECTED BY THE DEFENDANT. IN THEORY, DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO THE PRESUMPTION OF INNOCENCE; PROTECTION FROM SELF-INCRIMINATION; LEGAL COUNSEL; FREEDOM FROM COERCION; TO BE PRESENT IN COURT; THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONFRONT WITNESSES; AND COMPENSATION FOR DAMAGES DUE TO JUDICIAL ERROR. IN PRACTICE, ALMOST ALL OF THESE RIGHTS ARE RESTRICTED TO VARIOUS DEGREES.

ALTHOUGH NOMINALLY INDEPENDENT OF THE EXECUTIVE AND LEGISLATIVE BRANCHES, IN PRACTICE THE JUDICIARY IS STRONGLY INFLUENCED THROUGH THE APPOINTMENTS PROCESS. POLITICAL AFFILIATION OR FAMILY TIES, RATHER THAN PROFESSIONAL CAPABILITIES, ARE OFTEN THE MOST IMPORTANT CRITERIA IN APPOINTING JUDGES. REAPPOINTMENT IS BASED MORE ON A JUDGE'S POLITICAL LOYALTY THAN ON INTEGRITY OR PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS. TEN YEARS OF WAR HAVE ADDED TO THE PRESSURES ON JUDICIAL PERSONNEL, WHO HAVE ALWAYS BEEN VULNERABLE TO POLITICAL INFLUENCE, BRIBES, AND THREATS. JUDGES ARE OFTEN AFRAID TO INVESTIGATE OR PROSECUTE MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES OR THE FMLN; DEATH THREATS ARE ALSO COMMON IN CASES WHICH INVOLVE ORGANIZED CRIME. THE ABSENCE OF A MILITARY JUSTICE SYSTEM MEANS THAT THOSE OFFENDERS WHOM THE MILITARY WILL NOT PUBLICLY IDENTIFY ARE SELDOM, IF EVER, SUBJECT TO THE CIVILIAN COURTS. ALTHOUGH JUDICIAL REFORM PROGRAMS HAVE HELPED EFFECT TECHNICAL IMPROVEMENTS SINCE 1984, THE WEAK AND INEFFICIENT JUDICIARY CONTINUES TO BE A SERIOUS IMPEDIMENT TO IMPROVING THE COUNTRY'S HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD.

HISTORICALLY, CIVILIAN JUDICIAL AUTHORITY HAS NOT EXTENDED TO THE MILITARY OFFICER CORPS. SOME LOW-RANKING MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY AND POLICE HAVE BEEN DISCHARGED AND TURNED OVER TO THE CIVILIAN COURTS FOR TRIAL ON CRIMINAL CHARGES, BUT TRADITIONALLY OFFICERS OF THE ARMED AND SECURITY FORCES HAVE BEEN TREATED DIFFERENTLY FROM OTHER CITIZENS BEFORE THE LAW. JUDGES ARE FREQUENTLY RELUCTANT TO BRING CHARGES AGAINST THEM, AND COLLEAGUES OFTEN FAIL TO COOPERATE IN THE PROSECUTION OF

CRIMES IMPUTED TO A FELLOW OFFICER. THERE HAVE BEEN EXCEPTIONS. COL. BENAVIDES, THREE LIEUTENANTS, AND FOUR ENLISTED MEN WERE ARRESTED ON JANUARY 16, 1990, ON MURDER CHARGES IN CONNECTION WITH THE JESUIT CASE. PRESIDENT CRISTIANI AND SEVERAL SENIOR MILITARY OFFICERS WAIVED CERTAIN PRIVILIGES AND GAVE TESTIMONY IN PERSON, AND THE CASE MOVED TO THE TRIAL STAGE IN DECEMBER. IN MAY 26 MEMBERS OF THE CIVIL DEFENSE FORCES WERE SENTENCED TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE 1982 RAPE AND MURDER OF 23 PEASANTS IN SAN PEDRO PERULAPAN, CUSCATLAN. ALSO IN MAY, SEVEN CDF MEMBERS WERE SENTENCED TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR MURDER AND ROBBERY IN TWO SEPARATE INCIDENTS IN ARMENIA, SONSONATE, IN 1984. ARMY PRIVATE HECTOR RUBINA REYES WAS CONVICTED OF THE 1982 MURDER OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL KLINE (TWO OTHER DEFENDENTS WERE ACQUITTED) AND SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS. ALSO IN JUNE AN ARMY SERGEANT WAS SENTENCED TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE 1988 MURDER OF TWO GUATEMALAN BUSINESSMEN. IN ADDITION, THE MILITARY TURNED OVER AN ATLACATL BATTALION SOLDIER TO THE CIVILIAN COURTS FOR TRIAL IN THE AUGUST 1989 DEATH OF 17-YEAR-OLD MIGUEL ERNESTO MIRANDA REINA.

ON THE OTHER HAND, ELEMENTS OF THE MILITARY CONTINUE TO RESIST A FULL INVESTIGATION OF THE JESUIT CASE. EVIDENCE HAS BEEN FABRICATED AND DESTROYED, SOME WITNESSES HAVE PROVIDED FALSE TESTIMONY, AND MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY HAVE GENERALLY FAILED TO COOPERATE IN THE JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS. IN JUNE LIEUTENANT COLONEL CARLOS CAMILO HERNANDEZ (DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF THE MILITARY ACADEMY AT THE TIME OF THE MURDERS), WAS INDICTED FOR OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE. IN AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER, THREE ATLACATL BATTALION ENLISTED MEN WERE ARRESTED ON PERJURY CHARGES RELATING TO TESTIMONY THEY GAVE IN THE CASE.

THE CASE AGAINST 12 SOLDIERS HELD FOR THE 1988 MURDERS OF 10 PEASANTS IN SAN SEBASTIAN VIRTUALLY COLLAPSED IN 1990. IN APRIL THE SAN VICENTE APPEALS COURT ORDERED TRIAL PROCEEDINGS TO BE INITIATED AGAINST MAJ. MAURICIO DE JESUS BELTRAN GRANADOS, BUT ALSO DECIDED ON QUESTIONABLE GROUNDS TO RELEASE THE OTHER 11 DEFENDANTS BECAUSE OF INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE. ON JUNE 4, A JURY FOUND A SOLDIER INNOCENT OF THE ELECTION DAY 1989 KILLING OF JOURNALIST MAURICIO PINEDA DE LEON; MEDIA REPORTS CLAIMED THAT SEVERAL SOLDIERS ATTENDED THE 1-DAY TRIAL, POSSIBLY INTIMIDATING THE JURY. THE CASE AGAINST MILITARY OFFICERS (BOTH ACTIVE-DUTY AND RETIRED) AND RIGHTWING CIVILIANS WHO RAN A KIDNAPING AND AUTO THEFT RING IN THE EARLY 1980'S ALSO VIRTUALLY COLLAPSED IN 1990. IN MAY, A NEW JUDGE IN THE CASE SUDDENLY DROPPED ARREST ORDERS AGAINST FIVE OF THE SIX FUGITIVES. OF THE REMAINING THREE DEFENDANTS, ONLY TWO (MAJOR JOSE ALFREDO JIMENEZ AND LIEUTENANT RODOLFO LOPEZ SIBRIAN) REMAINED IN CUSTODY AT YEAR'S END.

IN SEPTEMBER PRISON AUTHORITIES REPORTED THERE WERE 167 POLITICAL PRISONERS (CDHES PUTS THE FIGURE AT 194) DETAINED FOR TERRORIST ACTIVITIES AND ANOTHER 58 DETAINED FOR RELATED OFFENSES.

F. ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME, OR CORRESPONDENCE.

ACCORDING TO THE CONSTITUTION, BEFORE ENTERING A PRIVATE DWELLING THE SECURITY FORCES MUST HAVE THE RESIDENT'S CONSENT, A WARRANT, OR A REASONABLE BELIEF THAT A CRIME IS BEING OR IS ABOUT TO BE COMMITTED. IN PRACTICE, THE ESAF OFTEN USES FORCED ENTRY WITHOUT A WARRANT TO CARRY OUT ARRESTS AND INVESTIGATIONS. THE ESAF ALSO FREQUENTLY INTERCEPTS MAIL DELIVERIES IN WAR ZONES. WIRETAPPING OF TELEPHONE COMMUNICATIONS BY THE GOVERNMENT, THE FMLN, PRIVATE PERSONS, AND POLITICAL PARTIES IS WIDESPREAD.

THE GUERRILLAS ARBITRARILY INTERFERE WITH THE LIVES OF INHABITANTS IN WAR ZONES BY, AMONG OTHER THINGS, SETTING UP ROADBLOCKS, EXPROPRIATING FOOD AND MEDICAL SUPPLIES, INTERCEPTING MAIL, AND FORCING VILLAGERS TO ATTEND INDOCTRINATION SESSIONS. THEY ENGAGE IN FORCED RECRUITMENT TO FILL THEIR RANKS OR TO OBTAIN LABORERS AND PORTERS. FMLN COMMITTEES OFTEN EXERCISE A HIGH DEGREE OF COERCIVE CONTROL OVER REFUGEE CAMPS. THE GUERRILLAS HAVE OFTEN DEMONSTRATED THEIR WILLINGNESS TO USE INTIMIDATION, INCLUDING MURDER, TO ENFORCE OBEDIENCE.

G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

CREDIBLE CHARGES OF IMPROPER AIR FORCE BOMBINGS NEAR CIVILIAN POPULATIONS RESULTING IN CIVILIAN DEATHS CONTINUED IN 1990, ESPECIALLY IN AREAS OF INTENSE GUERRILLA ACTIVITY SUCH AS CHALATENANGO, CABANAS, AND MORAZAN WHERE MILITARY OPERATIONS

RECEIVED CLOSE AIR SUPPORT. THE AIR FORCE ACCEPTED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEATHS OF 5 CIVILIANS AND THE INJURY OF 15 OTHERS DURING A FEBRUARY 11 ENGAGEMENT BETWEEN THE MILITARY AND THE FMLN IN CHALATENANGO. THE HIGH COMMAND ORDERED THE AIR FORCE TO PAY COMPENSATION TO THE FAMILIES OF THE VICTIMS, BUT NONE HAD BEEN PAID BY THE END OF 1990.

THE ESAF CONTROLS THE FLOW OF SUPPLIES AND ACCESS OF HUMANITARIAN ORGANIZATIONS TO VILLAGES (INCLUDING REFUGEE COMMUNITIES) IN AREAS OF COMBAT OR HEAVY GUERRILLA PRESENCE. THERE HAVE BEEN CREDIBLE REPORTS SUPPORTING THE ESAF'S ASSERTION THAT SUPPLIES ARE BEING DIVERTED TO THE GUERRILLAS. GROUPS THAT WORK WITH REPATRIATED COMMUNITIES IN WAR ZONES HAVE ADMITTED THAT THEY BARTER OR SELL GOODS TO THE GUERRILLAS. U.S. MEDIA REPORTS, AS WELL AS NUMEROUS LOCAL SOURCES, MAINTAIN THAT UNIFORMED FMLN GUERRILLAS ROUTINELY USE RESETTLEMENT CAMPS AS SUPPORT BASES.

THE FMLN OFTEN FORCIBLY OCCUPIES CIVILIAN HOMES FOR USE AS SHELTERS AND BASES TO ATTACK GOVERNMENT TARGETS. THIS TACTIC WAS USED WHEN THE FMLN ATTACKED ILOPANGO AIR BASE IN OCTOBER,

AND AGAIN DURING THEIR "LIMITED OFFENSIVE" IN NOVEMBER. THE GUERRILLAS' USE OF UNMARKED, INDISCRIMINATELY PLACED MINES AND BOOBY TRAPS IS ALSO A MAJOR CAUSE OF DEATH AND MAIMING AMONG PEASANTS. HOWEVER, THE USE OF THESE MINES MAY BE DECLINING: THEY KILLED 40 CIVILIANS IN 1989 AND 8 IN THE FIRST 7 MONTHS OF 1990.

DURING 1990, THERE WERE NO GOVERNMENTAL RESTRICTIONS ON FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND THE PRESS. EL SALVADOR HAS A VIGOROUS LOCAL PRESS WHICH REGULARLY PRINTS COMMENTARY STRONGLY CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT. THERE ARE FIVE DAILY NEWSPAPERS, FIVE TELEVISION STATIONS, AND NUMEROUS RADIO STATIONS, ALL OF WHICH PROVIDE NATIONWIDE COVERAGE. THERE ARE ALSO TWO CABLE TELEVISION SYSTEMS THAT BROADCAST NEWS PROGRAMS FROM ABROAD. THE GOVERNMENT OWNS TWO TELEVISION CHANNELS AND ONE RADIO STATION. THE ESAF ALSO OPERATE A RADIO STATION, AS DOES THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. TELEVISION INTERVIEWS FEATURE A FULL RANGE OF POLITICAL FIGURES, LABOR LEADERS, HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS, PRIVATE SECTOR REPRESENTATIVES, AND GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS. ONE TELEVISION STATION AIRED AN EXCLUSIVE 30-MINUTE INTERVIEW WITH FMLN COMMANDER SHAFIK HANDAL IN SEPTEMBER. THREE OF THE LEADING DAILY NEWSPAPERS ARE CONSERVATIVE, ONE IS CENTRIST, AND ONE IS LEFTIST IN EDITORIAL ORIENTATION. LEFTIST VIEWS ARE ALSO EXPRESSED IN A VARIETY OF JOURNALS, NEWSLETTERS, PERIODICALS, BULLETINS, AND PAID ADVERTISEMENTS IN THE DAILY PRESS.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM IS PROVIDED FOR BY THE CONSTITUTION AND GENERALLY RESPECTED BY THE GOVERNMENT. THERE IS NO GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE WITH UNIVERSITY CURRICULUMS. HOWEVER, THE GOVERNMENT FORCED THE UNIVERSITY OF EL SALVADOR TO CLOSE DURING THE NOVEMBER 1989 FMLN OFFENSIVE BUT ALLOWED IT TO REOPEN 7 MONTHS LATER. FMLN ELEMENTS EXPLOIT THE UNIVERSITY'S AUTONOMY, WHICH PROHIBITS LAW ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITIES FROM ENTERING THE CAMPUS, BY USING THE FACILITIES AS A SAFE HAVEN AND STAGING CENTER FOR URBAN OPERATIONS.

B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

ALLIED WITH THE FMLN, OPERATE WITHOUT LEGAL RESTRICTION. GROUPS FROM THE LEFT AND THE RIGHT CRITICIZE THE GOVERNMENT AND HOLD MARCHES AND DEMONSTRATIONS WITHOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE. IN 1990 THERE WERE LARGE, UNEVENTFUL DEMONSTRATIONS ON MAY DAY AND ON SEPTEMBER 15 BY GROUPS STRONGLY CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT AND ITS POLICIES. HOWEVER, THE U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR NOTED ESAF HARRASSMENT AND ABUSE OF THE MEMBERS OF CERTAIN GROUPS, SUCH AS LABOR UNIONS AND PEASANT ORGANIZATIONS (SEE SECTION 1.C.).

IN CONTRAST TO 1989, THERE WERE NO VIOLENT DEMONSTRATIONS IN 1990. THERE WERE NO REPORTS OF POLITICALLY MOTIVATED VIOLENCE AGAINST THE OFFICES OF NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS IN 1990. DUE LARGELY TO THE DESTRUCTION OF EVIDENCE BY FENASTRAS ACTIVISTS AND THE NONCOOPERATION OF WITNESSES, THERE HAS BEEN NO FURTHER INVESTIGATION AND NO CHARGES BROUGHT IN THE OCTOBER 31, 1989, BOMBINGS OF THE OFFICES OF THE FENASTRAS LABOR FEDERATION AND THE COMMITTEE OF MOTHERS OF POLITICAL PRISONERS, DISAPPEARED AND ASSASSINATED OF EL SALVADOR (CO-MADRES). IN SEPTEMBER 1990, FENASTRAS LEADERS OFFERED TO PRESENT NEW EVIDENCE REGARDING THE BOMBING AND ASKED THE U.S. EMBASSY FOR ASSISTANCE. BY YEAR'S END, HOWEVER, FENASTRAS HAD PROVIDED NO NEW INFORMATION NOR PRODUCED THE WITNESSES IT CLAIMED TO HAVE.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

UNCLASSIFIED

FREEDOM OF RELIGION IS PROVIDED FOR BY THE CONSTITUTION AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. THE COUNTRY IS PREDOMINANTLY ROMAN CATHOLIC, BUT AN ESTIMATED 20 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION PRACTICES OTHER FAITHS, MOSTLY PROTESTANT.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

THE CONSTITUTION ESTABLISHES THE RIGHT OF FREE MOVEMENT. ARTICLE 97 SPECIFICALLY STATES THAT FOREIGNERS MAY NOT INVOLVE THEMSELVES IN THE INTERNAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS OF THE COUNTRY. THIS ARTICLE HAS BEEN USED ON OCCASION BY THE GOVERNMENT TO DENY ENTRY OR TO DEPORT FOREIGNERS IT BELIEVES MIGHT VIOLATE THAT SECTION OF THE LAW. LOCAL MILITARY COMMANDERS REQUIRE THAT FOREIGNERS APPLY FOR PERMISSION TO ENTER WAR ZONES AND OFTEN RESTRICT ENTRY WHEN MILITARY OPERATIONS ARE UNDER WAY IN THOSE AREAS. MOVEMENTS BY SALVADORANS WITHIN EL SALVADOR ARE OCCASIONALLY RESTRICTED FOR SIMILAR REASONS. THERE ARE NO OTHER LIMITS ON FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT IN THE COUNTRY. HOWEVER, THOSE WITHOUT PROPER IDENTIFICATION DOCUMENTS ARE SUBJECT TO ARREST AND DETENTION.

IN 1985 THERE WERE AN ESTIMATED 525,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN EL SALVADOR. BY OCTOBER 1990, ABOUT 125,000 STILL REQUIRED

GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE. THERE MAY BE ANOTHER 7,000 PERSONS WHO WERE NOT REGISTERED WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND RECEIVE ASSISTANCE FROM PRIVATE RELIEF ORGANIZATIONS. AN ADDITIONAL 22,000 SALVADORANS ARE REFUGEES IN OTHER CENTRAL AMERICAN COUNTRIES AND IN MEXICO, AND MORE THAN 550,000 ARE ESTIMATED TO BE UNDOCUMENTED IMMIGRANTS IN THE UNITED STATES.

IN JULY THE GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHED A REPATRIATION ASSISTANCE OFFICE TO FACILITATE FULL REINTEGRATION OF REPATRIATED PERSONS INTO SALVADORAN SOCIETY. THE OFFICE IS SUPPOSED TO COORDINATE ASSISTANCE TO REPATRIATES, HELP THEM OBTAIN IDENTIFICATION DOCUMENTS, AND COORDINATE THE INTRODUCTION OF BASIC SERVICES, SUCH AS HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND SANITATION, INTO REPATRIATED COMMUNITIES. IN EARLY 1990, THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS RESPONDED TO THE REQUEST OF THE SEGUNDO MONTES REPATRIATED COMMUNITY (NEAR MEANGUERA, MORAZAN) AND CONSTRUCTED A BRIDGE ACROSS THE TOROLA RIVER. ALTHOUGH THERE HAVE BEEN REPORTS OF THE FMLN COLLECTING TOLLS ON IT, THE BRIDGE HAS OPENED MARKETS AND BETTER COMMUNICATION BETWEEN NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN MORAZAN FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 4 YEARS.

THE GOVERNMENT, WITH ASSISTANCE FROM THE U.N. HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR REFUGEES (UNHCR) AND THE ICRC, HAS REGISTERED SOME 400 NICARAGUAN REFUGEES, ALTHOUGH OFFICIALS ESTIMATE AS MANY AS 3,000 ARE RESIDING IN THE FAR SOUTHEASTERN PART OF THE COUNTRY. REGISTERED REFUGEES ARE FREE TO TRAVEL WITHIN EL SALVADOR.

THE GOVERNMENT IMPOSES NO CONTROL ON EMIGRATION AND COOPERATES WITH INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS THAT ARRANGE SALVADORAN EMIGRATION TO OTHER COUNTRIES.

SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES THE RIGHTS AND PROCEDURES BY WHICH CITIZENS CAN CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL MEANS. THE

UNCLASSIFIED

CONSTITUTION ALLOWS ALL POLITICAL PARTIES THAT DO NOT ADVOCATE ARMED OPPOSITION TO THE DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM TO PARTICIPATE IN THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. IT ESTABLISHES THE RIGHT TO MEMBERSHIP IN ANY LEGALLY RECOGNIZED PARTY, AND EVEN PARTIES WITH LINKS TO THE FMLN ARE PERMITTED TO PARTICIPATE IN ELECTIONS. VOTING IS BY SECRET BALLOT.

THERE HAVE BEEN SIX NATIONAL ELECTIONS SINCE 1982. ON MARCH 19, 1989, SIX PARTIES, REPRESENTING A WIDE SPECTRUM OF

POLITICAL VIEWS, PARTICIPATED IN THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION IN WHICH THE INCUMBENT CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PDC) LOST THE PRESIDENCY TO THE NATIONALIST REPUBLICAN ALLIANCE (ARENA). IT MARKED THE NATION'S FIRST DEMOCRATIC TRANSFER OF POWER FROM A RULING PARTY TO THE OPPOSITION.

THE FMLN REFUSED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE 1989 ELECTIONS AND SOUGHT TO DISRUPT THE PROCESS THROUGH ATTACKS AND THREATS. NEVERTHELESS, THE ELECTIONS SAW THE PARTICIPATION OF POLITICAL GROUPS PREVIOUSLY ALLIED TO THE FMLN AND THE RETURN TO THE POLITICAL SCENE OF LEFTIST LEADERS GUILLERMO UNGO AND RUBEN ZAMORA. THEIR DEMOCRATIC CONVERGENCE (CD), AN ALLIANCE OF THREE LEFTIST PARTIES, RAN CANDIDATES IN 1989 AND ANNOUNCED PLANS TO FIELD CANDIDATES IN THE NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE AND MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 1991.

THE IFDC AGREED ON AN ELECTORAL REFORM PACKAGE FOR THE MARCH 1991 LEGISLATIVE AND MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS. THE AGREEMENT BROUGHT TOGETHER FOR THE FIRST TIME NINE POLITICAL PARTIES, INCLUDING THE NATIONALIST DEMOCRATIC UNION (UDN--THE ELECTORAL ARM OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY OF EL SALVADOR). THE UDN, WHICH DID NOT PARTICIPATE IN THE 1989 ELECTIONS, STATED THAT IT WILL PARTICIPATE IN THE 1991 ELECTIONS WHETHER OR NOT A CEASE-FIRE IS IN PLACE.

SECTION 4 GOVERNMENTAL ATTITUDE REGARDING INTERNATIONAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

THE GOVERNMENT CONTINUED TO BE RECEPTIVE TO GROUPS INTERESTED IN HUMAN RIGHTS. HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND MILITARY OFFICERS MET REGULARLY DURING 1990 WITH VISITING LEGISLATORS FROM DIFFERENT COUNTRIES AND WITH MEMBERS OF HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, CHURCH AND LABOR GROUPS, AND OTHERS.

AMERICAS WATCH AND THE LAWYERS COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS MAINTAIN A JOINT OFFICE IN SAN SALVADOR. THE ICRC HAS AN AGREEMENT WITH THE GOVERNMENT THAT PERMITS IT TO WORK IN THE WAR ZONES TO ASSIST NONCOMBATANTS, TO VISIT PRISONERS AND DETAINEES ACCUSED OF GUERRILLA ACTIVITY, AND TO MAKE CONFIDENTIAL REPORTS TO THE GOVERNMENT ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES. TUTELA LEGAL AND THE CDH ALSO HAVE ACCESS TO THE PRISONS. THE U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR MADE HIS TENTH ANNUAL VISIT TO THE COUNTRY IN OCTOBER. THE LUTHERAN CHURCH, THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF INDIGENOUS PERSONS (ANIS), MANY LABOR UNIONS, UNIVERSITIES, AND OTHER NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS ALSO HAVE HUMAN RIGHTS AND LEGAL ASSISTANCE OFFICES WHICH OPERATE WITHOUT LEGAL RESTRICTION.

DOMESTIC HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS ACTIVE IN EL SALVADOR INCLUDE THE CDH AND TUTELA LEGAL. THE CDH RECEIVES TESTIMONY

DEFENSE WHEN IT DISCOVERS A CASE OF ABUSE. HOWEVER, NEITHER FORMER PRESIDENT DUARTE NOR PRESIDENT CRISTIANI EVER APPOINTED THE FIVE-MEMBER EXECUTIVE BOARD THAT IS SUPPOSED TO GUIDE THE CDH'S WORK AND GIVE IT NECESSARY POLITICAL SUPPORT. NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS VIEW IT AS A PUBLIC RELATIONS BRANCH OF THE GOVERNMENT WITH NO REAL ROLE IN MONITORING OR REPORTING ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. NONETHELESS, THE CDH REMAINS THE BEST SOURCE OF INFORMATION REGARDING DETAINEES AND A GOOD SOURCE ON THE CONDITION OF THOSE RELEASED FROM CUSTODY.

TUTELA LEGAL OFTEN CONDUCTS ITS OWN INVESTIGATIONS BY VISITING PERSONS DETAINED BY THE SECURITY FORCES, DOING SOME ON-SITE INVESTIGATIONS, AND REPORTING ITS FINDINGS TO GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES. ALTHOUGH IT IS THE MAIN HUMAN RIGHTS INVESTIGATIVE AGENCY IN EL SALVADOR AND IS WELL RESPECTED INTERNATIONALLY, TUTELA LEGAL'S METHODOLOGY HAS SOMETIMES BEEN CRITICIZED. TUTELA LEGAL HAS OCCASIONALLY ASSERTED, BASED ON CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE ALONE, THAT CERTAIN KILLINGS WERE PERPETRATED BY THE GOVERNMENT WHEN SUCH WAS NOT THE CASE. HUMAN RIGHTS INSTRUCTION IS A FORMAL AND REGULAR PART OF POLICE RECRUIT TRAINING AND OFFICERS' CLASSES. THE CDH, THE ICRC, AND CATHOLIC CLERGY GIVE REGULARLY SCHEDULED COURSES ON HUMAN RIGHTS FOR POLICE, MILITARY, AND CIVIL DEFENSE PERSONNEL.

SECTION 5 DISCRIMINATION BASED ON RACE, SEX, RELIGION, LANGUAGE, OR SOCIAL STATUS.

EL SALVADOR IS AN ETHNICALLY HOMOGENEOUS COUNTRY, THOUGH A SMALL SEGMENT OF THE POPULATION CLAIMS TO HAVE DESCENDED SOLELY FROM INDIGENOUS PEOPLES. THERE IS NO OFFICIAL

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THEM. DISCRIMINATION IN HOUSING, JOBS, AND EDUCATION IS NOT A MAJOR PROBLEM. THE GOVERNMENT NEITHER PERMITS NOR CONDONES DISCRIMINATION.

UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, WOMEN ENJOY THE SAME LEGAL RIGHTS AS MEN. IN PRACTICE, HOWEVER, WOMEN ARE FACED WITH VARIOUS FORMS OF DE FACTO DISCRIMINATION. SALARIES FOR WOMEN ARE GENERALLY LOWER THAN THOSE FOR MEN, AND EMPLOYERS ARE OFTEN RELUCTANT TO HIRE WOMEN, ALLEGING THAT THEY ARE REGARDED AS LESS RELIABLE THAN MEN.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, IS WIDESPREAD, BUT THE LACK OF RELIABLE STATISTICS MAKES IT IMPOSSIBLE TO GAUGE ITS PRECISE EXTENT. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT JUDGES OFTEN DISMISS RAPE CHARGES ON THE PRETEXT THAT THE VICTIM PROVOKED THE CRIME.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION

THE 1983 CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS THE GOVERNMENT FROM USING NATIONALITY, SEX, RACE, CREED, OR POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY TO PREVENT WORKERS FROM ORGANIZING THEMSELVES INTO UNIONS OR ASSOCIATIONS. THIS PROVISION WAS INTENDED TO PROVIDE THE LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR SECONDARY LEGISLATION, INCLUDING A REVISED LABOR CODE WHICH HAS NEVER BEEN ENACTED. IN THE WAKE OF THE APRIL 1990 AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT AND THE FMLN TO RENEW PEACE TALKS, PRESIDENT CRISTIANI ESTABLISHED A TRIPARTITE SOCIOECONOMIC COMMISSION TO REVIEW CONDITIONS IN EL SALVADOR. THE COMMISSION FORMED SIX SUBCOMMITTEES, ONE OF

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

WHICH IS DEDICATED TO DISCUSSING THE REFORM OF LABOR LEGISLATION. THE SUBCOMMITTEE IS CHAIRED BY THE LABOR MINISTER AND INCLUDES PROMINENT LABOR AND BUSINESS LEADERS. EFFORTS TO ACHIEVE A CONSENSUS ON LABOR LEGISLATION REFORM CONTINUED, BUT NO PROPOSAL HAD BEEN FORWARDED TO THE LEGISLATURE BY YEAR'S END.

A CONFUSING AND SOMETIMES CONFLICTING SET OF LAWS GOVERNING LABOR RELATIONS REMAINS IN PLACE. WHILE EXISTING STATUTES PROVIDE PROTECTIONS WHICH ARE ENFORCEABLE UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, THEIR INCONSISTENCIES OFTEN RESULT IN CUMBERSOME PROCEDURES AND SIGNIFICANT DELAYS.

LEGALLY, ONLY PRIVATE SECTOR NONAGRICULTURAL WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM UNIONS AND TO STRIKE. EMPLOYEES OF THE NINE AUTONOMOUS PUBLIC AGENCIES MAY FORM UNIONS BUT ARE BARRED FROM STRIKING. THE ABSENCE OF SPECIFIC LAWS GRANTING PUBLIC EMPLOYEES THE RIGHT TO STRIKE DOES NOT DETER SUCH STRIKE ACTIVITY. EXISTING LAW BARS AGRICULTURAL WORKERS AND EMPLOYEES OF GOVERNMENT MINISTRIES AND DEPARTMENTS FROM FORMING UNIONS OR STRIKING. THESE EMPLOYEES ARE REPRESENTED BY ASSOCIATIONS WHICH, IN PRACTICE, PARTICIPATE IN ACTIVITIES THE SAME AS UNIONS, INCLUDING RESORTING TO STRIKES. PUBLIC SECTOR ASSOCIATIONS, THROUGH A COORDINATING BODY CALLED THE INTERSTATAL, STAGED A SERIES OF COORDINATED STRIKES DURING THE YEAR DEMANDING WAGE INCREASES.

THE LABOR CODE REQUIRES THAT DISPUTES GO THROUGH DIRECT BARGAINING, CONCILIATION, AND ARBITRATION BEFORE A STRIKE CAN BE CALLED. LABOR COURTS, WHICH ARE PART OF THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM AND ARE ULTIMATELY RESPONSIBLE TO THE SUPREME COURT,

UNCLASSIFIED

PAGE 29 STATE 035785 041247Z
ARE COMPETENT TO DETERMINE THE LEGALITY OF STRIKES. IN PRACTICE, BOTH LABOR AND MANAGEMENT OFTEN IGNORE THE ONEROUS AND TIME CONSUMING LEGAL REQUIREMENTS, AND MOST STRIKES ARE THEREFORE TECHNICALLY ILLEGAL. IN SEVERAL INSTANCES, WORKERS HAVE OCCUPIED FACTORY PREMISES AS PART OF A WORK STOPPAGE. IN CASES WHERE SUCH ACTIVITY IS PART OF AN ILLEGAL STRIKE, SECURITY FORCES HAVE INTERVENED ON OCCASION.

PUBLIC SECTOR WORKERS STAGED A SERIES OF WORK STOPPAGES DURING THE YEAR DEMANDING WAGE INCREASES, AND THERE WERE A NUMBER OF PRIVATE SECTOR STRIKES.

THERE ARE APPROXIMATELY 150 ACTIVE TRADE UNIONS, EMPLOYEE ASSOCIATIONS, AND PEASANT ORGANIZATIONS IN EL SALVADOR. THEIR COMBINED MEMBERSHIP IS JUST OVER 400,000, ROUGHLY 15 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE. THE NATIONAL UNION OF WORKERS AND PEASANTS (UNOC), CLAIMING SOME 200,000 MEMBERS, REMAINS BY FAR THE COUNTRY'S LARGEST LABOR ORGANIZATION. THESE ORGANIZATIONS FREELY ELECT THEIR OFFICERS IN ACCORDANCE WITH THEIR INDIVIDUAL CONSTITUTIONS AND BYLAWS. LEADERS OF WORKER ORGANIZATIONS APPEAR REGULARLY ON TELEVISION, PUBLICIZE THEIR VIEWS IN THE COUNTRY'S MAJOR NEWSPAPERS, AND CONDUCT SEMINARS ON VARIOUS ISSUES WITHOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE. UNIONS HAVE ALSO BEEN ABLE TO ORGANIZE OR PARTICIPATE IN PEACEFUL PUBLIC DEMONSTRATIONS WITHOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE.

THE STATE OF EMERGENCY DECLARED BY PRESIDENT CRISTIANI IN RESPONSE TO THE FMLN OFFENSIVE OF NOVEMBER 1989 LIMITED FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION UNTIL THE STATE OF EMERGENCY WAS LIFTED IN APRIL 1990. UNIONS WERE ABLE TO CONDUCT BUSINESS ON A NORMAL BASIS DESPITE THE STATE OF EMERGENCY, HOWEVER, AND WERE REQUIRED ONLY TO REQUEST PRIOR AUTHORIZATION FOR LARGE MEETINGS, AND SUCH PERMISSION APPEARED TO HAVE BEEN ROUTINELY GRANTED DURING 1990. BOTH THE PRO-FMLN NATIONAL UNITY OF SALVADORAN WORKERS (UNTS) AND UNOC HELD GENERAL ASSEMBLIES DURING THE STATE OF EMERGENCY WITHOUT INTERFERENCE FROM THE AUTHORITIES. UNDER THE STATE OF EMERGENCY, ONE UNION MEETING WAS BROKEN UP AND THE PARTICIPANTS BRIEFLY HELD WHEN SENIOR MILITARY OFFICIALS FAILED TO INFORM LOWER-LEVEL OFFICIALS THAT AUTHORIZATION FOR THE MEETING HAD BEEN GRANTED. THE UNION LEADERS WERE QUICKLY RELEASED WHEN THE IMPROPER ARREST WAS POINTED OUT TO THE MILITARY HIGH COMMAND. NEVERTHELESS, INCIDENTS OF HARASSMENT AND VIOLENCE AGAINST UNIONISTS AND MEMBERS OF COOPERATIVES BY GOVERNMENT FORCES CONTINUED IN 1990 (SEE BELOW AND SECTIONS 1.B. AND 1.C.).

THERE ARE NO RESTRICTIONS ON AFFILIATION WITH INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATIONS, AND SALVADORAN UNIONS FREELY AFFILIATE

WITH SUCH GROUPS WITHOUT PRIOR AUTHORIZATION, INCLUDING THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS, THE WORLD CONFEDERATION OF LABOR, AD THE COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED WORLD FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS.

IN 1990 THE COMMITTEE ON FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION (CFA) OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (ILO) CONTINUED ITS CONSIDERATION OF FOUR CASES BASED ON COMPLAINTS FILED BY SEVERAL INTERNATIONAL AND SALVADORAN LABOR ORGANIZATIONS ALLEGING VIOLATIONS OF ILO CONVENTION #7 ON FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION. THE SAME ISSUES WERE ALSO EXAMINED BY THE ILO CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS (CACR) IN JUNE. THE COMPLAINTS, SOME OF WHICH DATE BACK TO 1981, ALLEGE, INTER ALIA, THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS

IMPLICATED IN THE MURDER, HARASSMENT, INTIMIDATION, AND DISAPPEARANCE OF TRADE UNIONISTS, AND THE DESTRUCTION OF TRADE UNION PROPERTY, AND THAT CERTAIN PUBLIC EMPLOYEES WERE DENIED THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY, AND WERE NOT PROTECTED FROM ANTIUNION DISCRIMINATION. THE CFA NOTED THE GOVERNMENT'S REPLY, ACCORDING TO WHICH AN AGREEMENT HAD BEEN CONCLUDED ON THE REINSTATEMENT OF THE DISMISSED TRADE UNION LEADERS OF THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS SECTOR. THE NOVEMBER CFA MEETING AGAIN EXPRESSED DEEP PREOCCUPATION WITH VIOLENCE AGAINST TRADE UNIONISTS. ACTS ALLEGED TO HAVE OCCURRED IN 1990 INCLUDED AN ASSAULT BY THE NATIONAL GUARD AND POLICE ON THE PREMISES OF THE DEMOCRATIC WORKERS CONFEDERATION (CTD) AND THE ARREST OF 17 OF ITS MEMBERS, AND THE DISAPPEARANCE OF AN OFFICER OF THE TEACHERS UNION (ANDES). NOTING ITS AWARENESS OF THE DIFFICULTIES PRESENTLY FACING THE GOVERNMENT, THE CFA AGAIN APPEALED THAT IT TAKE ALL PRACTICAL MEASURES TO GUARANTEE NORMAL EXERCISE OF TRADE UNION AND HUMAN RIGHTS, TO INSTITUTE JUDICIAL INQUIRIES, AND TO ASSURE THAT ARRESTED TRADE UNIONISTS ARE RELEASED.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

THE RIGHT OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS GRANTED IN ARTICLE 39 OF THE CONSTITUTION, AND ARTICLE 269 OF THE LABOR CODE. UNDER THE LABOR CODE, ONLY PRIVATE SECTOR WORKERS CAN EXERCISE THIS RIGHT, BUT THE CONSTITUTION IS INTERPRETED BROADLY TO PROVIDE ALL WORKERS THE RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY. PRIVATE SECTOR UNIONS USE THE MECHANISM OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING EXTENSIVELY, AND A SIMILAR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING PRACTICE IS ALSO FOLLOWED, ALBEIT IN A MORE INFORMAL MANNER, BETWEEN PUBLIC EMPLOYEES AND THE GOVERNMENT.

THE DIRECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR IS RESPONSIBLE FOR OVERSEEING THE IMPLEMENTATION OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENTS AND FOR ACTING AS A CONCILIATOR IN LABOR-RELATED DISPUTES IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR AND AUTONOMOUS GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS. THE MINISTRY OF LABOR TOOK PART IN THE NEGOTIATION OR ADAPTATION OF 137 COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS IN 1990. MORE COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS WERE SIGNED IN 1990 THAN IN 1989.

THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY AND THE LABOR MOVEMENT IMPROVED SOMEWHAT DURING 1990, BUT A LARGE RESERVOIR OF DISTRUST REMAINS. LABOR LEADERS PERCEIVE THE CRISTIANI GOVERNMENT AS BEING ANTILABOR, AND, AS BEFORE, BUSINESSMEN FREQUENTLY TAKE MEASURES TO PREVENT UNIONS FROM BEING FORMED. UNION LEADERS HAVE ALSO COMPLAINED ABOUT LENGTHY AND COMPLEX PROCEDURES REQUIRED TO REGISTER NEW UNIONS.

ARTICLE 47 OF THE CONSTITUTION STATES THAT UNION OFFICIALS AT THE TIME OF THEIR ELECTION, THROUGHOUT THEIR TERM, AND FOR 1 YEAR FOLLOWING THEIR TERM SHALL NOT BE FIRED, SUSPENDED FOR DISCIPLINARY REASONS, REMOVED, OR DEBASED IN THEIR WORK CONDITIONS EXCEPT FOR LEGAL CAUSE. THIS PROVISION IS GENERALLY OBSERVED IN PRACTICE. TWICE SINCE 1986 THE SUPREME COURT HAS REAFFIRMED CONSTITUTIONAL SAFEGUARDS PROTECTING TRADE UNIONS, WORKER ASSOCIATIONS, PEASANT ORGANIZATIONS, AND THEIR LEADERS FROM ARBITRARY AND CAPRICIOUS BEHAVIOR BY MANAGEMENT AND/OR THE GOVERNMENT.

EL SALVADOR HAS ONE EXPORT PROCESSING ZONE. THERE ARE NO DIFFERENCES BETWEEN LABOR REGULATIONS IN THE ZONE AND THOSE

UNCLASSIFIED

WHICH PREVAIL IN GENERAL. THERE ARE NO LABOR UNIONS REPRESENTED IN ANY OF THE FIRMS IN THE ZONE, AND THE FIRMS DISCOURAGE LABOR ORGANIZING. THE LABOR MINISTRY MAINTAINS THAT IT HAS RECEIVED NO COMPLAINTS FROM WORKERS IN THE ZONE. HOWEVER, THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR AND CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATIONS CONTENDS THAT STRINGENT REGISTRATION REQUIREMENTS AND OTHER HARASSMENT EFFECTIVELY BLOCK UNION ORGANIZING EFFORTS.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR, EXCEPT IN CASES OF PUBLIC CALAMITY AND OTHER INSTANCES SPECIFIED BY LAW.

IN 1990, AS IT HAS FOR A NUMBER OF YEARS, THE ILO'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS NOTED WITH CONCERN THE PROVISIONS IN THE PENAL CODE THAT ALLOW THE IMPOSITION OF SENTENCES INVOLVING COMPULSORY LABOR AND HAS MADE SUGGESTIONS ON HOW TO IMPROVE EXISTING LEGISLATION AND PRACTICE. REFORM OF THE PENAL CODE IS BEING CONSIDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY. THE FMLN CONTINUES TO FORCE CIVILIANS, INCLUDING MINORS, TO SERVE AS PORTERS, SPOTTERS, AND COURIERS FOR THE GUERRILLA ARMY.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN UNDER THE AGE OF 14. THE LABOR CODE STATES THAT EXCEPTION MAY BE MADE ONLY IN CASES WHERE IT CAN BE DEMONSTRATED THAT SUCH EMPLOYMENT IS ABSOLUTELY INDISPENSABLE TO THE SUSTENANCE OF THE MINOR AND HIS FAMILY. THIS IS MOST OFTEN THE CASE WITH

UNCLASSIFIED

CHILDREN OF PEASANT FAMILIES WHO TRADITIONALLY WORK WITH THEIR FAMILIES DURING PLANTING AND HARVESTING SEASONS.

THE CONSTITUTION ALSO PROHIBITS THE EMPLOYMENT OF PERSONS UNDER 18 AND ALL WOMEN IN OCCUPATIONS CONSIDERED HAZARDOUS. THE LAW IS ENFORCED THROUGH INSPECTIONS BY THE MINISTRY OF LABOR. INSPECTIONS DURING 1990 UNCOVERED A NUMBER OF VIOLATIONS WHICH REPORTEDLY WERE CORRECTED.

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK.

THE GOVERNMENT'S NATIONAL MINIMUM WAGE COUNCIL RECOMMENDS INCREASES IN THE MINIMUM WAGES FOR COMMERCIAL, INDUSTRIAL, SERVICE, AND AGROINDUSTRIAL EMPLOYEES. OVER THE PAST SEVERAL YEARS, WAGES HAVE NOT KEPT PACE WITH INFLATION. IN APRIL THE GOVERNMENT AUTHORIZED THE FIRST INCREASE IN THE MINIMUM WAGE SINCE 1986. WORKERS IN COMMERCE, INDUSTRY, AND THE SERVICE SECTOR HAVE A MINIMUM DAILY SALARY OF APPROXIMATELY 3 IN THE CAPITAL AND 2.90 IN OUTLYING AREAS. AGRICULTURAL WORKERS RECEIVED A MINIMUM OF APPROXIMATELY 1.75 A DAY. FOR THE MOST PART, MINIMUM WAGES ARE INADEQUATE TO MEET THE MINISTRY OF ECONOMY'S STANDARD OF BASIC NECESSITY, AND AN ESTIMATED 40 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES BELOW THE POVERTY LEVEL. WAGE RATES FOR MOST CATEGORIES OF WORKERS ARE HIGHER THAN THE LEGAL MINIMUMS, ESPECIALLY IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR. IN 1990 LABORERS EARNED AN AVERAGE OF 171.50 PER MONTH, WHILE CLERK TYPISTS EARNED 271.90 PER MONTH, AND MECHANICS 320.35 PER MONTH.

THE LAW LIMITS THE WORKDAY TO 8 HOURS FOR MINORS BETWEEN 14 AND 18 YEARS OF AGE AND 8 HOURS FOR ADULTS. PREMIUM PAY IS MANDATED FOR LONGER HOURS. THE AVERAGE WORKWEEK IS 44 HOURS.

2. SUMMARY: THE GOVERNMENT OF CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT PATRICIO AYLWIN HAS HAD CONSIDERABLE SUCCESS IN CONSOLIDATING DEMOCRACY IN CHILE. CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL FOR MUCH OF ITS LEGISLATIVE AGENDA, ALBEIT WITH

SIGNIFICANT MODIFICATION FROM THE OPPOSITION, AUGURS WELL FOR IMPORTANT CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS THE GOC MAY INTRODUCE DURING 1991. THE PRESIDENT HAS GRADUALLY ASSERTED CIVILIAN CONTROL OF THE MILITARY AND PUT IN PLACE MECHANISMS FOR RESOLVING THE HUMAN RIGHTS OVERHANG FROM THE PINOCHET REGIME IN A NONCONFRONTATIONAL MANNER. AYLWIN HAS GROWN IN STATURE AND DOMINATES THE POLITICAL SCENE. WITH MAJOR ELEMENTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC STRUCTURE IN PLACE, THE CHALLENGE FOR THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT IN 1991 WILL BE TO PROVE DEMOCRACY CAN DELIVER ON BREAD AND BUTTER AND LAW AND ORDER ISSUES. THE MULTI-PARTY GOVERNING COALITION HAS PROVEN RESILIENT. NEVERTHELESS, CHANGES IN THE LEADERSHIP OF THE SOCIALIST PARTY AND RUMBLINGS IN AYLWIN'S OWN CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY COULD SPELL TROUBLE FOR THE COALITION IN THE FUTURE. IN THE AREA OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, AYLWIN HAS RESTORED CHILE'S POSITION AS AN INFLUENTIAL MEMBER OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY AND

RELATIONS WITH THE U.S., THE CENTERPIECE OF HIS FOREIGN POLICY, WERE IMPROVED WITH THE LIFTING OF THE KENNEDY-HARKIN AMENDMENT SANCTIONS BANNING MILITARY SALES AND THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF RESTORATION OF GSP PRIVILEGES.

AYLWIN -- STILL RIDING HIGH WITH THE PUBLIC

3. HELPED BY A SKILLED PUBLIC RELATIONS TEAM, BATTLE TESTED IN THE VICTORIOUS 1988 PLEBISCITE AND 1989 ELECTION CAMPAIGNS, PRESIDENT PATRICIO AYLWIN HAS DEVELOPED AS A STRONG, STATESMANLIKE NATIONAL FIGURE. HE DOMINATES THE CHILEAN POLITICAL SCENE. HIS FREQUENT PUBLIC APPEARANCES, INCLUDING POLITICAL SWINGS OUTSIDE THE CAPITAL TO MEET WITH LOCAL POLITICIANS, ARE CAREFULLY ORCHESTRATED EVENTS WHICH RECEIVE EXCELLENT NATIONAL MEDIA COVERAGE. ONE CONSERVATIVE ANALYST BEMOANED HIS BECOMING "A SYMBOL OF MODERATION AND WISDOM." THE PRESIDENT'S ENHANCED POLITICAL PERSONA HAS MADE HIM ALMOST UNTOUCHABLE AS A TARGET OF POLITICAL CRITICISM, FORCING THE RIGHTIST OPPOSITION TO FOCUS ITS ATTACKS ON MORE VULNERABLE MEMBERS OF HIS GOVERNMENT.

4. PERHAPS THE GREATEST SUCCESS OF THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT IN ITS FIRST TEN MONTHS HAS BEEN THE CONSOLIDATION OF DEMOCRACY. THE VIEW THAT CHILEAN DEMOCRACY IS WORKING WELL FOR THE COUNTRY IS ALMOST UNIVERSALLY SHARED. EVEN PINOCHET'S MUCH FEARED

ALTHOUGH THERE IS SOME SMUG SELF-CONGRATULATION IN FERNANDEZ' STATEMENT--HE 'HAS ONE OF THE DRAFTERS OF THE 1980 CONSTITUTION WHICH SET OUT THE TRANSITION TERMS--THERE IS ALSO RECOGNITION THAT THE TRANSITION IS WORKING.

INABILITY TO CONTROL DOMESTIC VIOLENCE. RECENT POLLS INDICATE THAT CHILEANS ARE INCREASINGLY CONCERNED ABOUT THE HIGH NUMBER OF TERRORIST ACTS, BANK ROBBERIES AND MINDLESS ACTS OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY, WHICH, GOVERNMENT CRITICS CONTEND, REFLECT THE NEW GOVERNMENT'S LACK OF COMMITMENT TO LAW AND ORDER. NOTWITHSTANDING THE RECENT ROUNDUP OF TERRORISTS, AND THE ONGOING HOUSE-CLEANING WITHIN CHILE'S DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE APPARATUS, THE NEW GOVERNMENT'S CONCERN FOR PINOCHET-ERA "POLITICAL PRISONERS" AND THE STEADY STREAM OF SENSATIONALIST ACTS OF VIOLENCE HAVE OBSCURED THE GOVERNMENT'S ATTEMPTS TO EFFECTIVELY RESPOND TO THE "INTERNAL SECURITY" PROBLEM.

6. IN PART THE "LAW AND ORDER" PROBLEM IS ONE OF PERCEPTION, BUT IT ALSO REFLECTS THE NEW GOVERNMENT'S CHALLENGE TO CONTROL PRESSURES RELEASED UNDER A DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM. THE GOVERNMENT HAS HAD SUCCESS IN HANDLING ITS THREE MOST IMPORTANT CHALLENGES -- (A) CONSOLIDATING CIVILIAN AUTHORITY OVER THE MILITARY; (B) DEALING WITH CASES OF OUTSTANDING HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS; AND (C) ADDRESSING LONG-STANDING PUBLIC NEEDS IN HOUSING, EDUCATION AND HEALTH, OFTEN REFERRED TO AS THE "SOCIAL DEBT" LEFT BY THE PREVIOUS GOVERNMENT. BUT AS WITH ITS "UNDERSTANDING" ON THE SOCIAL DEBT, THE PEOPLE'S PATIENCE ON THE ISSUE OF VIOLENCE MAY BEGIN TO EVAPORATE IN AYLWIN'S SECOND

7. THE AIR FORCE, NAVY AND CARABINEROS HAVE ADJUSTED

TO CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT WITH REMARKABLY LITTLE FRICTION. AYLWIN'S PROBLEMS WITH THE CHILEAN ARMED FORCES ARE THEREFORE PRINCIPALLY CENTERED ON RELATIONS WITH THE ARMY AND ITS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, FORMER PRESIDENT AUGUSTO PINOCHET. PINOCHET'S DECEMBER 19 DECISION TO PUT THE ARMY ON ALERT FOLLOWED A BREAKDOWN IN TALKS HE HAD INITIATED WITH THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT OVER HIS EARLY RETIRE'MENT IN EXCHANGE FOR RESTRAINT OF THE INVESTIGATIONS INTO THE ARMY'S AND HIS FAMILY'S FINANCIAL SCA'NS (REFTEL C). THE POSSIBILITY OF SERIOUS CONFRONTATION 'HAS DEFUSED WHEN THE AIR FORCE, NAVY AND CARABINERO COMMANDERS-IN-CHIEF FAILED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE ARMY'S ALERT ON DECEMBER 19, AND REPORTEDLY PLEDGED THEIR SUPPORT TO THE GOVERNMENT. THE GOC'S GOOD RELATIONS WITH THESE THREE SERVICES, THEREFORE, BRING A REASSURING STABILITY TO THE BODY POLITIC. AYLWIN AND HIS PRINCIPAL CABINET MEMBERS CONTINUE TO STRENGTHEN TIES WITH THE AIR FORCE AND NAVY, AND THE CARABINEROS HAVE BEEN BROUGHT UNDER MINISTRY OF INTERIOR OPERATIONAL CONTROL. (LEGAL ACTION TO FORMALLY SHIFT THE CARABINEROS FROM THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE IS PENDING.)

8. AS FOR THE PINOCHET PROBLEM, AYLWIN IS RESIGNED TO HAVING THE CAPTAIN GENERAL AROUND FOR THE SHORT TERM, BUT THE OBVIOUS STRATEGY IS TO FORCE PINOCHET TO STEP DOWN WELL BEFORE HIS CONSTITUTIONALLY-PROTECTED TERM ENDS IN 1996. PINOCHET HAS UNWITTINGLY HELPED THE GOVERNMENT BY HIS PUBLIC GAFFES AND THE FINANCIAL SCANDALS INVOLVING ARMY PERSONNEL AND HIS SON AND DAUGHTER. THERE ARE SIGNS OF FLAGGING SUPPORT FOR PINOCHET AMONG ARMY OFFICERS, SOME OF WHOM ARE EMBARRASSED BY THEIR COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF'S BEING PUBLICLY CALLED TO ACCOUNT BY PRESIDENT AYLWIN FOR INDISCRETIONS SUCH AS HIS INSULTING REMARKS ABOUT THE GERMAN ARMY (90 SANTIAGO 7030). HOWEVER, THERE IS NO INDICATION THAT PINOCHET'S CRITICS WITHIN THE ARMY ARE NEAR THE CRITICAL MASS NEEDED TO FORCE HIM OUT.

9. THE GOC CONTINUES TO EXPLOIT PINOCHET'S MISSTEPS AND IS BECOMING BOLDER IN TAKING THE INITIATIVE. A CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE CONDUCTED AN INQUIRY INTO A QUESTIONABLE THREE MILLION DOLLAR ARMY PAYMENT TO PINOCHET'S SON WHICH REVEALED HIGHLY EMBARRASSING INFORMATION ABOUT HIS INVOLVEMENT IN THE BYZANTINE WORLD OF SHADY ARMS DEALS AND FINANCIAL IRREGULARITIES. ALTHOUGH THE COMMITTEE LEFT AMBIGUOUS GENERAL PINOCHET'S INVOLVEMENT IN OR KNOWLEDGE OF HIS SON'S ACTIVITIES TO DEFUSE THE POLITICALLY EXPLOSIVE SITUATION, THE ARMY COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF'S REPUTATION HAS BEEN SERIOUSLY

DAMAGED. THE CUTUFA SCANDAL (90 SANTIAGO 8522) ALSO CONTINUES TO UNFOLD AND TO DRAW MORE AND MORE ACTIVE DUTY AND RETIRED ARMY OFFICERS INTO ITS WEB, DESTROYING PERHAPS FOR GOOD THE MYTH THAT WHILE THE ARMED FORCES WERE TOUGH, AT LEAST THEY WERE HONEST. THE DANGER FOR THE GOC AS THOSE AND PERHAPS OTHER SCANDALS UNFOLD IS THAT THE MORE FANATIC PINOCHET-HATERS (ESPECIALLY AMONG THE SOCIALISTS) COULD OVERPLAY THEIR HAND, PROMPTING THE MILITARY AND ELEMENTS OF THE POLITICAL RIGHT TO CLOSE RANKS BEHIND THE EMBATTLED FORMER PRESIDENT. SO FAR, HOWEVER, AYLWIN HAS BEEN ABLE TO RESTRAIN HIS EAGER ALLIES.

HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES -- UNDER CONTROL

10. THE TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMISSION CREATED BY THE GOC TO PRODUCE A DETAILED REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS AFTER THE 1973 COUP HAS BECOME WIDELY ACCEPTED AS A LEGITIMATE BODY TO DEAL WITH THIS CONTENTIOUS ISSUE. COMMISSION MEMBERS TELL US ITS REPORT WILL BE RELEASED ON FEBRUARY 9. ITS FINDINGS WILL UNDOUBTEDLY BE CONTROVERSIAL, PERHAPS EXPLOSIVE, BUT FEW EXPECT IT TO PROVOKE A GOVERNMENT CRISIS. THE TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMISSION HAS NO JUDICIAL POWERS AND MOST HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS ARE COVERED BY THE 1978 AMNESTY WHICH THE SUPREME COURT HAS REPEATEDLY UPHELD. HOWEVER, THE COMMISSION REPORT MAY, AS AYLWIN INTENDS, PROVIDE A CATHARSIS. THE WIDESPREAD ABUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS BY THE ARMED FORCES WILL BE CLEARLY ESTABLISHED, ITS VICTIMS WILL BE RECOGNIZED AS SUCH, RATHER THAN AS THE DELINQUENTS THE MILITARY CLAIMED, AND SOME COMPENSATION WILL BE OFFERED.

11. ANTICIPATING EMBARRASSMENT FROM THE REPORT, THE ARMY HAS SIDESTEPPED THE COMMISSION'S REQUEST FOR DETAILED INFORMATION, CONTRIBUTING ONLY A SPIRITED DEFENSE OF ITS CONDUCT IN FIGHTING A "CIVIL WAR" AND A LISTING OF ARMY VICTIMS OF TERRORIST ACTIONS. OTHER BRANCHES OF THE MILITARY HAVE BEEN MORE

FORTHCOMING. THE COMMISSION'S FINAL REPORT IS LIKELY TO ADD TO THE PRESSURE ON PINOCHET TO RETIRE. AYLWIN HAS MADE IT CLEAR THAT HE WILL NOT PERMIT THE COMMISSION REPORT TO BE USED AS AN INDICTMENT OF THE ARMED FORCES AS AN INSTITUTION.

12. MANY CHILEANS FEARED AN EXPLOSION OF LONG PENT-UP DEMANDS FOR INCREASED PUBLIC SERVICES IN HOUSING, EDUCATION AND HEALTH, I.E. PAYMENTS ON THE SO-CALLED "SOCIAL DEBT" LEFT OVER FROM THE PINOCHET PERIOD. AYLWIN HAS STAVED OFF POPULAR UNREST, HOWEVER, BY CANDIDLY EXPLAINING THAT THERE WOULD BE LITTLE INCREASE IN SOCIAL EXPENDITURES--THAT, AT LEAST IN THE SHORT TERM, HE WOULD MAINTAIN AUSTERE NATIONAL BUDGETS. WORKING INITIALLY WITH A BUDGET PREPARED BY THE PINOCHET GOVERNMENT, INCREASES IN SOCIAL SERVICES HAVE BEEN MARGINAL, ALTHOUGH TAX INCREASES ENACTED IN JULY PROVIDED FUNDS FOR SOME RELIEF TO THE MOST NEEDY SECTIONS OF SOCIETY. ALTHOUGH THE GOC HAS BEEN DISAPPOINTED IN CONTRIBUTIONS FROM FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS, THE INTERNATIONAL "SOLIDARITY FUND" HAS ALSO PROVIDED SOME NEW MONEY FOR SOCIAL PROGRAMS.

13. TO JUSTIFY HIS ECONOMIC POLICY APPROACH, AYLWIN AND HIS ECONOMIC TEAM HAVE STRESSED THE NEED TO RETAIN THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PRIVATE SECTOR AS THE KEY TO CONTINUED GROWTH. (THERE REMAIN SUBSTANTIAL CONCERNS THAT WHILE MANY ON AYLWIN'S TEAM ARE COMMITTED TO THE FREE MARKET, THE PRESIDENT'S OWN CONVERSION IS ONLY PARTIAL.) SO FAR, THE GOC HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL IN CONVINCING ITS MASS FOLLOWING THAT JOBS, NOT HANDOUTS, OFFER THE BEST ROUTE TO GENERAL IMPROVEMENT IN THE AVERAGE CHILEAN'S QUALITY OF LIFE. AYLWIN'S FIRST BUDGET CONTINUED A POLICY OF AUSTERITY AND SAILED THROUGH THE CONGRESS EARLY IN DECEMBER WITH LITTLE STATIC FROM THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION. FORTUNATELY FOR AYLWIN, THE CONGRESS CAN ONLY CUT SPENDING LEVELS; IT CANNOT INCREASE THEM.

14. DESPITE 27 PERCENT INFLATION IN 1990--HIGH BY RECENT CHILEAN STANDARDS--AND SLOWER GROWTH, THE SOCIALIST AND CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC LABOR UNIONS ASSOCIATED WITH THE GOVERNING COALITION DID NOT BREAK RANKS WITH THE GOVERNMENT. A TWENTY-FIVE PERCENT SALARY INCREASE IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR, WHICH IS BEING PARALLELED IN THAT PART OF THE PRIVATE SECTOR NOT COVERED BY COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENTS, TOOK THE EDGE OFF WAGE DEMANDS. MOREOVER, COST OF LIVING

INCREASES BUILT INTO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING CONTRACTS ALSO DEFUSED DEMANDS FOR WAGE INCREASES; 'MAJOR CONTRACTS ARE NOT DUE TO BE RENEGOTIATED UNTIL THE END OF NEXT YEAR. LABOR, WITH SOME GRUMBLING, HAS ACCEPTED LABOR LAW REFORMS WHICH WERE CAREFULLY NEGOTIATED WITH THE OPPOSITION IN CONGRESS AND WITH MANAGEMENT REPRESENTATIVES. HOWEVER, MANY OBSERVERS PREDICT SERIOUS PROBLEMS WITH BOTH LABOR AND BUSINESS IN AYLWIN'S SECOND YEAR IF THE ECONOMY FAILS TO REBOUND. IN 1991, THESE SECTORS WILL BE LESS PATIENT WITH A REPEAT OF 1990'S HIGH INFLATION RATE AND MINIMAL GROWTH IN GDP.

NONETHELESS, THERE ARE PERSISTENT RUMORS OF A CABINET SHAKE-UP IN MARCH AROUND THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE GOVERNMENT'S FIRST YEAR IN OFFICE ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT AYLWIN HAS DISCOUNTED ANY CHANGES. PARTY LEADER AND FOREIGN MINISTER ENRIQUE SILVA CIMMA. HE HAS AYLWIN'S FRIENDSHIP AND CONFIDENCE, HOWEVER, AND MAY TURN OUT TO BE A PERMANENT FIXTURE IN THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT. INTERESTINGLY, EVEN THOUGH POLITICAL OBSERVERS HAVE BEEN ALMOST UNANIMOUSLY CRITICAL OF HIS LACKLUSTER PERFORMANCE, POLLS SHOW SILVA CIMMA TO BE THE MOST POPULAR MINISTER IN THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT. (HIS MANY WELL-PUBLICIZED TRIPS ABROAD HAVE HELPED IN THIS REGARD.) IN THE WAKE OF PRESIDENT BUSH'S RESOUNDINGLY SUCCESSFUL VISIT, PRECEDED BY THE LIFTING OF THE KENNEDY-HARKIN SANCTIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENT THAT GSP PRIVILEGES WOULD BE RESTORED, SILVA CIMMA'S CHANCES OF RETAINING HIS PORTFOLIO HAVE IMPROVED.

16. WE HEAR VARIOUS RUMORS ABOUT OTHER CABINET MEMBERS WHO ARE ON THE WAY OUT--OUR FAVORITE CANDIDATE IS AGRICULTURE MINISTER FIGUEROA--BUT AT THIS STAGE THERE IS NOTHING VERY SOLID. THE ARMY'S DECEMBER 19 ALERT CLEARLY EMBARRASSED DEFENSE MINISTER ROJAS AND UNDERSCORED PINOCHET'S DISDAIN FOR HIM (REFTEL C), BUT THE LATTER FACTOR HAS ACTUALLY GIVEN ROJAS GREATER JOB SECURITY. THE GOC'S ECONOMIC CZAR, FINANCE MINISTER ALEJANDRO FOXLEY, IS SOLID, EVEN THOUGH THE POLLS SHOW HIS POPULARITY SLIPPING AS THE ECONOMY COOLS. INTERIOR MINISTER ENRIQUE KRAUSS

GENERALLY GETS MEDIOCRE MARKS. HE IS VIEWED AS UNCERTAIN ON SECURITY ISSUES, WHICH, AS NOTED ABOVE,

17. THERE HAVE BEEN RUMBLINGS IN BOTH THE SOCIALIST PARTY (PS) AND IN AYLWIN'S OWN CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PDC) WHICH COULD EVENTUALLY AFFECT THE COMPOSITION OF THE GOVERNMENT. IN RECENT PS ELECTIONS, THE MORE RADICAL WING OF THE PARTY RECEIVED ABOUT 30 PERCENT OF THE VOTE ITS MEMBERS WILL MOVE INTO POSITIONS OF INFLUENCE (SANTIAGO 9142). ALTHOUGH BOTH LEADING "RENOVATED" AND TRIUMPHANT RADICAL SOCIALISTS AVOWED THAT THE PS WILL REMAIN FIRMLY IN THE GOVERNMENT CAMP, INTERNAL PS TENSIONS COULD PORTEND A BREAK IN THE NOT-TOO-DISTANT FUTURE WITH AYLWIN'S MODERATE ECONOMIC POLICIES AND CONCILIATORY APPROACH TO HUMAN RIGHTS. THIS WOULD BECOME MORE LIKELY IF THE ECONOMY TAKES A DOWNTURN AND LABOR BECOMES RESTIVE.

18. IN LOCAL PDC ELECTIONS HELD THE WEEKEND OF DECEMBER 15-16, THERE 'HAS A CHALLENGE TO AYLWIN'S LEADERSHIP FROM THE PARTY'S RIGHT WING . THE

MOVEMENT 'HAS LED BY ADOLFO ZALDIVAR, THE BROTHER OF PARTY PRESIDENT ANDRES ZALDIVAR. HE AND HIS FOLLOWERS OBJECT TO THE PDC'S COALITION WITH THE SOCIALISTS; THE RADICALS' GAINS IN THE PS ELECTIONS ONLY CONFIRMED THEIR FEARS. AYLWIN'S FACTION 'HAS SUFFICIENTLY ALARMED BY THE CHALLENGE TO PUT NUMEROUS PROMINENT PDC MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNMENT ON THE BALLOT IN THE LOCAL PARTY RACES. (AYLWIN'S DAUGHTER, MARIANA, LED THE SLATE IN SANTIAGO.) FINAL VOTE

TOTALS ARE NOT AVAILABLE, AND BOTH SIDES CLAIMED

IN ADDITION TO THE LEGAL REFORM PACKAGE (OF PARTICULAR INTEREST TO US BECAUSE OF THE MEASURE IT CONTAINS TRANSFERRING THE LETELIER CASE TO CIVILIAN COURTS) AND THE PHARMACEUTICAL PATENT LAW, LABOR LAW REFORMS AND AYLWIN'S FIRST BUDGET HAVE BEEN PUSHED THROUGH THE CONGRESS OR ARE IN THE FINAL STAGES OF ENACTMENT. THIS HAS REQUIRED WORKING CLOSELY WITH THE OPPOSITION. THE AYLWIN LEGISLATIVE TEAM HAS DEVELOPED A RELATIVELY GOOD WORKING RELATIONSHIP WITH THE MAJOR PARTY OF THE RIGHT, NATIONAL RENEWAL (RN), FREQUENT HOT PUBLIC EXCHANGES NOTWITHSTANDING. IN ADDITION, UDI, WHICH IS EVEN FURTHER TO THE RIGHT, HAS OCCASIONALLY SWUNG ITS TWO VOTES IN THE SENATE BEHIND

AMONG THEM ARE MUNICIPAL REFOR'M FOR DIRECT ELECTION OF LOCAL OFFICIALS (PROBABLY IN 1992), EDUCATIONAL REFORM, JUDICIAL REFORM AND, FURTHER DOWN THE LINE, ELECTORAL REFORM TO RESTORE SOME FORM OF PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION FOR CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

22. THE MOST IMPORTANT BILATERAL RELATIONSHIP, AS IDENTIFIED BY AYLWIN, IS WITH THE U.S., AND IT IS IN EXCELLENT SHAPE AFTER PRESIDENT BUSH'S SUCCESSFUL VISIT IN EARLY DECEMBER (90 SANTIAGO 9691). RELATIONS WITH ARGENTINA, SECOND MOST IMPORTANT AFTER THE U.S., ARE ALSO ON A FIRM FOOTING AFTER PRESIDENT MENEM'S VISIT IN AUGUST (SANTIAGO 6912). AYLWIN CONTINUES DEFTLY TO ELUDE MENEM'S EMBRACE ON ECONOMIC INTEGRATION WITHOUT APPARENT DAMAGE TO BILATERAL TIES. ON CUBA, THE GOC HAS AUTHORIZED CHARTER FLIGHTS BY CUBANA AIRLINES BUT DEMANDS THAT CASTRO CATEGORICALLY REJECT SUPPORT FOR SUBVERSION IN CHILE BEFORE RESUMING RELATIONS, NOTWITHSTANDING A RECENT STATEMENT BY FM SILVA CIMMA THAT RELATIONS COULD BE RESTORED BY THE AUSTRAL AUTUMN, BEGINNING IN MARCH (REF D). THE ONE CONSISTENTLY WEAK POINT IN CHILE'S CONDUCT OF FOREIGN RELATIONS HAS BEEN THE LACK OF COORDINATION BETWEEN THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND OTHER ELEMENTS OF THE GOVERNMENT.

23. COMMENT: THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT'S SUCCESS OWES MUCH TO THE GENERAL CONSENSUS IN CHILE REGARDING KEY ELEMENTS OF THE TRANSITION. THERE ARE FIERCE DIFFERENCES ON DETAILS BUT ALL MAINSTREAM POLITICAL GROUPS AGREE ON THE THE NEED FOR A COMPASSIONATE SOLUTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, THE PRIMACY OF CIVILIAN AUTHORITY OVER THE ARMED FORCES, MAINTENANCE OF THE

FREE MARKET ECONOMY AND THE NEED FOR FURTHER DEMOCRATIC REFORM. THIS CONSENSUS GIVES PATRICIO

AYLWIN, THE GREAT CONCILIATOR, CONSIDERABLE ROOM FOR MANEUVER IN GUIDING THE COUNTRY THROUGH A SUCCESSFUL TRANSITION. AS A RESULT, THE MAJOR U.S. OBJECTIVE IN CHILE OF SEEING DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS CONSOLIDATED APPEARS WELL ON ITS WAY TO BEING ACHIEVED. WITH THE MAJOR STRUCTURAL ELEMENTS OF DEMOCRACY IN PLACE, NEXT YEAR'S AGENDA FOR THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT IS LIKELY TO BE MORE SHARPLY FOCUSED ON THE MORE MUNDANE STUFF OF OTHER DEMOCRATIC SYSTEMS--BREAD AND BUTTER AND LAW AND ORDER ISSUES. 1. SUMMARY: ANCIT MEGAN THOMAS, A PEACE ACTIVIST AND FORMER RESIDENT OF GUATEMALA, RECEIVED THREATS DURING A RECENT VISIT TO GUATEMALA. SHE DEPARTED THE COUNTRY SAFELY ON FEBRUARY 3. END SUMMARY.

2. ON JANUARY 31, AMERICAN CITIZEN MEGAN THOMAS, ACCOMPANIED BY HER PEACE BRIGADE COMPANION LOUISE PALMER, VISITED CONSULAR SECTION TO REPORT RECENT THREATS TO MS. THOMAS. THOMAS LIVED IN GUATEMALA FOR MANY YEARS, BUT LEFT IN 1981 DUE TO FEARS FOR HER PERSONAL SAFETY. SHE STATED THAT PRIOR TO HER DEPARTURE SHE HAD BEEN A JOURNALIST FOR TWO LEFTIST PUBLICATIONS, INFAPRESS AND THE NUEVO DIARIO. SHE HAS BEEN LIVING IN CALIFORNIA THE LAST 3 YEARS, WHERE SHE IS INVOLVED WITH GUATEMALANS IN EXILE. SHE HAS MADE SEVERAL TRIPS TO GUATEMALA TO VISIT CLOSE RELATIVES.

3. ON THIS TRIP SHE ENTERED BY CAR FROM MEXICO ON JANUARY 16, INTENDING TO REMAIN ABOUT TWO WEEKS WITH HER BROTHER IN GUATEMALA CITY. ON FRIDAY EVENING, JAN. 25, SHE RECEIVED A TELEPHONE CALL AT HER BROTHER'S HOUSE. A NATIVE SPANISH-SPEAKING WOMAN WITH A FAKE FOREIGN ACCENT ASKED FOR THOMAS BY NAME, AND INFORMED HER THAT QUOTE THEY ARE LOOKING FOR YOU -- THEY ARE GOING TO KILL YOU TOMORROW UNQUOTE. THE FOLLOWING DAY, TWO MEN ON A MOTORSCOOTER WITHOUT LICENSE PLATES WENT TO THE HOUSE OF ANOTHER BROTHER IN ANTIGUA, WHERE THOMAS HAD PLANNED TO LUNCH, AND ASKED FOR HER. WHEN TOLD THOMAS WAS NOT THERE, THE MEN LEFT.

4. THOMAS TOLD EMBOFFS THAT SHE HAD CALLED THE EMBASSY TO REPORT THE THREATS ON SATURDAY, BUT WAS NOT CALLED BACK BY THE DUTY OFFICER. (COMMENT: WE VERIFIED HER CALL, AND THERE INDEED WAS A BREAKDOWN IN OUR DUTY SYSTEM, WHICH WE HAVE NOW CORRECTED. END COMMENT.) THOMAS ALSO REPORTED THAT SHE HAD BEEN AT THE OFFICES OF THE GRUPO DE APOYO MUTUO, A LEFTIST HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP, SEVERAL TIMES DURING THE WEEK PRIOR TO THE THREATS, AND FEELS IT WAS GOG SECURITY FORCES THREATENING HER DUE TO HER POLITICAL ACTIVITY.

5. IN RESPONSE TO OUR ENQUIRY, THOMAS DID NOT ASK FOR ANYTHING IN PARTICULAR. WE THANKED HER FOR TAKING THE TIME TO LET US KNOW OF THE THREATS, AND SHE AND MS. PALMER SAID THEY BOTH APPRECIATED THE EMBASSY'S STRONG STAND ON HUMAN RIGHTS.

6. THOMAS LEFT GUATEMALA SAFELY WITH HER 3-YEAR-OLD SON ON FEBRUARY 3, BY CAR INTO MEXICO. THE THREATS RECEIVED AND HER DECISION TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY WERE REPORTED IN THE LOCAL PRESS ON FEBRUARY 3. STROOCK

Dear Mr. McCollum:

I am writing in response to your letter of December 5, 1990, to Secretary Baker regarding the military offensive launched by the guerrillas of the FMLN in El Salvador on November 20.

We have deplored the FMLN offensive in the strongest terms and have specifically characterized the guerrillas' use of surface-to-air missiles as a significant escalation of the conflict. We were joined in issuing calls for cessation of the violence by the presidents of all four neighboring Central American republics acting jointly, the Colombian, Venezuelan and Mexican Foreign Ministers also acting jointly, the Soviet Foreign Ministry, Canada's Foreign Minister, Salvadoran Auxiliary Archbishop Rosa Chavez and the Secretary General of the United Nations.

We welcome President Cristiani's continuation of the peace talks sponsored by the United Nations despite the FMLN attacks and are working with the United Nations, the Government of El Salvador, and other interested governments to seek methods to accelerate and intensify the peace talks. Support for peace negotiations does not, however, imply tolerance for FMLN attacks.

The FMLN should make no mistake: the United States will continue to support El Salvador's democratically elected Government against guerrilla attacks. We have accelerated delivery of fiscal year 1991 military assistance that was not withheld under the legislation and delivery of some outstanding fiscal year 1990 funds.

As you know, when the president determined on January 15, 1991 that the portion of military assistance withheld from El Salvador should be restored, he ordered that obligation of the money to El Salvador be delayed for sixty days. If the FMLN agrees to a negotiated, internationally-verified ceasefire within that time, provision of the military assistance to the Government of El Salvador will not be necessary and the money can be used for the reintegration of guerrillas into civilian pursuits, for assistance to the Salvadoran Government in providing an economic safety net for troops being mustered out of a much-reduced military and for verification of ceasefire terms. It is our sincere hope to be able to use these funds to contribute to peace.

The Honorable
Bill McCollum,
House of Representatives.

The president's determination was made under those provisions of the applicable law regarding continuing receipt by the FMLN of lethal outside military assistance and FMLN attacks on civilian targets. Since the legal case against those accused of murdering the Jesuits is continuing, we defer definitive judgement as to the thoroughness of the procedures. We do, however, have a number of concerns regarding the investigation and have made it clear to all concerned that we will continue to follow the matter closely and insist on justice.

Thank you for your views on these subjects; you can be sure that they will be taken into account in our policy deliberations.

ROBERTO RONDON EXPLAINED THAT NICARAGUA IS TAKING STEPS TO COMPLY WITH USDA'S "NEW METHODOLOGY" FOR TESTING BEEF FOR CERTAIN RESIDUES. HE NOTED THAT, AS A NEW APPLICANT FOR SLAUGHTERHOUSE CERTIFICATION, NICARAGUA IS EXPECTED TO MEET THESE REQUIREMENTS BEFORE IT CAN BEGIN EXPORTING BEEF TO THE U.S., WHILE ITS CENTRAL AMERICAN NEIGHBORS HAVE BEEN GIVEN A YEAR'S GRACE PERIOD. IT IS ESTIMATED THAT NICARAGUA COULD BE MAKING ABOUT USD ONE MILLION MORE A MONTH IF IT HAD ACCESS TO U.S. MARKETS. RONDON ALSO CITED THE DIFFICULTIES IN KEEPING SLAUGHTERHOUSES OPEN WHICH NORMALLY CLOSE FOR THE DRY SEASON. HE IS KEEPING THEM OPEN SO THAT USDA CAN INSPECT THEM. HE ASKS THAT USDA CONSIDER A GON PROPOSAL TO SEND SAMPLES TO THE U.S. FOR TESTING UNTIL NICARAGUA CAN INSTALL ITS OWN RESIDUE TESTING EQUIPMENT AND THAT A USDA TEAM VISIT NICARAGUA DURING THE FIRST TWO WEEKS OF FEBRUARY TO INSPECT SLAUGHTERHOUSES WHICH PROCESS MEAT FOR EXPORT. - END SUMMARY

3. ON FEBRUARY 6 ECONOFF MET WITH MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE ROBERTO RONDON AND HEAD OF THE GON NICARAGUAN MEAT COMPANY ENRIQUE MIRANDA TO DISCUSS PROGRESS IN RECERTIFYING NICARAGUAN SLAUGHTERHOUSES TO EXPORT BEEF TO THE U.S. AFTER RETURNING FROM A VISIT TO USDA FACILITIES IN ST. LOUIS IN JANUARY, A GON TECHNICIAN LEARNED THAT NICARAGUAN SLAUGHTERHOUSES WOULD HAVE TO EMPLOY METHODS OF TESTING MEAT FOR RESIDUES OF SULFA DRUGS, CLOROPHENICHOL, AND HORMONES IN ORDER TO COMPLY WITH U.S. STANDARDS. RONDON SAID THAT HIS MINISTRY IS IN THE PROCESS OF "SEEKING PRICE QUOTES" FOR THE EQUIPMENT THE GON WILL NEED TO BUY TO

COMPLY WITH THESE REQUIREMENTS. HE ADDED THAT THIS IS THE ONLY REMAINING REQUIREMENT TO BE FULFILLED BEFORE THE NICARAGUANS WILL BE READY FOR A USDA TEAM TO COME AND INSPECT THE SLAUGHTERHOUSES.

4. NEVERTHELESS, RONDON SAID THAT THE PROCESS OF IMPLEMENTING THE NEW METHODOLOGY, SAID TO HAVE BEEN INTRODUCED IN OCTOBER 1990, COULD TAKE 3 TO 5 MONTHS. RONDON NOTED THAT OTHER CENTRAL AMERICAN COUNTRIES, COSTA RICA FOR EXAMPLE, HAVE BEEN GIVEN A ONE YEAR GRACE PERIOD STARTING OCTOBER 1990 TO COMPLY WITH THE NEW PROCEDURES. AS A NEW APPLICANT, HOWEVER, IT APPEARS THAT NICARAGUA MUST COMPLY WITH THE PROCEDURES BEFORE IT CAN BE ALLOWED TO BEGIN EXPORTING BEEF TO THE U.S. RONDON HAS ASKED MIRANDA TO SEEK AN APPOINTMENT WITH USDA/FSIS DEPUTY ADMINISTRATOR PATRICIA STOLFA TO REQUEST THAT NICARAGUA BE ALLOWED TO SEND SAMPLES TO THE U.S. FOR TESTING UNTIL IT CAN INSTALL ITS OWN EQUIPMENT. HE ASKS THAT A USDA TEAM VISIT NICARAGUA DURING THE FIRST TWO WEEKS OF FEBRUARY TO INSPECT - SLAUGHTERHOUSES WHICH PROCESS MEAT FOR EXPORT.

5. RONDON CITES THE FOLLOWING PROBLEMS:

- THE GON WOULD LIKE USDA TO INSPECT ALL FIVE OF ITS SLAUGHTERHOUSES WHICH PROCESS BEEF FOR EXPORT. THREE OF THESE PLANTS ARE NORMALLY CLOSED BY THIS TIME. THE DRY SEASON IN NICARAGUAN LASTS FROM DECEMBER TO MAY. DURING THIS PERIOD PASTURE GROWS EVER MORE SCARCE AND THE ANIMALS USUALLY LOSE WEIGHT. OWNERS WAIT UNTIL THE RAINS BEGIN IN LATE MAY AND THE ANIMALS GET FATTENED UP

AGAIN TO SEND THEM TO THE SLAUGHTERHOUSES. RONDON SAYS THAT HE HAS KEPT THE PLANTS GOING AT REDUCED LEVELS - ONE PROCESSED 850 ANIMALS IN JANUARY, NORMALLY A WEEK'S WORK - BECAUSE HE WOULD LIKE USDA TO INSPECT THEM ALL.

- MIRANDA ESTIMATES THAT NICARAGUA COULD BE MAKING ABOUT USD ONE MILLION MORE A MONTH IF IT HAD ACCESS TO U.S. MARKETS. HE SAID THAT WITH FRESH COW MEAT SELLING FOR USD 1.22 A POUND IN MIAMI, NICARAGUA COULD SAVE

UNFORTUNATELY, COLLATERAL DAMAGE AND EVENTUAL LOSS OF INNOCENT LIVES HAPPEN IN A WAR SITUATION, AND IN ANGOLA THIS HAS BEEN AGGRAVATED RECENTLY BY THE GOVERNMENT'S SUSPENSION OF THE SRPA, THUS LOWERING THE LEVEL OF HUMANITARIAN ACTIVITIES AND COORDINATION PROCEDURES BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT, THE UNITED NATIONS, AND UNITA, THAT PREVAILED AND WORKED SO WELL IN NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER, 1990.

AS WE HAVE MENTIONED IN A LETTER DATED JANUARY 31, 1991 TO MR. OTTO ESSIEN, UNSCERO, THE PEOPLES'S REPUBLIC OF ANGOLA GOVERNMENT HAS STEPPED-UP OFFENSIVE MILITARY ACTIONS IN THE PROVINCES OF CUANDO-CUBANGO, BIE, MEXICO, HUAMBO AND LUBANGO, FORCING UNITA INTO A DEFENSIVE POSTURE. WE UNDERSTAND THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTIONS ARE PART OF THE USUAL GOVERNMENT PRESSURE UPON UNITA PRIOR TO EVERY NEGOTIATING ROUND AS A WAY OF FORCING IT INTO ACCEPTING THE GOVERNMENT'S CONDITIONS, MEANWHILE CAUSING UNNECESSARY SUFFERING AND LOSS OF LIVES.

WE HOPE THAT THE SIXTH ROUND OF DIRECT TALKS BETWEEN UNITA AND THE GOVERNMENT WILL BRING THE DAY OF A FINAL SETTLEMENT CLOSER. AS YOU MIGHT KNOW, THIS ROUND, WHICH STARTED TODAY IN PORTUGAL, IS DESIGNATED TO RESULT IN THE INITIALING OF THE POLITICAL FRAMEWORK OF A SETTLEMENT AND START LOOKING INTO SPECIFICS.

WE ARE CONVINCED THAT WHILE A FINAL SETTLEMENT IS BEING WORKED OUT, AND IT MAY STILL TAKE SOME TIME TO COME TO A CONCLUSION, THE SRPA IS THE ONLY HOPE FOR ANGOLANS AT RISK OF STARVATION. IT IS URGENT THAT THE GOVERNMENT LIFTS ITS SUSPENSION SO THAT THROUGH COORDINATION AND COOPERATION WE SPARE RELIEF WORKERS FORM RISKING THEIR LIVES.

WE REQUEST THE UNITED NATIONS TO INFORM "MEDECINS SANS FRONTIERES" (BELGIUM AND SPAIN) OF OUR SINCERE ADMIRATION AND GRATITUDE FOR THEIR EFFORTS IN ANGOLA. "MEDECINS SANS FRONTIERES (FRANCE) HAS BEEN PERFORMING REMARKABLY WELL IN UNITA CONTROLLED AREAS FOR ALMOST TEN YEARS.

WITH CONTINUED STONEWALLING. THE ESAF AND GOES COULD NOT EXPECT CONTINUED USG SUPPORT IN THE FACE OF SUCH CONSTANT REBUFFS, NOR COULD IT HOPE TO ESCAPE CRITICISM AND REPERCUSSIONS FOR INACTION ON THE JESUIT CASE. END SUMMARY.

3. PRESIDENT CRISTIANI, MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY OSCAR SANTAMARIA, FOREIGN MINISTER MANOLO PACAS AND PRIVATE SECRETARY ARTURO TONA MADE LITTLE COMMENT AS THE AMBASSADOR, ACCOMPANIED BY DCM, REVIEWED A RANGE OF ESAF ACTIONS INDICATING WHAT SEEMED TO BE DELIBERATE REFUSAL TO CONSIDER THEIR IMPACT ON THE RELATIONSHIP WITH THE USG. THIS, THE AMBASSADOR POINTED OUT, AFTER REPEATED USG EFFORTS TO SUPPORT THE MILITARY IN THE FACE OF THE FMLN OFFENSIVE, THE SAM THREAT AND THE RESULTANT LOSS OF ESAF AIRCRAFT. ESAF CLAIMS OF RECEIVING MIXED SIGNALS FROM THE USG WERE DISINGENUOUS -- OUR FREQUENT DEMARCHES, PARTICULARLY ON THE JESUIT CASE, WERE CLEAR AND SUPPORTED BY MESSAGES FROM US CONGRESSIONAL AND MILITARY FRIENDS OF EL SALVADOR.

4. THE AMBASSADOR BEGAN HIS LIST WITH THE FEBRUARY 2 DETENTION OF 18 INTERNATIONAL JOURNALISTS BY COL. LEON

LINARES, WHO, AFTER ALLEGING THEY HAD RUN MILITARY ROADBLOCKS, CONFISCATED THEIR MATERIALS IN VIOLATION OF ESAF STANDING ORDERS NOT TO INTERFERE WITH JOURNALISTS. JOURNALISTS FURTHER ALLEGED THAT LINARES MADE REPEATED STATEMENTS WHICH COULD BE INTERPRETED AS THREATS AGAINST THEM. LEON LINARES' ACTIONS SERVED TO CONVERT A POTENTIAL PUBLICITY BONANZA FOR THE GOES -- FMLN-FSLN TENSIONS OVER THE MISSILES' RETURN -- INTO A SERIOUS PRESS PROBLEM. IN A SITUATION WHERE THE FMLN HAD BEEN FORCED BY ITS ERSTWHILE ALLIES TO TURN IN ADVANCED WEAPONS, THE NEWS STORY WOULD INSTEAD FOCUS ON ESAF ABUSE OF JOURNALISTS.

5. CRISTIANI THEN INTERVENED TO SAY THAT LEON LINARES HAD ORDERS NOT TO LET JOURNALISTS TRAVEL TO WITNESS THE MISSILE EXCHANGE. THE ORDERS REFLECTED REQUESTS BY THE NICARAGUAN AND MEXICAN GOVERNMENTS TO KEEP THE EXCHANGE CONFIDENTIAL, PLUS GOES CONCERNS THAT THE

WELL AND GOOD, THE AMBASSADOR REPLIED, BUT DESPITE YOUR BEST EFFORTS THE JOURNALISTS ARRIVED, WITNESSED THE EXCHANGE, AND WERE ON THEIR WAY BACK -- WHAT GOOD WAS IT TO HARASS THEM ON THEIR RETURN? CRISTIANI RETURNED THAT THE JOURNALISTS WERE DELIBERATELY BREAKING GOES REGULATIONS -- THE AMBASSADOR REPLIED THAT THE POINT COULD HAVE BEEN MADE IN A WAY THAT DID NOT SOUR GOES-MEDIA RELATIONS AND THE POTENTIAL PR BENEFITS THE MISSILE EXCHANGE COULD HAVE PRODUCED.

6. THE AMBASSADOR THEN TURNED TO ALLEGATIONS MADE BY TUTELA LEGAL ON THE AYUTUXTEPEQUE KILLINGS OF FIRST [redacted]

BRIGADE INVOLVEMENT IN THE DEATHS. GIVEN THE PERSISTENT RUMORS SURROUNDING THE FIRST BRIGADE, AND THE UNRESOLVED ALLEGATIONS MADE AGAINST THE FIRST BRIGADE BY JOYA MARTINEZ, IT WAS IMPORTANT THAT THE ESAF NOT REJECT TUTELA'S ALLEGATIONS OUT OF HAND. THE SIU SHOULD CONTINUE AN ALL-OUT INVESTIGATION OF THE CASE, REFRAINING FROM COMING TO ANY PUBLIC CONCLUSIONS UNTIL ALL THE INFORMATION WAS IN. CRISTIANI SAID HE AGREED COMPLETELY. HE WOULD GET A BRIEFING FROM THE SIU ON THE CASE THAT DAY, AND THE AGREED PUBLIC STATEMENTS WOULD INDICATE ONLY THAT THE INVESTIGATION WAS CONTINUING AND THAT IT WAS TOO EARLY TO COME TO ANY CONCLUSIONS.

7. THE AMBASSADOR THEN RAISED THE ZONA ROSA CASE, NOTING THAT IN THE LAST EIGHT MONTHS NOTHING HAS HAPPENED BECAUSE OF AN APPARENT REFUSAL BY THE MILITARY TO CONVENE THE NECESSARY COURT TO PASS ACTION BACK TO THE CIVILIAN JUDICIARY. THIS CASE HAS DRAGGED ON FOR FIVE YEARS, THE AMBASSADOR NOTED, AND WAS A DISTURBING PRECEDENT AS WE LOOKED TOWARDS A POSSIBLE

MEMORANDUM TO THE FILES

FROM SUE PATTERSON, CG

SUBJECT: Update from Lic. Enrique Gonzalez on the DeVine Case

Yesterday Lic. Gonzalez, Mrs. DeVine's attorney, reported to me the results of his latest conversations with Lic. Monroy (a private attorney doing some work for the Army) and with Captain Figueroa (the military court clerk from Santa Elena).

For the first time this case started, I found Gonzalez discouraged and pessimistic -- he said he believes this case will not get resolved unless the detainees talk or unless we have extraordinarily good luck. He does not think the military will help us get it resolved. The things they have done so far, even under the Serrano administration, are things Gonzalez could have achieved through the courts anyway (namely, getting permission from the court to have two of the witness make their declarations in Antigua/Guatemala City rather than in Santa Elena). The Army has offered no information about the people involved. In fact, yesterday Monroy said that the two men Monroy had said 10 days ago were involved (Rafael Tiul Cucul and one of the sub-jefes of the S-2 in Santa Elena, Hugo "El Maldito") really were not involved.

Gonzalez is not impressed by the reliability of either Monroy or Figueroa, the two persons the Army wants him to deal with. He offered the following report:

1. Monroy indicated that the Army is just biding its time in the belief that Amb. Stroock is planning to leave Guatemala in April, and his departure will change everything. He also said that the USG is not united on the DeVine case, with State wanting one thing and the U.S. military another. Monroy said that the U.S. military is not in a position to hurt the Guatemalan military very much because (get this!) the U.S. is planning to invade Mexico and will need the Guatemalan Army as an ally to keep the Mexican military from taking refuge in Guatemala and carrying on the fight from here.

2. Monroy returned again to the concern about prosecuting officers, saying that MOD Mendoza is protecting Col. Garcia Catalan more than any other officer. He advised Gonzalez, "te aconsejo de no meter a ningun oficial en eso -- de otra forma algun fanatico del ejercito te puede matar, o tal vez el mismo Garcia Catalan arregla tu muerte." Nonetheless, Monroy continues to advance the thesis (invented by Captain Figueroa) that no officers were involved, that it is the Devine farm manager Juan Domingo Burgos who is the "intellectual author" of the crime, and Burgos hired some S-2 thugs to carry it out. (Comment: Gonzalez and Carl West have looked into the possibility, and they both agree that Burgos is not the most normal, average person in the world. However, they have failed to find anything that would tie him to the murder, nor has his subsequent behavior been suspect. They think that Figueroa made up these charges because it is Burgos who has been the most helpful to the case so far, locating witnesses, etc. They say that Figueroa has no witnesses or any other evidence to support his theory. Figueroa is also trying to implicate an American citizen by the name of Jan Duvall, an amateur archeologist who allegedly has close relationships with several men on the Santa Elena base, who visits there frequently and gets lifts on their aircraft from time to time. End comment.)

3. Monroy reports that the 5 detained military persons not only continue to receive their salary but also are getting paid some bonus. (According to Gonzalez, the law stipulates that jailed military personnel will not be paid, but if found innocent will receive full back pay.)

4. Monroy said that the best way for the Embassy to proceed is to offer the accused $20,000 to $30,000 apiece to tell us what they know. He did not indicate any willingness to be the go-between in this proposal.

5. Monroy believes that the military will let "Loro" Zelada go free once he has made his declaration, which was to have been yesterday. He will not be formally charged because the Army has already doctored up a new alibi for him in view of the fact that his first alibi (that he and his 5 tires were brought by DEA to the capital on June 1) didn't hold up.

6. According to Cptn. Figueroa, when Garcia Catalan left his position as Zone Commander he left things in bad shape financially, and investigators are looking into it. Figueroa mentioned specifically that he had ripped off money budgeted for food for the troops, was involved in illegal wood exports, and is a close compadre of Vargas, the Mayor of Zacapa.

7. Gonzalez also mentioned that in his trip on February 11 to Santa Elena, he met Agustin Esquivel Herdandez' (the civilian detainee) wife. Gonzalez told her that he firmly believed that Esquivel is not involved in the murder but that he saw something that day that could be helpful to the case, and if he is willing to disclose it, Gonzalez will work towards getting him released. Gonzalez did not feel this initiative would bear fruit.

8. Gonzalez also met with the Santa Elena lawyer the military establishment assigned to represent the 5 military detainees. The lawyer, a civilian, said that when he was assigned the task, the military also presented him with all of his work prepared (i.e. gave him a pile of "memoriales" which he refused to even read as he did not want to compromise his work.) Gonzalez suggested to the lawyer that if some of his clients are indeed not guilty but know who is and are willing to talk, Gonzalez will work with the Ministerio Publico and the Human Rights Office to get them freed, protected, and perhaps even indemnify them for their salary lost while being held in prison. (This was before Gonzalez had been told they were receiving their salary plus a bonus, and were thinking they might get a $30,000 offer from the Embassy. In light of this subsequent information, Gonzalez doesn't think his offer will be very attractive to the detainees.)

CNSNS AND CFE OFFICIALS WERE OPEN IN THEIR DISCUSSIONS AND EAGERLY PURSUED DISCUSSIONS ON LAGUNA VERDE OPERATION. BECAUSE OF TIME CONSTRAINTS, LAGUNA VERDE II, SCHEDULED FOR COMMERCIAL OPERATION AROUND 1994, WAS NOT VISITED.

4. ON FEBRUARY 6, COMMISSIONER ROGERS, ACCOMPANIED BY U.S. EMBASSY SCIENCE COUNSELOR ROY SIMPKINS, VICTOR HURTADQ, SCIENCE OFFICER AT THE EMBASSY, AND THE U.S- DELEGATION, PAID A COURTESY CALL ON MR. FERNANDO HIRIART BALDERRAMA, SECRETARY OF ENERGY, MINES AND PARASTATAL INDUSTRY (SEMIP). THE COMMISSIONER BRIEFED THE SECRETARY ON HIS VISITS TO ININ, CFE AND LAGUNA VERDE, NOTING THE POWER PLANT LOOKS AS GOOD AS THE BEST HE HAS SEEN, ITS CONSTRUCTION IS OF HIGH QUALITY, AND IT IS AMONG THE TOP PLANTS IN ITS EXECUTION- HE ALSO NOTED THAT THE PEOPLE ASSOCIATED WITH THESE FACILITIES ARE WELL TRAINED, KNOWLEDGEABLE AND AWARE OF WORK BEING DONE ELSEWHERE IN THEIR FIELD- THE COMMISSIONER FURTHER NOTED THE

IMPORTANCE OF PEER REVIEW; WHILE INTROSPECTION AND SELF CRITICISM ARE IMPORTANT, OUTSIDE CRITIQUES BY COMPETENT ORGANIZATIONS ARE ALSO ESSENTIAL. FINALLY, THE COMMISSIONER NOTED THAT THE ENVIRONMENTAL LABORATORY IN EL FARALLON IS REMARKABLE. HE STATED THAT HE WAS UNAWARE OF SUCH AN EXTENSIVE LABORATORY AT ANY U.S. PLANT OR UTILITY. HE OPINED THAT THE LABORATORY COULD MAKE VALUABLE CONTRIBUTIONS TO OTHER ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS IN MEXICO OUTSIDE LAGUNA VERDE.

THE SECRETARY EXPRESSED APPRECIATION FOR THE COMMISSIONER'S OPINIONS AND NOTED THAT SEMIP IS AND WILL CONTINUE TO DO ALL IT CAN TO WORK CLOSELY WITH NRC, THE IAEA AND INPO. THE SECRETARY NOTED THAT OF IMMEDIATE SEMIP CONCERN IS HOW TO AVOID DISAPPOINTING NUCLEAR PERSONNEL, SINCE THERE IS NO COMMITMENT TO FUTURE NUCLEAR EFFORTS IN MEXICO AT THIS TIME. HE STATED, HOWEVER, THAT THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT HAS AUTHORIZED THE CONTINUATION OF CERTAIN NUCLEAR EFFORTS AS SITE SELECTION, SO AS TO BE PREPARED FOR FUTURE DECISIONS. HE ALSO STATED THAT PRODUCTION OF ELECTRICITY IN MEXICO IS BASED ON COAL, WHICH IS EXPENSIVE TO IMPORT AND ADDS CONSIDERABLY TO MEXICO'S AIR POLLUTION PROBLEM. FINALLY, THE COMMISSIONER RESPONDED THAT NRC WOULD BE HAPPY TO CONTINUE COOPERATING WITH MEXICAN NUCLEAR OFFICIALS, AND INVITED THEM TO SHARE MEXICAN NUCLEAR EXPERIENCES WITH NRC. THE SECRETARY EXPRESSED APPRECIATION FOR COMMISSIONER ROGER'S VISIT AND INVITED HIM TO VISIT SEMIP AND MEXICAN NUCLEAR OFFICIALS AGAIN IN THE FUTURE.

5. ALSO ON FEBRUARY 6, THE COMMISSIONER AND HIS DELEGATION VISITED THE CNSNS. PRINCIPAL MEXICAN PARTICIPANTS WERE MR- MIGUEL MEDINA, DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE CNSNS, MR. JOSE LUIS DELGADO, HEAD OF NUCLEAR SAFETY, MR. JOSE RAUL ORTIZ MAGANA, HEAD OF RADIOLOGICAL PROTECTION AND MR. SERGIO WALLER, HEAD OF TECHNOLOGY, REGULATION AND SERVICES.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY

FROM: BERNIE ARONSON BA

SUBJECT: YOUR MEETING WITH ANTONIO LACAYO

[redacted] He has President Chamorro's trust and runs the government with her authority. The principal concern of Lacayo and the GON today is economic policy. The World Bank is leading a donors effort aimed at clearing Nicaragua's arrears and will meet in Paris March 16th with prospective donors. An earlier meeting was not productive because both the Bank and the IMF were not convinced that the GON was taking necessary measures on the fiscal side to control hyperinflation and the fiscal deficit. Lacayo came to Washington in response to my invitation at the Guatemalan inauguration to discuss our concerns about the slow pace of economic reform and the continued weapons shipments from Nicaragua to the FMLN. On both fronts, the GON has tried to show serious movement in recent weeks; in return, Lacayo wants both our understanding and our intercession with key governments--particularly Japan, Germany, and Taiwan in support of their arrears clearing exercise. President Chamorro goes to Tokyo for a state visit next week and to Bonn. A5

Lacayo makes a convincing case that his government inherited an extraordinary range of problems and has taken more positive steps than President Chamorro gets credit for. The GON inherited a country devastated by civil war; the largest percapita debt in the hemisphere; all foreign trade, banks, and much of the land and corporations in the hands of the government; 20,000 armed rebels; a looted treasury and hyperinflation; a polarized society and army, police, and intelligence controlled by the Sandinistas. They have achieved already: voluntary demobilization of the contras; distribution of land to 60% of the contras; reduction of the army from 80,000 to 28,000; elimination of multiple exchange rates; end to all subsidies of telephone, water, transportation, gasoline; renegotiation of their oil debt with Venezuela and Mexico on highly favorable terms. deregulation of trade monopoly; new legislation submitted to the Assembly on foreign investment and creation of private banks. In addition, under pressure from the Soviets, Lacayo and Humberto Lacayo forced the FMLN to return 16 SA7 and SA 14 missiles to the GON. Though we suspect the FMLN still has more, this was an important achievement.

The most important points to make to Lacayo are:

o This is a special relationship to President Bush and the U.S. We want President Chamorro to succeed. Look forward to State dinner mid-April.

o We want to help on arrears clearing but we can only convince others to help if the GON's economic reforms have credibility. There are serious doubts. We are encouraged by your commitment to end state financing for unproductive state agricultural cooperatives. You also have to move forward on reducing the size of the public payroll. AID can help defray the costs of transition of fired employees; but the longer you delay the longer you will pay the price of hyperinflation.

o We applaud your efforts to secure return of missiles from FMLN. It shows what you can achieve when you put pressure on the FMLN. That pressure must continue. The FMLN must end all military activity on your soil--weapons procurement and command and control radios; otherwise you need to expel them.

o One reason we are organizing the Partnership for Democracy and Development is to keep political support for Nicaragua and Central America on agenda of Europeans and Japanese. EC has given good support. You need to make clear to EC when they meet in Managua in March that GON strongly supports PDD.

El Zapote Massacre

Around 11 p.m., January 21, 1991, several armed men dressed in black with black and red kerchiefs covering their faces entered six peasant households in Cantón El Zapote Abajo near San Salvador, killing 15 men, women and children, all members of the same family. Three members of the Aragón family died of gunshot wounds, while the rest were killed with knives. The only eyewitnesses to the killings were several small children, who hid under their beds, and the elderly grandmother of the family, Eleuteria Ortiz de Aragón, none of whom recognized the assailants.

The victims were: Venancio Aragón, 47; José Omar Aragón, 21; Jerónimo Santos Morales, 35; Ismael Aragón López, 59; Eugenio Dimas Beltrán, 22; Lázaro Hernández Martínez, 25; Herbert Aragón, 17; Lilian Aragón Rosa, 26; Rosa Santos Hernández, 18; Araceli Aragón, 35; Rosa Delmy Aragón Santos, 14; Jesús Aragón Ortiz, 60; Emelina Aragón, 40; Eugenia Aragón, 15; and Ana Maritza Aragón, 18.

This massacre, the largest in several years, shocked El Salvador, especially given that an entire family was killed. The only other two massacres of this scale in recent years occurred in San Sebastián in September 1988, when 10 campesinos were murdered by army soldiers, and at the Catholic University (UCA) in November 1989, when six Jesuits, their housekeeper and her daughter were killed by members of the Atlacatl Battalion.

The Salvadoran government sought quickly to investigate the killings and assigned two prosecutors and the Special Investigative Unit (SIU) to the case. However, early suspicions of Salvadoran military involvement led many observers to be skeptical about whether the case would ever be resolved.

The case took on further political overtones when the Modesto Ramírez Front of the FMLN issued a communique on January 30, 1991 (later confirmed by the FMLN in Mexico) saying that those massacred were active collaborators of the FMLN and that one of those murdered was a combatant. The FMLN held Colonel Francisco Elena Fuentes of the First Infantry Brigade responsible.

By early February, Tutela Legal came out with a report that also pointed toward the First Infantry Brigade and said that its soldiers should be investigated, but the government rejected that conclusion as unsupported by the evidence and saw behind Tutela's charges an attempt to defame the military. According to the Tutela report, the El Zapote case "presents certain characteristics that are different than other human rights violations that have occurred" in El Salvador. Since the massacre, the public debate over responsibility for the act has been highly charged and contentious.

On February 7, 1991, the government announced the results of the investigation carried out by the SIU, saying that the motive for the crime was a family dispute and that the perpetrators were common criminals who had some links to the "subversion." In a press conference, National Information Secretary Mauricio Sandoval named three prime suspects: two brothers, Rafael Antonio and Armando de Paz Vanegas (both ex-military), and Jesús Vanegas Alvarenga (who had reportedly deserted from the civil defense 24 hours earlier).

This conclusion was given some credibility when, on February 9, the non-governmental Human Rights Commission (CDHES) gave a press conference in which they confirmed the involvement of the three named by the government and provided three more names, which the government soon thereafter named as well. However, the CDHES argued that the incident was not just a common crime, that members of the Paz Vanegas family had been picked up by the Atlacatl Battalion in recent months, and that as many as 20 persons may have been involved in the killing.[30]

[30] The CDHES qualified these findings as preliminary, but as of early March, they had not issued a more detailed report on the case.

Finally, on February 17, the government turned over to the courts María Cristina and Natividad Vásquez, two sisters who were allegedly the intellectual, if not material, authors of the crime. Several days later, on February 21, Rafael Antonio de Paz Vanegas was captured by the SIU in downtown San Salvador; Armando de Paz Vanegas and Jesús Vanegas were captured on February 22. All three confessed to having participated in the crime. The government says that a sixth person implicated, Oscar Ortiz, is still at large.

Although a question remains as to whether those currently implicated and detained were solely responsible for the Zapote killings and not aided by others, a preliminary investigation by Americas Watch finds it plausible that the massacre may have been the result of a family feud carried out without greater political motives. Major questions remain, however, as to exactly how a family feud resulted in a well-executed operation in which so many were killed. Moreover, the investigation by the government, which never seriously considered the possibility of military involvement, and on occasion actually sought to dismiss it, needs to continue in order to clarify the possibility of further perpetrators.

What follows is an assessment of the evidence and the investigation so far.

The Evidence

Initial conclusions of Tutela Legal and the press were based on the testimonies of the young children and the elderly grandmother who survived the massacre, as well as of other residents in the area.

Both independent and government investigations took testimonies of persons saying that as many as six people, dressed in military uniform and armed, were involved in the killings. However, some of the initial statements of the children also seemed to indicate that there were far more people involved.

citing press reports, Juan Humberto, 13, the oldest of the children who survived the massacre was quoted in the Tutela Legal report as saying that several men came to his house, but that he heard "quite a lot of" (bastante) voices from all sides. Another child reportedly said that he saw three men, but that he also noticed men all around the houses of the Aragón family.[21] In addition, a sergeant from the Belloso Battalion said in a declaration in the court records that Juan Humberto told him that ten individuals had been involved.[22] Part of the confusion over numbers derives from the fact that it was very dark and only the assailants had flashlights.

The assumption that more than a few men were involved in the killings was also bolstered by the fact that no one fled the site once they heard that people were being killed. If only a few people were involved, one might assume that several people would have gotten away; a larger group of persons could have either killed them all simultaneously or at least guarded the perimeter so that no one could leave or enter.

Even the First Brigade made this assumption initially. In a January 23, 1991 internal memorandum found in the court records and sent to Colonel Elena Fuentes, two investigators state that:

> The witnesses declare having observed only five individuals that were those who took part in said murders, but in light of the fact that the dead were located in different houses and that they were murdered in different forms simultaneously, since none of the victims were able to escape, the majority remaining inside their houses, it can be estimated that the number of murderers is greater than that given by the witnesses.[23]

This theory assumes that the natural reaction of the victims was to try to leave their houses once they heard the killing begin. But an equally plausible reaction of the families could have been to simply wait inside their houses in hopes that the killers would not come for them.

According to the witnesses, the massacre occurred over a period of two hours. Yet the murders perpetrated in each of the individual houses appeared to take no more than a few minutes. Thus, the question arises, if the families were killed simultaneously by a large number of persons, why did the entire episode last two hours? Some observers conjecture that a certain amount of time might have been taken to interrogate two of the victims, 17-year-old Herbert and 57-year-old Ismael, both of whom were taken out of their respective houses before they were killed (Ismael's hands were tied behind his back.) While this may have been the case, none of those interviewed so far have indicated that this may have taken place, nor does Tutela make reference to it in its initial report.

Although the confessions of those detained do not indicate a larger number of people were involved, many observers maintain, based on their early interviews with some of the survivors, that this kind of operation would have had to have involved more people for all of the reasons noted above.

Other evidence highlighted by Tutela Legal in it report include the following:

* The place where the massacre occurred is under the military control of the First Brigade;

* Approximately one kilometer to the north of Zapote, there is a CEL (energy) substation, which is permanently guarded by the soldiers of the First Brigade;

* The men who carried out the crime wore military uniforms with insignias;

* The assailants came from the north, that is to say, from the direction of the CEL substation, and that they fled to the north after committing the crime.

* At 7 a.m. the next morning, members of the 1st Brigade came to the house to see what had happened, before anyone could have advised them of the incident.

* Soldiers of the First Brigade circulate in the area;

* The area is not a zone of frequent guerrilla activity, at least not since the 1989 offensive.

Among these circumstances, the most telling is that soldiers arrived on the scene before they could have possibly known anything had happened. In interviews several weeks after the fact, Americas Watch received conflicting testimony from area residents and witnesses as to the exact time that soldiers from the CEL substation arrived on the morning following the massacre. Some said that they arrived at the site by 8:30 a.m., while others put the time closer to 10:00 a.m. However, none of those interviewed so far indicated that the soldiers arrived without warning; all recalled that one or two people had gone to advise them of the incident and that only then did the troops arrive.

Americas Watch was unable to confirm or deny the direction taken by the assailants as they came and went from the area. Probably out of fear, many neighbors of the victims now have far less to say about the case to inquisitive visitors. However, given the rural, mountainous, and isolated nature of the location, it appears quite possible that the assailants could have fled without anyone taking notice.

As for the uniforms and the insignias, it is undisputed, given the confessions of the persons detained by the government, that military uniforms of some kind were used. How they were obtained may still be open to question.

The Motive

One reason for being skeptical that a family feud could have resulted in the death of an entire family is simple: there are no cases in recent Salvadoran history in which such a thing has happened. However, massacres by government soldiers have occurred with great frequency in the early 1980s and less so in recent years, because of suspicion of involvement with the leftist rebels.

In its report, Tutela Legal discusses four possible motives for the massacre: common crime (robbery), family feud, or a motive linked to the armed conflict in which the murders are carried out either by the FMLN or the military. Tutela discards the robbery motive based on the fact that the family was extremely poor and that it was unlikely they would have been killed for the few possessions they had. The motive of robbery was considered because some possessions were, in fact, stolen and witnesses heard the assailants ask for money.

Tutela also discarded the motive of a family feud, although it recognized that there did exist great animosity between the Vásquez and the Aragón families. The Vásquez family is also poor; hence, it would seem difficult for them to find the resources to hire a group of assassins. Furthermore, it hardly seemed possible that a family dispute could result in such a massacre. In other comments to the press, Tutela and the church did not discount the possibility that the family motive might have played some role in the massacre, but that it was not the overriding issue.

The two possible motives left, in Tutela's view, relate to the two sides in the armed conflict, the FMLN and the military. In pointing to the First Brigade, Tutela cited the circumstances of the killing and the evidence noted above. Although it did not comment on the FMLN's statement that the family had been collaborators (probably for the safety of the remaining family members), that was clearly an additional factor in pointing to the First Brigade.

The assessment of Americas Watch that the motive was more potentially related to a family dispute than to political motives is based on interviews with two of the key witnesses, residents in the area, and family members, as well as a review of the existing declarations and documents in the court record. Questions remain, however, as to how members of a poor family were able to find the resources to hire assassins, and as to whether more people than those currently implicated were involved in the killings.

Various sources lead Americas Watch to believe that it is credible that the Aragón family had collaborated with the FMLN, but this is not necessarily sufficient evidence for a political motive to the killings. The Aragón family also had relatives in the Armed Forces; but because of the pervasiveness of forced recruitment, that could be said of most families in El Salvador. However, it also appears that both the Vásquez family and the Paz Vanegas brothers had family ties to both the FMLN and the Armed Forces. A brother of the Paz Vanegas' is currently detained in Mariona Prison, accused of being a member of the FMLN. Documents in the court record provide extensive details about his involvement with the rebels. It also appears to be true that both Rafael Antonio and Armando de Paz Vanegas were discharged from the Artillery Brigade and First Brigade, respectively, largely on suspicion of having collaborated with their brother.[24] However, there appears to be no credible evidence that the two brothers are themselves collaborating with the FMLN.

Furthermore, as recently as September 1990, the Paz Vanegas brothers had given testimony to the non-governmental Human Rights

[24] Often when soldiers are discharged accused of being "subversive infiltrators," their picture appears in one of the newspapers with that accusation. In the court record, there is a clip of an article (probably from El Diario de Hoy) noting the discharge of Armando de Paz for such reasons.

Commission about being captured, beaten and interrogated by the Atlacatl Battalion, accused of belonging to the FMLN.[25] It is possible that they could have since then decided or have been forced to collaborate with the military, but that seems unlikely. Shortly after the massacre, the Belloso Battalion came to the Paz Vanegas' house following a military operation; the mother of two of the accused reportedly issued a complaint about harassment.

What could be the explanation, then, for the massacre? The background to the family dispute was obtained through press accounts and through interviews by Americas Watch with family members; many of the details also come from declarations given to the court, some of which have been independently verified.[26]

The family dispute appears to date back several years, when Aragón family members charge that the head of the Vásquez family, Francisca, had her son-in-law, who was a member of the Aragón family, "disappeared" because he was apparently mistreating her daughter.[27] Since then, there have been a number of incidents between members of the two families. Several witnesses also testified to hearing comments from members of the Vásquez family in the days prior to the massacre that they were going to kill the entire family, one by one. While this was the primary explanation given by family members and acquaintances shortly after the massacre, it has gained further credibility based the numerous accounts given by family members.

According to judicial declarations in the court record from both the accused as well as family members of the Paz Vanegas brothers, the two Vásquez sisters came with a man named Oscar Ortiz to the Paz Vanegas' house on the night of January 20 to enlist their help in the killings, apparently offering to pay them between 5000 and 20,000 colones.[28]

In the February 7, 1991 press conference given by Salvadoran government Information Secretary Mauricio Sandoval, the government also claims to have some evidence linking the Paz Vanegas brothers to other crimes in recent months, including robbery and rape. If this and other accounts prove to be accurate, it could give more credence to the "family feud" explanation for the massacre of the Aragón family.[29]

The Investigation

Despite indications that the El Zapote massacre might not have been a politically motivated crime, human rights groups and others in El Salvador continue to be suspicious of this explanation. Because of the historic failure of the government to bring human rights violators to justice, and because of several major problems with the government's investigation, further investigation is needed.

Perhaps the most prominent reason for skepticism comes from the work of the Special Investigative Unit itself.[30] The SIU is theoretically under the control of civilians, led by the Minister of Justice. However, its detectives and investigators come from the military and police, which seems to have circumscribed the depth with which they have been able to probe military [28] At least one of the Vásquez' sisters had been romantically involved with one of the Paz Vanegas, having met while working on the same farm. Thus, the declarations note that the Paz Vanegas brothers were upset when Herbert Aragón continued to accuse the Vásquez family of disappearing Cruz Aragón several years ago.

[29] On February 27, 1991, JesUs Vanegas and the Paz Vanegas brothers were also charged with another homicide, committed on January 17 against Felipe Guardado Alvarenga Valenzuela, a brother-in-law of JesUs Vanegas. La Prensa Grafica, February 28, 1991.

involvement in human rights cases.[31]

While the court record contains declarations taken by members of the SIU with members of the First Brigade who guard the CEL substation near El Zapote, as well as members of the Belloso Battalion who were involved in an armed clash the day after the massacre, it is not clear from the record that these soldiers were ever asked about events the night of the massacre.[32] Especially in the case of the Belloso Battalion, which Information Minister Sandoval said had responsibility for the area rather than the First Brigade, it does not appear that troops who might have been on patrol that night were interviewed. Thus, Sandoval's February 7, 1991 statement that "declarations have been taken from units of the First Brigade, declarations have been taken from all of the Civil Defense in the area and, yes, the investigation has been done at all levels" is not true.

Moreover, as noted by the church, two of the surviving children, Juan Humberto and Héctor Aragón, remained in the custody of the SIU for several weeks following the massacre. Although the SIU apparently claims that the children were there for protection and at the request of family members, family members on March 4 petitioned the court to have the children returned to them. Although the state certainly has a duty to look after the welfare of orphans, it hardly seems appropriate that the children should have remained in the custody of the SIU rather than in some other institution. In mid-February, the judge in a children's court sent the two children to an orphanage in the western province of Ahuachapán. If the SIU was concerned about the safety of the two children due to the fact that the assailants were still at large, then why did it release the youngsters to the custody of the children's court and local orphanages in mid-February before the prime suspects had even been captured? That the children might still be in danger was noted by Eleuteria Aragón herself, who said that Francisca Vásquez had recently threatened her and her family.[33]

[32] The First Brigade soldiers' declarations begins with the morning of the 22nd, following the massacre; the Belloso Battalion was questioned about their investigation into the Paz Vanegas' house shortly after the massacre. All declarations are summaries of interviews, rather than transcripts, so they are necessarily filtered and do not probably contain all that was declared.

In addition, the military has sought, as in other cases, to discard or minimize the possibility that its own troops were involved in a crime. A First Brigade memo written on January 23 shortly after the massacre, for example, states that the murder "could have been committed by FMLN terrorists or by common delinquents with the purpose of involving or belittling the armed forces in order to obtain some political advantage. It is dismissed that our units are involved in said killings." The memo goes on to recommend that:

> the release of information in this case be centralized in order to avoid possible contradictions that can be exploited by organizations close to the interests of the communists in El Salvador or by politicians. This is so as to avoid the introduction of the name of the Armed Forces in the present case. If it is proven that the murderers are from the FMLN, [it is recommended] that this fact be exploited at a national and international level.

Another problem with the investigation is that the military has been slow to cooperate with the judicial authorities, who themselves have appeared timid in exploring the possibility of military involvement. Prosecuting attorney Edwin Bonilla says that on January 24, the Justice of the Peace in charge of the case, José Miguel Valdez, asked the Defense Minister which troops were operating in the area of El Zapote and also requested the logbooks of such brigades. "Extrajudicially, we have had the information that it was the First Brigade [operating in the area], but we don't have it from a direct source such as the Defense Minister," said Bonilla on February 5.[34] Several days later, the Defense Ministry sent the judge a map of the area with locations of troops. Ponce also sent a letter to Judge Valdez on February 6 saying that he had instructed the commander of the First Brigade to open his books to inspection by the judge, but the judge had still not followed through before the case moved to the First Instance Court in Mejicanos two weeks later.

Another criticism of the investigation arises from the fact that, according to Salvadoran law, cases are only to stay with the Justice of the Peace for 12 days before passing to the First Instance Court. In this case, the judge held the case for approximately one month.[35] The fact of the delay --which was unusually long -- only added to suspicions about the prosecution of this case.

A final example of how the judicial authorities may have intentionally avoided following up on leads that would require an investigation into the military can be seen in the testimony of Eleuteria Ortiz de Aragón, the 88-year-old matriarch of the Aragón family who survived the massacre. On February 8, Eleuteria told Tutela Legal that, when she went to give testimony before the Justice of the Peace of Ayutuxtepeque, she said the men who killed her family were soldiers dressed in camouflage green. When she said this, according to the Tutela declaration, the judge tried to persuade her that she hadn't seen who had killed her family. Eleuteria insisted, saying that she knew they were soldiers because she had seen men dressed the same way in the house of Francisca Vásquez only the day before.

[34] Al Día, Channel 12 Television, February 5, 1991, transcribed by INSISTEM.

[35] The reason given by the government officials for the delay is that the Mejicanos judge is old and was less likely to do the work necessary to prepare the case.

93099 ,7

RELEASED

Special Project (1993)

Also in the Tutela declaration on February 8, Eleuteria said that, four days after declaring before the justice of the peace, he had come to her house and showed her two pictures, saying that they were the guerrillas who had killed her family. She replied that she had already told him they were soldiers, because she had seen them. Later, on February 22, Eleuteria corrected her story, saying that it was not the judge who had come to see her, but rather a lieutenant.[36] Whether this soldier had come from the SIU or the police, such an incident seemed clearly intended to get her to change her story.

The day after Eleuteria's February 8 Tutela declaration, the Justice of the Peace denied that he had tried to tell her what to say. However, a review of the judicial declaration of Eleuteria Aragón, given on January 24 to the Justice of the Peace, has her saying only that "the subjects carried rifles, not being able to distinguish the clothes they wore nor the color." The very next day, January 25, in a report written by agents from the Zacamil Battalion of the National Police, Eleuteria is noted as saying that the men wore "black uniforms with kerchiefs covering their faces, without being able to say the color [of the kerchiefs]." That more specific information was given one day after the judicial declaration raises a concern that, in fact, the judge had not wanted to record what she had seen.

Conclusion

Although there are indications that the El Zapote massacre may have been the result of a family feud, judicial authorities have either been unable or unwilling to investigate leads that [36] During a visit to the Justice of the Peace in Ayutuxtepeque on February 22, the judge asked her he had ever been to her house, to which she replied, "No, it was a lieutenant and a woman who came" and not the judge. Coincidentally, a film crew from Channel 6's "El Noticiero" news program was there to speak with the judge and the exchange was broadcast that night on the news. pointed toward involvement by the Armed Forces, leaving several questions unanswered. Although the SIU has been able to interview various military units in relation to the case, it is not clear that they have fully pursued every lead. The failure to pursue possible involvement of the Armed Forces only creates greater suspicions that something is being hidden. Indeed, the behavior of the judicial authorities in investigating this case gives reason to doubt that the political will exists to investigate other cases in which the Salvadoran military might be implicated in the future.

Dear Senator DeConcini:

I am writing in response to a letter dated March 2, 1991, from your constituent, [redacted] who has inquired about lifting the U.S. ban on arms sales to Chile.

On December 1, 1990, the White House announced that the embargo on arms sales imposed by the Kennedy-Harkin amendment had been lifted. This decision reflects the fact that with the restoration of democracy in Chile a government has come to power committed to investigate human rights violations under the previous government and to investigate the 1976 murder in Washington of Chilean exile former Ambassador Orlando Letelier and American citizen Ronnie Moffitt. The new government has made progress in both areas. Moreover, under the administration of President Aylwin there has been significant improvement in Chile's human rights situation. While General Pinochet, may under the constitution remain as Commander-in-Chief of the Army until 1997, he is subject to the authority of elected civilian officials.

Thank you for your expression of interest in these issues.

Sincerely,

Janet G. Mullins
Assistant Secretary
Legislative Affairs

Dennis DeConcini,

USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

8. GUERRILLAS CONTINUED TO ATTACK THE ECONOMIC INFRASTRUCTURE DESPITE REQUESTS FROM A RANGE OF GROUPS, INCLUDING THE CNR, FOR A HALT. THE URNG MAINTAINED THE ATTACKS WEAKEN GOG MILITARY CAPABILITIES.

9. ON FEBRUARY 16, GUERRILLAS OF THE EGP (GUERRILLA ARMY OF THE POOR) FACTION OF THE URNG AMBUSHED A 13-MAN CIVIL PATROL NEAR PLAYA GRANDE (QUICHE) WHICH SOUGHT TO REMOVE AN ANTI-GOG BANNER FROM A BRIDGE. TEN OF THE PATROLMEN WERE KILLED, THE OTHER THREE WERE SERIOUSLY WOUNDED. THE URNG, THROUGH ITS MEXICO-BASED WIRE SERVICE CERIGUA, DENIED THE VICTIMS BELONGED TO A CIVIL

PATROL, INSISTING THEY WERE PART OF AN ELITE ARMY "KAIBIL" UNIT. HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON MADE AN ON-THE-SPOT TELEVISED INVESTIGATION INTO THE MASSACRE AND REJECTED THE URNG'S CLAIM. HE SAID THE KILLING WAS ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF THE "GENOCIDE" ENDURED BY GUATEMALA'S INDIGENOUS PEOPLE. IN THE COURSE OF HIS VISIT, HIS HELICOPTER CAME UNDER FIRE FROM GUERRILLAS. HE WAS FORCED TO LAND AND SEEK SAFETY IN A TRENCH (ALL OF WHICH WAS FILMED AND TELEVISED). HE ESCAPED UNHARMED.

10. DESPITE EVIDENCE OF INCREASED GUERRILLA BELLIGERENCE, GOG OFFICIALS AND THE CNR REMAINED GUARDEDLY OPTIMISTIC THEY COULD REACH AN ACCORD WITH THE URNG THIS YEAR TO END THE INSURGENCY. THE CNR MET THE GUERRILLA LEADERSHIP IN MEXICO EARLY IN THE MONTH AND BEGAN TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR A GOG-URNG MEETING NEXT MONTH. THE DEFENSE MINISTER SAID THE ARMY WOULD BACK TALKS WITH THE URNG EVEN IF THEY DID NOT FIRST LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS AS PER THE ESQUIPULAS ACCORDS.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

11. FOLLOWING A MINOR TRAFFIC ACCIDENT, POLICE ARRESTED WELL-KNOWN LOCAL COLUMNIST HUGO ARCE, ONE OF THE MORE COLORFUL AND ERRATIC JOURNALISTS AROUND. ARRESTING OFFICERS CLAIMED HIS LARGE AMERICAN CAR HAD DYNAMITE AND COCAINE IN THE TRUCK AND UNDER THE REAR SEAT. ARCE WENT TO JAIL WEARING A YELLOW NEW YORK CABBIE'S CAP ON HIS KOJAK-STYLE BALD HEAD. IN INTERVIEWS HE PROUDLY DECLARED HIMSELF "GUATEMALA'S ONLY POLITICAL PRISONER." HE CLAIMED OTHER PRISONERS PROTECTED HIM FROM "HARM."

12. THE ARREST TRIGGERED A STORM IN THE LOCAL MEDIA WHICH ACCUSED THE GOG OF TRYING TO MUZZLE THE PRESS. THE GOG WAS UNCOMFORTABLE WITH THE CASE AND THE ATTENTION IT DREW; AS THE MONTH ENDED IT WAS SEEKING TO DROP THE AFFAIR (ARCE WAS FREED MARCH 1 ON HIS OWN RECOGNIZANCE; IT IS THOUGHT CHARGES WILL BE DROPPED).

13. THE GOG CLAIMED A FOREIGN POLICY VICTORY IN THE WAKE OF THE UNHRC VOTE TO KEEP GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS CASE UNDER AGENDA ITEM 21. DESPITE CALLS FROM MANY IN CONGRESS, LOCAL RIGHTS ACTIVISTS, CHURCH AND LABOR LEADERS FOR THE GOG TO ACCEPT AN ITEM 12 HUMAN RIGHTS RAPPORTEUR, THE GOG ARGUED THAT PLACING GUATEMALA UNDER ITEM 12 WOULD BE A "CONDEMNATION" OF THE CURRENT GOG. SERRANO AND FOREIGN MINISTER ARZU TOLD THE PRESS AND THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS THAT IT IS UNFAIR TO "CONDEMN" THE NEW GOG FOR THE MISDEEDS OF THE CEREZO GOVERNMENT. A PROMINENT FORMER OFFICIAL OF THE CEREZO GOVERNMENT, SARA MISHAAN, BLAMED THE U.S. FOR WESTERN EFFORTS IN GENEVA TO PUT GUATEMALA INTO ITEM 12; SHE CLAIMED THE U.S.

14. THE GOG PROVED ITSELF OPEN TO OUTSIDE INVESTIGATIONS BY PERMITTING SEVERAL VISITS TO ONCE SENSITIVE CPRS BY FOREIGN DIPLOMATS, UNHCR REPRESENTATIVES, AND MEMBERS OF FOREIGN AND LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS. THE CPRS ARE GUERRILLA-CONTROLLED COMMUNITIES THAT CLAIM PERSECUTION OF VARIOUS TYPES BY THE ARMY. VICE PRESIDENT ESPINA, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, AND THE HEAD OF GUATEMALA'S REPATRIATION AGENCY (CEAR) ACCOMPANIED A CPR SPOKESMAN TO A RESETTLEMENT CAMP IN NEBAJ (QUICHE) TO LOOK INTO ALLEGATIONS PERSONS WERE IN NEBAJ AGAINST THEIR WILL. FOLLOWING THE VISIT, THE OMBUDSMAN SAID HE PEOPLE WERE NOT IN NEBAJ AGAINST THEIR WILL. HE SUPPORTED THE SIMILAR CONCLUSION REACHED BY UN HUMAN RIGHTS EXPERT CHRISTIAN TOMUSCHAT WHO VISITED THE CAMP LATE LAST YEAR.

15. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN ISSUED HIS 1990 REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES IN GUATEMALA. THE REPORT, SOMEWHAT TIMID THOUGH VOLUMINOUS, CRITICIZED THE ADMINISTRATION OF PRESIDENT CEREZO FOR ITS LACK OF POLITICAL WILL TO END HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. THE OMBUDSMAN EXPRESSED HOPE SERRANO'S GOVERNMENT WOULD LIVE UP TO PROMISES MADE IN THE PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS. THE OMBUDSMAN PRAISED THE GOG FOR NOT SEEKING TO INTERFERE WITH THE OPERATIONS OF HIS OFFICE.

1. THE DEPARTMENT HAS CONSULTED WITH INS CENTRAL OFFICE REGARDING THE CASES OF TWO GUATEMALANS IN IMMEDIATE DANGER RAISED REFTEL. THE INDIVIDUALS DO APPEAR TO BE IN DANGER AND TO BE OF INTEREST TO THE U.S. BECAUSE OF THEIR INVOLVEMENT IN THE MICHAEL DEVINE MURDER INVESTIGATION.

2. HUMANITARIAN PAROLE IS AN OPTION FOR BRINGING INDIVIDUALS IN DANGER (INCLUDING FAMILY MEMBERS IF REQUESTED) TO THE UNITED STATES. HOWEVER, GIVEN POST'S CONCERNS, IT WILL ALSO BE POSSIBLE TO ARRANGE EXPEDITED DEPARTURE UNDER THE REFUGEE PROGRAM. INS BELIEVES EXPEDITED REFUGEE PROCESSING WILL BE AS FAST AS HUMANTARIAN PAROLE AND IS THE PREFERRED OPTION.

3. WE DO NOT BELIEVE THE PROPOSAL TO TRANSPORT REFUGEE APPLICANTS TO MEXICO FOR AN INS INTERVIEW IS FEASIBLE IN

THESE CASES OR AS A REGULAR PROCEDURE SINCE WE WOULD HAVE TO NOTIFY THE GOVERNMENT OF MEXICO (AND THEY WOULD LIKELY DELAY--SEEKING ASSURANCES FROM US AND THE GOG

THE DEPARTMENT WILL ARRANGE A SPONSORSHIP ASSURANCE IN ADVANCE SO THERE WILL BE NO DELAY IN RECEIVING A VOLAG ASSURANCE. IF REFUGEE PROCESSING IS THE PREFERRED ROUTE, PLEASE PROVIDE STANDARD BIODATA ON APPLICANTS AND FAMILY MEMBERS INTENDING TO COME TO THE U.S. AND INFORMATION ON ANY RELATIVES IN THE U.S. THESE INDIVIDUALS MAY WISH TO JOIN ASAP SO THAT WE MAY MAKE THE SPONSORSHIP ARRANGEMENTS.

5. WE BELIEVE THAT WITH A PREARRANGED SPONSORSHIP ASSURANCE AND AN IMMEDIATE INS CIRCUIT RIDE, IT WILL BE POSSIBLE TO MOVE THE INDIVIDUALS OUT OF GUATEMALA QUICKLY, PROTECTING BOTH THEIR SAFETY AND U.S. INTERESTS.

6. AS PER REFTELCON B, DEPARTMENT NEEDS TO KNOW AS SOON AS POSSIBLE WHAT PRESIDENT SERRANO'S DECISION ON THIS IS. WE WILL ATTEMPT TO SECURE THE AGREEMENT OF THE GOG, BUT THE SAFETY OF THESE INDIVIDUALS IS OUR PRINCIPAL CONCERN.

1. [redacted] -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. THE FMLN INSURGENTS' POSSESSION OF ADVANCED SA-16 SURFACE-TO-AIR MISSILES NOT ONLY THREATENS TO ESCALATE AND PROLONG THE WAR, BUT ALSO RAISES QUESTIONS ABOUT THEIR INTENTIONS VIS-A-VIS THE NEGOTIATIONS PROCESS. ALTHOUGH WE DO NOT KNOW HOW MANY MISSILES THE FMLN HAS, THE WEAPONS--PARTICULARLY THE SA-14 AND SA-16--IN SUFFICIENT NUMBER COULD TRANSLATE INTO MILITARY AND POLITICAL GAINS FOR THE GUERRILLAS. USING THE MISSILES TO COUNTER OR DETER THE SALVADORAN AIR FORCE, THE FMLN COULD INHIBIT GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS; MASS THEIR FORCES FOR LARGE-SCALE ATTACKS; AND FACILITATE THE ESTABLISHMENT OF TERRITORIAL CONTROL IN REMOTE PARTS OF THE COUNTRY. SINCE NOVEMBER 1989, THE FMLN HAS DESTROYED THREE MILITARY AIRCRAFT--AN A-37 JET FIGHTER, AN AC-47 GUNSHIP, AND A UH-1M HELICOPTER GUNSHIP--WITH MISSILES.

3. WE REGARD THE INTRODUCTION OF NEW WEAPONS TECHNOLOGY BY THE FMLN--FOR THE SECOND TIME SINCE NOVEMBER 1989--AS A POTENTIALLY DESTABILIZING FACTOR IN THE NEGOTIATIONS. AT BEST, IT IS A CRUDE ATTEMPT TO PRESSURE THE GOVERNMENT AND ARMED FORCES TO BE MORE FLEXIBLE AND CONCILIATORY--A MOVE LIKELY TO BACKFIRE. AT WORST, IT COULD REFLECT THE CONTINUING DETERMINATION OF SOME FMLN ELEMENTS TO PURSUE A MILITARY VICTORY.

4. POST WILL ENCOURAGE THE SALVADORANS TO REQUEST THAT ONUCA INVESTIGATE THE ORIGIN OF THESE MISSILES.

SUBJECT: ICFTU ADMITS "TELEX NEWS" VERSION OF AYUTUXTEPEQUE MASSACRE WRONG; APOLOGIZES

REF: A) SAN SALVADOR 3009; B) STATE 75394 (RECEIVED BY USEC AS A FAX ON 3/13)

1. LAST WEEK, USEC DISCUSSED THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS (ICFTU) "TELEX NEWS" STORY OF THE AYUTUXTEPEQUE MASSACRE IN EL SALVADOR WITH LUC DEMARET WHO, AS THE HEAD OF PRESS AND INFORMATION, IS RESPONSIBLE FOR ALL ICFTU PUBLICATIONS. DEMARET HAS NOW INVESTIGATED THE STORY AND FOUND THAT AMEMBASSY SAN SALVADOR IS ABSOLUTELY RIGHT. THE ICFTU GOT THE STORY COMPLETELY WRONG. HE IS EMBARRASSED BY THE MISTAKE BUT FEELS A PUBLIC ADMISSION OF THE ERROR IN A FUTURE EDITION OF THE "TELEX NEWS" WOULD PROBABLY ONLY COMPOUND UNCLASSIFIED

THE DAMAGE, PARTICULARLY GIVEN THE DEVELOPMENTS REGARDING THE MASSACRE SINCE THE ITEM FIRST APPEARED. DEMARET HAS NO OBJECTIONS TO THE EMBASSY PASSING ON ICFTU APOLOGIES TO ANYONE WHO MIGHT HAVE BEEN MISLED BY THE WRONG STORY.

2. DEMARET ADMITS THE STORY IS WRONG AND THE RESPONSIBILITY IS HIS. HE EXPLAINED THAT THE ICFTU'S WESTERN HEMISPHERE REGIONAL ORGANIZATION, ORIT, FAXED THE ICFTU TWO LETTERS FROM ITS GENERAL SECRETARY, LUIS ANDERSON, TO EL SALVADOR'S PRESIDENT ALFREDO CRISTIANI IN LATE JANUARY (COPIES OF THE LETTERS HAVE BEEN POUCHED TO AMEMBASSY SAN SALVADOR, S/IL, AND DOL/ILAB). ONE, DATED JANUARY 23, CALLED FOR A FULL INVESTIGATION OF THE AYUTUXTEPEQUE MASSACRE. THE OTHER, DATED JANUARY 24, PROTESTED A CAMPAIGN TO DISLODGE MEMBERS OF AN AGRICULTURAL COOPERATIVE CALLED "JUNE 4" IN SANTIAGO DE LA FRONTERA, DEPARTMENT OF SANTA ANNA. APPARENTLY ONE MEMBER OF THE COOPERATIVE, PORFIRIO VASQUEZ, WAS MURDERED "PRESUMABLY BY ARMED ELEMENTS SENT BY THE PERSON WHOSE LAND HAD BEEN EXPROPRIATED, TOMAS RAMIREZ MAGANA." THE LETTER GOES ON TO CALL FOR A FULL INVESTIGATION OF THIS INCIDENT.

3. THE EDITOR OF THE ICFTU'S SPANISH LANGUAGE PUBLICATIONS DULY TURNED THESE TWO LETTERS INTO TWO SEPARATE STORIES FOR THE TELEX NEWS AND THEY WERE THEN TRANSLATED BY AN ICFTU TRANSLATOR INTO ENGLISH. THE EDITOR OF THE "TELEX NEWS", WHO DOES NOT SPEAK SPANISH, WAS PRESSED FOR SPACE AND HAD A DEADLINE TO MEET AND, THINKING THE TWO STORIES REFERRED TO THE SAME INCIDENT, AMALGAMATED THEM INTO A SINGLE ITEM.

4. DEMARET UNDERLINED THAT THE STORY OF HOW IT HAPPENED DOES NOT EXCUSE THE ICFTU. HE AND HIS PEOPLE SHOULD HAVE BEEN MORE CAREFUL. HE PROMISED THAT THEY WOULD TAKE GREATER PAINS TO BE ACCURATE IN THE FUTURE, PARTICULARLY ON SENSITIVE STORIES REGARDING CENTRAL AMERICA. FINALLY, HE THANKED AMEMBASSY SAN SALVADOR AND S/IL FOR CALLING THIS ERROR TO HIS ATTENTION, SAYING THE ONLY CONSOLATION IS THAT AT LEAST SOMEONE IS READING THE "TELEX NEWS"--ALTHOUGH HE WAS A LITTLE UPSET THAT IT HAD TAKEN SO LONG TO GET TO THE EMBASSY IN SAN SALVADOR.

5. COMMENT: USEC IS ALWAYS WILLING TO DISCUSS THESE KINDS OF QUESTIONS WITH THE ICFTU OR OTHER INTERNATIONAL UNCLASSIFIED

TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS HEADQUARTERED IN BRUSSELS. THE MOST IMPORTANT OF THESE ORGANIZATIONS ARE: WORLD CONFEDERATION OF LABOR (WCL); THE EUROPEAN TRADE UNION CONFEDERATION (ETUC); AND THE TEXTILE, CHEMICAL, MINING, JOURNALIST, AND GRAPHICAL INTERNATIONAL TRADE SECRETARIATS (ITS). TELEGRAMS SHOULD BE ADDRESSED TO AMEMBASSY BRUSSELS AND SLUGGED FOR USEC. NILES

1. PEACE TALKS WITH THE URNG REMAINED A BIG PUBLIC STORY WITH THE PRESS GIVING CONFUSING ACCOUNTS OF WHERE THE TALKS STOOD. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN SIRED A "PEACE PLAN FOR QUICHE" THEN ABANDONED IT AFTER DRAWING FIRE FROM THOSE TO BE ITS MAIN BENEFICIARIES: THE URNG-RUN CPRS (COMMUNITIES IN RESISTANCE).

2. GUATEMALA'S LARGEST DAILY NEWSPAPER RAN THE WHOLE 1990 DEPARTMENT OF STATE REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN GUATEMALA ALONG WITH EDITORIALS BLASTING THE PREVIOUS CEREZO GOVERNMENT FOR ITS HUMAN RIGHTS PERFORMANCE. LOCAL RIGHTS GROUPS DENOUNCED SERIOUS VIOLATIONS; A FOREIGN ONE, "PEACE BRIGADES INTERNATIONAL" (PBI), RAN AFOUL OF THE LAW AND SUFFERED THE EXPULSION OF THREE ACTIVISTS. LABOR UNIONS DREW INCREASED ATTENTION IN THE WAKE OF A VISIT BY U.S. ACTIVISTS LOOKING INTO CANCELING GUATEMALAN GSP BENEFITS. A PUBLIC SECTOR UNION REPORTED TWO MEMBERS HARASSED AFTER FAILED TALKS WITH THE MINISTRY OF CULTURE, BUT SERIOUS DOUBTS EMERGED ABOUT THE TRUTH OF THE REPORT. THE 1990 MURDER OF AMCIT DEVINE CONTINUED TO BUFFET U.S.- GUATEMALAN RELATIONS AS [redacted]

EVIDENCE GREW OF ARMY UNWILLINGNESS TO SOLVE THE CASE. ABC NEWS VISITED GUATEMALA LOOKING INTO THE 1989 CASE OF AMCIT NUN ORTIZ, WHO CLAIMS TO HAVE BEEN RAPED AND ABUSED BY POLICE, WITH U.S. EMBASSY INVOLVEMENT.

3. VIOLENCE BY LEFTIST GUERRILLAS CONTINUED. URNG UNITS ATTACKED THE INFRASTRUCTURE, DESTROYING ELECTRICAL PYLONS. GUERRILLAS WERE ALSO THOUGHT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MURDERS OF TWO POLICEMEN NEAR SOLOLA. DESPITE THE VIOLENCE AND OTHER PROBLEMS ASSOCIATED WITH THE PEACE TALKS, THERE WAS GUARDED OPTIMISM A PEACE ACCORD BETWEEN THE GOG AND THE URNG COULD BE SIGNED SOON.

4. A NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL, ACISCLO VALLADARES MOLINA, TOOK OFFICE AND ANNOUNCED HE WOULD WORK TO REFORM THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM. FOUR POLICEMEN WERE CONVICTED AND SENTENCED TO LONG PRISON TERMS FOR THE 1990 BEATING DEATH OF A HOMELESS MINOR, NAHAMON CARMONA LOPEZ. THAT CASE ELICITED INTERNATIONAL INTEREST AFTER THE PUBLICATION BY AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL (AI) OF A LENGTHY REPORT ON VIOLENCE AGAINST "STREET CHILDREN" AND AN ABC TV DOCUMENTARY ON THE SAME TOPIC. THE NATIONAL POLICE AND THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR ACKNOWLEDGED SERIOUS FLAWS

IN THE POLICE AND VOWED TO FIX THEM. THE INTERIOR MINISTER PROMISED TO PULL THE POLICE AWAY FROM ARMY INFLUENCE. THE MINISTER ANNOUNCED, MARCH 6, THE FIRING OF 500 TREASURY POLICE FOR A VARIETY OF OFFENSES, MOST INVOLVING CORRUPTION. END SUMMARY AND INTRODUCTION

EARLY IN MARCH, THE PRESS AND LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS REPORTED TEN FAMILIES FLED VILLAGES NEAR CHICHICASTENANGO (QUICHE) IN THE WAKE OF THE FEBRUARY MURDERS OF TWO CERJ ACTIVISTS, JUAN PEREBAL XIRUM AND HIS SON JUAN PEREBAL MORALES. BOTH APPARENTLY SAW THE KIDNAPING LAST OCTOBER OF CERJ MEMBER SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, SUBSEQUENTLY FOUND DEAD IN THE CAPITAL. AMONG THOSE WHO FLED TO CERJ OFFICES IN SANTA CRUZ (QUICHE) AND TO GUATEMALA CITY ARE RELATIVES OF VELASQUEZ MEJIA. A POLICE INVESTIGATION CAST DOUBTS ON THE CLAIMS; VIOLETA FLORES REQUESTED LEAVE THE DAY SHE WAS ALLEGEDLY KIDNAPED AND THE UNION MEMBER WHO CLAIMED TO HAVE BEEN FIRED UPON WAS REBUKED FOR DRIVING A MINISTRY VEHICLE AFTER HOURS (NOT ALLOWED UNDER GOG AUSTERITY MEASURES).

THE "COMITE PRO-TIERRAS DEL SUR" (A GROUP DEMANDING LAND REDISTRIBUTION ALONG THE PACIFIC COAST), REPORTED THREE LEADERS OF THE OCCUPATION WERE LATER SEIZED BY ARMED MEN. ON MARCH 26, ONE OF THE REPORTEDLY KIDNAPED MEN, VICENTE GARCIA, WENT TO THE LABOR MINISTER AND THE PRESS TO DENY HE HAD BEEN KIDNAPED OR LINKED WITH THE TAKE-OVER; HE ALSO DOUBTED THE OTHERS WERE KIDNAPED.

USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN AN INTERNAL CONFLICT

12. ON MARCH 11 AND 12, POLICE MOVED TO DISLODGE A LARGE NUMBER OF SQUATTERS OCCUPYING PART OF A LARGE ESTATE, FINCA OLGA MARIA, ON THE PACIFIC COAST. THE EFFORT INVOLVED POLICE IN A MELEE IN WHICH ONE SQUATTER, A WOMAN, WAS KILLED BY POLICE GUNFIRE AND SEVERAL POLICE WERE INJURED, INCLUDING ONE WHO NEEDED HOSPITALIZATION. AMONG THE ARRESTED WERE THREE EUROPEAN MEMBERS OF THE PBI AT THE ESTATE AT THE REQUEST OF THE "COMITE PRO-TIERRAS DEL SUR." THE EUROPEANS (A GERMAN MAN, A FRENCH WOMAN, AND A SPANISH WOMAN) WERE EXPELLED FROM GUATEMALA FOR DEEDS INCOMPATIBLE WITH TOURIST VISAS. ALONG WITH CERJ AND GAM, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CRITICIZED POLICE FOR USING GUNS AND ACTING WITHOUT A JUDICIAL ORDER. POLICE DIRECTOR PAIZ REPLIED HE HAD ORDERS FROM THE MINISTER TO ACT AGAINST THE SQUATTERS, HE DID NOT NEED ONE FROM A JUDGE AS A CRIME (I.E., OCCUPYING A FINCA) WAS BEING COMMITTED, AND HIS MEN, FACING VIOLENCE, HAD A RIGHT TO SELF-DEFENSE.

13. GUERRILLAS ARE THOUGHT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MURDER IN SOLOLA OF TWO POLICEMEN ACCOMPANYING A BICYCLE RACE. THE POLICE WERE KILLED BY AUTOMATIC WEAPONS AND THEIR CAR SET AFIRE. LEAFLETS FROM THE ORPA GUERRILLA GROUP WERE FOUND. GUERRILLAS WERE ALSO REPORTED TO HAVE KIDNAPED AND KILLED A MILITARY COMMISSIONER IN QUICHE DURING MARCH. THE INSURGENCY IS 30 YEARS OLD AND HAS COST TENS OF THOUSANDS OF LIVES.

GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE TOWARDS INTERNATIONAL INVESTIGATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

15. MARCH SAW PUBLICATION IN THE LARGEST CIRCULATION DAILY NEWSPAPER OF THE ENTIRE TEXT, IN SPANISH, OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S 1990 HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT ON GUATEMALA. THE REPORT DREW FAVORABLE COMMENTS FROM LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, CRITICISM FROM BACKERS OF EX-PRESIDENT CEREZO (1986-1990), AND SILENCE FROM THE CURRENT GOG. DURING MARCH, A GROUP OF U.S. LABOR AND HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS VISITED TO LOOK INTO THE STATE OF GUATEMALAN LABOR UNIONS AND INTO THE POSSIBILITY OF SUSPENDING GUATEMALA'S GSP PREFERENCES. THE GROUP MET GOG OFFICIALS, INCLUDING IN THE LABOR MINISTRY.

THER COUNTRIES. THE TRICKLE OF RETURNEES, WHILE NOT HREATENING TO BECOME A FLOOD, INCREASED
UBSTANTIALLY IN 1990. TO DEAL WITH THE INFLUX, THE EW GOVERNMENT OF CHILE ESTABLISHED THE NATIONAL ETURNEE OFFICE (NRO), WHICH BEGAN FUNCTIONING ON
OVEMBER 1, 1990. IT WORKS WITH THE UNITED NATIONS
IGH COMMISSION FOR REFUGEES (UNHCR) AND THE NTERGOVERNMENTAL COMMISSION ON MIGRATION (ICM) TO ROVIDE LEGAL, FINANCIAL AND EMPLOYMENT SUPPORT FOR HOSE EXILES WISHING TO REESTABLISH THEMSELVES IN CHILE.

. MANY CHILEANS LEFT THE COUNTRY IN 1981 BECAUSE OF DRASTIC DECLINE IN THE ECONOMY. IN 1988, HOWEVER, HAT FLOW BEGAN TO REVERSE AS CHILE'S POLITICAL AND CONOMIC SITUATION IMPROVED. THIS TREND HAS ONTINUED, WHILE ITS NEIGHBORS' ECONOMIES, ESPECIALLY HOSE OF ARGENTINA AND PERU, FALTERED.

. THE VAST MAJORITY OF CHILEAN REFUGEES LIVE IN RGENTINA OR EUROPE. THE ARGENTINE CONNECTION IS DUE ) CLOSE PROXIMITY, AN EXTENSIVE BORDER AND, UNTIL 989, HIGHER PREVAILING WAGES IN ARGENTINA. LARGE HILEAN COLONIES EXIST IN THE MENDOZA AREA AND IN ATAGONIA. APPROXIMATELY 100,000 CHILEANS SETTLED IN JROPE BETWEEN 1973 AND 1989, MOSTLY IN SPAIN (FOR JLTURAL REASONS) OR NORTHERN EUROPE (FOR POLITICAL EASONS). UNTIL THE CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT IN CHILE,

BESIDES THE ICM AND UNHCR AND NRO, THE SOCIAL AID UNDATION OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCHES (FASIC) AND THE CARIATE OF SOLIDARITY, SPONSORED BY THE CATHOLIC URCH, HAVE HELPED REFUGEES RESETTLE IN CHILE. CORDING TO THESE ORANIZATIONS, THE RETURNEES ENJOY E SAME LEGAL RIGHTS AS THE CHILEAN POPULATION AS A OLE; THEY ARE NOT SINGLED OUT FOR HARASSMENT BY THE VERNMENT OR VIGILANTE GROUPS. SUMMARY AND INTRODUCTION

1. PEACE TALKS WITH THE URNG REMAINED A BIG PUBLIC STORY WITH THE PRESS GIVING CONFUSING ACCOUNTS OF WHERE THE TALKS STOOD. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN SIRED A "PEACE PLAN FOR QUICHE" THEN ABANDONED IT AFTER DRAWING FIRE FROM THOSE TO BE ITS MAIN BENEFICIARIES: THE URNG-RUN CPRS (COMMUNITIES IN RESISTANCE).

2. GUATEMALA'S LARGEST DAILY NEWSPAPER RAN THE WHOLE 1990 DEPARTMENT OF STATE REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN GUATEMALA ALONG WITH EDITORIALS BLASTING THE PREVIOUS CEREZO GOVERNMENT FOR ITS HUMAN RIGHTS PERFORMANCE. LOCAL RIGHTS GROUPS DENOUNCED SERIOUS VIOLATIONS; A FOREIGN ONE, "PEACE BRIGADES INTERNATIONAL" (PBI), RAN AFOUL OF THE LAW AND SUFFERED THE EXPULSION OF THREE ACTIVISTS. LABOR UNIONS DREW INCREASED ATTENTION IN THE WAKE OF A VISIT BY U.S. ACTIVISTS LOOKING INTO CANCELING GUATEMALAN GSP BENEFITS. A PUBLIC SECTOR UNION REPORTED TWO MEMBERS HARASSED AFTER FAILED TALKS WITH THE MINISTRY OF CULTURE, BUT SERIOUS DOUBTS EMERGED ABOUT THE TRUTH OF THE REPORT. THE 1990 MURDER OF AMCIT

DEVINE CONTINUED TO BUFFET U.S.- GUATEMALAN RELATIONS AS EVIDENCE GREW OF ARMY UNWILLINGNESS TO SOLVE THE CASE. ABC NEWS VISITED GUATEMALA LOOKING INTO THE 1989 CASE OF AMCIT NUN ORTIZ, WHO CLAIMS TO HAVE BEEN RAPED AND ABUSED BY POLICE, WITH U.S. EMBASSY INVOLVEMENT.

3. VIOLENCE BY LEFTIST GUERRILLAS CONTINUED. URNG UNITS ATTACKED THE INFRASTRUCTURE, DESTROYING ELECTRICAL PYLONS. GUERRILLAS WERE ALSO THOUGHT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MURDERS OF TWO POLICEMEN NEAR SOLOLA. DESPITE THE VIOLENCE AND OTHER PROBLEMS ASSOCIATED WITH THE PEACE TALKS, THERE WAS GUARDED OPTIMISM A PEACE ACCORD BETWEEN THE GOG AND THE URNG COULD BE SIGNED SOON.

4. A NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL, ACISCLO VALLADARES MOLINA, TOOK OFFICE AND ANNOUNCED HE WOULD WORK TO REFORM THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM. FOUR POLICEMEN WERE CONVICTED AND SENTENCED TO LONG PRISON TERMS FOR THE 1990 BEATING DEATH OF A HOMELESS MINOR, NAHAMON CARMONA LOPEZ. THAT CASE ELICITED INTERNATIONAL INTEREST AFTER THE PUBLICATION BY AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL (AI) OF A LENGTHY REPORT ON VIOLENCE AGAINST "STREET CHILDREN" AND AN ABC TV DOCUMENTARY ON THE SAME T PIC. THE NATIONAL POLICE AND THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR ACKNOWLEDGED SERIOUS FLAWS IN THE POLICE AND VOWED TO FIX THEM. THE INTERIOR MINISTER PROMISED TO PULL THE POLICE AWAY FROM ARMY INFLUENCE. THE MINISTER ANNOUNCED, MARCH 6, THE FIRING OF 500 TREASURY POLICE FOR A VARIETY OF OFFENSES, MOST INVOLVING CORRUPTION. END SUMMARY AND INTRODUCTION

5. EARLY IN MARCH, THE PRESS AND LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS REPORTED TEN FAMILIES FLED VILLAGES NEAR CHICHICASTENANGO (QUICHE) IN THE WAKE OF THE FEBRUARY MURDERS OF TWO CERJ ACTIVISTS, JUAN PEREBAL XIRUM AND HIS SON JUAN PEREBAL MORALES. BOTH APPARENTLY SAW THE KIDNAPING LAST OCTOBER OF CERJ MEMBER SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, SUBSEQUENTLY FOUND DEAD IN THE CAPITAL. AMONG THOSE WHO FLED TO CERJ OFFICES IN SANTA CRUZ (QUICHE) AND TO GUATEMALA CITY ARE RELATIVES OF VELASQUEZ MEJIA. THERE WAS NO REPORTED PROGRESS IN THE PEREBAL CASE DESPITE THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN URGING THE GOG TO EXECUTE ARREST WARRANTS FOR TWO SUSPECTS, MANUEL PEREBAL AJTZALAM AND MANUEL LEON LARES, WHO

THEY HAD BEEN KIDNAPED THE PREVIOUS DAY NEAR SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS (QUICHE). ACCORDING TO MENDEZ, THEIR FATHER, JUAN AJIATAZ LOBOS, BELONGS TO CERJ. SUGGESTED LETTER

RELEASED

Dear Mr. Secretary General:

Thank you for your letter of March 25, 1991, sharing your analysis of the prospects for a successful negotiation to end the war in El Salvador. I am very encouraged by your statement that we are at the threshold of a major breakthrough in the U.N.'s efforts to mediate an end to this longstanding conflict. I strongly share your view that a concerted effort must be made to achieve political agreements and a cease-fire by the end of April. I also agree that we must use the deadline of April 30 when the current legislative assembly dissolves in order to press the parties to make a maximum effort to reach agreement on the major issues, especially a cease-fire.

The United States wholeheartedly and firmly supports the political negotiations which the U.N. under your auspices is mediating. As my administration has stated on many occasions, the United States believes that the only humane and appropriate solution to this conflict is a negotiated political settlement which allows for the peaceful reintegration of former combatants on both sides into democratic political life with full guarantees for security and human rights.

His Excellency
Dr. Javier Perez de Cuellar,
Secretary General of the United Nations,
New York.

I know that some progress has been made in the past, but I share your view that the next four weeks are the decisive moment in this negotiation. I hope that you will give this effort your personal attention and engagement to ensure the maximum possible chance for success. I am encouraged also by the efforts of Mexico, Colombia, Spain and Venezuela to play an active role, at your request, in support of a negotiated settlement and hope they will do so at the opening round of negotiations

I am confident that President Cristiani will continue to display the same good faith and flexibility that his government has demonstrated over the past year. I know that President Cristiani is deeply committed to this negotiation process and will spare no effort to see it succeed. I hope that those with influence with the FMLN will urge them to refrain from any further military actions and to negotiate in good faith on the remaining issues. The United States will do everything possible to ensure the full implementation of any agreements reached by the parties at the bargaining table.

As to the issue you raised about direct contact by the U.S. Government with the FMLN, as I have told you in the past, this is a difficult question for the United States, particularly in light of the heinous execution of two U.S. servicemen by FMLN combatants in January. Nevertheless, I take seriously your views that "such direct contacts are now of critical importance to the success of the peace effort." The State Department will consult with President Cristiani on this issue and assess his views about the matter you recommend. Our primary goal is to see a negotiated solution to this war as quickly as possible. After consulting with President Cristiani, my administration will weigh carefully whether and how a direct contact such as you suggest might contribute to an early cease-fire agreement.

In closing, let me reiterate my strong personal appreciation for the role that you have played in supporting these negotiations through many difficult months. The U.N. under your leadership played a decisive role in ending the conflict in Nicaragua and holding that nation's first free and fair presidential elections. An end to the conflict in El Salvador under U.N. mediation would be a great milestone in your distinguished career as Secretary General and would, I believe, put Central America permanently on the path to stability and democracy in the coming years. The United States will make every effort to support these critical negotiations and to achieve your goal of a cease-fire by the end of April.

Warmest personal wishes,

George Bush

GUATEMALA: DEVINE CASE

Q: WHAT IS THE STATUS OF THE GUATEMALAN INVESTIGATION INTO THE MURDER OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE?

A: THE FIVE MILITARY SUSPECTS IN CUSTODY HAVE GIVEN ADDITIONAL TESTIMONY NAMING OTHERS WHO THEY CLAIM ARE INVOLVED IN OR KNOWLEDGEABLE ABOUT THE DEVINE KILLING.

-- THE MILITARY TRIBUNAL IN GUATEMALA CITY HAS ASKED THAT THESE OTHERS BE QUESTIONED.

Q: WHAT IS THE STATE OF U.S.-GUATEMALAN RELATIONS?

A: WE BELIEVE PRESIDENT SERRANO IS OFF TO A GOOD START. HE IS ACTIVELY ATTEMPTING TO MAKE SERIOUS ECONOMIC REFORMS, TO REFORM THE PENAL CODE, TO FIGHT CORRUPTION AND TO IMPROVE OBSERVANCE OF HUMAN RIGHTS STANDARDS.

-- WE CONTINUE TO WORK WITH THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT TO IMPROVE HUMAN RIGHTS PERFORMANCE, STRENGTHEN DEMOCRACY AND DEVELOP GUATEMALA'S ECONOMY.

Q: WHAT IS THE STATUS OF U.S. MILITARY AID TO GUATEMALA?

A: THAT AID IS STILL SUSPENDED PENDING FURTHER PROGRESS IN THE DEVINE CASE AND HUMAN RIGHTS PERFORMANCE IN GENERAL.

THE POINTS IN PARAGRAPH 4. USUN IS NOT, REPEAT NOT, TO DELIVER THE POINTS UNTIL THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY TO THE UNSYG'S LETTER HAS BEEN DELIVERED. AMBASSADOR WATSON'S POINTS MADE TO DE SOTO APRIL 4 (REF A) THAT THE USG WOULD LIKELY ONLY MEET WITH THE FMLN WITH A GOES REPRESENTATIVE PRESENT AND THAT THE USG WOULD NOT TREAT SUCH A MEETING IN A PERFUNCTORY FASHION ARE CORRECT. IT SHOULD ALSO BE STRESSED, HOWEVER, THAT WE WOULD ONLY BE PREPARED TO MEET WITH THE FMLN WHEN WE ARE CONVINCED THAT THE ENDGAME HAS BEEN INITIATED AND THAT SUCH A MEETING WOULD HELP BRING CLOSURE.

4. BEGIN TALKING POINTS:

-- WE STRONGLY SUPPORT THE UN'S EFFORTS TO MEDIATE IN EL SALVADOR.

-- PRESIDENT BUSH HAS SENT A LETTER IN REPLY TO UNSYG PEREZ DE CUELLAR'S LETTER WHICH EXPRESSES THE PRESIDENT'S SUPPORT AND ADDRESSES THE POSSIBILITY OF DIRECT MEETINGS BETWEEN THE USG AND THE FMLN.

-- THE VIEWS OF THE UN WILL BE TAKEN VERY SERIOUSLY BY US AS WE CONSULT WITH PRESIDENT CRISTIANI ON THIS MATTER.

-- WE WOULD CONSIDER MEETING WITH THE FMLN IF, AFTER CONSULTATION WITH PRESIDENT CRISTIANI, WE FEEL THAT SUCH CONTACT WOULD FURTHER THE PEACE PROCESS.

-- SUBSTANTIAL FURTHER PROGRESS WOULD BE NEEDED, HOWEVER, FOR US TO FEEL THAT THE PEACE PROCESS IS MOVING AHEAD WITHIN THE TIMETABLES SET FORTH BY THE UN AND AGREED TO BY BOTH SIDES.

-- WE WILL ALSO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO ENSURE THE FULL IMPLEMENTATION OF ANY AGREEMENTS REACHED BY THE PARTIES.

SUBJECT: CODEL BALLENGER'S MEETING WITH THE PRESIDENT

1. [redacted] ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: CONGRESSMEN BALLENGER AND BUNNING, ACCOMPANIED BY THE AMBASSADOR, CALLED ON PRESIDENT CRISTIANI APRIL 4. THE PRESIDENT'S PRIVATE SECRETARY, ARTURO TONA, EMBOFFS, AND MRS. BALLENGER AND MRS. BUNNING ALSO ATTENDED. THE CONGRESSMEN EXPRESSED CONCERN OVER RECENT KIDNAPPINGS AND REMINDED THE PRESIDENT OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE JESUIT CASE IN CONGRESS. THE PRESIDENT EXPRESSED SATISFACTION WITH THE MARCH 28 ELECTIONS AND CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM ON THE PEACE PROCESS. (FYI: THE CODEL HAS NOT SEEN OR CLEARED THIS CABLE. END FYI) END SUMMARY.

---

3. REP. BALLENGER TOLD THE PRESIDENT THAT THE RECENT WAVE OF KIDNAPPINGS HAD BEEN THE DOMINANT THEME WHEN THE CODEL SPOKE WITH LOCAL BUSINESS LEADERS APRIL 3. THE PRESIDENT AGREED THAT THE PROBLEM WAS SERIOUS POINTING OUT THAT, EVEN IF A PEACE AGREEMENT IS REACHED, A RETURN TO THE TERROR OF THE EARLY 80S COULD SEVERELY DAMAGE THE COUNTRY'S ECONOMIC PROSPECTS. THE AMBASSADOR POINTED OUT THAT THE FBI HAS BEEN ASKED TO ASSIST THE GOES IN THE INVESTIGATIONS. CRISTIANI ADDED THAT SPECULATION ABOUT KIDNAPPINGS COULD ENDANGER THOSE BEING HELD AND IMPEDE INVESTIGATIONS.

THE JESUIT CASE DOMINATES HOUSE VIEW OF SALVADOR

---

4. REP BALLENGER ASKED WHERE THE JESUIT CASE STOOD AND THE PRESIDENT MENTIONED ATTEMPTS, INCLUDING PONCE'S LETTER TO JUDGE ZAMORA, TO TRACK DOWN NEW INFORMATION FOCUSING ON OFFICERS FROM THE MILITARY ACADEMY AND INTELLIGENCE DIRECTORATE. CRISTIANI ADDED THAT "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORSHIP" WAS VERY DIFFICULT TO PROVE UNLESS BERRAVIDES "CHANGES HIS MIND, ADMITS HIS CRIME, AND TELLS US WHETHER ANYONE ELSE WAS INVOLVED." REP. BUNNING POINTED OUT THAT APPROVAL OF MILITARY AID TO EL SALVADOR WILL BE VERY DIFFICULT IF

THERE IS NO "LIGHT AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL" ON THE JESUIT CASE. THE PRESIDENT SAID HE WAS WELL AWARE OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE CASE.

MARCH 28 ELECTIONS DEMONSTRATE WIDENING POLITICAL SPACE

5. THE PRESIDENT SAID WORKING WITH THE ASSEMBLY MAY BE MORE DIFFICULT WITHOUT AN ARENA MAJORITY BUT ADDED THAT "MOST OF THE CONTROVERSIAL LAWS, THE ECONOMIC PLAN, PRIVATIZATION, ETC, HAVE ALREADY BEEN PASSED." CRISTIANI POINTED OUT THAT WHEN ARENA GOT 47 PERCENT OF THE VOTE IN 1988, CRITICS CLAIMED ONLY A STRONG PUNISH THE PDC" VOTE PUSHED ARENA ABOVE ITS "TRADITIONAL" 30 PERCENT; THE 1991 VOTE DISCREDITED THIS THEORY AS ARENA GOT 44 PERCENT DESPITE THE INITIATION OF TOUGH ECONOMIC REFORMS. CRISTIANI POINTED OUT THAT "EVERYONE IS NEGOTIATING EVERYTHING IN EL SALVADOR TODAY" AND SAID THAT BUILDING ON THE INTERPARTY DIALOGUE COMMISSION EXPERIENCE, YOU NOW FIND ARENA REPRESENTATIVES ATTENDING MNR (NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC UNION MUDN - LEGISLATIVE ARM OF THE SALVADORAN COMMUNIST PARTY) ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATIONS AND VICE VERSA. HE SAID THAT AT ONE POINT THE LATE GUILLERMO UNGO AND D'AUBUISSON NEGOTIATED ON MILITARY REFORM, SOMETHING UNTHINKABLE A FEW YEARS AGO. THE ELECTIONS DEMONSTRATED THAT THE PRIMARY JUSTIFICATION FOR FMLN VIOLENCE, LACK OF POLITICAL SPACE, IS NO LONGER VALID.

CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM ON THE PEACE PROCESS

---

6. PRESIDENT CRISTIANI WAS CAUTIOUSLY OPTIMISTIC ABOUT THE TALKS SINCE THE FMLN PAYS A HIGHER POLITICAL PRICE EACH TIME IT LAUNCHES AN OFFENSIVE. HE PRAISED THE WORK OF THE "FOUR FRIENDS" SAYING THE PRESIDENT OF MEXICO HAD PLAYED A KEY ROLE THREATENING TO THROW THE FMLN OUT OF HIS COUNTRY IF IT LAUNCHED NEW ATTACKS. THE GOES IS TRYING TO SHOW THE FMLN THAT "PEACE IS THEIR ONLY OPTION." REP. BUNNING ASKED IF THE FMLN COULD CONTROL ALL OF ITS FORCES IF A CEASEFIRE IS SIGNED. PRES. CRISTIANI SAID THE GOES WAS DEMANDING THAT THE FMLN GUARANTEE THAT ALL OF ITS FORCES STOP FIGHTING IF AN AGREEMENT IS REACHED. CRISTIANI SAID "WE CAN'T HAVE HALF A CEASEFIRE" SO ALL FMLN FORCES WILL BE SUBJECT TO ATTACK IF ANY OF THEM CONTINUE TO FIGHT. CRISTIANI LAMENTED THAT THE UN HAD ALLOWED THE FMLN TO EXPLOIT THE GOES DECISION TO ALLOW MID-LEVEL FMLN COMMANDERS TO TRAVEL THROUGH SAN SALVADOR TO MEXICO FOR THE PEACE TALKS FOR THE FIRST TIME; MEDIA COVERAGE OF THE EVENT WAS BEING USED TO BOLSTER THE FMLN'S CLAIMS TO CONTROL SALVADORAN TERRITORY. CRISTIANI SAID JUDICIAL REFORM WAS ONE OF THE EASIEST PARTS OF THE NEGOTIATIONS SINCE EVERYONE AGREED ON ITS IMPORTANCE. CRISTIANI SAID A BREAKTHROUGH TOWARD PEACE WAS NOT YET ASSURED BUT THAT THE GOES WILL CONTINUE DOWN THAT ROAD REGARDLESS.

7. PRESIDENT CRISTIANI SAID THE SUSPENSION OF 42.5 MILLION USD IN MILITARY AID STRENGTHENED THE "WAR MONGERS" WITHIN THE FMLN BUT THE RELEASE OF THE FUNDS HELPED SHOW THE GUERRILLAS THEY HAD TO NEGOTIATE.

REP. BUNNING ASKED CRISTIANI IF THE FMLN COULD SURVIVE WITHOUT OUTSIDE SUPPORT AND THE PRESIDENT SAID "NOT AS A SIGNIFICANT FORCE." THE PRESIDENT DESCRIBED AN FMLN FUNDRAISING LETTER WHICH HAD BEEN ACCIDENTLY SENT TO SAN SALVADOR (THE GOES LATER GAVE THE NOTE TO THE CONGRESSMEN).

ECONOMIC GROWTH AND INTEGRATION

---

2. REP. BUNNING MENTIONED EL SALVADOR'S ECONOMIC SUCCESS AND ASKED THE PRESIDENT ABOUT THE PRIVATIZATION PROCESS. CRISTIANI SAID THE GOES WOULD BEGIN SELLING STOCK IN TWO BANKS IN MAY AND ONCE FIVE STATE BANKS ARE SUCCESSFULLY PRIVATIZED. THE GOES WOULD ALLOW NEW PRIVATE BANKS TO BE FORMED. THE CONGRESSMEN PREDICTED THE HOUSE WOULD APPROVE USTA FASTTRACK AUTHORITY FOR NEGOTIATING THE FREE TRADE AGREEMENT (FTA) WITH MEXICO AFTER A TOUGH FIGHT. CRISTIANI SAID FAILURE TO APPROVE THE FTA WITH MEXICO WOULD HAVE A NEGATIVE PSYCHOLOGICAL IMPACT THROUGHOUT

LATIN AMERICA AT A TIME WHEN INTEGRATION IS MOVING FORWARD WITH MOST LATIN COUNTRIES ENJOYING DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENTS.

4. AFTER SOME INITIAL PLEASANTRIES, CONGRESSMAN BALLENGER WENT DIRECTLY TO THE POINT AND REMINDED PRESIDENT CHAMORRO THAT THE CONGRESSMEN HAD SUPPORTED THE CONTRAS AND HAD HELPED PERSUADE THEM TO GIVE UP THEIR ARMS WITH THE UNDERSTANDING THAT THEY WOULD BE PROTECTED. THE ASSASSINATION OF FORMER CONTRA LEADER ENRIQUE BERMUDEZ AND THE ALLEGED TORTURE OF ARISTIDES SANCHEZ, COMBINED WITH REPORTS OF THE DEATHS OF DOZENS OF OTHER EX-RESISTANCE MEMBERS IN THE COUNTRYSIDE, CONCERNED MEMBERS OF CONGRESS WHO HAD SUPPORTED THE CONTRAS AND LED THEM TO BELIEVE THAT THE GON WAS NOT PROTECTING THOSE WHO HAD DISARMED IN GOOD FAITH.

5. PRESIDENT CHAMORRO SAID SHE AGREED WHOLEHEARTEDLY. SHE NOTED THAT EX-CONTRA COMANDANTES "FRANKLYN" AND "RUBEN" HAD BEEN BROUGHT INTO THE GOVERNMENT, AND THAT THE MAJORITY OF THE RESISTANCE NOW HAD LAND -- THEY ARE EVEN BECOMING AN IMPORTANT PRODUCER OF BASIC FOODSTUFFS SUCH AS ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

BEANS. ON THE BERMUDEZ CASE, SHE CONDEMNED THE KILLING, BUT NOTED THAT SHE HAD BEEN OUT OF THE COUNTRY AT THE TIME. SHE ADDED, NONETHELESS, THAT SHE HAD CONTACTED BERMUDEZ' WIDOW ELSA TO OFFER HER CONDOLENCES. ELSA BERMUDEZ HAD ASKED HER TO FORM A COMMISSION, INDEPENDENT OF THE GOVERNMENT, AND SHE HAD DONE SO IMMEDIATELY, EVEN INCLUDING RESISTANCE FIGURE COMANDANTE "JOHNSON" AT HER REQUEST. LACAYO BROKE IN TO NOTE THAT THE COMMISSION WAS GATHERING INFORMATION AND WORKING ON ITS REPORT. THE PRESIDENT ALSO INTERJECTED THAT SOME ARE CALLING FOR FBI PARTICIPATION IN THE INVESTIGATION, BUT THAT SHE THOUGHT IT UNNECESSARY.

6. ON ARISTIDES SANCHEZ, THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT SHE HAD TALKED TO HIS WIFE AND FOUND OUT HE WAS SICK. WHEN SHE LEARNED OF HIS ILLNESS, SHE HAD HIM RELEASED IMMEDIATELY. SHE SAID HE HAD DECLINED TO

MAKE ANY STATEMENT AT THE TIME, AND SHE WAS VERY SURPRISED BY THE ACCUSATIONS HE MADE UPON ARRIVAL IN MIAMI. LACAYO ASSERTED THAT SANCHEZ HAD NOT BEEN TORTURED. HE SAID THAT EVERYONE KNEW THAT SANCHEZ HAD A BAD HEART, AND IT WOULD HAVE BEEN A FOOLISH MOVE BY THE GOVERNMENT TO HAVE HIM TORTURED. ON PSYCHOLOGICAL TORTURE, LACAYO SAID WITH A SHRUG "WHAT IS THAT?"

ROLE OF THE FSLN

7. FOLLOWING UP ON THE QUESTION OF HARASSMENT OF THE DEMOBILIZED EX-RESISTANCE LACAYO SAID THAT THE CONFIDENTIAL

SANDINISTAS DO NOT CONTROL THE POLICE OR THE ARMY. HE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE NAMES OF THE ORGANIZATIONS (SIC. - PRESUMABLY ONLY THE EPS) HAD NOT CHANGED. HE SAID THE NAMES WERE CODIFIED IN THE CONSTITUTION AND UNO DID NOT HAVE THE VOTES NECESSARY TO AMEND THAT DOCUMENT. NEVERTHELESS, HE SAID THAT THE GOVERNMENT EXPECTED TO REMOVE SANDINISMO FROM THE NAME AS WELL AS THE SUBSTANCE OF THE ORGANIZATION IN THE FUTURE. AS WITH RECTIFICATION OF THE ICJ CASE

HE EXPLAINED THAT THE GOVERNMENT IS COMMITTED TO WORK WITH THE EPS AS LONG AS THEY STAY OUT OF POLITICS. HE NOTED THAT THE SHARP REDUCTION IN THE EPS BUDGET AND FORCE STRUCTURE WAS INDICATIVE OF SOLID PROGRESS ALONG THOSE LINES. 9. CONGRESSMAN BALLENGER REMINDED LACAYO THAT

SEVERAL MONTHS AGO HE HAD OFFERED TO HELP A FISHING OPERATION FROM THE U.S. INVEST IN THE ATLANTIC COAST. THE CONGRESSMAN SAID HE UNDERSTOOD THAT THE STATE FISHING MONOPOLY, INPESCA, CONTINUED TO POSE PROBLEMS TO POTENTIAL INVESTORS. LACAYO REPLIED THAT INPESCA WAS TO BE PRIVATIZED. HE WENT ON TO SAY THAT THE AUTONOMY OF THE ATLANTIC COAST REGIONS WAS GETTING OUT OF HAND AND MAKING IT DIFFICULT FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO DEAL WITH ISSUES LIKE THE PRIVATIZATION OF INPESCA. HE COMPLAINED ESPECIALLY THAT THE REGIONS WERE ENGAGED IN ACTIVITIES SUCH AS CONCLUDING AGREEMENTS WITH FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS (E.G., COLOMBIA) WHICH WERE ILLEGAL.

10. ON THE SUBJECT OF INVESTMENT AND PRIVATIZATION, LACAYO SAID THE GOVERNMENT HAS BEGUN A PROCESS WITH THE RECENTLY PASSED PRIVATE BANKING LAW, CONTINUING WITH THE CURRENT DEBATE OVER A FOREIGN INVESTMENT LAW, AND EVENTUALLY TO INCLUDE A PRIVATIZATION LAW BY MAY OR JUNE. IN THE END, THE GOVERNMENT HOPES TO EMULATE THE MEXICAN MODEL OF PRIVATIZATION.

11. LACAYO PLAYED RATHER FAST AND LOOSE WITH SEVERAL FACTS THROUGHOUT THE MEETING. BOTH CONGRESSMEN ALSO COMMENTED THAT HIS ANGRY, THIN-SKINNED RESPONSE TO CRITICISM -- EVEN CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM FROM FRIENDS OF THE GOVERNMENT SUCH AS THEY -- HURT NICARAGUA'S CASE ON THE HILL. THE PRESIDENT HAS UNCHARACTERISTICALLY CLEAR IN HER STATEMENT THAT FBI PARTICIPATION IN THE BERMUDEZ INVESTIGATION WAS UNNECESSARY.

2. SOVIET POLITICAL COUNSELOR NIKOLAI BABICH TOLD USINT ON APRIL 11 THAT SOVIET LATIN AMERICAN DIVISION CHIEF NIKOLAYENKO MADE AN HOUR-AND A-HALF STOP IN CUBA ON HIS WAY TO MEXICO AND CENTRAL AMERICA EARLIER THIS WEEK, AND WILL RETURN FOR THREE DAYS BEGINNING APRIL 13. CUBAN COMMUNIST PARTY SECRETARY CARLOS ALDANA MET WITH NIKOLAYENKO DURING THE STOPOVER -- WHICH BABICH INTERPRETED AS A SIGN THAT THE CUBANS ARE ASCRIBING GREAT IMPORTANCE TO THE SOVIET OFFICIAL'S VISIT.

3. BABICH ASKED THE SIGNIFICANCE OF JCS CHAIRMAN POWELL'S ALLEGED COMMENTS, HYPED IN THE CUBAN PRESS FOR THE LAST TWO DAYS, ABOUT POSSIBLE U.S. MILITARY INTERVENTION IN EL SALVADOR. BABICH SAID THAT IT WAS AN "INTERESTING COINCIDENCE" THAT THE GOES AT THE SAME TIME HAD REPORTEDLY STATED IT WOULD ACCEPT NO CHANGES IN THE MILITARY AND CONSTITUTION. HE SUGGESTED THAT THESE DEVELOPMENTS WERE SERIOUS SETBACKS FOR THE GOES-FMLN NEGOTIATIONS. USINT OFFICER SAID THAT ALTHOUGH HE HAD NOT SEEN A TRANSCRIPT OF POWELL'S COMMENT, HIS UNDERSTANDING WAS THAT GENERAL POWELL RESTATED U.S. SUPPORT FOR A PEACEFUL, NEGOTIATED SOLUTION TO THE CONFLICT, AND THAT GENERAL POWELL'S COMMENT ABOUT A MILITARY SOLUTION, IF ACCURATELY REPORTED, WAS SIMPLY A RECOGNITION THAT IF PEACE TALKS FAILED THE ALTERNATIVE WAS CONTINUED MILITARY CONFLICT.

WITH A PORTION OF THE ELECTRICITY TO BE EXPORTED TO SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. HE DOES NOT FORESEE ANY NEW NUCLEAR REACTOR PROPOSALS UNTIL WELL AFTER THE SECOND PHASE OF LAGUNA VERDE IS COMPLETED IN 1993. SEMIP PLANS CALL FOR ELECTRICITY GROWTH OF 5-7 PERCENT A YEAR IN THE NEXT TEN YEARS. MEXICO WILL NEED TO IMPORT COAL FOR NEW ELECTRIC PLANTS ALONG THE COASTS. THE CHANGES IN THE MINING REGULATIONS THAT ALLOW 100 PERCENT OWNERSHIP THROUGH INVESTMENT TRUSTS IS INCREASING EXPLORATION.

END SUMMARY.

3. SENATOR BRADLEY, CONGRESSMAN LEACH, THE AMBASSADOR, AND ECONOFF CALLED ON SEMIP (SECRETARY OF ENERGY, MINES, AND PARASTATAL INDUSTRIES) SECRETARY FERNANDO HIRIART ON APRIL 5, 1991. SECRETARY HIRIART WAS ACCOMPANIED BY UNDER SECRETARY FOR MINES AND PARASTATAL INDUSTRIES ELIAS AYUB AND CHIEF OF STAFF JUAN EIBENSCHUTZ.

4. SENATOR BRADLEY BEGAN THE DISCUSSION BY ASKING ABOUT MEXICO'S MINING SECTOR. UNDERSECRETARY AYUB SUMMARIZED THE CHANGES IN REGULATIONS, SUCH AS THE THREE YEAR RENEWABLE INVESTMENT TRUSTS WHICH ALLOWS 100 PERCENT OWNERSHIP IN EXPLORATION, AND THE INVESTMENT TRUSTS IN PRODUCTION THAT ALLOWS 100 PERCENT FOREIGN OWNERSHIP FOR 12 YEARS. HE SAID THAT SINCE LAST DECEMBER, WHEN THE CHANGES WERE IMPLEMENTED, THERE HAS BEEN INCREASED INTEREST IN EXPLORATION. ALL OF THE MAJOR U.S. MINING COMPANIES NOW HAVE OFFICES IN MEXICO CITY AND MANY CANADIAN FIRMS ARE NOW LOOKING AT VARIOUS PROSPECTS. HE ADDED THAT MINERS ARE EXPLORING FOR GOLD, COPPER, AND ZINC.

5. UNDERSECRETARY AYUB CONTINUED THAT THE GOM HAS REMOVED THE PRODUCTION TAX ON MINERALS (DERECHO DE MINERIA) THAT DATED FROM [redacted]

THE TIME WHEN SILVER WAS 30 DOLLARS AN OUNCE. THE GOM PLANS TO RELEASE ONE AND ONE HALF MILLION MORE HECTARES OF LAND FROM THE GOVERNMENT MINERALS RESERVES. UNDER THE NEW PROCESS FOR FILING A CLAIM IMPLEMENTED IN LATE 1990, TWICE AS MANY CLAIMS ARE BEING PROCESSED AS BEFORE.

6. UNDERSECRETARY AYUB ALSO STATED THAT THE FOREIGN FIRMS THAT ARE EXPLORING HAVE INDICATED TO THE GOVERNMENT THAT WHEN MINING COMPANIES ARE ESTABLISHED TO EXPLOIT THE DISCOVERIES THEY WILL HAVE MEXICAN JOINT VENTURE PARTNERS. AT PRESENT THERE ARE FOUR LARGE MEXICAN MINING COMPANIES AND THE GOVERNMENT IS TRYING TO GET TWO OF THE LARGE MEXICAN CONSTRUCTION FIRMS INVOLVED IN MINING PROJECTS.

7. IN RESPONSE TO THE SENATOR'S QUERY ABOUT ELECTRICITY GROWTH, SECRETARY HIRIART STATED ELECTRICITY DEMAND SHOULD GROW AT ABOUT 5 TO 7 PERCENT ANNUALLY THROUGH THE NEXT TEN YEARS. WHILE THE SECRETARY AND JUAN EIBENSCHUTZ FAVOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF NUCLEAR FACILITIES, THE NEW GROWTH WILL BE MET BY COAL AND OIL FIRED FACILITIES. THE COAL FIRED GENERATING PLANTS WILL BE

ALONG THE COASTS AND MEXICO WILL HAVE TO IMPORT COAL FOR THESE NEW PLANTS. THE GOM IS NEGOTIATING FOR BLT (BUY, LEASE, TRANSFER) SCHEMES TO BUILD NEW FACILITIES BECAUSE CFE (THE ELECTRICITY COMMISSION) DOES NOT HAVE THE NECESSARY FUNDS. THE PRIVATE COMPANIES WISH TO RECOVER THEIR INVESTMENTS IN TEN YEAR PERIODS, WHICH THE SECRETARY BELIEVES IS TOO SHORT A TIME BUT IS THE BEST OFFER SEMIP HAS SO FAR.

8. THE SECRETARY SAID THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT WILL ONLY CONSIDER NEW NUCLEAR FACILITIES WHEN THE SECOND PHASE OF LAGUNA VERDE IS FINISHED (SCHEDULED FOR 1993) AND WORKS WELL. HE

ADDED THAT IT IS IMPORTANT THAT THERE BE NO NUCLEAR ACCIDENTS IN THE WORLD IF MEXICO IS TO CONSIDER ANOTHER NUCLEAR PLANT. HE POINTED OUT THAT MEXICO OFTEN FOLLOWS THE U.S. IN MANY

9. SECRETARY HIRIART STATED SEMIP IS STUDYING A PROPOSAL TO IMPORT NATURAL GAS INTO BAJA CALIFORNIA TO GENERATE ELECTRICITY, WITH PART OF THE ELECTRICITY TO BE EXPORTED TO SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. HE THINKS THERE ARE OPPORTUNITIES FOR OTHER ELECTRICITY GENERATING PLANTS THAT COULD BE BUILT IN MEXICO AND WOULD EXPORT PART OF THEIR ELECTRICITY TO THE UNITED STATES. HE FEELS THAT AT PRESENT SOLAR ENERGY HAS ONLY LIMITED APPLICATIONS, SUCH AS IN REMOTE AREAS THAT ARE NOT EASILY ACCESSIBLE.

10. THE SECRETARY AND JUAN EIBENSCHUTZ BELIEVE THE NEW U.S. ENERGY STRATEGY IS A CAUTIOUS DOCUMENT AND OFFERS LITTLE IN NEW INITIATIVES.

11. SECRETARY HIRIART BELIEVES THAT THE PROGRAM OF "ONE DAY A WEEK WITHOUT A CAR" IS A FAILURE. HE STATED GASOLINE DEMAND WENT UP 10 PERCENT IN 1990 COMPARED TO 1989. HE SAID THE RESULT OF THIS ANTI-POLLUTION PROGRAM IS THAT 80 PERCENT OF THE CARS DO 100 PERCENT OF THE WORK AND NOTHING HAPPENS TO STOP THE GROWTH IN GASOLINE DEMAND.

UNCLASSIFIED

12. COMMENT: THIS MEETING WAS TYPICAL OF CONVERSATIONS WITH SECRETARY HIRIART - HE WAS DIRECT AND TO THE POINT, ESPECIALLY IN THE WAY HE DISMISSED WITH A FEW WORDS AND A GESTURE OF HIS HAND THE GOVERNMENT'S ANTI-POLLUTION PROGRAM IN WHICH A PERSON'S CAR, AS DETERMINED BY THE LAST NUMBER OF THE LICENSE PLATE, CANNOT BE DRIVEN ONE DAY OF THE WEEK. WHILE HIS FIGURES ON INCREASE IN GASOLINE DEMAND ARE NO DOUBT VALID, HE MAY NOT HAVE CONSIDERED HOW MUCH MORE GASOLINE DEMAND MAY HAVE RISEN IN THE ABSENCE OF THIS PROGRAM. ALSO NOTEWORTHY, FROM A GOM

E.O. 12356: DECL:OADR
TAGS: PGOV, PREL, ES
SUBJECT: PRESIDENT CRISTIANI LETTER TO PRESIDENT BUSH ON USG-FMLN MEETING.

1. [redacted] ENTIRE TEXT.

2. DURING A 4/18 MORNING MEETING WITH THE AMBASSADOR, PRESIDENT CRISTIANI GAVE HIM A LETTER ADDRESSED TO PRESIDENT BUSH SUGGESTING THAT THE TIME WAS RIGHT FOR A USG REPRESENTATIVE TO MEET WITH THE FMLN DURING THE CURRENT ROUND OF GOES-FMLN TALKS. CRISTIANI TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT HAVING A SENIOR STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL REASSURE THE FMLN, IN A FACE TO FACE MEETING OF USG SUPPORT FOR A GOES-FMLN PEACE AGREEMENT AND USG COMMITMENT TO MONITOR COMPLIANCE WITH THE ENSUING ACCORDS, COULD HELP FACILITATE AN ACCORD DURING THE CURRENT ROUND. CRISTIANI ALSO EXPRESSED HIS HOPE THAT AMBASSADOR WALKER WOULD PARTICIPATE IN THE USG-FMLN MEETING SO THAT THE OTHER POLITICAL FORCES IN EL SALVADOR (I.E. THE ARMED FORCES, THE PARTIES, OTHER PLAYERS) COULD LATER RECEIVE AN AUTHORITATIVE ACCOUNT OF THE SESSION FROM AN AMERICAN PARTICIPANT SHOULD THE NEED TO REASSURE ANY SECTOR ARISE.

3. IN VIEW OF THE DELICATE STATE OF THE TALKS, THE PRESIDENT SUGGESTED THAT THE MEETING OCCUR SOON, PREFERABLY SUNDAY OR MONDAY, BUT NO LATER THAN TUESDAY, APRIL 23.

BELOW FOLLOWS THE EMBASSY'S INFORMAL TRANSLATION OF THE TEXT OF THE LETTER. ORIGINAL WILL BE POUCHED TO ARA/CEN.

BEGIN INFORMAL TRANSLATION:

SAN SALVADOR, APRIL 18, 1991

MR. PRESIDENT:

I AM WRITING YOUR EXCELLENCY IN REFERENCE TO THE NOTE SENT TO YOU BY THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, THE CONTENTS OF WHICH YOU WERE KIND ENOUGH TO PASS ON TO ME THROUGH YOUR ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INTERAMERICAN AFFAIRS: MR. BERNARD ARONSON.

CONCERNING THIS ISSUE, I WOULD AGAIN LIKE TO EXPRESS THE GRATITUDE OF THE PEOPLE AND GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR FOR YOUR CONTINUOUS SUPPORT FOR OUR EFFORTS TO FIND A POLITICAL SOLUTION THAT WOULD END THE CONFLICT WHICH BLEEDS AND DESTROYS US. WE RECOGNIZE AND APPRECIATE THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES HAS RESISTED CALLS TO MEET WITH THE FMLN TO AVOID TAKING ANY STEP THAT COULD PREJUDICE THE LEGITIMACY OF THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR, OR PROVIDE THE FMLN WITH JUSTIFICATION FOR ITS PRETENSIONS TO BELLIGERENT STATUS.

AS YOU KNOW, THE ABOVE MENTIONED CONVERSATIONS HAVE REACHED A CRITICAL PHASE AND CRUCIAL DECISIONS WILL HAVE TO BE MADE SOON. AS WE HAVE ALWAYS DONE, WE ARE PREPARED TO FULFILL AND EXECUTE AGREEMENTS REACHED RESPONSIBLY AND IN GOOD FAITH. THOSE AGREEMENTS WILL ALSO BE VERIFIED BY THE UNITED NATIONS. NEVERTHELESS, WE BELIEVE THAT AT SOME POINT IN THIS PROCESS YOUR EXPLICIT ENDORSEMENT OF THESE AGREEMENTS COULD BE A VALUABLE ELEMENT IN CONVINCING THE FMLN TO PUT AN END TO A SERIES OF PRETEXTS IT HAS BEEN UTILIZING TO DELAY THE SIGNING OF THE AGREEMENTS.

FOR THAT REASON, THROUGH THIS LETTER I WOULD LIKE TO INVITE YOU, AT THE APPROPRIATE TIME AND UNDER THE PROPER CIRCUMSTANCES, TO SEND YOUR REPRESENTATIVE TO PARTICIPATE IN A PRIVATE MEETING WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FMLN, THE UNITED NATIONS, AND THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR. IN THAT SESSION, YOUR REPRESENTATIVE WOULD BE ABLE TO STATE YOUR GOVERNMENT'S SUPPORT FOR THE PROCESS OF DEMOCRATIZATION OCCURRING IN OUR COUNTRY, AND GUARANTEE AND ENDORSE THE ACCORDS RESULTING FROM THE NEGOTIATIONS; ESPECIALLY THOSE WHICH SIGNIFY THE END OF ALL ACTS OF VIOLENCE BY AND THE EVENTUAL DEMOBILIZATION OF THE FMLN;

AS WELL AS THOSE THAT COMMIT THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF A MORE HUMANE DEMOCRACY, IN WHICH ALL SALVADORANS HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO IMPROVE THEIR LIVES AND LIVE IN PEACE AND FREEDOM.

THE FIRM POLICY OF YOUR GOVERNMENT HAS CONTRIBUTED TO THE EFFORTS WE ARE MAKING TO NEGOTIATE A JUST AND REALISTIC AGREEMENT WHICH WILL PUT AN END TO THE CONFLICT WHILE PRESERVING THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF THE SALVADORAN PEOPLE, ESPECIALLY THE RIGHT TO FREELY ELECT THEIR GOVERNMENT.

OUR GOVERNMENT WILL CONTINUE TO MONITOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE PRESENT ROUND OF NEGOTIATIONS AND MAY INVITE YOU TO SEND YOUR REPRESENTATIVE TO MEXICO CITY, IF POSSIBLE AND CONVENIENT, IN HOPE THAT YOUR EXCELLENCY WILL GIVE YOUR HIGHEST CONSIDERATION TO OUR PROPOSAL.

SINCERELY,

ALFREDO CRISTIANI

SUBJECT: U.S. SUPPORT FOR IAEA TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROJECT IN MEXICO

1. THIS IS A REVISED ACTION CABLE. SEE PARAS 6 AND 7 FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.

UNCLASSIFIED

2. SUMMARY: CABLE REQUESTS EMBASSY TO INFORM HOST GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS OF U.S. OFFER TO SUPPORT PROPOSED TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROJECT THROUGH THE IAEA. END SUMMARY.

3. ONE OF THE PRIMARY OBJECTIVES OF THE INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC ENERGY AGENCY (IAEA) IS TO PROMOTE THE PEACEFUL USES OF NUCLEAR ENERGY THROUGHOUT THE WORLD BY SUPPORTING

AND FACILITATING TECHNICAL COOPERATION ACTIVITIES IN DEVELOPING MEMBER STATES. AS AN ESSENTIAL PART OF THIS PROCESS, A COMMITTEE OF THE IAEA BOARD OF GOVERNORS CONVENES ANNUALLY TO EVALUATE AND IDENTIFY PROJECT PROPOSALS -- FROM THE APPROXIMATELY 80 COUNTRIES REQUESTING ASSISTANCE -- FOR RECEIPT OF IAEA TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE FUNDS (PROVIDED THROUGH VOLUNTARY CASH CONTRIBUTIONS FROM MEMBER STATES) FOR THE FOLLOWING YEAR. HISTORICALLY, THERE HAVE BEEN A NUMBER OF PROJECTS WHICH ARE APPROVED BY THE COMMITTEE AND THE BOARD AS "TECHNICALLY SOUND," BUT FOR WHICH NO IAEA TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE FUNDS ARE AVAILABLE. THESE ARE TERMED "FOOTNOTE A" PROJECTS, AND MAY BE SUPPORTED BY DONORS THROUGH THE PROVISION OF EQUIPMENT, EXPERT SERVICES, AND/OR TRAINING.

4. EVERY YEAR, THE U.S. SUPPORTS IAEA TECHNICAL COOPERATION ACTIVITIES THROUGH THE PROVISION OF SUBSTANTIAL CASH AND IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS (TOTALLING OVER 23 MILLION DOLLARS FOR 1991). A PORTION OF THE IN-KIND CONTRIBUTION IS DESIGNATED FOR THE SUPPORT OF IAEA

"FOOTNOTE A" PROJECTS.

5. FOLLOWING THE ISSUANCE OF THE ANNUAL PROJECT LIST AGREED UPON BY THE COMMITTEE OF THE BOARD, THE U.S. UNDERTAKES A REVIEW OF ALL "FOOTNOTE A" PROJECTS TO DETERMINE WHICH OF THESE PROJECTS SHOULD BE SUPPORTED BY U.S. FUNDS DESIGNATED FOR THIS PURPOSE. THE ASSESSMENT INVOLVES A DETAILED EXAMINATION OF THE PROJECT PROPOSAL ON THE BASIS OF TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS, AS WELL AS AN ANALYSIS OF U.S. POLITICAL, COMMERCIAL, AND NON-PROLIFERATION INTERESTS VIS-A-VIS POTENTIAL RECIPIENT STATES. AS A GENERAL RULE, THE U.S. SUPPORTS PROJECTS ONLY IN COUNTRIES WHICH ARE PARTIES TO THE NUCLEAR NON-PROLIFERATION TREATY (NPT) AND/OR THE TREATY OF TLATELOLCO AND HAVE CONCLUDED AN APPROPRIATE SAFEGUARDS AGREEMENT WITH THE IAEA. TOTAL COST OF EACH PROJECT NORMALLY RUNS UNDER USDOLS 100,000. ONCE A DECISION ON THE SLATE OF PROJECTS IS COMPLETE, THE IAEA AND THE COUNTRY REQUESTING ASSISTANCE IS INFORMED OF THE U.S. OFFER.

6. ACTION REQUESTED: EMBASSY STAFF MEMBER RESPONSIBLE FOR SCIENCE/IAEA/TECHNICAL-ASSISTANCE/NON-PROLIFERATION ISSUES IS REQUESTED TO INFORM APPROPRIATE HOST GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS OF U.S. OFFER TO PROVIDE USDOLS 85.000 (U.S. CONTRIBUTION LOWERED BECAUSE OF AMOUNTS SUPPLIED TO TRAINING PROGRAM LAST YEAR) IN SUPPORT OF IAEA TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROJECT NUMBER MEX/0/009 ENTITLED NATIONAL NUCLEAR TRAINING CENTER. (PROJECT OBJECTIVE AND BACKGROUND: THE NATIONAL NUCLEAR RESEARCH INSTITUTE (ININ) IS IN CHARGE OF PROVIDING SPECIALIZED TRAINING IN

THE NUCLEAR FIELD IN MEXICO. WHILE INITIALLY, TRAINING COURSES WERE ORGANIZED TO COVER INTERNAL NEEDS OF THE

INSTITUTION, THE GROWING DEMAND, MAINLY DUE TO THE COMMISSIONING OF LAGUNA VERDE NUCLEAR POWER PLANT, FOR COURSES ON OPERATOR LICENSING AND RADIATION PROTECTION HAVE MADE IT ESSENTIAL TO UPGRADE THE EXISTING TRAINING INFRASTRUCTURE.) SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS ARE PROVIDED IN PARA 7 BELOW. DEPARTMENT WOULD APPRECIATE RECEIVING ANY FEEDBACK FROM DISCUSSIONS WITH HOST COUNTRY ON THIS MATTER.

7. SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS:

-- THE U.S. HAS RECENTLY SELECTED A PROJECT REQUESTED BY YOUR COUNTRY TO RECEIVE U.S. SUPPORT THROUGH THE IAEA TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROGRAM. (REVIEW PARA 6 FOR DETAILS.)

-- WE ARE PLEASED TO BE ABLE TO SUPPORT THIS PROJECT, AND BELIEVE THAT THE OUTCOME OF THE SELECTION PROCESS REFLECTS FAVORABLY ON OVERALL RELATIONS BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES.

-- THE U.S. BASED ITS SELECTION UPON MANY CRITERIA, INCLUDING MEMBERSHIP IN THE NPT AND/OR TREATY OF TLATELOLCO, TECHNICAL MERIT, BILATERAL RELATIONS, AND DEMONSTRATED SUPPORT FOR IAEA PROGRAMS.

-- WITH LIMITED FUNDS, THE U.S. IS, GENERALLY, ABLE TO FUND ONLY A SMALL PROPORTION OF PROJECTS REQUESTED BY COUNTRIES THROUGH THE IAEA.

E.O. 12356: DECL: OADR

SUBJECT: U.S.-MEXICO ENERGY BILATERAL, MARCH 19, 1991

1. SUMMARY: THE USDEL AT THE BILATERAL ENERGY MEETING DID NOT FORESEE A PRICE COLLAPSE IN THE OIL MARKET DURING 1991. THE MEXICO DELEGATION ANTICIPATED A TIGHTENED GASOLINE MARKET THAT WILL PLACE A PREMIUM ON LIGHTER GRADE CRUDES. ENVIRONMENTAL REGULATIONS AND CONCERNS WILL PUT HEAVY SULPHUR CRUDES (SUCH AS MEXICO'S MAYA CRUDE) AT AN INCREASING DISADVANTAGE IN THE MARKETPLACE. MEXICO WILL BE IMPORTING COAL IN THE FUTURE AS THE NATION BUILDS COAL FIRED ELECTRIC POWER GENERATING UNITS TO MEET INCREASING ELECTRIC DEMAND. THE TWO DELEGATIONS AGREED TO WORK ON A JOINT PRESS RELEASE FOR THE RECENTLY COMPLETED ELECTRICITY STUDY. THE U.S. DELEGATION DISCUSSED THE NEW NATIONAL ENERGY STRATEGY PLAN. THE INVITATION FOR ADMIRAL WATKINS TO VISIT MEXICO STILL STANDS. END SUMMARY.

2. THE U.S.-MEXICO ENERGY BILATERAL WAS HELD ON MARCH 19, 1991, IN MEXICO CITY. THE U.S. DELEGATION WAS LED BY DOE ASSISTANT SECRETARY JOHN EASTON, DIRECTOR OF ENERGY ASSESSMENTS

UNCLASSIFIED

DAVID PUMPHREY, MARK RODEKOHR OF THE ENERGY INFORMATION ADMINISTRATION, CYNTHIA ACKUTEE OF THE OFFICE OF GLOBAL ENERGY, DEPT OF STATE, AND STEVE ORDAL, PETATT, MEXICO CITY. THE MEXICAN DELEGATION INCLUDED UNDERSECRETARY JOSE LUIS ABURTO AVILA, DIRECTOR OF ENERGY POLICY AT SEMIP MARCELA SERRATO, FELIPE LUNA OF PMI, AND OTHERS INCLUDING REPRESENTATIVES OF CFE.

3. AS IS THE TRADITION, THE BILATERAL BEGAN WITH A DISCUSSION OF THE WORLD OIL MARKET. ASSISTANT SECRETARY EASTON, DAVE PUMPHREY, AND MARK RODEKOHR EACH GAVE VARIOUS PARTS OF THE USG PRESENTATION. THEY POINTED OUT THAT OPEC SURPLUS CAPACITY WILL BE LARGER IN THE MID-1990S THAN WAS PREVIOUSLY FORECAST. THE PRESENT PROJECTION IS THAT SUPPLIES WILL NOT TIGHTEN UNTIL AT LEAST 1997. THE USDEL RECALLED THAT THIS PROJECTION HAS CONSTANTLY BEEN PUSHED BACK AS SEVERAL YEARS AGO WE TALKED OF TIGHTENING SUPPLIES IN THE 1994-1995 PERIOD.

4. THE USDEL EMPHASIZED THAT THEY DO NOT THINK A MAJOR PRICE COLLAPSE WILL TAKE PLACE. THEY SHOWED AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHS OF IRAQ AND KUWAIT THAT ILLUSTRATED LOCATIONS WITH BURNING OIL WELLS AND PRESENTED TWO SCENARIOS ABOUT PRODUCTION RESUMPTION

BY IRAQ AND KUWAIT. THEY SAID AN IMPORTANT QUESTION FOR OPEC WILL BE WHAT TO DO WITH THE KUWAIT AND IRAQ SHARE OF OPEC OIL PRODUCTION. SAUDI ARABIA COULD PRODUCE 13 TO 17 MILLION BARRELS PER DAY (MBD) IN 2010.

5. LOOKING AT 1992, THE OPEC SUPPLY WILL BE LARGER THAN THE DEMAND. THE NON-OPEC NATIONS WILL PROBABLY DECREASE OUTPUT SLIGHTLY. A MAJOR QUESTION MARK IS OIL PRODUCTION IN THE SOVIET UNION AS ECONOMIC PROBLEMS THERE BECOME MORE ACUTE.

6. FELIPE LUNA OF PMI, THE INTERNATIONAL MARKETING ARM OF PEMEX, GAVE A PRESENTATION ON THE OIL MARKET THAT POINTED TO A TIGHT GASOLINE SEASON IN THE UNITED STATES THAT WILL BENEFIT LIGHTER CRUDES. HE SAID GASOLINE STOCKS WERE LOW BUT DEMAND WAS UNCLEAR. HE POINTED OUT THAT REFINERY MARGINS WERE VERY LOW OR NEGATIVE IN THE FALL OF 1990 BUT HAVE IMPROVED SINCE THEN.

7. PEMEX FORECASTS AN INCREASED "SULPHUR DIFFERENTIAL" WHICH IS THE PRICE PENALTY PLACED UPON HIGH SULPHUR CRUDES COMPARED TO OTHER CRUDE OILS BY THE MARKETPLACE. ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS

DECLASSIFIED

AND ENVIRONMENTAL REGULATIONS ARE THE DRIVING FORCE BEHIND THIS PHENOMENON. WHEN QUERIED ABOUT THE GOM OBTAINING OPTIONS TO SELL OIL AT 17 DOLLARS A BARREL TO PROTECT THE NATION'S INCOME IN THE EVENT OF A PRICE DROP, THE MEXICAN DELEGATION SAID THIS WAS HANDLED BY TREASURY AND THEY DID NOT KNOW THE DETAILS.

8. THE MEXICAN DELEGATION SAID THE SAN JOSE ACCORD WAS RENEWED FOR THE TENTH TIME. THEY DESCRIBED THE DISCUSSION TO MODIFY THE AGREEMENT TO VARY ACCORDING TO THE PRICE OF A BARREL OF OIL: UNDER 17 DOLLARS A BARREL THERE WOULD BE NO LOANS, 17

[redacted]

DOLLARS TO 23 DOLLARS A BARREL THERE WOULD BE LOANS OF TWENTY PERCENT OF THE PURCHASE VALUE, AND ABOVE 23 DOLLARS A BARREL THERE WOULD BE LOANS WORTH THIRTY PERCENT OF THE PURCHASE VALUE.

9. MEXICO HAD ASKED THAT ALL NATIONS IN THE PROGRAM GIVE GUARANTEES IN DOLLARS OR GOLD. NO PARTICIPANT NATION COULD DO THIS. MEXICO HOPES THAT NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE INTERAMERICAN

DEVELOPMENT BANK (IDB) WILL BE CONCLUDED SUCCESSFULLY. ONE POSSIBILITY WITH IDB INVOLVEMENT IS 100 PERCENT FINANCING FOR OIL PURCHASES BY SAN JOSE MEMBERS. THE MEXICAN DELEGATION NOTED THE LARGE AMOUNT OF ACCUMULATED DEBT BY THE SAN JOSE ACCORD MEMBERS AND HOPED THERE WOULD BE SOME SOLUTION THAT WILL SOLVE THIS DEBT PROBLEM. THERE IS ALSO THE POSSIBILITY OF ADDING HAITI TO THE SAN JOSE ACCORD GROUP.

10. THE USDEL DISCUSSED AT LENGTH THE NEW NATIONAL ENERGY STRATEGY AND PROVIDED COPIES OF THIS DOCUMENT TO THE MEXICAN DELEGATION. ASSISTANT SECRETARY EASTON REVIEWED THE LONG PROCESS TO CREATE THE NATIONAL ENERGY STRATEGY AND POINTED OUT THAT IT REFLECTS THE THINKING OF ALL BRANCHES OF THE ADMINISTRATION. HE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THERE HAS BEEN SOME CRITICISM OF THE PLAN, INCLUDING ENVIRONMENTALISTS WHO OPPOSE OPENING THE ALASKA NATIONAL WILDLIFE RESERVE TO OIL ACTIVITY. THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY POINTED OUT THAT THIS COULD BE THE BIGGEST ADDITION TO U.S. OIL RESERVES SINCE PRUDHOE BAY.

11. HE EXPLAINED THAT THE NEW STRATEGY WILL BRING MORE BALANCE TO ENERGY USE IN THE UNITED STATES. IT INCLUDES A ROLE FOR RENEWABLES, STREAMLINING THE APPROVAL PROCESS FOR NUCLEAR POWER REACTORS, AND ALTERNATIVE FUELS FOR THE 200,000 VEHICLES IN THE FEDERAL FLEET OF CARS. ONE IMPORTANT FACET OF THE NATIONAL ENERGY STRATEGY IS THE DECONTROL OF ALL NATURAL GAS BY 1993.

12. ASSISTANT SECRETARY EASTON COMMENTED ON THE OFTEN

[redacted]

CONFLICTING VIEWS OF AMERICANS ON ENERGY ISSUES. HE SAID ONE POLL REVEALED 46 PERCENT OF ALL AMERICANS THINK THE U.S. SHOULD NOT IMPORT OIL, BUT NOTED THIS 46 PERCENT HAS VERY FEW IDEAS ON HOW TO CUT DOWN OIL IMPORTS.

13. THE USDEL EXPLAINED ABOUT U.S. PROGRAMS TO HANDLE NUCLEAR WASTE. THEY NOTED THAT MANY NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS WERE IN OPERATION LONG BEFORE THE USG EXAMINED THE ISSUE OF NUCLEAR WASTE.

14. BOTH SIDES SPOKE EXTENSIVELY ABOUT COAL, A SWITCH FROM RECENT U.S./MEXICO BILATERALS. THE USDEL EXPLAINED THAT THERE I[redacted]

[redacted]

ARE MINES THAT CAN SELL COAL AT 3.00 DOLLARS A TON AND BE PROFITABLE BUT THE BIGGEST COST IS THE RAIL TRANSPORT. BY THE TIME ALL OF THE TRANSPORT COSTS ARE ADDED ON, THE PRICE CAN REACH 30 DOLLARS A TON TO THE END USER. THE COAL INDUSTRY IS THE LARGEST USER OF U.S. RAILROADS.

15. THE MEXICAN DELEGATION EXPLAINED THAT SEMIP'S PLAN TO MEET THE NATION'S GROWTH IN ELECTRICITY DEMAND CALLS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF NEW COAL BURNING ELECTRICITY GENERATORS TO BE LOCATED ALONG MEXICO'S COASTS. ASSISTANT SECRETARY EASTON SAID THAT DOE DID AN EXTENSIVE STUDY ON ALTERNATIVE COAL SOURCES FOR ITALY, ON A BTU BASIS, AND PERHAPS A SIMILAR STUDY COULD BE DONE FOR MEXICO AS THE TIME WHEN THE NATION WILL HAVE TO IMPORT COAL APPROACHES. THE USDEL ALSO DELINEATED USG EFFORTS IN CLEAN AIR COAL TECHNOLOGY, SCRUBBERS, GASIFICATION, AND IN THE NEW DESIGN OF COAL BURNING POWER PLANTS.

16. THE AFTERNOON SESSION WAS DEVOTED TO A PRESENTATION OF THE MEXICAN ENERGY SCENE BY THE MEXICAN DELEGATION. THIS INCLUDED A BOOKLET OUTLINING MEXICAN ECONOMIC AND ENERGY INDICATORS THAT WA
S GIVEN TO MEMBERS OF THE U.S. DELEGATION. UNFORTUNATELY, THIS PRESENTATION CONTAINED LITTLE, IF ANY, NEW INFORMATION.

17. THE MEXICAN DELEGATION AND UNDERSECRETARY JOSE LUIS ABURTO ASSURED THE USDEL THAT THE INVITATION FOR ADMIRAL WATKINS TO VISIT MEXICO STILL STANDS. THE TWO DELEGATIONS ALSO AGREED THAT THEY WOULD BE IN CONTACT ABOUT A JOINT PRESS RELEASE FOR THE ELECTRICITY STUDY, WHICH HAS JUST BEEN FINISHED.

18. THAT EVENING THE USDEL MET WITH DR. AARON DYCTOR, WHO

20. COMMENT: THE MEXICAN DELEGATION WAS VERY INTERESTED IN THE PRESENTATIONS BY THE USDEL, BUT WAS SOMEWHAT HESITANT TO SHARE INFORMATION ABOUT WHAT IS HAPPENING IN PETROLEUM IN MEXICO. PART OF THIS RELUCTANCE WAS UNDOUBTEDLY DUE TO THE PRESENCE OF THE NEW UNDERSECRETARY, WHO HAS BEEN IN HIS NEW JOB ONLY A FEW WEEKS.

Alfredo Cristiani
President of the Republic

San Salvador, April 16, 1991

Mr. President:

I have the honor to refer to the note sent to Your Excellency by the Secretary General of the United Nations, whose contents you were kind enough to communicate to us through Bernard Aronson, Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs.

In this regard, I wish to express to you once again the gratitude of the people and the Government of El Salvador for the continued support we have received from you in our efforts to find the political solution that will make it possible to put an end to what for us has been a bloody and destructive conflict. We recognize and appreciate that the Government of the United States has resisted calls to meet with the FMLN, so as to do nothing that could impair the legitimacy of the Government of El Salvador, or that could provide the FMLN with material to use in its attempts to justify its claimed status as a belligerent force.

As you know, the above-mentioned talks have reached a crucial stage and soon far-reaching decisions will have to be made. For our part, we are prepared to comply with and carry out the agreements reached in good faith and with full responsibility, as we have always done. Furthermore, these agreements will be verified by the United Nations. We believe, however, that at some point in the process, your explicit support for the above-mentioned agreements could be a valuable factor in convincing the FMLN to put an end to the various excuses it has been using to delay their signing.

Consequently, I hereby wish to extend to you an invitation to send your representative, at the appropriate time, when conditions are favorable, to a confidential meeting with the FMLN, the United Nations, and the Government of El Salvador, wherein he might clearly state the policy of your government to continue backing the process of democratization taking place in our country and, in particular, to support and guarantee the implementation of those agreements resulting from negotiation with the FMLN that would entail, for the FMLN, cessation of its violent activities and its possible demobilization, and, for the Government of El Salvador, the building and development of a more humane democracy, in which all Salvadorans will have the opportunity to advance and to live in peace and freedom.

The firm policy of your government has contributed to the efforts we are making to negotiate a fair and realistic agreement that will put an end to the conflict, while preserving the constitutional rights of the Salvadoran people, especially the right to elect their leaders freely.

In closing, our government will remain attentive to the progress of the current round of talks, and should it become possible and advisable, will invite you to send a representative to Mexico City. I hope that Your Excellency will give full consideration to our proposal.

Sincerely,

SUBJECT: REPS. ABERCROMBIE AND COX'S VISIT TO MEXICO CITY

1. [redacted] - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. THIS IS AN ACTION MESSAGE. SEE PARAGRAPH 6.

3. AS MENTIONED IN SEPTEL, REPS. NEIL ABERCROMBIE AND JOHN COX PLAN TO MEET WITH PRESS, THE UN NEGOTIATOR DE SOTO, AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE U.S.-EL SALVADOR INSTITUTE FOR DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENT, AMONG OTHERS, DURING THEIR TRIP TO MEXICO CITY THIS WEEKEND.

4. THERE IS ALSO THE POSSIBILITY THAT THEY INTEND TO MEET WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GOES AND/OR FMLN. THIS COULD HAVE A POTENTIALLY SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE PEACE TALKS, AND WOULD CONTRAVENE COMMITMENTS NOT TO INFLUENCE THE NEGOTIATIONS MADE BY THE CHAIRMEN OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE'S WESTERN HEMISPHERE AFFAIRS SUBCOMMITTEES, AS WELL AS THE CHAIRMEN OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE'S FOREIGN OPERATIONS SUBCOMMITTEES.

5. ANY STATEMENTS BY THE CONGRESSMEN OR THEIR STAFFS ON THE PROSPECTS FOR U.S. MILITARY AID TO EL SALVADOR IN FISCAL YEAR 1992 EITHER TO THOSE INVOLVED IN THE NEGOTIATIONS, OR IN THE MEDIA, WOULD INTERJECT THE CONGRESS INTO THESE SENSITIVE TALKS. FOR THIS REASON, CHAIRMAN ROBERT TORRICELLI AGREED TO DELAY THE MARKUP OF THE EL SALVADOR SECTION OF HIS SUBCOMMITTEE'S FY-92 FOREIGN ASSISTANCE AUTHORIZATION BILL THIS WEEK.

6. THE AMBASSADOR IS INSTRUCTED TO INFORM THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE AGREEMENTS REACHED WITH THE CHAIRMEN CITED IN PARAGRAPHS 2 AND 3, AND TO STRONGLY URGE THEM NOT TO MEET WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FMLN OR GOES, OR MAKE PUBLIC STATEMENTS INCONSISTENT WITH THE COMMITMENTS MADE BY THE CHAIRMEN.

7. THE OFFICE OF THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE HAS BEEN INFORMED OF OUR CONCERNS. KIMMITT

REF: (A) SAN SALVADOR 4796 (B) SAN SALVADOR 4714

1. [redacted] SUMMARY: THE GOES FOREIGN MINISTRY CALLED TOGETHER REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FOREIGN MISSIONS TO PROVIDE DETAILS CONCERNING THE APRIL 11 DEATH OF COMMANDER ANTONIO CARDENAL (AKA JESUS ROJAS). RATHER THAN ELABORATE FURTHER ON ROJAS' DEATH, THE APRIL 11 SESSION TURNED INTO A PRESENTATION TO THE DIPLOMATIC COMMUNITY OF PORTIONS OF A NOTEBOOK FOUND ON ROJAS' BODY. THE EXCERPTS PRESENTED CALL FOR CONTINUING THE REVOLUTIONARY STRUGGLE USING ALL AVAILABLE POLITICAL AND MILITARY MEANS WHILE USING GOES/FMLN NEGOTIATIONS TO ADVANCE THE REVOLUTION. THE FOREIGN MINISTRY PRESENTATION WAS CONDUCTED BY LT. COLONEL VICTOR E. CARTAGENA, ESAF DEPUTY INTELLIGENCE OFFICER (C11). THE PRESENTATION CONCENTRATED ON PRESENTING THE FACTS AS UNDERSTOOD BY THE ESAF AND, FOR THE MOST PART, AVOIDED SUBJECTIVE ANALYSIS. ESAF CONCLUSIONS WERE PRESENTED SEPARATELY AND LABELED AS SUCH. AUDIENCE REACTION WAS INCONCLUSIVE DURING THE PRESENTATION, BUT LATER COMMENTS INDICATE IT WAS NOT WELL RECEIVED. THE DOCUMENT APPEARS TO BE AUTHENTIC. END SUMMARY

FOREIGN MINISTRY PRESENTATION

2. (U) VICE-FOREIGN MINISTER RICARDO VALDIVIESO CHAIRED AN APRIL 18 SESSION CALLED BY THE FOREIGN MINISTRY TO EXPLAIN TO THE DIPLOMATIC COMMUNITY DETAILS CONCERNING FMLN COMMANDER JESUS ROJAS' DEATH. RATHER THAN REHASHING OR JUSTIFYING ESAF ACTIONS, HOWEVER, COPIES OF PORTIONS OF A NOTEBOOK, TOGETHER WITH A TYPED LEGIBLE ATTACHMENT, WERE GIVEN TO SESSION PARTICIPANTS. NOTEBOOK PASSAGES ARE DATED MARCH 18, 1991, AND ACCORDING TO GOES/ESAF BRIEFERS, WERE FOUND

ON ROJAS' BODY AFTER HE WAS KILLED IN COMBAT ON APRIL 11.

3. (U) VICE-FORMIN VALDIVIESO OPENED THE MEETING WITH BRIEF INTRODUCTORY REMARKS. ESAF DEPUTY C-11, COLONEL VICTOR E. CARTAGENA THEN TOOK OVER AND CONDUCTED THE SESSION. HE INTRODUCED ROJAS AS A PROMINENT FMLN COMMANDER, ONE WHO WAS DIRECTLY INVOLVED IN GOES/FMLN NEGOTIATIONS. AS PROOF OF THE LATTER, CARTAGENA CITED ROJAS' PRESENCE AS ADVISOR TO THE FMLN TEAM DURING SESSIONS HELD IN COSTA RICA.

4. (U) USING A PROJECTOR AND SCREEN IN SUPPORT OF HIS PRESENTATION, CARTAGENA SHOWED SEVERAL PAGES OF THE CAPTURED DOCUMENT TO ILLUSTRATE WHAT HE CONSIDERS TO BE ITS MOST DAMNING DECLARATIONS. AMONG THOSE WERE A CALL TO CONTINUE THE FMLN MILITARY OFFENSIVE THROUGH 1991 USING THE MASSES ("LAS MASAS"), TOGETHER WITH TACTICS SUCH AS NEGOTIATION, ELECTIONS, AND STRATEGIC MILITARY FORCE. ACCORDING TO THE DOCUMENT, NEGOTIATION IS TO BE USED SOLELY AS A MEANS OF CONSOLIDATING THE REVOLUTION AND STRENGTHENING ITS POLITICAL-MILITARY GOALS.

5. (U) CONTINUING HIS PRESENTATION, CARTAGENA POINTED TO FMLN CALLS FOR A CEASE-FIRE. CITING THE DOCUMENT, CARTAGENA SAID THAT IT CALLS FOR CONTINUING PRESSURE FOR A CEASE-FIRE, BUT ONLY TO SECURE THE POSITION OF THE FMLN AND TO GAIN TERRITORY. ALL MEANS ARE TO BE USED TO ACHIEVE THESE ENDS, INCLUDING POLITICAL

PREPARATION AND DEVELOPMENT OF STRONG TIES WITH THE MASSES IN ORDER THAT POLITICAL OBJECTIVES BE GAINED.

6. (U) THROUGHOUT CARTAGENA'S PRESENTATION, AND CITING RELEVANT PASSAGES, HE EMPHASIZED THAT THE FMLN HAS NOT LET GO OF MILITARY ACTION. THIS, AND NOT NEGOTIATION, CONTINUES TO BE THE WAY IN WHICH THE FMLN WILL ADVANCE ITS GOALS. THE FMLN MEANS TO CONTINUE FIGHTING, CARTAGENA SAID, INDOCTRINATING THE MASSES TO HELP IT IN ITS STRUGGLE.

ESAF CONCLUSIONS

7. (U) CARTAGENA SUMMED UP HIS PRESENTATION BY OFFERING SEVERAL GENERAL CONCLUSIONS TO BE DRAWN FROM THE ROJAS DOCUMENT. THOSE ARE:

- FOR THE FMLN, DIALOGUE IS A POLITICAL-MILITARY MANEUVER THAT SEEKS TO ADVANCE A REVOLUTION ALONG MARXIST-LENINIST LINES,

- WITHIN A STRATEGY OF WAR, DIALOGUE IS AN AUXILIARY ELEMENT BUT FUNDAMENTAL TO ADVANCE THE STRATEGY,

- UP UNTIL NOW, THE FMLN HAS PRETENDED TO BE REACHING NEGOTIATED AGREEMENTS BUT ONLY ON ISSUES THAT DO NOT DIRECTLY INTERFERE WITH THEIR ARMED STRUGGLE,

- THE FMLN HAS ITS OWN AGENDA IN THE NEGOTIATIONS, AND THAT IS TO DESTABILIZE THE GOVERNMENT AND THE ARMED FORCES, AND

- THE FMLN IS PLANNING TO USE A CEASE-FIRE TO REINFORCE ITS POLITICAL-MILITARY OBJECTIVES.

AUDIENCE REACTION

8. [redacted] ALTHOUGH AUDIENCE REACTION WAS CONFINED TO TWO QUESTIONS, ONE OF WHICH REQUESTED A COPY OF THE DOCUMENT ALREADY GIVEN TO PARTICIPANTS, IT APPEARS THE DIPLOMATIC COMMUNITY DID NOT VIEW THE PRESENTATION FAVORABLY. AT AN UNRELATED RECEPTION ATTENDED BY THE AMBASSADOR, SOME DIPLOMATIC ATTENDEES APPROACHED HIM WITH UNFAVORABLE COMMENTS. THE GIST OF THESE WAS THAT THE PRESENTATION WAS ILL-CONSIDERED IN LIGHT OF THE MEXICO PEACE TALKS, AND SHOULD HAVE BEEN MORE THOUGHTFUL AND OBJECTIVE.

9. [redacted] COMMENT: EMBASSY REVIEW OF THAT PORTION OF THE ROJAS DOCUMENT PROVIDED BY THE FOREIGN MINISTRY FOUND IT TO BE TRUE TO THE FOREIGN MINISTRY'S (ESAF) PRESENTATION. WHEREAS IT DOES NOT OFFER A NEW TAKE ON FMLN THINKING, IT IS NEVERTHELESS UNSETTLING TO READ CALLS FOR MILITARY ACTION AND MOBILIZATION OF THE MASSES. THE NATIONAL UNION OF SALVADORAN WORKERS (UNTS) AND THE PERMANENT COMMITTEE FOR NATIONAL DEBATE (CPDN) WERE SPECIFICALLY MENTIONED. THE CONCEPT OF A CEASE-FIRE AS ONLY A HOLDING ACTION IS EVEN MORE DISTURBING.

10. [redacted] ALTHOUGH CARTAGENA DID NOT ALLOW SESSION PARTICIPANTS TO EXAMINE THE ORIGINAL, IT LOOKED TO BE THE REAL THING; AND, TOGETHER WITH THE STAINS SHOWING ON PHOTOCOPIED PAGES, SUPPORTS THE ESAF'S CONTENTION THAT IT WAS FOUND AT LEAST AT THE SCENE OF THE APRIL 11 AMBUSH, IF NOT ON ROJAS' BODY.

11. [redacted] GIVEN THAT THIS IS A RECENT DOCUMENT THAT CONTRADICTS THE FMLN'S PUBLIC POSTURE ON NEGOTIATIONS, IT WAS OBVIOUSLY IMPORTANT TO CARTAGENA TO LINK THE DOCUMENT TO AN FMLN PARTISAN WHO WIELDS INFLUENCE AT DECISION-MAKING LEVELS. TO THIS END, CARTAGENA SAID THAT ROJAS WAS A PARTICIPANT IN GOES/FMLN NEGOTIATIONS IN COSTA RICA. (NOTE: ROJAS' NAME APPEARS ON A LIST OF FMLN PARTICIPANTS IN THE AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER 1990 GOES-FMLN MEETINGS. END NOTE). WHETHER THE ROJAS DOCUMENT INDEED REFLECTS SENIOR FMLN THINKING OR MERELY THAT OF THE FPL, THE VIEW OF FIELD COMMANDERS, OR ROJAS' PERSONAL VIEWS, IT FUELS THE CONCERNS OF THOSE IN THE ESAF (AND IN THE COUNTRY AT-LARGE) WHO QUESTION THE FMLN'S GOOD FAITH IN THE NEGOTIATIONS. END COMMENT.

12. (U) COPY OF DOCUMENT HAS BEEN POUCHED TO DEPARTMENT.

INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY:

1. IN HUMAN RIGHTS TERMS, APRIL PROVED ONE OF THE MORE TURBULENT RECENT MONTHS. IT BEGAN WITH THE STILL UNEXPLAINED MURDER OF HECTOR CABRERA, FATHER OF GUATEMALA'S AMBASSADOR TO COSTA RICA, AND ENDED WITH THE MURDER OF LEFTIST ACTIVIST DIONORA PEREZ. IN BETWEEN, THE RURAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ SUFFERED ANOTHER DEATH APPARENTLY AT THE HANDS OF A LOCAL CIVIL PATROL. LABOR ORGANIZERS REPORTED A MARKED INCREASE IN DEATH THREATS AND ONE LEADER WAS REPORTEDLY ARRESTED AND SEVERELY BEATEN BY POLICE.

2. RELATIONS BETWEEN THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND THE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE GOG SOURED AS DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN CESAR ALVAREZ DENOUNCED THE GOG'S HANDLING OF THE FINCA OLGA SANTA MARIA SQUATTERS AND ITS FAILURE TO APPREHEND A NUMBER OF KNOWN KILLERS IN THE QUICHE. THE GOG SENT MIXED SIGNALS ABOUT ITS WILLINGNESS TO [redacted]

INVESTIGATE PAST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES AND PREVENT NEW ONES. PRESIDENT SERRANO, DESPITE EARLIER PROMISES, ANNOUNCED HE WOULD NOT FORM COMMISSIONS TO INVESTIGATE SISTER DIANA ORTIZ'S ALLEGATIONS OF RAPE AND TORTURE AT THE HANDS OF POLICE NOR TO INVESTIGATE THE FATE OF GUATEMALA'S MANY DISAPPEARED PERSONS. SERRANO TASKED THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WITH LOOKING INTO BOTH MATTERS. THE APPOINTMENT OF EX-DEPUTY HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN FERNANDO HURTADO PREM TO HEAD THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT WAS WIDELY SEEN AS AN EFFORT TO IMPROVE THE GOG'S HUMAN RIGHTS IMAGE BUT DOUBTS EXIST ABOUT HURTADO'S EFFECTIVENESS.

3. THE FINAL DAYS OF APRIL SAW THE SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION OF AN HISTORIC MEETING BETWEEN DELEGATIONS REPRESENTING THE GOG AND THE URNG. DELEGATES SIGNED AN AGREEMENT OUTLINING THE GROUND RULES AND AN AGENDA FOR FUTURE MEETINGS.

POLITICAL AND EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS

4. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE ISSUED A REPORT APRIL 5 WHICH STATED THERE WERE A 177 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS IN THE FIRST QUARTER (JAN - MAR) OF 1991. THE

OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, HOWEVER, APPARENTLY BROADENED THE DEFINITION OF AN EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING TO INCLUDE DEATHS CAUSED BY ANY ORGANIZED GROUP, E.G., A DRUG GANG. THE GAM ISSUED ITS OWN REPORT WHICH CLAIMED 172 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS IN THE FIRST TWO MONTHS OF THE YEAR, A LARGE NUMBER TAKING PLACE IN THE FINAL DAYS OF

THE CEREZO ADMINISTRATION.

5. APRIL SAW THE GRISLY MURDER OF HECTOR CABRERA, FATHER OF GOG'S AMBASSADOR TO COSTA RICA. POLICE INVESTIGATING CABRERA'S MURDER HAVE NO LEADS, BUT CLAIM THEFT, NOT POLITICS, WAS THE MOTIVE BEHIND THE KILLINGS. FORMER DC CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE AND LEFTIST SOCIAL ACTIVIST DIONORA PEREZ WAS GUNNED DOWN OUTSIDE HER HOME ON APRIL 29. PEREZ HAD BEEN INVOLVED IN AN EFFORT TO INSCRIBE A NEW LEFTIST PARTY AND IN ACTIVITIES IN THE COUNTRYSIDE SUCH AS HELPING INDIGENOUS WOMEN ORGANIZE THEMSELVES POLITICALLY. HER DEATH, WHICH HAD NOT BEEN PRECEDED BY DEATH THREATS, PARALYZED EFFORTS TO REGISTER THE NEW PARTY AND LED SEVERAL CO-WORKERS TO SEEK ASYLUM ABROAD.

6. ON APRIL 27-28 IN CHUNIMA (QUICHE), 30 POLICE OFFICERS TRIED TO ARREST MANUEL PEREBAL AJTZALAM AND MANUEL XON LARES, LEADERS OF A LOCAL CIVIL PATROL (PAC) AND THE ALLEGED KILLERS OF CERJ ACTIVISTS JUAN PEREBAL SR. AND JUAN PEREBAL JR.. THE POLICE WERE FORCED TO LEAVE CHUNIMA EMPTY-HANDED WHEN THEY WERE SURROUNDED BY PERHAPS AS MANY AS 300 MEMBERS OF CIVIL PATROLS.

7. THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ HAS ALLEGED THAT ITS ACTIVIST MIGUEL TZOY CALEL WAS SHOT TO DEATH APRIL 19 OUTSIDE OF SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS (QUICHE). AMILCAR MENDEZ, CERJ'S LEADER, CLAIMED TZOY WAS KILLED BY MEMBERS OF A LOCAL CIVIL PATROL BECAUSE HE REFUSED TO JOIN THE PATROL. MENDEZ CLAIMED TZOY RECEIVED A NUMBER OF DEATH THREATS.

DISAPPEARANCES

UNCLASSIFIED

8. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE RELEASED A REPORT (SEE ABOVE) WHICH ANNOUNCED 120 PEOPLE HAD BEEN DISAPPEARED IN THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1991 (JAN - MAR). THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION GRUPO APOYO MUTUAL (GAM) ISSUED A SIMILAR REPORT APRIL 7, BUT CLAIMED 82 PEOPLE HAD BEEN KIDNAPPED DURING THE PERIOD OF JANUARY 1 - FEBRUARY 28. GAM ALLEGED 17 OF THE KIDNAPPINGS TOOK PLACE DURING THE LAST TWO WEEKS OF CEREZO'S GOVERNMENT.

9. CERJ LEADER AMILCAR MENDEZ REPORTEDLY SUFFERED A SCARE ON APRIL 15. MENDEZ CLAIMS THAT WHILE PARKED ON A MAJOR AVENUE IN GUATEMALA CITY IN HIS 1991 4WD TRUCK HE WAS SURROUNDED BY FOUR MEN, ONE OF WHOM LEANED INTO AN OPEN WINDOW AND WARNED HIM NOT TO "WORK TOO HARD. IT IS VERY HOT AND YOU MIGHT DIE OF DEHYDRATION." THE FOUR MEN, TWO ON EITHER SIDE, THEN ALLEGEDLY OPENED THE CAR'S UNLOCKED DOORS AND TRIED TO PULL MENDEZ OUT. HE RESISTED AND THE STRUGGLE DREW THE ATTENTION OF SEVERAL PEDESTRIANS WHO BEGAN SHOUTING. THE KIDNAPPERS LEAPED INTO A LARGE AMERICAN CAR WHICH SUPPOSEDLY HAD ITS TRUNK OPEN AND SPED OFF. MENDEZ IS SURE THE INCIDENT WAS A BOTCHED KIDNAPPING ATTEMPT.

USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN AN INTERNAL CONFLICT.

10. DELEGATIONS FROM THE GOG AND THE URNG MET IN MEXICO AND SIGNED A MULTI-POINT AGREEMENT LAYING OUT THE GROUND RULES FOR FUTURE TALKS BETWEEN THE TWO DELEGATIONS. THE TWO DELEGATIONS ALSO AGREED ON A SERIES OF TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED AT THE UPCOMING MEETING SCHEDULED FOR O/A MAY 26. PARTICIPANTS IN THE MEETING ARE OPTIMISTIC THAT AN OVERALL PEACE ACCORD WILL BE SIGNED BEFORE THE YEAR ENDS.

11. PRESIDENT SERRANO APPAENTLY RENEGED ON EARLIER GOG PROMISES TO FORM COMMITTEES TO INVESTIGATE VARIOUS PAST

[redacted]

HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. SERRANO HAD INITIALLY INDICATED HE WOULD HONOR CEREZO'S PROMISES TO FORM A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE SISTER DIANA ORTIZ CASE, BUT IN A LETTER DATED APRIL 11 SERRANO CLAIMED THE GOG LACKED THE FUNDS TO FORM SUCH A COMMISSION AND ASKED THE EMBASSY TO CONTACT THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE. SERRANO DID A SIMILAR REVERSAL ON A LONG-PROMISED COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE NUMEROUS CASES OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS. DESPITE PUBLICLY PROMISING GAM LEADER NINETH DE GARCIA IN FEBRUARY THAT HE WOULD FORM SUCH A COMMISSION, HE LATER TASKED THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WITH CONDUCTING THE INVESTIGATION.

12. RELATIONS BETWEEN THE OFFICE OF THE OMBUDSMAN AND THE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENCY SOURED DURING THE MONTH. THE GOG OBJECTED STRONGLY TO A REPORT FROM THE OMBUDSMAN

CHARGING POLICE AND THEN-MINISTER OF INTERIOR MENDEZ RUIZ WITH IMPROPERLY AND ILLEGALLY HANDLING THE MARCH 11-12 OCCUPATION OF AN ESTATE ON THE PACIFIC COAST. THE DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN PUBLICLY BLASTED THE PRESIDENT FOR NOT HONORING PROMISES MADE IN JANUARY TO SUPPORT THE OFFICE OF THE OMBUDSMAN.

13. MINISTER OF INTERIOR RICARDO MENDEZ RUIZ TENDERED HIS RESIGNATION IN LATE APRIL, EFFECTIVE MAY 2. MENDEZ CITED POOR HEALTH AS THE REASON FOR HIS RESIGNATION, BUT WAS ALSO APPARENTLY FRUSTRATED BY HIS INABILITY TO STEM THE RISING TIDE OF CRIME AND MOUNTING CRITICISM OF HIS PERFORMANCE. FERNANDO HURTADO PREM, A FORMER DEPUTY HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WAS NAMED MENDEZ'S REPLACEMENT. HE ANNOUNCED THAT HE HAD BEEN ORDERED BY THE PRESIDENT TO MAKE THE MINISTRY INTO A DEFENDER OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE RULE OF LAW.

WORKER RIGHTS AND WORKING CONDITIONS

16. OTTO IVAN RODRIGUEZ, FORMER SECGEN OF STINDE (LOCAL ELECTRICITY UNION) WAS ARRESTED IN EARLY APRIL BY POLICE AND APPARENTLY BEATEN SEVERELY WHILE IN CUSTODY. THE POLICE ARRESTED HIM IN CHIQUIMULA FOR ALLEGED INVOLVEMENT IN AN AUTO THEFT RING. POLICE CLAIM RODRIGUEZ PAID A CELLMATE TO INFLICT THE NUMEROUS AND PAINFUL INJURIES, WHICH INCLUDED CUTS, CIGARETTE BURNS

AND BRUISES. HE WAS RELEASED FROM JAIL ON APRIL 25.

17. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE ISSUED A REPORT DATED APRIL 18, CONDEMNING A NUMBER OF KOREAN TEXTILE FACTORIES (MAQUILA). THE REPORT CLAIMED THE MAQUILAS VIOLATE THE GUATEMALAN CONSTITUTION AND LABOR LAW. THE MOST SERIOUS VIOLATIONS INCLUDE LOW WAGES, UNSAFE WORKING CONDITIONS, CHILD EMPLOYMENT, NO SOCIAL SECURITY, AND PHYSICAL AND VERBAL ABUSE OF EMPLOYEES BY MANAGERS. THE HIGHLY CRITICAL REPORT ALSO CONDEMNED THE MINISTRY OF LABOR FOR ALLOWING SUCH CONDITIONS TO EXIST AND ASKED THE GOG TO BEGIN AN INVESTIGATION INTO THE ACTIVITIES OF THE FIRMS OPERATING IN GUATEMALA.

1. SUMMARY: HEAD OF U.S. DELEGATION TO OPANAL GENERAL CONFERENCE NORMAL WULF MET WITH MEXICAN NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR NUCLEAR RESEARCH DIRECTOR GENERAL CARLOS VELEZ OCON ON MAY 8. WULF WAS JOINED BY SCIATT ALYCE TIDBALL AND IRA GOLDMAN (ACDA/NP/INA). WULF LATER HOSTED CNSNS (NATIONAL COMMISSION FOR NUCLEAR SECURITY AND SAFEGUARDS) DIRECTOR GENERAL FOR SAFEGUARDS, JOSE LUIS DELGADO AT LUNCH. DISCUSSIONS CONCERNED STATUS OF

MEXICAN NUCLEAR POWER PROGRAM, ROLE OF NPT IN PROMOTING INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION IN PEACEFUL USE OF NUCLEAR ENERGY, AND CUBAN NUCLEAR PROGRAM. END SUMMARY.

2. VELEZ OCON NOTED THAT OPERATIONS AT THE FIRST LAGUNA VERDE REACTOR HAVE BEEN GOING VERY WELL; HOWEVER THERE REMAIN GREAT DIFFICULTIES IN TRYING TO EXPAND NUCLEAR POWER GENERATION IN MEXICO DUE TO CONTINUED PUBLIC ACCEPTANCE PROBLEMS. HE SAID THAT MEXICO WILL BE UTILIZING A U.S. SPONSORED, IAEA GRANT TO ESTABLISH A

SUB-REGIONAL TRAINING CENTER FOR RADIOLOGICAL PROTECTION. POINTING TO THE GOIARIA ACCIDENT IN BRAZIL AND TWO INCIDENTS INVOLVING IMPROPER DISPOSAL OF COBALT - 60 SOURCES IN MEXICO HE NOTED THE NEED FOR STRENGTHENING RADIOLOGICAL PROTECTION PRACTICES THROUGHOUT LATIN AMERICA. VELEZ-OCON ALSO DESCRIBED MEXICO'S FUEL FABRICATION PROGRAM FOR THE LAGUNA VERDE REACTORS, STATING THAT ININ WILL BE FABRICATING 4 ASSEMBLIES FOR THE SECOND RELOAD OF LAGUNA VERDE - 1 (ALTHOUGH THESE MAY NOT BE USED UNTIL THE THIRD RELOAD). HE SAID THAT THEY ENVISION A CAPABILITY OF PRODUCING UP TO TWENTY ASSEMBLIES PER YEAR IN THE PILOT FABRICATION PLANT, AND WHILE THEY RECOGNIZE THAT THIS IS NOT A COST-EFFECTIVE PROGRAM, ININ WANTS TO MAINTAIN A FABRICATION CAPABILITY IN THE HOPE THAT AFTER THE TURN OF THE CENTURY, A NUCLEAR POWER PROGRAM WILL RE-EMERGE IN MEXICO.

3. VELEZ-OCON STATED THAT HE HAD NOT ATTENDED THE 1990 NPT REVIEW CONFERENCE BUT WAS AWARE OF THE DIFFICULTIES THAT HAD ARISEN BETWEEN THE U.S. AND MEXICAN DELEGATIONS CONCERNING THE ISSUE OF NUCLEAR TESTING. HE STATED THAT

MEXICAN NUCLEAR OFFICIALS HAVE LITTLE INFLUENCE ON MEXICO'S POSITIONS ON THESE MATTERS, WHICH ARE PRINCIPALLY DETERMINED BY THE SECRETARIAT OF EXTERNAL RELATIONS (SRE). WULF ASKED IF HE THOUGHT ANY CHANGE WAS FORESEEABLE IN MEXICO'S STRONG POSITION LINKING NPT EXTENSION WITH ACHIEVEMENT OF A COMPREHENSIVE TEST BAN (CTB); VELEZ-OCON REPLIED THAT SINCE HE DOES NOT HAVE A GREAT DEAL OF CONTACT WITH SRE, IT IS DIFFICULT FOR HIM TO JUDGE; HOWEVER, IN FORMULATING POLICY TOWARD THE NPT THE SRE GIVES CONSIDERABLE WEIGHT TO THE ISSUE OF HALTING NUCLEAR WEAPONS TESTS AND DOES NOT CONSIDER THE IMPORTANCE OF NUCLEAR ENERGY AND ITS CONTINUED DEVELOPMENT.

4. VELEZ-OCON NOTED THAT THE HEAD OF LAGUNA VERDE (RAFAEL FERNANDEZ) RECENTLY VISITED THE CUBAN REACTORS WHICH ARE UNDER CONSTRUCTION AND SAID THAT THE CUBANS SEEM TO BE MORE OPEN TO OUTSIDE HELP FOR THEIR NUCLEAR PROGRAM. HOWEVER, IT IS CLEAR THAT THEY WILL NOT BE ABLE TO ACHIEVE THEIR PROJECTED SCHEDULE FOR THE TWO REACTORS. CUBANS WILL ATTEND A MEETING OF THE LATIN AMERICAN SECTION OF THE AMERICAN NUCLEAR SOCIETY IN JUNE

IN RIO AND WILL PRESENT SOME PAPERS. VELEZ-OCON STATED THAT HE HAS TWICE VISITED CUBA AND FOUND THEM TO HAVE A NUMBER OF PEOPLE WITH SOVIET NUCLEAR TRAINING, BUT THAT IT TAKES MORE THAN A FEW WELL TRAINED INDIVIDUALS TO EFFICIENTLY OPERATE A NUCLEAR PROGRAM.

TALKING POINTS

-- I would like to congratulate you on the historic meeting which took place in Mexico in April between representatives of your government and the insurgents. Thanks to your efforts, Guatemala now has a chance for peace.

-- We stand ready to help you establish this peace as well as strengthen civilian democratic institutions, reinvigorate your economy and combat the peril of narcotics.

-- On these issues you can count on Ambassador Tom Stroock who is an old friend of mine and has my full support as my personal representative in Guatemala.

-- (IF ASKED TO NAME A SPECIAL ENVOY TO GUATEMALA) I have full faith and confidence in the work of Ambassador Stroock, who is a trusted advisor of mine, and do not feel a special envoy is warranted.

-- As you know, we have $50 million in ESF which we will use to support an economic adjustment program developed with the IMF. We are awaiting your government's movement towards an agreement with the IMF (a letter of intent to reach agreement would be satisfactory) before moving to disburse these funds.

-- In addition to our ESF, we are also providing $28 million in Development Assistance and $26 million in food assistance.

-- Your government has already taken numerous positive steps on human rights. We fully recognize that the changes will take time and that the rule of law cannot take place overnight. But I hope we can work closely together in this important area.

-- I would like to thank you for your personal intervention to move the case of the murder of Michael Devine forward. I hope that those who perpetrated this crime will soon be brought to justice.

-- As you know, the Administration lobbied hard to reduce the conditioning language for assistance to Guatemala proposed in the House.

-- It is clear that Congress, while recognizing the steps your government has taken so far on human rights, is going to want to see action. This is the legacy of their disappointment with your predecessor, President Cerezo.

-- I appreciate your government's assistance in the recent interdiction of a 400 kilogram shipment of cocaine.

-- Our two governments will have to continue to work closely together to combat the scourge of narcotics.

BACKGROUND

RELEASED

- Our policy objectives in Guatemala remain unchanged: to strengthen democratic institutions, promote human rights, encourage a peaceful settlement to the guerrilla conflict, promote broad based economic growth and combat the production and trafficking of drugs.

- Our approach to these issues has changed somewhat in light of Serrano's personality and management style. We are adopting a lower profile.

- Internally, Serrano is having problems. His small party is having trouble forming a coalition in Congress. Two Ministers have resigned and the Foreign Minister may be next.

- Serrano is looking for a way to face hard human rights and economic issues by going around Ambassador Stroock and indicating that he believes he is not being accorded sufficient support by the United States.

- Early in his administration Serrano was convinced, despite repeated assurances to the contrary, that we had supported his rival, Jorge Carpio of the Union of the National Center.

- Serrano has been looking for early disbursement of our $50 million in ESF as a signal of support.

- We are willing to respond but not until a solid economic program is established including discussions with the IMF on a standby. The GOG does not yet have an economic program.

- Serrano has taken a number of important first steps on human rights. He replaced all senior army commanders, replaced all military prosecutors, pressed for passage of a new penal code, declared support for the Human Rights Ombudsman, put in a civilian as the Minister of Interior, and has prosecuted police involved in the abuse of street children.

- Serrano has also pledged to investigate the June 1990 murder of American Citizen Michael Devine by army personnel. The Government is now a plaintiff in the case. 10 men are in jail and one officer has been questioned.

- Despite these steps, Congress has little patience with Guatemala, having heard all the right words before from Cerezo with no follow-up action.

- After some effort, we managed to get the House Foreign Affairs Committee to soften very restrictive conditioning language for FY92 assistance to Guatemala. As the authorizing language now stands, all military assistance will go to support a cease fire between the GOG and guerrillas. The House did not condition economic assistance.

- Guatemala has a good chance to achieve peace after 30 years of internal conflict. In a historic meeting on April 25-26, representatives of the Guatemalan Government (including the army) and the guerrillas met face-to-face in Mexico and agreed on an agenda for future talks. The next meeting is set for mid-June in Mexico. We strongly support the negotiations.

- Guatemala is rapidly becoming an important producer of opium and marijuana and a transit point for cocaine.

- Cooperation with the GOG on drug issues has been excellent. Within a week of the initiation of a joint DEA/Guatemalan counternarcotics operation (Operation Cadence), 400 kilos of cocaine were captured.

- The GOG has nominated a young businessman to be the new Ambassador to the United States, Juan Jose CASO Fanjul. Agrement is being processed. We do not foresee any problems with his appointment at this time.

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: ACCUSED COLONEL PORTILLO SENDS EMISSARY TO EMBASSY SEEKING SECRET INTERVIEW TO TELL "THE REAL TRUTH" ABOUT PERPETRATORS OF DEVINE'S MURDER AND RELOCATION ASSISTANCE TO SAVE HIS OWN SKIN. WE REFERRED THE EMISSARY TO MRS. DEVINE'S ATTORNEY. MEANWHILE, THE POPTUN "RANGER" TRAINING BASE COMMANDER REPORTEDLY OFFERED TO MAKE A SWORN DECLARATION THAT HE PROVIDED TWO NIGHTS LODGING TO THE DEATH SQUAD. FACE-TO-FACE INTERVIEWS BETWEEN ACCUSERS AND ACCUSED CONTINUE, REVEALING SOME NEW INFORMATION BUT NO CONFESSIONS. POLYGRAPH AUTHORIZATION WITHDRAWN. DETAINEE ACCUSERS WELL-TREATED BUT SCARED. END SUMMARY.

3. ON MAY 29, ACTIVE DUTY MILITARY [redacted] B6
[redacted] MONROY (PROTECT) VISITED THE CG ON BEHALF OF COL. PORTILLO GOMEZ. PORTILLO, AT THE TIME OF DEVINE'S MURDER, WAS THE SECOND-IN-COMMAND OF THE PETEN MILITARY ZONE. IN THE SWORN STATEMENT OF PABLO LAJUB, ONE OF THE 5 MILITARY SPECIALISTS DETAINED LAST OCTOBER, LAJUB SAID COL. PORTILLO WAS TEMPORARILY IN COMMAND OF THE MILITARY ZONE DURING THE WEEK OF DEVINE'S MURDER (ZONE COMMANDER COL. GARCIA CATALAN ALLEGEDLY WAS OUT OF THE ZONE THEN) AND ACCUSED PORTILLO OF BEING THE PERSON WHO GAVE THE ORDERS TO CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS TO ARRANGE DEVINE'S KIDNAPPING AND MURDER. WHILE PORTILLO GOMEZ' NAME WAS NOT MENTIONED IN THE SWORN STATEMENTS OF ANY OF THE OTHER FOUR DETAINEES, TWO OF THEM SAID THE SAME THING ORALLY TO PRIVATE INVESTIGATOR CARL WEST IN A RECENT PRISON VISIT. PORTILLO HAS NOT YET BEEN QUESTIONED BY THE MILITARY COURT AS HE WAS CLAIMED IMMUNITY UNDER MILITARY LAW. A CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION SUBMITTED TO THE SUPREME COURT BUT NOT YET DECIDED (DECISION EXPECTED NEXT WEEK).

4. [redacted] INFORMED THE CG THAT HE IS A LONG-TERM B6
FRIEND OF PORTILLO AND CAN CONFIRM THAT PORTILLO WAS IN GUATEMALA CITY DURING THE WEEK OF DEVINE'S MURDER. [redacted] SAID THAT PORTILLO IS BEING ASKED TO TAKE THE RAP FOR THE KILLING AND HAS BEEN OFFERED MONEY TO DO SO, WITH A PROMISE THAT SHORTLY AFTER HIS CONVICTION, WHEN THE USG'S EYES WANDER ELSEWHERE, HE WILL BE RELEASED.

5. ACCORDING TO [redacted] PORTILLO DOES NOT INTEND TO B6
TAKE THE BUM RAP. HE STATES HE IS INNOCENT, THAT COL. GARCIA CATALAN WAS IN CHARGE OF THE ZONE AT THE TIME, PASSED ON THE ORDERS AND IS BEING PROTECTED BY OTHERS, INCLUDING THE CURRENT MINISTER OF DEFENSE. PORTILLO SEEKS A SECRET INTERVIEW WITH AN EMBASSY OFFICIAL IN HIS NEW ZONE OF COMMAND (SANTA ROSA), WHERE HE IS BEING HELD VIRTUAL PRISONER WITH HIS MOVEMENTS CAREFULLY WATCHED. HE WISHES TO PROVIDE FULL INFORMATION ABOUT WHAT HE KNOWS, INCLUDING EVEN AN OPEN DECLARATION ON TELEVISION, BUT WILL THEN NEED IMMEDIATE SAFETY OUTSIDE OF GUATEMALA FOR HIMSELF, HIS SECOND WIFE AND TWO YOUNG CHILDREN. HE IS GREATLY IN FEAR NOW.

6. THE CG TOLD [redacted] THAT EMBASSY COULD NOT BE THE B6
REPOSITORY OF PORTILLO'S DECLARATION, AS WE DO NOT PLAY A ROLE IN THE LEGAL PROCEDURES UNDERWAY. IF HE IS SINCERE IN HIS BETTER-LATE-THAN-NEVER DETERMINATION TO TELL ALL, HE WILL HAVE TO RISK TELLING IT TO A GUATEMALAN OFFICIAL WHO CAN MAKE IT PART OF THE JUDICIAL PROCEDURE, I.E. A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE PUBLIC MINISTRY OR THE JUDGE ADVOCATE CARRYING FORTH THE CASE. THE CG SUGGESTED GODOY DIRECTLY CONTACT MRS. DEVINE'S ATTORNEY, ENRIQUE GONZALEZ, WITH AN EYE TO ARRANGING A MEETING BETWEEN GONZALEZ AND PORTILLO TO DETERMINE HOW MUCH PORTILLO KNOWS, WHAT EVIDENCE (IF ANY) HE HAS AND WILL SHARE, AND REACH AGREEMENT WITH PORTILLO ON HOW TO PROCEED.

[redacted] B5

8. IN THE MEANTIME, THE MILITARY COURT IS PROCEEDING WITH THE "CAREOS" (PARA 6 REF C). CONTRARY TO OUR ORIGINAL UNDERSTANDING, THESE ARE PERFORMED ONE-ON-ONE, AND THUS THERE ARE SOME 30 SEPARATE INTERVIEWS, 5 DETAINED SINCE OCTOBER VS. 6 NEWLY DETAINED. (COMMENT: IN REF C WE REPORTED ONLY FIVE NEWLY DETAINED -- THIS NUMBER GREW TO SIX WHEN THE COURT DETAINED AN ACTIVE DUTY 18-YEAR-OLD ENLISTEE WHO HAS THE MISFORTUNE TO BEAR THE SAME NAME AS ONE OF THE TWO ACCUSED OF THE CRIME WHO WAS SUBSEQUENTLY DISCHARGED FROM THE ARMY. WE ARE INFORMED THAT THIS YOUNGSTER HAS NEVER BEEN ASSIGNED TO THE PETEN, AND HIS CONTINUED DETENTION AND BEING PUT THROUGH THE "CAREO" PROCESS IS A FARCE. IN THE MEANTIME, WE SEE NO INDICATION THAT THE TWO DISCHARGED PERSONS WHO ACTUALLY ARE ACCUSED OF THE CRIME ARE BEING SOUGHT FOR ARREST. END COMMENT.) THE "CAREO" INTERVIEWS ARE EXPECTED TO BE COMPLETED THIS WEEK, AND THE COURT WILL THEN UNDERTAKE THE LINE-UP FOR WITNESSES TO TRY TO IDENTIFY THE CULPRITS.

9. TO DATE THE "CAREOS" HAVE NOT PRODUCED ANY RESOLUTIONS OF THE CONTRADICTIONS -- THE OLD FIVE ACCUSING THE NEW DETAINEES, THE NEW DETAINEES SAYING THEY KNOW NOTHING AND WERE NOT THERE -- NOR ANY CONFESSIONS. THEY HAVE, HOWEVER, RESULTED IN AN EXPANSION OF DETAILS NOW FORMALLY PART OF THE JUDICIAL RECORD, INCLUDING STATEMENTS BY SOME OF THE "OLD FIVE" THAT CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS, "HUGO EL MALDITO," CALLED TOGETHER ALL THE S-2 MEMBERS SHORTLY AFTER THE CRIME TO THREATEN ALL ALIKE WITH REPRISALS IF ANYONE REVEALED KNOWLEDGE OF THE MURDER. IT IS

ALSO BECOMING INCREASINGLY EVIDENT THAT RAFAEL TIUL CUCUL, ONE OF THE "OLD FIVE," HAS SUCH DETAILED KNOWLEDGE OF THE CRIME THAT HE WAS PART OF THE DEATH SQUAD, IF NOT ONE OF THE ACTUAL MURDERERS. THE GOOD NEWS IS THAT SO FAR, THE "OLD FIVE" ARE STICKING TO THEIR STORIES, IN SPITE OF NOT HAVING MUCH LEGAL SUPPORT FROM THEIR RETAINED ATTORNEY (WHO IS AFRAID TO VISIT THEM IN PRISON AND ADVISE THEM).

10. ON MAY 31, MILITARY COURT PROSECUTOR PANTALEON INFORMED ATTORNEY GONZALEZ THAT COL. JULIO ROBERTO ALPIREZ, FORMER COMMANDER OF THE POPTUN "RANGERS" TRAINING BASE, WISHES TO MAKE A SWORN DECLARATION CONFIRMING THAT HE PROVIDED LODGING AND FOOD TO THE 7-MEMBER DEATH SQUAD THE NIGHTS OF JUNE 6 AND 7. IF HE DOES, IT WILL BE A TREMENDOUS BREAKTHROUGH AND IN ONE FELL SWOOP DESTROY THE ALIBIS OFFERED BY THE FIVE RECENTLY-DETAINED SPECIALISTS.

11. AS FOR THE POLYGRAPH EXAM ON THE NEWLY DETAINED, AT PRESENT THERE IS A STANDOFF. ALTHOUGH GENERAL GUILLERMO RODRIGUEZ MENENDEZ, PRESIDENT OF THE MILITARY COURT, INITIALLY RESPONDED FAVORABLY TO ATTORNEY GONZALEZ' REQUEST THAT AN FBI POLYGRAPH EXPERT BE PERMITTED TO EXAMINE AT LEAST FIVE "NEW FIVE" AS AN EXTRA-JUDICIAL INVESTIGATIVE AID (AS OPPOSED TO FORMAL EVIDENTIARY PROOF), WHEN THE EMBASSY CONTACTED HIM TO MAKE THE ARRANGEMENTS HE WITHDREW THE APPROVAL, INDICATING THAT ONLY THE ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF COULD AUTHORIZE THE TESTS. ON MAY 22 THE CHIEF OF STAFF, GEN. RAUL MOLINA_BEDOYA, INFORMED US THAT SUCH PERMISSION WAS SOLELY WITHIN THE POWER OF THE MILITARY COURT.

B5

12. ON MAY 29, HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE REPRESENTATIVE DR. LEONEL GOMEZ, CALLED ON CONGEN TO EXPRESS CONCERN ABOUT LACK OF LEGAL SUPPORT AND ADVICE FOR THE "OLD FIVE." HE ALSO MENTIONED THAT HIS OFFICE IS HAVING INCREASINGLY DIFFICULTIES IN

GETTING ACCESS TO THE PRISONERS, BEING SUBJECTED NOW TO 2-HOUR DELAYS IN ADMISSION TO THE PRISON AND NOT BEING ALLOWED PRIVACY WITH THEM. HOWEVER, HE REPORTS THAT ALTHOUGH THE PRISONERS FEEL UNDER PSYCHOLOGICAL PRESSURE TO CHANGE THEIR STATEMENTS, THEY ARE BEING WELL-TREATED AND FED, AND CONTINUE TO RECEIVE THEIR PAY. THIS IS CONFIRMED BY THEIR WIVES, WHO ALSO VISIT THE CG OCCASIONALLY SEEKING REASSURANCE THAT WE WILL HELP THEIR HUSBANDS UPON RELEASE.

3. IN ORDER TO CONSIDER THE EXPORT OF THIS EQUIPMENT THREE CRITERIA MUST BE MET TO SATISFY THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE U.S. ATOMIC ENERGY ACT (AEA) AS AMENDED, FOR EXPORTS OF NUCLEAR COMPONENTS, SUBSTANCES AND ITEMS.

THE CRITERIAL ARE: 1) INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC ENERGY AGENCY (IAEA) SAFEGUARDS WILL BE APPLIED WITH RESPECT TO SUCH COMPONENTS, SUBSTANCES AND ITEMS; 2) NO SUCH COMPONENTS, SUBSTANCES OR ITEMS WILL BE USED FOR ANY NUCLEAR EXPLOSIVE DEVICE OR FOR RESEARCH ON OR DEVELOPMENT OF ANY NUCLEAR EXPLOSIVE DEVICE; AND 3) NO SUCH COMPONENTS, SUBSTANCES OR ITEMS WILL BE RETRANSFERRED WITHOUT THE PRIOR APPROVAL OF THE UNITED STATES.

4. AS A NON-NUCLEAR WEAPON STATE PARTY TO THE TREATY ON THE NON-FROLIFERATION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS (NPT), MEXICO MEETS THE FIRST TWO CRITERIA LISTED ABOVE. THE THIRD CRITERION REGARDING RETRANSFER, HOWEVER, IS NOT COVERED BY ANY EXISTING INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATION AND THEREFORE WRITTEN ASSURANCES ARE REQUESTED FROM THE GOM TO SATISFY THIS CRITERION.

6. DEPARTMENT IS WELL AWARE OF SENSITIVITY OF GOM TO SUCH REQUESTS AND DIFFICULTIES EMBASSY HAS ENCOUNTERED IN PURSUING THEM IN THE PAST. HOWEVER, IN THE PAST FIVE YEARS THE GOM HAS PROVIDED NO RETRANSFER ASSURANCES TO THE USG VIA THE IAEA FOR IAEA-SPONSORED PROJECTS AND ININ HAS PROVIDED NO RETRANSFER ASSURANCES BY LETTER TO THE MFA WITH CC TO THE DEPARTMENT. SUCH ASSURANCES HAVE BEEN FOUND ACCEPTABLE FOR PREVIOUS EXPORTS OF PARTS AND COMPONENTS FOR THE SALAZAR RESEARCH REACTOR AT ININ. AN ININ LETTER VIA THE MFA TO THE USG PROVIDING THE REQUESTED ASSURANCES WOULD SATISFY USG REQUIREMENTS FOR THE CURRENT CASE.

THE URNG SUFFERED A SETBACK IN THE FIELD WHEN 2 GUERRILLAS AND 68 OF THEIR SUPPORTERS SURRENDERED TO THE ARMY IN CHIMALTENANGO. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE RELEASED A REPORT CRITICIZING THE GUERRILLAS FOR THE FEBRUARY 16 KILLING OF 10 CIVIL PATROLLERS NEAR PLAYA GRANDE (QUICHE). THE URNG, WHILE ADMITTING THEY KILLED THE 10, CLAIMED THE DEATHS WERE JUSTIFIED SINCE THE PATROLLERS WERE ARMED. THE MONTH CLOSED ON AN UPBEAT NOTE AS GUATEMALA'S JEWISH COMMUNITY PRESENTED PRES. SERRANO AN AWARD RECOGNIZING HIS EFFORTS TO SUPPORT ISRAEL DURING THE GULF WAR AND HIS EFFORTS ON BEHALF OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN GUATEMALA. END SUMMARY.

THE POLICE WERE EQUALLY UNSUCCESSFUL IN SOLVING THE MURDER OF FORMER GUATEMALAN DEFENSE ATTACHE TO WASHINGTON, GEN. ANACLETO MAZA, KILLED BY TWO MEN ON MAY 2. THE POLICE, AGAIN, CLAIMED MAZA WAS THE VICTIM OF CAR THIEVES AND

10. THE NEW GUATEMALAN REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT (NMRG), A NEW ANTI-GOG ORGANIZATION OPPOSED TO THE ONGOING PEACE PROCESS, SURFACED IN MAY. THE NMRG, ALLEGEDLY BASED IN THE SAN MARCOS DEPT., CLAIMS TO HAVE CLASHED AND INFLICTED CASUALTIES ON THE ARMY. THE NMRG VOWED TO ASSASSINATE PRES. SERRANO, THE ENTIRE CONGRESS, AND FIVE OTHER FORMER HEADS OF STATE, INCLUDING RIOS MONT. THE NMRG ALSO VOWED TO KILL CORRUPT BUSINESSMEN, JOURNALISTS, AND LAND OWNERS. MOST POLITICAL OBSERVERS CONCLUDED THAT THE NMRG DOES NOT REALLY EXIST AND THAT IT IS A CREATION OF RIGHT-WING EXTREMISTS.

11. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE RELEASED, ON MAY 20, THEIR REPORT ON THE FEB. 16 SLAYING OF 10 CIVIL PATROLLERS NEAR THE TOWN OF PLAYA GRANDE (QUICHE). ACCORDING TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S REPORT EYEWITNESSES CLAIM THAT AFTER THE INITIAL CONTACT THE GUERRILLAS EMERGED FROM THEIR POSITIONS AND KILLED THE WOUNDED CIVIL PATROLLERS WHO WERE UNABLE TO RETREAT BACK TO TOWN. THE OMBUDSMAN'S REPORT PLACES THE BLAME FOR THE DEATHS ON THE URNG AND CALLS ON THE URNG TO DEMONSTRATE ITS COMMITMENT TO THE PEACE PROCESS BY ABSTAINING FROM FUTURE ACTIONS SIMILAR TO THE PLAYA GRANDE MASSACRE. THE MEXICO-BASED URNG

THE COMMISSION, SET UP AFTER SERRANO RENEGED ON AN EARLIER PROMISE TO FORM A GOG COMMISSION ON THE DISAPPEARED, IS LED BY HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON AND INCLUDES MEMBERS OF HIS STAFF, AND THE UN ADVISOR TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE. ADVISORY STATUS HAS BEEN GIVEN TO REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE STUDENT UNION (AEU), LABOR UNIONS, HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE ON HUMAN RIGHTS. NINETH DE GARCIA, LEADER OF GAM, UPSET SHE WAS NOT NAMED TO LEAD THE COMMISSION, ALTHOUGH SHE AND GAM DO HAVE A MINOR ROLE IN IT, CRITICIZED THE COMMISSION AND AS THE MONTH ENDED WAS SEEKING TO HAVE THE COMMISSION TAKEN AWAY FROM THE OMBUDSMAN AND RUN BY THE CONGRESS.

13. EMBOFFS ACCOMPANIED DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN ALVAREZ GUADAMUZ ON SEARCH FOR THE BODIES OF THE VICTIMS OF PAST POLITICAL VIOLENCE IN THE QUICHE. THE SEARCH RECOVERED THE REMAINS OF TWO VICTIMS. DESPITE HAVING AN ARREST WARRANT FOR THE LEADER OF THE LOCAL CIVIL PATROL, WHO IS ALLEGED TO HAVE ORDERED THE KILLINGS, A JUDGE AND TWO NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS DECLINED TO EXECUTE IT, FEARING THEY WOULD SET OFF A CONFLICT WITH THE LOCAL CIVIL [redacted]

PATROL. ALVAREZ CONTINUED HIS VOCAL CRITICISM OF THE GOG'S FAILURE TO PROSECUTE THOSE ACCUSED OF THESE AND MANY OTHER KILLINGS.

14. FERNANDO HURTADO PREM, A FORMER DEPUTY HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, TOOK OVER THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR FROM AILING AND RETIRED ARMY COLONEL MENDEZ RUIZ ON MAY 2. AS ONE OF HIS FIRST ACTIONS HURTADO ORDERED THE SUSPENSION OF TWO POLICE CHIEFS INVOLVED IN THE MARCH 11

(N.B. THE ACCORD, WHICH COMES ON THE EVE OF THE GOVERNOR'S ANNUAL STATE ADDRESS, REPRESENTS A COMPROMISE BETWEEN PRI AND OPPOSITION POSITIONS AND FOLLOWS SEVERAL FAILED ATTEMPTS AT STATE ELECTORAL LAW REVISION.) (WJM)

-- VOTER APATHY CITED IN NL CREDENTIAL DISTRIBUTION LAG:

A FEDERAL ELECTORAL REGISTRY SPOKESMAN ATTRIBUTED MUCH OF THE DELAY IN VOTER CREDENTIAL DISTRIBUTION IN NUEVO LEON TO VOTER DISINTEREST, BUT PLEDGED THAT OFFICIALS WILL REDOUBLE THEIR EFFORTS TO ISSUE ALL THE CARDS BY THE JUNE 30 DEADLINE (EL NORTE). ELECTORAL REGISTRY OFFICIALS INDICTATED THAT JUST ONE THIRD OF THE 1.5 MILLION POTENTIAL CREDENTIALS HAVE BEEN ISSUED SO FAR, BUT EXPLAINED THAT REQUIRING THE VOTER TO PICK UP THE CARD IN PERSON HAS DETERRED MANY FROM PARTICIPATING, INCLUDING WORKING PEOPLE WHO HOLD SEVERAL JOBS AND CANNOT AFFORD THE TIME. 1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: DCM AND CG BREAKFASTED WITH PRESIDENTIAL ADVISER COL. ORTEGA TO DISCUSS DEVINE CASE. ORTEGA APPRECIATIVE OF EMBOFFS' HIGHLIGHTING SOME OF OUR CONCERNS (INCLUDING RECENT COMMENTS BY SOME ARMY OFFICERS THAT USG'S PUSHING THE CASE IS IN ORDER TO ACHIEVE REDUCTION IN ARMY'S SIZE, PRESSURES PERCEIVED BY PRIVATE ATTORNEY TO QUIT THE CASE AND THE FACT THAT IN ADDITION TO THE TWO MILITARY OFFICERS, TWO IMPLICATED SOLDIERS REMAIN AT LARGE) AND OFFERED CONSTRUCTIVE SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLUTIONS. END SUMMARY.

3. ON JUNE 13, DCM AND CG MET FOR BREAKFAST AT THE DCM'S RESIDENCE WITH COL. FRANCISCO ORTEGA MENALDO, THE PRESIDENTIAL CHIEF OF STAFF, TO DISCUSS THE DEVINE CASE (OTHER SUBJECTS COVERED IN BREAKFAST REPORTED SEPTEL). ORTEGA ASKED EMBOFFS WHAT HE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE CURRENT STATUS OF THE CASE SO THAT THE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE COULD TRY TO ADDRESS ANY INADEQUACIES. DCM REPORTED OUR CONCERN THAT SEVERAL HIGHLY-PLACED MILITARY OFFICERS REPORTEDLY HAVE SAID THAT THE USG IS USING THE DEVINE CASE PRINCIPALLY TO LAY THE GROUNDWORK FOR DEMANDING A REDUCTION IN THE SIZE OF THE ARMY. HE MENTIONED SPECIFICALLY THE VICE MINISTER OF DEFENSE, GENERAL ANGELES, WHO AS RECENTLY AS JUNE 8 WAS CLAIMING TO OTHER OFFICERS THAT THE DEVINE CASE WAS REALLY A SMOKESCREEN FOR USG EFFORTS TO DEMILITARIZE THE GUATEMALAN ARMY. HE STRESSED THAT OUR PURSUIT OF JUSTICE IN THE DEVINE CASE HAS NO ULTERIOR MOTIVE. ORTEGA WAS QUICK TO CONCUR, AND SAID HE WOULD SUGGEST THAT THE MOD ADDRESS ALL COMMANDERS TO THAT EFFECT.

4. EMBOFFS SAID THAT SINCE THE JUDICIAL PROCESS HAD

BEEN MOVED TO THE CAPITAL, IT WAS PROCEEDING WELL AND AT AN ACCEPTABLY RAPID PACE. NONETHELESS, WE WERE CONCERNED THAT THE MILITARY COURT HAD NOT SEEN FIT TO DETAIN ACCUSED CAPTAIN HUGO CONTRERAS. HE IS FREE ON PROVISIONAL LIBERTY IN SPITE OF HIS BEING ACCUSED IN THE SWORN DECLARATIONS OF THE FIRST GROUP OF PRISONERS AND THE SUBSEQUENT DISCOVERY THAT CONTRERAS HAD THREATENED ONE OF THE ACCUSERS. (NOTE: IN THE "CAREO" PROCESS, ACCORDING TO ONE OF THE FIRST GROUP OF PRISONERS (PABLO LAJUB), CONTRERAS THREATENED LAJUB WITH REPRISALS IF LAJUB EVER TOLD ANYTHING HE KNEW ABOUT DEVINE'S MURDER.) WE REITERATED THE INADEQUACY OF THE JUDICIAL QUESTIONING OF THE TEEN ZONE COMMANDER COL. GARCIA CATALAN AND HIS DEPUTY, COL. PORTILLO GOMEZ. ORTEGA MADE NO COMMENT.

5. AS AN EXAMPLE OF THE LACK OF ARMY COOPERATION IN THE MATTER, CG RAISED A RECENT DISCOVERY RESULTING FROM THE "RECONOCIMIENTO JUDICIAL" (THE ON-SITE INVESTIGATION PERFORMED BY THE JUDGE ABOUT TWO WEEKS AGO AT THE RANGER TRAINING BASE IN POPTUN). NOT ONLY HAVE ALL THE KEY MILITARY PERSONNEL ASSIGNED TO THE BASE A YEAR AGO SUBSEQUENTLY BEEN TRANSFERRED (INCLUDING FORMER BASE COMMANDER LT. COL. ALPIRES, CURRENTLY SERVING IN SAN MARCOS), BUT THERE IS NO "LOGBOOK OF OCCURRENCES" ("LIBRO DE NOVEDADES" WHICH REPORTS ALL EVENTS TAKING PLACE, SUCH AS ARRIVALS, DEPARTURES, LODGINGS, ETC.) FOR THE TIME PERIOD OF MARCH 1990 THROUGH JULY 1990. ORTEGA REACTED STRONGLY, SAYING THAT SUCH A THING COULD NOT HAPPEN AND THAT IF THIS NEWS REACHED THE PRESIDENT'S EARS, HE WOULD FIRE THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE. WE ASSURED ORTEGA WE WERE NOT SEEKING THE REMOVAL OF THE MOD, BUT IT WAS A RECENT EXAMPLE OF THE CONTINUED ATTEMPT ON THE PART OF CERTAIN MILITARY MEMBERS TO TRY TO ENSURE THE CASE NOT BE RESOLVED. ORTEGA PROMISED HE WOULD SPEAK IMMEDIATELY TO ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF SOSA, WITH WHOM HE COULD WORK WELL AND EXPECT POSITIVE RESULTS, TO RECTIFY THE NON-APPEARING RECORDS. HE ALSO ASKED FOR NAMES OF KEY PERSONS AT THE RANGER BASE AT THE TIME OF THE MURDER SO THAT THEY COULD BE QUESTIONED. (COMMENT: WE WILL SUPPLY ORTEGA THE NAMES RESULTING FROM THE JUDICIAL PROCEDURE PERFORMED IN POPTUN, BUT OBVIOUSLY THE ARMY COULD GET THE SAME

INFORMATION FROM MILITARY RECORDS, AND SHOULD NOT ALWAYS BE LOOKING TO US AND ATTORNEY GONZALEZ TO DO ITS WORK. END COMMENT.)

6. THE DCM THEN RAISED THE SENSITIVE QUESTION OF THE PRESSURES PERCEIVED BY MRS. DEVINE'S PRIVATE ATTORNEY, ENRIQUE GONZALEZ, WHO HAS SHOWN EXTRAORDINARY COURAGE AND RECTITUDE IN PERSEVERING IN THIS CASE. (BACKGROUND: FOR THE PAST 3 YEARS, GONZALEZ HAS BEEN EMPLOYED AS A CIVIL SERVANT PART TIME IN THE PRESIDENTIAL LEGAL ADVISOR'S OFFICE, PROVIDING ROUTINE LEGAL OPINIONS ON PENDING LEGISLATION, ETC. HE RECENTLY REPORTED TO EMBOFFS THAT OVER THE LAST 6 WEEKS HE HAS EXPERIENCED DIFFICULTIES WITH HIS DIRECT SUPERVISOR IN THE LEGAL OFFICE WHO IS PRESSURING HIM TO QUIT WORKING FOR MRS. DEVINE. THE SUPERVISOR HAS DONE THIS BY NOMINATING GONZALEZ TO WORK SOLELY AS A SPECIAL ADVISOR TO PRESIDENT SERRANO ON THE DEVINE CASE, PROVIDING HIM CONFIDENTIAL, WRITTEN WEEKLY REPORTS OF THE STATUS AND LEGAL STRATEGY.

7. IMMEDIATELY UPON RECEIPT OF THE PRESIDENT'S NOMINATION, GONZALEZ WROTE SERRANO A LETTER STATING HE COULD NOT ACCEPT SUCH A NOMINATION AS IT WOULD BE A CONFLICT OF INTEREST, BUT HE WOULD BE HAPPY TO PROVIDE VERBAL BRIEFINGS ON THE STATUS OF THE CASE DIRECTLY TO THE PRESIDENT OR TO A PERSON OF THE PRESIDENT'S CHOOSING. (GONZALEZ' CLIENT, CAROL DEVINE, CONCURRED IN THIS APPROACH.) GONZALEZ' LETTER HAS YET TO BE ACKNOWLEDGED.) ON JUNE 11, HOWEVER, GONZALEZ RECEIVED A STRONG LETTER OF REPRIMAND FROM HIS SUPERVISOR STATING HE WAS NOT PERFORMING THE DUTIES REQUESTED OF HIM BY THE PRESIDENT, WHICH GONZALEZ PERCEIVED TO BE A FURTHER EFFORT TO PRESSURE HIM TO CEASE REPRESENTING MRS. DEVINE. GONZALEZ STATED HE HAS A PROFESSIONAL AND ETHICAL OBLIGATION TO CONTINUE AS MRS. DEVINE'S ATTORNEY, AND IF THE PRESIDENT WISHES TO REMOVE HIM FROM HIS STAFF, HE SHOULD PROCEED TO DO SO. GONZALEZ WILL NOT RESIGN, AS THAT WOULD DEPRIVE HIM OF BENEFITS TO WHICH HE IS ENTITLED.

8. ORTEGA STATED THERE SHOULD BE NO PRESSURE WHATEVER ON GONZALEZ TO QUIT THE CASE, AND HE WOULD SPEAK PERSONALLY TO GONZALEZ' SUPERVISOR TO TELL HIM TO LAY OFF. HE CONCURRED WITH GONZALEZ' PROPOSAL THAT GONZALEZ REGULARLY BRIEF ORTEGA OR EITHER OF HIS TWO DEPUTIES AND FELT THIS WOULD BE A SATISFACTORY SOLUTION FOR GONZALEZ AS WELL AS FOR PRESIDENT SERRANO, WHO MERELY NEEDS TO KNOW WHAT IS GOING ON FROM A RELIABLE SOURCE. (GONZALEZ WILL TRY TO BRIEF ORTEGA DIRECTLY.)

9. WHEN EMBOFFS RAISED THE PROBLEM THAT THE GOG STILL HAD NOT MADE AVAILABLE TO THE COURT A COPY OF THE ORIGINAL INTERNAL INVESTIGATION OF THE MURDER (AS PROMISED BY THE PRESIDENT IN HIS APRIL 24 LETTER TO

UNCLASSIFIED

2/2 C O N F I D E N T I A L GUATEMALA 0#5933/02

THE AMBASSADOR), ORTEGA SAID THAT THE INVESTIGATION WAS TOTALLY INADEQUATE AND WOULDN'T HELP THE CASE AT ALL. AT THE TIME THERE WAS TOO MUCH SECRECY ("HERMETISMO"). NOW, HOWEVER, THERE WAS A NEW DISPOSITION TO RESOLVE THE CASE. HE SUGGESTED THAT WE ASK THE MOD TO CONDUCT A TOTALLY NEW INVESTIGATION RATHER THAN TRYING TO RELY ON THE PREVIOUS ONE. WE HAVE DONE THIS IN A JUNE 12 LETTER.

10. COMMENT: THE CONVERSATION WAS A CONSTRUCTIVE ONE. WE WILL FOLLOW UP ON A REGULAR BASIS WITH ORTEGA TO ENSURE INSOFAR AS WE ARE ABLE THAT ADVANCES ARE MADE. AT PRESENT HE APPEARS TO BE OUR BEST INTERLOCUTOR, AND AT LEAST SAYS THE RIGHT THINGS ABOUT THIS CASE BEING A BLOTCH TO THE ARMY'S REPUTATION. NONETHELESS, REFS B-D MAKE IT CLEAR THAT THERE ARE STILL POWERFUL FORCES TRYING TO BLOCK PROGRESS. STROOCK##

4. THERE ARE NO RECONTRAS IN NORTHERN COSTA RICA OR SOUTHERN NICARAGUA, ACCORDING TO [redacted] THE SITUATION IN THE FORMER FRENTE SUR ZONE OF OPERATION PRECLUDES THE EMERGENCE OF THIS PHENOMENON. IN ADDITION, THE PEOPLE OF THE REGION ARE "SICK" OF WAR AND DO NOT SUPPORT RENEWED FIGHTING.

SUBJECT: Devine Case -- Line-up and other results

1. Confidential - entire text.

2. summary: witnesses identified two devine death squad members in line-up. other expected actions (court rulings on col. portillo gomez' immunity, provisional liberty of capt. hugo contreras, and deposition of former poptun base commander) have not yet taken place. conversations with presidential chief of staff ortega indicate his good intentions and ability to be of assistance and that the newly accused are in fact the guilty ones. ortega alleges he believes no officers were involved in ordering the murder. pressure on the private attorney to quit the case has terminated. end summary.

3. the Line-up of the five detained persons accused in the Devine case took place on June 14. The procedure consisted of each of the four witnesses (all female -- the male potential witnesses failed to appear, almost certainly out of fear), peeking through small slits in a divider at a group of five people, one of whom was one of the accused prisoners and the other four extraneous people. In spite of its being over a year since the murder and the somewhat altered appearance of some of the accused (mustache shaved off, glasses removed, etc.), two of the witnesses were able to identify two of the accused (Tiburcio Hernandez Hernandez and Francisco Sorval Santay). Not expecting such positive results, devine Attorney Gonzalez and private investigator West were elated. Combined with the two (Daniel Tolon Rodriguez and Oliverio "yeyo" Orellana) who were seen immediately prior to or following the murder by some in the first group of detainees, this makes positive physical identification of four of the seven allegedly involved.

4. Attorney Gonzalez' appeal regarding granting provisional liberty to Captain Hugo Contreras to date remains unresolved in the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court has not yet ruled on the immunity issue for Col. Portillo Gomez either. Both decisions were expected by now, and the attorney continues to expect them imminently. The delay is probably caused by normal bureaucratic inertia.

and some key testimony has yet to be taken

5. LTC Alpires, former Poptun base commander, has not responded to three court summons to make his declaration. reportedly He is on manuevers and will return shortly, at which time he is expected to make his sworn statement.

meanwhile, the devine attorney is more assured

6. Results from conversations with Col. Francisco Ortega reported reftel have been positive. The issue of supposed efforts to get Gonzalez to quit the case has been addressed, and Gonzalez is proceeding both with the Devine case and in his civil service employment more comfortably. In addition, as a result of a subsequent Ortega/Gonzalez meeting, Gonzalez will be providing this week a list of all the requests he has formally made of the court which the ministry of defense could address but which remain unresolved. Ortega has committed to doing his best to make sure that answers are provided promptly to the court.

7. In a follow-up meeting between Consul General and Col. Ortega, Ortega confirmed that the newly-jailed group is indeed the right group. he added that he personally does not believe that any officer was involved in ordering the kidnapping or murder of Devine. He stated that groups of enlisted men are perfectly capable of mounting such an operation themselves, including getting a truck, gasoline rations for such a long trip, and lodging at a neighboring base. He lamented that such illegal operations are, unfortunately, not unheard of and in fact rather common.

8. Ortega confided to consul general his conviction that what really enabled the case to go forward was the change of venue from Santa Elena to Guatemala City, and that the Serrano government should properly be given credit for this contribution. Congen concurred that this was positive, but that without the tireless efforts of attorney gonzalez and the steady pressure from the usg the case would still be nowhere. some gog officials had permitted positive things to happen (st as col. ortega himself detaining, continuing to hold and not pressuring the original group of five whose prolonged -- and continuing -- detention convinced them to "sing"). However, what was ne ded was more active gog assistance.

so what does it mean?

9. comment: what this means is that the legal aspects of the case are proceeding fairly well. gonzalez thinks, and we concur, that we are getting close to a conviction of at least four of the actual murderers. more remains to be done, however, before we will feel confident that all the guilty have been identified and brought to justice.

SUBJECT: DEVINE ATTORNEY MEETING WITH PRESIDENT SERRANO

REF: (A) GUATEMALA 5965, (B) GUATEMALA 5933, (C) GUATEMALA 5568, (D) GUATEMALA 6264

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: PRESIDENT SERRANO MET PRIVATELY WITH THE ENRIQUE GONZELEZ, CAROL DEVINE'S ATTORNEY, FOR A BRIEFING ON THE JUDICIAL STATUS OF THE CASE AND THE LATEST DEVELOPMENTS (INFORMATION REGARDING OFFICER INVOLVEMENT AND THE DISPOSITION OF THE WHITE PICKUP). PRESIDENTIAL ADVISOR NEUMANN INDICATED SERRANO HAS RECEIVED VEILED COUP THREATS IF HE PRESSES THE DEVINE CASE TOO HARD. ATTORNEY GONZELEZ IS FAVORABLY IMPRESSED WITH SERRANO'S CANDOR ABOUT A CONTINUING COVER-UP AND HIS DETERMINATION TO RESOLVE THE CASE. END SUMMARY.

3. AT THE PRESIDENT'S REQUEST, PRIVATE ATTORNEY ENRIQUE GONZALEZ MET IN A CORDIAL SESSION ON JUNE 24 WITH SERRANO AND HIS PERSONAL ADVISOR, BERNARDO NEUMANN, FOR OVER AN HOUR. GONZALEZ TOLD US THAT IT WAS OBVIOUS THAT THE INFORMATION THE PRESIDENT HAD BEEN GIVEN BY OTHER (MILITARY) SIDES IS INCOMPLETE.

4. WHILE WAITING FOR THE PRESIDENT TO RECEIVE HIM, GONZALEZ TALKED WITH NEUMANN, WHO REVEALED THAT THE PRESIDENT DOES NOT HAVE MUCH FAITH IN THE MILITARY, BUT HE DOES BELIEVE IN HIS MINISTER OF DEFENSE. NEUMANN TOLD GONZALEZ THAT SEVERAL HIGHLY PLACED MILITARY OFFICERS HAD WARNED THE PRESIDENT THAT IN THE PAST THE ARMY HAD THROWN OUT A PRESIDENT WITH LESS CAUSE THAN THE ARMY HAS NOW AGAINST SERRANO FOR THE DEVINE CASE. NEUMANN ALSO SAID THAT THE INVESTIGATIVE REPORT WHICH THE G-2 PROVIDED SERRANO ABOUT 10 DAYS AGO WAS OF SUCH POOR QUALITY THAT THE PRESIDENT TOLD THE MOD THAT IT WAS UNACCEPTABLE BY THROWING IT IN HIS FACE. (COMMENT: AS REPORTED SEPTEL, SERRANO TOLD THE AMBASSADOR AND DCM ON JUNE 14 THAT THIS INADEQUATE REPORT WAS THE MAIN REASON HE DECIDED TO REPLACE COL. CABRERA AS HEAD OF G-2. END COMMENT) IT IS UNKNOWN IF THE NEW G-2 IS NOW PREPARING ANOTHER REPORT.

5. NEUMANN SAID THAT THE PRESIDENT IS PLANNING TO NAME SPECIAL PROSECUTORS FROM THE PUBLIC MINISTRY TO DEDICATE FULL TIME TO RESOLVING THE PRINCIPAL HUMAN RIGHTS CASES: MYRNA MACK, SANTIAGO ATITLAN AND SISTER DIANA ORTIZ. GONZALEZ SUGGESTED THEY ALSO NAME ONE

6. GONZALEZ PROVIDED THE PRESIDENT A 5-PAGE SINGLE SPACE SUMMARY OF THE JUDICIAL STATUS, MOST OF WHICH WAS NEWS TO THE PRESIDENT. GONZALEZ ALSO GAVE HIM A COPY OF THE NEWLY-MADE STATEMENT BY RAFAEL TIU CUCUL, ONE OF THE ORIGINAL GROUP OF FIVE PRISONERS DETAINED LAST OCTOBER. THIS STATEMENT IS AN EXPANSION OF HIS ORIGINAL FEBRUARY STATEMENT, AND ANSWERS SPECIFIC QUESTIONS PUT FORMALLY TO THE COURT BY GONZALEZ. IT REVEALS KNOWLEDGE OF THE EVENTS LEADING UP TO THE CRIME IN SUCH DAMNING DETAIL THAT IT CANNOT BE IGNORED. CLEARLY TIU CUCUL HAS PART OF THE DEATH SQUAD; AT LEAST UP TO THE TIME OF THE KIDNAPPING/MURDER, TRAVELLING WITH THEM BOTH TO AND FROM POPTUN. HE IS SPECIFIC ABOUT CAPT. OSCAR CONTRERA'S ORDERS, HOW THE 2-DAY SURVEILLANCE WAS DONE, WHERE THE GROUP SLEPT AND ATE, WHEN THE MURDER TOOK PLACE, AND WHEN THE GROUP LEFT POPTUN TO RETURN TO FLORES, HAVING ACCOMPLISHED ITS MISSION. AFTER READING THE DECLARATION IN GONZALEZ' PRESENCE, THE PRESIDENT SAID, "CLEARLY, THERE HAS BEEN A COVER-UP HERE."

7. SERRANO RAISED CAPT. OSCAR AMENDARO'S NAME, ASKING GONZALEZ WHAT HE KNEW ABOUT THE DISPOSITION OF THE WHITE PICK-UP TRUCK (REF D). SERRANO SAID HE WOULD INVESTIGATE THE INFORMATION.

[redacted] GONZALEZ ALSO TOLD THE PRESIDENT THAT HE DOES NOT BELIEVE COL. PORTILLO COMEZ WAS IN THE PETEN AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME (IMPLYING THAT COL. GARCIA CATALAN WAS IN CHARGE) BUT DID NOT TALK ABOUT THE ALLEGED APPROACHES MADE TO PORTILLO COMEZ TO TAKE THE HEAT (REPORTED IN REF C). THE PRESIDENT INDICATED HE DOES NOT THINK GARCIA CATALAN IS INVOLVED. GONZALEZ INFORMED HIM THAT NONETHELESS HE (GONZALEZ) IS GOING TO PUSH THE COURT TO INTERROGATE GARCIA CATALAN. HE ALSO INFORMED SERRANO ABOUT THE LOSS OF THE POPTUN BASE CONTROL BOOK COVERING THE APRIL-JULY 1990 PERIOD, AND THE REPORTS OF PROBABLE MOTIVE FOR DEVINE'S MURDER -- THE LOSS OF 2 CALIL WEAPONS LEADING TO THE ARREST, TORTURE AND MURDER OF TWO SOLDIERS WHO MENTIONED DEVINE'S NAME.

8. IN RESPONSE TO THE PRESIDENT'S QUESTION AS TO WHAT HE COULD DO TO ASSIST THE CASE, GONZALEZ REQUESTED THE FOLLOWING THREE THINGS:

(A) A COPY OF A TRUE AND COMPLETE INVESTIGATION REPORT;

(B) THAT THE PRESIDENT INSTRUCT THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE TO PROVIDE FULL AND IMMEDIATE SUPPORT IN

GIVING ANSWERS TO THE MILITARY COURT FOR ALL THE FORMAL QUESTIONS PUT TO IT BY GONZALEZ; AND

(C) THE CAPTURE OF THE TWO DISCHARGED MILITARY MEN WHO ARE IMPLICATED.

9. THE MEETING CONCLUDED WITH AN AGREEMENT THAT GONZALEZ WILL KEEP NEUMANN INFORMED DIRECTLY OF DEVELOPMENTS. THEIR NEXT MEETING IS JUNE 27. NEUMANN INDICATED THE GOG WANTS POSITIVE DEVELOPMENTS IN THE CASE BY AUGUST 4 (E PRESUME THAT MEANS PRIOR TO THE VISIT HERE OF SOUTHCOM'S GENERAL SULLIVAN AUGUST 7-8.)

10. IN OTHER DEVELOPMENTS, LTC. ALPIRES (FORMER

POPTUN RANGER TRAINING BASE COMMANDER) WAS QUESTIONED IN SAN MARCOS BY THE CIVILIAN JUDGE ON JUNE 21. RATHER THAN ENTRUST ALPIRES' ANSWERS TO GONZALEZ' WRITING COURIER, THE JUDGE ELECTED TO SEND THEM TO THE CAPITAL VIA MAIL. FORTY-EIGHT HOURS FOLLOWING THEIR RECEIPT BY THE MILITARY JUDGE, GONZALEZ CAN GET ACCESS TO THEM.

11. ON JUNE 24, THE SUPREME COURT NAMED A HIGH-LEVEL APPEALS COURT MAGISTRATE IN JALAPA TO BE THE INVESTIGATIVE JUDGE IN FORMER SANTA ELENA DEPUTY BASE COMMANDER COL. PORTILLO GOMEZ' ROLE IN THE DEVINE AFFAIR. THE COURT STILL HAS NOT RULED ON PORTILLO'S CLAIM TO IMMUNITY.

12. COMMENT: WE ARE DELIGHTED THAT SERRANO IS

FINALLY GETTING THE STRAIGHT SCOOP. NEUMANN IS A MORE RELIABLE INTERLOCUTOR ON THE DEVINE CASE THAN ANYONE ELSE WE HAVE FOUND, AND WE BELIEVE SERRANO HAS MADE A GOOD CHOICE IN CHOOSING HIM TO BE THE CONTACT POINT FOR GONZALEZ.

THE LINE UP GOES WELL

3. THE LINE-UP OF THE FIVE DETAINED PERSONS ACCUSED IN THE DEVINE CASE TOOK PLACE ON JUNE 14. THE PROCEDURE CONSISTED OF EACH OF THE FOUR WITNESSES (ALL FEMALE -- THE MALE POTENTIAL WITNESSES FAILED TO APPEAR, ALMOST CERTAINLY OUT OF FEAR), PEEKING THROUGH SMALL SLITS IN A DIVIDER AT A GROUP OF FIVE PEOPLE, ONE OF WHOM WAS ONE OF THE ACCUSED PRISONERS AND THE OTHER FOUR EXTRANEOUS PEOPLE. IN SPITE OF ITS BEING OVER A YEAR SINCE THE MURDER AND THE SOMEWHAT ALTERED APPEARANCE OF SOME OF THE ACCUSED (MUSTACHE SHAVED OFF, GLASSES REMOVED, ETC.), TWO OF THE WITNESSES WERE ABLE TO IDENTIFY TWO OF THE ACCUSED (TIBURCIO HERNANDEZ HERNANDEZ AND FRANCISCO SORIAL SANTAY). NOT EXPECTING SUCH POSITIVE RESULTS, DEVINE ATTORNEY GONZALEZ AND PRIVATE INVESTIGATOR WEST WERE ELATED. COMBINED WITH THE TWO (DANIEL TOLON RODRIGUEZ AND OLIVERIO "YEYO" ORELLANA) WHO WERE SEEN IMMEDIATELY PRIOR TO OR FOLLOWING THE MURDER BY SOME IN THE FIRST GROUP OF DETAINEES, THIS MAKES POSITIVE PHYSICAL IDENTIFICATION OF FOUR OF THE SEVEN ALLEGEDLY INVOLVED.

BUT EL MALDITO IS STILL SUELTO

4. ATTORNEY GONZALEZ' APPEAL REGARDING GRANTING

PROVISIONAL LIBERTY TO CAPTAIN HUGO CONTRERAS TO DATE REMAINS UNRESOLVED IN THE COURT OF APPEALS. THE SUPREME COURT HAS NOT YET RULED ON THE IMMUNITY ISSUE FOR COL. PORTILLO GOMEZ EITHER. BOTH DECISIONS WERE EXPECTED BY NOW; AND THE ATTORNEY CONTINUES TO EXPECT THEM IMMINENTLY. THE DELAY IS PROBABLY CAUSED BY NORMAL BUREAUCRATIC INERTIA.

AND SOME KEY TESTIMONY HAS YET TO BE TAKEN

5. LTC ALPIRES, FORMER POPTUN BASE COMMANDER, HAS NOT RESPONDED TO THREE COURT SUMMONS TO MAKE HIS DECLARATION. REPORTEDLY HE IS ON MANEUVERS AND WILL RETURN SHORTLY, AT WHICH TIME HE IS EXPECTED TO MAKE HIS SWORN STATEMENT.

MEANWHILE, THE DEVINE ATTORNEY IS MORE ASSURED

6. RESULTS FROM CONVERSATIONS WITH COL. FRANCISCO ORTEGA REPORTED REFTEL HAVE BEEN POSITIVE. THE ISSUE OF SUPPOSED EFFORTS TO GET GONZALEZ TO QUIT THE CASE HAS BEEN ADDRESSED, AND GONZALEZ IS PROCEEDING BOTH WITH THE DEVINE CASE AND IN HIS CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYMENT MORE COMFORTABLY. IN ADDITION, AS A RESULT OF A SUBSEQUENT ORTEGA/GONZALEZ MEETING, GONZALEZ WILL BE PROVIDING THIS WEEK A LIST OF ALL THE REQUESTS HE WAS FORMALLY MADE OF THE COURT WHICH THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE COULD ADDRESS BUT WHICH REMAIN UNRESOLVED. ORTEGA HAS COMMITTED TO DOING HIS BEST TO MAKE SURE THAT ANSWERS ARE PROVIDED PROMPTLY TO THE COURT.

AND WE'RE ON THE RIGHT TRACK

7. IN A FOLLOW-UP MEETING BETWEEN CONSUL GENERAL AND COL. ORTEGA, ORTEGA CONFIRMED THAT THE NEWLY-JAILED GROUP IS INDEED THE RIGHT GROUP. HE ADDED THAT HE PERSONALLY DOES NOT BELIEVE THAT ANY OFFICER WAS INVOLVED IN ORDERING THE KIDNAPPING OR MURDER OF DEVINE. HE STATED THAT GROUPS OF ENLISTED MEN ARE PERFECTLY CAPABLE OF MOUNTING SUCH AN OPERATION THEMSELVES, INCLUDING GETTING A TRUCK, GASOLINE RATIONS FOR SUCH A LONG TRIP, AND LODGING AT A NEIGHBORING BASE. HE LAMENTED THAT SUCH ILLEGAL OPERATIONS ARE, UNFORTUNATELY, NOT UNHEARD OF AND IN FACT RATHER COMMON.

8. ORTEGA CONFIDED TO CONSUL GENERAL HIS CONVICTION THAT WHAT REALLY ENABLED THE CASE TO GO FORWARD WAS THE CHANGE OF VENUE FROM SANTA ELENA TO GUATEMALA CITY, AND THAT THE SERRANO GOVERNMENT SHOULD PROPERLY BE GIVEN CREDIT FOR THIS CONTRIBUTION. CONGEN CONCURRED THAT THIS WAS POSITIVE, BUT THAT WITHOUT THE TIRELESS EFFORTS OF ATTORNEY GONZALEZ AND THE STEADY PRESSURE FROM THE USG THE CASE WOULD STILL BE NOWHERE. SOME GOG OFFICIALS HAD PERMITTED POSITIVE THINGS TO HAPPEN (SUCH AS COL. ORTEGA HIMSELF DETAINING, CONTINUING TO HOLD AND NOT PRESSURING THE ORIGINAL GROUP OF FIVE, WHOSE PROLONGED -- AND CONTINUING -- DETENTION CONVINCED THEM TO "SING"). HOWEVER, WHAT WAS NEEDED WAS MORE ACTIVE GOG ASSISTANCE.

SO WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

9. COMMENT: WHAT THIS MEANS IS THAT THE LEGAL ASPECTS OF THE CASE ARE PROCEEDING FAIRLY WELL. GONZALEZ THINKS, AND WE CONCUR, THAT WE ARE GETTING CLOSE TO A CONVICTION OF AT LEAST FIVE OF THE ACTUAL MURDERERS. MORE REMAINS TO BE DONE, HOWEVER, BEFORE WE WILL FEEL CONFIDENT THAT ALL THE GUILTY HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED AND BROUGHT TO JUSTICE. EVEN IF OBTAINED, IT IS DOUBTFUL THAT THE CONVICTIONS WILL BE IN THE 45-60 DAY TIMEFRAME PREVIOUSLY MENTIONED BY ORTEGA OR THE 30 DAYS MENTIONED BY SERRANO. THESE ESTIMATES REVEAL AN IGNORANCE/MISUNDERSTANDING OF GUATEMALAN CRIMINAL PROCEDURES. IT MAY BE THAT WITHIN THIS PERIOD THE CASE WILL HAVE FINISHED THE "INVESTIGATION" PHASE AND ENTERED INTO THE "PROOF" PHASE, BUT WE ARE STILL A LONG WAYS FROM CONVICTION AND SENTENCING.

SUBJECT: CHILEAN CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION MEETING WITH ARA A/S BERNARD ARONSON

UNCLASSIFIED

1. ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY. A NINE-MEMBER DELEGATION FROM CHILE PAID A CALL ON ARA A/S ARONSON ON JUNE 27 TO DISCUSS BILATERAL RELATIONS. THE CONVERSATION FOCUSED PRINCIPALLY ON THE UPCOMING VOTE IN THE CHILEAN SENATE ON THE BRYAN COMMISSION BILL. USI SENATOR URENDA EXPLAINED THE OPPOSITION'S OBJECTIONS TO THE WAY IN WHICH THE GOC WAS

HANDLING THE ISSUE OF COMPENSATION TO THE LETELIER AND MOFFITT FAMILIES. SENATOR PACHECO AND OTHERS FROM THE CONCERTACION SPOKE EMPHATICALLY IN FAVOR OF SENATE APPROVAL. ARONSON MADE IT CLEAR THAT THE USG WOULD VIEW WITH GREAT DISFAVOR A NEGATIVE VOTE IN THE SENATE. END SUMMARY.

3. ON JUNE 27, A NINE-MEMBER DELEGATION FROM CHILE, HEADED BY CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES PRESIDENT JOSE ANTONIO VIERA-GALLO, MET WITH ARA A/S ARONSON TO DISCUSS BILATERAL RELATIONS. IN ADDITION TO INSTITUTE FOR REPRESENTATIVE DEMOCRACY STAFF, ALSO PRESENT WERE ARA DAS PHIL MCLEAN, ARA/SD DIRECTOR ANDREW SENS, AND CHILE DESKOFF KATHRYN STEVENS. MCLEAN OPENED THE MEETING BY NOTING THE IMPORTANCE OF THE ENTERPRISE FOR THE AMERICAS INITIATIVE FOR U.S.-CHILE RELATIONS, PARTICULARLY IN THE TRADE AREA.

OVERVIEW OF BILATERAL RELATIONS

4. ARONSON REMARKED THAT RELATIONS ARE EXCELLENT AND THAT WITH LAST YEAR'S MEETINGS BETWEEN PRESIDENTS BUSH AND AYLWIN, WE HAVE INITIATED THE BROADEST DIALOGUE WE HAVE EVER HAD WITH THE GOC. HE NOTED THAT WHEN THE ADMINISTRATION ASKED FOR AN EXTENSION OF FAST-TRACK NEGOTIATING AUTHORITY, IT REFERRED SPECIFICALLY TO THREE REASONS FOR THE REQUEST: URUGUAY ROUND, NORTH AMERICA FREE TRADE AGREEMENT, AND A POSSIBILE BILATERAL FTA WITH CHILE. HE ALSO COMMENDED THE CHILEANS FOR THEIR SUPERB MANAGEMENT AND DISPLAY OF LEADERSHIP AT THE OASGA.

LETELIER/MOFFITT CASE

5. ARONSON THEN SAID THAT DESPITE THE CONSTRUCTIVE AGENDA CARRIED OUT IN THE PAST YEAR (CITING OPIC/GSP BENEFITS AND KENNEDY-HARKIN SANCTIONS), THERE REMAINS THE ISSUE OF THE LETELIER/MOFFITT CASE. STILL A "STRONG AND VIVID MEMORY IN THE U.S.," HE NOTED THAT THIS MATTER GIVES RISE TO CONTINUOUS CALLS FROM MEMBERS OF CONGRESS AND MICHAEL MOFFITT. HE SAID THAT HE HOPED THE SENATE WOULD VOTE TO RATIFY THE INDEPENDENT BRYAN COMMISSION BECAUSE NOT TO DO SO "WOULD SEND A VERY NEGATIVE SIGNAL." ARONSON STRESSED THAT U.S. PUBLIC OPINION WILL SEE THE VOTE AS A SIGN OF

UNCLASSIFIED

CHILE'S POLITICAL AND MORAL WILL TO COMPLY WITH THE AGREEMENT THAT WAS OPENLY NEGOTIATED LAST YEAR. HE ADDED THAT MEMBERS OF CONGRESS HAVE DRAFTED LEGISLATION THAT WOULD BE "ONEROUS, DEVISIVE AND CONTENTIOUS" AND DETRIMENTAL TO CHILE'S INTERESTS, PARTICULARY IN THE AREA OF TRADE, IN THE EVENT THE SENATE REFUSES TO RATIFY.

6. WHEN SENATOR URENDA CALLED ARONSON'S REMARKS "A VEILED THREAT," ARONSON EMPHATICALLY DENIED THAT SUCH WAS THE CASE, BUT RATHER THAT HE "WOULD BE LYING" IF HE DID NOT EXPLAIN IN AN HONEST, FORTHRIGHT MANNER WHAT THE CONSEQUENCES OF A NEGATIVE SENATE VOTE MIGHT BE. IN SHORT, HE SAID THAT HE EXPECTED A SENATE REJECTION OF THE BRYAN COMMISSION TO PROVOKE OPPOSITION IN THE U.S. CONGRESS TO A FTA WITH CHILE. THEY MIGHT, INSTEAD, PREFER TO LOOK AT ONE WITH VENEZUELA, MERCOSUR, ETC. FIRST INSTEAD OF WITH CHILE--NOW THE PREFERRED CANDIDATE TO FOLLOW MEXICO.

KENNEDY-HARKIN SANCTIONS

7. ARONSON REMINDED THE DELEGATION THAT IT WAS NOT EASY FOR PRESIDENT BUSH TO AGREE TO LIFT THE SANCTIONS, BUT HE DID SO WITH "THE CONFIDENCE AND TRUST THAT CHILE WOULD MEET ITS OBLIGATION TAKEN ON IN THOSE TREATY NEGOTIATIONS." DRIVING THE POINT HOME FORCEFULLY, HE ADDED, "YOU CAN OVERCOME OUTSTANDING PROBLEMS, BUT YOU CANT'T OVERCOME EASILY A LOSS OF TRUST AND CONFIDENCE."

RETTIG COMMISSION AND COMPENSATION

8. ARONSON INVOKED THE FINDINGS OF THE RETTIG COMMISSION ON COMPENSATION FOR THE FAMILIES OF VICTIMS. IF THE CHILEANS CAN ACCEPT THAT FOR FAMILIES OF CHILEAN VICTIMS, THEY SHOULD BE ABLE TO DO SO FOR AMERICAN FAMILIES AS WELL.

DELEGATION'S REACTION

8. SENATOR BELTRAN URENDA SUPPORTED THE GENERAL BILATERAL AGENDA, NOTED THAT THE OPPOSITION HAD SUPPORTED PASSAGE OF IPR LEGISLATION AND THE CUMPLIDO LAWS, AGREED "IN PRINCIPLE" WITH COMPENSATION USING THE BRYAN COMMISSION, BUT WAS UNHAPPY WITH THE "TERMS" OF THE JUNE 11, 1990

AGREEMENT AND WANTED TO CHANGE THE TEXT TO ADDRESS OPPOSITION CONCERNS REGARDING "IMMUNITY OF SOVEREIGNTY". ARONSON SAID THAT THE AGREEMENT DOES NOT ESTABLISH A PRECEDENT FOR OTHER CASES SINCE IT INVOLVES A UNIQUE ACT OF TERRORISM. FURTHER, HE NOTED, REOPENING NEGOTIATION ON THE TERMS WOULD STALL ACTION ON THE COMMISSION INDEFINITELY.

9. CHIEF SPOKESMEN FOR THE CONCERTACION--SENATOR MAXIMO PACHECO--WAS EMPHATIC IN HIS SUPPORT FOR THE COMMISSION, A VIEW ECHOED BY JOSE ANTONIO VIERA-GALLO, IGNACIO WALKER AND JAIME ESTEVEZ.

10. COMMENT: THE CONCERTACION MEMBERS OF THE GROUP, AT LEAST, DEPARTED VERY CONTENT WITH THE FORCE AND CLARITY WITH WHICH WAY ARONSON HAD HANDLED THE ISSUE WITH URENDA, BUT WERE CONCERNED ABOUT HOW CLOSE THE VOTE MIGHT STILL BE. UNFORTUNATELY, WE CANNOT REPORT THAT URENDA WENT AWAY CONVINCED BY ARONSON'S ARGUMENTS.

DEAR MR. SECRETARY,

I AM ESPECIALLY PLEASED TO HAVE RECEIVED YOUR LETTER ON THE RECENT MEETING IN SANTIAGO OF THE 21ST GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES, IN WHICH YOU ALSO KINDLY REFER TO THE PROGRESS OF CHILE.

I AGREE THAT THIS GENERAL ASSEMBLY HAD TO STIMULATE THE DEVELOPMENT AND CONSOLIDATION OF DEMOCRACY ON THE CONTINENT, AS WELL AS TO RENEW AND STRENGTHEN THE ORGANIZATION IN A WAY WHICH WILL ENABLE IT TO ADEQUATELY RESOLVE THE MOST URGENT PROBLEMS WHICH CONFRONT THE PEOPLE OF OUR REGION.

UNCLASSIFIED

IN MY JUDGMENT, THE CONSOLIDATION OF DEMOCRACY, WHICH WE STRONGLY DESIRE, REQUIRES THE CREATION OF RELEVANT MECHANISMS THAT ENSURE FREE TRADE BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES IN THE CONTEXT OF THE EMERGING NEW WORLD ORDER, WHICH IS CHARACTERIZED BY A GROWING GLOBALIZATION OF ECONOMIC RELATIONS.

IN THIS FRAMEWORK, THE ENTERPRISE FOR THE AMERICAS INITIATIVE TAKES ON A SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE BECAUSE IT ALLOWS FOR NEW PERSPECTIVES ON HEMISPHERIC RELATIONS. THE INITIATIVE ALLOWS THE HEMISPHERE, WITH A RENEWED DIMENSION, TO COME TO GRIPS WITH TRADE LIBERALIZATION AND THE PROBLEMS OF DEBT-REDUCTION AND STIMULATION OF INVESTMENT.

I ESPECIALLY THANK YOU, ON BEHALF OF MY COUNTRY AND THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT, FOR THE NOBLE OPINIONS YOU HAVE EXPRESSED ABOUT CHILE, WHICH ARE EVEN MORE IMPRESSIVE CONSIDERING THAT THE ACHIEVEMENTS TO DATE HAVE BEEN THE PRODUCT OF A BROAD NATIONAL CONSENSUS.

I AVAIL MYSELF OF THIS OPPORTUNITY TO RENEW TO YOU THE ASSURANCES OF MY HIGHEST AND MOST DISTINGUISHED CONSIDERATION AND PERSONAL ESTEEM.

Dear Mr. Berman:

Thank you for your letter of May 29, following our earlier conversation about the Letelier/Moffitt case.

While in Santiago for the OAS General Assembly, I met with Foreign Minister Enrique Silva Cimma and expressed strong interest in seeing the Letelier/Moffitt case resolved urgently. The Minister felt confident that the Supreme Court would appoint a special judge to investigate the case and that the Congress would eventually ratify the agreement reached last year on compensation for the families.

I share your concern about the matter and assure you that we will continue to press the Chilean government to come to a satisfactory resolution of this case as soon as possible.

Dear Frank:

Thank you for your summary of aspects of the Letelier/Moffitt case. While in Santiago, I did meet with Foreign Minister Silva Cimma who assured me that the Chilean government had made a commitment to the United States to pursue compensation for the families.

Some opposition politicians have linked the issue of compensation for Chilean exporters who suffered losses during the 1989 poisoned grapes episode to compensation in the Letelier/Moffitt case. Nevertheless, as you know, the Chilean government and many private sector companies have opted to seek redress via administrative and judicial procedures in the United States. This is, of course, much the best way to proceed.

REPORT ON EL SALVADOR

REQUIRED UNDER THE FOREIGN ASSISTANCE APPROPRIATIONS ACT OF 1991

July, 1991

RELEASED

RELEASED
El Salvador Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Introduction

This report has been prepared pursuant to the requirements of section 531 (i) of the Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 1991 (P-L 101-513), that the President submit a report to Congress on El Salvador 60 days after the date of enactment (November 5), and every 180 days thereafter. Presidential Determination No. 91-15 of January 15, 1991 delegated this function to the Secretary of State. This report provides an update to the report submitted to the Congress in January.

Negotiations (since January 1991)

Summary: The Government of El Salvador and the FMLN met regularly throughout the reporting period in Mexico and Caracas in an effort to negotiate an end to the conflict. Principal areas of discussion centered on constitutional amendments to reform the judicial system, the security forces, the electoral system, and to protect human rights. A set of far-reaching constitutional reforms was passed by the outgoing Legislative Assembly on April 30. The new Assembly must ratify them before they take effect. Other issues discussed by the two sides have been military reform, including creating an Ad Hoc Commission to review the human rights records of officers in the armed forces, a Truth Commission on notorious human rights cases, the creation of a new National Civil Police, the modalities for a cease-fire, a timetable for implementation of commitments reached, and FMLN political activity during a cease-fire period.

As a result of the provision of strict confidentiality imposed by the UN, we cannot describe in detail the current status of issues under discussion. However, both sides have narrowed the gap substantially on several security issues including: a drastic downsizing of the Salvadoran military; moving the police forces out of the Ministry of Defense and placing them under a civilian ministry; removing the national intelligence organ from the military and placing it under the chief executive; an evaluation commision to review the records of military and security force officers and make recommendations for those that may be retained in the ranks; the dissolution of the civil defense forces; and the President has been given greater authority over assignments and transfers of officers in the military and security forces.

In April, intensified talks produced agreement on proposed constitutional amendments on electoral and judicial matters and civilian control over the military. A commitment was also made to focus subsequent talks on a concentrated agenda of armed forces reform and a cease-fire mechanism. The outgoing legislature approved the proposed constitutional amendments before its term expired on April 30. The constitutional amendments will go into effect when ratified by the new legislature, which was seated on May 1. The overall effect of the proposed amendments is to increase presidential and legislative control over the armed forces, and to create new mechanisms to strengthen the judicial system, particularly in the area of human rights. An amendment on judicial reform states that no less than six percent of the national budget will be used to support and improve the judicial system. A "Truth Commission" on key human rights cases and a Supreme Electoral Tribunal, to include the newly elected Convergencia Democratica party, would also be formed. The Tribunal will streamline voter registration and simplify voting requirements.

The peace talks under U.N. auspices continue to make progress, although concerns have been expressed that the process is moving very slowly. During the reporting period, the FMLN announced publicly to EC ministers meeting in Managua in March that they accepted a deadline of May 30 for agreement on a cease-fire. The Government readily accepted and worked toward meeting that deadline. The FMLN renounced its commitment following the Government's agreement to constitutional reforms by the constitutionaly-imposed deadline of May 30.

On March 10, El Salvador held municipal and legislative elections. The approach of the elections had slowed the negotiations. The FMLN sought to deny the Government and the ARENA party the ability to campaign on having made progress in bringing peace to the country. Nevertheless, the FMLN abandoned its previous violent opposition to elections and refrained from acts of violence directed at the elections. Prior to the elections, extensive electoral reforms were made, including expanding the legislature from 60 to 84 seats, in order to enhance the participation of smaller political parties. The ruling ARENA party lost its majority in the National Assembly. The parties composed of elements from the Democratic Revolutionary Front (FDR), political allies of the FMLN, did well. The Democratic Convergence coalition won eight seats and the electoral wing of the Communist Party of El Salvador, the National Democratic Union, won one seat. Despite a number of technical and administrative irregularities, most observers, including the OAS, agreed that the elections were free and fair and that they had made a major contribution to national reconciliation. When the new Legislative Assembly was subsequently seated in May, CD leader Ruben Zamora was elected as a Vice-President of that body by unanimous vote.

The talks that began June 16 in Mexico and ran for ten days did not produce an agreement on a cease-fire, but U.N. negotiator de Soto said that progress had been made on narrowing the gap on important issues. The talks made particular progress on creation of a new National Civil Police. Negotiations resumed in Mexico on July 10, and again made some progress, without yielding any agreement.

Human Rights Cases Listed in Section 533 (since January 1991)

The Jesuit Case: Nine members of the Salvadoran military have been charged with the murder of six Jesuit priests, their housekeeper and her 15-year old daughter on November 16, 1989. The case was raised to the trial stage on December 7, 1990 on charges of terrorism, murder, destruction of evidence, perjury and conspiracy. The defense immediately appealed, arguing that there was insufficient evidence for trial, but the elevation to trial was upheld by the appeals court on April 10, 1991. On May 8 the Supreme Court denied a request for a writ of habeas corpus filed by the wife of the main defendant, and used the opportunity to review and deny the cases for habeas corpus for the other defendants rather than allowing them to be brought to the court individually.

This is the first case in which a Salvadoran colonel has been prosecuted for involvement in a human rights violation. Nevertheless, cooperation by certain members of the armed forces with the investigation has not been satisfactory. Some military officers have provided sketchy or contradictory testimony, which raises questions about possible involvement beyond those currently indicted, although no firm evidence on this point has yet surfaced.

On January 8, 1991 two prosecutors resigned from the Jesuit case investigations and later took positions representing the victims' families in a private capacity. The Department of State supported the engagement of the private prosecutors in the case. On February 22, 1991 Minister of Defense Ponce submitted a letter signed by the entire High Command of the Salvadoran armed forces to the Minister of Justice asking for an expansion of the investigation into the murders to include further investigation of 12 officers. All 12 were re-interviewed by the court. Minister of Defense Ponce has not testified in person, but has responded in writing to questions posed to him by the courts.

On May 23, Judge Ricardo Zamora opened an eight day evidentiary period ("termino de prueba") during which either the defense or the prosecution could present final evidence. Extending the evidentiary period by 90 days, Judge Zamora made an official request, transmitted via diplomatic note to the U.S. Embassy on May 30, for a second appearance (the first was in September, 1990) by U.S. Army Major Eric Buckland. The U.S. Government responded the next day with a limited waiver of privileges and immunities, offering to make Major Buckland available at a time of the Judge's convenience. The major then travelled to a location closer to El Salvador in order to be ready. The judge decided, however, that it was not necessary to schedule another personal appearance by the Major.

Two suspects are charged with obstruction of justice: a Lieutenant Colonel who is charged with having burned log books at the Military Academy and a Lieutenant who is among those charged with murder. Four enlisted men from the same unit that participated in the murders are charged with perjury. These charges will be decided by the judge, without a jury, after the murder trial.

On May 28 Judge Zamora requested written testimony from eight current or former U.S. Government employees and one private citizen. The U.S. Government is now in the process of gathering responses to the judge's request through a process utilizing letters rogatory.

Murder of Ten Peasants Near San Francisco (San Sebastian Case) On September 12, 1988, a military patrol detained ten peasants from Canton San Francisco, San Sebastian Municipality, San Vicente Department. Soon afterward, villagers heard two explosions and small arms fire. The next day, they found the dead bodies of all ten peasants. The military claimed that eight suspected FMLN collaborators and two captured guerrillas were killed when the column escorting the detainees to the helicopter was ambushed by guerrillas. The victims' families allege that the military executed all ten. The judge in San Sebastian investigated the killings and concluded that the villagers had been murdered.

There was very little progress in the case until Vice President Quayle visited El Salvador in February 1989 and emphasized US concern about the case. A special military honor board was formed to review the evidence and found cause to dismiss two officers and seven enlisted men from military service and turn them over to a judge for prosecution. Eventually, a total of twelve soldiers were arrested between February 13 and March 2, 1989. Several writs of habeas corpus filed in March 1989 were not resolved by the Supreme Court until September 1989, when the case was remanded to the court in San Sebastian.

On February 8, 1990, the judge of the First Instance Court of San Sebastian ruled that there was insufficient evidence to proceed to trial against ten of the accused and ordered their release. At the same time, he ordered trial proceedings initiated against Major Mauricio de Jesus Beltran and a sub-sergeant. The defense and the prosecution immediately filed appeals of the judge's ruling.

On April 27, the San Vicente appeals court ordered trial proceedings initiated against Beltran in the original court but held that there was insufficient evidence to initiate trial proceedings against the sub-sergeant. In addition, the appeals court also confirmed the finding of insufficient evidence against the other ten defendants, dropped all charges against them, and ordered their immediate release.

Major Beltran, the only remaining defendant, is in custody and awaiting trial. On June 26, the Supreme Court granted a petition from the prosecutors and transferred the case against Major Beltran from San Sebastian to the Sixth Criminal Judge of San Salvador.

Pearlman, both of the American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD) were murdered. In April 1981 the Salvadoran Government arrested Ricardo Sol Meza, the owner of the Sheraton hotel where the murders had been committed, and requested the extradition of Hans Christ, a businessman who had fled to the United States. In the fall of the 1981 a judge suspended all action in the case on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence to implicate Christ and Sol Meza in the murders. That decision was upheld by a court of appeals in April 1982 and Sol Meza was released. In September 1982 two Salvadoran National Guard enlisted men confessed to having committed the murders and alleged that Lt. Rodolfo Lopez Sibrian and Capt. Eduardo Ernesto Alfonso Avila and businessman Hans Christ ordered them to kill Viera and the two Americans. In December 1982 the case against Lopez Sibrian was dismissed due to insufficient evidence against him. In April 1983 an appellate court upheld the dismissal of charges against Lopez Sibrian and in November 1983 the supreme court denied the appeal of the appellate court decision. On December 19, 1983, as a result of the direct intervention by then-Vice President Bush, Captain Avila was arrested. On March 22, 1984 Avila was released. The two enlisted men were convicted of the murders on February 14, 1986. On December 19, 1987 an appeals court decided that the case came under the Esquipulas II Central American peace accords amnesty program, freed the two convicted murderers, and dropped charges against former Captain Eduardo Avila, the alleged mastermind of the crime. There are no active efforts at this time to re-open this case.

Bombing of FENASTRAS Headquarters: A bomb killed ten people and wrecked the offices of the FENASTRAS labor federation on October 31, 1989. In the days following the bombing, President Cristiani called for an investigatory commission to look into the crime. FENASTRAS initially refused to permit the Special Investigative Unit to conduct a physical examination of the site. Salvadoran investigators, assisted by FBI explosives incidents personnel, were not permitted by FENASTRAS to visit the site until November 8, 1989. By then FENASTRAS employees had cleaned up the site, thereby destroying much of the evidence. Efforts to investigate the bombing were further hampered by the beginning of the FMLN's major military offensive eleven days after the bombing. In September 1990, FENASTRAS leaders offered to present new evidence regarding the bombing and asked the US Embassy for assistance. To date, however, they have produced no new evidence or witnesses.

FMLN Receipt of Lethal Military Assistance (since January 1991)

Under strong international pressure the FMLN returned 17 surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) to the Sandinista Popular Army of Nicaragua on February 2, but claimed to still have a large number in their inventory. For its part, the Sandinista military continues to maintain that the FMLN had acquired these missiles in a "rogue operation" with members of the Nicaraguan Air Force. On March 19, Salvadoran television channel 12 broadcast video footage of an FMLN member holding what was later confirmed to be an SA-16 SAM. The SA-16 is the top-of-the-line Soviet man-portable SAM system. On April 1 the German magazine Der Spiegel ran an article that included a photograph of an FMLN guerrilla unit with an SA-16 missile (misidentified in the article as an SA-14). The article quoted the guerrillas as boasting of having sufficient weapons to wage four more years of war. The Cuban Government and the Sandinista Popular Army of Nicaragua deny having provided SA-16s to the FMLN. The SA-16 is only made in the Soviet Union, and has been supplied only to the Cuban and Sandinista armies in this hemisphere. The U.S. Government continues to express its concerns over the continued flow of weapons to the FMLN to the Soviet Union and other governments.

On February 22 Honduran authorities captured a Honduran citizen with a sizeable quantity of weapons which he said he was smuggling for the Sandinista Popular Army to support terrorist groups in Honduras and the FMLN. The weapons shipment consisted of 32 Soviet-made rocket-propelled grenade RPG-7's, 42 RPG propulsors, 2000 electric detonators, 2100 detonator caps, wire, and communications equipment. The captured Honduran had in his possession a safe conduct pass which had been issued by the Nicaraguan Directorate for Defense Intelligence.

The FMLN has no source of supply in El Salvador for their Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles , standard-issue AK-47 automatic rifles, Dragonov sniper rifles, mortars, RPG's, machine guns, etc. The FMLN relies on external support for these weapons, ammunition, and much other materiel. We have no indication that the guerrillas have begun to run low on arms or ammunition.

The appropriate Congressional committees have been briefed on continuing evidence of outside support for the FMLN in El Salvador.

FMLN Attacks on Civilian Targets and Injuring Civilians

The U.S. Embassy in San Salvador estimates that direct and indirect damage to the economy inflicted by the FMLN in 1990 totalled $ 125 million. In addition, actual production losses to industry, commerce and agriculture totalled $ 45 million — equivalent to 1.2 percent of GDP. These losses likely reduced real GDP growth by more than 25 percent. The FMLN executed more than 1,000 bombing attacks against primary and secondary electrical transmission lines and power stations in 1990.

(Since January)

The FMLN has intensified its sabotage campaign against the nation's electrical production capacity. This sabotage has been primarily directed against the country's electrical pylons. The FMLN also launched a major attack on the Cerron Grande hydroelectric facility, causing 500,000 dollars in damage. Due to the resulting loss of pumping capacity, the supply of potable

[illegible] a potential public health disaster. The FMLN has issued death threats against mayors and judges in Morazan, Usulutan, and Chalatenango departments in an effort to demonstrate control over certain areas of the country. At the same time, the guerrillas have increased the use of remotely detonated car bombs and attacks with inaccurate mortars in population centers. These actions contradict the March 13, 1991 announcement by the FMLN General Command that in response to the "calls of the various social, political and economic sectors of the country" there would be a "total suspension of attacks against civilians and public servants not part of the Salvadoran armed forces."

— During the period January 1 - April 30, 1991 12 civilians, including four children, were killed by mines laid by insurgents while during the same period 68 civilians were wounded, including 19 children.

— On February 15 guerrillas dynamited an electrical pylon in San Salvador, seriously damaging three civilian houses.

— On February 17 guerrillas detonated a claymore mine under a vehicle carrying at least 12 civilians in Chalatenango, killing one civilian and injuring nine.

— On February 17 guerrillas launched a mortar attack from a heavily-populated civilian area in San Salvador against the Ministry of Defense in which one civilian was killed and nine were injured.

— On February 19 two children and several adults were injured in an FMLN mortar attack against Third Brigade headquarters in San Miguel.

— On February 22 at least 12 civilian homes were damaged by home-made guerrilla mortars fired against a military communications center in San Salvador.

— On February 26 guerrillas attacked the industrial complex at Acajutla.

— On February 26 the FMLN attacked the San Salvador neighborhoods of Escalon and Lomas Verdes and fired on the Presidential Residence. In the six hours of combat that ensued, the guerrillas reportedly kidnapped the son of a retired Army officer, killed one civilian and injured seven others, and invaded several homes to use them as firing positions. The FMLN forced civilians to build barricades and used civilians as shields to inhibit the Army's ability to return fire. The FMLN's attacks included indiscriminate use of mortars, grenades and automatic weapons in heavily populated urban areas.

— On March 23 two children were seriously wounded by shrapnel when the guerrillas bombed an electrical pylon in San Salvador.

On March 28, the FMLN claimed credit for destroying at least 12 vehicles belonging to the Ministry of Public Works, Ministry of Education, and private companies. The FMLN's communique said that the destruction was carried out to demonstrate solidarity with striking employees of the Ministry of Treasury.

— On April 28 there were 23 separate attacks on the electrical power grid. These attacks successfully produced an initial rationing of electricity of about 60 percent throughout the country. This action also strained the potable water supply, due to the decreased availability of electrical pumping.

— On May 4 the Cerron Grande hydroelectric dam was attacked, causing an estimated half million dollars in damage, major power outages and extensive rationing of electricity.

— On May 15 the hydroelectric dam near San Vicente was attacked, killing two civilians, one member of the armed forces, and wounding three.

— On May 15 an explosive device was found attached to the vehicle of an armed forces officer.

— On May 17, a remote control bomb which was detonated on a soft drink delivery truck near a shopping center on the outskirts of San Salvador killed two policemen and injured four others.

— On May 17 four civilians and one Treasury policeman were wounded in an attack at an electric company sub-station near Soyapango.

— On May 22, two women were killed, at least two children and several other civilians were injured, and several homes were damaged or destroyed when the FMLN fired ten rocket and mortar rounds at a military installation in San Salvador during the evening rush hour. Nine of the ten rounds missed their target and landed in a civilian neighborhood. Three soldiers were wounded by the one rocket that hit the military facility.

— On May 28, the FMLN tried to rocket the First Brigade. During the morning rush hour, guerrillas fired one round from the third floor of a private home. The rocket detonated against a tree in a civilian housing complex, injuring four people and damaging several homes.

— On May 28 and 29 the FMLN conducted nine attacks against the electrical system and transportation network.

— In early July the FMLN began a "national maneuver" and expanded the scope and frequency of its attacks. A key element in this guerrilla offensive operation was attacks on civilian targets. The fighting resulted in several civilian casualties and numerous homes destroyed or damaged. This latest FMLN violence also included bus burnings, drive-by bombings, use of inaccurate some other methods. Frequently, in fact often as their military targets, guerrillas do cause civilian casualties and property damage, and there are some areas in which there are reports of guerrillas stealing personal property from civilians.

Armed Forces Attacks on Civilian Targets and Injuring Civilians

During this reporting period the Embassy, drawing from media and press reports and other public sources, reported that during 1990 the number of civilians killed in combat and non-combat situations was 59 percent lower in 1990 (154 total) than in 1989 (373 total). For the same period (1990) the number of "suspicious deaths" (those that could be attributed to a political motivation), dropped by 18 percent, when compared to 1989. However, disappearances during 1990 rose by 20 percent. Abductions were 82 percent fewer in 1990 (87) than in 1989 (488). The Embassy is currently compiling statistics for 1991, but reports that the number of deaths continues to decline, while disappearances are showing some increase.

(Since January)

-- On January 21, 15 people (13 of whom were from the same family) were killed in Canton Zapote Abajo, Ayutuxtepeque Municipality. Available evidence indicates that the killings were the result of a family feud between the Aragon and Vasquez families. All six suspects identified in this case have been arrested. Three individuals: an ex-member of the Civil Defense and two former soldiers, were arrested on February 21 and 22. The two ex-soldiers were discharged over a year ago. The ex-member of the Civil Defense deserted the day before the murder, taking his weapon with him. Physical evidence links the three to the massacre. In addition, the Government has arrested the sisters Maria Cristina Vasquez and Natividad Vasquez, who on February 17, confessed to planning the massacre.

-- On February 10 a caravan of people seeking to take humanitarian assistance north of the Torola River was stopped at an Army roadblock in San Francisco Gotera, Morazan Department. Some of the relief workers alleged that a soldier threw a grenade into a group of civilians, killing one and wounding three. The Army said that the soldier accidentally misfired a light rocket, killing himself and wounding another soldier as well as lightly wounding two nearby civilians.

-- On February 11 the Seventh Military Detachment arrested a soldier in Ahuachapan for allegedly throwing a hand grenade into a local bar, killing one person and injuring another 23.

-- On February 16 the case against one member of the Canton Zacamil, San Salvador Department, Civil Defense Force, for three counts of murder, was transferred to the First Criminal Court of San Salvador City. This followed the release of 14 other suspects for lack of evidence.

— On March 3 seven Civil Defense Force members were arrested by the National Police in Quetzaltepeque, Department of La Libertad, for allegedly being members of a criminal gang that would rob civilians at roadblocks while pretending to be guerrillas.

— Several human rights groups alleged that at least one of the five members of the Committee of Dismissed and Unemployed People arrested on March 20 for defacing a government building with graffiti was wounded by police gunfire. The arrested people told a U.S. Embassy officer that none had been shot, but all complained of mistreatment while in police custody. Because none were examined by a doctor after their release, there is no evidence to support or refute their allegations.

— Allegations have been made that the resettlement community of Guarjila was mortared on March 19, 1991, and in a subsequent incident, a nine-year old girl, Maria Teresa de Jesus Guardado, was fatally wounded by small arms fire within the town limits. Allegations have also been made that Francisco Cruz Menjivar was robbed and murdered by Salvadoran soldiers on March 30 in Nueva Trinidad. U.S. Embassy officials visited the sites of the alleged incidents and spoke with community leaders and other citizens. No physical damage from the alleged mortar attack was evident. The only ascertainable fact was that there had been an engagement between the Salvadoran military and FMLN insurgents which resulted in the girl's death. However, evidence regarding culpability was inconclusive. The Salvadoran armed forces claim that Francisco Cruz Menjivar, a platoon leader in the Popular Forces of Liberation, was killed in a cross fire. Local residents, however, claim that Cruz was killed by Salvadoran soldiers and claim that there was no combat in the area. The Embassy also requested information from the Salvadoran military commander in the area and asked the Salvadoran High Command to investigate. Our Embassy has reiterated to the Salvadoran Minister of Defense the United States Government's concern for the safety of all civilians and has asked him to make sure that the Army strictly adheres to procedures designed to protect civilians.

— On April 8, bombs dropped from a Salvadoran Air Force aircraft during a mission in close support of ground troops engaged in combat caused collateral damage to a home near Jucuaran, Usulutan, killing two civilians. Twelve insurgents were also reportedly killed. Air Force officials initially denied responsibility for the collateral damage and civilian casualties, since the bomb did not hit the home, but investigations showed that the explosion near the home caused the poorly constructed roof to cave in. The armed forces announced that they will pay reparations to the family.

— On April 30 a jury convicted a lieutenant, a sergeant, and a private soldier of the murder of a mentally retarded man on December 5, 1986.

— On May 2 the Santa Ana Appeals Court ordered trial proceedings initiated and returned the case known as the Armenia wells case to the Court of First Instance in Armenia, Sonsonate Department. From 1980-82, 18 to 30 people (accounts vary) were allegedly kidnapped by Civil Defense Force members in the El Manguito Canton, Armenia Jurisdiction, Sonsonate Department.

— Allegations have been made by officials of the Democratic Convergence (CD), political party that Jose Arturo Mauricio Sanchez was arrested and tortured by the National Police in Ahuachapan on May 4. Neither Mr. Sanchez nor the CD filed a complaint, nor did Mr. Sanchez undergo a medical examination to obtain confirmation of his alleged torture.

— Allegations have been made that on June 11 police fired automatic weapons directly into a group of four hundred peasants seeking to illegally occupy farm land. One person was alleged to have been slightly wounded. Police claim to have fired only into the air.

— Human rights organizations have expressed concern regarding the arrest on June 15 of 27 Salvadorans attending a conference of the Salvadoran Association of Integral Development. On June 18 all 27 were remanded to a justice of the peace on charges of subversive associations. At that time the judge determined that there was sufficient cause to leave the suspects in detention for 72 hours, pending further investigation. On June 21, the judge found no merit to the charges and ordered all 27 detainees released. None of the detained alleged any physical abuse.

— On June 25 the Defense Ministry ordered investigations into allegations made by several displaced persons' organizations that Army units had attacked civilian communities of San Jose las Flores, Chalatenango, and a town in Quezaltepeque, La Libertad Department. Armed forces spokespersons said that the Army fired tear gas and shots into the air, not at civilians, to disperse groups throwing stones at troops.

— On June 2, a drunken corporal fired his weapon into a crowd, killing one young girl and wounding two men and a woman. He was arrested by the National Police and consigned to a tribunal. Another soldier who was not involved in the shooting but did leave his military post with the corporal was also referred to the tribunal.

— At least eight murders have been reported to have taken place that some have alleged to be the work of right-wing "death squads". While there is no evidence of political motivation for any of the killings, the circumstances are sufficiently suspicious to merit listing:

— In May, the body of an unidentified man, was reportedly found hanging from a tree in Canton El Cerro, Cotatepeque Municipality, Santa Ana Department.

— The body of Francisco Isaac Martinez, ex-candidate for Deputy and member of the Democratic Convergence, was found on May 14.

— On May 19 in La Libertad Department, Gustavo Rosa Ramirez Aguilar was shot by masked assailants.

— An unidentified body was found on March 28 in Canton El Tinteral. There were signs that the victim had been tortured before being shot.

MEMORANDUM FOR BRENT SCOWCROFT
THE WHITE HOUSE

SUBJECT: Request for President Bush to Call Mexican President Salinas on Salvadoran Negotiations

My memorandum of July 3, 1991 recommended that President Bush call Mexican President Salinas and Venezuelan President Perez on Salvadoran negotiations. Since that memorandum was sent, President Perez (CAP) has taken a very active role in pushing a global negotiation package favored by Salvadoran President Cristiani with the FMLN. Neither CAP nor the Mexicans have brought us into this effort, although Cristiani has kept us informed.

The United Nations mediator and the FMLN have been pushing a different formula which calls for changing the negotiating format and agreeing on all aspects of a settlement prior to a ceasefire. We expect that the FMLN and the UN will seek to divide Presidents Salinas and CAP in the coming days and to back Salinas away from pressing the FMLN for a global agreement and early ceasefire. Accordingly, we now assess it very important that President Bush call President Salinas as soon as possible to urge his efforts to promote an early ceasefire. If Salinas refers to his ongoing efforts, the President can encourage him to carry on and to take advantage of the upcoming Guadalajara summit to press for an early ceasefire and settlement.

Revised talking points for call to President Salinas are attached.

Suggested Talking Points for Presidential Phone Call to Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gotari

-- I'm very concerned about the negotiations on El Salvador. I need your advice and help.

-- President Cristiani was in Washington recently, and we had an excellent visit.

-- I think Cristiani has made enormous progress in opening up El Salvador politically.

-- In the negotiations, he has made enormous reforms in every area: human rights, the armed forces, the judiciary, and electoral reform.

-- But he has nothing to show for his efforts at home. The FMLN is stepping up the war and assassinating army officers again.

-- The FMLN is now talking about the need to revise the negotiating formula; we hope that is not just a means to relieve pressure on them to agree to an early ceasefire.

-- I think Cristiani is willing to make additional reforms at the bargaining table, but he cannot keep making concession after concession without bringing back a ceasefire.

-- I think the time is right for a major push to get the parties to agree on all the issues before them now, including a ceasefire and reintegration of the FMLN into civilian political life.

-- Frankly, I do not think the UN negotiator alone can bring the parties together this way.

-- If you, Carlos Andres Perez, and the other Friends of the Secretary General (Felipe Gonzalez-Spain, Carlos Gaviria-Colombia) could play a more direct role in establishing such a negotiation and pressing the FMLN to reach a ceasefire, I think it could be successful.

-- I understand that all of the Presidents of Latin America including Fidel Castro will be gathering together in Guadalajara on July 17. Could you organize them to press for a ceasefire?

-- The Guadalajara summit is an opportunity to send a clear message to the FMLN and the UN and to Fidel Castro that the Presidents of Latin America want this conflict settled now and that you have clear ideas about how to resolve all the issues at once.

-- I hope you will also press Cuba at Guadalajara to stop supplying the FMLN with weapons and work for an end to the war.

-- I will do anything that you think would help from my end, but frankly, I think you have the most decisive influence here.

-- I'm afraid that if we do not bring this war to an end soon, the whole peace process might unravel, and that would be destabilizing for all of Central America.

-- (If Salinas raises the effort Carlos Andres Perez and Salinas have underway to turn Cristiani's peace proposal into a proposal of the Four Friends then you should add:)

-- This is a very important effort on your part and I encourage you to work with President Carlos Andres Perez to ensure that it prospers in the near future.

CHUALCUBEN CLAIMS HE WAS KIDNAPPED NEAR SANTIAGO ATITLAN (SOLOLA) BY TWO MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WHO ACCUSED HIM OF BEING A GUERRILLA. HE CLAIMS HIS KIDNAPPERS TOOK HIM TO THE MILITARY BASE IN SOLOLA WHERE THEY AND ARMY PERSONNEL PROCEEDED TO TORTURE AND INTERROGATE HIM. WRITS OF HABEUS CORPUS WERE FILED BY THE CHUALCUBEN FAMILY AND A JUDGE SEARCHED THE BASE, BUT COULD FIND NO SIGN OF HIM. STATEMENT BY RICHARD BOUCHER/DEPUTY SPOKESMAN

UNITED STATES-CHILE JOINT STATEMENT

STATE 229788 1514112 000796 S013848

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS BEING RELEASED BY THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE US AND CHILE:

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INTER-AMERICAN AFFAIRS BERNARD ARONSON AND CHILEAN VICE MINISTER OF FOREIGN RELATIONS EDMUNDO VARGAS HELD MEETINGS AT THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE JULY 9 TO REVIEW POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC ISSUES OF MUTUAL CONCERN. THESE INCLUDED A VARIETY OF TRADE MATTERS, RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF A PEACE CORPS PROGRAM IN CHILE, AND COMPENSATION FOR THE FAMILIES OF ORLANDO LETELIER AND RONNI MOFFITT, WHO WERE KILLED IN A 1976 TERRORIST ATTACK IN WASHINGTON.

IN THE AREA OF TRADE, DISCUSSIONS ADDRESSED THE WORKING GROUP CREATED BY THE BILATERAL FRAMEWORK AGREEMENT ON TRADE AND COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW OF THE TWO COUNTRIES' RESPECTIVE TRADE PRACTICES--A NECESSARY FIRST EXERCISE BEFORE THE QUESTION OF POSSIBLE NEGOTIATIONS LEADING TO A FREE TRADE AGREEMENT CAN BE DISCUSSED LATER THIS YEAR.

THE TWO OFFICIALS ALSO DISCUSSED IMPLEMENTING REGULATIONS FOR CHILE'S NEW PATENT PROTECTION LAW.

VICE MINISTER VARGAS INFORMED ASSISTANT SECRETARY ARONSON THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE IS PREPARED TO COMPLETE THE EXCHANGE OF NOTES THAT WILL ENABLE THE PEACE CORPS TO RE-ESTABLISH ITS PROGRAM IN CHILE (AFTER A TEN YEAR ABSENCE). INITIALLY, PEACE CORPS PROGRAMS IN CHILE WILL FOCUS ON FORESTRY AND ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION.

THE JOINT CONSULTATIONS CONCLUDED WITH DISCUSSION OF STEPS TO FACILITATE THE FIVE-MEMBER INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION APPOINTED TO DETERMINE THE AMOUNT OF EX GRATIA COMPENSATION TO BE PAID TO THE LETELIER AND MOFFITT FAMILIES BY THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE. ON JUNE 11, 1990, CHILE AND THE UNITED STATES SIGNED AN AGREEMENT CREATING THE COMMISSION. THE CHILEAN CONGRESS HAS RATIFIED THE AGREEMENT, AND THE COMMISSION IS EXPECTED TO BEGIN ITS DELIBERATIONS FOLLOWING PROMULGATION OF THE RATIFICATION BILL BY THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT. MESSRS. VARGAS AND ARONSON JOINTLY CALLED ON OAS SECRETARY GENERAL BAENA SOARES TO CONFIRM THAT THE OAS WILL PROVIDE ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT TO THE WORK OF THE COMMISSION.

STATEMENT BY RICHARD BOUCHER/DEPUTY SPOKESMAN

EL SALVADOR: FMLN ATTACKS DAMAGE ECONOMY

JUST AS THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR AND THE FMLN GUERRILLAS RETURNED TO THE NEGOTIATING TABLE IN MEXICO ON JULY 9, THE FMLN SIGNIFICANTLY INCREASED THE LEVEL OF VIOLENCE, INCLUDING ATTACKS ON THE CIVILIAN ECONOMY, IN EL SALVADOR. WE REITERATE OUR CALL TO THE FMLN TO END THIS DESTRUCTION AND TO NEGOTIATE AN EARLY CEASE-FIRE IN ORDER THAT EL SALVADOR'S SUFFERING CAN END.

ANNOUNCING THE BEGINNING OF A NATIONAL MANEUVER, THE FMLN HAS HIT THE SALVADORAN ECONOMIC INFRASTRUCTURE PARTICULARLY HARD, CAUSING DISRUPTION AND HARDSHIP FOR THE CIVILIAN POPULATION. IN THE LAST SEVERAL DAYS THIS LATEST GUERRILLA OFFENSIVE HAS INCLUDED ROADBLOCKS, BUS BURNINGS

AND OTHER ATTACKS AGAINST THE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM, EXTENSIVE SABOTAGE OF THE ELECTRICAL SYSTEM, ATTACKS ON FACTORIES AND WAREHOUSES, AND INACCURATE HOMEMADE MORTAR ATTACKS AGAINST MILITARY PERSONNEL IN URBAN AREAS, KILLING OR INJURING SCORES OF CIVILIANS.

THE SUPREME COURT

7. EARLY ON THE MORNING ON JULY 11 A/S SCHIFTER AND THE AMBASSADOR MET WITH THE ACTING PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT RICARDO NUGENT AND SEVERAL OTHER JUSTICES (VOCALES). HE SUGGESTED TO THE ACTING PRESIDENT NUGENT THAT THE GOP MIGHT WISH TO EXPLORE THE POSSIBILITY OF REGULAR EXCHANGES BETWEEN PERUVIAN AND U.S. JUDGES, POINTING TO THE CURRENT EXCHANGE PROGRAM WITH MEXICO. HE URGED THE GOP TO DESIGNATE A RESPECTED LEGAL FIGURE AS A POINT OF CONTACT WITH WHICH THE USG COULD COORDINATE. NUGENT ACCEPTED THE UTILITY OF SUCH EXCHANGES AND UNDERSCORED OTHER NEEDS OF THE PERUVIAN JUDICIAL SYSTEM, INCLUDING SPANISH TRANSLATIONS OF U.S. LEGISLATION, COMPUTERS AND A NEW BUILDING IN WHICH THE SUPREME COURT COULD OPERATE IN A SECURE AND EFFICIENT MANNER.

8. A/S SCHIFTER REPLIED THAT WE COULD CERTAINLY HELP ON EXCHANGES OF INFORMATION, ESPECIALLY WITH THE PERUVIAN LEGAL ACADEMY, BUT THAT WE WOULD NEED TO KNOW WHICH AREAS OF LAW THE COURT WAS MOST INTERESTED IN. HE SAID THAT IT WAS UNLIKELY THAT ANY FOREIGN GOVERNMENT WOULD BUILD A NEW COURTHOUSE FOR PERU. HE DID MENTION,

9. FR. FELIPE MACGREGOR, A JESUIT PRIEST, TOLD A/S SCHIFTER THAT PRESIDENT FUJIMORI HAD ASKED HIM TO BE THE GOP "COMMISSIONER OF HUMAN RIGHTS." FR. MACGREGOR SAID HE HAD REFUSED THIS POSITION BUT HAD AGREED TO ACCEPT THE SOON TO BE ANNOUNCED POSITION OF "COMMISSIONER OF PEACE." FR. MACGREGOR TURNED DOWN THE HUMAN RIGHTS POST BECAUSE THE PRESIDENTIALLY APPOINTED "COUNCIL OF PEACE" SHOULD HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY TO INVESTIGATE HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. THE RECENTLY CONSTITUTED "COUNCIL OF PEACE" WAS COMPOSED OF REPRESENTATIVES OF ALL POLITICAL PARTIES AND CHAIRED BY THE PRIME MINISTER. FR. MACGREGOR SAW HIS TASK AS PEACE COMMISSIONER FIRST TO SEARCH FOR A "NEGATIVE PEACE", WHICH HE DEFINED AS THE ABSENCE OF CONFLICT. AFTERWARDS HE WOULD TRY TO OBTAIN A "POSITIVE PEACE", WHICH INCLUDED NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT.

10. TURNING TO HIS POSITION AS "PEACE COMMISSIONER", FR. MACGREGOR ELABORATED THAT HE WOULD NOT ACCEPT THE POSITION UNLESS HE HAD THE SUPPORT OF THE CHIEFS OF THE MILITARY SERVICES. HE HAD ALREADY SECURED THE SUPPORT OF THE COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE ARMY AND WAS SCHEDULED TO SPEAK WITH THE COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE AIR FORCE (WHO IS ALSO THE EQUIVALENT OF CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF) AND THE CHIEF OF THE NAVY ON JULY 12

11. COMMENT: FR. MACGREGOR HAD ESSENTIALLY OUTLINED THE SAME POSITION TO THE AMBASSADOR SEVERAL DAYS PREVIOUSLY. THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, OR OMBUDSMAN, POSITION ANNOUNCED IN PRESIDENT FUJIMORI'S INAUGURATION SPEECH WAS OFFERED EARLIER TO SENATOR BERNALES AND SEVERAL OTHERS WHO TURNED IT DOWN. FR. MACGREGOR INDICATED HE HAD AGREED TO ACCEPT THE POSITION OF "HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR PEACE" ONLY ON THE CONDITION THAT IT NOT INCLUDE AN EXPLICIT HUMAN RIGHTS MANDATE. HE TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT FORMALLY ASSOCIATING HIMSELF WITH HUMAN RIGHTS WOULD RENDER HIM INEFFECTIVE IN THE LARGER JOB OF SEEKING PEACE AND NATIONAL RECONCILIATION. HE EXPLAINED THAT IF HE TOOK ON HUMAN RIGHTS, HE WOULD BE BURIED UNDER SPECIFIC COMPLAINTS WHICH SHOULD MORE APPROPRIATELY BE HANDLED BY THE PUBLIC MINISTRY. THE UNDP HAS AGREED TO FINANCE FR. MACGREGOR'S OPERATION. END COMMENT.

13. ON THE QUESTION OF ACCESS HE STATED THAT, EXCEPT FOR THE TINGO MARIA TRANSIT FACILITY, THE ICRC STILL DOES NOT HAVE ACCESS TO TECHNICAL POLICE DETENTION FACILITIES OUTSIDE OF LIMA OR TO ARMED FORCES DETENTION FACILITIES ANYWHERE IN THE COUNTRY. HE STATED THAT THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE AND GENERAL ARCENIEGA HAD EXPRESSED AN INFORMAL PREDISPOSITION TO ALLOW ICRC ACCESS TO MILITARY DETENTION FACILITIES. ## U.S. LIFTS SANCTIONS AGAINST SOUTH AFRICA

EUROPEANS SUPPORTIVE BUT AFRICANS DIVIDED

President Bush's decision July 10 to lift U.S. sanctions imposed by the Comprehensive Anti-Apartheid Act received mixed reviews in extensive coverage worldwide. Media voices from nine African nations and 17 other countries around the world thought the move reflected changing international opinion in favor of South Africa but there was some criticism that the President had moved too quickly. This is the regional breakdown:

* Media reaction within South Africa followed predictable patterns: pro-Government papers applauded Bush's decision as a "blow to the ANC" and a boost for South Africa's post-apartheid economy. Liberal and black papers said the decision unfairly undercut the ANC and that the U.S. was once again on the wrong side of history.

* Commentary in black Africa was generally negative, but with significant exceptions. Papers in Nigeria, Senegal, Tanzania and Zimbabwe said that Bush had abandoned both the ANC and the democratic principle of one man, one vote. Some countries put economic considerations over politics. Media in Cote D'Ivoire, Kenya, Malawi and Zambia welcomed the decision because it offers the opportunity to trade openly with South Africa.

* Most European papers praised the Bush decision. They cautioned, however, that its effect will be partially symbolic, and that South Africa still faces daunting economic and political challenges.

* The sample reporting from the rest of the world's press was small, with only nine countries included. Reaction was mixed, but most called Bush's decision premature.

SOUTH AFRICA: "A Blow For The ANC"

Pro-Government Die Burger editorialized July 11, "In South Africa, President Bush's decision is a blow for the ANC, who has persisted with its sanctions foolishness. The erosion of sanctions worldwide makes the views of the ANC irrelevant. If the organization doesn't take a rational decision soon its opinion will become a complete embarrassment."

"No Dramatic Change"

The pro-Government The Citizen July 11 had this to say: "While we don't care about President Bush's decision to maintain the arms embargo, we are sorry that he is going to continue the ban on International Monetary Fund loans to South Africa.

"We have already broken through the sanctions barrier. The lifting of U.S. sanctions will not make any dramatic change, but provides a much-needed boost in business confidence... But we do need IMF loans rather desperately."

"Bush Did The Right Thing"

The independent, centrist Pretoria News editorialized July 12, "Mr. Bush was merely obeying a law passed in Congress in 1986.... He did the right thing.... A future government in which the ANC has a stake will be able to show its stuff and deliver its promises only in a vibrant economy."

"One Of Our Most Effective Weapons Has Been Rendered Ineffective"

The black, opposition City Press editor, Khulu Sibiya, opined, "One of the strongest weapons wielded by black liberation movements against the South African regime has been rendered ineffective.

"Sanctions and mass mobilization have been our most effective weapons to bring about change. Nobody can deny their effectiveness. Without them apartheid legislation would still be on the statute books."

"A New Foundation For Vigorous Growth"

The liberal Sunday Star editorialized, "Clearly, George Bush's initiative in sweeping aside U.S. sanctions is more than simply psychological in its ramifications. The South African economy now has a foundation from which vigorous economic growth can proceed."

"We Shall Not Forget Those Who Mollycoddled Apartheid"

The Sunday Star carried this view by Jon Qwelane: "There is something totally obscene about the haste with which the front doors of international trade and sport were flung open to admit racist South Africa. Most obscene is George Bush's naked attempt to bribe blacks into accepting his lead in busting the sanctions by announcing that America will double its 'assistance' to black South Africans to $80 million...

DECLASSIFIED

"But Bush and other friends of apartheid must be told that in any country, including their own countries, the provision of housing and education is the responsibility of the Government....

"Sanctions, in my view, did not hurt blacks any more than apartheid.... Unfortunately greed...overtook apartheid's chief allies in...Washington.... When the dust has settled and a government chosen by the majority is in power, we shall not forget those who mollycoddled apartheid."

"Lifting Of Sanctions Not A Panacea"

Readers of independent Business Day saw this: "The South African business community...can be excused some self-satisfaction at the termination by U.S. President George Bush of the sanctions.... But the elation...should not be allowed to become a misplaced euphoria.... It does not represent an instant panacea for our economic difficulties."

SENEGAL: "American Decision Was Hasty"

Readers of semiofficial Le Soleil saw this July 12: "As for Bush, who just gave in, one must recognize that he kept enough pressure on, refusing to anticipate at a time when Thatcher and others were showing a suspicious will to...(work with) Pretoria. Nevertheless, the American decision is still hasty. Bush...has loosened his grip at the very moment a little pressure needed to be applied."

NIGERIA: "Inalienable Democratic Principle Of One Man, One Vote"

Tunde Fatunde, a foreign affairs specialist, commented July 15 in the independent Guardian, "Many anti-apartheid and pro-democracy organizations were taken aback by the absence of any remote mention by George Bush of the inalienable democratic principle of one man, one vote. Some analysts are of the opinion that America's President, in his speech, should have categorically and overtly stated that economic and financial assistance to South Africa would be predicated on the establishment of one man, one vote."

"Premature And Too Hasty"

In the opinion of the July 12th independent Republic, "The U.S. decision seemed premature and too hasty.... The implication of Washington's action is that a wrong signal might be sent to the international community...to follow and lift economic sanctions.... Apartheid is still very much entrenched and nothing has changed fundamentally."

COTE D'IVOIRE: "Lifting Of Sanctions Will Have No Effect At All"

Pro-Government Ivoir Soir's international affairs reporter Michel Man commented July 15, "One thing is certain: For whites as well as for blacks, it will take years to see the results of the lifting of sanctions. As for the Western countries, they will soon discover that as long as violence continues in the townships their decision will have no effect at all."

DECLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

"No Reason For Us Not To Lift Sanctions"

On July 12, however, Ivoir Soir's international affairs reporter Venance Konan expressed this view, "Whew! The United States has lifted sanctions against South Africa. Japan and Europe will soon follow. The happiest ones are not the South Africans but us from the rest of Africa...because we will at last be able to trade with South Africa without having to hide.... It is true that we had voted sanctions, but there is no reason for our not lifting them. In any case, they did not serve any purpose."

UGANDA: "Maintain Sanctions"

The Government-supported New Vision asserted, "The South African black is poorer than a Ugandan because he lives in squalor in the town, because he does not have access to cheap food or land.

"This is a crime against humanity. South Africa is the most industrialized country in Africa...with the capacity to eliminate extreme poverty. It is not a poor agricultural country like Uganda which has almost been broken by bad politics. People should stop dreaming that South Africa has suddenly become a utopia.... Sanctions should be maintained by all honorable nations and organizations until there is a majority rule...with one person, one vote. Then, maybe South Africa can start to pull up the roots of injustice."

KENYA: "Africa Has Some Thinking To Do"

The July 11th edition of the independent Standard editorialized, "Should the United States join the European Economic Community in the lifting of the sanctions, then Africa has some thinking to do. Continued imposition of trade sanctions can only be effective when supported by the world's major trading powers.

"Several African countries, including those which are effectively trading with South Africa, continue to object to the lifting of sanctions. As the scheme of things stands this week, time has run out and they will have to change their tune and encourage de Klerk in creating a non-racial democracy for South Africa."

TANZANIA: "Still A Long Way To Go"

The government party-owned Uhuru carried Tanzanian President Babangida's criticism of the Bush decision and commented, "For all those who know what the struggle has been all about, it is clear that there is still a long way to go before the black majority can even begin being treated as equals in their own country, let alone benefit from the wealth of that country."

"Sending Wrong Signals"

The English-language, government-owned Daily News focused on the admitting South Africa into the Olympic Games and said, "Indeed, we share the Nigerian leader's view that the lifting of international sporting sanctions on South Africa at this stage might only serve to send out the wrong signals to De Klerk's regime and weaken its commitment towards scrapping apartheid altogether."

DECLASSIFIED

MALAWI: "Encouragement For De Klerk"

This news analysis appeared in the weekly Malawi News July 13-19 edition: "Now that Mr. de Klerk has succeeded in returning South Africa to international respectability, it is almost impossible for him to lose this chance and to risk facing isolation again for the sake of appeasing a few white extremists.... If anything, the lifting of sanctions will encourage the South African president to meet the remaining conditions laid down by anti-apartheid organizations and work closely with them as he is doing to end the violence in the black townships."

ZAMBIA: Attitudes Soften Toward South Africa

The Government-owned Mail July 8 outlined this dilemma: "Zambia...did see the need for lifting...sanctions when in fact the black South Africans themselves were actually calling for their continuation. Lifting sanctions right then would imply that Zambia was a sell-out, a betrayer of the just cause of liberation. But then it became difficult for countries to reconcile the two, namely their national interest and the cause of the oppressed people of South Africa. Now that the ANC itself is prepared to soften its hardline stance on sanctions, it means that those countries that were still maintaining sanctions should consider being flexible.... When everything is normal, many countries will be more than ready to trade openly with South Africa. Indeed, Zambia is no exception to this."

ZIMBABWE: "Why Reward De Klerk?"

The Marxist-oriented Sunday Mail charged under the headline above, "Washington has never been enthusiastic about sanctions. It was popular pressure that forced the Reagan Administration to go along with the idea. In lifting sanctions unilaterally, President George Bush has merely fulfilled the desires of his predecessor....

"The U.S.-led campaign to lift economic sanctions against Pretoria will only serve to strengthen President de Klerk's regime irrespective of the number of telephone calls President Bush may make to the leadership of the ANC to assuaged their bruised feelings."

EUROPE

BRITAIN: "Long Live The Interregum"

The conservative Times of London also commented July 11, "Logically the first of the boycotts to go should have been those affecting cultural and academic life, for the prevention of the free movement of ideas and people was always the hardest ban to justify....

DECLASSIFIED

DECLASSIFIED

"What is opening up is perhaps a mini golden age, with the liberalization of South African life internally and externally. But the nation's economy and its complex society stand to prosper mightily--briefly at least. The worries all relate to the possibility that, a few years on, the country might find itself with a government which could not only produce a dramatic collapse, in sheer administrative incompetence, but would also be the sort in which spirits like (hard-line ANC member) Mr. Serote would feel thoroughly at home.

"For the moment the country is enjoying the best of all worlds: the ending of international isolation on every front, a technically competent government in power and a climate of progressive liberalization in every sphere. Little wonder that the half-spoken thought in many minds is 'long live the interregnum'."

"Still No Access To IMF Loans"

The independent Financial Times said on July 11, "Senior leaders of the African National Congress argue--with ill-concealed glee--that no sensible foreign investor would invest in South Africa at the moment, sanctions or no sanctions.

"Unfortunately for South Africa, they are probably right. For the lifting of U.S. economic sanctions against Pretoria will remove only one of the barriers to the investment which post-apartheid South Africa so desperately needs.... The most important legislative sanctions of all--the effective ban imposed by Washington on Pretoria's access to loans from the International Monetary Fund--will remain in place. Without such access, and the commercial bank lending it might bring in its wake, growth in the South African economy must remain severely constrained."

"Now, Neither Whites Nor Blacks Can Blame Outsiders"

The centrist Independent opined July 11, "A strange and confused episode in international relations is drawing to a close. In so far as there was a genuine moral impulse behind the sanctions, it was honorable.... The fact that sanctions attracted a great deal of sanctimonious hypocrisy, especially from governments guilty of appalling violations of human rights, does not invalidate the impulse behind them....

"The mere lifting of sanctions will not in itself bring back foreign investment or provide significant relief to the South African economy. Everything will depend on the political outlook, which is still very uncertain. The white community needs to look beyond the amelioration of apartheid towards a radical restructuring of politics and society, leading to democracy. The ANC needs to dump the remains of its left-wing baggage and join in efforts to build a modern economy, open to the world.... In these circumstances, perhaps the most useful effect of lifting sanctions will be to make it difficult for either side to blame the outside world for the trouble that still lies ahead."

DECLASSIFIED

DECLASSIFIED

FRANCE: "Important Diplomatic Turn"

On July 11, conservative Le Figaro's Washington correspondent Stephane Marchand noted an "important diplomatic turn," but added that the decision "may aggravate the relationship between George Bush and the black community in the United States."

"Cautious Bush"

New York correspondent Patricia Colmant of economic Les Echos reported July 11, "Strangely, five years after the sanctions came into force--and at that time they caused serious political debate--the lifting of the sanctions has encountered little opposition.... Some even say that President Bush could have made this decision earlier, and that it is his legendary political caution that led him to postpone until the summer this decision that was expected in the spring."

"Blacks Still Have No Right To Vote"

Communist L'Humanite said on page one that "the basis of racial segregation remains: Black people have no right to vote."

GERMANY: "More Psychological Than Practical Significance"

Right-of-center Frankfurter Allgemeine opined July 11 on page one, "The lifting of international sanctions is intended to encourage and obligate de Klerk to continue his policies energetically until all South Africans enjoy equal rights. If he does not do this, there is always the option to reimpose a boycott on South Africa.

"It is, however, doubtful whether international pressure forced the South African Government to rethink its policies. It seems more likely that the white minority had to give way in the face of the sheer numbers of blacks in South Africa. The white South Africans want to survive and realize that, in the long term, their existence can only be guaranteed in mutual agreement with the black majority. For this reason, the end of sanctions and the boycott have a more psychological than practical significance."

ITALY: "Psychological And Political Impact"

Paolo Passarini filed from Washington in centrist La Stampa on July 11, "Even though the U.S. decision will have limited economic effects at least in the initial phase, South Africa was admitted de facto to the 'elite club' of the international community.... The U.S. decision, in sum, will mainly have a psychological and political effect."

SWITZERLAND: "Still A Long Way To Go For Full Respectability"

The July 11 edition of centrist 24 Heures of Lausanne held, "At first sight, the decision seems cause for celebration. It is always good to see a country rejoin the concert of nations by deciding to improve its citizens' lot. But the South African Government still has a long way to go to achieve full respectability. Blacks are still excluded from political life. Now it is up to the white ruling class to show it is worthy of the praise lavished upon it."

FINLAND: "Sanctions Have Played Their Role"

Leading independent Helsingin Sanomat stated July 11, "Unless dramatic changes for the worse occur in South African politics, the majority of the world considers that the embargo and sanctions have played their role. Other injustices, distortions of the multiracial South African society, are matters to be corrected by the South Africans themselves without threat of massive international sanctions."

SWEDEN: "Could Cause Democratization Process To Go Astray"

The July 11 Social Democrat Aftonbladet editorialized, "President Bush's decision to lift sanctions could cause the ongoing democratization process toward equal rights for black and white in South Africa to stop, go astray or lose momentum.... It is important that countries do not go along with the United States like obedient vassals, but instead await developments in South Africa before easing economic sanctions. The fact that the Swedish Government, supported by the liberal and the center parties, holds such a position is gratifying.... Swedish sanctions policy, and Swedish foreign policy on the whole, is not a White House branch activity."

CANADA: "Remove Sanctions Step By Step"

The lead editorial in the liberal Toronto Star observed under the headline above, "South Africa is still far from one person, one vote. But the substantive legal changes of recent weeks have propelled the U.S. and E.C. decisions (on lifting sanctions). Now Canada cannot help but take note--because comprehensive sanctions without worldwide compliance are pointless.... Intermediate trade and financial sanctions should continue until further progress is made on political prisoners, especially in the homelands. Embargoes on military equipment and exchanges should remain."

MIDDLE EAST

ISRAEL: "Israel Takes Cue From Washington"

Independent Hadashot said, "Israel was not guided by purely moral considerations in deciding to join the sanctions against South Africa; nor will moral considerations be the decisive factor in its upcoming decision to lift the sanctions.... Secret military cooperation between Israel and South Africa continued all along, and it was vital for Israel.... Now that the United States has decided to lift its sanctions, Israel is gladly taking its cue from Washington. Lifting the sanctions will not denote any fundamental change in Israel's attitude toward South Africa; it simply allows us to become a little less hypocritical."

FAR EAST AND PACIFIC

INDONESIA: "Too Soon"

Independent Kompas said July 15, "The lifting of U.S. economic sanctions against South Africa is considered too soon.... Both economic sanctions and outside political pressures are still needed to accelerate change.... We sympathize with the disappointment of the South African black community."

MALAYSIA: "The West Just Could Not Wait"

The Government-controlled New Straits Times told its readers July 12, "The African National Congress, although prepared for the possibility of reduced international trade sanctions, has always made it known that such sanctions are useful in their negotiations.... Despite this, the West just could not wait.... Rather than relax its economic, financial and arms sanctions, the world must double its efforts at this stage of dismantling (apartheid)."

AUSTRALIA: "Premature"

An editorial in Melbourne's liberal Age July 11 concluded, "The Bush Administration apparently feels it has little choice but to lift U.S. trade sanctions because all the conditions imposed by Congress for their removal have been met. We agree with Foreign Minister Gareth Evans, however, that the move is premature.

"It is an act of faith to assume, while blacks still do not have the right to vote, that the changes in South Africa are irreversible.... The powerful weapon of economic sanctions should be kept until unambiguous progress toward a fully multiracial, democratic society can be demonstrated. Then it will be inevitable--and right--that South Africa's long isolation should end."

No It Isn't

Countering the above, the conservative Melbourne Herald-Sun said, "Foreign Minister Gareth Evans describes the U.S. move to lift sanctions as 'premature.' The best he can offer on Australia's behalf is that sanctions could be dropped by the end of the year.... Through such reluctance, Evans creates the real possibility that Australia will lose the honorable place it has held in the anti-apartheid avante garde. Worse, he risks making it harder for de Klerk to convince his white constituency that they must go further."

NEW ZEALAND: "Steady Progress Of Reform"

On July 11, the conservative Otago Daily Times felt that "even if the lifting of sanctions by the United States and the International Olympic Committee was hasty, it should not interfere with the steady progress of reform."

SOUTH ASIA

INDIA: "Appreciation For Substantial Progress"

Readers of the independent Indian Express saw this editorial July 12: "The withdrawal of most of the U.S. sanctions against South Africa marks a well-deserved appreciation for the substantial progress made by President de Klerk towards dismantling the ugly edifice of white racism. The apparent rapport de Klerk has already established with Nelson Mandela...is a good enough reason for the international community to begin ending South Africa's isolation."

"Bush Could Have Made More Effective Use Of Sanctions Weapon"

Under the heading above, an editorial in the July 13 Bombay Independent said, "Although the American move is understandable, it would have been better had President Bush not eased some of the economic sanctions he did. That way, he could have made more effective use of the sanctions weapon--rewarding the de Klerk Government for the introduction of sweeping changes while, at the same time, holding out the bait of scrapping other punitive measures if the latter moves further down the path of reform.

"Bush is not quite correct in stating that all five preconditions laid down by the United States...have been satisfied.... There are still some in captivity in South Africa who, by most indications, ought to be classified as political prisoners. True, the United States remains opposed to an easing of the arms embargo and the granting of loans by the IMF. If, in addition, Washington had left a few other trade sanctions in place for the time being, Pretoria could have been under more pressure to show greater flexibility."

LATIN AMERICA

BRAZIL: "More Changes Are Needed"

Liberal Folha de Sao Paulo editorialized July 12, "Recents events in South Africa show that economic sanctions work if given time.... But the prevailing impression that racism has ended in South Africa is a cause for concern. On the contrary, serious limitations on the constitutional civil rights of the black majority still prevail.... One must insist, therefore, that South Africa make more fundamental changes before it can be admitted as an equal among civilized nations."

JAMAICA: "Ignoring The Facts"

The independent Sunday Gleaner published this op-ed page column by Rex Nettleford on July 14: "Nelson Mandela knows what he is saying when he declares that the move by Mr. Bush is irresponsibly premature.... Mr. Bush no doubt has some conscience about the moral force of Congress and the TransAfrica movement in the United States. But one is forced to wonder about his sensitivity to the wider constituency of Americans who would prefer to be on the right side of history. It may be that Mr. Bush believes that contemporary realities are on his side. He is, after all, riding high after what he believes to be a successful war in the Gulf...

DECLASSIFIED

"Hasn't he replaced Thurgood Marshall on the Supreme Court with a full-fledged member of the so-called lesser race with unmistakable phenotypical affinities to his 'brothers' in South Africa? How then could he possibly be regarded as a racist in his attitude toward black people?...

"So is Mr. de Klerk in no doubt. Yet though Mandela may be regarded as a leader nowhere as competent as de Klerk,...it is Mandela who is more indispensable than de Klerk if peace and a democratic humane factor for South Africa is to be achieved. Investors and traders rushing back into South Africa with the lifting of sanctions ignore this simple fact at their peril."

MEXICO: "Advances Are Courageous"

An editorial in official El Nacional concluded July 12, "Democratization is not a reality yet in South Africa. President Bush's decision to lift the embargo is, therefore, controversial.... But although there is still a lot to be done, particularly (granting) everyone the right to vote in South Africa, the advances have been courageous and are worthy of encouragement and acknowledgement by other nations."

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT

2. SUMMARY: THERE HAS BEEN LITTLE PROGRESS ON ANY OF THE THREE JUDICIAL CASES IN THE DEVINE CASE, ALTHOUGH ACTIVITY CONTINUES:

A) IN THE CASE AGAINST THE ENLISTED MEN, THE FORMER POPTUN BASE COMMANDER PROFESSED IGNORANCE OF THE MURDER; THE PETEN BASE COMMANDER RESPONDED TO 75 QUESTIONS BUT ADDED NOTHING NEW TO THE COLLECTIVE KNOWLEDGE; TWO DISCHARGED MILITARY SPECIALISTS REMAIN AT LARGE DESPITE ARREST WARRANTS.

B) THE CASE AGAINST THE CAPTAIN REMAINS TIED UP IN THE APPEALS COURT.

C) THE CASE ON IMMUNITIES OF COL. PORTILLO GOMEZ HAS BEEN ASSIGNED TO THE JALAPA COURT.

MEANWHILE, THE FIRST GROUP OF DETAINEES GROW INCREASINGLY RESTIVE AND FEARFUL. EMBOFFS AND PRIVATE ATTORNEY HAVE MET REGULARLY WITH PRESIDENTIAL ADVISER NEUMANN, WHO CONTINUES TO BE HELPFUL, INCLUDING OBTAINING MORE ACTIVE HELP FROM THE PUBLIC MINISTRY. END SUMMARY.

3. THERE HAVE BEEN FEW SUBSTANTIVE DEVELOPMENTS IN THE DEVINE CASE IN THE LAST MONTH. IN THE CASE AGAINST THE ENLISTED MEN (BOTH THE OLD AND NEW GROUPS), THE MUCH-AWAITED DECLARATION BY LT. COL. ALPIRES, FORMERLY COMMANDER OF THE RANGERS TRAINING BASE IN POPTUN (WHO ALLEGEDLY PROVIDED ROOM/BOARD TO THE DEATH SQUAD FOR TWO DAYS PRIOR TO THE MURDER AND TRIED TO TALK THEM OUT OF THEIR MISSION) WAS SHORT,

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

UNINFORMATIVE AND DISAPPOINTING. HE CLAIMED TOTAL IGNORANCE OF THE MATTER, AND SUGGESTED THE COURT GET IN TOUCH WITH PEOPLE ASSIGNED TO THE BASE NOW. HE WILL BE SUMMONED TO GUATEMALA CITY AROUND AUGUST 5 TO ANSWER A LARGE NUMBER OF QUESTIONS PREPARED FOR HIM BY PRIVATE ATTORNEY GONZALEZ. IF HE REFUSES TO REVEAL HIS KNOWLEDGE OF THE DEATH SQUAD, GONZALEZ IN COLLABORATION WITH THE PUBLIC MINISTRY WILL CHARGE HIM WITH COVERING UP THE CRIME, WHICH COULD SUBJECT ALPIRES TO ONE-THIRD THE SENTENCE GIVEN TO THE KILLERS. MEANWHILE, THE TWO MILITARY SPECIALISTS WHO WERE DISCHARGED FROM THE ARMY PRIOR TO BEING IMPLICATED IN THE DEVINE MURDER REMAIN AT LARGE.

4. IN THE SAME JUDICIAL PROCESS, ON JULY 19 COL. GARCIA CATALAN (FORMER MILITARY BASE COMMANDER IN SANTA ELENA) APPEARED AT THE MILITARY COURT AS A WITNESS (AS OPPOSED TO AN ACCUSED PARTY) TO RESPOND FORMALLY TO 75 QUESTIONS PREVIOUSLY SUBMITTED TO THE COURT BY ATTORNEY GONZALEZ. A PRELIMINARY READING OF HIS ANSWERS REVEALS LITTLE EXCEPT THAT GARCIA CATALAN SUFFERS FROM TREMENDOUS MEMORY LOSS. FOR EXAMPLE, HE DOES NOT REMEMBER IF CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS WAS IN THE S-2 AT SANTA ELENA AT THAT TIME. IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION ABOUT THE INVESTIGATION HE CONDUCTED FOLLOWING THE MURDER, THE COLONEL RESPONDED THAT HE DID NOTHING, HE MERELY INFORMED HIS SUPERIORS. HE ALSO STATED (INCORRECTLY) THAT NOT ALL PERSONNEL AT THE BASE WERE UNDER HIS COMMAND.

5. FAMILY MEMBERS OF THE FIRST FIVE MEN DETAINED IN THE DEVINE CASE REPORT THAT THE MEN ARE GROWING INCREASINGLY FEARFUL OVER THEIR CONTINUED INCARCERATION. THEIR MORALE IS UNDERMINED BY DELAYS IN RECEIVING THEIR SALARY AND BY CONTINUING INSINUATIONS THAT THEY ARE TRAITORS TO THE ARMY AND TO GUATEMALA, AND THEY WILL NEVER BE FREED FROM PRISON. IN FACT, UNTIL THE FILE IS RETURNED TO THE LOWER COURT BY THE APPEALS COURT, THEIR ATTORNEY CANNOT FILE FOR THEIR RELEASE, BUT IS EXPECTED TO DO SO ASAP, PROBABLY NEXT WEEK.

6. THE CASE AGAINST CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS HAS BEEN IN THE APPEALS COURT FOR OVER TWO MONTHS FOR A DECISION

UNCLASSIFIED

ON THREE POINTS:

(A) THE PROVISIONAL LIBERTY GIVEN TO THE CAPTAIN;

(B) THE REFUSAL BY THE LOWER COURT TO PERFORM THE FACE-OFF BETWEEN THE CAPTAIN AND THE ORIGINAL GROUP OF FIVE (THE "CAREO), AND

(C) THE REFUSAL TO ORDER POLYGRAPH TESTS OF THE NEWLY ACCUSED, INCLUDING CAPTAIN CONTRERAS AND COLS. GARCIA CATALAN AND PORTILLO GOMEZ.

ATTY. GONZALEZ EXPECTS THE APPEALS COURT TO MAKE ITS RULING WITHIN A FEW DAYS, AND THE FILE TO BE BACK IN THE LOWER COURT WITHIN TEN DAYS.

7. THE JUDICIAL PROCEDURE TO DETERMINE WHETHER FORMER DEPUTY BASE COMMANDER COL. PORTILLO GOMEZ IS ENTITLED TO IMMUNITY WAS ASSIGNED ABOUT 3 WEEKS AGO TO THE COURT IN JALAPA. IN SPITE OF REPEATED ATTEMPTS, TO DATE ATTORNEY GONZALEZ HAS BEEN UNABLE TO ARRANGE A MEETING AND BACKGROUND BRIEFING WITH THE JUDGE, IN EITHER JALAPA OR THE CAPITAL, BUT THEY EXPECT TO MEET NEXT WEEK. WE DO NOT KNOW WHEN THE JUDGE WILL TAKE ANY ACTION IN THE MATTER.

8. ON JULY 18 ATTORNEY GONZALEZ MET AGAIN WITH PRESIDENTIAL ADVISER NEUMANN TO UPDATE HIM ON DEVELOPMENTS IN THE CASE. HE INFORMED NEUMANN OF THE CONTINUING THREATS TO THE FIRST GROUP OF PRISONERS. HE ALSO PASSED NEUMANN A LIST OF SOME 15 REQUESTS ("MEMORIALES") TO THE MILITARY COURT MADE OVER THE PAST 6 MONTHS WHICH REMAIN UNANSWERED OR OTHERWISE UNATTENDED TO.

9. IN A FOLLOW-UP MEETING ON JULY 22, NEUMANN AND GONZALEZ MET WITH ATTORNEY GENERAL VALLADARES TO SEEK A MORE ACTIVE AND SUPPORTIVE ROLE FROM THE PUBLIC MINISTRY. (COMMENT: THIS MINISTRY PLAYED A CRITICAL AND POSITIVE ROLE WHILE THE JUDICIAL CASE WAS IN FLORES, BUT SINCE ITS TRANSFER TO GUATEMALA CITY HAS FAILED TO SEND A REPRESENTATIVE TO KEY HEARINGS AND QUESTIONINGS. END COMMENT) THE THREE PARTICIPANTS AGREED ON A METHOD TO IMPROVE THE PUBLIC MINISTRY'S INVOLVEMENT, AND VALLADARES ALSO SAID HIS MINISTRY WOULD SEEK THE DETENTION OF CAPT. CONTRERAS.

10. EMBASSY ACTIONS: IN A JULY 17 MEETING WITH BERNARDO NEUMANN, THE AMBASSADOR RAISED OUR CONCERNS ABOUT THE CONTINUING ATTEMPTS TO PRESSURE THE FIRST GROUP OF DETAINEES INTO RECANTING THEIR TESTIMONY. IN ADDITION, IN CONVERSATIONS WITH BERNARDO NEUMANN, PRESIDENTIAL CHIEF OF STAFF COL. ORTEGA AND OTHER GOG OFFICIALS, EMBOFFS AND ATTORNEY GONZALEZ REGULARLY PUSH THE GOG TO LOCATE AND DETAIN THE TWO DISCHARGED MILITARY MEMBERS IMPLICATED IN THE MURDER.

E.O. 12356: DECL:OADR
TAGS: PGOV, PINS, PHUM, ES
SUBJECT: REP. MOODY, ET AL MEET PRESIDENT CRISTIANI

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. CONGRESSMAN JIM MOODY (DEM-WISC), ACCOMPANIED BY A RELIGIOUS GROUP, MET WITH PRESIDENT CRISTIANI ON JULY

29, 1991. CHARGE D'AFFAIRES AND POLOFF (NOTETAKER) ALSO SAT IN. CONG. MOODY AND HIS GROUP HAD REQUESTED THE MEETING IN ORDER TO SHARE WITH THE PRESIDENT THEIR OBSERVATIONS FOLLOWING A JULY 27-28 TRIP TO CHALATENANGO, AS WELL AS TO GET THE PRESIDENT'S VIEWS ON THE PEACE PROCESS. AS IS USUALLY THE CASE, THE PRESIDENT OFFERED THE GOES VIEWPOINT IN A QUIETLY PERSUASIVE MANNER. THIS CABLE WAS NOT/NOT CLEARED BY THE CONGRESSMAN.

---

ALLEGATIONS OF ESAF ABUSES

3. CONG. MOODY OPENED BY EXPRESSING CONCERN OVER THE ESAF'S ALLEGEDLY ABUSIVE CONDUCT IN AND AROUND REPATRIATE COMMUNITIES IN CHALATENANGO DEPARTMENT. THE CONGRESSMAN FEARS SUCH ACTIONS UNDERMINE PUBLIC CONFIDENCE IN THE GOES. HE CITED TWO INCIDENTS HE AND HIS GROUP HAD LEARNED ABOUT DURING THEIR WEEKEND VISIT: IN APRIL, 1991, THE ATLACATL BATTALION ALLEGEDLY SHOT UP THE TOWN OF ARCATAO, DESTROYING MORE THAN 40 HOMES, KILLING LIVESTOCK, THREATENING A PRIEST, AND STEALING MONEY AND FOOD FROM CIVILIANS. LOCAL RESIDENTS TOLD THE GROUP THAT NO GUERRILLAS HAD BEEN IN TOWN AT THE TIME. IN MAY, 1991, THE ESAF SUPPOSEDLY WENT ON A SIMILAR SPREE IN NUEVA TRINIDAD, THIS TIME KILLING A CIVILIAN. (IN AN EARLIER CONVERSATION, CHARGE CAUTIONED MOODY ABOUT THE POSSIBLE LACK OF OBJECTIVITY OF SOME REPATRIATES). AFTER LISTENING QUIETLY, THE PRESIDENT RESPONDED THAT

THE GOES HAD NOT HEARD ANYTHING ABOUT THESE ALLEGATIONS FROM THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS (ICRC), WHICH NORMALLY BECOMES INVOLVED IN SUCH CASES, BUT THAT THE GOES WOULD CHECK OUT THE ACCUSATIONS WITH THE ICRC. (COMMENT: EMBASSY HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICERS HAVE LOOKED INTO THESE ALLEGATIONS, BUT HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO RESOLVE CONTRADICTORY ACCOUNTS. END COMMENT.)

SAN SA 09691 00 OF 02 2923282 SHB2866

CRISTIANI ON CONSTITUTIONAL, MILITARY REFORM

4. A MEMBER OF MOODY'S GROUP RAISED THE ISSUE OF CIVILIAN CONTROL OF THE ESAF. THE PRESIDENT REPLIED THAT THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM PACKAGE PASSED BY THE PREVIOUS LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY LAST APRIL ADDRESSES THE LEGAL ASPECTS OF THE ESAF'S NEW ROLE IN SOCIETY. THE GOES AND THE POLITICAL PARTIES HAD AGREED TO "CALENDAR" THE SECOND-PHASE RATIFICATION OF THE REFORMS, PROBABLY BEGINNING WITH HUMAN RIGHTS. THIS MOVE GOES BEYOND WHAT IS REQUIRED BY THE MEXICO AGREEMENT, HE ADDED. CRISTIANI ALSO SAID THAT, AT THIS STAGE, RATIFICATION IS A MERE "TECHNICALITY," GIVEN THE FACT THAT THE PREVIOUS ASSEMBLY APPROVED THE REFORM PACKAGE UNANIMOUSLY. THE CONSTUTIONAL REFORMS--AS OPPOSED TO OTHER ASPECTS OF MILITARY REFORM--ARE THE KEY TO THE PEACE PROCESS AND TO LASTING CHANGE, SAID THE PRESIDENT, BECAUSE THEY DEFINE THE LIMITS OF THE MILITARY'S ROLE IN SOCIETY AND CODIFY CIVILIAN AUTHORITY.

5. ONE MEMBER OF THE MOODY GROUP OBSERVED THAT PROBLEMS OFTEN RISE NOT FROM A NEED FOR NEW LAWS, REFORMS, ETC, BUT A LACK OF ENFORCEMENT OR RESPECT OF EXISTING ONES. THE PRESIDENT OBSERVED THAT CHANGE IN EL SALVADOR IS A PROCESS, NOT AN EVENT. HE ASSERTED THAT THE COUNTRY HAS UNDERGONE MANY POSITIVE CHANGES, BUT THAT THE PROCESS MUST CONTINUE SO THAT DEMOCRACY CAN BE CONSOLIDATED. AT THIS POINT, HE SAID, THE WAR IS THE SINGLE BIGGEST OBSTACLE TO FURTHER CHANGE. THE CYCLE OF VIOLENCE AND THE HATREDS AND FRUSTRATIONS IT FUELS HINDER THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A NATIONAL CONSENSUS. THE COUNTRY NEEDS AN END TO THE CONFLICT SO IT CAN GET ON WITH THE BUSINESS OF IMPROVING SOCIETY, HE SAID.

CONG. MOODY ON THE DODD AMENDMENT

---

6. IN A PRIVATE MEETING WITH THE PRESIDENT AND THE CHARGE, CONG. MOODY CAUTIONED CRISTIANI THAT THE RECENT VOTE ON THE DODD AMENDMENT SHOULD NOT BE INTERPRETED AS A "VICTORY" FOR THE GOES. ALTHOUGH THE AMENDMENT WAS KILLED IN THE SENATE ON A PROCEDURAL POINT, THERE ARE ENOUGH VOTES FOR THE HOUSE TO PASS IT IN SEPTEMBER. MOODY ALSO TOLD CRISTIANI TO EXPECT GREATER CONDITIONALITY OF AID NEXT TIME AROUND.

SUBJECT: NELSON MANDELA'S COMMENTS ON SANCTIONS IN SOUTH AFRICA

REF: MEXICO 17827

STRONGLY THAT THERE WAS NOW OVERWHELMING EVIDENCE IN THE PUBLIC DOMAIN THAT THE SOUTH AFRICAN GOVERNMENT THROUGH INKAHTA HAS BEEN FINANCING BOTH DEATH SQUADS AND VIOLENT ACTIVITIES IN THE BLACK COMMUNITIES IN THE COUNTRY.

3. AT A RECEPTION FOR THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS AFTER THE PRESENTATION, MANDELA STATED POINTEDLY TO DCM HIS DISMAY AT U.S. ACTIONS IN DROPING THE MAJORITY OF THE SANCTIONS THAT HAD BEEN IMPOSED BY THE USG ON THE SOUTH AFRICAN GOVERNMENT. MANDELA EXPRESSED PARTICULAR CONCERN AT THE LACK OF PRIOR CONSULTATION WITH THE ANC AND THE FACT THAT WE GOT SO LITTLE IN RETURN FOR SUCH A MAJOR STEP.

MANDELA'S PERSONAL PHYSICIAN AND HEAD OF WHAT HE DESCRIBED AS THE SOUTH AFRICAN EQUIVALENT OF OUR NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR DEMOCRACY, ARGUED THAT THE ANC WAS UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT THE U.S. WAS FAVORING GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS IN ITS AID PROGRAMS RATHER THAN THOSE OF THE OPPOSITION. HE CITED SEVERAL EXAMPLES AND NOTED THAT IT WAS HIS IMPRESSION THAT THE USG WAS MORE INCLINED TO BELIEVE GOVERNMENT STATEMENTS ABOUT THEIR INTENTIONS THAN HARD EVIDENCE PRESENTED BY OPPOSITION GROUPS, IN PARTICULAR THE ANC. HE FURTHER STATED THAT THE NOW PUBLIC INFORMATION ON INKAHTA FUNDING BY THE SOUTH AFRICAN GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE A BASIS FOR RECONSIDERATION OF USG APPROACHES TO THE DE KLERK GOVERNMENT.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

5. MANDELA SPECIFICALLY REQUESTED THAT THE DCM PASS THESE CONCERNS BACK TO WASHINGTON AND SAID THAT HE WOULD PERSONALLY BE FOLLOWING UP TO DISCUSS THEM WITH PRESIDENT BUSH AT THE EARLIEST OPPORTUNITY. DCM AGREED TO DO SO.

6. COMMENT: IN HIS PUBLIC PRESENTATION, MANDELA WAS MEASURED AND FORTHRIGHT, DEMONSTRATING GREAT POISE AND SELF-ASSURANCE. IN HIS PRIVATE DISCUSSION WITH THE DCM HE WAS CLEARLY UPSET AND SOMEWHAT AGITATED. THE DCM DECLINED TO DISCUSS ANY OF THE SUBSTANCE OF MANDELA'S REMARKS WITH HIM, WHICH MANDELA AGREED WOULD NOT BE PARTICULARLY APPROPRIATE. HOWEVER, MANDELA DID SAY IN CLOSING THAT HE WAS NOT COMFORTABLE WITH THE HEARING THE ANC HAD GOTTEN TO DATE IN WASHINGTON.

PROCEEDING. WE HAVE NOT ACCEDED TO A REQUEST BY REPRESENTATIVES OF THE JESUITS TO PARTICIPATE AS THERE IS NO PRECEDENT FOR ANYONE OUTSIDE THE GOVERNMENT TO PARTICIPATE IN THIS KIND OF PROCEEDING OR TO CROSS-EXAMINE WITNESSES. THIS PROCEDURE IS THE MOST EXPEDITIOUS WAY TO COMPLY WITH THE JUDGE'S REQUEST.

(ON MAJOR ERIC BUCKLAND'S TESTIMONY:)

--ON JANUARY 12, 1990, MAJOR BUCKLAND WAS INTERVIEWED BY THE FBI. HE GAVE A STATEMENT, WHICH HE LATER RECANTED.

--ON SEPTEMBER 28, 1990, MAJOR BUCKLAND TESTIFIED BEFORE THE SALVADORAN JUDGE INVESTIGATING THE JESUIT CASE. A TRANSCRIPT OF HIS JANUARY 12 INTERVIEW WAS GIVEN TO THE JUDGE AT THAT TIME. THE JUDGE WAS ALSO OFFERED AN OPPORTUNITY TO VIEW THE VIDEOTAPE OF THE INTERVIEW IF HE WISHED.

--IN ADDITION, THE JUDGE RECEIVED A TRANSCRIPT OF MAJOR BUCKLAND'S EXTENSIVE DECEMBER 1990 REINTERVIEW.

--IN MAY 1991, MAJOR BUCKLAND WAS SENT TO PANAMA FOR SEVEN DAYS TO AWAIT A POSSIBLE CALL FROM THE SALVADORAN JUDGE TO TESTIFY IN PERSON. THE JUDGE DECIDED TO SUBMIT WRITTEN QUESTIONS INSTEAD.

--MAJOR BUCKLAND CONTINUES TO BE AVAILABLE TO COOPERATE IN THE JESUIT CASE IF THE JUDGE REQUESTS IT.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE STATED QUEVEDO'S MURDER WAS "POLITICALLY MOTIVATED," AND LINKED IT TO MURDER OF ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG. HOWEVER, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S INVESTIGATION HAS DISCOVERED THAT THE FORMER GOVERNOR OF THE QUICHE WAS HAVING AN AFFAIR WITH QUEVEDO'S WIDOW AND ORDERED HER HUSBAND KILLED. ALLEGED HOMOSEXUAL, WAS KILLED FOR PERSONAL REASONS, BUT EVIDENCE IS SURFACING WHICH SUGGESTS NG MAY HAVE BEEN KILLED OVER A FAILED BUSINESS DEAL. POLICE SUSPECT TWO YOUNG MEN, IDENTIFIED BY NG'S COOK, WHO ARE THOUGHT TO BE THE LAST PERSONS WHO SAW NG ALIVE.

7. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE RELEASED ITS REPORT ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1991 ON JULY 22. ACCORDING TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S REPORT THERE WERE 321 COMPLAINTS OF EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS: OF THOSE, 33 DID NOT MEET THE CRITERIA OR WERE OUTSIDE THE OMBUDSMAN'S MANDATE. OF THE 288 REMAINING COMPLAINTS, 116 WERE RULED AS EXTRAJUDICIAL EXECUTIONS WITH THE REMAINING 172 STILL BEING INVESTIGATED. THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUED A REPORT, [redacted]

[redacted]

DISAPPEARANCES

8. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S REPORT ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1991 WAS RELEASED ON JULY 22. ACCORDING TO THE REPORT THERE WERE 80 REPORTED FORCED DISAPPEARANCES. NINETEEN WERE RESOLVED BY THE REAPPEARANCE OF THE VICTIM: 14 ALIVE AND 5 DEAD (THESE 5 WERE INCLUDED UNDER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. SEE PARA 6). TWENTY-SEVEN OF THE REMAINING 61 CASES WERE RULED AS "FORCED DISAPPEARANCES" AND 34 WERE STILL UNDER REVIEW. THE OMBUDSMAN ALSO REPORTED 81 CASES OF DISAPPEARANCES "FOR OTHER THAN POLITICAL REASONS." TWENTY-SIX OF THESE CASES HAD BEEN RESOLVED BY THE REAPPEARANCE OF THE VICTIM: 24 ALIVE AND 2 DEAD, WITH THE REMAINING 55 CASES STILL UNDER REVIEW. THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE ON HUMAN RIGHTS CLAIMED THERE WERE 99 DISAPPEARANCES (60 BY ARMED MEN) FOR THE SAME PERIOD. THE CENTER FOR THE INVESTIGATION, STUDY, AND PROMOTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS (CIEPRODH) CLAIMED THAT IN THE

FINAL SIX MONTHS OF 1990 THERE WERE 76 DISAPPEARANCES

(49 BY ARMED MEN). THE ARCHBISHOP'S AND CIEPRODH'S REPORTS DEFINED DISAPPEARANCES AS WHEN "A PERSON WAS TAKEN BY FORCE OR LEFT HIS HOME AND DID NOT RETURN WITHOUT A GOOD REASON."

INJURIES REPORTED.

10. EVELYN ROXANA PEREZ, A SMALL GIRL, WAS INJURED BY A FRAGMENT OF AN EXPLODING URNG PAMPHLET BOMB ON JULY 21 AS SHE WALKED WITH HER FAMILY IN THE GUATEMALA CITY ZOO. EVELYN WAS TAKEN TO A LOCAL HOSPITAL FOR TREATMENT AND WAS RELEASED LATER IN THE DAY. NATIONAL POLICE AND ARMY SOLDIERS SEARCHED THE ZOO AND FOUND A SECOND, MORE POWERFUL BOMB NEAR THE MONKEY HOUSE, WHICH THEY WERE ABLE TO DISARM BEFORE IT DETONATED.

11. GUERRILLAS OCCUPIED THE SMALL TOWN OF PUEBLO NUEVA VINAS (SANTA ROSA) ON JULY 23, OPENED FIRE ON THE LOCAL POLICE STATION WITH RPG'S AND RIFLES, CAPTURING SIX NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS, AND SEIZING THEIR EQUIPMENT AND UNIFORMS. ONE POLICE OFFICER CALLED THE NATIONAL POLICE HEADQUARTERS IN CUILAPA AND REPORTED THE ATTACK BEFORE BEING CAPTURED. THE GUERRILLAS, RELYING ON THE CAPTURED POLICE RADIOS, AMBUSHED TWO CAR LOADS OF NATIONAL POLICE ATTEMPTING TO RELIEVE THE BESIEGED POLICE STATION, KILLING THE DEPARTMENTAL DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL POLICE AND ANOTHER POLICE OFFICER AND WOUNDING THREE OTHERS. THE GUERRILLAS ESCAPED INTO THE FOOTHILLS BEFORE ARMY UNITS ARRIVED.

12. THE GOG AND URNG DELEGATIONS HELD THE THIRD ROUND OF PEACE TALKS IN QUERETARO MEXICO ON JULY 22 - 27. THE [redacted]

[redacted]

TALKS OPENED WITH TWO NOTABLE ABSENCES: CARLOS GONZALES, SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE GUATEMALAN WORKERS PARTY (PGT) AND UN OBSERVER FRANCESC VENDRELL, WHO ARRIVED ON JULY 23. THE TWO DELEGATIONS COMPLETED THE TALKS BEGUN IN CUERNAVACA ON DEMOCRACY, SIGNED AN ACCORD ON DEMOCRACY ON JULY 25 AND BEGAN DISCUSSIONS ON HUMAN RIGHTS ON JULY 26. MARIO PERMUTH, A MEMBER OF THE CNR DELEGATION, TOLD POLOFF THE LATEST ROUND OF MEETINGS WERE THE MOST PRODUCTIVE, NOT BECAUSE OF THE ACCORD ON DEMOCRACY, BUT RATHER BECAUSE EACH SIDE IS NOW CONVINCED OF THE OTHER'S COMMITMENT TO THE PEACE PROCESS.

GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE TOWARD INTERNATIONAL INVESTIGATIONS

13. A DELEGATION REPRESENTING SR. DIANA ORTIZ VISITED GUATEMALA ON JULY 23 - 27. THE DELEGATION LED BY SR. ORTIZ'S LAWYER, PAUL SOREFF, MET WITH THE AMBASSADOR AND GOG OFFICIALS. THE DELEGATION SAID THEY WERE PLEASED WITH THE GOG'S DECISION TO NAME A SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR AND A SPECIAL PROSECUTOR TO LOOK INTO THE CASE, ALTHOUGH THEY LAMENTED SERRANO'S DECISION NOT FULFILL HIS PROMISE TO NAME A SPECIAL COMMISSION. (NOTE: SERRANO IS NOT FULFILLING CEREZO'S PROMISE, NOT HIS OWN.) SOREFF SAID SR. ORTIZ HAD FILED SUIT AGAINST GEN. GRAMAJO, FORMER MINDEF, BECAUSE HE CONTINUES TO SPREAD RUMORS THAT SR. ORTIZ'S ORDEAL RESULTED FROM A FAILED LOVE AFFAIR, DESPITE HIS EARLIER APOLOGY.

I will now ask the court reporter to swear in the witness.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

Whereupon,

was called as a witness and, having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION BY COUNSEL FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

BY MR. HARRIS:

Q COL Menjivar, would you please state your occupation?

A I'm a colonel in the United States Army.

Q COL Menjivar, you are here today to voluntarily provide truthful answers, under oath, to the questions posed by the Fourth Criminal Court in San Salvador, is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q I hand you now a copy of the Comision Rogatoria from El Salvador, and I ask that you read it carefully.

(Witness examined the document.)

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MR. HARRIS:

Q Have you now read the questions contained in the request from Judge Ricardo Alberto Zamora Perez in San Salvador?

A I have.

Q Are you prepared to voluntarily answer these

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

questions?

A Yes, I am.

Q Very well. COL Menjivar, when were you in El Salvador?

A My tour of duty in El Salvador was from approximately November 1988 to September 1990. I had in the past been there on official visits and also living there as a child, but the period we're talking about is from November '88 to September 1990.

Q What position did you hold and what were your responsibilities?

A I was the Commander of the United States Military Group, and I was responsible for administering the Security Assistance Program and also providing military assistance to either the embassy or the Government of El Salvador as requested.

Q How many people were under your command?

A It varied, but it went up to about 150 people, including civilians and military of all services.

Q What specific training did you have for this position?

A Before I took this job I attended a Security

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Assistance management course at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio. It was a three-week course that trains you and acquaints you with the mechanics of administering the Security Assistance Program.

Q COL Menjivar, can you explain how the armed forces of El Salvador is organized operationally and administratively in relation to the chain of command?

A The president is, of course, the commander-in-chief. He administers the armed forces through a Minister of Defense and two Vice Ministers, one for Defense and one for Public Security.

Operationally, he controls the armed forces through the Chief of Staff of the Joint General Staff.

Basically, that's it.

Q During the November 1989 FMLN offensive, did the formal chain of command break down?

A I don't know that it did.

Q How did the chain of command function during the offensive?

A In the capital region five ad hoc commands were established under five separate commanders. They referred to them as "unified commands." One of them was headed by the

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Commander of the First Infantry Brigade, the other one by the Commander of the National Guard, a third one by the Commander of the Air Force, the fourth by the Commander of the Signal School, and the fifth by the Commander of the Military Academy.

These five unified commands were under the operational control of the Chief of the Joint General Staff, but generally received operational orders through the head of the Operations Section of the General Staff, commonly referred to as the C3.

Q COL Menjivar, during the months of November and December of 1989 there were military advisors to the high command in General Staff Sections 2 and 3, in the National Director of Intelligence, in the Military Academy and the Atlacata Battalion.

Did these advisors understand or speak Spanish?

A During the period you're referring to we had advisors -- we had three advisors at the Intelligence Section C2 of the Joint General Staff, and we had two advisors at the Military Academy.

The United States Military Group did not have advisors at the National Intelligence Directorate, and at that time the position of advisor to the C3 was vacant.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

The three advisors to the C2, they had been in El Salvador an average of about two years, and they were fluent in Spanish. The two advisors to the Military Academy had been in country roughly a year, and they were proficient in Spanish.

Q COL Menjivar, what is the procedure for selecting military officers for assignment to El Salvador?

A Normally an officer is selected for assignment to El Salvador based on a vacancy that exists that requires his specific expertise, and also it is based on the officer meeting all the requirements for that specialty, whether it be both the military specialty as well as the language requirements.

Q What type of training do officers who are assigned to the Military Group in El Salvador receive?

A The officers assigned to the Military Group basically fall into two categories. The ones that work at the embassy and basically work administering the Military Assistance Program generally attend the Security Assistance management course, like I did, that three-week course at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Generally all of the personnel assigned there receive some sort of antiterrorist orientation and awareness--security awareness program, and it's required personnel also receive language training or refresher, if they're not fully proficient.

Q How and why was MAJ Eric Buckland chosen?

A He was selected because a vacancy existed at the time for his qualifications and for his specialty. He first came to El Salvador on a mobil training team on a temporary duty, and while he was there, he liked the assignment, the Salvadoran officers which he worked with liked the way he worked, and everybody concurred on his assignment there. And shortly thereafter he returned to the United States and then was assigned on a permanent basis.

Q COL Menjivar, did Military Group officers have instructions to submit reports on their contact with their Salvadoran counterparts?

A No, they do not. Normally that requirement exists with some of the attaches and so forth, but not with the Military Group. And this would have been almost an unmanageable situation, with the number of people I had, and when you figure that some of them spent almost all their time

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

with their counterparts, where others had a rather limite contact with them.

Q Did MAJ Buckland submit such reports?

A He submitted reports on his area of responsibility o a routine basis through his supervisor, but it was just o routine matters that took place in relation to his work.

Q Do you remember having heard conversations in 198 about the Jesuits or the Jose Simeon Canas University o Central America, known as the UCA? If so, what did thes conversations consist of?

A Usually you saw articles in the press about the UCA, or you heard casual conversations, but -- I have heard abou it, of course, I had heard of it, but nothing substantial tha
I can recall.

Q Do you recall that the UCA's printing house wa attacked twice, in April and July of 1989?

A I recall reading and hearing about the incident when it was reported in the local media.

Q Were you aware of any investigation or the results of that investigation?

A I was not aware of the investigation, but I do know that the embassy staff -- at meetings there was a lot of

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

concern expressed about this type of incident, and, of course the Ambassador was always making sure that we relayed th embassy's interest in solving any investigations regardin those incidents, that we relayed his interest to the arme forces, and we did so.

Q Are you aware of any comments made about the attack by members of the Salvadoran armed forces or by U.S. Embass offices?

A Not by the armed forces. Again, from the embass side, I do know that there was a lot of interest in any typ of terrorism, whether it came from the right or the left, that it be resolved.

Q COL Menjivar, did you know about the national radic network broadcast about the Jesuits by means of the Cuscatlan radio pilot station during the first few days of the offensive?

A No, I do not know what they broadcast.

Q Did the U.S. Military Group make any suggestions or recommendations to the managers of the national radio network or the pilot station?

A Normally the national radio network would have been under the supervision of the Ministry of Information, which is a civilian agency, and we would not have had direct input in what his actions were.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Q Where were you and what did you during the Novemb 1989 guerrilla offensive in San Salvador?

A During the November offensive, I was in San Salvad and spent most of the time performing my routine duties at t embassy, visiting various field locations throughout the ci as well as selected units, which included, of course, t General Staff Headquarters and the Ministry of Defense.

Q What instructions did the members of the U.S Military Group receive during the offensive?

A During the offensive my instructions to them was initially, if they were at their place of duty, to stay there if they were at their place of residence, to stay there.

This changed a couple days into the offensive, an basically which we authorized movement between their place o residence and their place of duty, but only minimum movemen and only as required by their official duties.

Q Can you explain the use of the Immediate Reactio Batallions, their change of command and communication link during the FMLN offensive?

A The Immediate Reaction Batallions are not normall assigned to a geographic area of responsibility. They com under the direct control of the Joint General Staff an normally are assigned specific missions under the control o another headquarters, normally a brigade headquarters. The don't have geographical responsibilities, except for loca security around their own headquarters areas.

During the period of the FMLN offensive in 1989, th BIRI's were assigned as follows: The BIRI Bracamonte and th Atlacata were both assigned to the First Infantry Brigade; th BIRI Belloso was assigned to Air Force Headquarters; the BIR Atonal was assigned to the Sixth Infantry Brigade; and th BIRI Arce to the Third Infantry Brigade.

A subordinate element of the Atlacata was under th operational control of the Military Academy for a perio around the 15th of November, before it rejoined its PARENT unit.

Q COL Menjivar, were the 13 U.S. Special Force officers based in Fort Bragg, North Carolina, who were givin a training course to the Atlacata Battalion at the beginnin of the offensive under your command?

A Yes, they were under my operational control.

Q When was the decision made to bring them to El

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Salvador to give a course?

A We obtained approval from both Salvadoran and Unite States authorities on or about June of 1989 to bring the down.

Q And when did you realize the offensive was going t begin?

A About 3 o'clock on the afternoon of November 11 based on a number of reports and some indicators, that's whe I came to the conclusion that the offensive was going t start. Up to that period of time we had had a number of fals reports that went on for days.

To give you an example, the day before the embassy held the Marine Ball, with over 500 people participating i it, and the regional security officer felt that the threat wa not high enough to warrant cancelling it.

Q Why did you continue giving the course in the middl of the offensive?

A The place where the course was being given was away from the city, and there were no hostilities up there, nc activities at all. The troops were available. And, yet, if I would have had to cancel the course and evacuate the team, they would have to come to the city where the majority of the fighting was going on. The airport they would have had to us to evacuate was also closed due to enemy activity.

El Salvador: Human Rights

So, basically, the place where they were was th safest, and they continued performing business.

Q Why was the course later suspended?

A On or about the 13th of November the Joint Genera Staff recalled the unit and brought them into the capital t use for operational purposes. Therefore, the training wa suspended because there was no unit left to train.

Q Now, what was the objective of this training?

A The objective of the training was to evaluate th United States Special Forces Team's ability to conduct smal unit training, which is a requirement that they have under th formal Army training and evaluation program. They ar required to perform their wartime mission and are evaluated o how well they do it.

So what we did was bring the unit down there so the could train the way they would on a real world mission and b evaluated under realistic conditions.

Q Where have the U.S. officers who gave the trainin course gone?

A The team returned to Fort Bragg, North Carolina, o or about the 23rd of November, 1989. I don't know where the are now, but that's when they returned.

Q COL Menjivar, during the offensive did U.S. Mil Grou officers attend staff meetings at the Salvadoran armed force headquarters?

A Normally the members of the Military Group do no attend the Joint General Staff meetings. They do atten briefings when they're open to the general public -- no general public, but general audience of the General Staff.

During the offensive, small, informal, ad ho meetings were normally held periodically in the open area o the Operations Center, and anybody who was present, whether i be advisors or not, would listen to what was going on and wa free to contribute if there was any relevant contribution t be made.

Q On what dates?

A All throughout this period there were ongoin meetings, with small groups of people being -- but the formal meetings that the General Staff has, normally the military representatives are not invited to sit in those meetings.

Q Did U.S. Mil Group officers attend meetings at the Military School?

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

A Normally, the two advisors that we had at th- Military Academy attended all the staff meetings that wer- held. During the period of the offensive, since the academi- cycle was suspended, and no staff meetings were held, and th- advisors were told to remain at their house because there wa- no work for them to do there, they did not attend any meeting- that I know of.

Q If so, who did and on what dates?

A Not that I know of, and I don't believe anybody did.

Q Did they attend meetings at the National Intelligenc- Directorate?

A The United States Mil Group does not have an- advisors at the National Intelligence Directorate, and, to m- knowledge, no one from the unit attended any meetings durin- those dates.

Q Well, specifically on November 15th and 16th of 1989, did they attend meetings at the specified places?

A Not that I know of. There's one item that I woul- like to mention up here, since you mentioned meetings.

I visited the Military Academy on the afternoon of 1- November to coordinate with the then major, Carlos Camil- Hernandez, for the security of the Ambassador's residence, an-

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

also to coordinate a reaction force that would be provided t help the residents in case it was attacked, since there ha been some hostilities there the night before.

The residence is located in the area that th Military Academy was responsible for, so it was a routin visit to the Military Academy in which I coordinated for th reaction force.

Major Camilo Hernandez at that time also advised m that he would be sending a lieutenant, who was the commande of the Atlacata element that he had in the Military Academy, he would be sending this lieutenant to the Ambassador's residence to coordinate this reaction force.

Therefore, about 5:30 o'clock that evening I met with the lieutenant at the Ambassador's residence, and with the person in charge of the security of the residence, a State Department security agent, and we coordinated how this would be performed. And the Ambassador also arrived at the time from the embassy, got a chance to briefly say hi to the officer, and the Ambassador went inside the residence, and the lieutenant left about 6 o'clock that evening.

Q COL Menjivar, what did you do on November 15 and 16, 1989?

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

A On November 15 I performed my routine duties aroun the embassy, the General Staff and the Ministry of Defense And as I related earlier, I also visited the Military Academy

Q When did you first hear about the murder of th Jesuits?

A I heard about the murder of the Jesuits a approximately 8 o'clock in the morning while I was visitin the Combined Operations Center at the Joint General Staff.

Q Where did you hear it from?

A I heard one of the officers on duty there talking t another one, commenting that the Jesuits had been killed. asked the Minister of Defense who was there present, I aske him if it was true, and he indicated by nodding his head tha it was true, but he did not provide any details.

Q What did you do about the murders?

A I did not do anything about the murders, but when returned to the embassy, we had a meeting with the Ambassado in which he condemned the murders and stated that th authorities should make every effort possible to solve th murders and to find who had performed the murders.

Q Did you ask all the members of the Mil Group if they had any information about the murder of the Jesuits?

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

A No. Of course, it would have been almost impossible for me to ask all 150 of them, and at that time the situation was very tense.

What I did do, though, was make sure that every one of the personnel that worked directly for me relayed through the chain of command to all their subordinates that one of the prime interests of the embassy was to ensure that this crime was resolved and the guilty parties identified.

Can I go off the record?

Q Certainly.

(A discussion was held off the record.)

THE WITNESS: I'd like to clarify what I said earlier, the situation was tense.

During that time we didn't have a feeling of how many casualties we had, but, for example, we had about 500 friendlies killed, about 2,000 FMLN killed, and a number of civilian casualties that still had not been determined.

At that time also the second largest city in the country was just about ready to fall under control of the FMLN.

So what I referred to as being tense, it was because of the military situation, not because of the crime.

Q I understand.

COL Menjivar, when did you first realize that the armed forces of El Salvador held any responsibility for the murders?

A On the 2nd of January I was informed of the information that MAJ Buckland had relayed to LTC Hunter that afternoon. So that was the first time that I had any information about the armed forces of El Salvador being involved.

Q When did you realize COL Benavides was implicated in the murders?

A At the same time. This was during the same conversation and the same facts that were related to me by COL Hunter.

Q Did you attend any meetings with the Salvadoran armed forces or in the U.S. Embassy where the Jesuit murder case or its investigation was discussed?

A I attended daily meetings at the embassy where a number of topics were discussed, but also one of the main topics always discussed was the progress of the investigation of the Jesuit murders.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

At every opportunity, you know, when I met with the members of the Salvadoran high command, I emphasized that it was critical for us to solve the case of the murders and bring the guilty parties, whoever they may be, to justice.

But up until the 2nd of January the question of who had murdered the Jesuits was open. There was a belief that it could have been anybody from the right and the left, military or civilian, the FMLN or the armed forces.

Q When did you learn about the information MAJ Eric Buckland received from COL Aviles?

A I learned that information on the 2nd of January, when I was contacted by COL William Hunter, who was the immediate supervisor of MAJ Buckland, who informed me that MAJ Buckland had told him that afternoon that he had information about the killing of the Jesuit priests at the Central American University on the 16th of November.

Q What did you do when you found out?

A After having been made aware of the information, and since I was a member of the working group designated by Ambassador Walker to overwatch the investigation of the Jesuit murders, I contacted Miss Janice Elmore, a State Department political military officer and also a member of the workin

RELEASED
El Salvador Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

group, and asked her if she had any knowledge of th- investigation, focusing on the personnel mentioned by MA. Buckland.

The other members of the working group, a Mr. Dic- Canas, who was a DEA representative based out of Mexico City, had returned to Mexico City and was not available.

COL Wayne Wheeler, the Defense Attache, who was alsc a member of the work group, was on leave in the Dominican Republic.

And Mr. Dick Chidester, the Legal Officer, was in country, but you recall this is the 2nd of January, right after the New Year celebration and all the tension that had been there for the last couple three weeks. He was not available at the embassy at that time.

I told Miss Elmore what I had learned, and she said that she had no knowledge about any of the incidents that MAJ Buckland had related.

Then I went up to the Defense Attache office and contacted MAJ Donahue, and without specifically telling him what I knew from MAJ Buckland, I asked him if he had any additional information, if he had heard anything from the General Staff, since that was normally his area of

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

responsibility, which he stated that he knew nothing about it either.

So then I was left with a situation where I had some information and I had to verify it.

The Ambassador was not in country at that time. He was in Washington on a vacation or a consultation visit. I can't recall which.

So then what I decided to do was, I asked Miss Elmore to accompany me and go to the General Staff and basically confront COL Ponce and ask him if he had any knowledge of this, because all the information we had was that the investigation was being carried out and that they were waiting to get all the evidence. So we went to see COL Ponce and told him about what we had heard.

Q Would you describe the meeting you had with COL Ponce on January 2, 1990?

A We arrived -- Miss Elmore and I arrived at COL Ponce's outer office about 4:30, 5:00 in the afternoon. He was having a staff meeting. We waited about an hour.

When the meeting broke up, Miss Elmore and I went into COL Ponce's private office, and I related to COL Ponce exactly what I had learned about MAJ Buckland's statement.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

First of all, COL Ponce seemed surprised, then he wa sort of disappointed and then outraged. He didn't believe -- he wanted to know where the information came from.

At this time I made a decision that for m allegations to have validity, I would have to tell him wher they came from. It wasn't one of those things that, you know I heard it through the grapevine type rumor.

So I told him what had happened, and then COL Ponc stated that he wanted to talk both to MAJ Buckland and to CO Aviles.

Miss Elmore and I left COL Ponce's private office, went outside, and I went to look for MAJ Buckland. Mis Elmore stayed in the outer office.

Apparently COL Ponce made a phone call or summone COL Aviles because COL Aviles came in while I was searchin for MAJ Buckman. COL Aviles and Miss Elmore went into COI Ponce's office. A little bit later I went in and basically told COL Aviles what we knew.

COL Aviles denied everything, said that that was not true, that he had never heard of that, had never talked to MAJ Buckland, had no idea what we were talking about.

At that time COL Ponce asked that Buckland and COL

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Hunter come in. They came in. We started talking about wh had happened. We asked MAJ Buckland to relate the whol story.

There was a question initially whether this should b done in Spanish, English and so forth. MAJ Buckman was ver nervous. He stated that he'd rather talk in English, and said, "Fine, I will do the translating."

Initially he said he wanted to talk to me privatel before he talked to COL Ponce. I told him no, that we'r beyond talking in private up here. This -- you know, we hav to let -- you know, to tell things like they are.

First MAJ Buckland started -- looked at COL Avile and said that COL Aviles should understand that although h had been told what had been related to him in the strictes privacy, that COL Aviles should understand that his firs responsibilities -- that MAJ Buckland's first responsibilitie were to the United States Army and that he had an obligatio to tell the truth, at which time he related what -- the sam thing he had told us, what he had learned.

Again, COL Aviles denied having any knowledge o this.

COL Ponce then asked that COL Lopez y Lopez b

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

brought to his office. COL Ponce called on the phone a tried to call COL Lopez. He couldn't reach him. COL Avil said that he knew where he could find him, and he left t office. He was gone probably about an hour.

After that, COL Lopez arrived, and he stated that h had been at some function, social function, and COL Ponce th related to him what the allegations were. COL Lopez deni everything. He said, "No, I have no idea what they're talki about. I've never talked to anybody about this. I have idea where it's coming from." And he also added, he sai "You know as well as I do what the status of th investigations are and what we're finding out. So there' nothing else."

Then COL Ponce told me that he would have to infor the Minister of Defense about this. There was curfew going o at that time, and the curfew went on until about 11 o'clock a night. After that, basically, it was off the streets Anybody seen on the streets is assumed to be hostile.

So what I did was, I left the General Staf Headquarters just a few minutes before the curfew and went t my house.

Q Do you have any other information indicating that CO

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

Guillermo Alfredo Benavides or other Salvadoran milita officers were responsible for the Jesuit murders?

A No, I don't.

Q COL Menjivar, when did you learn that MAJ Eri Buckland had told the FBI agents on January 11 and 12, 1990 that COL Benavides was planning the Jesuit murders and tha COL Ponce, knowing this, sent COL Aviles to try and preven the multiple crime from being executed?

A I'm somewhat familiar with the statements made by MA. Buckland to the FBI, but I do not know that COL Ponce sent CO Aviles to prevent this crime, whether he had any prio knowledge.

I understand there's some confusion about that, but don't have that information. I do not know that MAJ Bucklan made such a statement to the FBI.

Q What do you know about the workings of the Salvadora armed forces?

A Well, I have a working knowledge of how the arme forces in El Salvador function based on my tour of duty there.

Q What do you know about the role of COL Guillerm Alfredo Benavides or his personality?

A Well, I know that when I got there, he was assigned

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

as the Intelligence Officer in the C2 of the General Staff and then he was assigned as Director of the Military Academy.

I don't -- you know, I couldn't tell you about his personality. That would be speculation on my part.

Q What do you know about how the murders took place and specifically how the suspects operated militarily in the execution of the crime?

A I do not know how the murders took place and how they operated.

Q In view of this, does it seem possible to you that COL Guillermo Alfredo Benavides may have acted on his own?

A I cannot speculate about COL Benavides' actions.

Q Do you have knowledge of other persons who may have participated in the crime?

A I don't know of any other persons who have participated in the crime.

Q COL Menjivar, did you know LTC Carlos Camilo Hernandez?

A Yes, I met then MAJ Hernandez when he was the Operations Officer of the Third Brigade. I met him November 1988.

Q Did you ever discuss the murders with him?

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

A No, I've never discussed the murders with him.

Q After leaving El Salvador, have you been subjected t interrogations about the Jesuit case, about anything relat to the case?

A No, I have not.

Q Have you had any type of problem with U.S. official as a result of the way you handled the Jesuit case?

A I'd prefer not to answer that question.

Q COL Menjivar, do you have anything that you'd like t add, or would you like to clarify any of your responses?

A No, I don't think I have anything to add at thi time.

I'd like to go off the record for a second.

(A discussion was held off the record.)

THE WITNESS: We're back on the record?

BY MR. HARRIS:

Q Back on the record. COL Menjivar, is there anythin you'd like to add or any clarification you'd like to make t any of your responses?

A Not at this time.

Q Thank you very much.

A Thank you.

SUBJ: USCINCSO MEETS WITH GUATEMALA'S MINISTER OF DEFENSE

1. CONFIDENTIAL ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: GENERAL GEORGE JOULWAN, USCINCSO, MET FOR TWO HOURS WITH GUATEMALA'S MINISTER OF DEFENSE, GENERAL MENDOZA, AT THE AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE ON 8 AUG 91. THE MOD ADMITTED THAT DESPITE THE POSITIVE NATURE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS IN GUATEMALA, THERE WERE STILL ELEMENTS WITHIN THE ARMY THAT HAD NOT FULLY ACCEPTED THESE CHANGES. THE MOD STATED THE ARMY AS AN INSTITUTION WAS COMMITTED MORALLY AND SPIRITUALLY TO DEMOCRACY. MENDOZA DESCRIBED NARCOTRAFFICKING AS A THREAT TO HUMANITY AND VOWED TO CONTINUE FIGHTING IT. THE MOD DESCRIBED TO THE CINC AN ARMY SO SHORT ON RESOURCES THAT MISSIONS HAD TO BE PRIORITIZED AND THAT 98 PERCENT OF THEIR RESOURCES WERE STILL AIMED AT THE GUERRILLAS, WITH LITTLE LEFT FOR FIGHTING NARCOTRAFFICKERS AND PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT. MENDOZA PLEADED THE CASE FOR A BETTER EQUIPPED AND TRAINED MILITARY, WHILE THE CINC SPOKE OF REORGANIZATION OF MILITARY INSTITUTIONS -- ARMIES THAT MIGHT BE SMALLER BUT OF A HIGHER QUALITY AND CONTAINING MORE APPROPRIATE UNITS. THE MOD, IN RESPONSE TO THE CINC'S URGING TO RESOLVE THE DEVINE CASE, PREDICTED A JUDICIAL DECISION IN THE CASE IN TWO OR THREE MONTHS, THAT THE CASE WAS IN THE HANDS OF THE COURT, AND THERE WAS NOTHING THE ARMY COULD DO; THAT THE LOCAL COMMANDER HAS SUBMITTED HIS ADMINISTRATIVE INVESTIGATION, WHICH THE MOD LABELED AS CREDIBLE. THE MEETING ENDED WITH MENDOZA TALKING ABOUT CIVIL AFFAIRS PROJECTS AND THE CINC EMPHASIZING

THE IMPORTANCE OF HAVING A POSITIVE RELATIONSHIP BASED ON COMMON VALUES AND IDEAS. END SUMMARY.

3. DURING THE AFTERNOON OF 8 AUG 91, USCINCSO, GENERAL GEORGE JOULWAN, MET FOR OVER TWO HOURS WITH GUATEMALAN MINISTER OF DEFENSE, MAJOR GENERAL LUIS ENRIQUE MENDOZA GARCIA. THE MEETING, ORIGINALLY SCHEDULED FOR THE NATIONAL PALACE, TOOK PLACE AT THE AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE FOLLOWING A WORKING LUNCH WHICH INCLUDED AMONG OTHERS, THE PRESIDENT OF GUATEMALA AND THE MOD. THE CINC WAS ACCOMPANIED BY THE AMBASSADOR, DCM, DATT, THE CINC'S POLITICAL ADVISOR AND THE ASSISTANT ARMY ATTACHE WHO ACCOMPLISHED THE TRANSLATION DUTIES.

PROGRESS IN CENTRAL AMERICA

4. GEN JOULWAN OPENED THE DISCUSSION BY DESCRIBING CENTRAL AMERICA AS A PLACE OF GREAT POTENTIAL AND SHOWING PROGRESS -- A TREND OF COMING TOGETHER POLITICALLY AND ECONOMICALLY -- AND THAT THE FUTURE OF CENTRAL AMERICA WOULD LIE IN THE INTEGRATION OF CERTAIN EFFORTS. GEN JOULWAN SPOKE OF HAVING CONVERSATIONS WITH MILITARY LEADERS OF HONDURAS AND EL SALVADOR AND THAT THERE WAS AGREEMENT MILITARIES MUST SUPPORT CIVILIAN DEMOCRATIC RULE, IN ADDITION TO MAINTAINING A HIGH DEGREE OF BATTLEFIELD READINESS, PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT, CONFRONTING THE NARCOTRAFFICKING THREAT AND ESTABLISHING AGENCIES FOR HUMAN RIGHTS. GEN JOULWAN THEN TOLD GEN MENDOZA THAT HE WANTED TO SEE HOW THIS FITS WITH GUATEMALA; HOW MENDOZA SAW IT. THE CINC DESCRIBED AS VERY INTERESTING AND IMPORTANT HOW THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY HAD MOVED TOWARD DEMOCRACY, AND HOW IMPRESSIVE WERE THEIR PEACE EFFORTS WITH THE GUERRILLAS. GEN JOULWAN THEN ASKED MENDOZA FOR HIS VIEWS ON GUATEMALA AS A MEMBER OF THE CENTRAL AMERICAN GROUP.

DEMOCRACY TO GUATEMALA

5. GEN MENDOZA REFLECTED THAT IT WAS GOOD TO DISCUSS SUCH ISSUES; THAT THERE HAVE BEEN CHANGES IN GUATEMALA, SOME POSITIVE, OTHERS NEGATIVE. IN THE POLITICAL ARENA, ACCORDING TO MENDOZA, THERE WAS THE 1982 PLAN CALLED "CAMINO HACIA LA DEMOCRACIA" (ROAD

TOW RI DEMOCRACY). MENDOZA STATED THAT HE BELIEVED THOSE STEPS HAD BEEN POSITIVE; THAT THERE WAS A FIRM CONVICTION ON THE PART OF THE ARMED FORCES; THERE WAS A PLURALISTIC ENVIRONMENT; THERE WAS MAXIMUM OBSERVANCE OF HUMAN RIGHTS. MENDOZA STATED HOWEVER THAT THERE WERE STILL SECTORS OF THE ARMY THAT WERE HARD TO CHANGE; THAT HAD NOT FULLY ACCEPTED THE CHANGES. MENDOZA REMARKED THAT STRIDES HAD BEEN MADE POLITICALLY BUT UNFORTUNATELY SOME SECTORS HAD NOT YET FOLLOWED.

6. GEN MENDOZA RELATED THAT SINCE 1982, THE ARMY HAD BEEN OPERATING WITH 14 GUIDELINES OF WHICH THE TWO PRINCIPAL ONES WERE: PEACE AND THE RECONCILIATION OF THE GUATEMALAN PEOPLE; A RETURN TO CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT. MENDOZA STATED THAT SINCE THE ORIGINS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS, THE ARMY HAS UNDERSTOOD ITS ROLE WITHIN THE STATE. THE MOD ASSURED THE CINC THAT THE ARMY WAS COMMITTED MORALLY AND SPIRITUALLY TO DEMOCRACY TO INCLUDE COLLATERAL ISSUES RELATING TO DEMOCRACY SUCH AS THE ENVIRONMENT, DEVELOPMENT AND HUMAN RIGHTS. MENDOZA THEN CLAIMED THAT THE ARMY WAS THE ONLY INSTITUTION WHICH GAVE ACADEMIC COURSES ON RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS; THAT HUMAN RIGHTS WERE DISCUSSED AT THE MILITARY ACADEMY, THE BASIC AND ADVANCED COURSES, ETC.

NARCOTRAFFICKING; THE ENVIRONMENT

7. MENDOZA THEN SHIFTED THEMES TO NARCOTRAFFICKING, WHICH HE DESCRIBED AS A THREAT TO HUMANITY. MENDOZA REMARKED THAT THEY WERE AWARE OF ITS EFFECTS ON PEOPLE AND THAT THE ARMY WOULD SIDE WITH WHATEVER FORCES WERE AVAILABLE TO STOP IT. MENDOZA THEN DESCRIBED THE OVERLAPPING SITUATIONS OF GUATEMALA -- THE SUBVERSION, NARCOTRAFFICKING, DESTRUCTION OF THE ENVIRONMENT -- AS ACTIVITIES OCCURRING PRIMARILY WITHIN THE SAME GEOGRAPHICAL AREAS, AND NOT BY COINCIDENCE. HE THEN MADE QUICK REFERENCE TO THE THREE GUERRILLA FRONTS WHICH CURRENTLY EXISTED ALONG THE LENGTHY BORDER WITH MEXICO, TOGETHER WITH THE DEPREDATION OF THE ENVIRONMENT, AS WELL AS THE DEPREDATION OF THEIR TERRITORIAL WATERS BY MEXICAN FISHING VESSELS - THE LATTER TWO HE CHARACTERIZED AS NOT NECESSARILY REPRESENTING A DECLARED CONFLICT, BUT THAT THESE PROBLEMS WERE THERE ALL THE SAME.

THE ARMY AND PEACE

8. GEN JOULWAN RESPONDED THAT THE BEST LED ORGANIZATION IN GUATEMALA WAS THE ARMY, THEREFORE IF ANY ORGANIZATION WAS GOING TO PROVIDE SOLUTIONS IT WAS GOING TO HAVE TO BE THE MILITARY. GEN MENDOZA ANSWERED THAT THE CAPABILITY OF THE MILITARY -- ITS ORGANIZATION, TECHNICAL ABILITY -- MEETS THE NEEDS OF GUATEMALA. THE MOD WENT ON TO SAY THAT THE ARMY UNDERSTANDS ITS FOUR BORDERS WITH HONDURAS, EL SALVADOR, BELIZE AND MEXICO; EACH IS DIFFERENT AND

EACH ALSO REPRESENTS A POTENTIAL AREA OF CONFLICT. MENDOZA THEN SUGGESTED THAT GUATEMALA WAS NOT IN THE BEST POSITION WITH REGARD TO ITS BORDER WITH MEXICO AND ITS RELATIONSHIP WITH THE PROBLEM OF THE SUBVERSION. MENDOZA SAID TO GEN JOULWAN THAT THE PROBLEM NEEDED TO BE RESOLVED, THUS THE REASON FOR THE PEACE PROCESS, "WE WANT PEACE". BUT, ACCORDING TO MENDOZA, THE ARMY STILL HAD TO RESPOND MILITARILY, HOWEVER LIMITED THEIR RESOURCES, AND THAT COVERING THE BORDERS AND FIGHTING DRUGS REQUIRED RESOURCES. MENDOZA NOTED THAT THE ARMY HAD TO BE STRENGTHENED MILITARILY, THAT IT LACKED RESOURCES AND TECHNICAL ABILITY BUT WAS STRONG IN SPIRIT.

9. GEN MENDOZA THEN ADDED AS A FINAL POINT THAT THROUGHOUT THEIR MILITARY HISTORY, THEIR ENGINEER UNITS HAVE HAD AN IMPACT ON NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT -- THE ARMY'S WAY OF HELPING AT A LOW COST. MENDOZA SAID THAT THEIR ROAD PROJECTS FOR EXAMPLE, PROVIDE

SUPPORT POLITICALLY IN THAT THE PEOPLE CAN GO TO THE POLLS; PROVIDE SUPPORT SOCIALLY, GIVING GUATEMALANS ACCESS TO HOSPITALS, AND PROVIDE SUPPORT ECONOMICALLY BY GIVING THE CAMPESINOS ACCESS TO MARKETS FOR THEIR PRODUCTS. MENDOZA EMPHASIZED HOWEVER THAT RESOURCES FOR SUCH WORK WERE LIMITED AND THUS THE COOPERATION OF OTHER GOVERNMENTS, ESPECIALLY THE U.S., WAS IMPORTANT.

10. GEN JOULWAN TOLD MENDOZA THAT PART OF THE PROCESS WAS TO BE FRANK AMONG FRIENDS IN DISCUSSING THE DIRECTION IN WHICH WE ARE ALL GOING. DRUGS ARE A REAL THREAT TO DEMOCRACY, STATED THE CINC; NARCOTRAFFICKERS WERE VIOLATING SOVEREIGNTY; DRUGS MOVING IN PLANES AND SHIPS WERE DAMAGING SOCIETY. GEN JOULWAN CONTINUED THAT TO FIGHT DRUGS, THERE MUST BE A NATIONAL WILL, AND THAT HE WAS GLAD TO SEE THAT SUCH A COMMITMENT EXISTED IN GUATEMALA. MENDOZA AGREED, STATING THAT DRUGS REPRESENTED A PROBLEM AGAINST HUMANITY, NOT JUST THE U.S., AND THAT FOR THIS REASON IT WAS NECESSARY TO RESOLVE THEIR NEEDS FOR COOPERATION AND COORDINATION. THE CINC TOLD MENDOZA THAT HE WOULD DO HIS BEST TO PROVIDE HIM WITH INTELLIGENCE WITH WHICH TO FIGHT THE NARCOTRAFFICKERS.

THE MOD'S GUIDLINES FOR THE ARMY

11. GEN MENDOZA THEN STATED TO THE CINC THAT AS THE MOD HE HAD SIX GUIDELINES OF BEHAVIOR FOR THE ARMY:
- ADHERE TO THE STRICT COMPLIANCE OF ITS CONSTITUTIONAL MISSIONS;
- TAKE CARE OF THE WELFARE OF THE MEN;
- DEFEND AND PROTECT THE INSTITUTION (AGAINST ATTACKS ON ITS IMAGE);
- WORK CLOSELY WITH OTHER INSTITUTIONS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE PEOPLE;
- SUPPORT THE GOVERNMENT'S PEACE PROCESS;
- INCREASE OBSERVATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

GEN MENDOZA REMARKED THAT THESE SIX GUIDELINES WOULD LAST FOR THE REST OF HIS TIME IN OFFICE. GEN JOULWAN TOLD THE MOD THAT THESE WERE ALL GOOD POINTS AND THAT HOPEFULLY THE INSTITUTION SETS THE EXAMPLE FOR THE REST OF SOCIETY. THE CINC REMARKED THAT THE ARMY HAD DIFFICULT CHOICES TO MAKE ON THE INSIDE; THE ARMY MUST NOT BE PERCEIVED AS BEING ABOVE THE LAW, THUS THERE WERE DIFFICULT CHOICES TO BE MADE ON CERTAIN CASES. GEN JOULWAN ASSURED GEN MENDOZA THAT THE U.S. WANTED TO BE PART OF THE SOLUTION ALONG WITH THE GUATEMALAN ARMY, TO BE FRIENDS WITH THE GUATEMALAN ARMY, THAT THE U.S. WAS PLEASED ABOUT PROGRESS IN SOME OF THE CASES, AND THAT PROFESSIONALLY THAT IS WHAT THE MILITARY MUST DO IN SETTING THE EXAMPLE IN GUATEMALA

THE DEVINE CASE

12. GEN MENDOZA THEN STARTED TALKING ABOUT THE DEVINE CASE AS BEING BOTH A POLITICAL AND JUDICIAL

PROBLEM FOR THE ARMY. MENDOZA CLAIMED THAT THE ARMY WAS DISPOSED TO OBEY THE LAWS OF THE COUNTRY, AND ADMITTED THAT THERE WAS STILL AN ATTITUDE OF IMPUNITY BY SOME OF ITS MEMBERS, BUT THAT ALL MILITARY PERSONNEL CAME UNDER THE LAW. MENDOZA SAID THAT THE PRESS HAD TAKEN A JUDICIAL ISSUE, THE DECISION OF THE APPELATE COURT AGAINST A CAPTAIN HUGO CONTRERAS, AND TURNED IT INTO A POLITICAL ISSUE, WITH THE INTENT OF DEGRADING THE ARMY.

13. MENDOZA THEN TOLD THE CINC HOW HE HAD CALLED CAPTAIN CONTRERAS INTO HIS OFFICE AND TOLD THE CAPTAIN THAT HE BELIEVED IN HIS INNOCENCE AND THAT THE CAPTAIN ALSO HAD HIS LEGAL RIGHTS. MENDOZA CLAIMED THAT CAPTAIN CONTRERAS ANSWERED THAT HE WOULD GO TO COURT, ABIDE BY THE COURT, BECAUSE FIRST HE WAS INNOCENT AND SECOND BECAUSE HE WAS A PROFESSIONAL MILITARY OFFICER AND UNDERSTOOD DUE PROCESS OF LAW. GEN MENDOZA SAID HE THEN OFFERED CAPTAIN CONTRERAS

GOOD LUCK AND SENT HIM TO BE DETAINED AT THE FACILITIES OF THE MOBILE MILITARY POLICE, IN ORDER TO KEEP HIM SEPARATED FROM THE OTHER ACCUSED MILITARY PERSONNEL (WHO ARE AT THE NORMAL MILITARY DETENTION SITE AT THE GENERAL HEADQUARTERS). THE MOD REMARKED THAT THE ATTITUDE DISPLAYED BY CAPTAIN CONTRERAS GAVE EVIDENCE THAT THE ARMY FALLS UNDER THE GUATEMALAN SYSTEM OF JUSTICE, AND THAT ALL CASES SHOULD HAVE SUCH SUPPORT ESPECIALLY IF THERE IS THE INVOLVEMENT OF AN INSTITUTION.

14. GEN JOULWAN URGED MENDOZA THAT THEY SHOULD GET TO THE BOTTOM OF THE CASE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. GEN MENDOZA RESPONDED THAT THE CASE WAS IN THE HANDS OF THE JUDICIAL BRANCH; THAT HE COULD NOT EXCEED JUSTICE, BE IT SLOW OR FAST. GEN JOULWAN, AFTER TELLING MENDOZA THAT HE WAS ENCOURAGED WITH MENDOZA'S APPOINTMENT AS MOD AND THE NEW DIRECTION HE HAD TAKEN, ASKED MENDOZA IF HE PLANNED TO HAVE AN INTERNAL INVESTIGATION INTO THE DEVINE CASE AS WELL. MENDOZA RESPONDED THAT THERE HAD BEEN AN "ADMINISTRATIVE" INVESTIGATION BY THE LOCAL COMMANDER, AND THE THE COMMANDER'S RESULTS WERE CONSIDERED CORRECT BECAUSE HE HAD CONFIDENCE IN A COMMANDER'S CREDIBILITY. THE AMBASSADOR AT THIS POINT MENTIONED TO THE CINC THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD FOUND THE ARMY'S "INVESTIGATION" TO HAVE BEEN COMPLETELY UNSATISFACTORY—NOT WORTH THE PAPER IT HAD BEEN WRITTEN ON. MENDOZA, IN DEFENSE OF THE ARMY'S INTERNAL INVESTIGATIONS, THEN RELATED THAT IN 1989 AN OFFICER HAD BEEN THROWN OUT OF THE ARMY EVEN THOUGH HE HAD BEEN FOUND JUDICIALLY INNOCENT, BASED ON AN ARMY INVESTIGATION, AND THAT MORE RECENTLY, THREE OFFICERS IMPLICATED IN NARCOTRAFFICKING, WHO WERE ALSO ABSOLVED JUDICIALLY, HAD BEEN THROWN OUT OF THE ARMY BECAUSE THE ARMY, IN FACT, KNEW THEY HAD BEEN INVOLVED.

15. GEN JOULWAN THEN ASKED THE MOD IF THERE WAS ANYTHING NEW ON THE DEVINE CASE. GEN MENDOZA REMARKED THAT HE KNEW OF NOTHING MORE THAN WHAT HAD BEEN REPORTED BY THE LOCAL COMMANDER, AND THAT MRS. DEVINE WAS CONDUCTING HER OWN INVESTIGATION. MENDOZA CLAIMED TO THE CINC THAT IN THE JUDICIAL PROCESS, INFORMATION THAT HAD BEEN REQUESTED OF THE ARMY HAD BEEN GIVEN, AND THAT HE WAS CONFIDENT JUSTICE WOULD COME QUICKLY, FOR, "IF THERE IS A DEATH THEN THERE MUST BE A KILLER". MENDOZA ESTIMATED THAT IN ANOTHER TWO OR THREE MONTHS THERE WOULD BE A CONCRETE RESULT OF THE DEVINE CASE. MENDOZA CONTINUED THAT THE QUICKER THE BETTER FOR THE ARMY BECAUSE IT WAS A PROBLEM OF HONOR IN THAT THE ARMY WAS IMPLICATED. MENDOZA COMMENTED THAT IF ANY MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY WERE GUILTY, LET THE LAW PREVAIL; THAT HE FAVORED THE RULE OF LAW AND THAT HE WAS NOT IN FAVOR OF OR AGAINST ANYONE. GEN JOULWAN REINFORCED MENDOZA'S STATEMENT, SAYING THAT NO ONE WAS ABOVE THE LAW AND THAT WHEN THE DEVINE CASE WAS PUT BEHIND US, WE COULD

THEN DISCUSS OUR FRIENDSHIP, RESOURCES, ETC.

THE ARMY'S NEED FOR RESOURCES

16. THE CINC THEN ASKED THE MOD WHAT SORT OF EVENTS WERE OF INTEREST TO THE ARMY IN THE FUTURE. MENDOZA RESPONDED THAT THE GUATEMALAN ARMY NEEDED TECHNICAL HELP — IMET, MAP, FMS — AS WELL AS LOGISTICAL ASSISTANCE. MENDOZA THEN VOLUNTEERED THAT THE DEVINE CASE REPRESENTED MORE DEAD THAN DEVINE HIMSELF. BECAUSE OF IT, AND THE FMF SUSPENSION, THE ARMY HAD BEEN UNABLE TO OBTAIN NEEDED HELICOPTER SPARES. AS A RESULT, WOUNDED SOLDIERS COULD NOT BE MEDEVACED AND THEY DIED. MENDOZA REMARKED THAT THEY COULD CONTROL THE BORDERS AND PARTICIPATE IN NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT, SUCH AS ROAD BUILDING, IF THEY HAD THE EQUIPMENT AVAILABLE. MENDOZA REAFFIRMED THAT THE GUATEMALAN ARMY NEEDED RESOURCES TO BE ABLE TO COMPLETE ITS MISSIONS WITHOUT HAVING TO WORRY ABOUT PRIORITIES.

SUCH AS THE FIGHT AGAINST THE SUBVERSIVES AND THE NARCOTRAFFICKERS, AND THE NEED TO PROTECT THE ENVIRONMENT. MENDOZA THEN STATED THAT WITH THEIR CURRENT LEVEL OF RESOURCES, THEY COULD REALLY ONLY CONCENTRATE ON THE PEACE EFFORT AND THE INSURGENTS. MENDOZA ESTIMATED THAT 90 PERCENT OF THEIR ACTIVITIES WERE EXPENDED AGAINST THE GUERRILLAS WHILE THE OTHER TEN PERCENT WERE DIVIDED EVENLY BETWEEN CONTROLLING THE ENVIRONMENT AND FIGHTING NARCOTRAFFICKING. THE MOD NOTED THAT BY THE TIME THE ARMY REACTS TO A THREAT, THEY FIND THEMSELVES WITH SCARCE RESOURCES AGAINST A STRONG THREAT, THUS THE ARMY NEEDED TO BE FIGHTING ALL THREE -- GUERRILLAS, NARCOTRAFFICKERS, PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT. MENDOZA CONTINUED THAT WITH THE FOUR BORDERS, EACH WITH ITS OWN SET OF CIRCUMSTANCES, PLUS INTERNAL PROBLEMS, AND THE GIANT TO THE NORTH (MEXICO), THAT GUATEMALA NEEDED A TECHNICALLY PROFICIENT, WELL-TRAINED ARMY. MENDOZA NOTED, "WE WILL NOT DO ANY REDUCTIONS OR DEMILITARIZATION".

REORGANIZATION VS DEMILITARIZATION

17. GEN JOULWAN TOLD GEN MENDOZA THAT HE PREFERRED THE TERM REORGANIZATION INSTEAD OF DEMILITARIZATION, TO WHICH THE MOD QUICKLY RESPONDED SUCH WOULD BE VALID IF QUANTITY COULD BE CHANGED FOR QUALITY. THE CINC AGREED THAT FOR THE REORGANIZATION OF A SMALLER BUT MORE HIGHLY QUALIFIED FORCE, "REORGANIZATION" WAS THE BETTER EXPRESSION. MENDOZA THEN COMMENTED THAT THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SOCIETY AND THEIR EDUCATION AND A CIVIC UNDERSTANDING OF THIS WAS NECESSARY BEFORE SUCH REORGANIZATION COULD TAKE PLACE. THE CINC GAVE MENDOZA EXAMPLES OF FORMS OF REORGANIZATION, SUCH AS CONVERTING AN ANTIAIRCRAFT UNIT INTO A "GREEN" UNIT; AN INFANTRY BATTALION INTO AN ENGINEER BATTALION.

CIVIC ACTION

18. MENDOZA DECLARED THAT THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY HAD BEEN INVOLVED WITH CIVIC ACTION SINCE 1982, THAT ALL COMMANDS PRODUCED FOOD FOR SELF-SUFFICIENCY AND THAT THE ARMY BUILT THE ROADS IN THE AREA OF PLAYA GRANDE AND THE PETEN. HE THEN ADDED THAT IN 1990, THE ARMY HAD CONSTRUCTED SOME 60 KILOMETERS OF ROAD WHILE THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS HAD BUILT NONE. MENDOZA THEN MENTIONED THREE ROAD PROJECTS TO THE CINC:

- THE ROAD FROM PLAYA GRANDE TO COBAN OF 96 KILOMETERS, WHICH WOULD REDUCE THE DISTANCE FOR SOME OF THE CAMPESINOS WHO NOW HAVE TO TRAVEL 190 KILOMETERS;
- THE ROAD FROM SALAMA TO THE CAPITAL, 84 KILOMETERS;
- RESURFACING THE ROAD TO SAN JUAN SACATEPEQUEZ.

THE MOD ALSO MENTIONED THAT THE ARMY WAS CONDUCTING MEDICAL VISITS TO RURAL AREAS.

1. CONFIDENTIAL ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: GENERAL GEORGE JOULWAN, USCINCSO, MET FOR TWO HOURS WITH GUATEMALA'S MINISTER OF DEFENSE, GENERAL MENDOZA, AT THE AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE ON 8 AUG 91. THE MOD ADMITTED THAT DESPITE THE POSITIVE NATURE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS IN GUATEMALA, THERE WERE STILL ELEMENTS WITHIN THE ARMY THAT HAD NOT FULLY ACCEPTED THESE CHANGES. THE MOD STATED THE ARMY AS AN INSTITUTION WAS COMMITTED MORALLY AND SPIRITUALLY TO DEMOCRACY. MENDOZA DESCRIBED NARCOTRAFFICKING AS A THREAT TO HUMANITY AND VOWED TO CONTINUE FIGHTING IT. THE MOD DESCRIBED TO THE CINC AN ARMY SO SHORT ON RESOURCES THAT MISSIONS HAD TO BE PRIORITIZED AND THAT 98 PERCENT OF THEIR RESOURCES WERE STILL AIMED AT THE GUERRILLAS, WITH LITTLE LEFT FOR FIGHTING NARCOTRAFFICKERS AND PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT. MENDOZA PLEADED THE CASE FOR A BETTER EQUIPPED AND TRAINED MILITARY, WHILE THE CINC SPOKE OF REORGANIZATION OF MILITARY INSTITUTIONS -- ARMIES THAT MIGHT BE SMALLER BUT OF A HIGHER QUALITY AND CONTAINING MORE APPROPRIATE UNITS. THE MOD, IN RESPONSE TO THE CINC'S URGING TO RESOLVE THE DEVINE CASE, PREDICTED A JUDICIAL DECISION IN THE CASE IN TWO OR THREE MONTHS, THAT THE CASE WAS IN THE HANDS OF THE COURT, AND THERE WAS NOTHING THE ARMY COULD DO; THAT THE LOCAL COMMANDER HAS SUBMITTED HIS ADMINISTRATIVE INVESTIGATION, WHICH THE MOD LABELED AS CREDIBLE. THE MEETING ENDED WITH MENDOZA TALKING ABOUT CIVIL AFFAIRS PROJECTS AND THE CINC EMPHASIZING

THE IMPORTANCE OF HAVING A POSITIVE RELATIONSHIP BASED ON COMMON VALUES AND IDEAS. END SUMMARY.

3. DURING THE AFTERNOON OF 8 AUG 91, USCINCSO, GENERAL GEORGE JOULWAN, MET FOR OVER TWO HOURS WITH GUATEMALAN MINISTER OF DEFENSE, MAJOR GENERAL LUIS ENRIQUE MENDOZA GARCIA. THE MEETING, ORIGINALLY SCHEDULED FOR THE NATIONAL PALACE, TOOK PLACE AT THE AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE FOLLOWING A WORKING LUNCH WHICH INCLUDED AMONG OTHERS, THE PRESIDENT OF GUATEMALA AND THE MOD. THE CINC WAS ACCOMPANIED BY THE AMBASSADOR, DCM, DATT, THE CINC'S POLITICAL ADVISOR AND THE ASSISTANT ARMY ATTACHE WHO ACCOMPLISHED THE TRANSLATION DUTIES.

PROGRESS IN CENTRAL AMERICA

4. GEN JOULWAN OPENED THE DISCUSSION BY DESCRIBING CENTRAL AMERICA AS A PLACE OF GREAT POTENTIAL AND SHOWING PROGRESS -- A TREND OF COMING TOGETHER POLITICALLY AND ECONOMICALLY -- AND THAT THE FUTURE OF CENTRAL AMERICA WOULD LIE IN THE INTEGRATION OF CERTAIN EFFORTS. GEN JOULWAN SPOKE OF HAVING CONVERSATIONS WITH MILITARY LEADERS OF HONDURAS AND EL SALVADOR AND THAT THERE WAS AGREEMENT MILITARIES MUST SUPPORT CIVILIAN DEMOCRATIC RULE, IN ADDITION TO MAINTAINING A HIGH DEGREE OF BATTLEFIELD READINESS, PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT, CONFRONTING THE NARCOTRAFFICKING THREAT AND ESTABLISHING AGENCIES FOR HUMAN RIGHTS. GEN JOULWAN THEN TOLD GEN MENDOZA THAT HE WANTED TO SEE HOW THIS FITS WITH GUATEMALA; HOW MENDOZA SAW IT. THE CINC DESCRIBED AS VERY INTERESTING AND IMPORTANT HOW THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY HAD MOVED TOWARD DEMOCRACY, AND HOW IMPRESSIVE WERE THEIR PEACE EFFORTS WITH THE GUERRILLAS. GEN JOULWAN THEN ASKED MENDOZA FOR HIS VIEWS ON GUATEMALA AS A MEMBER OF THE CENTRAL AMERICAN GROUP.

DEMOCRACY TO GUATEMALA

5. GEN MENDOZA REFLECTED THAT IT WAS GOOD TO DISCUSS SUCH ISSUES; THAT THERE HAVE BEEN CHANGES IN GUATEMALA, SOME POSITIVE, OTHERS NEGATIVE. IN THE POLITICAL ARENA, ACCORDING TO MENDOZA, THERE WAS THE 1982 PLAN CALLED "CAMINO HACIA LA DEMOCRACIA" (ROAD

TOW RI DEMOCRACY). MENDOZA STATED THAT HE BELIEVED THOSE STEPS HAD BEEN POSITIVE; THAT THERE WAS A FIRM CONVICTION ON THE PART OF THE ARMED FORCES; THERE WAS A PLURALISTIC ENVIRONMENT; THERE WAS MAXIMUM OBSERVANCE OF HUMAN RIGHTS. MENDOZA STATED HOWEVER THAT THERE WERE STILL SECTORS OF THE ARMY THAT WERE HARD TO CHANGE; THAT HAD NOT FULLY ACCEPTED THE CHANGES. MENDOZA REMARKED THAT STRIDES HAD BEEN MADE POLITICALLY BUT UNFORTUNATELY SOME SECTORS HAD NOT YET FOLLOWED.

6. GEN MENDOZA RELATED THAT SINCE 1982, THE ARMY HAD BEEN OPERATING WITH 14 GUIDELINES OF WHICH THE TWO PRINCIPAL ONES WERE: PEACE AND THE RECONCILIATION OF THE GUATEMALAN PEOPLE; A RETURN TO CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT. MENDOZA STATED THAT SINCE THE ORIGINS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS, THE ARMY HAS UNDERSTOOD ITS ROLE WITHIN THE STATE. MENDOZA THEN CLAIMED THAT THE ARMY WAS THE ONLY INSTITUTION WHICH GAVE ACADEMIC COURSES ON RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS; THAT HUMAN RIGHTS WERE DISCUSSED AT THE MILITARY ACADEMY, THE BASIC AND ADVANCED COURSES, ETC.

NARCOTRAFFICKING; THE ENVIRONMENT

7. MENDOZA THEN SHIFTED THEMES TO NARCOTRAFFICKING, WHICH HE DESCRIBED AS A THREAT TO HUMANITY. MENDOZA REMARKED THAT THEY WERE AWARE OF ITS EFFECTS ON PEOPLE AND THAT THE ARMY WOULD SIDE WITH WHATEVER FORCES WERE AVAILABLE TO STOP IT. MENDOZA THEN DESCRIBED THE OVERLAPPING SITUATIONS OF GUATEMALA -- THE SUBVERSION, NARCOTRAFFICKING, DESTRUCTION OF THE ENVIRONMENT -- AS ACTIVITIES OCCURRING PRIMARILY WITHIN THE SAME GEOGRAPHICAL AREAS, AND NOT BY COINCIDENCE. HE THEN MADE QUICK REFERENCE TO THE THREE GUERRILLA FRONTS WHICH CURRENTLY EXISTED ALONG THE LENGTHY BORDER WITH MEXICO, TOGETHER WITH THE DEPREDATION OF THE ENVIRONMENT, AS WELL AS THE DEPREDATION OF THEIR TERRITORIAL WATERS BY MEXICAN FISHING VESSELS - THE LATTER TWO HE CHARACTERIZED AS NOT NECESSARILY REPRESENTING A DECLARED CONFLICT, BUT THAT THESE PROBLEMS WERE THERE ALL THE SAME.

8. GEN JOULWAN RESPONDED THAT THE BEST LED ORGANIZATION IN GUATEMALA WAS THE ARMY, THEREFORE IF ANY ORGANIZATION WAS GOING TO PROVIDE SOLUTIONS IT WAS GOING TO HAVE TO BE THE MILITARY. THE MOD WENT ON TO SAY THAT THE ARMY UNDERSTANDS ITS FOUR BORDERS WITH HONDURAS, EL SALVADOR, BELIZE AND MEXICO; EACH IS DIFFERENT AND

EACH ALSO REPRESENTS A POTENTIAL AREA OF CONFLICT. MENDOZA THEN SUGGESTED THAT GUATEMALA WAS NOT IN THE BEST POSITION WITH REGARD TO ITS BORDER WITH MEXICO AND ITS RELATIONSHIP WITH THE PROBLEM OF THE SUBVERSION. MENDOZA SAID TO GEN JOULWAN THAT THE PROBLEM NEEDED TO BE RESOLVED, THUS THE REASON FOR THE PEACE PROCESS, "WE WANT PEACE". BUT, ACCORDING TO MENDOZA, THE ARMY STILL HAD TO RESPOND MILITARILY, HOWEVER LIMITED THEIR RESOURCES, AND THAT COVERING THE BORDERS AND FIGHTING DRUGS REQUIRED RESOURCES. MENDOZA NOTED THAT THE ARMY HAD TO BE STRENGTHENED MILITARILY, THAT IT LACKED RESOURCES AND TECHNICAL ABILITY BUT WAS STRONG IN SPIRIT.

9. GEN MENDOZA THEN ADDED AS A FINAL POINT THAT THROUGHOUT THEIR MILITARY HISTORY, THEIR ENGINEER UNITS HAVE HAD AN IMPACT ON NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT -- THE ARMY'S WAY OF HELPING AT A LOW COST. MENDOZA SAID THAT THEIR ROAD PROJECTS FOR EXAMPLE, PROVIDE

SUPPORT POLITICALLY IN THAT THE PEOPLE CAN GO TO THE POLLS; PROVIDE SUPPORT SOCIALLY, GIVING GUATEMALANS ACCESS TO HOSPITALS, AND PROVIDE SUPPORT ECONOMICALLY BY GIVING THE CAMPESINOS ACCESS TO MARKETS FOR THEIR PRODUCTS. MENDOZA EMPHASIZED HOWEVER THAT RESOURCES FOR SUCH WORK WERE LIMITED AND THUS THE COOPERATION OF OTHER GOVERNMENTS, ESPECIALLY THE U.S., WAS IMPORTANT.

10. GEN JOULWAN TOLD MENDOZA THAT PART OF THE PROCESS WAS TO BE FRANK AMONG FRIENDS IN DISCUSSING THE DIRECTION IN WHICH WE ARE ALL GOING. DRUGS ARE A REAL THREAT TO DEMOCRACY, STATED THE CINC; NARCOTRAFFICKERS WERE VIOLATING SOVEREIGNTY; DRUGS MOVING IN PLANES AND SHIPS WERE DAMAGING SOCIETY. GEN JOULWAN CONTINUED THAT TO FIGHT DRUGS, THERE MUST BE A NATIONAL WILL, AND THAT HE WAS GLAD TO SEE THAT SUCH A COMMITMENT EXISTED IN GUATEMALA. MENDOZA AGREED, STATING THAT DRUGS REPRESENTED A PROBLEM AGAINST HUMANITY, NOT JUST THE U.S., AND THAT FOR THIS REASON IT WAS NECESSARY TO RESOLVE THEIR NEEDS FOR COOPERATION AND COORDINATION. THE CINC TOLD MENDOZA THAT HE WOULD DO HIS BEST TO PROVIDE HIM WITH INTELLIGENCE WITH WHICH TO FIGHT THE NARCOTRAFFICKERS.

THE MOD'S GUIDLINES FOR THE ARMY

11. GEN MENDOZA THEN STATED TO THE CINC THAT AS THE MOD HE HAD SIX GUIDELINES OF BEHAVIOR FOR THE ARMY:
- ADHERE TO THE STRICT COMPLIANCE OF ITS CONSTITUTIONAL MISSIONS;
- TAKE CARE OF THE WELFARE OF THE MEN;
- DEFEND AND PROTECT THE INSTITUTION (AGAINST ATTACKS ON ITS IMAGE);
- WORK CLOSELY WITH OTHER INSTITUTIONS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE PEOPLE;
- SUPPORT THE GOVERNMENT'S PEACE PROCESS;
- INCREASE OBSERVATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

GEN MENDOZA REMARKED THAT THESE SIX GUIDELINES WOULD LAST FOR THE REST OF HIS TIME IN OFFICE. GEN JOULWAN TOLD THE MOD THAT THESE WERE ALL GOOD POINTS AND THAT HOPEFULLY THE INSTITUTION SETS THE EXAMPLE FOR THE REST OF SOCIETY. THE CINC REMARKED THAT THE ARMY HAD DIFFICULT CHOICES TO MAKE ON THE INSIDE; THE ARMY MUST NOT BE PERCEIVED AS BEING ABOVE THE LAW, THUS THERE WERE DIFFICULT CHOICES TO BE MADE ON CERTAIN CASES. THE ARMY'S NEED FOR RESOURCES

16. THE CINC THEN ASKED THE MOD WHAT SORT OF EVENTS WERE OF INTEREST TO THE ARMY IN THE FUTURE. MENDOZA RESPONDED THAT THE GUATEMALAN ARMY NEEDED TECHNICAL HELP — IMET, MAP, FMS — AS WELL AS LOGISTICAL ASSISTANCE. MENDOZA THEN VOLUNTEERED THAT THE DEVINE CASE REPRESENTED MORE DEAD THAN DEVINE HIMSELF. BECAUSE OF IT, AND THE FMF SUSPENSION, THE ARMY HAD BEEN UNABLE TO OBTAIN NEEDED HELICOPTER SPARES. THE CINC GAVE MENDOZA EXAMPLES OF FORMS OF REORGANIZATION, SUCH AS CONVERTING AN ANTIAIRCRAFT UNIT INTO A "GREEN" UNIT; AN INFANTRY BATTALION INTO AN ENGINEER BATTALION.

CIVIC ACTION

18. MENDOZA DECLARED THAT THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY HAD BEEN INVOLVED WITH CIVIC ACTION SINCE 1982, THAT ALL COMMANDS PRODUCED FOOD FOR SELF-SUFFICIENCY AND THAT THE ARMY BUILT THE ROADS IN THE AREA OF PLAYA GRANDE AND THE PETEN. HE THEN ADDED THAT IN 1990, THE ARMY HAD CONSTRUCTED SOME 60 KILOMETERS OF ROAD WHILE THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS HAD BUILT NONE. MENDOZA THEN MENTIONED THREE ROAD PROJECTS TO THE CINC:

- THE ROAD FROM PLAYA GRANDE TO COBAN OF 96 KILOMETERS, WHICH WOULD REDUCE THE DISTANCE FOR SOME OF THE CAMPESINOS WHO NOW HAVE TO TRAVEL 190 KILOMETERS;
- THE ROAD FROM SALAMA TO THE CAPITAL, 84 KILOMETERS;
- RESURFACING THE ROAD TO SAN JUAN SACATEPEQUEZ.

THE MOD ALSO MENTIONED THAT THE ARMY WAS CONDUCTING MEDICAL VISITS TO RURAL AREAS.

19. MENDOZA THEN MENTIONED THE ARMY'S PROBLEM OF OBTAINING PARTS FOR THEIR OLD ENGINEER EQUIPMENT, EQUIPMENT RECEIVED BACK IN 1973, AND EXPRESSED HIS HOPE THAT JAPAN MIGHT BE WILLING TO HELP WITH SOME MACHINERY. MENDOZA THEN REFERRED BRIEFLY TO THE DANGERS INVOLVED WITH THE ROAD BUILDING PROJECTS IN THE CONFLICTIVE ZONES; THAT THE ARMY HAD BUILT ROADS IN HUEHUETENANGO, THE IXIL TRIANGLE, AND PLAYA GRANDE, AND THAT IN THE PLAYA GRANDE PROJECT ALONE, THE ARMY SUFFERED LOSSES OF 86 PERSONNEL, OFFICERS, SPECIALISTS AND SOLDIERS, TO GUERRILLA ACTIVITIES.

20. GEN JOULWAN TOLD MENDOZA THAT THE ISSUE OF PARTS WAS SOMETHING THAT COULD BE LOOKED AT, BUT THAT AS THERE WAS RESPECT FOR THE GUATEMALAN ARMY, THERE ALSO HAD TO BE RESPECT FOR WHAT WE WERE TRYING TO DO, AND THAT IF THAT RESPECT CONTINUED, THERE WAS NO REASON WHY THERE COULD NOT BE COOPERATION AND FRIENDSHIP.

5/6 C O N F I D E N T I A L GUATEMALACITY 008168/85

MENDOZA ANSWERED THAT HIS JOB WAS TO FIND PROBLEMS AND THEN FIND SOLUTIONS; THAT HE WAS NATIONALIST, CONSTITUTIONALIST AND INSTITUTIONALIST WHO HAD RESPECT FOR THE LAW AND THE OBSERVANCE OF IT. GEN JOULWAN CLOSED BY SAYING TO MENDOZA THAT IT WAS IMPORTANT TO HAVE A POSITIVE RELATIONSHIP BASED ON CONFIDENCE AND COMMON VALUES AND IDEALS, AND THAT BOTH SIDES SHOULD WORK TOGETHER BUILDING THAT RELATIONSHIP.

21. COMMENTS: THIS CONVERSATION WAS A CORDIAL ONE BETWEEN TWO SOLDIERS, BUT ALTHOUGH A LOT OF GROUND WAS COVERED, LITTLE WAS RESOLVED IN TERMS OF THOSE THINGS THAT ARE CAUSING STRESS IN THE MILITARY TO MILITARY RELATIONSHIP; THE DEVINE CASE AND THE SUSPENSION OF U.S. MATERIAL ASSISTANCE. THE CINC DELIVERED OUR CONCERNS ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE NEED TO GET TO THE BOTTOM OF THE DEVINE CASE IN A FRIENDLY MANNER, BUT MENDOZA STILL CONTINUES TO HIDE BEHIND THE JUDICIAL PROCESS, INSTEAD OF HOLDING A FULL FLEDGED INVESTIGATION IN SUPPORT OF IT.

SUBJECT: HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH LEADER

- ACKNOWLEDGES PROGRESS IN EL SALVADOR

1. (U) AUG. 8 HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH DIRECTOR ARYEH NEIER AND AMERICAS WATCH DIRECTOR JUAN MENDEZ CALLED ON CHARGE TO DISCUSS THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS, HUMAN RIGHTS, AND THE JESUIT CASE. THE CHARGE DESCRIBED IN GENERAL TERMS THE COMPRESSED NEGOTIATING PLAN BEING CONSIDERED FOR THE NEXT ROUND AND CURRENT CONSULTATIONS.

2. [redacted] MENDEZ ASKED WHY THE LAWYERS COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS HAD BEEN DENIED PERMISSION TO CROSS-EXAMINE MAJOR ERIC BUCKLAND AND OTHER U.S. CITIZENS GIVING TESTIMONY ON THE JESUIT CASE. THE CHARGE POINTED OUT THAT THE LEGAL DETERMINATION HAD BEEN MADE BY THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AND THAT AMERICAS WATCH SHOULD ASK DOJ FOR A COMPLETE LEGAL EXPLANATION, BUT ADDED THAT THE STRICT DEADLINES FOR GATHERING AND PRESENTATION OF THIS TESTIMONY MADE IT ESSENTIAL THAT THE U.S. WITNESSES RESPOND TO THE SALVADORAN JUDGE'S QUESTIONS VOLUNTARILY. IF SUBPOENAS HAD BEEN REQUIRED, IT WOULD HAVE BEEN IMPOSSIBLE TO PRESENT THE TESTIMONY TO THE SALVADORAN COURTS BY THE AUG. 23 DEADLINE. THE ISSUES OF DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY AND THE POTENTIAL REVELATION OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION FURTHER COMPLICATE THE PROCESS OF OBTAINING AND PROVIDING THIS TESTIMONY TO SALVADORAN AUTHORITIES.

3. (U) NEIER CLOSED BY POINTING OUT THAT FOR THE FIRST TIME IN ELEVEN YEARS OF VISITS, HE WAS SOMEWHAT OPTIMISTIC ABOUT BOTH THE PEACE PROCESS AND HUMAN RIGHTS. ENCOURAGED BY THE ROLE TO BE PLAYED BY ONUSAL IN HUMAN RIGHTS, NEIER SAID HE WAS NOW CONVINCED THAT THERE HAVE BEEN IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR. ADDING THAT HE HATED THE WORD "PROGRESS" TO DESCRIBE A LESSENING, BUT NOT ELIMINATION, OF SERIOUS ABUSES, NEIER SAID THERE HAD UNDOUBTEDLY BEEN SIGNIFICANT CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

4. [redacted] COMMENT: WE AGREE WITH NEIER THAT THE INSTALLATION OF ONUSAL, WITH ITS UNPRECEDENTED MANDATE ON HUMAN RIGHTS, IS A MAJOR ACHIEVEMENT, ALTHOUGH IT TOOK SOME PRODDING. WE WERE PLEASED AT NEIER'S ACKNOWLEDGEMENT THAT REAL, IF INSUFFICIENT, PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE ON HUMAN RIGHTS, SOMETHING MANY OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, INCLUDING TUTELA LEGAL, CONSISTENTLY DENY.

E.O. 12356: DECL:OADR

SUBJECT: HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR--THE MANIPULATION AND MISREPRESENTATION OF COMMON CRIMES

REFS: (A) SAN SALVADOR 01685 (NOTAL)
(B) SAN SALVADOR 09255 (NOTAL)
(C) SAN SALVADOR 10026 (NOTAL)

1. (LOU) IN EL SALVADOR'S HIGHLY CHARGED POLITICAL ENVIRONMENT, COMMON CRIMES SOMETIMES TAKE ON UNWARRANTED POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE. IN AT LEAST THREE MAJOR CASES DURING THE PAST YEAR, HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, POLITICAL ACTIVISTS, AND OTHERS HAVE BLAMED THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES AND/OR RIGHTWING DEATH SQUADS FOR CRIMES WHICH THE PREPONDERANCE OF EVIDENCE INDICATES WERE COMMITTED BY COMMON CRIMINALS AND WERE NOT/NOT MOTIVATED BY POLITICS. UNFORTUNATELY, THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR--AN ISSUE CENTRAL BOTH TO U.S. POLICY AND TO PROSPECTS FOR

LONG-TERM POLITICAL STABILITY--IS OFTEN OBSCURED BY RASH ACCUSATIONS MADE WITH LITTLE OR NO EVIDENCE.

THE AYUTUXTEPEQUE MASSACRE

2. (U) ON JANUARY 21, 1981, UNIDENTIFIED ASSAILANTS KILLED 15 PEOPLE RESIDING IN THE VILLAGE OF AYUTUXTEPEQUE, LOCATED ABOUT 6 MILES NORTH OF SAN SALVADOR. THE VICTIMS WERE ALL MEMBERS OF THE SAME FAMILY, THE ARAGONS. SALVADORAN POLICE SUSPECTED THE KILLINGS WERE THE RESULT OF A DISPUTE BETWEEN THE ARAGONS AND THE VASQUEZ FAMILY, BUT TUTELA LEGAL (THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOPRIC'S OFFICE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS) AND OTHER GROUPS CRITICAL OF THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT BLAMED THE SALVADORAN MILITARY FOR THE CRIME. ON JANUARY 27, CATHOLIC CHURCH OFFICIALS SAID THAT THEY HAD "VALUABLE INFORMATION" IN THE CASE, BUT DECLINED TO REVEAL IT. THE FMLN GUERRILLAS ANNOUNCED THAT THE 15 MURDERED PEOPLE WERE ALL ACTIVE FMLN COLLABORATORS AND THAT THE MILITARY KILLED THEM IN ORDER TO "TERRORIZE" SALVADORANS PRIOR TO THE MARCH 15 ELECTIONS.

3. (U) AS REPORTED IN REF A, TWO EX-SOLDIERS, JESUS VANEGAS ALVARENGA AND ARMANDO DE PAZ, CONFESSED THAT THEY AND FOUR OTHERS--INCLUDING TWO VASQUEZ SISTERS, NATIVIDAD AND MARIA CRISTINA--KILLED THE ARAGON FAMILY. THE VASQUEZ SISTERS REPORTEDLY WERE BITTER OVER THEIR FAILED LOVE AFFAIRS WITH ARAGON MEN. THE TWO EX-SOLDIERS TOLD THE INVESTIGATING JUDGE ON FEBRUARY 25 THAT THE VASQUEZ SISTERS HAD PROMISED THEM MONEY TO KILL THE ARAGON FAMILY AND HAD THREATENED TO HAVE THEM KILLED IF THEY DID NOT COMPLY. ACCORDING TO THE CONFESSION, THE SIX SUSPECTS VISITED THE HOMES OF THE ARAGON FAMILY ON JANUARY 21ST, GAINED ENTRY BY PASSING THEMSELVES OFF AS SOLDIERS, AND THEN KILLED EVERYONE IN SIGHT WITH GUNFIRE AND MACHETES. IN SEARCHING A HOUSE SHARED BY TWO OF THE SUSPECTS, POLICE DISCOVERED AN ABUNDANCE OF INCRIMINATING EVIDENCE, INCLUDING RIFLE CARTRIDGES FROM THE SAME MANUFACTURER'S LOT AS THOSE USED IN THE MURDERS, BLOODSTAINED CLOTHING AND MACHETES, AND A DIARY LISTING THE NAMES OF THE MURDER VICTIMS. AT LEAST ONE OF THE SUSPECTS RESISTED ARREST; TRYING TO FLEE FROM POLICE THROUGH A CROWDED MARKETPLACE, HE KILLED AN OFFICER WITH A HANDGRENADE. AN 85-YEAR-OLD WOMAN WHO SURVIVED THE MASSACRE ALLEGED AT ONE POINT THAT THE JUDGE PRESSURED HER TO CHANGE HER TESTIMONY, BUT LATER RETRACTED THE CHARGE.

4. (LOU) ALTHOUGH TUTELA LEGAL CONTINUES TO INSIST THAT THE CONFESSIONS WERE COERCED AND THAT THE ARRESTS ARE AN ELABORATE COVER-UP FOR AN ESAF CRIME, THE EMBASSY BELIEVES THE MURDERS WERE ARESULTED FROM A SIMPLE FAMILY FEUD FUELED BY PASSION, NOT POLITICS. AMERICA'S WATCH ISSUED A REPORT IN MARCH 1991 WHICH ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THERE "ARE INDICATIONS THAT THE EL ZAPOTE MASSACRE MAY HAVE BEEN THE RESULT OF A FAMILY FEUD."

5. (U) ON MAY 14, THE BODY OF ISRAC MARTINEZ, A ONE-TIME CANDIDATE OF THE LEFTIST DEMOCRATIC CONVERGENCE (CD) COALITION, WAS DISCOVERED ON A ROADSIDE IN SANTA ANA DEPARTMENT. THE CD AND TUTELA LEGAL CHARGED THAT RIGHTWING DEATH SQUADS HAD ABDUCTED, TORTURED, AND MURDERED MARTINEZ FOR POLITICAL REASONS. AS REPORTED IN REF B, AUTHORITIES ARRESTED MARTINEZ'S WIDOW AND HIS STEPSON FOR THE MURDER ON JULY 14. THE TWO TESTIFIED THAT THEY HAD KILLED MARTINEZ IN SELF-DEFENSE AFTER HE HAD STRUCK HIS WIFE AND THREATENED HER WITH A MACHETE. MARTINEZ HAD A REPUTATION FOR BEING ILL-TEMPERED AND A HEAVY DRINKER, AND HAD LEFT HIS PREVIOUS HOME IN MORAZAN DEPARTMENT TO ESCAPE DEATH THREATS ARISING FROM A PERSONAL DISPUTE THERE. THE SUSPECTS TOLD THE

INVESTIGATING JUDGE THAT THEY HAD DUMPED MARTINEZ'S BODY ALONG THE ROADSIDE IN ORDER TO THROW THE POLICE OFF TRACK.

THE MURDER OF MARTIN AYALA RAMIREZ

6. (U) ON THE EVENING OF JULY 6, UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS

BROKE INTO THE OFFICES OF THE SAN SALVADOR-BASED COUNCIL FOR MARGINAL COMMUNITIES (CCM). THE ASSAILANTS KILLED NIGHTWATCHMAN MARTIN AYALA MARTINEZ, WOUNDED HIS COMMON-LAW WIFE, AND STOLE MONEY AND EQUIPMENT FROM THE PREMISES. THE CCM, TUTELA LEGAL, AND OTHERS CHARGED THAT THE MILITARY AND/OR RIGHTWING DEATH SQUADS COMMITTED THE CRIME IN RETALIATION FOR THE CCM'S INVOLVEMENT IN AN FMLN CAMPAIGN TO OCCUPY PRIVATELY-OWNED FARMLAND. THE INCIDENT WAS REPORTED IN THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS AND HAS BEEN CITED BY CRITICS OF THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT IN A NUMBER OF LETTERS AND TELEPHONE CALLS TO THE US EMBASSY AS "PROOF" OF GOVERNMENT-SANCTIONED DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY.

7. (U) AS REPORTED IN REF C, SALVADORAN POLICE ARRESTED TWO MEN, JOSE LUIS ANAYA AND GILBERTO ANTONIO CONTRERAS, WHO CONFESSED TO KILLING AYALA ON THE INSTRUCTIONS OF THEIR MUTUAL LOVER, PROSTITUTE AND

FORMER CCM EMPLOYEE MARTA ABIGAIL CONTRERA. ACCORDING TO THE TWO SUSPECTS, THE CRIME WAS ORIGINALLY PLANNED AS A SIMPLE ROBBERY BUT MARTA--WHO WAS AT THE SCENE--DECIDED THAT AYALA AND HIS WIFE WOULD HAVE TO BE KILLED TO ELIMINATE ANY WITNESSES. A CASSETTE TAPE RECORDER STOLEN FROM THE CCM OFFICES WAS LATER RECOVERED FROM ONE OF THE SUSPECTS. MARTA ABIGAIL CONTRERAS REMAINS AT LARGE.

8. (U) A SUBSTANTIAL BODY OF EVIDENCE POINTS TO ROBBERY, NOT POLITICS, AS THE MOTIVE OF THE AYALA KILLING. ALTHOUGH THE CCM IS REGARDED AS A LEFTIST ORGANIZATION, NONE OF THE SUSPECTS OR VICTIMS IN THE CASE HAS ANY STRONG POLITICAL TIES. GILBERTO ANTONIO CONTRERAS IS AN ARMY VETERAN, BUT HE WAS MUSTERED OUT IN 1984 AFTER HE WAS WOUNDED IN ACTION AND LOST A LEG. HE WORE A PROSTHESIS AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME. DESPITE THE WEALTH OF EVIDENCE, MANY OF THE GOVERNMENT'S CRITICS CONTINUE TO ARGUE THAT THE MILITARY AND/OR DEATH SQUADS KILLED ANAYA FOR POLITICAL REASONS.

9. (LOU) COMMENT: --THESE ARE CASES WHICH HAVE BEDEVILED THE GOES IN ITS DEALINGS WITH FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS. ALL TOO OFTEN, TUTELA LEGAL AND OTHER GROUPS CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT--SOME OF WHICH ARE REGARDED INTERNATIONALLY AS CREDIBLE AND OBJECTIVE SOURCES OF HUMAN RIGHTS INFORMATION--ALLEGE OFFICIALLY-SANCTIONED HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, BUT DECLINE TO SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT WHEN PROVEN WRONG. SIMILARLY, THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS HAS METICULOUSLY

REPORTED THE ALLEGATIONS AGAINST THE GOES, BUT THE LESS NEWS-WORTHY RESOLUTIONS OF THESE CASES SELDOM MERIT PUBLICATION, LEAVING THE IMPRESSION THAT DEATH SQUADS ARE RUNNING RAMPANT IN EL SALVADOR. THE MANIPULATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS CHARGES FOR POLITICAL MOTIVES IS A CONTINUING PROBLEM WHICH ALL THOSE CONCERNED WITH SALVADORAN AFFAIRS MUST KEEP IN MIND.

10. (LOU) AT THE SAME TIME, IT SHOULD BE MENTIONED THAT THE GOES AND THE ESAF ARE HARDLY PASSIVE VICTIMS IN THE ACCUSATION GAME. ALTHOUGH NO ONE SERIOUSLY BELIEVES THAT ARENA TREASURER BILLY SOL BANG IS BEING HELD BY INSURGENTS, GOES AND ESAF OFFICIALS HAVE LINED UP TO DENOUNCE THE FMLN FOR THE ABDUCTION. MINISTER OF THE PRESIDENCY OSCAR SANTAMARIA EVEN TRIED THIS LINE ON THE CHARGE D'AFFAIRES WITH A STRAIGHT FACE. END COMMENT.

11. (LOU) ACTION REQUESTED: UNLESS DEPARTMENT ADVISES OTHERWISE, ADDRESSEES SHOULD SHARE INFORMATION WITH RELEVANT HOST COUNTRY CONTACTS.

PRESIDENT'S MEETING WITH
SALVADORAN PRESIDENT ALFREDO CRISTIANI

Significance of Meeting

-- The principle reasons for meeting with President Cristiani are to express our support for his considerable efforts in this round, and to privately press him on the need for a formula for military reductions in a post-war environment. A public expression of support is important for him domestically, particularly with some restive elements within the military.

Peace Negotiations

-- Prior to this round in New York, progress in the UN-sponsored peace negotiations had been stalled. UN mediator Alvaro De Soto has been leading periodic rounds of talks since May 1990. Unfortunately, De Soto has often acceded to ancillary demands by the FMLN and not kept issues focussed on those essential elements necessary for reintegration of the FMLN.

-- We (as well as the "Four Friends" of the Secretary General - Venezuela, Colombia, Mexico and Spain) strongly encouraged and supported the September 16-23 meetings in New York, with the Secretary General's personal engagement, in the hope they would break the deadlock and lead to intensive negotiations culminating in a cease-fire.

-- The two negotiating sides and the Secretary General characterized last weeks' round of talks as "a major breakthrough." Under pressure from the Secretary General, the FMLN dropped its demand for the incorporation of a portion of its combatants into the standing army. Both sides are close to agreement on a specific agenda for future intensified negotiations, a calendar for further technical-level talks, and a proposal by the Secretary General on "conditions and [security] guarantees" precedent to peace.

-- Secretary General Perez de Cuellar was key to the progress achieved last week. He thwarted an FMLN attempt to significantly alter the agenda during the first session and encouraged more focussed discussion. Perez de Cuellar and President Cristiani established a warm relationship during the past week. Cristiani demonstrated considerable skill by capitalizing on this new relationship to counter De Soto's inclination to favor inclusion of many of the FMLN's hard-line demands.

The Secretary General's proposal includes: the creation of an ad hoc commission, composed of three foreign military experts, to review and rank Salvadoran military officers for retention by applying human rights criteria; a framework for further discussion of reducing the military (without mention of specific target levels); criteria for the dissolution of existing police forces and the creation of a new National Civil Police; and the establishment of a "National Commission of Peace Consolidation" to verify compliance and "interpret" agreements reached. This commission would be composed of two representatives from the government, two from the FMLN, one representative from each of the six political parties in the country's national assembly. A member from the church is still being considered.

-- Key issues on which Cristiani will be pressed include: a specific commitment and a calendar for reducing the size of the ESAF in a post-war period, a commitment to provide land for former FMLN combatants and their family members, and a verbal commitment to accept some former FMLN combatants into the new national police force.

-- The FMLN has also urged that the US, the "Four Friends," Nicaragua, and Cuba act as international "guarantors" of the agreements.

-- The "Four Friends"--most notably Mexico--also played a key role in pressuring the FMLN to withdraw its initial proposal, terming it as "a step backward."

Jesuit Murder Case

-- The murder by soldiers of six priests and two women in November 1989 has come to symbolize human rights violations by the military and historic military impunity to justice.

-- Eight members of the Salvadoran military, including a Colonel, are awaiting trial, due to begin within the next three weeks.

-- The fact that the Armed Forces have not been completely forthcoming in the investigation may cause further cuts by Congress in military assistance.

Military Assistance

-- In FY91, Congress approved $85 million for military assistance to El Salvador, with half of the aid conditioned on ESAF/FMLN conduct; the second half was released by your determination in January. In an effort to ensure the concurrence of Congress, we withheld committing these funds until June, when we released half of the remaining money.

-- For FY92, Senators Dodd and Leahy have proposed an amendment that will once again withhold 50 percent of the aid, but this time release will require 15-days notification to Congress and will, in effect, give members the power to delay indefinitely the release of the funds. We find this unacceptable.

I, Eric B. Marcy, am an Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia and have served in that capacity since 1970. My duties have included the investigation and trial of numerous cases involving federal criminal law in the United States. Since February of 1989, I have been assigned to the Transnational/Major Crimes section of the United States Attorney's Office. Since April 1989, I have been responsible for the investigation and trial of Jose Dionisio Suarez and Virgilio Paz who were indicted in 1978 in the case involving the assassination of former Chilean Ambassador to the United States Orlando Letelier and a co-worker, Ronni Moffit. Both Suarez and Paz entered guilty pleas in their cases to Conspiracy to Murder a Foreign Official, a violation of 18 U.S. Code § 1117. I am presently responsible for the investigation and trial of the remaining fugitives in this case, Juan Manuel Contrearas Sepulveda (hereinafter referred to as Manuel Contrearas) and Pedro Espinoza Bravo (hereinafter referred to as Pedro Espinoza).

I have reviewed the demand for extradition that the United States submitted to the Chilean Supreme Court in September, 1979 and Exhibit Numbers A and 1 through 157 and certify that they are accurate copies of the originals that are contained in our files and incorporate them by reference as if fully set forth herein.

FIRST, we located four documents that were prepared by Michael Townley before he was expelled from Chile and before any representatives of the U.S. Government had spoken to him concerning his involvement in the Letelier assassination. These four documents were prepared by Townley prior to his expulsion from Chile in order to protect him from the fugitives Manuel Contrearas and Pedro Espinoza and to prevent his expulsion from Chile. The first is a nine page document dated March 14, 1978 and entitled "Historia de Actuacion en DINA". In this document Townley discusses how he met and was recruited by Pedro Espinoza and Manuel Contrearas. He recites how he was instructed by Manuel Contrearas to move into a house in Lo Curro and build a laboratory to manufacture a poison nerve gas commonly known as "Sarin". Townley goes on to discuss his being sent to the United States, Mexico and Europe on DINA missions of a criminal nature. This document recites the chronological sequence of his association with DINA. This is attached as Exhibit _____.

The second is a four page document dated March 13, 1978 and entitled "Confecion y Acusacion". It begins:

> In the first place, if there has been sufficient reason to open this envelope, I accuse the government of Chile of my death. Specifically, as the brain behind it/the intellectual author Gen. Manuel Contrearas S.
> . . .

Townley goes on to enumerate the DINA missions he undertook for General Contrearas, including the development and utilization on individuals of the nerve gas "Sarin", the coordination of the assassination attempt on Bernardo Leighton in Rome in 1975, the kidnaping of Vitorio Yaconi and others, and the assassination of Orlando Letelier in September 1976. This is attached as Exhibit ____.

The third is a five page document dated March 14, 1978 and entitled "Relato de Sucesos en la mue, te o Orlando Letelier el 21 de Septiembre, 1976". Townley details his participation in the assassination of Orlando Letelier and that his orders came from Manuel Contrearas through Pedro Espinoza. This is attached as Exhibit _____.

The fourth is a one page document dated March 14 and entitled "Declaracion de Personalidades" in which Townley lists the aliases that he used while working for DINA (now CNI). This is attached as Exhibit _____.

The affiant received Exhibits ____ through ____ from Marianna Callejas y Townley in the summer of 1990 in preparation of the trial of Dionisio Suarez. Each of these exhibits was a xerox copy of a handwritten original, each had an original handwritten notation "Copia legitino", each had the original signature of Michael Townley and an original inked fingerprint. Exhibits ____-A, ___-B, ___-C, and ___-D are typed copies. Exhibits ____ through____ were sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory and the fingerprints were compared with known examples of Michael Townley's fingerprints and the fingerprints on the documents were identical to Townley's. A copy of the F.B.I. lab report is attached as Exhibit ____. Several lines on pages 2, 3, and 9 of Exhibit ____("Historia de Actuacion en DINA") and page 1 of Exhibit ____ ("Confesion y Acusacion") were "whited out". The affiant sent Exhibits ____and___ to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory and the laboratory was able to discern the writing underneath which was photographed. A xerox copy of those photographs follows the relevant page in Exhibits ___(lab #196) and ___(lab # 197) and the F.B.I. lab report is attached as Exhibit _____.

SECOND, in 1982 Marianna Callejas y Townley turned over a copy of a five page letter, obviously written prior to his expulsion from Chile from "J. Andres Wilson S.", (an alias of Michael Townley) to Manuel Contrearas which begins "Estimado Don Manuel". This letter was clearly written prior to any agreements with the United States. The letter details the operational mistakes in the Letelier assassination, the cover-up that was being perpetrated before the Chilean Supreme Court in response to letters rogatory from the United States, and an attempt to further obstruct the investigation in Chile and the United States. This letter is attached as Exhibit_____ and a typed copy is attached as Exhibit ___-A.

THIRD, in 1982 Marianna Callejas y Townley turned over a ledger book that covers the period from January 1975 through December, 1976.— She also turned over numerous receipts that pertained to work done to build Townley's chemical (Andrea) laboratory. There are corresponding entries from the receipts in the ledger. Most of the work was done on the laboratory through March, 1976. Two individuals, Martin Melian and Juan Espinoza apparently performed construction work at the laboratory. From a review of disbursements in the ledger book, the following individuals were employed in Townley's brigade:

Mario, Esteban
Freddy, FNU Janer
Carlos Gonzalez
Hector, Rafael Pacheco
Rafael Guzman
Nestor
Jose
Hermes
Bety

There are several interesting entries in the ledger, which are as follows:

1. Reimbursement for parking at Pudahuel airport on September 5 and 10, 1976.
2. A disbursement for "Andres" for Pisco on September 8, 1976, the date Townley left Chile to kill Letelier.
3. Reimbursement for round trip to Pudahuel on June 6, 1976, which may correspond to Guillermo Novo's arrival in Chile.
4. Reimbursement to Hector for a trip to Pudahuel on September 18, 1976. This may have been connected with the retrieval of the Peterson passport which Townley sent back to Chile from the United States via LanChile.
5. Reimbursement on August 8, 1976 for passport photographs. This may be connected with photographs used by Townley for the Peterson passport.

The receipts appear to be for the purchase of material used for Townley's laboratory. Several of the receipts contain the name and address of Hermes Bravo, Los Penamientos 192, Santiago and for Donal Guzman, Berua 6989, Cisterna. There is also a receipt issued to the company "Consultec", which was Townley's dummy corporation in Buenos Aires.

FOURTH, in 1987 Armando Fernandez-Larios resigned his commission in the Chilean Army and approached representatives of the United States in an attempt to resolve his legal problems with the United States. A copy of his transmittal letter dated January 21, 1987 and resignation letter of January 21, 1987 with accompanying letters are attached as Exhibit_____. This exhibit clearly shows that Fernandez-Larios was ordered to lie before the Chilean Supreme Court (Chief Justice Israel Borquez) by general officers of the Chilean Army in league with General Contrearas in what has become commonly known as "Operacion Macarada". The exhibit clearly shows that Fernandez-Larios attempted on numerous occasions to obtain permission of his superior officers in the Chilean Army to recant his previously ordered perjurious testimony before the Chilean Supreme Court. These requests for permission to recant his testimony were consistently turned down until Fernandez-Larios was left with to other choice than to resign his commission in the Chilean Army and seek a forum in which he could tell the truth--a forum which did not then exist in Chile. Fernandez-Larios was not expelled, like Michael Townley, from Chile. He was beyond the reach of the courts of the United States because the Chilean Supreme Court had denied his extradition based on the perjurious testimony of Manuel Contrearas, Pedro Espinosa, himself and others. Fernandez-Larios chose to give up his position and pension in the Chilean Army and voluntarily answer a murder indictment in the United States.

Subsequent to Fernandez-Larios' resignation from the Chilean Army, he met with representatives of the United States and detailed his knowledge of, and involvement in, the Letelier matter and its cover-up. This interview was done prior to any agreements being made between Fernandez-Larios and the United States. This interview is detailed in the Affidavit of Michael Kozak, attached as Exhibit _____.

Subsequent to the above mentioned interview, Fernandez-Larios entered into an agreement with the United States concerning the entry of a guilty plea in the matter to dispose of his case. The agreement is contained in a letter dated January 29, 1987 to Axel Kleiboemer (Fernandez-Larios' attorney) from the then U.S. Attorney, Joseph E. diGenova. This letter is attached as Exhibit _____. On February 4, 1987, an Information was filed in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, charging Armando Fernandez Larios with one count of Accessory After the Fact to Murder of a Foreign Official in violation of 18 U.S. Code §§ 1116(a) & 3. Also filed on that date was a an agreed statement of facts entitled "Factual Proffer". This document is a sixteen page recitation of the facts known to both Fernandez Larios and the United States and agreed to by both. It is attached as Exhibit _____. On May 6, 1987, the District Court sentenced Fernandez-Larios after his guilty plea. A copy of the Judgement and commitment is attached as Exhibit _____.

FIVE, on April 11, 1990 Jose Dionisio Suarez was arrested in the Middle District of Florida after being a fugitive since 1978. He was returned to the District of Columbia. After learning the overwhelming strength of the Government's case, Suarez entered a guilty plea to Conspiracy to Murder a Foreign Official in violation of 18 U.S. Code § 1117. On November 15, 1990, he was sentenced to twelve years imprisonment by Chief Judge Aubrey Robinson. Copies of those proceedings are attached as Exhibit___.

SIX, on April 23, 1991 Virgilio Paz-Romero was arrested in the Southern District of Florida after being a fugitive since 1978. He was returned to the District of Columbia. After learning the overwhelming strength of the Government's case, Paz entered a guilty plea to Conspiracy to Murder a Foreign Official in violation of 18 U.S. Code § 1117. On September 4, 1991, he was sentenced to twelve years imprisonment by Chief Judge Aubrey Robinson. Copies of those proceedings are attached as Exhibit ___.

Lagomarsino Questions

1a - Q: What would happen in El Salvador if the guerrillas were to take over?

A: Should the guerrillas prevail in El Salvador, we believe there would be no respect for democratic principles and other human rights. We believe it likely that the land reform program would be abandoned. (As has happened in Indochina, thousands of refugees would probably be generated, many of whom would seek to enter the U.S.) Furthermore, insurgency could spread through the region, from Panama and the Canal to Mexico, thereby affecting our own national security.

3 - Q: Do you believe the U.S. can exert greater leverage with the Salvadoran government by cutting off aid or maintaining it?

A: The Administration strongly believes that the United States can exert greater leverage with the Salvadoran Government if we continue to provide aid. Our economic and military assistance demonstrate that we regard it as in the interest of the United States to work with El Salvador. Cutting off aid would deny us our principal source of leverage and would increase the risk that the government would be unresponsive to our efforts to induce further democratization and reforms. Curtailing U.S. aid could also cause the collapse of the present Salvadoran government and result in the takeover by extreme right-wing elements or ultimately by the guerrillas neither of whom have demonstrated any genuine interest in pursuing the moderate, democratic objectives of the present government. At the same time, however, we are sincerely committed to the goals enumerated in the certification requirement, and make clear to the Salvadoran Government that progress must be made if aid is to continue.

3a - Q: What are the proposals for the amnesty program and the likelihood of its going forward.

A: Under the provisions of the Pact of Apaneca, a Peace Commission was formed which will be responsible for preparation of an effective amnesty program for those within the armed left willing to eschew violence. President Magana himself is preparing a proposal for amnesty, which the Peace Commission will review. He is proceeding carefully to build a political consensus on the conditions of the amensty. The amnesty law will deal with both political prisoners and guerrillas. In the meantime, the armed forces have granted safe conduct passes, and have helped to resettle about 200 ex-guerrillas and supporters who have turned themselves in under an informal amnesty program. Others remain under military protection to secure them from reprisals.

The United States Government supports the Government of El Salvador's efforts to prepare an amnesty program. We believe that the amnesty program will be going forward in the near future, in fulfillment of the government's commitment to the establishment of an effective amnesty program.

4 - Q: Is there more the U.S. can do to increase its influence in improving respect for human rights by government forces in El Salvador?

A: The Government of El Salvador is making efforts to curb human rights abuses on the part of various branches of the Salvadoran security forces. The United States seeks to help the Salvadoran Government obtain this goal by augmenting measures it is taking. For example, last year 900 Salvadoran troops and officers were trained in the United States, in an effort to increase their level of discipline and professionalism. The soldiers were instructed in such topics as treatment of captured combatants and the protection of noncombatants during anti-guerrilla operations. The United States Government believes that continuation of such training is crucial in assisting the Government of El Salvador to achieve its goals and curbing human rights abuses by the military.

6 - Q: Considering the certification requirements for improving control over the military, wouldn't it be helpful in meeting the certification criteria to have greater U.S. military contact with those elements of the Salvadoran military?

A: We have tried to take a prudent course which gives the Salvadoran military forces the training and equipment they need to deal with an essentially Salvadoran problem without subjecting U.S. military personnel to risk. The President's request for additional assistance to El Salvador, in the form of a reprogramming of $60 million in FMS credits and an adjustment of $50 million in the supplemental is now before Congress. Without these funding changes to facilitate training of Salvadoran troops outside the country, there would be a need to consider more training by U.S. military personnel of Salvadoran troops in country which would increase military-to-military contacts.

7 - Q: Has there been any significant reporting of abuses from the Salvadoran population as a result of major military actions against the guerrillas recently?

A: Since July 1982 there have been at least six major multi-battalion operations without any substantiated reports of widespread abuses associated with these operations.

8 - Q: In light of the work of the Department in investigating reports of human rights abuses, could you characterize the reliability and authenticity of the sources?

A: It is not possible to give an overall assessment of the reliability of sources of information concerning human rights abuses. Obviously, reports that originate with Radio Venceremos, the clandestine radio station operated by the guerrillas, are the least reliable for obvious reasons. Reports from the various Salvadoran human rights organizations vary in reliability because they receive their information from a wide variety of sources. Some reports of abuse are made directly to our Embassy by persons of varying reliability.

9 - Q: How does the U.S. view the issue of the expiration of Phase III of the agrarian reform in March?

A: On March 3, 1983, the Salvadoran Constituent Assembly voted 36-23 to extend Decree 207 until December 31, 1983. The Decree extending 207 also derogates Decree 6 and 11, which suspended Decree 207 for certain crops.

The United States Government is pleased that the Constituent Assembly extended Decree 207. We believe the agrarian reform program to be crucial in establishing economic and political equity in El Salvador. More than 20% of arable land has been redistributed since commencement of the land reform program three years ago. Some 65,000 farmers and their families have benefited from the agrarian reform. We want to see this reform process continue.

10 - Q: For the purposes of compensation under the agrarian reform program, couldn't Salvadoran counterpart funds be used? Prohibitions exist against U.S. aid being used for compensation but not counterpart funds.

A: Compensation payments thus far have come from Salvadoran Government resources. Although the use of counterpart funds for compensation purposes has not been proscribed by law, as a matter of policy we have not permitted the use of local funds generated by U.S. dollars to be used for compensation. These local funds, when programmed, are used for activities such as credit programs and to support rural projects.

I|: The problems encountered in dealing with the U.S. citizens cases are symptomatic of problems with the judicial system.

Q: -- Has the Government of El Salvador been able to make any headway in judicial reform?

Q: -- Is there anything the U.S. can do to help?

A: The Government of El Salvador is well aware of the shortcomings of the judicial system and the need to construct a working judicial system. El Salvador has long been plagued by serious problems. These have included corrupt and corruptible judges, juries, and attorneys; inexperienced and poorly trained prosecutors; incompetence; inadequate police investigations; and political intimidation. The political polarization of Salvadoran society and the violence endemic there have exacerbated these problems. Recent statistics suggest that the percentages of criminal cases resulting in convictions has not improved over the last several years.

The United States supports the Salvadoran Government's desire to construct a working judicial system. We are currently exploring ways to assist them to improve the judicial process. The assistance may take the form of training seminars, judicial exchange programs and limited material aid. As a first step, the Department of State will [illegible] a study mission [illegible] problems of the Salvadoran criminal justice system.

12 - Q: Could you describe some of the activities of the recently formed human rights and electoral commissions.

A: On August 3, 1982, all of the political parties except one signed the basic government platform, or Pact of Apaneca. Under the Pact of Apaneca, a Political Commission and Human Rights Commission were created on August 29, and December 2, respectively.

The Human Rights Commission is composed of seven members, including senior representatives of the Catholic Church, the security forces, the private sector, and a campesino/ labor coalition. Care was given to insure a diverse background and political independence in the composition of the members, thereby encouraging independent judgements based on factual information. The Commission will make recommendations to the President to ensure human rights compliance, monitor human rights violations, and work on specific cases to assure individual guarantees and safety. To date, the Commission has investigated the guerrilla kidnapping of 200 people in San Sebastian, the recent guerrilla action in Berlin, and has received and investigated reports of disappearances. Seventy-one cases of disappearances have been reported; 11 cases have been resolved with the cooperation of the security forces.

In issuing its political timetable on September 29, 1983, the Political Commission called for the designation of a new Central Elections Council (CCE) by the Constituent Assembly. On November 16, 1982, the Constituent Assembly passed a degree creating a temporary Central Elections Council and elected five members to the CEE. The Constituent Assembly will regulate the CEE until a permanent electoral law is created. The CEE is composed of one member from each of the five major political parties. The President, Ricardo Haida, was elected by and from the Council. The CEE is charged with drafting and submitting a new electoral law, providing publicity for future elections, and authorizing political activities by parties in formation. The Political Commission recently agreed to set presidential and municipal elections for no later than the end of 1983.

13 - Q: What success is the government having in bringing into the democratization process the diverse groups and philosophies?

-- How do the Salvadorans view the issue of negotiations with the guerrillas?

A: The Government of El Salvador seeks a peaceful resolution of the country's political problems through the electoral process, and through political and economic reforms. This process is endorsed by the Church; by the nation's largest peasant, labor, professional and business organizations; by the OAS; by the United States Government; and by the overwhelming majority of the Salvadoran people, who demonstrated their faith in the democratic process by voting in record numbers in the March 28, 1982, Constituent Assembly elections. The Government of El Salvador has expressed its desire to see all political parties participate in the elections. Most recently, President Magana announced that mechanisms would be established to guarantee full participation in the upcoming elections. In addition, the Political Commission, in charge of drafting the Constitution, is open to input from those who wish to have their views represented.

The Government of El Salvador has said that it is willing to participate in negotiations or discussions with the guerrillas regarding the means of participating by the guerrillas in free and fair elections. The Government of El Salvador will not negotiate or discuss with the guerrillas their participation in the government by any means other than through the electoral process. In contrast, the FDR/FMLN has sought negotiations which they claim are without pre-condition but, which are, in fact, negotiations designed to bring about a sharing of power in El Salvador between themselves and the existing democratically elected civilian government without participation in the electoral process.

14 - Q: What do you see as the ultimate goal in El Salvador? -- How does that differ from the process proposed by the Mexicans and the French?

A: Our ultimate goal in El Salvador was stated clearly in the President's March 10 address to the National Association of Manufacturers: "We want the same thing the people of Central America want -- an end to the killing. We want to see freedom preserved where it now exists and its rebirth where it does not."

The U.S. Government believes the best way to end the killing and violence in Central America is the way the people themselves have chosen: through the democratic process. In El Salvador, this process was defined in the Pact of Apaneca, signed by all major political parties in August 1982. In accordance with the terms of the Pact, the Salvadoran Government has established a Political Commission, a Human Rights Commision, and most recently a Peace Commission. The Peace Commission, which included a Catholic Bishop and two independents as members, will consider the issue of dialogue among all groups in El Salvador, will design an amnesty, and will encourage participation in the political process of all groups willing to lay down their arms and accept the results of free elections.

While all efforts toward peace in Central America are constructive, the initiatives suggested by the Mexicans and some other countries attempt to resolve the conflict by dealing with only part of the problem. No initiative can bring true peace to Central America if it does not address the crucial issue of democratization.

15 - Q: Some people tend to draw parallels between El Salvador and Vietnam. Is it possible to draw a lesson from the failure of the negotiated settlement in Vietnam with the proposal for negotiations in El Salvador?

A: There is no parallel between Vietnam and El Salvador. Vietnam was a colony of France with local groups seeking independence even before World War II. El Salvador has been independent for over 150 years. The conflict in El Salvador stems from a political, social and economic system in which a small, privileged elite dominated the country at the expense of a poor majority of landless campesinos. The result has been tension within Salvadoran society, which has been exploited by violent elements on the Left and Right and outside Marxist-Leninist supporters.

16 - Q: How many guerrillas have turned themselves in under the government's limited amnesty program, and what is the composition of those turning themselves in? (age? occupation?)

A: The armed forces have granted safe conduct passes and have helped to resettle about 200 ex-guerrillas and supporters who have turned themselves in under an informal amnesty program. Others remain under military protection to secure them from reprisals. We have requested that the Embassy inquire with the High Command as to the age and composition of the guerrillas.

1. DEVINE CASE ATTORNEY ENRIQUE GONZALEZ ADVISED CONOFF AUG. 26 THAT COLONEL MARIO ROBERTO GARCIA CATALAN, THE FORMER MILITARY BASE COMMANDER IN SANTA ELENA, PETEN, WILL HAVE HIS INDAGATORIA (INVESTIGATIVE DECLARATION) BEFORE THE AUDITORIA DE GUERRA DURING THIS WEEK (AUG. 26-30). A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE MINISTERIO PUBLICO WILL BE PRESENT AT THE INDAGATORIA. AFTER THE INDAGATORIA, THE JUDGE WILL DECIDE WHETHER THERE IS ENOUGH EVIDENCE TO CONTINUE

THE CASE AGAINST GARCIA CATALAN, AND WILL EITHER SET THE COLONEL FREE OR ISSUE AN "AUTO DE PRISION" (ARREST ORDER) FOR HIM.

2. A DECISION IS ALSO EXPECTED THIS WEEK FROM THE THIRD COURT OF APPEALS IN THE CASE AGAINST COL. GUILLERMO PORTILLO GOMEZ, FORMER MILITARY ZONE COMMANDER IN PETEN. THE COURT IS TO RULE WHETHER THERE IS SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO CONTINUE THE CASE AGAINST PORTILLO GOMEZ.

3. ON AUG. 9, 1991, LT. COL. JULIO ROBERTO ALPIREZ, FORMER COMMANDER OF THE RANGERS TRAINING BASE IN POPTUN, WHO ALLEGEDLY PROVIDED ROOM AND BOARD TO THE DEATH SQUAD FOR TWO DAYS PRIOR TO DEVINE'S MURDER, GAVE TESTIMONY TO THE FISCAL MILITAR (MILITARY PROSECUTOR). LT. COL. ALPIREZ ANSWERED FIFTY FIVE QUESTIONS PREPARED BY ATTORNEY GONZALEZ. HE DENIED ALL KNOWLEDGE OF THE DEATH SQUAD AND SAID THAT NONE OF THE DEATH SQUAD MEMBERS HAD EVER VISITED THE RANGER BASE. THE EVIDENCE SUPPORTING THE VISIT OF THE DEATH SQUAD TO THE TRAINING BASE IS CLEAR AND CONVINCING AND WE THINK THAT ALPIREZ IS LYING. ATTORNEY GONZALEZ IS HOPEFUL THAT ALPIREZ CAN BE CHARGED AS A CO-CONSPIRATOR ONCE THE FALSITY OF HIS TESTIMONY IS PROVEN. TAYLOR

I, Eric B. Marcy, am an Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia and have served in that capacity since 1970. My duties have included the investigation and trial of numerous cases involving federal criminal law in the United States. Since February of 1989, I have been assigned to the Transnational/Major Crimes section of the United States Attorney's Office. Since April 1989, I have been responsible for the investigation and trial of Jose Dionisio Suarez and Virgilio Paz who were indicted in 1978 in the case involving the assassination of former Chilean Ambassador to the United States Orlando Letelier and a co-worker, Ronni Moffitt. Both Suarez and Paz entered guilty pleas in their cases to Conspiracy to Murder a Foreign Official, a violation of 18 U.S. Code § 1117. I am presently responsible for the investigation and trial of the remaining fugitives in this case, Juan Manuel Contreras Sepulveda (hereinafter referred to as Manuel Contreras) and Pedro Espinoza Bravo (hereinafter referred to as Pedro Espinoza).

I have reviewed the demand for extradition that the United States submitted to the Chilean Supreme Court in September, 1978 and Exhibit Numbers A and 1 through 157 and certify that they are accurate copies of the originals that are contained in our files and incorporate them by reference as if fully set forth herein.

Since the demand for extradition was made in 1978 several important pieces of evidence have been discovered in the course of our investigation that not only implicate Manuel Contreras and Pedro Espinoza in the assassination of Orlando Letelier but also detail the massive coverup that was undertaken by Contreras, Espinoza and other Chilean army officers.

FIRST, we located four documents that were prepared by Michael Townley before he was expelled from Chile and before any representatives of the U.S. Government had spoken to him concerning his involvement in the Letelier assassination. These four documents were prepared by Townley prior to his expulsion from Chile in order to protect him from the fugitives Manuel Contreras and Pedro Espinoza and to prevent his expulsion from Chile. The first is a nine page document dated March 14, 1978 and entitled "Historia de Actuacion en DINA". In this document Townley discusses how he met and was recruited by Pedro Espinoza and Manuel Contreras. He recites how he was instructed by Manuel Contreras to move into a house in Lo Curro and build a laboratory to manufacture a poison nerve gas commonly known as "Sarin". Townley goes on to discuss his being sent to the United States, Mexico and Europe on DINA missions of a criminal nature. This document recites the chronological sequence of his association with DINA. This is attached as Exhibit 1 .

The second is a four page document dated March 13, 1978 and entitled "Confecion y Acusacion". It begins:

> In the first place, if there has been sufficient reason to open this envelope, I accuse the government of Chile of my death. Specifically, as the brain behind it/the intellectual author Gen. Manuel Contreras S. . . .

Townley goes on to enumerate the DINA missions he undertook for General Contreras, including the development and utilization on individuals of the nerve gas "Sarin", the coordination of the assassination attempt on Bernardo Leighton in Rome in 1975, the kidnaping of Vitorio Yaconi and others, and the assassination of Orlando Letelier in September 1976. This is attached as Exhibit 2.

The third is a five page document dated March 14, 1978 and entitled "Relato de Sucesos en la muerte de Orlando Letelier el 21 de Septiembre, 1976". Townley details his participation in the assassination of Orlando Letelier and that his orders came from Manuel Contreras through Pedro Espinoza. This is attached as Exhibit 3.

The fourth is a one page document dated March 14 and entitled "Declaracion de Personalidades" in which Townley lists the aliases that he used while working for DINA (now CNI). This is attached as Exhibit 4.

The affiant received Exhibits 1 through 4 from Marianna Callejas y Townley in the summer of 1990 in preparation of the trial of Jose Dionisio Suarez. Each of these exhibits was a xerox copy of a handwritten original, each had an original handwritten notation "Copia legitima", each had the original signature of Michael Townley and an original inked fingerprint. Exhibits 1-A, 2-A, 3-A, and 4-A are typed copies. Exhibits 1 through 4 were sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory and the fingerprints were compared with known examples of Michael Townley's fingerprints. The fingerprints on the documents were identical to Townley's. A copy of the F.B.I. lab report is attached as Exhibit 5. Several lines on pages 2, 3, and 9 of Exhibit 1 ("Historia de Actuacion en DINA") and page 1 of Exhibit 2 ("Confesion y Acusacion") were "whited out". The affiant sent Exhibits 1 and 2 to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory and the laboratory was able to discern the writing underneath which was photographed. A xerox copy of those photographs follows the relevant page in Exhibits 1 (lab #196) and 2 (lab # 197) and the F.B.I. lab report is attached as Exhibit 6.

SECOND, in 1982 Marianna Callejas y Townley turned over a copy of a five page letter, obviously written prior to his expulsion from Chile from "J. Andres Wilson S.", (an alias of Michael Townley) to Manuel Contreras which begins "Estimado Don Manuel". This letter was clearly written prior to any agreements with the United States. The letter details the operational mistakes in the Letelier assassination, the cover-up that was being perpetrated before the Chilean Supreme Court in response to letters rogatory from the United States, and an attempt to further obstruct the investigation in Chile and the United States. This letter is attached as Exhibit 7 and a typed copy is attached as Exhibit 7-A.

THIRD, in 1982 Marianna Callejas y Townley turned over a ledger book that covers the period from January 1975 through December, 1976. She also turned over numerous receipts that pertained to work done to build Townley's chemical (Andrea) laboratory. There are corresponding entries from the receipts in the ledger. Most of the work was done on the laboratory through March, 1976. Two individuals, Martin Melian and Juan Espinoza apparently performed construction work at the laboratory. From a review of disbursements in the ledger book, the following individuals were employed in Townley's brigade:

Mario, Esteban
Freddy, (First Name Unknown) Janer
Carlos Gonzalez
Hector, Rafael Pacheco
Rafael Guzman
Nestor
Jose
Hermes
Bety

There are several interesting entries in the ledger, which are as follows:

1. Reimbursement for parking at Pudahuel airport on September 5 and 10, 1976.
2. A disbursement for "Andres" for Pisco on September 8, 1976, the date Townley left Chile to kill Letelier.
3. Reimbursement for round trip to Pudahuel on June 6, 1976, which may correspond to Guillermo Novo's arrival in Chile.
4. Reimbursement to Hector for a trip to Pudahuel on September 18, 1976. This may have been connected with the retrieval of the Peterson passport which Townley sent back to Chile from the United States via LanChile.
5. Reimbursement on August 8, 1976 for passport photographs. This may be connected with photographs used by Townley for the Peterson passport.

The receipts appear to be for the purchase of material used for Townley's laboratory. Several of the receipts contain the name and address of Hermes Bravo, Los Penamientos 192, Santiago and for Donal Guzman, Berua 6989, Cisterna. There is also a receipt issued to the company "Consultec", which was Townley's dummy corporation in Buenos Aires.

This ledger book provides important and contemporaneous information regarding the income and expenses the Townleys incurred while in DINA's employment. A copy of this ledger book is attached as Exhibit 8. The receipts are attached as Exhibit 9.

FOURTH, in 1987 Armando Fernandez-Larios resigned his commission in the Chilean Army and approached representatives of the United States in an attempt to resolve his legal problems with the United States. A copy of his transmittal letter dated January 21, 1987 and resignation letter of January 21, 1987 with accompanying letters are attached as Exhibit 10. This exhibit clearly shows that Fernandez-Larios was ordered to lie before the Chilean Supreme Court (Chief Justice Israel Borquez) by general officers of the Chilean Army in league with General Contreras in what has become commonly known as "Operacion Mascarada". The exhibit clearly shows that Fernandez-Larios attempted on numerous occasions to obtain permission of his superior officers in the Chilean Army to recant his previously ordered perjurious testimony before the Chilean Supreme Court. These requests for permission to recant his testimony were consistently turned down until Fernandez-Larios was left with no other choice than to resign his commission in the Chilean Army and seek a forum in which he could tell the truth--a forum which did not then exist in Chile. Fernandez-Larios was not expelled, like Michael Townley, from Chile. He was beyond the reach of the courts of the United States because the Chilean Supreme Court had denied his extradition based on the false testimony of Manuel Contreras, Pedro Espinoza, himself and others. Fernandez-Larios chose to give up his position and pension in the Chilean Army and voluntarily answer a murder indictment in the United States.

Subsequent to Fernandez-Larios' resignation from the Chilean Army, he met with representatives of the United States and detailed his knowledge of, and involvement in, the Letelier matter and its cover-up. This interview was done prior to any agreements being made between Fernandez-Larios and the United States. This interview is detailed in the Affidavit and Attachment A of Michael Kozak, attached as Exhibit 11.

Subsequent to the above mentioned interview, Fernandez-Larios entered into an agreement with the United States concerning the entry of a guilty plea in the matter to dispose of his case. The agreement is contained in a letter dated January 29, 1987 to Axel Kleiboemer (Fernandez-Larios' attorney) from the then U.S. Attorney, Joseph E. diGenova. This letter is attached as Exhibit 12. On February 4, 1987, an Information was filed in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, charging Armando Fernandez Larios with one count of Accessory After the Fact to Murder of a Foreign Official in violation of 18 U.S. Code §§ 1116(a) & 3. It is attached as Exhibit 13. Also filed on that date was a an agreed statement of facts entitled "Factual Proffer". This document is a sixteen page recitation of the facts known to both Fernandez Larios and the United States and agreed to by both. It is attached as Exhibit 14. On May 6, 1987, the District Court sentenced

Fernandez-Larios after his guilty plea. A copy of the Judgement and Commitment is attached as Exhibit 15.

FIVE, on April 11, 1990 Jose Dionisio Suarez was arrested in the Middle District of Florida after being a fugitive since 1978. He was returned to the District of Columbia. After learning the overwhelming strength of the Government's case, Suarez entered a guilty plea to Conspiracy to Murder a Foreign Official in violation of 18 U.S. Code § 1117. On November 15, 1990, he was sentenced to twelve years imprisonment by Chief Judge Aubrey Robinson. Copies of those proceedings are attached as Exhibit 16.

SIX, on April 23, 1991 Virgilio Paz-Romero was arrested in the Southern District of Florida after being a fugitive since 1978. He was returned to the District of Columbia. After learning the overwhelming strength of the Government's case, Paz entered a guilty plea to Conspiracy to Murder a Foreign Official in violation of 18 U.S. Code § 1117. He is scheduled to be sentenced on September 11, 1991 by Chief Judge Aubrey Robinson. Copies of those proceedings are attached as Exhibit 17.

2. (U) ON SEPT. 3 THE FMLN CONTINUED ITS CAMPAIGN AGAINST RESIDENTIAL HOUSING UNITS DESTROYING AT LEAST THREE MODEL HOMES IN THE SAN SALVADOR SUBURB OF SANTA TECLA. REF. (A) DESCRIBED SIMILAR ATTACKS IN SAN SALVADOR WHICH THE FMLN CLAIMED WERE IN RETALIATION FOR THE EVICTION OF SQUATTERS AND THE LACK OF HOUSING FOR THE POOR. THE SEPT. 3 ATTACKS CAUSED NO INJURIES BUT WERE CONDEMNED BY THE HEAD OF THE ASSOCIATION OF CONSTRUCTION COMPANIES (CASALCO) WHO POINTED OUT THAT THESE ATTACKS THREATENED THE LIVES OF CONSTRUCTION WORKERS AND WOULD REDUCE EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES IN THE CONSTRUCTION SECTOR.

3. (U) ON SEPT. 3 GUERRILLAS CONTINUED THEIR ATTACKS AGAINST THE ELECTRICAL GRID DESTROYING 4 ELECTRIC TRANSMISSION LINES IN VARIOUS PARTS OF THE COUNTRY. THE FMLN'S CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE POWER GRID HAS BECOME INCREASINGLY DAMAGING AS UNUSUALLY DRY WEATHER REDUCES HYDROELECTRIC PRODUCTION CAPACITY CAUSING A SEVERE ENERGY CRISIS.

4. (U) ON SEPT. 4 GUERRILLAS USED EXPLOSIVES TO DESTROY THE BEACH HOUSES OF TWO ESAF OFFICERS LOCATED IN THE PRIVATE, NON-MILITARY DEVELOPMENT OF ATAMI, NEAR THE COASTAL CITY OF LA LIBERTAD. NO INJURIES WERE REPORTED BUT AT LEAST ONE NEIGHBORING HOUSE WAS ALSO DAMAGED.

5. (C) COMMENT: THE FMLN HAS APPARENTLY ABANDONED ANY PRETENSE OF CONTINUED COMPLIANCE WITH ITS MARCH 199[illegible] PLEDGE NOT TO ATTACK NON-MILITARY TARGETS EXCEPT FOR THE ELECTRIC GRID. IN RECENT MONTHS THE FMLN HAS TAKEN CREDIT FOR BANK BOMBINGS, KIDNAPPING OF CIVILIANS, AND THE ASSASSINATION OF OFF-DUTY ESAF PERSONNEL, AS WELL AS THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST RESIDENTIAL CONSTRUCTION. THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE LARGEST CONSTRUCTION WORKERS UNION (PEDRO REGALADO OF SUTC) RECENTLY TOLD POLOFF HE HAD PERSONALLY ASKED THE FMLN HIGH COMMAND TO REFRAIN FROM ACTIONS ENDANGERING THE LIVES AND LIVELIHOODS OF THE MEMBERS OF HIS UNION. E.O. 12356:DECL: OADR
TAGS: CJAN, PGOV, PREL, CI
SUBJECT: LETELIER/MOFFITT: GENERAL CONTRERAS LAUNCHES PROCEDURAL DEFENSE

REF: SANTIAGO 7127

1. ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. RETIRED ARMY GENERAL AND FORMER DINA DIRECTOR MANUEL CONTRERAS HAS LAUNCHED HIS FIRST PROCEDURAL ATTACK AGAINST THE LETELIER/MOFFITT INVESTIGATION BY JUSTICE BANADOS. ACCORDING TO LOCAL PRESS ACCOUNTS, CONTRERAS HAS ASKED MILITARY JUSTICE OFFICIALS TO CHALLENGE BANADOS' JURISDICTION OVER THE CASE. CONTRERAS' LAWYER, MARCELO CIBIE, TOLD THE PRESS HE WAS SUBMITTING THE PETITION TO THE MILITARY COURT VICE BANADOS SINCE THAT IS WHERE HE BELIEVES COMPETENCY OVER THE CASE REMAINS. PRESS REPORTS BREAKING LATE SEPTEMBER 5 INDICATE THAT A MILITARY JUDGE HAS ACTED ON THE PETITION AND HAS ASKED BANADOS TO DECLARE HIMSELF AND THE CIVILIAN COURTS INCOMPETENT TO PURSUE THE CASE.

3. THE JUSTIFICATION PRESENTED IN THE CONTRERAS PETITION REVOLVES PRIMARILY AROUND PROCEDURAL LEGAL POINTS. FIRST, THAT THE "CUMPLIDO" LAW UNDER WHICH JURISDICTION OVER THE LETELIER/MOFFITT CASE WAS TRANSFERRED FROM MILITARY TO CIVILIAN COURTS SHOULD NOT APPLY RETROACTIVELY TO THIS CASE. SECOND, THE BASIS UNDER WHICH JURISDICTION WAS TRANSFERRED (I.E. THAT THE CASE AFFECTS CHILE'S INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS) IS INVALID SINCE CHILE'S RELATIONS WITH THE U.S. WERE NOT -- OR AT LEAST NO LONGER ARE -- AFFECTED BY THE LETELIER/MOFFITT CASE. THIRD, THE PETITION CITES A SEPARATE ARTICLE IN THE CHILEAN LEGAL CODE THAT STIPULATES THAT ONCE JURISDICTION IS ESTABLISHED FOR AN OFFENCE IT CANNOT BE TRANSFERRED. FOURTH, UNDER THE RELEVANT "CUMPLIDO" LEGISLATION, THERE IS NO CLEAR DESIGNATION OF A COURT OF SECOND INSTANCE TO WHICH BANADOS' INVESTIGATION CAN BE APPEALED. FINALLY, THE PETITION CITES THE VOTES CAST BY SEVEN SUPREME COURT JUSTICES -- INCLUDING BANADOS -- AGAINST TRANSFERRING THE CASE TO CIVILIAN JURISDICTION AS INDICATIVE OF THE FUNDAMENTAL UNCONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE DECISION.

SANTIA 07286 052150Z 039394 S0608845

NO DOUBT REJECT THE REQUEST. WHILE IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THE MATTER MAY BE BROUGHT TO THE SUPREME COURT, ETCHEBERRY ALSO EXPECTS THAT BANADOS WILL MOVE TO INDICT CONTRERAS AND ESPINOZA BEFORE THE COURT ACTS ON THE PETITION. ETCHEBERRY OPINED THAT THE SUPREME COURT WILL SIMILARLY DENY THE PETITION FOR SEVERAL REASONS. FIRST, THE VERY ARGUMENTS RAISED BY CONTRERAS WERE CAREFULLY EXAMINED WHEN THE COURT ORIGINALLY DECIDED TO TRANSFER JURISDICTION, AND THE COURT IS UNLIKELY TO REVERSE ITSELF AT THIS POINT. SECOND, EVEN IF PUT TO A VOTE, THE OUTCOME IS VIRTUALLY GUARANTEED BECAUSE OF TWO CONSIDERATIONS: A) BANADOS (WHO VOTED AGAINST THE JURISDICTIONAL SHIFT) WOULD BE INELIGIBLE TO VOTE ON HIS OWN CASE, AND B) THE AYLWIN GOVERNMENT HAS SINCE APPOINTED A NEW SUPREME COURT JUDGE WHO WOULD NO DOUBT UPHOLD THE ORIGINAL DECISION. CONSEQUENTLY, THE VOTE MARGIN UPHOLDING THE TRANSFER OF JURISDICTION TO BANADOS AND THE LEGALITY OF THE "CUMPLIDO" LEGISLATION SHOULD BE GREATER THAN THE 9-7 MARGIN IN THE ORIGINAL DECISION.

7. THE DEATH OF POLICE EMPLOYEE LEONARDO BARRILLAS, A RESIDENT IN SAN LUCAS TOLIMAN (SOLOLA), PROMPTED RESIDENTS, WHO SUSPECTED BARRILLAS'S POLICE DRINKING BUDDIES OF THE MURDER, TO DEMAND THE ARMY AND POLICE OUT OF THE AREA. IN AN ANNOUNCEMENT LATER IN THE MONTH, THE ARMY ACKNOWLEDGED A SENTRY HAD KILLED BARRILLAS WHEN HE FAILED TO RESPOND TO A "HALT-AND-IDENTIFY" DEMAND. ARMY AND POLICE COMPLIED WITH THE REQUEST.

DISAPPEARANCES

8. AMILCAR MENDEZ, PRESIDENT OF THE RURAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ, AND OTHER MEMBERS OF CERJ MET PRESIDENT SERRANO FOR TWO HOURS AND ASKED FOR AN END TO THE KIDNAPINGS IN QUICHE. AMILCAR MENDEZ BLAMED TWO MILITARY COMMISSIONERS (CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES OF THE ARMY) AND THE ARMY ITSELF FOR THE DEC. 16 1990 ABDUCTION AND TORTURE OF JULIO CHUALCUBEN, WHOSE UNCONSCIOUS BODY WAS FOUND DECEMBER 26 NEAR THE HIGHWAY TO ESCUINTLA (ESCUINTLA). CHUALCUBEN CLAIMS HE WAS KIDNAPPED NEAR SANTIAGO ATITLAN (SOLOLA) BY TWO MILITARY COMMISSIONERS

WHO ACCUSED HIM OF BEING A GUERRILLA. HE CLAIMS HIS KIDNAPPERS TOOK HIM TO THE MILITARY BASE IN SOLOLA WHERE THEY AND ARMY PERSONNEL PROCEEDED TO TORTURE AND INTERROGATE HIM. WRITS OF HABEUS CORPUS WERE FILED BY THE CHUALCUBEN FAMILY AND A JUDGE SEARCHED THE BASE, BUT COULD FIND NO SIGN OF HIM. ACCORDING TO CHUALCUBEN'S ACCOUNT, HIS ABDUCTORS LEFT HIM FOR DEAD ON THE HIGHWAY. CHUALCUBEN WAS TAKEN TO A HOSPITAL IN A [redacted]

SEMI-COMATOSE STATE AND WAS TREATED FOR BLOWS TO THE HEAD AND CONTUSIONS. APPARENTLY, HE ONLY RECOVERED FROM HIS COMA IN JUNE. CHUALCUBEN HAS LOST USE OF HIS VOICE, LEGS AND RIGHT ARM, BUT USES HIS LEFT HAND TO WRITE OUT DESCRIPTIONS OF HIS ORDEAL.

9. WITNESSES CLAIM FELIPE LOPEZ MENDOZA, A MEMBER OF CERJ, WAS DETAINED ON JUNE 18, BY TWO MEN IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES IN A VILLAGE JUST OUTSIDE SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE (QUICHE). LOPEZ'S RELATIVES TRAVELED TO SANTA CRUZ TO REPORT THEY COULD NO FIND NO TRACE OF HIM. MENDEZ CLAIMS HE HAS CHECKED HOSPITALS, JAILS, AND POLICE STATIONS IN A FUTILE SEARCH FOR LOPEZ.

10. YOLANDA FIGUEROA, A LEADER OF THE CUSTOMS WORKERS UNION, WAS APPARENTLY THE INTENDED VICTIM OF A KIDNAP ATTEMPT ON JUNE 21. FIGUEROA SAYS THAT AS SHE WAS LEAVING A MARKET, A CAR WITH THREE MEN STOPPED IN FRONT OF HER. TWO MEN LEAPT OUT AND TRIED TO FORCE HER INTO THE CAR, BUT HER TREASURY POLICE BODYGUARD, ASSIGNED TO HER BY THE MINISTER OF INTERIOR DUE TO PRIOR DEATH THREATS, SHOT ONE OF HER ATTACKERS IN THE FOOT AND THE OTHER IN THE LEG. THE WOUNDED WOULD-BE KIDNAPPERS PUSHED FIGUEROA ASIDE, DOVE INTO THE CAR AND FLED. MINISTER OF INTERIOR HURTADO PREM PUBLICLY PRAISED THE ACTIONS OF THE YOUNG TREASURY POLICEMAN.

USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN AN INTERNAL CONFLICT

GUERRILLA WHO RECEIVED AMNESTY HAD BEEN MISSING SINCE JUNE 25 WAS FOUND NEAR CHIQUIRCHAPA (QUETZALTENANGO) ON JUNE 30. CABRERA, WHOSE BODY BORE SIGNS OF TORTURE, WAS KILLED BY A GUNSHOT. LOCAL PRESS REPORTS CLAIM A NOTE, SIGNED BY THE URNG, WAS FOUND ATTACHED TO THE BODY AND EXPLAINED CABRERA WAS TRIED AND EXECUTED FOR TREASON.

12. DELEGATIONS REPRESENTING THE GOG AND THE URNG MET IN CUERNAVACA MEXICO, JUNE 17 - 22, TO DISCUSS "DEMOCRACY AND HUMAN RIGHTS," BUT FAILED TO REACH AGREEMENT. THE NEXT ROUND OF DIRECT TALKS WILL TAKE PLACE IN MID-JULY, PROBABLY AGAIN IN MEXICO. THE TOPIC WILL AGAIN BE HUMAN RIGHTS.

AND A "TIRO DE GRACIA" WERE FOUND AUGUST 9 ALONG THE HIGHWAY BETWEEN PUERTO QUETZAL AND ESCUINTLA. AUTHORITIES HAVE LINKED THESE MURDERS TO SEVEN MILITARY PERSONNEL, WHO HAVE BEEN ARRAIGNED AND CURRENTLY AWAIT TRIAL. THE GUERRILLAS CONTRIBUTED TO THE MONTH'S MISERIES BY DOWNING TWO MAJOR ELECTRICITY TOWERS ON AUGUST 4, BLACKING OUT MOST OF THE NATION FOR NINETY MINUTES. ANOTHER GROUP OF GUERRILLAS OCCUPIED THE HAMLET OF PUEBLO NUEVO VINAS (SANTA ROSA) DURING THE BLACKOUT. THE MONTH CLOSED WITH GUERRILLAS BLOCKING THE FOUR ROADS LEADING INTO ESCUINTLA, AND ATTACKING FINCA SANTO TOMAS, THE PRESIDENTIAL RETREAT.

2. THERE WERE SOME POSITIVE DEVELOPMENTS. THE PRESIDENT'S EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, WHICH IS COMPRISED OF MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH, WAS SWORN

IN. THE COURTS RULED THAT A MILITARY OFFICER COULD BE TRIED FOR THE MURDER OF AMERICAN CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE AND ORDERED HIS ARREST. THE NATIONAL RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (CNR) TRAVELED TO MEXICO AND RESCHEDULED THE DELAYED PEACE TALKS. THE FOURTH ROUND OF TALKS, WHICH WILL FOCUS ON HUMAN RIGHTS, WILL BE HELD ON SEPTEMBER 20-22 IN MEXICO CITY. THE URNG ALSO AGREED TO CEASE THEIR ATTACKS AGAINST ELEMENTS OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, BUT ONLY AS LONG AS THE POLICE DO NOT ATTACK THE GUERRILLAS. END SUMMARY AND INTRODUCTION.

EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS

3. NINE BODIES WERE FOUND IN VARIOUS PARTS OF GUATEMALA CITY OVER THE WEEKEND OF AUGUST 3-4. SIX OF THE VICTIMS WERE KILLED BY A SHOT TO THE HEAD AND HAD THEIR HANDS BOUND BEHIND THEIR BACKS. MANY BELIEVE THE VICTIMS WERE CRIMINALS WHO WERE KILLED BY VIGILANTES. IN THE PAST, POLICEMEN HAVE FORMED PART OF SUCH VIGILANTE ACTIVITY.

4. JOSE LUIS MERIDA ESCOBAR, THE DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL POLICE'S OFFICE OF HOMICIDE INVESTIGATIONS, WAS GUNNED DOWN 50 FEET FROM THE NATIONAL POLICE HEADQUARTERS ON AUGUST 5. NATIONAL POLICE HAVE ARRESTED TWO MEN: ALFREDO JESUS GUERRA GALINDO, OWNER OF THE VEHICLE USED IN THE MURDER AND GONZALO CIFUENTES ESTRADA, THE ALLEGED TRIGGER MAN, IN CONNECTION WITH THE MERIDA KILLING. CIFUENTES ADMITS KILLING MERIDA, BUT CLAIMS HE DID SO TO AVENGE HIMSELF AGAINST MERIDA FOR RAPING HIS WIFE. POLICE ARE SEARCHING FOR A THIRD SUSPECT. MANY LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVERS BELIEVE MERIDA WAS KILLED BECAUSE OF HIS WORK ON

THE RENEWED INVESTIGATION INTO THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG--A MURDER WIDELY ATTRIBUTED TO GOVERNMENT SECURITY FORCES. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WHILE NOT HAVING REACHED A CONCLUSION, BELIEVES THAT PRELIMINARY EVIDENCE SHOWS THAT SUCH A MOTIVE "CANNOT BE RULED OUT."

5. ELEVEN BODIES, SOME BEARING SIGNS OF TORTURE, AND ALL WITH SINGLE GUNSHOT WOUNDS TO THE HEAD, WERE FOUND ALONG THE ROAD BETWEEN PUERTO QUETZAL AND ESCUINTLA AUGUST 9. THE MAJORITY OF THE VICTIMS WERE TRUCK DRIVERS AND CUSTOMS EMPLOYEES. THE ELEVEN APPARENTLY FORMED PART OF A HIJACKING/CONTRABAND RING OPERATING OUT OF PUERTO QUETZAL. OFFICERS, WERE ARRESTED AUGUST 15. THE ARRESTS WERE THE RESULT OF A MILITARY INVESTIGATION WHICH DETERMINED THE SEVEN WERE THE AUTHORS OF THE MASSACRE. ALL SEVEN HAVE BEEN ARRAIGNED AND AWAIT TRIAL; THE COMMANDER OF THE NAVAL BASE HAS BEEN ALLOWED TO RESUME HIS COMMAND PENDING THE OUTCOME OF THE LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.

6. NATIONAL POLICE NOW BELIEVE THAT TWO POLICE OFFICERS KILLED AUGUST 9 AND THREE OTHER MEN, TWO OF THEM UNIVERSITY OF SAN CARLOS (USAC) STUDENTS, KILLED ON AUGUST 24, WERE VICTIMS OF THE SO-CALLED "BICYCLE GANG." THE

DECONTROLLED/UNCLASSIFIED

GANG DERIVES ITS NAME FROM ONE OF ITS MEMBER'S TIES TO A FORMER CYCLING CHAMPION; IT WAS CAPTURED WITH SEVERAL WEAPONS, INCLUDING THOSE OF THE SLAIN POLICE OFFICERS. POLICE BALLISTICS TESTS INDICATE THE SLAIN OFFICERS' WEAPONS WERE USED BY THE GANG TO COMMIT OTHER MURDERS. THE "BICYCLE GANG" MEMBERS ARE IN CUSTODY AND AWAITING TRIAL. THE GANG'S SOLE MOTIVE, ACCORDING TO POLICE, WAS ROBBERY AND THE PLEASURE OF KILLING. NO POLITICAL MOTIVES APPEAR TO EXIST.

EXCESSIVE USE OF FORCE AND VIOLATION OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN AN INTERNAL CONFLICT

8. THE URNG GUERRILLAS INCREASED THEIR ACTIVITY THROUGHOUT AUGUST CAUSING CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE TO THE ECONOMIC INFRASTRUCTURE. THE UPSURGE IN ACTIVITY BEGAN ON THE 4TH WHEN REBELS DOWNED TWO POWER PYLONS NEAR SAN PEDRO AYUMPAC (GUATEMALA), BLACKING OUT THE NATION FOR OVER 90 MINUTES AND INTERRUPTING A TAPED TELEVISED SPEECH BY PRESIDENT SERRANO ANNOUNCING AN INCREASE IN THE MINIMUM WAGE. THE NATIONAL ELECTRICITY UTILITY (INDE) ESTIMATED THE COST TO MAKE REPAIRS AT Q 1,000,000 (USD 200,000).

9. GUERRILLAS TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE AUGUST 4 BLACKOUT TO OCCUPY BRIEFLY THE TOWN OF PUEBLO NUEVO VINAS (SANTA ROSA). ON JULY 23 THE GUERRILLAS HAD PREVIOUSLY OCCUPIED NUEVO VINAS, KILLING TWO NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS. THE GUERRILLAS STRUCK THE NATIONAL POLICE AGAIN ON AUGUST 15 WHEN THEY USED RPG'S TO ATTACK A SMALL CHECK POINT JUST SOUTH OF THE CAPITAL; THE RPG DAMAGED THE BUILDING, BUT CAUSED NO INJURIES. THE PRESS AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN HARSHLY CRITICIZED THE URNG FOR THEIR ATTACKS AGAINST POLICEMEN, WHO HAVE NO ROLE IN COUNTERINSURGENCY EFFORTS, PROMPTING THE URNG TO ANNOUNCE IT WOULD NO LONGER TARGET POLICE UNLESS THE COPS ATTACKED FIRST.

10. ORPA GUERRILLAS SUCCESSFULLY BLOCKED THE FOUR ROADS LEADING INTO AND OUT OF ESCUINTLA AND ATTACKED THE PRESIDENTIAL RETREAT, "FINCA SANTO TOMAS," ON AUGUST 30. FORTY OR SO GUERRILLAS HELD ESCUINTLA, A MAJOR POPULATION AND COMMERCIAL CENTER JUST 60 KILOMETERS FROM GUATEMALA CITY, FOR A SHORT TIME BEFORE THE ARMY FORCED THEM TO FLEE. THE GUERRILLAS FORCED A SMALL LOCAL RADIO STATION TO BROADCAST GUERRILLA PROPAGANDA OVER THE AIR. ONE SOLDIER WAS KILLED.

11. THE GOVERNMENT OF MEXICO ASKED THE NATIONAL RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (CNR), THE GOVERNMENT OF GUATEMALA, AND THE URNG, IF THE FOURTH ROUND OF PEACE TALKS, ORIGINALLY SCHEDULED FOR LATE AUGUST, COULD BE RESCHEDULED. ALL PARTIES AGREED. THE CNR TRAVELED TO MEXICO IN EARLY SEPTEMBER AND RESCHEDULED THE FOURTH ROUND, WHICH WILL FOCUS ON HUMAN RIGHTS, FOR SEPTEMBER

BY RENOWNED AMCIT FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGIST DR. CLYDE SNOW AND SEVERAL ARGENTINE FORENSIC SPECIALISTS, UNCOVERED GRAVES CONTAINING 27 BODIES NEAR THE TOWN OF CHONTOLA (QUICHE). PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION INDICATES THAT MANY OF THE VICTIMS WERE SEVERLY BEATEN AND THEN SHOT TO DEATH. RELATIVES, WHO HELPED LOCATE THE SITE, SAY THE VICTIMS WERE KILLED BY MEMBERS OF LOCAL CIVIL PATROLS.

13. MEMBERS OF THE LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION "GRUPO DE APOYO MUTUO" (GAM) OCCUPIED THE PUBLIC GALLERY OF THE CONGRESS ON AUGUST 19 TO DEMAND LEGISLATION CREATING AN INVESTIGATIVE COMMISSION FOR THE DISAPPEARED. THE GAM MEMBERS CLAIM ANDRES GIRON, PRESIDENT OF THE CONGRESSIONAL COMMISSION FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, HAD PROMISED TO PROPOSE THE LEGISLATION MONTHS AGO, BUT HAD NOT FULFILLED THE PROMISE. THE SIT-IN REACHED A CRISIS AUGUST 22 WHEN THE PROTESTORS OCCUPIED THE FLOOR OF THE CONGRESS PREVENTING THE START OF THE DAY'S SESSION. THEY LEFT ONLY AFTER RECEIVING PROMISES FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, ACISCLO VALLADARES, THAT HE WOULD PROPOSE THE LONG SOUGHT LEGISLATION. THE GAM REJECTS THE EFFORTS OF THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN TO INVESITGATE THE FATE OF THE DISAPPEARED, CLAIMING THAT THE OMBUDSMAN DOES NOT HAVE THE LEGAL POWERS NECESSARY TO UNDERTAKE A COMPLETE AND THOROUGH INVESTIGATION.

14. CERJ LEADER AMILCAR MENDEZ REPORTEDLY BEGAN RECEIVING DEATH THREATS FROM THE "JAGUAR JUSTICERO" (JJ), WHICH TOOK CREDIT FOR THE DEATHS OF SEVERAL UNIVERSITY STUDENTS IN 1989. THE TYPED DEATH THREAT, THOUGH ADDRESSED TO THE CERJ'S SANTA CRUZ DE QUICHE OFFICE, WAS DELIVERED TO THE CERJ OFFICE IN GUATEMALA CITY, WHERE AMILCAR MENDEZ WAS STAYING. MENDEZ ALSO CLAIMS SEVERAL MEN, TWO IN ARMY UNIFORMS, VISITED HIS SISTER'S HOME IN GUATEMALA CITY LOOKING FOR HIM ON AUGUST 29. MENDEZ SOUGHT AID FROM MINISTER OF INTERIOR HURTARDO PREM, WHO PROMISED EXTRA SECURITY. MENDEZ, SANS HIS FOREIGN "PROTECTORS" WHO HE SAID LEFT HIM AT THE FIRST SIGN OF TROUBLE, TOLD US HE WAS PLANNING TO LEAVE GUATEMALA FOR A BRIEF VACATION IN THE UNITED STATES (AT THE KENNEDY FAMILY'S FLORIDA COMPOUND). MENDEZ SAID, IN LIGHT OF THE JJ'S PAST RECORD, THIS MOST RECENT THREAT CAUSED HIM MORE CONCERN THAN EARLIER ONES.

SUBJECT: OAS PERMANENT COUNCIL SUPPORTS GOES/FMLN PEACE TALKS; EL SALVADOR EXPOSES FMLN ARMS CACHE
REF: (A) 91 SAN SALVAD 11587, (B) 91 STATE 297886

1. SUMMARY. AT A SPECIAL SESSION SEPTEMBER 13, THE OAS PERMANENT COUNCIL EXPRESSED SUPPORT FOR GOES/FMLN TALKS. THE SALVADORAN PERMREP DETAILED THE FMLN ARMS CACHE DISCOVERED AUGUST 21, WHILE THE NICARAGUAN PERMREP CLARIFIED SANDINISTA WEAPONS DELIVERIES TO THE FMLN AND ANNOUNCED THAT FOREIGN MINISTER DREYFUSS WOULD ATTEND A MEETING TO BE CALLED BY THE OAS SECRETARY GENERAL ON DE-ARMING AND DE-MINING. END SUMMARY.

2. PRESENTATION ON ARMS CACHE. THE SESSION, CALLED AT SALVADOR'S REQUEST, OPENED WITH ITS PERMREP GRANILLO GIVING A 30-MINUTE PRESENTATION WITH PHOTO-DOCUMENTATION OF THE FMLN ARMS CACHE UNCOVERED AUGUST 21 IN SAN SALVADOR -- "CONVINCING EVIDENCE," HE SAID, OF THE TECHNICAL SOPHISTICATION OF FMLN WEAPONRY AND OF "INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT" FOR THE GUERRILLAS.

3. GRANILLO NOTED THAT PREVIOUS FMLN OFFENSIVES HAVE BEEN PRECEDED BY THE DISCOVERY OF MAJOR ARMS STOCKS AND THAT BASED ON THE CURRENT SEIZURE, FMLN HARDLINERS WERE PREPARING FOR ANOTHER ASSAULT TARGETING URBAN CENTERS. GRANILLO PREFACED DETAILS ON THE ARMS SEIZURE BY TRACING EFFORTS AT PEACE IN CENTRAL AMERICA AND NOTED PRESIDENT CRISTIANI'S PLANS TO PARTICIPATE PERSONALLY IN THE GOES-FMLN TALKS AT THE UN IN NEW YORK.

4. PERMANENT COUNCIL RESOLUTION. THE SPECIAL SESSION PRODUCED A RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY CONSENSUS (SEE BELOW), IN WHICH THE OAS PERMANENT COUNCIL EXPRESSES "FIRM SUPPORT FOR THE (GOES/FMLN) NEGOTIATIONS" UNDER UN SECGEN AUSPICES. THE RESOLUTION ALSO STRESSES THE IMPORTANCE OF "FULL PARTICIPATION OF ALL SECTORS IN THE POLITICAL, DEMOCRATIC AND INSTITUTIONAL LIFE OF EL SALVADOR" UNDER "THE RULE OF LAW." THERE WERE 24 CO-SPONSORS AND REMARKS BY EL SALVADOR, NICARAGUA, PANAMA, GUATEMALA, HONDURAS, COSTA RICA, BARBADOS (SPEAKING FOR CARICOM), THE UNITED STATES, COLOMBIA (FOR THE GROUP OF RIO), AND CANADA.

5. ALL AFFIRMED SUPPORT FOR THE TALKS. PANAMA PERMREP CHEMINO CALLED FOR "COLLECTIVE ACTION" TO SUPPORT REPRESENTATIVE DEMOCRACY WITHOUT SPECIFYING THE TYPE; THOUGH HE ALLUDED TO THE MEETING OF FOREIGN MINISTERS CALLED (WITHOUT DATE) AT VENEZUELAN INITIATIVE IN JANUARY AFTER THE SURINAME COUP. CANADA NOTED "FOR THE RECORD" ITS PREFERENCE FOR CALLING FOR GOES AND FMLN COOPERATION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND REFERENCE TO "INTERNAL SECURITY" IN IN A POST-WAR EL SALVADOR. COLOMBIAN PERMREP LONDONO, ON BEHALF OF THE RIO GROUP, MADE THE USUAL REFERENCE TO NONINTERVENTION (AS DOES THE RESOLUTION). NOTABLY, THE RIO GROUP WAS INSTRUMENTAL IN MOVING THE RESOLUTION FORWARD.

6. US PERMREP EINAUDI (SEPTEL) SAID THE RESOLUTION WAS ACCEPTABLE IN CRITICAL RESPECTS (THE TALKS, INTEGRATION OF COMBATANTS INTO DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY) BUT THE TEXT DID NOT FULLY MEET THE "CHALLENGE" CREATED BY THE FMLN'S INTRODUCTION OF SAM-14S INTO EL SALVADOR.

7. (FYI. RESOLUTION CO-SPONSORS: ANTIGUA, ARGENTINA, BARBADOS, BOLIVIA, BRAZIL, CHILE, COLOMBIA, COSTA RICA, ECUADOR, EL SALVADOR, UNITED STATES, GRENADA, GUATEMALA, HONDURAS, JAMAICA, MEXICO, NICARAGUA, PANAMA, PARAGUAY, PERU, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, TRINIDAD, URUGUAY, AND VENEZUELA.)

8. THE NICARAGUAN CLARIFICATION, ANNOUNCEMENT.

RESPONDING TO THE (FACTUAL) ASSERTION IN THE DOCUMENTATION DISTRIBUTED BY THE GOES MISSION THAT INITIAL SAM-7 DELIVERIES HAD BEEN ORGANIZED BY THE EPS OPERATING OUT OF MONTELIMAR, NICARAGUA IN NOVEMBER 1989, NICARAGUAN PERMREP TIJERINO UNDERSCORED THAT THE INCIDENT HAD TAKEN PLACE BEFORE CHAMORRO'S INAUGURATION. HE THEN ADDED THAT SANDINISTA ARMY OFFICERS HAD SUBSEQUENTLY "SOLD" MISSILES TO THE FMLN BEFORE THE NOVEMBER 1990 FMLN OFFENSIVE, BUT STRESSED THAT THE SALE WAS MADE BY INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS OF THE EPS WITHOUT AUTHORIZATION. THOSE CONCERNED -- TIJERINO NAMED FOUR -- WERE TRIED AND CONVICTED. SOME ARMS WERE RETURNED BY THE FMLN, HE SAID. TO HIS KNOWLEDGE, THE GOES HAD NEVER SAID WHETHER IT BELIEVED THE WEAPONS HAD BEEN RETURNED WERE ALL OR ONLY PART OF THOSE ILLEGALLY TRANSFERRED.

9. BY DIPLOMATIC NOTE OF SEPTEMBER 3, 1991, ADDED TIJERINO, THE GON HAD REQUESTED THAT THE GOES JOIN IT IN ORGANIZING A COMMISSION TO IDENTIFY THE SOURCES OF THE ARMAMENT CAPTURED FROM THE FMLN. NO REPLY HAD YET BEEN RECEIVED, AND UNTIL ONE WAS RECEIVED, TIJERINO CONCLUDED, "THE GOVERNMENT OF NICARAGUA CANNOT ACCEPT DIRECT OR INDIRECT SUGGESTIONS THAT IT SHARES RESPONSIBILITY FOR TOLERATING SUCH ARMS TRANSFERS."

10. EARLIER IN THE SESSION, TIJERINO ANNOUNCED THAT NICARAGUAN FOREIGN MINISTER DREYFUSS WILL ATTEND A MEETING TO BE CALLED BY THE OAS SECRETARY GENERAL ON DE-ARMING AND DE-MINING ON OCTOBER 3 IN WASHINGTON.

RESOLVES:

1. TO EXPRESS ITS FIRM SUPPORT FOR THE NEGOTIATIONS PROCEEDING CURRENTLY BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR AND THE FMLN UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, AND TO URGE BOTH PARTIES TO PURSUE THEIR EFFORTS TO ATTAIN FIRM AND LASTING PEACE IN EL SALVADOR

2. TO CALL AGAIN ON THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR AND THE FMLN TO GIVE SUBSTANTIVE PRIORITY TO THE ATTAINMENT OF POLITICAL ACCORDS, CESSATION OF THE ARMED CONFLICT, AND PUTTING AN END TO ALL ACTS THAT VIOLATE THE RIGHTS OF THE CIVILIAN POPULATIONS, IN KEEPING WITH THE AGREEMENTS OF

I. INTRODUCTION: THE PROBLEM CASES

4. THE SHORTCOMINGS OF THE SALVADORAN JUDICIARY ARE NOTORIOUS. ELITES ENJOY IMPUNITY AND FEW OTHERS CAN GET A FAIR SHAKE. THEIR SORRY REPUTATION NOTWITHSTANDING, SALVADORAN COURTS ARE PROBABLY NOT MUCH WORSE THAN OTHERS IN THE REGION AND THE INEQUITIES IN THE COURT SYSTEM ARE NO MORE EXTREME TO THOSE FOUND IN THE REST OF THE NATION'S INSTITUTIONS.

5. ATTENTION HAS FOCUSED ON THE SALVADORAN COURTS BECAUSE OF ITS WELL-PUBLICIZED FAILURES. THE SALVADORAN COURTS HAVE PROVEN INCAPABLE OF TRYING AND SENTENCING HIGH-PROFILE CRIMINALS. THOUSANDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS CASES HAVE GONE UNPROSECUTED BUT CRITICS HAVE FOCUSED INTER ALIA, ON THE FOLLOWING RECENT INCIDENTS:

-- MONTHS LATER, THREE ESAF OFFICERS IMPLICATED IN THE FAMOUS ESAF KIDNAP-FOR-PROFIT RING WERE RELEASED AND THEIR CASE DISMISSED. ONLY AN URGENT PLEA BY THEN-ATTORNEY GENERAL SAMAYOA HELD ONE SUSPECT -- LT. LOPEZ SIBRIAN -- UNTIL CHARGES COULD BE RE-INSTATED. ARREST ORDERS HAVE BEEN REISSUED BUT THE OTHER TWO SUSPECTS REMAIN AT LARGE.

NOTWITHSTANDING CRITICISM TO THE CONTRARY, THE JESUIT CASE HAS ADVANCED AS QUICKLY AS PROCEDURES ALLOW. -- CRIMINAL COURT JUDGES IN SAN SALVADOR NOW SERVE EVENING AND WEEK-END DUTY. PREVIOUSLY CRIMES COMMITTED OUTSIDE OF BUSINESS HOURS HAD TO WAIT UNTIL THE NEXT BUSINESS DAY FOR A JUDGE.

-- NEW INSTITUTES FOR FORENSIC MEDICINE AND JUDICIAL TRAINING HAVE BEEN CREATED

-- A NEW PRESS OFFICE NOW REPORTS GOINGS-ON IN THE COURT TO THE LOCAL PRESS AND PUBLISHES ITS OWN BI-WEEKLY INSERT IN ALL OF THE DAILY PAPERS.

GUTIERREZ CAN ALSO POINT TO HIS COURT'S IMPROVED STATISTICS. IN 1989 73 PERCENT OF ALL JURY TRIALS WERE DELAYED BECAUSE NOT ENOUGH JURORS REPORTED FOR JURY DUTY. ACCORDING TO THE COURT PRESS OFFICE, ONLY 33 PERCENT OF ALL CASES HAVE BEEN FRUSTRATED FOR LACK OF JURORS IN 1991 . IN 1989 JURIES FOUND 80 PERCENT OF ALL FELONY SUSPECTS INNOCENT AND ONLY 20 PERCENT [redacted]

GUILTY AT TRIAL. THIS YEAR THAT PERCENTAGE HAS BEEN REVERSED.

WOOING THE EMBASSY:

11. AFTER FUMBLING THE SAN SEBASTIAN AND KIDNAPPING CASES AND LOSING USG (AND SPANISH) ASSISTANCE, GUTIERREZ HAS APPARENTLY RECONSIDERED HIS APPROACH TO THE EMBASSY. HE INAUGURATED A RAPPROCHEMENT BY ENDING SIX YEARS OF JUDICIAL DITHERING OVER THE INVESTIGATION OF THE MURDER OF FOUR US MARINES IN 1984 BY EXPEDITING THE CONVICTION OF THE ZONA ROSA MURDERERS IN APRIL OF THIS YEAR. MORE RECENTLY, HE HAS PUSHED THE JESUIT CASE THROUGH THE APPEAL PROCESS AND BEEN EAGER TO PLEASE ON THE PICKETT/DAWSON CASE.

PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRATIONS:

12. GUTIERREZ' ACHIEVEMENTS MUST BE VIEWED IN THE CONTEXT OF HIS PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRATIONS. HIS REFORMS,

HIS RAPPROCHEMENT WITH THE EMBASSY MAY REPRESENT HIS PERCEPTION THAT THE ROAD TO THE PRESIDENCY OF THE COUNTRY WOULD BE QUITE DIFFICULT IN THE FACE OF EMBASSY OPPOSITION. GUTIERREZ MAY BE INTERESTED IN REFORM INSOFAR AS IT ENHANCES HIS POLITICAL POWER BUT THERE IS LITTLE IN HIS BACKGROUND TO INDICATE THAT HIS BLUEPRINT FOR CHANGE IS MORE THAN A NEW SPIN ON CAUDILLISMO.

EXAMPLE THAT ARENA SALWAT ROBERTO ROMERO CARILLO IS A CRIMINAL ATTORNEY, BUT HEARS ADMINISTRATIVE CASES. ANOTHER CRITICISM IS THE COURT'S FAILURE TO ISSUE LANDMARK DECISIONS ON MAJOR CASES. FACED WITH A DIFFICULT DECISION IN THE INCAFE CORRUPTION CASE, INVOLVING THE IMMUNITY OF AN ASSEMBLY DEPUTY, THE COURT DEFERRED TO THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY AND GLADLY ACCEDED TO A POLITICAL COMPROMISE COOKED UP IN THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY. EVEN GUTIERREZ HAS PRIVATELY ADMITTED THAT HE REGRETS SELECTING JORGE GIAMETTEI, AN ARCH RIGHT-WINGER, AS HIS VICE PRESIDENT ON THE COURT. GIAMETTEI, HE SAYS, IS SIMPLY NOT SMART ENOUGH FOR THE JOB.

REFORMS TO CHANGE COURT'S LOOK:

15. IF THE PRESENT SUPREME COURT LACKS COLOR, TWO IMPORTANT CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS NOW AWAITING RATIFICATION (PROBABLY THIS WEEK) BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY MAY GIVE IT MORE CONTRAST. ART. 22 OF THE REFORMS, AMENDING ART. 186 OF THE CONSTITUTION WILL EXTEND MAGISTRATES' TERMS TO NINE YEARS, WITH ONE

THIRD OF THE COURT TURNING OVER EVERY THREE YEARS. THE EXTENDED TERM SHOULD ALLOW THE COURT MORE INDEPENDENCE FROM THE ASSEMBLY, WHICH PRESENTLY ELECTS THE ENTIRE COURT EVERY FIVE YEARS. STAGGERED TERMS SHOULD CREATE GREATER DIVERSITY ON THE COURT AND APPOINTMENTS MAY BE LESS PARTISAN. UNDER THE REFORM, THE PRESIDENT OF THE COURT WILL BE CHOSEN BY THE ASSEMBLY EVERY THREE YEARS, SO WHATEVER PARTY CONTROLS THE ASSEMBLY WILL CONTINUE TO CONTROL THE COURT'S AGEN

16. A SECOND REFORM, ALSO AMENDING ART. 186 PROMISES TO IMPROVE THE CALIBER OF MAGISTRATES. UNDER THE NEW LAW THE ASSEMBLY WILL APPOINT SUPREME COURT MAGISTRATES FROM A LIST GENERATED BY THE NATIONAL JUDICIAL COUNCIL, WHICH WILL ALSO BE REFASHIONED TO BE MORE REPRESENTATIVE. AT LEAST HALF OF THE LIST PRESENTED BY THE NATIONAL JUDICIAL COUNCIL WILL COME FROM LAWYERS' ASSOCIATIONS. THE LAWYERS' ASSOCIATIONS TEND TOWARDS PETTY FIEFDOMS AND THE NATIONAL JUDICIAL

JUDGES IN SAN SALVADOR ARE PAID USD 700 PER MONTH AND ARE CRAMMED INTO OFFICES THAT WERE BUILT AS TEMPORARY QUARTERS AFTER THE 1986 EARTHQUAKE. SECRETARIES AND LAW CLERKS -- MOSTLY LAW STUDENTS -- ARE JAMMED TOGETHER SO TIGHTLY THAT THEY HAVE TO MOVE FURNITURE TO LEAVE THEIR DESKS. CONDITIONS IN THE RURAL AREAS ARE EVEN MORE PRIMITIVE.

19. JUDICIAL CORRUPTION IS GENERALLY BELIEVED TO BE SYSTEMIC, BUT IS PROBABLY NO WORSE THAN IN OTHER SALVADORAN PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS OR OTHER JUDICIARIES IN THE REGION. WITHIN CERTAIN LIMITS, OFFICIAL CORRUPTION IS ACCEPTED AND ANTICIPATED. IN THE MOST RECENT FIRING OF A JUDGE OF FIRST INSTANCE FOR CORRUPTION, COURTHOUSE GOSSIP HAS IT THAT COURT PRESIDENT GUTIERREZ TRIED TO LET THE POLITICALLY-CONNECTED JUDGE OFF WITH A WARNING. RATHER THAN ACCEPT THE ADMONISHMENT, THE JUDGE APPARENTLY TAUNTED GUTIERREZ. CONFRONTED WITH INSUBORDINATION IN ADDITION TO A PRETTY BLATANT CASE OF CORRUPTION, GUTIERREZ FIRED HIM.

20. TO SUPPLEMENT THEIR PALTRY INCOMES FROM THE COURT, JUDGES ARE ALLOWED TO MOONLIGHT, ESPECIALLY AS PUBLIC NOTARIES -- A FAR MORE COMPLEX AND DEMANDING DUTY IN NAPOLEONIC CODE COUNTRIES THAN IN THE COMMON LAW SYSTEM. THE PRACTICE AS NOTARY IS SO LUCRATIVE FOR SOME JUDGES THAT THE JUDGESHIP IS A MERE MARKETING TOOL. FOR FY 92 THE COURT HAS REQUESTED A FIFTY PERCENT PAY INCREASE FOR JUDGES. THIS MAY HELP MORALE BUT WILL PROBABLY HAVE LITTLE IMPACT ON CORRUPTION.

CASELOADS EXAGERATED:

21. JUDGES' CASELOADS ARE AN OFTEN-CITED, BUT PERHAPS OVER-STATED PROBLEM. THERE ARE REPORTEDLY 4,000 CRIMINAL CASES BACKED UP IN THE SALVADORAN COURT SYSTEM. OF THESE, HOWEVER, PROBABLY 2,500 CANNOT BE RESOLVED FOR LACK OF SUSPECTS. JUDGES IN SAN SALVADOR MIGHT HAVE A 100 CASE BACKLOG, BUT RURAL JUDGES KEEP ONLY FIVE OR SIX CASES PENDING. THE COURT IS NOW INTRODUCING COMPUTERS TO ASSIST CASE MANAGEMENT AND GUTIERREZ INSISTS THAT UNTRIED CASES HAVE BEEN DRASTICALLY REDUCED. (THE MINISTRY OF JUSTICE IS NOW REVIEWING CASES OF PRISON INMATES WITH A VIEW TOWARDS RELEASING THOSE WHO HAVE ALREADY SERVED THEIR SENTENCES. A DEFENDANT'S GREATEST NIGHTMARE IS BEING FORGOTTEN BY HIS JUDGE AND BEING LEFT TO ROT IN JAIL WITHOUT A TRIAL.) A BETTER TRACKING SYSTEM AND MORE

COURTS OF SECOND INSTANCE ARE DIVIDED INTO THREE CHAMBERS -- PENAL, CIVIL, AND ADMINISTRATIVE -- AND HEAR APPEALS FROM THE COURTS OF FIRST INSTANCE. EASY TO DEVELOP. A VOCAL CRITIC OF THE SALVADOAN JUDICIARY, THE FMLN HAD THE OPPORTUNITY BUT FAILED TO
[redacted]

PROPOSE THE SWEEPING REFORMS MANY EXPECTED DURING THE APRIL 1991 TALKS IN MEXICO CITY. PRIOR TO THE TALKS, ACCORDING TO LOCAL ATTORNEYS, FMLN NEGOTIATORS ISSUED A LAST-MINUTE PLEA FOR TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE, BUT GOT FEW TAKERS. AS A RESULT, THE GUERRILLAS WERE SIMPLY UNPREPARED TO OFFER NEW IDEAS. THE RESOLUTIONS THAT RESULTED, ACCORDING TO MOST OBSERVRRS, WERE HALF-BAKED
- A MISSED OPPORTUNITY.

[redacted] IN ADDITION TO MODIFING SUPREME COURT TERMS AND SELECTION AS DISCUSSED ABOVE, THE MEXICO ACCORDS PROPOSE TO DILUTE THE COURT'S INFLUENCE IN THE CONSEJO NACIONAL DE JUDICATURA, THE BODY WHICH SELECTS JUDGES. BY PROVIDING POLITICAL PARTIES AND OTHER INTEREST GROUPS WITH GREATER REPRESENTATION ON THE CONSEJO, IT IS HOPED THAT THE SUPREME COURT WILL LOSE ITS MONOPOLY OVER THE APPOINTMENT OF JUDGES.

THE SIX PERCENT SOLUTION:

25. ALTHOUGH IT IS GENERALLY ACKNOWLEDGED THAT JUDGES SHOULD NOT RELY ON PRIVATE PRACTICE FOR THEIR LIVELIHOODS, IT IS ALSO UNDERSTOOD THAT JUDGES CANNOT SURVIVE ON THEIR SALARIES ALONE. THE MEXICO ACCORDS WOULD REFORM THE SECONDARY LAW (STATUTORY CODE AS OPPOSED TO THE CONSTITUTION) TO PROHIBIT JUDGES FROM MOONLIGHTING AS NOTARIES. THE PROHIBITION IS BALANCED WITH A PROPOSED PAY RAISE AND JOB SECURITY.

26. TO ENSURE THE PAY INCREASE PROPOSED IN THE [redacted]

[redacted]

JUDICIAL CAREER LAW, A CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM PROPOSAL WOULD GUARANTEE THAT SIX PERCENT OF THE GOES' REVENUES BE DEDICATED TO THE SUPREME COURT BUDGET EVERY YEAR. A NOBLE INTENTION, THE ENHANCED COURT BUDGET MAY NOT AFFORD JUDGES WITH A PAY INCREASE EQUAL TO WHAT THEY CAN MAKE AS NOTARIES, EVEN PART-TIME. SOME JUDGES WILL LOSE MORE THAN HALF OF THEIR INCOME. THERE IS [redacted] GUARANTEE THAT THE CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENT FOR INCREASED FUNDING WILL BE HONORED. OTHER NATIONS WHICH HAVE ADOPTED THE SIX PERCENT RULE HAVE FAILED TO COMPLY -- COSTA RICA FOR EXAMPLE. THE NET LOSS IN INCOME MAY CHASE GOOD JUDGES FROM THE COURTS. ONE-TIME PAY RAISES CAN BE CONSUMED BY INFLATION AND ANNUAL RAISES WILL BE HARDER TO SELL TO THE ASSEMBLY AS JUDICIAL REFORM SLIPS OUT OF POLITICAL FASHION.

27. ANOTHER REFORM AIMS TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF THE JUSTICES OF THE PEACE (JOP'S) BY REQUIRING THAT THEY BE LAWYERS. THE JUSTICES OF THE PEACE ARE PRIMARILY INVESTIGATIVE JUDGES. IN A PERFECT WORLD, JOP'S MIGHT BE LAWYERS BUT A SALVADORAN LAW DEGREE IS HARDLY A TICKET TO JURISPRUDENTIAL UNDERSTANDING. REQUIRING A LAW DEGREE WILL DISQUALIFY MANY JOP'S, ESPECIALLY IN RURAL AREAS. TRAINING IN CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION WOULD PROBABLY BE MORE APPROPRIATE AND USEFUL.

JUDICIAL TRAINING:

28. THE MEXICO ACCORDS ALSO MANDATE THE CREATION OF A JUDICIAL SCHOOL TO TRAIN JUDGES AND JOP'S. GUTIERREZ HAS ALREADY FASHIONED A LOW-BUDGET INSTITUTE, USING [redacted]

[redacted]

SITTING JUDGES AS PROFESSORS. LIKE THE OTHER REFORMS, HOWEVER, THE IMPACT OF THE NEW INSTITUTE WILL BE PERIPHERAL. IN SUM, THE JUDICIAL REFORMS DEVELOPED IN THE MEXICO ACCORDS, ALTHOUGH UNOBJECTIONABLE, FAIL TO CONFRONT THE MAJOR PROBLEMS IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM -- CORRUPTION, SCARCITY OF RESOURCES AND THE SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT'S ABSOLUTE POWER OVER THE JUDICIARY.

29. EVEN IF THE LAW IS ONLY AS GOOD AS THE PEOPLE WHO ENFORCE IT, THE LEGAL COMMUNITY AGREES ON THE NEED TO REFORM EL SALVADOR'S CRIMINAL CODES. IN AN AID-SPONSORED CONFERENCE HELD IN JUNE, THREE EXPERTS ON LATIN AMERICAN LAW CRITICIZED THE STATE OF THE SALVADORAN CRIMINAL CODES AS PRIMITIVE. ONE EXPERT, LEOPOLDO SCHIFFRIN OF CHILE HAS SUGGESTED A SERIES OF REFORMS TO PROTECT THE RIGHTS OF ACCUSED PERSONS. THE CRISTIANI ADMINISTRATION HAS EMBRACED THE PROPOSAL AND

[redacted] INITIATED A TIMETABLE FOR DRAFTING AND PRESENTING THE PROPOSALS TO THE ASSEMBLY OVER THE NEXT EIGHTEEN MONTHS. SCHIFFRIN'S REFORMS WOULD INCLUDE REFORMS IN THE SOME OF THE FOLLOWING AREAS.

SUSPECTS' RIGHTS:

30. THE SALVADORAN PRACTICE OF ADMITTING EXTRA-JUDICIAL CONFESSIONS AS EVIDENCE IS A FAVORITE TARGET OF REFORMERS. UNDER PRESENT RULES POLICE INVESTIGATORS MAY COAX A FULLY ADMISSIBLE CONFESSION OUT OF A CRIMINAL SUSPECT PRIOR TO HIS ARRAIGNMENT BY A JUDGE. THE PRACTICE ENCOURAGES BEATINGS AND TORTURE OF PRISONERS BECAUSE THE CONFESSION IS ONE OF THE FEW WAYS THE POLICE KNOW HOW TO WIN A CONVICTION. CLEARLY DETAINED SUSPECTS NEED FIRMER GUARANTEES AGAINST SELF-INCRIMINATION. IT SHOULD BE NOTED, HOWEVER, THAT MOST CONVICTIONS PRESENTLY RESULT FROM DEFENDANTS' CONFESSIONS. THE CASE AGAINST THE SUSPECTS IN THE JESUIT CASE, FOR EXAMPLE, HINGES ON THEIR EXTRA-JUDICIAL CONFESSIONS.

[redacted]

[redacted]

31. ANOTHER PROPOSAL WOULD SHORTEN THE CONSTITUTIONAL 72-HOUR DETENTION PERIOD. THE SALVADORAN CONSTITUTION ALLOWS A PRISONER TO BE DETAINED WITHOUT CHARGES FOR UP TO 72 HOURS. ORIGINALLY CONCEIVED AS A PROTECTION, THE 72-HOUR PERIOD IN MODERN TIMES IS EXCESSIVE. REDUCING THE PERIOD WOULD REQUIRE THE SECURITY FORCES TO BE MORE RESPONSIVE AND REDUCE THE TIME AVAILABLE TO PHYSICALLY ABUSE PRISONERS.

PRE-TRIAL RELEASE:

32. UNDER THE CURRENT SYSTEM, SUSPECTS ARRESTED FOR FELONIES -- WHICH MAY INCLUDE STEALING AS LITTLE AS USD 3.00 -- ARE IMPRISONED UNTIL THE DATE OF THEIR TRIAL. THERE IS NO PROVISION FOR PRE-TRIAL RELEASE- A SERIES OF PROPOSALS WOULD LOWER SENTENCES FOR MINOR CRIMES WHILE CREATING A SYSTEM FOR RELEASE ON BAIL.

33. OTHER REFORM MEASURES PROMOTED BY USAID INCLUDE:

-- ELIMINATION OF ARTICLES IN CRIMINAL CODES WHICH

ENFORCE IDEOLOGICAL REPRESSION;

-- ENFORCEMENT MECHANISIMS TO INSURE THAT PROCEDURAL TIME LIMITATIONS ARE OBSERVED;

-- MEASURES TO LIMIT AND CONTROL INTERLOCUTORY APPEALS;

-- RULES ON SEARCH AND SEIZURE THAT APPROXIMATE THE EXCLUSIONARY RULE;

[redacted]

-- SEPARATION OF FUNCTION OF PRE-TRIAL AND TRIAL JUDGE, TO SEPARATE THE JUDGE'S ROLE OF INVESTIGATOR AND ACCUSOR; AND

-- COMPREHENSIVE REFORM OF THE CRIMINAL CODE AND CODE OF CRIMNAL PROCEDURE TO, INTER ALIA, SHIFT TO AN ORAL OR MIXED TRIAL PROCEEDING AND STRENGTHEN THE JURY SYSTEM NOW IN PLACE. THE PROPOSALS ARE THE RESULT OF TECHNICAL ANALYSIS AND WERE GENERATED INDEPENDENTLY FROM THE SHEAVES OF AGREEMENTS AND ACCORDS THE SALVADORANS HAVE GENERATED IN YEARS OF PEACE TALKS.

35. EVEN IF THE BLUEPRINT DID EXIST, IT WOULD BE A HARD SELL IN EL SALVADOR. THERE IS NO ENLIGHTENED PATRIARCH TO PERSUADE SALVADORAN JUDGES AND LAWYERS TO MAKE THE UNWELCOME SACRIFICES. IN INTRODUCING MARKET REFORMS, THE CRISTIANI ADMINISTRATION ENJOYED THE SUPPORT AND RESPECT OF THE BUSINESS CLASS. THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH, HOWEVER, HAS LITTLE OR NO ROLE IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE. THE MOST SIGNIFICANT FORMAL RESPONSIBILITY OF THE MINISTER OF JUSTICE -- THE PRESIDENT'S LAWYER -- IS PRISON ADMINISTRATION. THE COURTS ARE THE REALM OF THE JUDICIARY AND TO A SIGNIFICANT DEGREE, THE ASSEMBLY, WHICH APPOINTS THE SUPREME COURT AND THE NATION'S CHIEF PROSECUTOR. THESE ARE TWO INSTITUTIONS TOWARDS WHICH THE ELECTORATE HARBORS A WELL-JUSTIFIED SUSPICION. RESPONSIBILITY FOR REFORM IS SPREAD AMONG COMPETING [redacted]

POLITICAL INTERESTS IN THE ASSEMBLIES, THE FISCALIA GENERAL, THE PROCURADURIA GENERAL (PUBLIC DEFENDERS), THE COURTS AND THE POLICE. THE POLITICAL PARTIES HAVE SEIZED ON JUDICIAL REFORM AS AN EXPEDIENT WAY TO ATTACK THE GOVERNMENT, BUT HAVE SO FAR FAILED TO EITHER DEVELOP VIABLE SUBSTANTIVE REFORM ALTERNATIVES OR EVEN SERIOUSLY WORK ON IMPROVEMENTS. ALTHOUGH SALVADORANS READILY AGREE ON THE NEED FOR REFORM, THE PROCESS WILL BE SLOW AND DIFFICULT.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
WASHINGTON

September 26, 1991

The President:

I have the honor to submit to you the Treaty between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of Jamaica on Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters (the "Treaty"), signed at Kingston on July 7, 1989. I recommend that the Treaty be transmitted to the Senate for its advice and consent to ratification.

The Treaty covers mutual legal assistance in criminal matters. In recent years, similar bilateral treaties have entered into force with the Bahamas, Canada, Italy, Mexico, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Turkey and the United Kingdom concerning the Cayman Islands; and others have been concluded and ratified by the United States (but have not yet entered into force) with Belgium, Colombia, Morocco, and Thailand; or concluded and signed with Argentina, Nigeria, Panama, Spain and Uruguay. The Treaty contains many provisions similar to those in the other treaties.

The President,

The White House.

UNCLASSIFIED

The Treaty is designed to be self-executing and will not require implementing legislation. It will enhance our ability to investigate and prosecute drug-related money laundering offenses.

Article 1 provides for assistance in investigations and proceedings for criminal law enforcement matters. Proceedings are defined to include not only criminal proceedings but also civil and administrative proceedings to forfeit the proceeds of drug trafficking. The article further states that assistance shall be provided for any offense under the laws of the Requesting State. The Requested State retains the discretion, however, to deny assistance to the extent that it concerns conduct that would not, in the view of its Central Authority, be an offense under the laws of the Requested State.

Assistance under the Treaty will include: provision of documents, records and evidence; executing requests for searches and seizures; obtaining witness testimony; and other forms of assistance. The article explicitly states that it is not intended to create rights in private parties either to gather evidence or secure other assistance or to suppress or exclude in civil or criminal proceedings evidence obtained under the Treaty.

Article 2 sets forth the circumstances under which a Party may deny assistance under the Treaty, including requests relating to military or political offenses, and requests whose execution would prejudice the security or other essential public interests of the Requested State or be contrary to the Constitution of that State. The Requested State may further deny a request if no proceedings for law enforcement purposes have been instituted in the Requesting State or there are no reasonable grounds to believe that the offense has been or is likely to be committed. The article excludes from the scope of the political offense exception offenses for which both Parties have an obligation to extradite or prosecute under any treaty. Assistance may be postponed if it would interfere with an ongoing investigation or proceeding in the Requested State.

Before denying or postponing assistance, the Central Authority of the Requested State is required to determine whether assistance can be given in whole or in part subject to such conditions it deems necessary. If the Requesting State accepts such conditions, it shall comply with the conditions. The Requested State is obligated to inform the Requesting State as soon as possible of its reasons for denying or postponing assistance.

Article 3 defines the Central Authorities for purposes of the Treaty. For the United States, the Central Authority is the Attorney General or a person designated by him. For Jamaica, the Central Authority is the Minister responsible for justice or his designee. The article provides that requests shall be made directly between the Central Authorities.

Article 4 specifies the information to be contained in the request, including, but not limited to, the law enforcement authority involved, the subject matter and nature of the proceeding for which the request is made, a description of the evidence, information or actions sought, and the purpose for which assistance is sought.

The article specifies further details to be provided to the extent possible to assist in locating individuals and effecting particular types of assistance.

Article 5 obligates the Central Authorities of each Party to comply promptly with a request or immediately advise the Requesting State of any objections it has to the request. The competent authorities of the Requested State are required to do everything in their power to execute the request as expeditiously as possible. Requests requiring judicial or administrative action must be presented to the appropriate authorities. Such judicial authorities are empowered to issue the necessary process, e.g., subpoenas and search warrants to execute such requests.

Article 6 requires the return of the original request to the Requesting State, either after execution or denial of the request, as well as the return (unedited) of all information and evidence gathered in carrying out the request.

Article 7 apportions costs between the two States in executing ordinary requests and provides for consultation when expenses of an extraordinary nature are required to execute a request.

Article 8 establishes procedures for ensuring the confidentiality of requests and their contents and for restricting the use of any information or evidence obtained under the Treaty. It permits the unrestricted use of any information or evidence once made public in the Requesting State in accordance with the article.

Article 9 provides that the Requested State may compel the taking of testimony or production of documents in its territory on behalf of the Requesting State. The article also requires the Requested State to notify the Requesting State of the date and place of the taking of testimony and to permit the presence of any person specified in the request, such as the accused, counsel for the accused, or other interested person. The court or other authority must permit attorneys for the Requesting and Requested State, as well as the defendant or his attorney, the opportunity to question the person whose testimony is sought; it may permit any other person specified in the request to do so as well. The article specifies a procedure for the authentication of business records produced, using forms appended to the Treaty.

Article 10 provides a mechanism for a Requesting State to invite the voluntary appearance and testimony in that State of a person located in the Requested State. Such a request must indicate the importance of the person's appearance in the case, the subject matter on which the person is to be examined, and the kind and amount of allowance and expenses to be reimbursed. The Requested State must extend the invitation to the person sought and promptly notify the Requesting State of the person's reply.

Article 11 provides for the voluntary transfer to the Requesting State of a person in custody in the Requested State for any form of assistance, e.g., identification or testimony, if the Requested State consents. The article further sets forth the authority and the obligation of the Requesting State to keep the person in custody and return the person, regardless of nationality, to the Requested State. Provision is made that the person be returned before the expiration of his or her sentence rather than be released in the Requesting State.

Article 12 makes similar provision for the voluntary transfer of a person in custody in the Requesting State to the Requested State for any form of assistance under the Treaty.

Article 13 guarantees that a person traveling to either the Requesting or Requested State pursuant to Article 10, 11, or 12 will not be subject to service of process, detained or otherwise restricted for any act or conviction which occurred before transfer to the other State. Such safe conduct ceases when the person leaves the State and voluntarily returns or after 10 days notice in writing that his or her presence is no longer required in the receiving State.

Article 14 states that the Requested State shall provide the Requesting State with copies of publicly available records in the possession of a government office or agency. The Requested State may further provide copies of other records in the possession of a government office or agency that are not publicly available to the same extent and under the same conditions as it would to its own law enforcement and judicial authorities. The article requires official authentication of documents furnished, using a form appended to the Treaty and confirms their admissibility in evidence in the Requesting State if so authenticated.

Article 15 requires the Requesting State to return any documents or evidence furnished in the execution of the request as soon as possible after their purpose has been served unless other arrangements are made.

UNCLASSIFIED

Article 16 obligates each State to execute requests for search, seizure and transfer to the Requesting State of any object in accordance with and to the extent permitted under the laws of the Requested State. The article also establishes a mechanism for ensuring the admissibility of the items produced or seized under the Treaty by certification of certain facts necessary to establish the chain of custody of the items produced, including the circumstances of the seizure. Identity of the item seized, its condition and continued possession. The article further provides for the protection of any rights of third parties to such items.

Article 17 requires the Requested State to make best efforts to locate a person believed to be in its territory and to communicate the results to the Requesting State as soon as possible.

Article 18 obligates the Requested State to effect service of any document related to a request properly made. The Requested State retains discretion to decline to serve any subpoena or other process requiring a person to appear before a court or authority in the Requesting State. The article further requires that any request for the service of a document requiring a person to appear in the Requesting State be transmitted a reasonable time before the scheduled appearance.

Article 19 provides that the Treaty does not impede any assistance or procedure available under other international conventions or arrangements or under the domestic laws of the Parties.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

Article 20 provides a mechanism for one Central Authority to notify the other when it believes the proceeds of a criminal offense are located in the territory of the other State. The article further provides that, to the extent permitted by their respective laws and this Treaty, the Parties shall assist each other in proceedings relating to the forfeiture of the proceeds of criminal offenses, restitution to the victims of crime, and the collection of fines imposed as a sentence in criminal prosecutions.

Article 21 provides that the Treaty shall enter into force upon the exchange of the instruments of ratification. It further provides for termination to be effective six months after written notice of termination is given by one State and received by the other.

A Technical Analysis explaining in detail the provisions of the Treaty is being prepared by the United States negotiating delegation, consisting of representatives from the Departments of Justice and State, and will be transmitted separately to the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

The Department of Justice joins the Department of State in favoring approval of this Treaty by the Senate as soon as possible.

Respectfully submitted,

PRESIDENT'S MEETING WITH GUATEMALAN PRESIDENT JORGE SERRANO ELIAS
SCENESETTER

Significance of Meeting

-- Meeting with Serrano will provide an opportunity for the two presidents to meet for the first time since Serrano took office in January and will be important to bolster his stature within Guatemala, particularly with the country's military. You will have a chance to express U.S. support for Serrano's bold peace initiative and concern for the serious human rights abuses that still plague Guatemala. You spoke by telephone with President Serrano on June 11.

Economic Situation

-- Serrano is facing a threat to economic stability from the effects of a severe drought. The lack of rainfall has crippled the country's hydro-electric energy system which accounts for approximately 50% of capacity. Crop damage will also affect the agricultural sector, a primary source of export earnings.

-- The situation is not completely bleak. Serrano inherited an economy with runaway inflation, dangerously low foreign currency reserves, and a severe budget crisis. He moved decisively to cut public sector spending. He freed exchange rate controls and thereby restored confidence in the currency and succeeded in arresting flight capital from Guatemala. Serrano's fiscal reform package, if passed, will render the tax code more equitable and provide for a broader tax base.

-- The Guatemalan government has not yet successfully negotiated a standby agreement with the International Monetary Fund (IMF). It is working to prepare a plan to clear arrears to the IMF that total approximately $120 million. Once those arrears are paid, the way should be open to substantial new flows of investment capital.

Peace Talks

-- Serrano accelerated the peace talks between the Government of Guatemala and the representatives of the URNG guerrilla umbrella organization that had floundered in the last months of the previous administration. He succeeded in April 1991 in having members of the military sit down at the same table with the guerrillas for the first time to discuss ways to end the protracted insurgency and address the social problems that have fueled it. There have been three rounds of talks, which have resulted in an accord on democratization signed in Queretaro, Mexico, on July 25. The fourth round held September 20-22 was inconclusive.

Narcotics

-- Guatemalan cooperation in efforts to interdict drug trafficking (cocaine) and eradicate production of drugs (opium and marijuana) has been good. The visit by Governor Martinez in July emphasized your interest in this aspect of our bilateral relations. There are, however, several long-pending requests before Guatemalan courts for the extradition of drug traffickers and growing concern that a reinterpretation of our extradition treaty may not allow for the extradition of Guatemalan citizens to the United States.

Human Rights

-- Guatemala's dismal human rights record has made all forms of U.S. foreign assistance problematical. Lack of progress in the investigation of the murder of an American citizen, Michael Devine, led to the suspension by us of all U.S. military assistance on December 21, 1990, before Serrano took office. (Due to strong congressional opposition it only amounted to $2.89 million in FY 91.) If the Administration had not taken the initiative, Congress would have. We continue to press for justice to be done, while still maintaining our desire to resume a normal relationship with the Guatemalan military when conditions improve. Nevertheless, there is some disturbing news that two officers implicated in the Devine killing have been set free and restored to their positions. Political killings have increased and while there is no concrete information to suggest the military or police are behind this, there is little evidence of a government will to correct them. We had to fight a difficult rear-guard effort to keep Congress from heavily conditioning most of Guatemala's economic assistance over human rights abuses this year.

Belize

-- Serrano has exposed himself politically by courageously recognizing neighboring Belize as an independent state, which should lead to a settlement of the 150-year-old Guatemalan claim on the territory. Serrano deserves praise for this effort.

Personal

-- President Serrano's mother is hospitalized at Methodist Hospital in Houston. He visited her before travelling to New York.

MEETING WITH GUATEMALAN PRESIDENT JORGE SERRANO ELIAS
POINTS TO BE MADE

Peace Talks

-- I applaud your leadership in the current peace talks being held under the auspices of the National Reconciliation Commission. The agreement on democratization was an important step.

-- I hope that the next round of peace talks in Caracas can accomplish a similar agreement on human rights.

Belize

-- As we have stated publicly, we salute your efforts to settle the long-standing Belize dispute. Your statesmanlike action will benefit the peace and stability of the region.

-- (IF ASKED) I appreciate that connecting the undeveloped interior of Guatemala with paved roads to the Caribbean via Belize would be an important long-term infrastructure development goal, but we must look at our global commitments and humanitarian requirements. I encourage other potential donors and international financial institutions to support such an undertaking.

Narcotics

-- I appreciate the cooperation of the Government of Guatemala in programs for opium and marijuana eradication as well as the pilot project (Cadence) to interdict drug traffickers transitting Guatemala.

-- We need to build on our current efforts with greater cooperation in the field of interdiction and money laundering.

-- Our war on drugs is predicated on the vigorous prosecution of drug-related crime. I would welcome tough, effective prosecution under a strengthened Guatemalan narcotics law.

-- Extradition is a powerful weapon against traffickers. We hope that the Attorney General is successful in persuading the Constitutional Court not to limit this procedure.

Human Rights

-- I know you inherited a difficult human rights situation. Still Congress and the public perceive of Guatemala as a country where human rights violations occur too frequently and military perpetrators are rarely punished.

-- I look with concern on the rising level of violence and the continuing belief in their impunity of military officers.

-- The investigations of the murder of Michael Devine and the abduction of Sister Diana Ortiz, both American citizens, must be speedily concluded. I hope that the killing of the National Police officer in charge of the Homicide Division does not put an end to the investigation of the murder of Myrna Mack Chang.

-- Workers rights are also a serious concern for my administration. We rejected the petitions for GSP review this year, but must see some substantial progress if we are to continue to hold them off. Benefits to Guatemala under the Generalized System of Preferences and the Caribbean Basin Initiative are at risk if a review should become necessary.

Military Relations

-- I am dismayed to hear that, in spite of seemingly overwhelming incriminating testimony, the Army captain accused of authorizing the murder of American citizen Michael Devine is again a free man, as are the two colonels who were allegedly involved in the crime.

-- We will not be able to make any move toward reestablishing a more normal military-to-military relationship, and resumption of sales of needed equipment and parts, until those responsible for this heinous crime are brought to justice and the level of political violence is reduced.

Economic Assistance

-- We have signed an agreement on the use of Economic Support Fund monies to assist in assembling an arrears clearing

package with the international financial institutions. ESF disbursement for Guatemala is held pending an agreement between Guatemala and the International Monetary Fund.

-- I believe that the payment of Guatemala's arrears to the International Financial Institutions will lead to significant new flows of capital for infrastructure investment, including electrical generation capacity.

-- We recognize the sense of urgency you place on solving the energy crisis. I know that Ambassador Stroock has briefed you on the results of the visit by a team of experts that evaluated the situation.

-- Vigorous energy conservation is the only viable means to alleviate the shortfall in the near term. Medium- and long-term solutions will require investment and tariff restructuring.

Intellectual Property Rights and Labor Reform

-- Intellectual Property Rights protection is an integral part of the movement to FTAs. It is also a current obligation under the international copyright convention. We did accept a petition for review based on allegations by the Motion Picture Export Association of America of copyright infringement by the Guatemalan cable industry.

-- I hope that the Government of Guatemala will be able to address these concerns so that our review is positive and that no trade sanctions need be imposed.

-- I believe that enactment of the labor code reform bill now before the Congress would go far in dealing with issues raised by labor leaders.

You spoke by telephone with President Serrano on June 11.

Economic Situation

-- Serrano is facing a threat to economic stability from the effects of a severe drought. The lack of rainfall has crippled the country's hydro-electric energy system which accounts for approximately 50% of capacity. Crop damage will also affect the agricultural sector, a primary source of export earnings.

-- The situation is not completely bleak. Serrano inherited an economy with runaway inflation, dangerously low foreign currency reserves, and a severe budget crisis. He moved decisively to cut public sector spending. He freed exchange rate controls and thereby restored confidence in the currency and succeeded in arresting flight capital from Guatemala. Serrano's fiscal reform package, if passed, will render the tax code more equitable and provide for a broader tax base.

-- The Guatemalan government has not yet successfully negotiated a standby agreement with the International Monetary Fund (IMF). It is working to prepare a plan to clear arrears to the IMF that total approximately $120 million. Once those arrears are paid, the way should be open to substantial new flows of investment capital.

Peace Talks

-- Serrano accelerated the peace talks between the Government of Guatemala and the representatives of the URNG guerrilla umbrella organization that had floundered in the last months of the previous administration. He succeeded in April 1991 in having members of the military sit down at the same table with the guerrillas for the first time to discuss ways to end the protracted insurgency and address the social problems that have fueled it. There have been three rounds of talks, which have resulted in an accord on democratization signed in Queretaro, Mexico, on July 25. The fourth round held September 20-22 was inconclusive.

Narcotics

-- Guatemalan cooperation in efforts to interdict drug trafficking (cocaine) and eradicate production of drugs (opium and marijuana) has been good. The visit by Governor Martinez in July emphasized your interest in this aspect of our bilateral relations. There are, however, several long-pending requests before Guatemalan courts for the extradition of drug traffickers and growing concern that a reinterpretation of our extradition treaty may not allow for the extradition of Guatemalan citizens to the United States.

Human Rights

-- Guatemala's dismal human rights record has made all forms of U.S. foreign assistance problematical. Lack of progress in the investigation of the murder of an American citizen, Michael Devine, led to the suspension by us of all U.S. military assistance on December 21, 1990, before Serrano took office. (Due to strong congressional opposition it only amounted to $2.89 million in FY 91.) If the Administration had not taken the initiative, Congress would have. We continue to press for justice to be done, while still maintaining our desire to resume a normal relationship with the Guatemalan military when conditions improve. Nevertheless, there is some disturbing news that two officers implicated in the Devine killing have been set free and restored to their positions. Political killings have increased and while there is no concrete information to suggest the military or police are behind this, there is little evidence of a government will to correct them. We had to fight a difficult rear-guard effort to keep Congress from heavily conditioning most of Guatemala's economic assistance over human rights abuses this year.

Belize

-- Serrano has exposed himself politically by courageously recognizing neighboring Belize as an independent state, which should lead to a settlement of the 150-year-old Guatemalan claim on the territory. Serrano deserves praise for this effort.

Personal

-- President Serrano's mother is hospitalized at Methodist Hospital in Houston. He visited her before travelling to New York.

MEETING WITH GUATEMALAN PRESIDENT JORGE SERRANO ELIAS
POINTS TO BE MADE

Peace Talks

-- I applaud your leadership in the current peace talks being held under the auspices of the National Reconciliation Commission. The agreement on democratization was an important step.

-- I hope that the next round of peace talks in Caracas can accomplish a similar agreement on human rights.

Belize

-- As we have stated publicly, we salute your efforts to settle the long-standing Belize dispute. Your statesmanlike action will benefit the peace and stability of the region.

-- (IF ASKED) I appreciate that connecting the undeveloped interior of Guatemala with paved roads to the Caribbean via Belize would be an important long-term infrastructure development goal, but we must look at our global commitments and humanitarian requirements. I encourage other potential donors and international financial institutions to support such an undertaking.

Narcotics

-- I appreciate the cooperation of the Government of Guatemala in programs for opium and marijuana eradication as well as the pilot project (Cadence) to interdict drug traffickers transitting Guatemala.

-- We need to build on our current efforts with greater cooperation in the field of interdiction and money laundering.

-- Our war on drugs is predicated on the vigorous prosecution of drug-related crime. I would welcome tough, effective prosecution under a strengthened Guatemalan narcotics law.

-- Extradition is a powerful weapon against traffickers. We hope that the Attorney General is successful in persuading the Constitutional Court not to limit this procedure.

Human Rights

-- I know you inherited a difficult human rights situation. Still Congress and the public perceive of Guatemala as a country where human rights violations occur too frequently and military perpetrators are rarely punished.

-- I look with concern on the rising level of violence and the continuing belief in their impunity of military officers.

-- The investigations of the murder of Michael Devine and the abduction of Sister Diana Ortiz, both American citizens, must be speedily concluded. I hope that the killing of the National Police officer in charge of the Homicide Division does not put an end to the investigation of the murder of Myrna Mack Chang.

-- Workers rights are also a serious concern for my administration. We rejected the petitions for GSP review this year, but must see some substantial progress if we are to continue to hold them off. Benefits to Guatemala under the Generalized System of Preferences and the Caribbean Basin Initiative are at risk if a review should become necessary.

Military Relations

-- I am dismayed to hear that, in spite of seemingly overwhelming incriminating testimony, the Army captain accused of authorizing the murder of American citizen Michael Devine is again a free man, as are the two colonels who were allegedly involved in the crime.

-- We will not be able to make any move toward reestablishing a more normal military-to-military relationship, and resumption of sales of needed equipment and parts, until those responsible for this heinous crime are brought to justice and the level of political violence is reduced.

Economic Assistance

-- We have signed an agreement on the use of Economic Support Fund monies to assist in assembling an arrears clearing

package with the international financial institutions. ESF disbursement for Guatemala is held pending an agreement between Guatemala and the International Monetary Fund.

-- I believe that the payment of Guatemala's arrears to the International Financial Institutions will lead to significant new flows of capital for infrastructure investment, including electrical generation capacity.

-- We recognize the sense of urgency you place on solving the energy crisis. I know that Ambassador Stroock has briefed you on the results of the visit by a team of experts that evaluated the situation.

-- Vigorous energy conservation is the only viable means to alleviate the shortfall in the near term. Medium- and long-term solutions will require investment and tariff restructuring.

Intellectual Property Rights and Labor Reform

-- Intellectual Property Rights protection is an integral part of the movement to FTAs. It is also a current obligation under the international copyright convention. We did accept a petition for review based on allegations by the Motion Picture Export Association of America of copyright infringement by the Guatemalan cable industry.

-- I hope that the Government of Guatemala will be able to address these concerns so that our review is positive and that no trade sanctions need be imposed.

-- I believe that enactment of the labor code reform bill now before the Congress would go far in dealing with issues raised by labor leaders.

Peace Negotiations

- The New York Accords of September 25 address the FMLN's security during reintegration into Salvadoran society. We believe that a cease-fire is in sight.

  -- SYG Perez de Cuellar stated that "the Gordian knot has been untied". His direct involvement and that of President Cristiani were crucial to the breakthrough.

  -- Compliance with agreements is to be supervised by a Commission for the Consolidation of the Peace (COPAZ), made up of representatives of the GOES, FMLN and the political parties, with Catholic Church and UN observers.

  -- The Legislative Assembly unanimously ratified constitutional reforms on human rights September 11 and electoral reforms September 25. (The Mexico package also includes judicial reforms, to be ratified October 23.)

Democratization

- The best evidence that democratization continues is that the March 10 legislative and municipal elections were a victory for national reconciliation. Leftist parties won seats in the country's expanded legislature and the ARENA party lost its majority (while retaining a plurality).

- The FMLN has since begun preparations to enter the 1994 presidential elections directly.

Human Rights

- The peace agreements are expected to contain a variety of human-rights reforms and monitoring mechanisms.

  -- The UN special rapporteur has emphasized that military respect for human rights has steadily improved since the early 1980's.

  -- The FMLN has often committed human rights violations, including assassination, attacks using poor control of firepower resulting in civilian deaths, torture, and disappearances. The FMLN also attacks civilian targets and uses civilians as shields during attacks.

The Jesuit Case

- The guilty verdict against the colonel accused of ordering the murders and a lieutenant represents the first conviction of a high-ranking officer for a human rights abuse and is a milestone marking the beginning of the end of the impunity of Salvadoran military officers from justice.

  -- The working-class jury apparently made a distinction between the ordering and the carrying out of the murders, and found seven lower-ranking soldiers not guilty. These soldiers await verdicts on lesser charges.

National Reconstruction

- We believe that the time is right to resume aid to El Salvador due to progress in peace talks, democratization, and human rights.

  -- The GOES will ask donors to help implement its National Reconstruction Plan.

  -- The plan will concentrate on improving employment, infrastructure, and social services. It will be aimed at demobilized ex-combatants, displaced persons and refugees, and people in war-torn areas of the country.

  -- The plan will consist of an initial emergency phase lasting about a year, followed by a medium-term phase.

  -- There will also be increased opportunities to support UN, World Bank, IMF, and other multilateral efforts.

  -- The United Nations will also be deeply involved in cease-fire and human rights monitoring, providing more opportunities for engagement via the UN.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

SUSPENSION OF FMF

Concerns for human rights abuses, particularly the murder by military personnel of American citizen Michael Devine in June 1990, led to a decision by the Administration to suspend all military assistance deliveries on December 21, 1990. Current and projected IMET training was exempted. President Serrano reacted very bitterly to the conditions we set in January 1991 for the resumption of military assistance.

We can only reconsider restoring military assistance and resume sales of needed equipment as soon as those responsible for the murder of American citizen, Michael Devine, and military elements responsible for other notorious human rights abuses are brought to justice. [redacted] indicated B1,A5 that the army is returning implicated military officers to duty.

- This judicial action should include thorough investigaions, indictments and verdicts. For our purposes, an indictment is handed down when the juez de sentencia formally charges the accused.

ASSISTANCE ISSUES

Serrano is facing a serious threat to economic and political stability from the effects of a severe drought. The lack of rainfall has crippled the country's hydro-electric energy system which accounts for approximately 50 per cent of production. Over the medium-term, crop damage will also affect the agricultural sector, a primary source of export earnings.

The Guatemalan government has signed an ESF agreement with the USG to use $ 50 millions to clear arrears with the International Financial Institutions. They are seeking the balance, approximately $ 70 millions, from other donors, most notably Mexico and Venezuela.

- There is concern that Serrano will press for immediate disbursal of the $ 50 millions rather than wait for an IMF agreement as stipulated in the ESF agreement.

VI. CONCLUSION 93

I. INTRODUCTION

On the morning of September 21, 1976, as Orlando Letelier drove to work through Sheridan Circle in Washington, D.C., a bomb attached to the underside of his car exploded, killing him and Ronni Moffitt, who happened to be riding in his car that day. Mrs. Moffitt's husband, Michael Moffitt, also in the car, was injured but survived.

An extensive investigation by the United States Government concluded that agents of the Chilean secret police were responsible for the assassination. In April 1988, after the families of the victims had exhausted all other avenues to obtain compensation for their injuries, the Government of the United States made a demand on the Government of Chile for compensation for the losses of the United States Government resulting from the bombing and for the losses sustained by those individuals directly affected.

On June 11, 1990, the Governments of the United States and Chile agreed to a resolution of the dispute between them concerning responsibility for these events, as embodied in the Agreement between the United States of America and the Republic of Chile (hereafter the "Agreement").[1/]

The Agreement provides as the sole task of the Commission established under the 1914 Treaty for the Settlement of the Disputes that May Occur Between the United States and Chile[2/] ("International Commission" or "Commission") the determination of the amount of payment the Government of Chile will make, ex gratia, pursuant to the Agreement.

The Agreement provides in relevant part:

> The United States has sought compensation from Chile on behalf of the families of Letelier and Moffitt, on the ground that the United States considers the State of Chile is legally responsible under international law for the deaths of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt and the personal injuries to Michael Moffitt. Without admitting liability, the Government of Chile . . . is willing to make an ex gratia payment . . . to the Government of the United States of America, to be received on behalf of the families of the victims.
> The Governments of the United States and Chile agree that the amount of the ex gratia payment should be equal to that which would be due if liability were established. . . . [T]he amount of compensation to be paid shall be the sole question to be determined by the Commission.

Agreement, ¶¶ 3, 4. The Compromis, attached to and made a part

---

[1/]The Agreement is attached as USG Exhibit 1. (The USG Exhibits are located in Volume II of this presentation.) The United States Government does not assert herein any claims for its losses. Upon Chile's payment of the amount determined by this International Commission, the United States will regard as satisfied all civil claims of the United States in regard to this matter. Agreement, ¶ 6.

[2/]6 Bevans 550, Treaty Series 621.

UNCLASSIFIED

of the Agreement, provides that the amount of compensation is to be determined in accordance with applicable principles of international law, as though liability were established. Compromis, ¶ 4.

Thus, the question before the Commission is the amount of compensation which is due under principles of international law for the wrongful deaths of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt and for the personal injuries to Michael Moffitt, as if liability had been established.

Specifically, international law allows compensation for lost financial contributions and household services the decedent would have provided to his or her family members, compensation for mental or psychological injury (moral damage) suffered, expenses incurred as a result of the wrongful act, and interest on these amounts for the delay in payment of compensation. This presentation will first describe, in the section entitled "Factual Background," the assassination and the effect it has had on individual family members. The next section "Legal Principles" sets forth the applicable law, demonstrating that the families are entitled to compensation for their monetary losses and the mental and psychological injuries they have suffered, and for the direct expenses incurred as a result of the assassinations. The following section, "Amount of Compensation Due under Principles of International Law," quantifies the amount to which the families are entitled for each element of their claims. The "Interest" section demonstrates interest must be awarded to compensate for the fifteen year delay in payment of compensation. Finally, the "Conclusion" summarizes the amounts claimed for each of the various elements.

The individuals on whose behalf these claims are presented are: Isabel Morel de Letelier, the widow of Orlando Letelier; Mr. Letelier's four sons; Ronni Moffitt's parents, Hilda and Murray Karpen; and Michael Moffitt.[3/]

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

This case is not an ordinary wrongful death claim -- the deaths did not result from negligence or the isolated criminal act of a private citizen. The assassinations were masterminded by agents of the Chilean secret police over an extended period of time, and executed by means of a bomb on a crowded Washington, D.C. street in complete disregard of human life. The amount of the award must reflect the egregious circumstances accompanying this act of terrorism.[4/]

---

[3/]Hereafter, the term "families" when used in this presentation in the context of those who are entitled to compensation means Michael Moffitt both as a direct victim of the bombing and as a spouse of an individual killed in the incident, Isabel Morel de Letelier, the Letelier's four sons, and Ronni Moffitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karpen.

[4/]See infra section III(A).

UNCLASSIFIED

In order to understand the magnitude of the families' loss, it is necessary to know something of their lives before the assassination. This presentation begins with Michael Moffitt's account, as it sets forth the details of the bombing from the first-hand experience of its only survivor.

A. Michael Moffitt

Michael Moffitt has lived and relived the bombing countless times since September 21, 1976. He has felt the impact of the bomb detonating; heard the deafening blast of the explosion; felt the intense heat; smelled the stench of burning flesh and hair. Affidavit of Michael Moffitt, attached hereto as USG Exhibit 2 (hereafter "Moffitt Affidavit") at 7. He has tried desperately to do something to help as his friend and mentor, Orlando Letelier, draws his last breaths. He stands, on the sidewalk at Sheridan circle, watching, helpless and horrified, as his wife slowly suffocates in her own blood. Id. at 8.

The physical wounds suffered by Michael were not permanent; the psychological wounds were and continue to be immense.

After graduating from college in 1973, Michael Moffitt accepted a position at the Institute for Policy Studies (hereafter "IPS") in Washington, D.C.[5/] In early 1975, he met

[5/] The Institute for Policy Studies is a nonprofit educational institute that brings together scholars, students and leaders of government, politics and other disciplines. IPS holds conferences and seminars and assists in the publication of books and articles.

Ronni Karpen, who also worked at IPS, and his life began to change dramatically. Moffitt Affidavit at 1-2. Soon after they began dating, they were engaged to be married. Id. at 2.

Michael Moffitt began working closely with Orlando Letelier, initially as a researcher and later as his executive assistant. He found working with Orlando, a noted diplomat and respected intellectual who had recently come to the Institute, enormously exciting. Michael travelled nearly everywhere with Orlando, helping him choose his engagements, and through Orlando met many influential people. Id. at 2.

Michael and Ronni were married in May 1976. The ceremony and reception took place in her parents' back yard. Id. at 3. The newlyweds moved into a "clapboard house" in the Washington, D.C. suburbs. Id. at 3. Michael recalls "I felt truly happy for the first time in my life. Life was full and beautiful. It was Ronni, and professionally, Orlando, who changed my life so." Id. at 4. Ronni, always energetic, set to work making their house into a home. She hung curtains and planted a small flower garden. Together they painted the interior of their home and refinished old furniture. Id.

Michael was very proud of his wife's many talents and accomplishments. She played the flute and was an accomplished artist. Id. at 4. He also admired Ronni's commitment to help those who did not have the opportunities and the family love and support she enjoyed. For example, she combined her interest in music with her goal of making the world a better place by becoming one of the founders of "The Music Carry-Out" which provided access to musical instruments and evening entertainment in poorer areas of the city at no, or a very minimal, charge. Id. at 5.

In addition to her creative and artistic talents, Ronni was ambitious and intelligent. Although she started in a clerical position with IPS, she was promoted to IPS Fund Raising Coordinator shortly after their marriage. The promotion was accompanied by a substantial salary raise. Id. at 4.

In early September 1976, Michael was on top of the world. He was excited about his career and his work with Orlando. He had begun to build a life with a woman who was talented and loving. They shared many wonderful dreams for the future. Then, suddenly, it all came to an end on the morning of September 21, 1976.

The hours preceding the assassination seemed ordinary enough. On the evening of September 20, Ronni and Michael ate dinner at the Letelier home. After dinner Orlando and Michael worked until about midnight. Ronni and Michael's car was having problems, so they borrowed Orlando's car to go home at the end of the evening. As they drove home they were unaware of the explosive charge and radio detonator that the assassins had already installed on the undercarriage of Orlando's car. They returned the next morning to pick Orlando up for work. Michael offered to drive, but Orlando refused and got into the driver's seat. Michael remembers opening the door for Ronni, who took the front passenger's seat beside Orlando, while he climbed into the back seat. Id. at 6.

They reached the city. As they rounded a traffic circle near the center of the city, a blinding flash and a loud blast stunned Michael. The car flew upward through the air and crashed into a Volkswagen parked at the side of the street.[6/] When the car came to rest, Michael saw smoke everywhere. His shoes had been blown off and he felt intense heat. The most powerful sensory impression was the "overwhelming stench of burned flesh and hair." Id. at 7.

Michael found himself on his hands and knees in the back seat. At first he could feel nothing below the waist. He hoisted himself through a window which had blown out and toppled from the car, choking and gasping for air. Id. He looked immediately for Ronni and saw her stumbling to the side of the road.

6/ Photographs of the vehicle and the aftermath of the explosion are attached as USG Exhibit 3.

UNCLASSIFIED

Believing that Ronni was alright, Michael ran around to the front of the car to help Orlando. He saw a huge hole in the floor of the car. Orlando's body was turned around, facing the rear of the car, his head was rolling back and forth. Id. at 7-8. His eyes were open and moving a bit. Michael slapped him frantically and asked if Orlando could hear him. Orlando mumbled a few words that Michael did not understand. Michael tried to lift Orlando out of the car. He stopped. The bottom half of Orlando's body was gone. He remembers "gobs of flesh and bloody pieces of seat stuffing everywhere." Id. at 8. Michael states that the "sturdy six-foot man looked like a broken doll." Id.

Realizing that he could not help Orlando, Michael looked again for Ronni. She was lying on the ground in front of one of the Embassies along the circle. He rushed over to her - the sight filled him with horror. Blood gushed from Ronni's mouth and her stomach was extremely distended. An off-duty doctor on the scene was standing over Ronni trying to stem the flow of blood from the artery in her neck. Events began to blur. Michael remembers police rushing over to them and trying to pull the doctor away from Ronni. Michael became hysterical and charged desperately toward the police officer. Id. at 8. He remembers thinking the police were going to shoot him. Id. at 8-9.

UNCLASSIFIED

By the time the ambulance arrived, the gravity of Ronni's wounds was apparent. Michael was afraid to leave Ronni for even a moment. He pleaded for permission to ride to the hospital in the ambulance with Ronni, but it was refused. In fear and desperation, Michael began screaming. He was taken separately to George Washington Hospital's emergency room where a piece of metal was removed from his breastplate and his wounds and burns were treated. Id. at 9. Still he was not able to see Ronni. He frantically demanded information on her condition, but no one would tell him anything specific. The nurse gave him sedatives. Id.

Waiting for news, he was filled with feelings of anger and helplessness. He spoke with a priest and asked him for help. He pleaded for God to spare Ronni's life. Id.

The police returned to question Michael. He feared his wife was dead. Finally, the questioning complete, the doctor confirmed it - Ronni and Orlando were both dead. Id. He realized he had seen Ronni for the last time. He was very cold. Id. at 10.

The day continued in a painful blur. Michael saw Orlando's widow, Isabel, at the hospital. She was completely devastated. He suffered the painful ordeal of calling Ronni's parents. Afterward, he went to the FBI and related the events of the bombing again and again in painstaking detail. At the time he was in shock. Id. at 10.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

Not until days later did Michael begin to realize how completely the happiness he had found had been destroyed by the assassin's bomb. It took from him his wife, his friend and mentor, and his sense of well-being. Id. at 10-11.

He went to stay with Ronni's parents, hoping that they would be able to comfort and care for each other. However, Ronni's parents were also completely destroyed by their daughter's death; the sadness was unbearable. He had to leave. Id. at 11.

Michael states that the next four years were the most difficult years of his life. Id. He could not sleep and cried frequently. He suffered from guilt and overwhelming anger. He was completely preoccupied with efforts to obtain justice and worked incessantly on the case. Yet each time he went over the case with another lawyer, investigator or potential financial supporter, he relived in vivid detail the horror of the incident. Id.

The trials, civil and criminal, were an ordeal for him. The FBI did an exhaustive investigation into Ronni and Michael's personal lives. Rumors about Ronni and Orlando were spread, which Michael found necessary to refute. Ronni was cast as Orlando's secretary or worse as his lover. Persistent rumors of her involvement in a leftist plot to bomb the Chilean Embassy outraged him. Id. at 13.

Michael was completely obsessed by the first criminal trial in 1979, such that he could not find the time to visit his ailing father. Id. at 14. During the trial, Michael's father died. Michael believes that seeing the effects of the murder on his son broke his father's heart and caused him to lose his will to live. Id. After the first trial, Michael stayed in bed for a week. He had no will to get up; no will to participate in life. Id.

Today Michael is still consumed by a need to set the record straight - a need to see justice done despite how painful it is to relive the experience over and over again. attempt to leave no path untried in the quest for justice for the murder of his wife and Orlando. Id. at 13.

B. The Karpens

Ronni was Hilda and Murray Karpen's oldest child and their only daughter. Her murder shattered their lives.

Hilda and Murray Karpen met in high school and were married soon afterward. They both worked in Murray's father's delicatessen. Affidavit of Hilda Karpen, attached hereto as USG Exhibit 5 (hereafter "H. Karpen Affidavit") at 1. In 1951 their first child, Ronni, was born. Id. at 2. From a young age, Ronni possessed a cheerful disposition. Hilda recalls "even as a child she had such a grace, a gift for happiness that brought joy to everyone around her." Id.

As Ronni grew older, Hilda developed a very close relationship with her daughter. Ronni was her mother's confidant - the sister Hilda never had. The Karpens had begun to see the fruit of their love and sacrifices in Ronni, who as a young adult was doing the things that they had only dreamed of doing. She had graduated from college and was pursuing a professional career. They lived vicariously through her. The Karpens were very proud of Ronni's recent promotion to Fund Raiser at IPS and had just bought her a briefcase to use in her new position. Id. at 1-2.

On the morning of September 21, 1976, Hilda was busy and excited, getting ready for the Jewish holiday of Rosh Hashana and the upcoming visit of Ronni and her new husband, Michael. Then, in the midst of her holiday preparations, the horrible news hit. Ronni had been killed by an assassin's bomb. Id. at 1.

The Karpens were devastated by their daughter's death. Hilda states that with Ronni's death, "a big piece of me died." Id. at 2. Murray observed "there is nothing worse for a parent to suffer or endure than the loss of a child. Nothing." Affidavit of Murray Karpen, attached hereto as USG Exhibit 6 (hereafter "M. Karpen Affidavit") at 3.

Murray and Hilda were constantly forced to reconfront the horrible circumstances of Ronni's death. Reporters hounded them at the funeral, called them at their home, and sought them out wherever they went for months afterward. Id. at 1.

After the period of mourning, Murray went back to work hoping it would take his mind off his grief. It didn't. His work could not prevent Murray from dwelling on his daughter's murder and the horrific pain she suffered. Id. at 2. Murray could no longer sleep. Images from Ronni's wedding just months earlier kept running through his mind. Id. at 2. She had been so happy and so alive then. Now she was dead.

Time has not eased the Karpens' pain. They continue to grieve for the daughter who will not give them grandchildren, who cannot realize the dreams they left for her to fulfill, and who will not be with them in their old age. They have not come to terms with the senselessness of their only daughter's death. Time will not heal their wounds. Hilda expresses her grief: "[f]ourteen years have passed since that day. C. Isabel Morel de Letelier

Isabel Morel was born in Chile in January 1932. While a student, she met Orlando Letelier. They shared many common interests, such as music and politics. They fell in love and when she was 23, Isabel and Orlando were married. Affidavit of Isabel Letelier, attached hereto as USG Exhibit 8 (hereafter "I. Letelier Affidavit") at 1, 2; [redacted] B6

In the early years, the Leteliers enjoyed a happy and close relationship. [redacted] I. Letelier Affidavit at 1-3. Although they suffered the sadness of the miscarriage of Isabel's first pregnancy, they celebrated the birth of their son Christian the following year. Jose was born a year later in 1958, Francisco in 1959, and Juan Pablo in 1961. [redacted]

Politics became a major aspect of Orlando and Isabel's life together. I. Letelier Affidavit at 3. Orlando supported Salvador Allende in the 1958 presidential election. When Allende lost the election, Orlando lost his job in the Department of Mines. [redacted] Isabel states "my life which had been so calm and quiet was never so again." Id. He and Isabel, who was pregnant at the time, and their two small children moved to Venezuela, where Orlando had been offered a job with the Volmer Group - an important economic group. I. Letelier Affidavit at 3. After only a few months in Venezuela, however, Orlando accepted a job in Washington, D.C. at the Inter-American Development Bank. Id. at 3-4.

In late 1960 the Letelier family moved to Washington, D.C. Id. They settled into Washington, D.C. and remained there for twelve years. Although they were not in their native Chile, these were busy and happy years for the Letelier family. Id. at 4. The Leteliers lived in a nice home in the Washington, D.C. suburbs, and also owned a small farm with horses in the Shenandoah Valley. Id. Their sons attended good schools and the family traveled frequently. Id.

When their sons were young, Orlando coached their soccer teams. Id. at 7. He taught them Chilean history and Spanish. Id. He was close to his sons and served as their mentor and role model. Id. at 3. He liked to garden and to work on carpentry projects, to build things for their home. Id. at 7.

Orlando's career with the bank flourished. I. Letelier Affidavit at 4. Orlando enjoyed his work, and he felt he was making an important contribution to Latin America. Id. Isabel taught Spanish, first at the Foreign Service Institute and later at Georgetown University. Id. She sculpted and painted in her free time.

After Salvador Allende's election as President of Chile in 1970, Orlando was appointed Ambassador to the United States. Id. The family moved into the Embassy with all the attendant benefits. Id. Their lives were intertwined with those of many distinguished and stimulating people. Id.

In 1973 Orlando was recalled to Chile to serve as a Cabinet Minister and Isabel and the children were again uprooted. Gordon Evaluation at 5. Isabel and Orlando supported each other in these tense and difficult times. Id. at 6.

On September 11, 1973, the day the coup ousted the Allende Government, Orlando was arrested and imprisoned. I. Letelier Affidavit at 5. He was held incommunicado and Isabel frantically attempted to determine if he was still alive or what his condition was. Id. For a year he was incarcerated, the majority of the time on Dawson Island, a penal colony in southern Chile not far from the Antarctic circle. Trial Testimony of Isabel Letelier attached as Exhibit 1 to the "Analysis of the Economic Loss of the Family of Orlando Letelier," attached as USG Exhibit 15 (hereafter "I. Letelier Testimony") at 12, 13. Many of Orlando's former colleagues and friends were executed. Isabel feared for Orlando's life. I. Letelier Affidavit at 5. The Letelier bank account was frozen and Isabel had to sell personal belongings to feed the family. The military government held her under house arrest for a month and a half. Id.

In September 1974, Orlando was released from prison and immediately expelled from Chile to Venezuela. I. Letelier Affidavit at 5. Isabel set to work trying to mend the physical and psychological wounds inflicted upon the family by Orlando's imprisonment and to bring some semblance of normalcy to their lives. [redacted] As they were getting settled in Venezuela, Orlando was asked to return to the United States to take a position at IPS. Id. at 6; I. Letelier Affidavit at 5. He accepted the offer and they returned to the United States in January 1975. I. Letelier Affidavit at 5. Orlando worked as Director of the Transnational Institute at IPS.[13/]

As Isabel's visa status did not permit her to obtain employment in the United States, she set up a non-profit foundation - the Chile Committee for Human Rights. She resumed her artwork and held a successful showing of her sculptures. Id. at 5-6.

Isabel and Orlando's sons were growing into men. Christian started college in 1975 and Jose in 1976. Affidavit of Christian Letelier, attached hereto as USG Exhibit 10 (hereafter "C. Letelier Affidavit") at 1; Affidavit of Jose I. O. Letelier, attached hereto as USG Exhibit 11 (hereafter "J. Letelier Affidavit") at 1. Through all these ups and downs, Isabel was always sustained by their shared commitment to the life and dreams she and Orlando had built. He was for her and their sons "our rock and our strength." I. Letelier Affidavit at 7. Isabel learned to make the best of changing political conditions, of hard times, of separations from Orlando and repeated moves around the hemisphere.

Isabel was crushed by Orlando's murder. I. Letelier Affidavit at 7. Although overwhelmed by grief and sorrow, she insisted on seeing Orlando's body. I. Letelier Affidavit at 1. She describes what she saw: "His lower torso was a mass of blood and charred skin. I could see the pain and surprise on his face. It is an image that I shall never forget - not even for a moment."[14/] Id.

Through their 20-year marriage Isabel had grown to depend on her husband, as a source of strength, companionship and social identity. See id. Orlando's assassination stole all of that from her. Overnight she became a single mother struggling to raise four children, without adequate financial resources to care for them, and without the help and emotional support of a husband. I. Her social life changed radically. With Orlando's death much of the international community rejected her and treated the Leteliers as pariahs. [ ] I. Letelier Affidavit at 8, 10. Many friends and acquaintances feared that association with her or the children would endanger their own lives and were hesitant to visit her. Id. at 8. She was lonely and alone. Id. at 9. She was unable to explain the isolation to her children. As Jose explained "to live in Washington, D.C. in the late 70's and to have the name Letelier was for all practical purpose, taboo; it was like having the plague." J. Letelier Affidavit at 1.

The family, which had always been very tight knit, began to disintegrate - the grief and trauma were more than they could bear. Id. at 10; see also Affidavit of Francisco Letelier, attached hereto as USG Exhibit 13 (hereafter "F. Letelier Affidavit") at 4-5. Juan Pablo and Francisco both went to work to earn money to support the household. Jose left the country to escape the memories. He was too distraught to stay and face life in Washington, D.C. I. Letelier Affidavit at 9. Christian moved to California because of his "need to be away to sort things out." C. Letelier Affidavit at 3.

Isabel describes the criminal trials as "another form of agony." I. Letelier Affidavit at 9. Isabel's life was linked to a man of immense stature and talent. She was deeply in love with him and had built her life around him and their family. She has expressed the loss in her own words:

> Orlando and I had so many dreams and plans. It is heartbreaking that all of them and all of us were destroyed in such a violent and terrible moment by a such a cruel and inhumane act. It ended my life as I knew it, and as I wished to live it.

The assassination deprived Orlando Letelier's children of a strong role model and provider - their source of guidance, direction, financial security, educational opportunities and affection. These events have had a lasting adverse impact on each of the Letelier children.

1. Overview

Orlando Letelier had been a figure of consistency and reassurance, both a Latin patriarch and a North American father. Id. The shock of the assassination shattered the family and Orlando's sons' sense that life has order and predictability. They lost the source of their economic security and the family's prestige. Id. at 2; see C. Letelier Affidavit at 3; J. Pablo Letelier Affidavit at 9. Friends were afraid to visit them and offers of jobs withdrawn. [ ] Their behavior was scrutinized in a way it had never been before; they were expected to live up to their role as "the sons of Orlando Letelier." Id. at 2.

Each of Orlando's sons has been affected by anger, depression and alienation, each withdrew from the "Letelier" family unit to escape from the events that dominated their lives and to preserve or develop a sense of personal identity. 2. Description

Orlando Letelier's sons were on the verge of or just entering adulthood when he was assassinated. Christian, the oldest, was 19; Juan Pablo, the youngest, was 15. The murder of their father deeply affected the course of their developments.

Each relied upon their father for guidance as he began to shape his future. Orlando Letelier had been there to help his sons plan for the future and guide them in a loving and understanding way. See C. Letelier Affidavit at 1. Christian, as the oldest son, hoped to follow in his father's footsteps as an international diplomat. Id. After the assassination, Christian found he was unable to pick up the career path that he and his father had planned. Id. at 3.

Orlando's moral guidance was apparent in his own view of the world, which he tried to impart to his sons. Christian states:

> My father had communicated to me his deeply felt sense of justice and order. The world of goodness, dedication and love toward fellow man that he had brought to me exploded with the bomb that brought his death.

Id. at 2.

In the summer preceding Orlando's death, Juan Pablo, Orlando's youngest son, recalls that he was just beginning to have a more adult relationship with his father -- he was realizing that his father could be his friend, as well as his source of guidance. There were many things he wanted to ask his father. But he never had the chance. J. Pablo Letelier Affidavit at 2. Now involved in politics himself, Juan Pablo misses the opportunity to look to his father as a mentor and advisor. Id. at 7-8.

Orlando Letelier's sons have suffered and continue to suffer deep pain and anger as the result of their father's assassination. Id. at 2; [ ] 86

Christian states:

> Not only were we forced to suffer the grief and humility of our father's life being taken by his political enemies, but were forced to deal with much more. . . . He was not a normal father but much more. He was an accomplished politician, leader, intellectual and above all else, a human being of unique humanity and depth.

C. Letelier Affidavit at 4. Juan Pablo, while missing the man he knew only in the family context, learned with time how important a public figure his father was -- a man of many accomplishments and great respect. J. Pablo Letelier Affidavit at 5.

The brutal manner of the assassination imparted a sense of terror and fear into their lives that Orlando's sons had not known before. J. Letelier Affidavit at 1. To Francisco, the assassination sent a message that there is no safety for those who speak their minds. F. Letelier Affidavit at 2.

Jose notes that this terror was felt even by those less closely associated with Orlando. Jose understood the feelings that motivated his employer to ask him not to return to his part-time job for security reasons. Others did not want to run the risk of sharing Ronni Moffitt's fate - killed only because she rode in Orlando's car that morning. J. Letelier Affidavit at 1. The Letelier sons saw their friends withdraw from them; they too feared association with the Letelier family. J. Pablo Letelier Affidavit at 3. Juan Pablo notes that his loneliness was compounded by the withdrawal of friends whose parents feared for their own children's safety. Id.

Christian lost a job in the import/export field when he was denied entry to Mexico because of his Chilean political status. C. Letelier Affidavit at 2. In the years following the assassination, such circumstances repeated themselves over and over. Jose found that he was denied opportunities simply because he was Orlando's son, where before the assassination being a "Letelier" was a source of possibilities. J. Letelier Affidavit at 2. Jose, finding it difficult to get a job in Washington, D.C. and unable to bear to be a financial burden on his mother decided to leave, like his brother Christian, to escape the constant reminders. Id.; see C. Letelier Affidavit at 3. The move helped somewhat, but did not alleviate his problems. The separation from his brothers and widowed mother in Washington, D.C. was very difficult. J. Letelier Affidavit at 2.

On the verge of adulthood, the loss of their father forced the sons to radically revise their plans and expectations for the future. F. Letelier Affidavit at 1; J. Letelier Affidavit at 2; C. Letelier Affidavit at 2. Francisco poured his life into his academic studies and into seeking financial security, shunning the social activities of persons his age. He, like his brothers, was unable to enjoy the early years of adulthood, which for most are among the best years of life. F. Letelier Affidavit at 2.

During his formative teen years, Juan Pablo also felt a great sense of loneliness; a feeling that he could no longer assimilate with his peers. J. Pablo Letelier Affidavit at 3. He laments the loss of his youth. He was forced by circumstance to accept responsibilities unusual for one of his young age, and felt pressured to prove that he was a worthy heir of Orlando Letelier. Id. at 5.

Each of Mr. Letelier's sons is afflicted with a burning need for justice. They suffered through the ordeal of the investigation, later the trials, and the family's ongoing quest for justice. See, e.g., C. Letelier Affidavit at 1. Christian recognizes that the assassination and its aftermath have caused him deep psychological injury which at this time he has been unable to even begin to deal with. Id. at 3.

In Chile, Juan Pablo Letelier has been an outspoken voice demanding justice in connection with his father's and Ronni Moffitt's assassination. He was jailed on several occasions, his house was ransacked and personal belongings stolen, Juan Pablo believes, as a result of these political activities. J. Pablo Letelier Affidavit at 7. The unresolved "Letelier case" is a sensitive and controversial issue in Chile, and sons of Orlando Letelier are a constant reminder of a painful and as yet unresolved past.

With the assassination, Francisco lost the ability to trust in anyone. F. Letelier Affidavit at 4. He states that he and his brothers have suffered in their ability to meet persons with whom they might develop close ties, able to get close only to those who have suffered similarly.[15/] Id.; [redacted] B6

The once close Letelier family lost its very foundation. They now lack the financial resources to get together physically. They have been able to reunite as a family only once since their father's death. F. Letelier Affidavit at 4. Francisco observes that "Orlando's murder deprived us of a father and husband but also of each other." Id. at 5.

Orlando Letelier's sons have suffered immense grief as a result of the brutal assassination of their father. Each has tried to pick up the shattered pieces of his life and move forward, but their past will forever dictate their emotions and feelings. They have all been forced to overcome tremendous burdens in an attempt to establish some sense of normalcy in each of their lives. [redacted] B6

III. LEGAL PRINCIPLES

A. General Principles of Compensation

Compensation is awarded to make an injured party as nearly whole as is possible. This universal legal principle is reflected in and confirmed by the decisions of international tribunals, the writings of legal scholars, and the practice of nations.[16/] As the Permanent Court of Justice stated in the Chorzow Factory case "reparation must, as far as possible, wipe out all the consequences of the illegal act and reestablish the situation which would, in all probability, have existed if that act had not been committed."[17/]

In keeping with the principle of full reparation, the question to be answered by the Commission is: What monetary (Ser A) No. 17, at 29; Opinion in the Lusitania Cases, (U.S. v. Ger.) reprinted in Decisions and Opinions of the Mixed Claims Commission 17, 21 (1928) ("The compensation must be adequate and balance as near as may be the injury suffered."); Selwyn Case (U.K. v. Venez.) reprinted in J. Ralston, Venezuelan Arbitrations of 1903 322, 325-326 (1904); Jimenez de Arechaga, El Derecho Internacional Contemporaneo (Contemporary International Law) 339 (ed. Technos 1980); U.S.S. Liberty claims, see infra note 21; see also Nash, Contemporary Practice of the United States Relating to International Law, 83 A.J.I.L. 561 (1989) (regarding claims arising out of Iraq's attack on the U.S.S. sum will come closest to fully compensating the families for the assassination of Mr. Letelier and Mrs. Moffitt, and Mr. Moffitt for his personal injuries?

The families' injuries and losses encompass lost financial support and services, mental suffering and psychological injury, psychiatric, medical, travel and other expenses, attorneys' fees incurred in the pursuit of civil and criminal justice, and the deprivation of compensation in the years since the murders.

The principle of full reparation can be easily applied with respect to pecuniary losses such as lost income or medical expenses. Other losses can be measured in monetary terms, such as the value of the decedent's financial contributions or services to his or her family.

In some instances, however, it is impossible to restore that which has been lost or otherwise to reestablish the status quo ante. Grief and suffering cannot be nullified. A monetary award cannot itself heal psychological injuries. However, as Grotius stated, "money is the common measure of valuable things,"18/ and an award of money is the closest to true reparation that can be achieved. Monetary compensation has 18/Umpire Parker cites Grotius with approval on this point in the Lusitania decision. Lusitania, at 19, citing Grotius, The Rights of War and Peace (Whewell trans., 1853).

thus been awarded by international tribunals for a wide variety of losses and damages, pecuniary as well as nonpecuniary.

International law authorities and precedents confirm that full compensation in a wrongful death case specifically includes compensation for the full range of injuries suffered by the families - - reparation for (i) lost financial contributions, (ii) loss of the decedent's services, and (iii) the shock and mental suffering of the family members resulting from the death.[19/] In particular, the leading Lusitania case awarded compensation for each of these injuries. This

(b) the pecuniary value to such claimant of the deceased's personal services in claimant's care, education, or supervision, and . . . (c) reasonable compensation for such mental suffering or shock, if any, caused by the violent severing of family ties, as claimant may actually have sustained by reason of such death.") See 1 M. Whiteman, Damages in International Law 704-16 (1937); F.V. Garcia-Amador, L. Sohn & R. Baxter, Recent Codification of the Law of State Responsibility for Injuries to Aliens 114-116 (1974); C. Eagleton, The Responsibility of States in International Law, 193 (1928). Further support for the recognition of moral damage as an element of wrongful death compensation may be found in the domestic law of various American nations. See, e.g., Argentina Civil Code art. 1078; Federal District of Mexico Civil Code art. 1916; Peru Civil Code arts. 1984-85; Venezuela Civil Code art. 1196. Even in those nations which have not explicitly recognized moral damage, both legal doctrine and practice suggest a favorable attitude towards this principle. See, e.g., J. Peirano Facio, Extra-contractual Responsibility 396-97 (1954); 3 A. Valencia Zea, The Civil Law of Responsibility 199 et seq. (1960); W. Melo da Silva, On Moral Damage and its Reparation 387 et seq. (1983); A. Alessandri Rodriguez, On Extracontractual Responsibility Under Chilean Law 225 et seq. (1943).

"Lusitania standard" has subsequently been regarded as stating an established principle of international law not only by recognized authorities[20/] but also in state practice.[21/]

In addition, in wrongful death claims, as in other claims for wrongful injuries, expenses directly resulting from the wrongful act are compensable.[22/] Finally, where there has

21/ For example, in diplomatic notes requesting compensation from the Government of Israel for wrongful deaths resulting from the attack on the U.S.S. Liberty in 1967, the United States explained that "[t]he amount of the claim for the surviving wife and children is based upon the loss of special services the decedent would have performed, shock and mental anguish suffered as a result of the death and the loss of financial contributions the decedent would have made towards their support. . . . The amount of the claim for the surviving parents includes a specific allowance for shock and emotional anguish suffered by the parents as a result of the violent severing of family ties. It also includes an allowance for future support, services and other benefits which the decedent could reasonably be expected to have provided to his parents." See 1980 M. Nash, U.S. Practice in International Law 747 (1986). Similarly, the briefs on behalf of the Israeli and the U.S. citizen claimants in the Ras Burqa murders each invoke the Lusitania injury standard. See Petition for Compensation on Behalf of Tali Ophira Griffel at 18 (April 15, 1988), and Memorandum in Support of the Claim for Compensation on Behalf of the Estate of Schelach, et al. Before the Committee Established by Decree No. 4866 of the Minister of Justice of the Arab Republic of Egypt on Compensation for the Families of the Ras Burqa Victims at 18 (April 15, 1988). been a delay in payment of compensation, an award of interest to compensate for such delay is required. This interest is provided because it is necessary to make the injured party whole; the delay need not be intentional or wrongful.[23/]

B. Compensation for Lost Financial Contribution

International and national law are in accord on the basic standard of compensation for lost financial support and services in wrongful death claims: the claimant is entitled to the present value of monetary contributions that the decedent would have made to the claimant and the value of his or her services to the claimant over the remainder of the decedent's natural lifetime.[24/]

[23/] See infra section V and cases cited therein.

[24/] The drafters of the Harvard Draft Convention on the International Responsibility of States for Injuries to Aliens concluded that national wrongful death standards are essentially the same as those applied under the Lusitania standard:

> The quantum of damages . . . is that generally recognized by the principal legal systems of the world, that is, the financial loss sustained by those dependent upon the alien through the death of a person who might be expected to make a contribution, assessable in monetary terms, to their support.

See Garcia-Amador, supra note 19, at 133, 324. An examination of comparative practice confirms this conclusion. See 11 International Encyclopedia of Comparative Law, ch. 9, at 88-90 (A. Tunc ed.). See also Nash, 83 A.J.I.L. at 563 ("the amounts claimed [by the United States on behalf of those killed in Iraq's attack on the U.S.S. Stark] . . . were carefully calculated consistent with principles of international law and

In computing the lost financial contribution to the claimant, various factors have been taken into account such as a) the age, sex, health condition, station in life, occupation, habits of industry and customary earnings of the deceased, and the uses made of such earnings by him; b) the probable life expectancy of the deceased; c) the reasonable probability that the earning capacity of the deceased, had he lived, would either have been increased or decreased; d) the age, sex, health, condition and station in life of the claimants; and e) the extent to which the decedent had he lived would have applied his income to personal expenditures.[25/]

C. Compensation for Moral Damage

As noted above, international law recognizes that full compensation in wrongful death cases includes reparation for mental suffering or psychological injury suffered by the family members as a result of the victim's wrongful death. Likewise, personal injury claims can include this element if such moral injury is present.[26/] Umpire Parker observed in the Lusitania practice, and were based on . . . accepted economic and actuarial data, discounted to present value.").

[25/] See Lusitania, at 20; 1 Whiteman, supra note 19, at 667.

[26/] See Garcia-Amador, supra note 19, ¶ 36, at 92 ("The anguish suffered by some of the passengers of the Lusitania as a result of the shock of being hurled into the water during the sinking of the ship was held by Umpire Parker to constitute an injury susceptible of indemnification.").

decision that "there can be no doubt of the reality of mental suffering, of sickness of the mind as well as sickness of the body."[27] He further stated that to deny reparation for mental suffering "would be to deny the fundamental principle that there exists a remedy for the direct invasion of every right."[28]

The broad category of nonphysical or nonpecuniary injuries compensable under international law has been variously referred to as "mental suffering," "moral damage" or "moral injury."[29] The amount and circumstances in which awards for

[27] Lusitania, at 22.

[28] Id. at 21 ("[i]t is manifestly impossible to compute mathematically or with any degree of accuracy or by the use of any precise formula the damages sustained, . . . this however, furnishes no reason . . . why he who has suffered should not receive reparation therefore measured by rules as nearly approximating accuracy as human ingenuity can devise."). Accord, Garcia-Amador, supra note 19, ¶ 64, at 99.

[29] It is difficult to precisely define such injury; however, as stated in Recent Codification of the Law of State Responsibility for Injuries to Aliens:

> A moral injury in its widest sense can be described as the opposite to a physical injury, but its nature does not easily lend itself to an exact definition. . . . Moreover, moral injury may be sustained in the most varied circumstances which necessarily influence the assessment of reparation due . . .

Garcia-Amador, supra note 19, ¶ 37, at 92-93.

"mental suffering" or "moral damage" have been made have varied widely based on the particular facts of the case and the egregiousness of the manner of injury.[30/]

A "basic and at the same time general criterion, is that the reparation should be commensurate with the nature or extent of the actual injury."[31/] While this principle is widely accepted, determination of the amount of damages awarded has varied considerably depending upon the degree of physical or moral hardship connected with the wrongful act.[32/]

---

30/For example, the Inter-American Court of Human Rights awarded compensation for the psychological injury suffered by a surviving wife and child in the forced disappearance of Saul Godinez Cruz, stating "(w)ith regard to moral damage, the Court declares this to be reparable in accordance with international law, . . . " Godinez Cruz, at 26. New Zealand received compensation for the affront and insult of the violation of its sovereignty by France's bombing of the Greenpeace vessel The Rainbow Warrior in Auckland Harbor. United Nations Secretary-General: Ruling on the Rainbow Warrior Affair Between France and New Zealand, reprinted in 26 I.L.M. 1346 (1987) (hereafter "Ruling") at 1354. While the Ruling stated only that the $7 million award to New Zealand was intended as compensation "for all the damages it has suffered," the award exceeded the approximately $4 million dollars in material damages suffered by New Zealand and which France conceded was due, (id. at 1347, 1363, 1368-69) and thus includes compensation for the "moral damage" as demanded by New Zealand. D. Compensation for Direct Expenses

1. Medical, Travel and Miscellaneous Expenses

As outlined throughout this presentation, since the purpose of reparation is to make one injured by a wrongful act whole, claims for medical expenses and other direct costs resulting from a wrongful act are fully compensable under international law.[35/] Direct costs incurred as a result of the wrongful deaths of Ronni Moffitt and Orlando Letelier include fees for psychiatric and other medical treatment and costs of travel related to resolving the families' claims.[36/]

It is well-established that medical expenses is an element of direct costs for which compensation should be awarded. Grotius states: "One who unjustly takes human life is bound to pay the expenses, if any have been incurred, for doctors."[37/] One of the items to be compensated in a personal injury or wrongful death case is the cost of medical treatment.[38/] The

2. Attorneys' Fees

Under international law, expenses of the pursuit of justice have also been accepted as proper components of compensation.[46/] Compensation for pursuit of justice has included indemnity for the expenses of fruitless prosecution of a claim.[47/] Expenses incurred in connection with endeavors to come to a settlement have also been awarded.[48/]

Expenses of investigation of the incident, including attorneys' fees, are compensable whether conducted with a view toward civil or criminal proceedings. For example, in the Rainbow Warrior case, New Zealand demanded and France conceded responsibility for four million dollars in expenses the former incurred in the investigation of the bombing of the Rainbow Warrior in Auckland Harbor and the prosecution of those responsible.[49/] Similarly, in the Godinez Cruz case, the [49/] Because the United States Government is not here asserting a claim on its own behalf, no claim is made for the substantial costs it has incurred investigating the bombing and the pursuit of criminal justice, as well as the United States' efforts on behalf of the families in pursuing compensation.

Inter-American Court of Human Rights recognized that the costs incurred by the families in investigating and attempting to obtain redress for the disappearance of Saul Godinez Cruz was in principle a proper element of reparation.[50/]

Thus, in order to make the families as nearly whole as is possible, they must be compensated for all direct expenses including a reasonable amount in attorneys' fees.

IV. AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION DUE UNDER PRINCIPLES OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

A. Determination of Amount of Lost Financial Contribution and Services

The loss of income and services occasioned by the deaths of Ronni Moffitt and Orlando Letelier have been quantified in the analyses performed by economists Dr. Lewis Perl and Dr. David Evans of the economic consulting firm of NERA (National Economic Research Associates, Inc.).

Drs. Perl and Evans are eminently qualified to perform this type of economic analysis. Dr. Perl is Senior Vice President at NERA and heads the firm's labor economic practice. As illustrated by his curriculum vitae, he has earned his doctorate degree in economics, is a former professor of economics and has been preparing these types of analyses since 1972. See Attachment 1 to "Analysis of the Economic Loss of the Family of Orlando Letelier" attached hereto as USG Exhibit 15 (hereafter "Letelier Analysis").

Dr. Evans, another expert in the field, who co-authored the analyses with Dr. Perl, is currently a law and economics professor and has substantial experience in the labor relations field. Numerous persons and entities involved in legal disputes have relied upon the expert opinions of Drs. Perl and Evans in U.S. courts. Id.

These economists employed a standard economic analysis of the type customarily used by experts in the field to calculate the loss to the families of Mr. Letelier and Mrs. Moffitt. Letelier Analysis at 1; "Analysis of the Economic Loss of the Family of Ronni Karpen Moffitt" attached hereto as USG Exhibit 16 (hereafter "Moffitt Analysis") at 1. Two separate analyses were prepared - one for Mrs. Moffitt and one for Mr. Letelier. The steps of the analysis, however, are roughly the same. First, the economists calculate the projected amounts the decedent would have earned each year, from all sources, but for his or her untimely death. Next they adjust projected earnings for each year to take into account the likelihood that the decedent would have left the workforce that year. The amount the decedent would have personally consumed is then deducted.

The value of the services that the decedent would have performed for the benefit of his or her family but for the wrongful death is added in. Finally, the figures for each year are discounted to present value, and totaled. The economists' analyses factor in, as appropriate, the elements discussed infra section III(B), such as the decedent's age, sex, occupation, and habits of industry.

1. Calculation of Loss to the Letelier Family

Following the standard generally accepted methodology described above, Dr. Perl and Dr. Evans conclude that the direct pecuniary loss to the Letelier family as a result of Mr. Letelier's wrongful death is between $2,021,104 and $3,484,352. Letelier Analysis at 20.

a. Future Income

The economists first sought to determine the amount of income Mr. Letelier would have made over the remainder of his natural lifetime, based on his background, education and professional experience. The economists relied on the sworn trial testimony of Isabel Letelier and IPS Director Robert Borosage, as well as communications from persons with special knowledge of compensation, all of which are attached as exhibits to the Letelier Analysis.[51/] After analyzing these

---

[51/] The exhibits to the Letelier Analysis are: Exhibit 1 - Transcript of Trial testimony of Isabel Letelier (June 20, 1980); Exhibit 2 - Transcript of Trial testimony of Robert Borosage (June 20, 1980); Exhibit 3 - Letter from Diane de Vegh of IPS regarding salary projections for Orlando Letelier materials, the economists computed future income for Mr. Letelier based on the two alternative career paths. In one projection, Mr. Letelier would have remained at IPS for his entire career; in the other, he would have left IPS at the end of 1980 and resumed his career as an international banker.

(1) Future Income as IPS Senior Fellow

In the first scenario, Mr. Letelier would have continued at IPS as a Senior Fellow, published books and articles, made speeches, and continued to teach at American University. He would have earned income from all of these activities.[52/] Mr. Borosage testified that Senior Fellows at IPS receive salary and fringe benefits packages from IPS. Letelier Analysis at 4; Trial Testimony of Robert Borosage attached as Exhibit 2 to Letelier Analysis (hereafter "Borosage Testimony") at 3-4. Furthermore, Senior Fellows research and analyze current political issues, and then write books or articles setting forth the conclusions of their studies. Borosage Testimony at 3-6.

52/Table 1 of the Letelier Analysis reflects the calculation of the economic loss to his family, assuming Mr. Letelier would have remained at IPS for the rest of his career. Table 2 summarizes the economic loss assuming Mr. Letelier would have pursued a career in international banking. For ease of reference an extra set of Tables 1 and 2 have been included with this package.

To compute the salary Mr. Letelier would have earned in each year from 1976 to the present, the economists began with his known salary level in 1976, then obtained figures showing actual salary increases of IPS Senior Fellows working at Mr. Letelier's level in subsequent years. See Exhibit 3 to the Letelier Analysis.[53/] After 1990, Mr. Letelier's future IPS earnings were calculated based on the historical growth rate of IPS salaries of 3.01% per year. Letelier Analysis at 5. These figures are shown on Table 1 in column 1. Fringe benefits at IPS are approximately 15% of salary; that amount is shown in column 2 of Table 1. Id. at 6.

Over the years IPS has established contacts in the publishing industry and can facilitate the publication of works by its employees. The author receives the advance and royalties from publication, not IPS. Borosage Testimony at 3-4. Mr. Letelier published articles in the past and was offered a $20,000 advance to write a book on his experiences in Chile. I. Letelier Testimony at 18-19.

53/ IPS employees also receive an allowance of $1,000 per year per dependent. Borosage Testimony at 11. Thus, the salary calculations include $1,000 each year for Mrs. Letelier and also $1,000 for each child under age 18, as appropriate. Letelier Analysis at 6.

Similarly, IPS is a source of speakers for seminars and political gatherings. Mrs. Letelier states that her husband was an active lecturer. I. Letelier Affidavit at 6. Mr. Borosage testified that "with his [Mr. Letelier's] bank background and his rather extraordinary prestige in the country as an intellectual . . . he would have drawn a great deal of interest from academic audiences who do pay significant advances. . ." Borosage Testimony at 8. It is evident that Mr. Letelier would have continued to be a speaker in considerable demand.

Thus, IPS fellows are able to earn substantial outside income from publishing and speaking engagements. It is reasonable to assume that Mr. Letelier would have at least earned as much from these activities as the typical Senior Fellow and most likely more, considering his international stature.

Mr. Borosage also testified that Mr. Letelier could have expected to supplement his IPS salary with $5,000 to $10,000 per year publishing his work in magazines, and an additional $5,000 to $10,000 per year for speaking. Borosage Testimony at 5, 8. An average of the high and low range, or $7,500 per year for each of these activities, is used. Letelier Analysis at 7. Thus, Mr. Letelier would have earned at least $15,000 in 1977 in outside speaking and writing, as shown in column 3. From 1978 forward, the amount in column 3 is increased in accordance with the rate of inflation, since these amounts would have increased at least as fast as inflation.

The amount shown in column 2 for every fourth year, beginning in 1980, includes a $20,000 cash advance for a book. Id. at 7. Although Mr. Borosage testified that Senior Fellows usually publish a book every other year, the economists have conservatively based their figures on publication of a book every four years, and also on the assumption that book royalties would never have exceeded a $20,000 cash advance.[54/]

Income from Mr. Letelier's work as an American University professor must also be factored in. Mr. Letelier's professorial salary was $2,050 in 1976. Since salaries in the United States generally grow at least as fast as the rate of inflation, income from teaching at American University for 54/Mr. Borosage testified that someone of Mr. Letelier's stature would receive anywhere from $20,000 up to $50,000 depending on the book and subject matter. Borosage Testimony at 4-5. When asked by how much royalties could be expected to exceed a cash advance of $25,000, Mr. Borosage replied that although this was speculative, Mr. Letelier's had several advantages. He had an international following which meant a larger audience and that every time a publisher picked the book up in a new country, it would pay a set "royalty" fee. Id. at 7. Although it is admittedly difficult to speculate on the success of any given book, the economists assume that royalties would never have exceeded the advance, and that, even after several books, Mr. Letelier's advance in real dollars would not have grown.

future years was increased in accordance with the rate of inflation. Id. at 6. The combined total of salary and benefits from IPS, speaking and lecturing fees, book publishing royalties and teaching salary produces the expected level of income had Orlando remained at IPS.

(2) Future Income as an International Banker

Had Mr. Letelier left IPS to take a position in international banking at the beginning of 1981, his income would have increased considerably. International banking expert Mr. Paul Jadot[55/] gives his professional opinion that considering Mr. Letelier's background and experience, including 10 years with the Inter-American Development Bank, he could have obtained a high-level position in international banking at any point from 1977 to 1981. Id. at 8; see Paul Jadot Memorandum to Tim Junkin dated August 13, 1990 attached to Letelier Analysis as Exhibit 4 at 3-4. In international banking, Mr. Letelier would have earned $112,000 in 1981, based on salaries of persons with qualifications similar to his.[56/] Letelier Analysis, Exhibit 4 at 4, 6.

Salary after 1981 is calculated by taking into account inflation forecasts, the average yearly productivity increase, and the age earnings-effect (which assumes that productivity declines with age) as shown on Table 3. The results of these calculations (explained in the Letelier Analysis at pages 9-11) are shown in column 1 of Table 2.

Because there is no way of knowing at what institution Mr. Letelier would have chosen to pursue his banking career, the economists use a benefits survey conducted by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce (Table 4) which illustrates that benefits are, on average, 23.4% of salary. Letelier Analysis at 11. This figure appears in column 2 of Table 2.

The remainder of the Analysis takes the figures generated by each of these two scenarios (remaining at IPS or returning to a career in banking) and makes adjustments as described below.

56/While any year after 1976 could have been chosen as the date Mr. Letelier would have moved to a higher paying position, the economists again selected a conservative date. As his sons reached their college-age years in the late 1970's, it is quite likely that Mr. Letelier would have moved to a higher paying position earlier.

b. Adjusted Income

In section III of the Analysis the amount of salary projected for each year is decreased by a factor equal to the likelihood that Mr. Letelier would not have remained in the work force.[57] Letelier Analysis at 12-13. That is, if, based on statistics generated by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, there is a 5% likelihood that Mr. Letelier would have left the work force that year, the salary he would have earned is decreased by 5%. The results of these calculations are shown in the column labeled "adjusted total" in Tables 1 and 2.

c. Deduction for Personal Consumption

A deduction is made for that portion of income that would have been allocated to Mr. Letelier's personal consumption and therefore not available for his dependents.[58]

d. Value of Personal Services

In section V, the value of Mr. Letelier's services around the house are added into the equation. Mrs. Letelier states in her testimony that Mr. Letelier made home repairs, and did carpentry and gardening. I. Letelier Testimony at 19; I.

---

[57] This adjustment is in lieu of any arbitrary assumption of probable retirement age and adjusts each year's projected earnings for the increasing possibility of retirement.

[58] Personal consumption is calculated using a Rand Corporation study, as explained in the Letelier Analysis at pages 14-16.

Letelier Affidavit at 7; see also Letelier Analysis at 16. However, since precise figures on the amount of time he spent in such activities are not available, a Cornell University Report entitled "The Dollar Value of Housework" is used to calculate the value of his household services.[59/] This report shows that a husband in a family with two children under 18 spends two hours a day performing nonmarket services, and such services had a value in 1979 of $2,100 per year. Letelier Analysis at 17. Based on his wife's testimony that he built bookshelves and home additions and was able to perform electrical and plumbing repairs, it appears that the value of Mr. Letelier's services around the home exceeded the average. Thus, using the figures contained in the Cornell report underestimates the family's loss. Id; see also I. Letelier Testimony at 19.

Since it is reasonable to assume that if Mr. Letelier left the workforce he would have had more time to perform services around the house, the value of his services are increased in accordance with the percentage likelihood that Mr. Letelier would not be in a workforce in any given year. Letelier

59/ In the Cornell study, respondents were asked to track the amount of time they spent performing various tasks. The services were then assigned a wage rate based on what it would cost to hire someone to perform the tasks. Letelier Analysis at 17.

Analysis at 17-18. The figures in column 8 of Table 1 and column 6 of Table 2 project the value of Mr. Letelier's nonmarket services.

e. Present Value Calculation

Finally, in section VI, the value of Mr. Letelier's services is added to the adjusted salary figure for a yearly total of the families. The yearly total is then brought to present value.[60/] See id. at 18-19. The figures in the final column of each table are then totaled.

f. Total Loss to the Letelier Family

Thus, if Mr. Letelier had continued at IPS for the remainder of his career, his family would have been monetarily enriched in the amount of $2,021,104 in present day dollars. See Total Table 1. If Mr. Letelier had returned to international banking at the start of 1981, the family would have been monetarily enriched in the amount of $3,484,352. See Total Table 2.

2. The Assumptions Used in the Letelier Analysis are Conservative

In making these calculations these economists consistently employed the most conservative assumptions and computational methodology. For example, one of the two alternate salary projections for Mr. Letelier is based on the assumption that he would have remained at IPS in a relatively low paying position for the remainder of his career. While we do not know how long he would have continued to work at IPS, it is highly unlikely that Mr. Letelier, considering his education, experience, and his family's financial needs, would have taken a job in which he would earn any less than he did at IPS.[61/] Moreover, in the IPS scenario, the economists also assumed that Mr. Letelier, even after having published several books, would have never commanded more than $20,000 advance per book. The IPS projection, therefore, represents the very minimum estimate of what Mr. Letelier would have contributed to his family over the remainder of his career.

The second scenario, based on a return to Mr. Letelier's former career in international banking, is the more likely of the two, as it is based not on what he was doing at the time of his death, but on what he actually intended to do. See I. Letelier Affidavit at 6. Mr. Letelier had a degree in economics and had worked as an economist for five years in the Chilean Central Bank's copper department at the beginning of his career, for a short period for the Treasury Ministry in Venezuela, and from 1960 to 1970 at the Inter-American Development Bank (hereafter "IADB") in Washington, D.C. He had advanced quickly at the IADB, in recognition of his expertise and skill, to become Loan Director for the Southern Cone. Id. at 4; Letelier Analysis at 3. In contrast, he had worked at IPS for only a year and a half. Moreover, moving back into international banking made the most economic sense. I. Letelier Analysis at 6. Mr. Letelier, as an economist, well understood this.

61/ In 1976, Mr. Letelier had two children in college and two that would soon be starting college. He held advanced degrees and had a proven success rate that would have enabled him to easily find a job in his field. Moreover, there is a general tendency of both employers and employees to view a person's current salary as the minimum requirement in a new position.

However, even the international banking scenario is based upon conservative assumptions. That scenario assumes that Mr. Letelier's productivity would have decreased with age although in fact he was known for his high energy and extraordinary achievement. See Letelier Analysis at 20. It also assumes that he would not have received outside income from writing, speaking or teaching after his return to banking. Moreover, the economists admit that based on Mrs. Letelier's statements, the value of Mr. Letelier's services to the family were likely worth much more than $2,100 (in 1979 dollars). Letelier Analysis at 17. Thus, while the more likely representation of the true loss to the Letelier family, the international banking scenario also is based on conservative assumptions.

As it is more likely that Mr. Letelier would have returned to international banking than remained at IPS, the $3,484,352

3. Calculation of Loss to Michael Moffitt

The economists calculate the direct pecuniary losses sustained by Michael Moffitt as a result of his wife's death in a similar manner and conclude that Mr. Moffitt's loss is $1,815,387 to $2,065,345. Moffitt Analysis at 1, 17.

a. Future Income

The economists first examined information regarding Mrs. Moffitt's education, experience and future plans.62/ Mrs. Moffitt began her career as a teacher but moved into fund raising at IPS. The economists found that the two most likely career paths for Mrs. Moffitt were a return to teaching and continuing as a fund raiser. Because there would not be a significant difference in the analysis had she returned to teaching, the economists assume that Mrs. Moffitt would have remained in the profession she was practicing at the time of her death - fund raising. Moffitt Analysis at 3-4.

The economists use the survey "Compensation in Nonprofit Organizations" published by Abbott, Langer and Associates to 62/The sources of this information, in the form of the Trial Testimony of Michael Moffitt and a letter from Diane de Vegh of IPS, are attached as Exhibits 1 and 2 to the Moffitt Analysis.

project a salary for Mrs. Moffitt as a fund raiser.[63] Id. at 4. This survey finds that individuals who direct and coordinate fund raising programs for organizations, with 10-14 years of experience, earned $39,091 in 1989. Had Mrs. Moffitt lived and been able to pursue her career in fund raising, by 1989 she would have had 13 years of experience. Thus, this $39,091 figure appears in column 1 of Table 1 of the Moffitt Analysis for the year 1989.[64]

The Abbot, Langer survey also sets forth salary adjustments for the various geographic regions of the United States. Fund raisers in the Washington, D.C. area, with 10-14 years experience, earned an average of $49,251. This figure is shown in column 1 of Table 2. Therefore the economists conclude that [63] Abbott, Langer and Associates is an organization which conducts surveys of employee compensation and benefits by geographic area, industry and/or profession. The Society for Nonprofit Organizations sponsored this survey in which over 2,100 nonprofit organizations were contacted for information on the compensation and benefits afforded their employees. The information obtained for each position was analyzed by years of experience, geographic region and organization size and compiled in a two volume set containing 905 pages of tables. See Abbott, Langer and Associates Compensation in Nonprofit Organizations, 791-814 (2nd ed. 1989).

[64] As in the case of the Letelier Analysis, extra copies of Tables 1 and 2 have been reproduced for ease of reference. The figures in Table 1 are based on the assumption that Mrs. Moffitt would have left the Washington, D.C. area. Table 2 provides applicable figures if one assumes that Mrs. Moffitt would have remained in the Washington D.C. area.

the probable range for Mrs. Moffitt's salary in 1989 was $39,091 to $49,251.[65/] Id. at 5.

To obtain salary figures for Mrs. Moffitt for the years 1977 through 1989, the economists compute the average annual growth rate needed to bring $15,000 in 1977 to $39,000 in 1989. Similarly, they compute the annual growth rate needed to bring $15,000 to $49,000. Since inflation was 6.2% over this period, real salary growth was 1.3% to 3.2% per year. Id. at 6. The real growth rates are added to the actual inflation rate for that year in order to compute Mrs. Moffitt's projected salary for each year from 1977 to 1989. The salary figures

---

65/ To verify the plausibility of this range, the economists looked at the figures provided by IPS (Moffitt Analysis, Exhibit 2) showing expected earnings of Mrs. Moffitt through 1990, based on the salary levels of those in a similar position at IPS. According to IPS, Mrs. Moffitt would have earned $35,000 as an IPS Fund Raiser in 1989. Additionally, fund raisers at IPS and similar institutions usually take on outside fund raising work to augment income. See Affidavit of Leonard T. Conway, attached as USG Exhibit 17 (hereafter "Conway Affidavit") (Mr. Conway is the former Executive Director of a Washington, D.C. nonprofit organization and has considerable experience in the area of nonprofit fund raising); Letter of Diane de Vegh, attached as Exhibit 2 to the Moffitt Analysis. Based on Mr. Conway's projection of outside earnings, Mrs. Moffitt's expected total compensation in 1989 would be $41,000 to $43,000, assuming she would have remained at IPS. Conway Affidavit at 3. In addition, if Mrs. Moffitt would have had two children as they had planned, (see Trial Testimony of Michael Moffitt, attached as Exhibit 1 to the Moffitt Analysis (hereafter "Moffitt Testimony") at 8-9; Moffitt Analysis 3, n. 1) she would have received a $1,000 per year dependent allowance, bringing her projected income range to $43,000 to $45,000. Moffitt Analysis at 6.

using the 1.3% real growth rate are shown in column 1, Table 1, and those using the real growth rate of 3.2% shown in column 1, Table 2.

Salary figures after 1989 are determined by using general labor market evidence showing the expected patterns of growth in income for women with a college education. Id. As in the Letelier international banking scenario, the economists adjust the salary figures to take into account the projected inflation rate, average increases in productivity and the "age earnings effect." Id. at 6-8. The 1989 salary rates are adjusted by the product of these three adjustments (shown in Table 3), and the economists arrive at the figures shown in column 1 of Tables 1 and 2.

However, as salary was not the only element of compensation Mrs. Moffitt could expect to receive, the amount she would have received in fringe benefits as a fund raiser must be added. Column 2 provides this amount based on a benefits survey performed by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in 1989. Id. at 8; Table 4.

b. Adjusted Total

The economists then calculate Mrs. Moffitt's worklife expectancy, based on statistics compiled by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics showing the probability that a woman with 15 years of schooling would have been in the work force at a given age. See id. at 10. For example, at age 26 there is an 87.6% chance that a woman with the above characteristics would have been in the workforce. Therefore, only 87.6% of Mrs. Moffitt's salary is credited as expected earnings as shown in the column labeled "Adjusted Total" of Tables 1 and 2. Id. at 11. Using these statistics clearly underestimates the loss. Although childbearing accounts for most of the absence from the workforce at age 26, Mrs. Moffitt intended to remain in the workforce. See Moffitt Affidavit at 4.

c. Deduction for Personal Consumption

In section IV of the Moffitt Analysis, the amount in column 2 is reduced by the amount Mrs. Moffitt would have personally consumed to arrive at column 3 at Tables 1 and 2. See Moffitt Analysis at 11-14.

d. Value of Personal Services

In section V, the economists compute the value of Mrs. Moffitt's nonmarket or household services. Mr. Moffitt testified that his wife refinished furniture, painted the house and gardened. Because the economists did not have definitive information on the number of hours Mrs. Moffitt spent in each of these tasks, they rely, as in the Letelier Analysis, upon the Cornell University study "The Dollar Value of Housework."[66/] The economists use the study's figures 66/ See supra note 59, and accompanying text.

(adjusting each year for inflation) for an employed wife with no children until she would have had her first child (arbitrarily assumed to be 1981).[67] Moffitt Analysis at 13, 15. Assuming a second child born in 1983 (again the year is arbitrarily assigned), the economists calculate the projected value of Mrs. Moffitt's services over the remainder of her lifetime.

These figures are adjusted to incorporate the probability that she would not be in the workforce in any one year and would have had more time to perform services for her family. Id. at 15, 16. The value of her services after all these adjustments are made is found in column 6 of Tables 1 and 2.

e. Present Value Calculation

The yearly figures for the "Adjusted Total" and the value of services (columns 5 and 6, respectively, of Tables 1 and 2) are added together and the total is then discounted to present value (column 7).

f. Total Loss to Michael Moffitt

The figures in the final column of each chart are then totaled. The loss to Michael Moffitt, if it is not assumed [67] Mr. Moffitt testified that he and Ronni planned to have children and that his wife intended to continue working thereafter. See Moffitt Testimony at 8-9. According to the 1990 Statistical Abstract of the United States, married women in the United States have on the average two children. See Moffitt Analysis at 13.

---

that Mrs. Moffitt would have remained in Washington, D.C., would have been $1,815,387. Assuming that Mr. and Mrs. Moffitt would have remained in the Washington, D.C. area, the loss is $2,065,345.

4. The Assumptions Used in the Moffitt Analysis are Conservative

As in the Letelier Analysis, the economists conservatively compute Michael Moffitt's losses as a result of his wife's death. For example, to take into account that a number of women do not work full time throughout their lives, the economists credit only a portion of Mrs. Moffitt's salary to her income, relying on 1979-80 statistics on women in the workforce. To the extent the participation of women in the workforce has increased since 1980, these figures underestimate the potential loss. Moffitt Analysis at 11, n. 13. These statistics are based on all women with 15 years of education. They do not take into account that Mrs. Moffitt specifically intended to remain in the workforce even after having children. Moffitt Affidavit at 4; Moffitt Analysis 3, n. 7.

The economists give a salary range using alternatively the salary of fund raisers nationwide and the salaries of fund raisers in Washington, D.C. As Mr. Moffitt noted in his affidavit, it is highly improbable that the Moffitts would have left the Washington, D.C. area - both were excited about their jobs and were interested in international politics - factors which suggest that the most likely scenario is that they would have remained in Washington, D.C. See Moffitt Affidavit at 1-5. Thus the $2,065,345 figure most closely approximates the true monetary loss to Michael Moffitt as a result of his wife's wrongful death.

B. Determination of Amount of Compensation for Moral Damage

In this case, the families suffered the shock and grief of the violent severing of family ties, clearly compensable under the Lusitania standard.[68/] However, they suffered much more than the grief and anguish that normally accompanies the sudden death of a loved one. The aggravating circumstances surrounding this case which caused the families additional suffering and injury must also be taken into account in determining the amount of compensation to be awarded for moral damage.

The aggravating or exceptional factors present here include: 1) the shock and horror the brutal manner of death caused the family members; 2) the anger and fear caused by the malicious and intentional nature of the act; 3) the extensive psychological injury and its physical manifestations caused by the assassination; and 4) the mental suffering and psychological injury caused by aggravating circumstances directly related to the assassination.

Examining these factors, the exceptionally horrible manner of death here has caused the families extreme anguish. One moment Orlando Letelier was one of thousands of commuters on his way to work. The next, his lower body was torn apart. His wife notes that when she viewed his body, the shock and pain he experienced were apparent from the expression on his face. After the explosion, Michael saw Ronni alert enough to be able to walk away from the car, only to slowly drown at the side of the road in the blood flowing into her lungs from the punctured artery in her neck. The extraordinarily brutal manner of death is a source of great pain to the families.

This case appears to be extreme also in the extent of suffering the intentional and malicious nature of the act has caused.[69/] Each of the family members sees the assassination as not only an event which took a loved one from them, but also as an intense personal violation. The shock and horror of the families was heightened by their knowledge that the assassination was committed by agents of a foreign government on United States soil. Moreover, the assassins acted without regard to whom, besides Orlando Letelier, might be killed or injured by the bomb's explosion. Since the bomb was radio controlled from a trailing car the families believe that the assassins must have been aware that two people, in addition to their intended victim, were in the car. The knowledge that the assassins carefully planned and purposely inflicted this cruel death upon Ronni Moffitt and Orlando Letelier is a source of extreme outrage and horror for the family members.

69/This factor is distinguishable from a claim for punitive damages, as the request for compensation is in respect of the suffering and injury the intentional nature of the act caused the families, not as punishment.

In addition, the assassination has inflicted deep and lasting psychological injuries, in some cases resulting in physical manifestations, upon the families of Ronni Moffitt and Orlando Letelier. The extent of psychological injury is relevant in assessing the amount of compensation due. As the Inter-American Court of Human Rights stated: "The Court considers it obvious that Saul Godinez Cruz's disappearance had harmful psychological consequences on his next of kin, which must be compensated for under the heading of moral damage."[70/]

There is nothing even remotely speculative about the injury in this case. Not only is it obvious from their affidavits that the family members have suffered severe adverse psychological consequences, the reports of psychiatrists confirm and elaborate upon the enormous psychological injury damage they have suffered.

B6

B 6

The family members' psychological injury was compounded by the particular circumstances surrounding the assassination, circumstances which had almost as strong an adverse impact as the deaths themselves. These circumstances, set forth in detail in the affidavits of the family members, include the withdrawal of support by friends and family after the assassination due to fear that they too would be killed and the anger and fear the family members felt as a result of the knowledge that the perpetrators were still at large. In addition, the Letelier sons had job offers and other opportunities withdrawn after their father's death, and the once close Letelier family has disintegrated.

In summary, this case is unique in the extent of the aggravating circumstances that the family members have had to endure over and above the severe mental anguish they suffered as a result of violent renting of the fabric of the family. The family members, to varying degrees and in varying circumstances, suffered insult, rejection, depression, physical maladies, isolation, loss of companionship, fear, hopelessness and a consuming need to see justice done. Consistent with international law precedent, compensation for moral damage must be awarded in an amount that recognizes the immense suffering and psychological trauma sustained by the family members as a direct result of the assassination of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt and the assassination attempt of Michael Moffitt.

Thus, the United States Government requests that the sum of $250,000 be awarded on behalf of Hilda Karpen for the moral damage she has suffered as a result of the assassination of her daughter, and $500,000 to Murray Karpen to compensate for the moral damage and the resulting permanent physical injury he has suffered as a result of the assassination.

The United States Government requests $250,000 on behalf of each of the Letelier sons as compensation for the moral damage they have suffered. On behalf of Isabel Morel de Letelier, $500,000 is requested in respect of the extreme moral damage she sustained as a result of the assassination of her husband and its aftermath.

Michael Moffitt, in addition to suffering the loss of his wife, endured the traumatic experience of being himself a victim of the bombing. For this reason, the United States Government requests, on behalf of Michael Moffitt, $500,000 to compensate for the moral damage he experienced as a result of his wife's assassination and $500,000 for the severe moral damage including psychological injuries he sustained as a victim of an assassination attempt.

C. Determination of Amount of Compensation for Direct Expenses

1. Medical, Travel and Other Expenses

Consistent with principles of international law, as set forth in Section III(D) supra, the families' medical, travel, and other expenses related to their pursuit of justice should be reimbursed to the United States Government on their behalf.

B6

In addition to the above, Isabel Letelier, Michael Moffitt and the Karpens are responsible for direct expenses totaling $48,367.70 advanced by the various attorneys working on the case. See Buffone Affidavit, ¶ 5. They are also jointly responsible for the economists' services engaged in their pursuit of compensation. The economists' bills totaled $51,443.47 without interest or $78,075.30 with the interest billed by Mr. Eden. See Buffone Affidavit, ¶ 6.

2. Attorneys' Fees

A natural, almost inevitable, result of an assassination is that survivors and family members of those killed will seek to hold accountable those responsible for the crime, and will pursue reparation for their losses. This case is no exception. Here the families have engaged in an intensive and prolonged quest for both criminal and civil justice, largely via the United States legal system. This effort has required, in addition to the travel, economists' services and other expenses described above, the assistance of experienced counsel to handle complex and often novel legal issues. The services performed by Mr. Tigar, Mr. Buffone and other attorneys who have assisted the families in this case are described in the Affidavit of Samuel J. Buffone in Support of Request for Attorneys' Fees (hereafter "Buffone Attorneys' Fees Affidavit") attached hereto as USG Exhibit 20.

Throughout the fifteen year period since the assassination, the attorneys have assisted the families on a host of issues related to the case. They have counseled the families on their legal rights and options with respect to both criminal justice aspects and the pursuit of compensation. Id. at ¶¶ 2-22. They conducted a complete factual investigation to determine responsibility for the assassination. Id. at ¶ 3. They represented witnesses before grand juries investigating the murders and assisted Michael Moffitt and Isabel Letelier in their preparation for the criminal trials. Id. at ¶¶ 2, 4.

The attorneys researched and drafted a complaint for damages, which was filed on August 8, 1987 in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, naming the Government of Chile, as well as several individuals, as defendants. Id. at ¶ 4. During 1978 and 1979, the attorneys actively litigated this case which, as a case against a foreign sovereign, involved many complicated legal issues and required numerous hours of legal research. Id. at ¶¶ 4, 5. Although the Republic of Chile did not appear in the case, the families were required, in accordance with the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, to present a detailed showing of the factual basis of their claim. The attorneys prepared and presented this showing. Id. at ¶¶ 5-6. The Court found the presentation convincing and awarded the families a total of $2.95 million against the Government of Chile.[72/] [72/] A total judgment of $5,062,854.95 was entered against the defendants. Under applicable U.S. law, this unpaid judgment has been accruing interest since 1980 at a rate of 13.67% per annum.

When Chile did not voluntarily pay the judgment against it, the attorneys engaged in factual research to uncover assets against which to execute the judgment. Id. at ¶¶ 9-13. After locating assets in New York against which they believed the judgment might be executed, the attorneys initiated collection proceedings, which were complex and protracted. This effort required many trips by the Washington based attorneys to New York, numerous court appearances and the preparation of numerous pleadings. Id. at ¶¶ 14, 15. Ultimately, however, the attorneys were unable to recover any compensation through the U.S. court system. Id. at ¶ 16.

Judicial avenues exhausted, the attorneys then pursued a legislative solution. They sought a change in United States law which they believed would permit them to collect the judgment. Id. at ¶¶ 17-19. To this end, they met with members of the United States Congress, their staffs, and members of the American Bar Association. Mr. Buffone testified several times before Congressional committees in this regard. Id. at ¶ 17.

The attorneys also met with State Department officials, and requested that the Department of State assist in obtaining compensation. The State Department ultimately agreed and on April 18, 1988, sent a diplomatic note to the Government of Chile demanding payment for the losses to the United States Government incurred in connection with the criminal investigation and prosecutions and for the loss and injuries sustained by Michael Moffitt and by the other victims' family members. Id. at ¶ 19. In June 1990, the Governments of Chile and the United States reached agreement to resolve this dispute as set forth in the Agreement calling upon the assistance of this Commission. See id. at ¶ 21; USG Exhibit 1.

The families have agreed to pay for the attorneys' services out of the award rendered by this Commission. Id. at ¶ 23. If no award of attorneys' fees is made, compensation in respect of other injuries will be effectively reduced. Therefore, in order to make the families as nearly whole as is possible, an award of reasonable attorneys' fees is necessary.

Mr. Buffone estimated that his firm spent approximately 4,477.46 hours on this case, and conservatively estimated the average hourly rate of the attorneys who have worked on this complex case to be $150 per hour. Id. at ¶¶ 26-27. Thus, based on a review of the amount of services performed and the time records available, Mr. Buffone calculated the reasonable market value of these services at $671,619.00 for his firm. Donovan, Leisure, Newton and Irvine also worked on the case and their time records indicate they spent 1,815.00 hours on this case with actual billings of $229,243.25. Id.

In order to make the Letelier and Moffitt families whole, direct expenses totaling $176,885.48, and an award of attorneys' fees in the amount of $900,826.25 must be included in the award.

V. INTEREST

Under international law, interest is awarded to compensate for the loss of use of money over time.[73/] Fifteen years have now passed since the brutal murders of Ronni Moffitt and Orlando Letelier. Despite persistent efforts, the families have yet to receive any compensation for the tremendous losses they suffered at the time of the assassination in September 1976. In order to be made whole, the families must be compensated for this delay in payment.

A. International Law Principles Support an Award of Interest

73/ See Illinois Central R.R. (U.S.) v. United Mexican States, 4 Rep. Int'l Arb. Awards 134, 136 (1926) ("In our opinion just compensatory damages in this case would include not only the sum due, as stated in the Memorial . . . but compensation for the loss of the use of that sum during a period within which the payment thereof continues to be withheld."); 1 Brownlie, supra note 20, at 227; 3 Whiteman, supra note 22, at 1913-2006; 8 M. Whiteman, Digest of International Law 1186-1192 (1967); Eagleton, supra note 19, at 203-5; Borchard, supra note 22, at 428-430; R. Lillich, Interest in the Law of International Claims 59 (1982); see also McCollough & Co. v. Ministry of Post, Telegraph & Telephone, 11 Iran-U.S. C.T.R. 3, 26-31 (1986) (where Judge Virally stated "under normal circumstances . . . interest is allocated on the amounts awarded as damages in order to compensate for the delay with which the payment to the successful party is made.").

Interest is a basic component of the duty to make full reparation for an injury. Professor Lillich notes "interest as part of an award by an international tribunal . . . is recognized by customary international law . . . as an element of damages inherent in just compensation."[74/] Similarly, Eagleton states "[t]he award of interest is usually considered to be merely a part of the duty to make full reparation."[75/] Article 38 of the Harvard Draft Convention of the International Responsibility of States for Injuries to Aliens provides, in part: "1. The amount of any award shall include interest, either by way of inclusion in the lump sum awarded or by the addition of an amount computed from the date of the injury to the date of the award. . ."[76/]

J. Int'l L. 545, 583 (1961). This approach is also utilized by the United States Foreign Claims Settlement Commission:

> On whatever theory the awarding of interest is based, we are constrained to adhere to the international law principle, to which we deem it proper to give effect, that interest must be regarded as a proper element of compensation. The Commission therefore concludes that the award of interest in the instant case is not only in International law routinely provides for the payment of interest in commercial claims.[77] Moreover, interest on pecuniary or other liquidated losses, such as medical expenses, has been accepted on the same principle as that of commercial claims - the claimant has suffered the loss of the opportunity to use the funds from the date of the loss, or from the date the expense was incurred.[78] conformity with the principles of international law but is required by equity and justice, and should therefore be allowed.

The Islamic Republic of Iran, 9 Iran-U.S. C.T.R. 153, 167 (1985) ("In order to compensate the Claimants for the damages they have suffered due to delayed payments, the Tribunal considers it fair to award the Claimants simple interest. . . ."); Blount Bros. v. The Tribunal is of the opinion that the claimants are entitled to special compensation in respect of interest . . .").

[78] See Ralston, supra note 32, at 129-130; Eagleton, supra note 19, at 204.

International tribunals have handled claims for interest on personal injury and wrongful death cases in a number of ways. Some commissions have followed the practice of awarding a lump sum in settlement of all aspects of the case.[79] The delay in making payment or attempting to resolve the case is among the factors taken into account in determining an appropriate lump sum. Brownlie states:

> The fact that the 'lump sum' awarded includes interest . . . does not contradict the principle that compensation should include interest on the damages as at the time of injury.[80]

Other international commissions have simply awarded interest in personal injury or death cases in the same manner as interest on property losses.[81]

While some tribunals have declined to award interest on nonpecuniary or unliquidated claims on the theory that the amount of interest on such claims is difficult to Mex.), MS Department of State, National Archives, docket 703 (Mexican gold was awarded with "annual interest from the day after Donaghho's death to the date of the final award."); Theodore Webster's Administrator (U.S. v. Mex.), MS Department of State, National Archives, docket 810 (award included annual interest from the "date of Webster's death to the date of the final award.") cited in 3 Whiteman, supra note 22, at 1985.

assess, this approach is inconsistent with the principle of full compensation. The difficulty of determining the amount of compensation for a loss or injury does not mean that compensation should therefore be denied.[82] Brownlie states: "[T]he fact that the sum awarded is in some sense 'unliquidated' or arbitrary is not incompatible with the payment of interest on the compensation."[83]

It is indisputable that the families of the victims suffered additional injury by reason of the delay in receiving prompt compensation. Given that the date of death is clearly established and that this Commission will have to determine the amount that will attempt to make the families whole by compensating for the mental suffering from that date, as well as their direct expenses, calculation of an amount to compensate for delay in payment from 1976 to the present is a relatively simply endeavor.[84]

[82] This is especially so when the real difficulty lies in assessing compensation for physical or mental suffering - assessment tribunals commonly make. Once that figure is established, calculating compensation for lost financial opportunity in a death case is no more difficult than in a commercial injury case.

[83] 1 Brownlie, supra note 20, at 228.

[84] Dr. Perl's calculation brings to present value the money Mr. Letelier and Mrs. Moffitt would have earned from 1976 until the present and the value of the services they would have performed during that time period. Thus, no interest on these amounts is claimed. Moreover, no interest is requested on expenses which the families have not yet paid. Interest is requested on expenses paid by the families and the "moral damage" portion of the award to compensate for the delay in payment.

B. Period of Interest

In accordance with the widely accepted principles outlined above - that interest is to compensate for the loss of use of money over time - a reasonable calculation of the time period during which money was lost must be made. As the claim for losses resulting from wrongful death arises on the date of death, interest should be calculated on the amount that compensates for the material and moral injuries sustained from September 21, 1976 to the date the award is paid. Support for this position is found in the cases of Theodore Webster's Administrator[85/] and Heirs of Cyrus Donaghho,[86/] where the United States - Mexican Claims Commission awarded interest to the families from the date of death. The Mexican Agent protested the allowance of interest in these wrongful death claims. In response, Umpire Thorton stated:

> [T]he Umpire has to say that in these cases he considered what was the value of the life to the heirs at the date of the death, and that the heirs were entitled to receive this value at once; consequently they had a right to interest from that date. If it > had not been so, the Umpire would have awarded a larger sum so as to make up for the absence of interest from the date of the death of the two persons above mentioned . . . .[87/]

International commissions frequently award interest from the date the claim arose.[88/] This approach has been followed by the Iran-U.S. Claims Tribunal where interest is routinely awarded from the date of loss to the date of payment.[89/] Similarly, the United States Foreign Claims Settlement Commission held in American Cast Iron Pipe Company that "the prevailing opinion in international law is that such interest should run from the date the claim arose until the 'date of payment.' The Commission notes further that the date the claim arose in this case is the date of loss."[90/]

The present case is extraordinary in the amount of time that has elapsed without any compensation whatsoever since the deaths. The chart at USG Exhibit 21 lists wrongful death claims asserted on an international level since the Lusitania award, showing the date of the incident and the date of the award. Most cases were resolved within three to five years and in no case did payment lag fifteen years behind the incident. The families must be compensated for this inordinate and excessive delay which cannot inure to the benefit of the delaying party.

C. Rate of Interest

A fair or just rate of interest should be applied.[91] As stated by the U.S. Foreign Claims Settlement Commission "[t]he Commission's object in determining the rate of interest is to arrive at just and equitable compensation for the wrong."[92] The question then is: What rate of interest will fairly and justly compensate the victims' families for the fifteen year delay in making payment or otherwise resolving their claims?

Until about 1960, a 6% rate of interest was commonly used. However, since that time commercial interest rates have been much more volatile and 6% today is regarded as an extremely low rate of interest. Lillich notes: "At present, 6 percent assuredly is not an appropriate rate of interest in the Law of International Claims . . . ."[93/] More indicative of current international practice are the decisions of the Iran - U.S. Claims Tribunal, which has regularly awarded interest at rates from 10% to 12%.[94/]

Other international tribunals have determined that the appropriate rate of interest should be based on commercial rates which are often higher than the rates awarded at the Iran - U.S. Claims Tribunal.[95/] For example, a tribunal of the International Chamber of Commerce decided that the appropriate rate of interest to restore a claimant to his status quo ante was 14.5%.[96] This rate of interest was determined based on the average rate of interest prevailing in the United States during the relevant period as determined by the arbitrator. Another illustration is found in the Aminoil-Kuwait arbitration which tied the interest rate to the rate of inflation over the relevant period to produce an annual interest rate of 17.5%.[97]

While commercial rates over the period of time involved in this case would clearly result in a higher rate, a fair or equitable rate which would provide the families reasonable compensation for the delay in payment due would be 10% from September 21, 1976 (the date of the assassinations) until the date an award is paid.[98]

I. INTRODUCCION

En la mañana del 21 de setiembre de 1976, cuando Orlando Letelier conducía su automóvil con rumbo a su lugar de empleo y mientras atravesaba Sheridan Circle en Washington, D.C., explotó una bomba que había sido adherida a la parte inferior del chasis del automóvil, dándole muerte a él y a Ronni Moffitt, que casualmente lo estaba acompañando ese día. El esposo de la señora Moffitt, Michael Moffitt, quien también ocupaba el automóvil, fue lesionado pero sobrevivió.

Después de una minuciosa y prolongada investigación llevada a cabo por el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos, se llegó a la conclusión de que agentes de la policía secreta chilena fueron responsables del asesinato. En abril de 1988, después de que las familias de las víctimas habían agotado todos los demás medios para obtener compensación por los perjuicios que habían sufrido, el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos presentó una demanda al Gobierno de Chile en la que exigió compensación por las pérdidas del Gobierno de los Estados Unidos resultantes del atentado con la mencionada bomba y por los perjuicios sufridos por las personas directamente afectadas.

El 11 de junio de 1990, los Gobiernos de los Estados Unidos y de Chile convinieron en una resolución de la desavenencia entre ellos respecto de la responsabilidad por estos hechos, según se consigna en el Acuerdo entre los Estados Unidos de América y la República de Chile (en adelante denominado el "Acuerdo"). 1/

1/ El Acuerdo se agrega en calidad de Elemento de Prueba 1 del Gob. EE.UU. (Los Elementos de Prueba del Gob. EE.UU. se incluyen en el Volumen II de esta presentación.) El Gobierno de los Estados Unidos no afirma en el presente reclamación alguna por sus pérdidas. Una vez que Chile hubiere pagado el monto que determine esta Comisión Internacional, los Estados Unidos considerarán satisfechas todas las reclamaciones civiles de los Estados Unidos en relación con este asunto. Acuerdo, # 6.

El Acuerdo dispone, como tarea única de la Comisión establecida en el marco del Tratado de 1914 para el Arreglo de Controversias que Pudieran Suscitarse entre los Estados Unidos y Chile 2/ ("Comisión Internacional" o "Comisión"), la determinación del monto del pago que el Gobierno de Chile hará ex gratia, de conformidad con el Acuerdo.

En su parte pertinente, el Acuerdo dispone:

> Los Estados Unidos han tratado de obtener de Chile compensación a nombre de las familias de Letelier y Moffitt, en virtud de que los Estados Unidos consideran que el Estado de Chile de conformidad con el derecho internacional es legalmente responsable de las muertes de Orlando Letelier y Ronni Moffitt y de las heridas corporales sufridas por Michael Moffitt. Sin admitir responsabilidad, el Gobierno de Chile . . . está dispuesto a efectuar un pago ex gratia . . . al Gobierno de los Estados Unidos de América, cuyo pago se recibirá a nombre de las familias de las víctimas.
> Los Gobiernos de los Estados Unidos y de Chile convienen en que el monto del pago ex gratia debe ser igual al monto que se adeudaría de haberse establecido responsabilidad.. . . [E]l monto de la compensación que ha de pagarse será la única cuestión que ha de determinar la Comisión.

Párrafos 3, 4 del Acuerdo. En la Componenda, agregada e incorporada como parte del Acuerdo, se dispone que el monto de la compensación se determinará con arreglo a principios aplicables del derecho internacional, tal como si se hubiera establecido responsabilidad.
Componenda en el # 4.

En consecuencia, la cuestión a consideración de la Comisión es el monto de la compensación adeudada de conformidad con principios de derecho internacional por las muertes inicuas de Orlando Letelier y Ronni Moffitt y por las lesiones corporales sufridas por Michael Moffitt, tal como si se hubiera establecido responsabilidad.

Específicamente, el derecho internacional permite compensación por aportes financieros y servicios domésticos perdidos que el difunto habría proporcionado a los miembros de su familia, compensación por lesiones mentales o sicológicas (daños morales) sufridas, gastos incurridos como resultado del acto contrario a la ley, e intereses sobre estas sumas acumulados debido a la demora en el pago de la compensación. En esta presentación, en la sección titulada "Antecedentes Basados en Hechos", se describirán primeramente el asesinato y el efecto que éste tuvo sobre miembros individuales de las familias. En la próxima sección "Principios Jurídicos" se consignan los estatutos aplicables, demostrando que las familias tienen derecho a compensación por sus pérdidas monetarias y por las lesiones mentales y sicológicas que han sufrido, así como por los gastos directos en que incurrieron como resultado de los asesinatos. En la sección siguiente "Monto de la Compensación Adeudada al Amparo del Derecho Internacional", se cuantifica la suma a la que tienen derecho las familias por cada elemento de sus reclamaciones. En la sección "Intereses" se demuestra que se deben adjudicar intereses para indemnizar la demora de 15 años en el pago de compensación. Finalmente, en "Conclusión" se resumen las sumas reclamadas en concepto de cada uno de los diversos elementos.

Las personas a cuyo nombre se presentan estas reclamaciones son: Isabel Morel de Letelier, viuda de Orlando Letelier; los cuatro hijos del señor Letelier; los padres de Ronni Moffitt, Hilda y Murray Karpen, y Michael Moffitt. 3/

3/ En adelante, el término "familias" cuando se emplea en el contexto de las personas que tienen derecho a compensación en esta presentación, se refiere a Michael Moffitt, como víctima directa de la explosión de la bomba y como esposo de una persona que resultó muerta en el incidente; Isabel Morel de Letelier, los cuatro hijos del matrimonio Letelier, y los padres de Ronni Moffitt, el señor y señora Karpen.

II. ANTECEDENTES BASADOS EN HECHOS

Este caso no representa una reclamación común por muerte inicua -- las muertes no fueron consecuencia de negligencia o de un acto criminal aislado perpetrado por un ciudadano particular. Los asesinatos fueron planeados y dirigidos por agentes de la policía secreta chilena a lo largo de un período de tiempo extendido, y fueron ejecutados por medio de una bomba en una muy transitada calle de Washington, D.C., con una falta absoluta de respeto por la vida humana. El monto de la adjudicación debe reflejar las atroces circunstancias que acompañaron a este acto de terrorismo. 4/

A fin de poder comprender la magnitud de la pérdida sufrida por las familias, es necesario conocer algunos detalles acerca de sus respectivas vidas antes del asesinato. Esta presentación comienza con el relato de Michael Moffitt, según expone los detalles de la explosión de la bomba con base en la experiencia directa de su único sobreviviente.

A. Michael Moffitt

Michael Moffitt ha vivido y revivido la explosión de la bomba innumerables veces desde el 21 de setiembre de 1976. Sintió el impacto de la detonación de la bomba; oyó el ensordecedor estrépito de la explosión; sintió el calor intenso; olió el hedor de carne y cabellos humanos incinerados. Declaración Jurada de Michael Moffitt, agregada como Elemento de Prueba 2 del Gob. EE.UU. (en adelante, "Declaración Jurada de Moffitt") en 7. Trató desesperadamente de hacer algo para ayudar a su amigo y mentor Orlando Letelier cuando éste estaba expirando. Estuvo parado en la acera en el Círculo Sheridan mirando, impotente y horrorizado, mientras su esposa lentamente se estaba ahogando con su propia sangre. Id. en 8.

Las lesiones físicas de Michael no fueron permanentes; las heridas sicológicas, en cambio, fueron y siguen siendo inmensas.

Después de su graduación universitaria en 1973, Michael Moffitt aceptó un empleo en el Instituto para Estudios Políticos (Institute for Policy Studies) (en adelante denominado "IPS"), en Washington, D.C. 5/ A principios de 1975, conoció a Ronni Karpen, quien también trabajaba en el IPS, y su vida comenzó a cambiar marcadamente. Moffit, Declaración Jurada en 1-2. Poco después que comenzaran a salir en citas, se comprometieron. Id. en 2.

Michael Moffitt comenzó a trabajar en estrecha colaboración con Orlando Letelier, inicialmente en calidad de investigador y, más tarde, como ayudante ejecutivo. Michael halló que el trabajo con Orlando, un destacado diplomático y respetado intelectual que había ingresado recientemente al Instituto, era una actividad extraordinariamente estimulante. Michael viajó prácticamente a todas partes con Orlando, ayudándole en la elección de sus compromisos y, por conducto de Orlando, llegó a conocer a muchas personas influyentes. Id. en 2.

Michael y Ronni se casaron en mayo de 1976. La ceremonia y recepción tuvieron lugar en el jardín de la casa de los padres de ella. Id. en 3. Los recién casados su mudaron a una casa tipo "tinglado" en un suburbio de Washington, D.C. Id. en 3. Michael recuerda: "Por primera vez en mi vida me sentí verdaderamente feliz. Vivía mi vida a pleno y la vida fue hermosa. Fue Ronni y, profesionalmente, Orlando, los que de esta forma cambiaron mi vida". Id. en 4. Ronni, con su inagotable energía, se puso a trabajar para convertir a su casa en un hogar. Colocó cortinados y sembró un pequeño jardín de flores. Juntos pintaron el interior de su casa y dieron nuevo acabado a muebles viejos. Id.

Michael se sentía muy orgulloso por los muchos talentos y logros de su esposa. Ella tocaba la flauta y era una artista consumada. Id. en 4. También admiró la consagración de Ronni a otras personas que no gozaban de las oportunidades y del cariño y apoyo familiar que ella disfrutaba. Por ejemplo, ella combinó su interés en la música con su meta de convertir el mundo en un lugar mejor para vivir, decidiendo ser una de las fundadoras de "The Music Carry-Out", que brindaba acceso a instrumentos musicales y entretenimiento vespertino en zonas más pobres de la ciudad, sea gratuitamente o a un costo muy reducido. Id. en 5.

Además de sus talentos creativos y artísticos, Ronni tenía ambiciones y era inteligente. Aunque comenzó a trabajar en el IPS como secretaria, poco después de su casamiento fue ascendida al cargo de Coordinadora de la Recolección de Fondos para el IPS. El ascenso fue acompañado de un sustancial incremento de su sueldo. Id. en 4.

A principios de setiembre de 1976, Michael sentía que el mundo le pertenecía. Estaba entusiasmado con su carrera profesional y con su trabajo con Orlando. Había comenzado a estructurar una vida con una mujer talentosa y cariñosa. Compartían muchos sueños maravillosos para el futuro. Luego, repentinamente, todo tuvo fin en la mañana del 21 de setiembre de 1976.

Las horas que precedieron el asesinato no salieron de lo común. En la noche del 20 de setiembre, Ronni y Michael cenaron en la casa de los Letelier. Después de la cena, Orlando y Michael trabajaron hasta cerca de la medianoche. Ronni y Michael tuvieron problemas con su automóvil, de manera que pidieron prestado el automóvil de Orlando para irse a su casa al terminar la noche. Conduciendo el automóvil hasta su casa, no se percataron de la carga explosiva y del radiodetonador que los asesinos ya habían instalado en la parte inferior del chasis del automóvil de Orlando. Regresaron a la mañana siguiente para recoger a Orlando para ir juntos al trabajo. Michael se ofreció para conducir el automóvil, pero Orlando no aceptó y ocupó el asiento del conductor. Michael recuerda haber abierto la puerta para Ronni, que se sentó en el asiento delantero junto a Orlando, mientras que él se ubicó en el asiento trasero. Id. en 6.

Llegaron a la ciudad. Cuando se desplazaban en torno de un círculo de tráfico, cerca del centro de la ciudad, Michael fue pasmado por un destello deslumbrante y una fuerte detonación. El automóvil voló por el aire y se estrelló contra un Volkswagen estacionado a un costado de la calle. 6/ Cuando el automóvil se detuvo, Michael vio humo en todas partes. Sus zapatos habían sido arrancados de los pies y sintió un calor abrasante. La impresión sensoria más poderosa fue el "abrumante hedor de carne y cabellos humanos incinerados". Id. en 7.

Michael se encontró de manos y rodillas en el asiento trasero. Inicialmente, no tuvo sensación alguna por debajo de su cintura. Trepó a través de una ventana que había volado y se cayó del automóvil, sofocado y jadeante. Id. Inmediatamente buscó a Ronni y vió que ella tambaleaba hacia un costado de la calle.

Creyendo que Ronni estaba bien, Michael corrió hacia el frente del automóvil para ayudar a Orlando. Vio un tremendo agujero en el piso del automóvil. El cuerpo de Orlando se había dado vuelta, dando cara hacia el asiento trasero y su cabeza estaba tambaleándose hacia atrás y adelante. Id. en 7-8. Sus ojos estaban abiertos y se movían un poco. Michael le dió unas palmadas frenéticas y le preguntó a Orlando si podía escucharlo. Orlando masculló algunas palabras que Michael no pudo entender. Michael trató de levantar a Orlando para sacarlo del automóvil. Se detuvo. La parte inferior del cuerpo de Orlando había desaparecido. Recuerda "trozos de carne y pedazos ensangrentados del relleno del asiento en todas partes". Id. en 8. Michael manifiesta que "el robusto hombre de 6 pies de estatura parecía un muñeco quebrado". Id.

Habiéndose percatado de que no podía ayudar a Orlando, Michael buscó nuevamente a Ronni. Estaba tendida en el suelo frente a una de las Embajadas en torno al círculo. Corrió hacia ella -- lo que vió lo llenó de horror. De la boca de Ronni manaba sangre y su vientre estaba extremadamente hinchado. Una doctora que casualmente se encontraba en el lugar, estaba parada con el cuerpo de Ronni entre sus piernas, tratando de contener el chorro de sangre que brotaba de la arteria en el cuello de Ronni. La escena comenzó a ponerse borrosa. Michael recuerda que un agente de policía venía corriendo hacia ellos y trató de alejar a la doctora que estaba atendiendo a Ronni. Michael se puso histérico y se lanzó desesperadamente contra el agente de policía. Id. en 8. Recuerda que creyó que el policía iba a disparar su arma contra él. Id. en 8-9.

Cuando llegó la ambulancia, la gravedad de las heridas de Ronni fue evidente. Michael tuvo miedo de dejar a Ronni, aunque fuese tan sólo por un momento. Repetidas veces pidió permiso para acompañar a Ronni hasta el hospital en la ambulancia, pero tal permiso le fue negado. Atemorizado y desesperado, Michael empezó a gritar. Por separado lo llevaron a la sala de emergencias del hospital George Washington, donde del pecho le sacaron un trozo de metal y sus heridas y quemaduras recibieron tratamiento. Id. en 9. Todavía no pudo ver a Ronni. Frenéticamente exigió que le dieran información acerca de su condición, pero nadie le decía algo específico. La enfermera le dió sedantes. Id.

A la espera de noticias, estaba embargado de sentimientos de ira e impotencia. Habló con un sacerdote y le pidió ayuda. Le pidió a Dios que salvara la vida a Ronni. Id.

La policía volvió para interrogar a Michael. Temía que su esposa estaba muerta. Finalmente, habiéndose completado el interrogatorio, el médico lo confirmó -- Ronni y Orlando estaban ambos muertos. Id. Se percató de que había visto a Ronni por última vez. Sentía mucho frío. Id. en 10.

El día seguía avanzando con todos los acontecimientos en una penosa neblina. Michael vió a la viuda de Orlando, Isabel, en el hospital. Ella estaba totalmente devastada. Michael sufrió la penosa experiencia de llamar a los padres de Ronni. Después, fue a las oficinas de la FBI para relatar una y otra vez y con minuciosos detalles lo que aconteció después de la explosión de la bomba. A la sazón estaba en un estado de "shock". Id. en 10.

Recién días más tarde Michael comenzó a comprender la forma total en que la bomba del asesino destruyó la felicidad que había encontrado. Le quitó su esposa, su amigo y mentor, y su sentido de bienestar. Id. en 10-11.

Fue a quedarse con los padres de Ronni, esperanzado de que todos reunidos podrían consolarse y dispensarse recíprocamente los cuidados que necesitaban. Sin embargo, los padres de Ronni también habían quedado totalmente devastados por la muerte de su hija; la tristeza fue insoportable. Tuvo que irse. Id. en 11.

Michael expresa que los cuatro años siguientes fueron los años más difíciles de su vida. Id. No podía dormir y lloraba con frecuencia. Sufría de un sentimiento de culpabilidad y lo embargaba una ira abrumadora. Estuvo totalmente preocupado con esfuerzos para lograr justicia y trabajó incesantemente en el caso. No obstante, cada vez que hablaba acerca del caso con un abogado, investigador o posible amparador financiero, volvía a vivir con nítidos detalles el horror del incidente. Id.

Los juicios, civiles y penales, constituyeron para él una experiencia penosa. La FBI realizó una exhaustiva investigación de las vidas personales de Ronni y Michael. Se difundieron rumores acerca de Ronni y Orlando que Michael tuvo la necesidad de refutar. Se describió a Ronni como la secretaria de Orlando o, peor aún, como su amante. Rumores persistentes sobre la participación de Ronni en un complot izquierdista para hacer volar a la Embajada de Chile con una bomba, lo indignaron. Id. en 13.

Michael estuvo totalmente obsesionado con el primer juicio penal en 1979, a punto tal que no halló tiempo para visitar a su padre enfermo. Id. en 14. Durante ese juicio, el padre de Michael falleció. Michael está convencido de que al ver los efectos que el asesinato había causado a su hijo, el padre perdió todo ánimo y la voluntad de vivir. Id. Después del primer juicio, Michael quedó en cama durante una semana. No tenía voluntad para levantarse; le faltó toda voluntad para participar en la vida. Id.

En la actualidad, aún obsesiona a Michael una necesidad de poner las cosas en claro -- una necesidad de ver que se hace justicia por doloroso que fuere volver a vivir una y otra vez la experiencia. En los años transcurridos desde el asesinato, de buena voluntad dedicó innumerables horas a la FBI, a los fiscales que trabajaron en el caso, a sus propios abogados, en un esfuerzo para que no quede avenida sin explorar en su búsqueda de justicia por el asesinato de su esposa y de Orlando. B. El Matrimonio Karpen Ronni fue hija primogénita y única hija mujer de Hilda y Murray Karpen. Su asesinato destrozó sus vidas.

Hilda y Murray Karpen se conocieron en la escuela secundaria y se casaron poco tiempo después. Ambos trabajaron en la fiambrería de propiedad del padre de Murray. Declaración Jurada de Hilda Karpen, agregada al presente en calidad de Elemento de Prueba 5 del Gob. EE.UU. (en adelante "Declaración Jurada de H. Karpen") en 1. En 1951, nació Ronni, hija primogénita. Id. en 2. Desde edad temprana, Ronni fue una persona jovial. Hilda recuerda "aún cuando niña, tuvo garbo, un don de felicidad que dio alegría a todos los que la trataban". Id.

A medida que Ronni crecía, Hilda desarrolló una relación muy estrecha con su hija. Ronni fue la confidente de su madre -- la hermana que Hilda nunca tuvo. Los Karpen habían comenzado a ver en Ronni los frutos de su cariño y de sus sacrificios; como joven adulta, Ronni estaba haciendo cosas acerca de las que ellos sólo habían soñado. Se había graduado de la universidad y había emprendido una carrera profesional. Los padres vivían indirectamente a través de su hija. Los Karpen sintieron gran orgullo por el reciente ascenso a Recolectora Adjunta de Fondos en el IPS que le habían conferido a Ronni y acababan de comprarle un portafolio para que lo usara en su nuevo cargo. Id. en 1-2.

En la mañana del 21 de setiembre de 1976, Hilda estuvo muy ocupada y excitada, aprontándose para el festival judío de Rosh Hashana y la inminente visita de Ronni y de su flamante esposo, Michael. Fue entonces, en medio de los preparativos para la celebración del día de fiesta, que llegó la horrible noticia. La bomba de un asesino había dado muerte a Ronni. Id. en 1.

Los Karpen quedaron aniquilados por la noticia de la muerte de su hija. Hilda dice que con la muerte de Ronni "murió con ella una gran parte de mi propio ser". Id. en 2.

Murray observó: "no hay sufrimiento peor para un padre que el de tener que vivir con la pérdida de un hijo. Nada". Declaración Jurada de Murray Karpen, agregada al presente en calidad de Elemento de Prueba 6 del Gob. EE.UU. (en adelante "Declaración Jurada de M. Karpen") en 3.

Murray e Hilda constantemente se vieron forzados a hacer frente una y otra vez a las horribles circunstancias de la muerte de Ronni. Periodistas los persiguieron durante los servicios fúnebres, los llamaban por teléfono a su hogar y los buscaban dondequiera que iban durante meses después. Id. en 1

Después del período de luto, Murray volvió a su trabajo con la esperanza de que ello despejaría su mente y le permitiría olvidar su dolor. No fue así. Su trabajo no fue óbice para que Murray pensara en el asesinato de su hija y para que continuara el terrible dolor que estaba sufriendo. Id. en 2. Murray ya no podía dormir. Imágenes del casamiento de Ronni, celebrado unos pocos meses antes, continuaban pasando por su mente. Id. en 2. Ella entonces había sido tan feliz y había estado llena de tanta vida. Ahora estaba muerta.

La investigación en marcha puso en descubierto nuevos detalles y mantuvo vivo su dolor.

Page 16 has been deleted on B-6 grounds.

El tiempo no ha logrado mermar el dolor de los Karpen. Siguen apesadumbrados por la hija que no puede darles nietos, que no puede llegar a conocer los sueños que ellos habían tenido para que ella los convirtiese en realidades y que no estará con ellos en su ancianidad. No han podido aceptar la insensatez de la muerte de su única hija. El tiempo no podrá cerrar sus heridas. Hilda expresa su dolor: "[h]an pasado catorce años desde ese día. Me he puesto vieja y mi cabello se ha tornado gris. Pero el tiempo no ha mermado mi dolor. Mi pérdida, cuando menos, se hace sentir cada vez más a medida que envejezco". Declaración Jurada de H. Karpen en 3.

C. Isabel Morel de Letelier

Isabel Morel nació en Chile en enero de 1932. Cuando aún era estudiante conoció a Orlando Letelier. Compartieron muchos intereses como, por ejemplo, la música y la política. Se enamoraron y cuando ella tenía 23 años, Isabel y Orlando se casaron. Declaración Jurada de Isabel Letelier, agregada al presente en calidad de Elemento de Prueba 8 del Gob. EE.UU. tuvieron la mala fortuna de que Isabel abortara su primer embarazo, al año siguiente pudieron celebrar el nacimiento de su hijo Christian. José nació un año después en 1958, Francisco en 1959 y Juan Pablo en 1961. B6

La política se convirtió en un aspecto importante de la vida que vivieron juntos Orlando e Isabel. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 3. Orlando apoyó a Salvador Allende en la elección presidencial en 1958. Cuando Allende perdió la elección, Orlando perdió su empleo en el Departamento de Minas. Isabel declaró: "Mi vida que había sido tan calma y tranquila, nunca lo volvería a ser". Id. B6
Orlando e Isabel, quien a la sazón estaba embarazada, y sus dos hijos pequeños se trasladaron a Venezuela donde le habían ofrecido un empleo a Orlando para trabajar con el Grupo Volmer -- un importante grupo económico. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 3. Sin embargo, después de una estadía de tan sólo unos pocos meses en Venezuela, Orlando aceptó un puesto en el Banco Interamericano de Desarrollo, en Washington, D.C. Id. en 3-4.

A fines de 1960, la familia Letelier se trasladó a Washington, D.C. Id. Se radicaron en Washington, D.C. y quedaron allí durante doce años. Aunque no se encontraban en su tierra natal de Chile, estos fueron años activos y felices para la familia Letelier. Id. en 4. Los Letelier vivieron en un bonito hogar en los suburbios de Washington, D.C. y también eran propietarios de una pequeña finca con caballos en el Valle del Shenandoah. Id. Sus hijos concurrieron a buenas escuelas y la familia viajaba con frecuencia. Id.

Cuando sus hijos eran jóvenes aún, Orlando fue el entrenador de sus equipos de fútbol. Id. en 7. Les enseñó historia chilena y el idioma español. Id. Mantenía relaciones estrechas con sus hijos y actuó como mentor y modelo para ellos. Id. en 3. Le gustaba la jardinería y hacía trabajos de carpintería; construía cosas para su hogar. Id. en 7.

La carrera de Orlando en el Banco prosperaba. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 4. Orlando disfrutaba su trabajo y sentía que estaba haciendo una contribución importante para América latina. Id. Isabel dictaba clases de español, primero en el Instituto del Servicio Exterior de los Estados Unidos y luego en la Universidad de Georgetown. Id. En su tiempo libre se dedicaba a la escultura y a la pintura.

Después de la elección de Salvador Allende como Presidente chileno en 1970, Orlando fue nombrado Embajador de Chile en los Estados Unidos. Id. La familia se mudó a la Embajada y disfrutó todos los beneficios concomitantes. Id. Sus vidas estuvieron entrelazadas con las de muchas personas distinguidas y estimulantes. Id.

En 1973 Orlando fue llamado a Chile para desempeñarse como uno de los Ministros del Gabinete e Isabel y los niños una vez más fueron desarraigados. Evaluación de Gordon en 5. Isabel y Orlando se brindaron apoyo recíproco durante esa época llena de tensiones y dificultades. Id. en 6.

El 11 de setiembre de 1973, el día en el que un golpe de estado derrocó al Gobierno de Allende, Orlando fue arrestado y encarcelado. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 5. Se lo mantuvo incomunicado e Isabel frenéticamente trató de determinar si aún estaba con vida o cuál era la condición en que se encontraba su esposo. Id. Estuvo encarcelado durante un año, la mayor parte de ese tiempo en la Isla Dawson, una colonia penal en el Sur de Chile, a corta distancia del círculo antártico. Testimonio judicial de Isabel Letelier agregado como Elemento de Prueba 1 al "Análisis de las Pérdidas Económicas Sufridas por la Familia de Orlando Letelier", agregado en calidad de Elemento de Prueba 15 del Gob. EE.UU. (en adelante "Testimonio de I. Letelier") en 12, 13. Muchas de las personas que habían sido colegas y amigos de Orlando fueron ejecutadas. Isabel temía por la vida de Orlando. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 5. La cuenta bancaria de Letelier fue congelada e Isabel tuvo que vender efectos personales para poder dar de comer a su familia. [redacted] El gobierno militar le impuso arresto B6 domiciliario durante un mes y medio. Id.

En setiembre de 1974, Orlando fue excarcelado y de inmediato se lo expulsó de Chile con destino a Venezuela. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 5. Isabel de inmediato trató de reparar las heridas físicas y sicológicas sufridas por la familia en virtud del encarcelamiento de Orlando, a la vez que trató de devolver a la familia el grado de normalidad que habían tenido sus vidas. instalándose en Venezuela, se le pidió a Orlando que regresara a los Estados Unidos para asumir un cargo en el IPS. Id. en 6; Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 5. Orlando aceptó el ofrecimiento y en enero de 1975 regresaron a los Estados Unidos. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 5. En el IPS, Orlando se desempeñó como Director del Instituto Transnacional. 13/

Por cuanto el visado de Isabel no le permitía tomar un empleo en los Estados Unidos, estableció una organización sin fines de lucro -- el Comité de Chile para Derechos Humanos. Reanudó sus trabajos artísticos y tuvo una exitosa exhibición de sus esculturas. Id. en 5-6.

Los hijos de Isabel y Orlando se estaban convirtiendo en hombres. Christian comenzó sus estudios universitarios en 1975 y José lo hizo en 1976. A lo largo de todos estos altibajos, Isabel siempre halló fuerzas en su consagración común a la vida y los sueños que ella y Orlando habían estructurado. Orlando fue para ella y para sus hijos "nuestra roca y nuestra fortaleza". Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 7. Isabel aprendió a vivir, lo mejor que pudo, con las cambiantes condiciones políticas, con los tiempos difíciles, con las separaciones de Orlando y con los repetidos traslados a distintas partes del Hemisferio.

Isabel quedó devastada por el asesinato de Orlando. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 7. Aunque abrumada por su pena y dolor, ella insistió en ver el cadáver de Orlando. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 1. Describió lo que vio: "Su torso inferior quedó reducido a una masa de sangre y piel abrasada. Pude ver el dolor y la sorpresa en su rostro. humanitarias, se le concedió a Isabel un visado condicional para entrar a los Estados Unidos y también se le extendió un permiso para trabajar. Id. El IPS le ofreció a Isabel un empleo y ella regresó a Washington, D.C. Id. Pero su vida había cambiado radical y permanentemente.

A lo largo de los 20 años de su matrimonio, Isabel había desarrollado un estado de dependencia de su esposo, como fuente de fortaleza, camaradería e identidad social. Véase Id. El asesinato de Orlando la privó de todo esto. De la noche a la mañana se convirtió en madre viuda luchando para criar a cuatro hijos, sin tener recursos financieros adecuados para los cuidados que requerían, y sin la ayuda y el apoyo moral de un esposo. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 8, 9.

Su vida social cambió radicalmente. Acaecida la muerte de Orlando, gran parte de la comunidad internacional la rechazó y trató a los Leteliers como parias. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 8, 10. Numerosos amigos y conocidos temieron que el mantenimiento de relaciones con ella y con sus hijos podría poner en peligro sus propias vidas y, por lo tanto, se mostraron renuentes a visitarla. Id. en 8. Ella estaba sola y sentía la soledad. Id. en 9. No pudo explicar este aislamiento a sus hijos. Según explicó José: "Vivir en Washington, D.C. a fines de la década de 1970 y llevar el apellido Letelier fueron, para todo fin práctico, tabú; fue como tener la peste". Declaración Jurada de J. Letelier en 1.

La familia que siempre había sido estrechamente unida, comenzó a desintegrarse - el dolor y el trauma fueron más de lo que ellos pudieron soportar. Id. en 10; véase asimismo Declaración Jurada de Francisco Letelier, agregada al presente como Elemento de Prueba 13 del Gob. EE.UU. (en adelante "Declaración Jurada de F. Letelier") en 4-5. Juan Pablo y Francisco se emplearon para ganar dinero que ayudase a financiar el hogar. José se fue del país para escapar de los recuerdos. Estuvo demasiado perturbado para quedarse y hacer frente a la vida en Washington, D.C. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 9. Christian se mudó a California debido a su "necesidad de estar solo para tratar de encaminar mi vida". Declaración Jurada de C. Letelier en 3.

Isabel describe los juicios penales como "otra forma de agonía". Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 9. Sus esfuerzos en busca de justicia por la muerte de su esposo, a la vez que cuidaba y criaba a sus hijos, la dejaron emotiva y físicamente agotada. [ ] Tuvo temor de que no podía procurar comida y ropas para sus hijos. Véase Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 9. Tuvo preocupación por el futuro de su familia. El asesinato no sólo había privado a Isabel del centro de su universo, sino que acarreó aislamiento, pobreza y la desintegración de su familia. Id. en 7-9.

B6

La vida de Isabel estuvo entrelazada con la de un hombre de estatura y talentos inmensos. Ella lo amó profundamente y había estructurado su vida en torno de su esposo y familia. Isabel expresó su pérdida con estas palabras:

> Orlando y yo tuvimos tantos sueños y planes. Parte el corazón saber que un momento violento y terrible en el que tuvo lugar un tal acto cruel e inhumano, acabó con todos estos sueños y con todos nosotros. Puso fin a mi vida según yo la había conocido y según yo quería vivirla.

Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 11.

D. Christian, José, Francisco y Juan Pablo Letelier

B6

El asesinato privó a los hijos de Orlando Letelier de una poderosa figura ejemplar y de su proveedor -- su fuente de orientación, dirección, seguridad económica, oportunidades educacionales y afecto. Estos acontecimientos han producido un impacto adverso permanente en cada uno de los hijos del matrimonio Letelier.

1. Consideraciones Generales

Orlando Letelier fue una figura de enorme solidez y confianza, simultáneamente un patriarca fiel a la tradición latina y un padre al estilo norteamericano. Id. El golpe causado por el asesinato desbarató a la familia y destruyó la noción de los hijos de Orlando de que la vida tiene orden y es pronosticable. Perdieron la fuente de su seguridad económica y del prestigio de la familia. Id. en 2; véase Declaración Jurada de C. Letelier en 3; Declaración de Juan Pablo Letelier en 9. Los amigos tuvieron miedo de visitarlos y ofrecimientos de empleo se rescindieron. [ ] La conducta de los hijos fue puesta bajo un microscopio como nunca lo había sido hecho antes; se esperaba que ellos desempeñaran su papel en la vida como "hijos de Orlando Letelier". Id. en 2. B6

Cada uno de los hijos de Orlando ha sido afectado de ira, depresión y extrañamiento; cada uno de ellos se marginó de la unidad familiar "de los Letelier" para huir de los acontecimientos que dominaban a sus vidas y para poder conservar o desarrollar un sentido de identidad personal. 2. Descripción

Los hijos de Orlando Letelier estuvieron a punto de iniciar sus vidas de adultos cuando su padre fue asesinado. Christian, el mayor, tenía 19 años de edad; Juan Pablo, el más joven tenía 15. El asesinato de su padre afectó profundamente el curso que tomó su respectivo desarrollo.

Cada uno de ellos había dependido de su padre para la orientación que requería para dar forma a su futuro. Orlando Letelier había estado allí para ayudar a sus hijos en la planificación del futuro y para guiarlos cariñosamente y con comprensión. Véase Declaración Jurada de C. Letelier en 1. Christian, el hijo mayor, abrigaba la ilusión de seguir en los pasos de su padre en la diplomacia internacional. Id. Después del asesinato, Christian halló que no podía seguir la carrera profesional que él y su padre habían proyectado. Id. en 3.

La guía moral de Orlando fue aparente en sus propios criterios acerca del mundo, criterios estos que él trató de impartir a sus hijos. Christian manifestó:

> Mi padre me había comunicado su profundo sentido de justicia y orden. El mundo de bondad, dedicación y amor hacia el prójimo que él me había inculcado explotó con la bomba que acarreó su muerte.

Id. en 2.

En el verano que precedió la muerte de Orlando, Juan Pablo, el más joven de los hijos de Orlando, recuerda que recién estaba comenzando a tener una relación más adulta con su padre -- estaba comenzando a comprender que su padre podía ser su amigo y, a la vez, una fuente de orientación. Eran muchas las cosas que quería preguntar a su padre. Pero no llegó a tener la oportunidad. Declaración Jurada de J. Pablo Letelier en 2. También involucrado ahora en la política, Juan Pablo siente no tener la oportunidad de poder recurrir a su padre como mentor y asesor. Id. en 7-8.

Los hijos de Orlando Letelier han sufrido y continúan sufriendo dolor profundo e ira como consecuencia del asesinato de su padre. Id en 2; [redacted] Dice Christian: 86

> No sólo se nos obligó a sufrir el dolor y la humillación de que los enemigos políticos de mi padre lo privaran de su vida, sino que nos vimos obligados a hacer frente a muchas otras penurias. . . No fue un padre común y corriente; fue mucho más. Fue un consumado político, líder, intelectual y, sobre todo, fue un ser humano de singular humanismo y profundidad.

Declaración Jurada de C. Letelier en 4. Juan Pablo, a la vez que extrañaba al hombre que sólo había conocido en el contexto de la familia, con el transcurso del tiempo llegó a comprender la extraordinaria importancia que su padre tuvo como figura pública

-- un hombre de muchos logros y merecedor de enorme respeto. Declaración Jurada de J. Pablo Letelier en 5.

La brutalidad con la que se ejecutó el asesinato impartió a sus vidas un sentido de terror y miedo que los hijos de Orlando no habían conocido jamás. Declaración Jurada de J. Letelier en 1. Para Francisco, el asesinato transmitió el mensaje de que no había seguridad para los que franca y abiertamente expresan sus ideas. Declaración Jurada de F. Letelier en 2.

José señala que este terror embargaba aun a aquellos cuya asociación con Orlando fue menos estrecha. José comprendió los sentimientos que motivaron a su empleador cuando le pidió que por razones de seguridad no volviera a su empleo de horario parcial. Otros no querían correr el riesgo de compartir el destino sufrido por Ronni Moffitt -- asesinada sólo porque esa mañana fue pasajera en el automóvil de Orlando. Declaración Jurada de J. Letelier en 1. Los hijos de Letelier vieron como sus amigos se alejaron de ellos; también ellos temían toda asociación con la familia Letelier. Declaración Jurada de J. Pablo Letelier en 3. Juan Pablo manifiesta que su soledad fue aumentada por el alejamiento de amigos cuyos padres abrigaban temores por la seguridad de sus hijos. Id.

Christian perdió un empleo en el campo de las importaciones/exportaciones cuando se le negó la entrada a México debido a su condición política en Chile. Declaración Jurada de C. Letelier en 2. En los años subsiguientes al asesinato, tales circunstancias se repitieron una y otra vez. José halló que se le negaban oportunidades sencillamente porque era hijo de Orlando, cuando, por el contrario, antes del asesinato el ser un "Letelier" había sido una fuente de posibilidades. Declaración Jurada de J. Letelier en 2. José, al determinar que era difícil encontrar un empleo en Washington, D.C. y no pudiendo aceptar el hecho que él constituía una carga económica para su madre, decidió irse, al igual que su hermano Christian, para huir de los recuerdos constantes. Id.; véase también Declaración Jurada de

C. Letelier en 3. Su decisión de irse fue de alguna ayuda pero no alivió sus problemas. La separación de sus hermanos y de su madre enviudada en Washington, D.C., fue muy difícil. Declaración Jurada de J. Letelier en 2.

A punto de comenzar su vida adulta, la pérdida de su padre obligó a los hijos a modificar radicalmente sus planes y expectativas para el futuro. Declaración Jurada de F. Letelier en 1; Declaración Jurada de J. Letelier en 2; Declaración Jurada de C. Letelier en 2. Francisco volcó su vida en sus estudios académicos y sus esfuerzos a la búsqueda de seguridad económica, marginándose de las actividades sociales normales entre personas de su edad. El, al igual que sus hermanos, no pudo disfrutar los primeros años de su edad adulta que, para la mayoría de los seres humanos, constituyen los mejores años de la vida. Declaración Jurada de F. Letelier en 2.

Durante su adolescencia formativa, Juan Pablo estuvo embargado de un sentimiento de soledad; fue un sentimiento que ya no pudo asimilar en compañía de sus semejantes. Declaración Jurada de J. Pablo Letelier en 3. Lamenta el haber perdido su juventud. Las circunstancias le impusieron responsabilidades no comunes para una persona de su edad, y se sintió presionado para demostrar que era meritorio heredero de Orlando Letelier. Id. en 5.

Cada uno de los hijos del señor Letelier siente una ardiente necesidad de que se haga justicia. Sufrieron las severas pruebas de la investigación, más tarde de los juicios y la continuada búsqueda de justicia anhelada por la familia. Ver, por ejemplo, Declaración Jurada de C. Letelier en 1. Christian reconoce que el asesinato y su secuela le han causado profundas heridas sicológicas que él, en la actualidad, no ha podido siquiera comenzar a aceptar. Id. en 3.

En Chile, Juan Pablo Letelier ha hecho escuchar su voz en demanda de justicia en relación con el asesinato de su padre y de Ronni Moffitt. Fue encarcelado en distintas ocasiones, su hogar fue saqueado y le fueron robados efectos personales. Juan Pablo está convencido de que todo ello fue resultado de sus actividades políticas. Declaración Jurada de J. Pablo Letelier en 7. El "caso no resuelto de Letelier" es una cuestión delicada y controvertida en Chile, y los hijos de Orlando Letelier constituyen un constante recordatorio de un pasado penoso pero no resuelto aún.

Con el asesinato, Francisco perdió la capacidad para confiar en sus prójimos. Declaración Jurada de F. Letelier en 4. Afirma que él y sus hermanos han visto menoscabada su capacidad para asociarse con personas con las que podrían establecer relaciones estrechas y sólo pueden vincularse con aquellos que han sido sometidos a sufrimientos similares. 15/ Id.;

B6

La familia Letelier, otrora muy unida, perdió la base sobre la que se había estructurado. En la actualidad le faltan los recursos monetarios para reunirse físicamente. Desde que murió el padre, sólo han podido reunirse como familia una sola vez. Declaración Jurada de F. Letelier en 4. Francisco observa: "El asesinato de Orlando nos ha privado de un padre y esposo, pero también nos privó los unos de los otros". Id. en 5.

Los hijos de Orlando Letelier han sufrido inmenso dolor como consecuencia del brutal asesinato de su padre. Cada uno de ellos han tratado de recoger los fragmentos de su vida y seguir adelante, pero será su pasado el que dictará para siempre sus emociones y sus sentimientos. Todos ellos tuvieron que vencer formidables obstáculos en sus esfuerzos para restablecer algún símil de normalidad para cada una de sus vidas. B6

III. PRINCIPIOS JURIDICOS

A. Principios Generales de Compensación

Se adjudica compensación con el propósito de restaurar en el mayor grado posible el anterior estado de una parte perjudicada. Este principio jurídico universal se refleja y confirma en decisiones adoptadas por tribunales internacionales, en los trabajos de prominentes jurisperitos y en las prácticas de naciones. 16/ Según declaró el Tribunal Permanente de Justicia en el caso Chorzow Factory (Fábrica de Chorzov) "en la medida de lo posible, la reparación debe anular todas las consecuencias del acto ilícito y debe restablecer la situación que con toda probabilidad habría existido si ese acto no se hubiera cometido". 17/

En consonancia con el principio de reparación total, la cuestión a la que debe responder la Comisión es: ¿Cuál es la suma monetaria que en mayor grado se aproximará a la compensación

16/Véase, por ejemplo, Godinez Cruz Compensation Case Inter-Am. Ct. H.R. 26 (Fallo del 21 de julio de 1989); Chorzow Factory (Indemnity) (Alemania v. Polonia), 1928 P.C.I.J. (Ser A) No. 17, en 29; Opinion in the Lusitania Cases, (EE.UU. v. Alemania) reimpreso en Decisions and Opinions of the Mixed Claims Commission 17, 21 (1928) ("La compensación debe ser adecuada y debe equilibrar en el mayor grado posible el perjuicio sufrido".); Selwyn Case (Reino Unido v. Venezuela) reimpreso en J. Ralston, Venezuelan Arbitrations of 1903 322, 325-326 (1904); Jiménez de Arechaga, El Derecho Internacional Contemporáneo 339 (ed. Technos 1980); Reclamaciones relacionadas con el navío U.S.S. Liberty, véase nota al pie 21/ más adelante; véase asimismo Nash, Contemporary Practice of the United States Relating to International Law (Práctica Contemporánea de los Estados Unidos Relativa al Derecho Internacional), 83 A.J.I.L. 561 (1989) (en relación con reclamaciones generadas por el ataque de Irak al navío U.S.S. Stark de los EE.UU.).

17/ Chorzow Factory (Fábrica Chorzow), P.C.I.J. (Ser. A) No. 17, en 47. Accord, Eagleton, Measure of Damages in International Law (Medición de Perjuicios en Derecho Internacional), 39 Yale L.J. 52 (1929).

plena de las familias por el asesinato del señor Letelier y de la señora Moffitt, y al señor Moffitt por sus lesiones personales?

Los perjuicios y pérdidas de las familias entrañan la pérdida de apoyo financiero y servicios, sufrimiento mental y lesiones sicológicas, gastos para tratamientos siquiátricos y otros de carácter médico, gastos de viajes, inclusives honorarios de abogados en que incurrieron en busca de justicia civil y penal, y la privación de compensación durante los años transcurridos desde los asesinatos.

El principio de la reparación plena puede aplicarse fácilmente con respecto a pérdidas pecuniarias como, por ejemplo, ingresos perdidos o gastos médicos. Otras pérdidas pueden medirse en términos monetarios como, por ejemplo, el valor de los aportes financieros de la persona difunta o sus servicios prestados en beneficio de su familia.

No obstante, en algunos casos es imposible restituir lo que se ha perdido o restablecer de algún otro modo el status quo ante. El dolor y los sufrimientos no pueden anularse. Una adjudicación monetaria no puede, por sí misma, curar lesiones sicológicas. Sin embargo, según dijo Grotius, "el dinero constituye la medida común de cosas de valor" 18/ y una adjudicación de dinero es lo que más se aproxima a la reparación real que puede lograrse. En consecuencia, tribunales internacionales han adjudicado compensaciones monetarias para una amplia variedad de pérdidas y daños pecuniarios y no pecuniarios.

Autoridades y precedentes en el campo del derecho internacional confirman que la compensación plena en un caso de muerte inicua específicamente incluye compensación para toda la gama de perjuicios sufridos por las familias -- reparación en concepto de i) aportes financieros perdidos; ii) pérdida de los servicios prestados por la persona difunta, y iii) el "shock" y los sufrimientos mentales de los miembros de la familia, resultantes de la muerte. 19/ En particular, en el caso preeminente de Lusitania se adjudicó compensación para cada uno de estos perjuicios. Subsiguientemente se ha considerado que esta "norma de Lusitania" enuncia un principio de derecho internacional establecido, no sólo reconocido por autoridades 20/ sino también en prácticas estatales. 21/

18/ El Arbitro Parker cita con aprobación a Grotius respecto de este punto en el dictamen Lusitania. Lusitania en 19, citando a Grotius, The Rights of War and Peace (Whewell trans., 1853).

19/ Lusitania en 19-20 (proporcionando compensación por el monto "(a) que la persona difunta, de no habérsele dado muerte, probablemente habría contribuido al reclamante, . . . (b) el valor pecuniario para tal reclamante de los servicios personales de la persona difunta en concepto de cuidados del reclamante, educación o supervisión, y . . . (c) compensación razonable por los sufrimientos mentales o "shock", de haberlos habido, causados por el quebrantamiento violento de lazos familiares, que el reclamante realmente puede haber sufrido en virtud de tal muerte".) Véase 1 M. Whiteman, Damages in International Laws 704-16 (1937); F. V. García-Amador, L. Sohn & R. Baxter, Recent Codification of the Law of State Responsibility for Injuries to Aliens 114-116 (1974); C. Eagleton, The Responsibility of States in International Law, 193 (1928). Otros respaldos del reconocimiento de perjuicios morales como elemento de compensación por muerte inicua pueden encontrarse en el derecho nacional de varias naciones americanas. Véase, por ejemplo, Código Civil Argentino, art. 1078; Código Civil del Distrito Federal de México, art. 1916; Código Civil Peruano, artículos 1984-85; Código Civil de Venezuela, art. 1196. Aun las naciones que no reconocen explícitamente daños morales, tanto su doctrina como sus prácticas jurídicas sugieren una actitud favorable hacia este principio. Véase por ejemplo, J. Peirano Facio, Responsabilidad Extracontractual, 396-97 (1954); 3 A. Valencia Zea, El Derecho Civil de Responsabilidad, 199 et seq. (1960); W. Melo da Silva, Sobre el Daño Moral y su Reparación, 387 et seq. (1983); A. Alessandri Rodríguez, Sobre Responsabilidad Extracontractual en el Marco del Derecho Chileno 225 et seq. (1943)

20/ Véase, por ejemplo, García-Amador nota 19 supra, en 115; Eagleton, nota 19 supra, en 193; 1 I. Brownlie, State Responsability 225 (1983).

Además, en reclamaciones por muerte inicua, al igual que en otras reclamaciones por perjuicios inicuos, los gastos resultantes directamente del acto inicuo, son compensables. 22/ Por último, cuando ha habido una demora en el pago de compensación, se requiere una adjudicación de intereses para compensar tal demora. Estos intereses se adjudican puesto que es menester hacer restitución plena a la parte damnificada; no es necesario demostrar que la demora fue intencional o inicua. 23/

21/ Por ejemplo, en notas diplomáticas en las que se reclamó compensación al Gobierno de Israel por muertes inicuas resultantes del ataque contra la nave "U.S.S. Liberty" en 1967, Estados Unidos explicó que "[e]l monto de la reclamación para la esposa e hijos sobrevivientes se basa en la pérdida de servicios especiales que el difunto habría prestado, "shock" y angustia mental sufridos como consecuencia de la muerte y la pérdida de aportes financieros que el difunto habría hecho para sufragar su sostenimiento . . . El monto de la reclamación para los padres sobrevivientes como consecuencia del violento quebrantamiento de los lazos de familia. Incluye, asimismo, una asignación en concepto de sostenimiento futuro, servicios y otros beneficios que es razonable presumir que el difunto habría proporcionado a sus padres". Véase 1980 M. Nash, U.S. Practice in International Law 747 (1986). En forma similar, en los memoriales presentados a nombre de reclamantes israelitas y de ciudadanos de los Estados Unidos en los asesinatos de Ras Burga invocan, respectivamente, las normas sobre perjuicios expuestas en el caso Lusitania. Véase Petition for Compensation on Behalf of Tali Ophira Griffel, en 188 (15 de abril de 1988), y Memorandum in Support of the Claim for Compensation on Behalf of the Estate of Schelach, et al. Presentado al Comité establecido por Decreto No. 4866 del Ministro de Justicia de la República Arabe de Egipto, relativo a la compensación de las familias de las víctimas de Ras Burga, en 18 (15 de abril de 1988). B. Compensación en Concepto de Aporte Financiero Perdido

El derecho internacional y el derecho nacional están en consonancia en cuanto se refiere a la norma básica de la compensación por sostenimiento financiero y servicios perdidos en casos de reclamaciones por muerte inicua: el reclamante tiene derecho al valor actual de aportes monetarios que el difunto habría hecho al reclamante y al valor de sus servicios prestados para el reclamante durante el resto de la vida natural del difunto. 24/

En el cómputo de los aportes financieros perdidos por el reclamante, se tuvieron en consideración diversos factores como, por ejemplo, a) la edad, sexo, estado de salud y posición social, profesión, hábitos de productividad e ingresos regulares de la persona difunta y el uso que tal persona difunta daba a sus

24/ Los redactores de la Harvard Draft Convention on the International Responsibility of States for Injuries to Aliens, llegaron a la conclusión de que las normas nacionales para casos de muerte inicua son esencialmente las mismas que las que se aplicaron en el marco de la norma del caso Lusitania:

> El monto de los perjuicios . . . es el que es generalmente reconocido por los principales sistemas jurídicos del mundo, esto es, la pérdida financiera sufrida por los dependientes del extranjero debido a la muerte de una persona que es de esperar habría hecho un aporte, mensurable en términos monetarios, para su sostenimiento.

Véase García-Amador, nota 19 precedente, en 133, 324. Un examen de las prácticas comparativas confirma esta conclusión. Véase 11 International Encyclopedia of Comparative Law, cap. 9, en 88-90 (ed. A. Tunc). Véase asimismo Nash, 83 A.J.I.L. en 563 ("las sumas reclamadas [por los Estados Unidos a nombre de los que sufrieron la muerte en el ataque de Irak contra el navío U.S.S. C. Compensación por Perjuicios Morales Según se señala precedentemente, el derecho internacional reconoce que la compensación plena en casos de muerte inicua incluye reparación por padecimientos mentales o lesiones sicológicas sufridos por miembros de la familia como consecuencia de la muerte inicua de la víctima. De igual modo, las reclamaciones por perjuicios personales pueden incluir este elemento si tal perjuicio moral existe. 26/ En la decisión en el caso Lusitania, el Arbitro Parker observó que "no puede haber dudas respecto del carácter real del sufrimiento moral, de una enfermedad de la mente, como así también de una enfermedad del cuerpo". 27/ Agregó que la denegación de reparación en concepto de sufrimiento mental sería equivalente a negar el principio fundamental de que existe un remedio para la invasión directa de todo derecho". 28/

25/ Véase Lusitania en 20; 1 Whiteman, nota 19/ anterior en 667.
26/ Véase García-Amador, nota 19/ anterior párrafo 36 en 92 ("La angustia sufrida por algunos de los pasajeros del Lusitania como consecuencia del "shock" que sufrieron cuando fueron arrojados al agua durante el hundimiento, fue considerada por el Arbitro Parker un perjuicio sujeto a adjudicación de una indemnización".)

28/ Id. en 21 ("[e]s manifiestamente imposible calcular matemáticamente, o con algún grado de precisión, o mediante el empleo de una fórmula extacta, los perjuicios sufridos, . . . esta circunstancia, no obstante, no proporciona una razón . . . por la cual la persona que ha sufrido no debería recibir reparación por tal sufrimiento, medida por reglas lo más exactas posibles dada la inventiva humana".) Accord, García-Amador, nota 19 anterior, párrafo 64 en 99.

La categoría general de perjuicios no físicos o no pecuniarios compensables en el marco del derecho internacional ha sido clasificada diversamente como "sufrimiento mental", "perjuicio moral" o "lesión moral". 29/ El monto y las circunstancias en que se han hecho adjudicaciones por "sufrimiento mental" o "perjuicio moral" han variado extensamente con base en los hechos específicos del caso y las características extraordinarias inherentes a la lesión causada. 30/

29/ Es difícil definir con precisión tal lesión o perjuicio; no obstante, según se declara en Recent Codification of the Law of State Responsibility for Injuries to Aliens:

> Una lesión moral puede describirse, en su sentido más amplio, como lo contrario a una lesión física, pero su naturaleza no se presta con facilidad a una definición exacta. . . . Además, es posible sufrir una lesión moral en las circunstancias más variadas que necesariamente influyen la valoración de la reparación apropiada . . .

García-Amador, nota 19 precedente, # 37, en 92-93.

30/ Por ejemplo, la Corte Interamericana de Derechos Humanos adjudicó compensación por daños sicológicos sufridos por la esposa e hijo sobrevivientes en la desaparición forzada de Saúl Godinez Cruz, manifestando que "[c]on respecto a daño moral, la Corte declara que el mismo es reparable de acuerdo con el derecho internacional, . . ." Godinez Cruz en 26. Nueva Zelanda recibió compensación por la afrenta e insulto inherentes a la violación de su soberanía por medio de una bomba detonada por Francia en la nave The Rainbow Warrior, de Greenpeace, en el puerto de Auckland. Secretario General de las Naciones Unidas: Dictamen en el "affair" Rainbow Warrior entre Francia y Nueva Zelanda, reimpreso en 26 I.L.M. 1346 (1987) (en adelante "Dictamen") en 1354. Si bien en el Dictamen se indica que la adjudicación a Nueva Zelanda de 7 millones de dólares sólo tiene la finalidad de constituir compensación "por todos los daños sufridos", la adjudicación excedió los aproximadamente 4 millones de dólares en daños materiales sufridos por Nueva Zelanda y que Francia reconoció eran adecuados, (id. en 137, 1363, 1368-69) y, en consecuencia, incluye compensación por el "daño moral", según lo demandó Nueva Zelanda. Véase Wexler, The Rainbow Warrior Affair: State and Agent Responsibility for Authorized Violations of International Law, 5 Boston U.L.J. 389, 407 (1987).

Un criterio "básico y, a la vez general, es que la reparación debe ser conmensurable con la naturaleza o el alcance del daño real". 31/ Si bien este principio es de aceptación general, la determinación del monto de la reparación adjudicada por daños ha variado considerablemente según el grado de la penuria física o moral sufrida por el acto inicuo. 32/

Las circunstancias específicas de cada caso determinarán la suma que representa una compensación justa por el perjuicio moral o material sufrido. 33/ Se toman en consideración todas las circunstancias concomitantes, inclusives los factores agravantes que sirven para incrementar la compensación. 34/

D. Compensación por Gastos Directos

1. Gastos Médicos, de Viajes y Misceláneos

Según se destaca durante toda esta presentación, puesto que el propósito de la reparación es el de otorgar plena reparación a quienes fueron perjudicados por un acto inicuo, las reclamaciones en concepto de gastos médicos y otros costos directos resultantes de un acto inicuo, son enteramente compensables de acuerdo con el derecho internacional. 35/ Los costos directos incurridos como consecuencia de las muertes inicuas de Ronni Moffitt y Orlando Letelier incluyen honorarios en concepto de tratamientos siquiátricos y médicos de otra índole y costos de viajes relacionados con la resolución de las reclamaciones de las familias. 36/

Ha quedado claramente establecido que costos médicos constituyen un elemento de costos directos para los cuales debe adjudicarse compensación. Grotius manifiesta: "Quien en forma injusta toma una vida humana está obligado a pagar los gastos médicos, de haberse incurrido en los mismos". 37/ Uno de los elementos que ha de compensarse en un caso de lesión corporal o de muerte inicua es el costo de tratamientos médicos. 38/ La Comisión Mixta EE.UU.-Alemania sobre Reclamaciones adjudicó a un reclamante gastos médicos, de hospital y otros resultantes de las lesiones corporales sufridas a causa de la tragedia del Lusitania. 39/ En uno de los primeros casos, decidido por el Arbitro Roenne al amparo de la Convención de 1839 entre México y los Estados Unidos, se adjudicó al reclamante una suma en concepto de honorarios médicos. 40/ Un gasto médico se incluyó en una reclamación de los Estados Unidos presentada a y pagada por Polonia a nombre de un reclamante que había sido arrestado ilícitamente y lesionado por soldados polacos. 41/ Prácticas recientes asimismo respaldan la inclusión de gastos siquiátricos como una forma de gasto médico, como parte de la compensación adjudicada en el marco del derecho internacional. La compensación reclamada a nombre de Tali Griffel, de 8 años de edad, incluyó los costos de su tratamiento siquiátrico y su educación en una escuela particular como consecuencia de haber presenciado el asesinato de su madre. 42/

2. Honorarios de Abogados

Al amparo del derecho internacional, los gastos en busca de justicia asimismo han sido aceptados como componentes apropiados de una compensación. 46/ La compensación en busca de justicia ha incluido indemnización por gastos de un enjuiciamiento infructuoso de una reclamación. 47/ También han merecido adjudicación esfuerzos realizados para concertar la componenda de una reclamación. 48/

Los gastos incurridos para la investigación del incidente, inclusives honorarios de abogados, son compensables sea que se efectuaron con el propósito de actuaciones civiles o penales. Por ejemplo, en el caso Rainbow Warrior, Nueva Zelanda demandó y Francia aceptó responsabilidad por cuatro millones de dólares en concepto de gastos en que incurrió el primero para la investigación del atentado con bomba contra el Rainbow Warrior en el puerto de Auckland, y el enjuiciamiento de los responsables. 49/ En forma similar, en el caso Godinez Cruz, la Corte Interamericana de Derechos Humanos reconoció que los costos en que incurrieron las familias para la investigación y sus esfuerzos para lograr justicia por la desaparición de Saul Godinez Cruz fueron, en principio, un elemento apropiado de reparación. 50/

Por lo tanto, a fin de que la restitución para las familias sea la más completa posible, deberán ser compensadas por todos los gastos directos, inclusive un monto razonable en concepto de honorarios de abogados.

IV. MONTO DE LA COMPENSACION APROPIADA EN EL MARCO DE PRINCIPIOS DE DERECHO INTERNACIONAL

A. Determinación del Monto de las Contribuciones Financieras y de los Servicios Perdidos

La pérdida de ingresos y de servicios causada por las muertes de Ronni Moffitt y Orlando Letelier ha sido cuantificada en los análisis realizados por los economistas Dr. Lewis Perl y Dr. David Evans, de la firma de asesoramiento económico NERA (National Economic Research Associates, Inc.).

Los doctores Perl y Evans están eminentemente calificados para efectuar este tipo de análisis económico. El Dr. Perl es Vicepresidente Ejecutivo de NERA y encabeza el departamento de la firma que se ocupa de prácticas económicas laborales. Según se ilustra en su curriculum vitae, obtuvo su doctorado en economía, fue profesor de economía y ha estado preparando estos tipos de análisis desde 1972. Véase documento agregado al "Análisis de las Pérdidas Económicas Sufridas por la Familia de Orlando Letelier", que se adjunta al presente en calidad de Elemento de Prueba 15 del Gob. de los EE.UU. (en adelante "Análisis de Letelier").

El Dr. Evans, otro perito en la materia, fue co-autor del análisis con el Dr. Perl y en la actualidad es profesor de derecho y economía y posée considerable experiencia en el campo de relaciones laborales. Numerosas personas y entidades involucradas en controversias jurídicas han dependido de las idóneas opiniones de los doctores Perl y Evans en tribunales de los Estados Unidos. Id.

Para calcular las pérdidas sufridas por las familias del señor Letelier y de la señora Moffitt, estos economistas aplicaron un análisis económico estándar, del tipo comúnmente empleado por peritos en la materia. Análisis de Letelier en 1; "Analisis de las Pérdidas Económicas Sufridas por la Familia de Ronni Karpen Moffitt", agregado al presente como Elemento de Prueba 16 del Gob. de los EE.UU. (en adelante "Análisis de Moffitt") en 1. Se prepararon dos análisis individuales -- uno para la señora Moffitt y otro para el señor Letelier. No obstante, los pasos seguidos en estos análisis son esencialmente iguales. Primero, los economistas calcularon las sumas proyectadas que la persona difunta habría ganado, de todas las fuentes, en cada año, de no haber sido por su muerte prematura. A continuación, ajustaron los ingresos proyectados para cada uno de los años, para dar justo peso a la probabilidad que la persona difunta habría egresado de la fuerza laboral en ese año. Luego se dedujo la cantidad que la persona habría consumido personalmente. Se agrega el valor de los servicios que la persona difunta habría desempeñado en beneficio de su familia, de no haber sido por su muerte. Por último, las cifras correspondientes a cada año se ajustan para que reflejen su valor actual y luego se sumaron. Los economistas incorporaron, en medida apropiada, los elementos que se mencionan en la Sección III (B), más adelante. Estos factores se refieren a la edad de la persona difunta, su sexo, profesión y hábitos de productividad.

1. Cálculo de las Pérdidas Sufridas por la Familia Letelier

Habiéndose ceñido a la metodología estándar de aceptación general que se describe precedentemente, los doctores Perl y Evans llegan a la conclusión de que las pérdidas pecuniarias directas sufridas por la familia Letelier como resultado de la muerte inicua del señor Letelier oscilan entre 2.021.104 y 3.484.352 dólares. Análisis Letelier en 20.

a. Ingresos Futuros

Los economistas en primer término trataron de determinar el monto de los ingresos que el señor Letelier habría devengado durante el resto de su vida natural, con base en sus antecedentes, educación y experiencia profesional. Los economistas emplearon como referencias el testimonio judicial jurado de Isabel Letelier y del Director del IPS, señor Robert Borosage, como así también las comunicaciones de personas que tienen conocimientos especiales en materia de remuneraciones, cuyas referencias se agregan al presente como elementos de prueba para el Análisis de Letelier. 51/ Después de efectuar el análisis de estos materiales, los economistas computaron ingresos futuros del señor Letelier, con base en dos carreras profesionales de alternativa. En una de las proyecciones, el señor Letelier hubiera permanecido en el IPS durante toda su carrera; en la otra, habría dejado de trabajar en el IPS a fines de 1980 y habría reanudado su carrera en la banca internacional.

(1) Ingresos Futuros como Asociado Ejecutivo en el IPS

En la primera de las opciones, el señor Letelier habría continuado en el IPS como Asociado Ejecutivo, hubiera publicado libros y artículos, hubiera disertado y hubiera continuado dictando cátedra en la American University. Todas estas actividades hubieran generado ingresos para él. 52/ El señor

51/ Los elementos de prueba agregados al Análisis de Letelier son: Elemento de Prueba 1 - Transcripción del testimonio de Isabel Letelier durante el juicio (20 de junio de 1980); Elemento de Prueba 2 - Transcripción del testimonio de Robert Borosage durante el juicio (20 de junio de 1980); Elemento de Prueba 3 - Carta de Diane de Vegh, del IPS, relativa a proyecciones de salarios para Orlando Letelier y Ronni Moffitt; El Elemento de Prueba 4 consiste de tres documentos - Idoneidad de Paul Jadot (banquero internacional), Memorándum de Jadot a Tim Junkin referente al potencial de Orlando para su empleo en la banca internacional, y el Estudio de 1981 sobre Remuneración Monetaria de Funcionarios Bancarios.

52/ En la Tabla 1 del Análisis de Letelier se refleja el cálculo de las pérdidas económicas sufridas por su familia, presumiendo que el señor Letelier hubiera permanecido en el IPS durante el resto de su carrera. En la Tabla 2 se resumen las pérdidas económicas presumiendo que el señor Letelier habría seguido una carrera en la banca internacional. Para facilitar la referencia, se ha incluido en este conjunto de documentos una copia adicional de las Tablas 1 y 2.

Borosage declaró que Asociados Ejecutivos en el IPS reciben de la institución, además de salarios, prestaciones suplementarias. Análisis de Letelier en 4; Testimonio de Robert Borosage durante el juicio, agregado como Elemento de Prueba 2 al Análisis de Letelier (en adelante "Testimonio de Borosage") en 3-4. Además, los Asociados Ejecutivos efectúan investigaciones y preparan análisis de cuestiones políticas de actualidad, y luego escriben libros o artículos en los que exponen las conclusiones desprendidas de sus estudios. Testimonio de Borosage en 3-6.

Para calcular el salario que el señor Letelier hubiera devengado en cada uno de los años desde 1976 hasta el presente, los economistas comenzaron con su salario conocido de 1976, obteniendo luego cifras que reflejan aumentos reales de salarios de Asociados Ejecutivos del IPS trabajando al nivel del señor Letelier en años subsiguientes. Véase Elemento de Prueba 3 agregado al Análisis de Letelier. 53/ Después de 1990, los ingresos futuros del señor Letelier devengados del IPS se calcularon con base en la tasa de crecimiento histórico del 3,01 % de los salarios pagados por el IPS. Análisis de Letelier en 5. Estas cifras se indican en la columna 1 de la Tabla 1. Las prestaciones suplementarias pagadas por el IPS ascienden a más o menos un 15% del salario; esa suma se indica en la columna 2 de la Tabla 1. Id. en 6.

En el transcurso de los años, el IPS ha establecido contactos con las esferas editoriales y puede facilitar la publicación de trabajos de sus empleados. El autor de un tal trabajo y no el IPS es el que recibe un adelanto y regalías por la publicación. Testimonio de Borosage en 3-4. Artículos de los que fue autor el señor Letelier se publicaron en el pasado y se le ofrecieron 20.000 dólares como anticipo para que escribiera un libro acerca de sus experiencias en Chile. Testimonio de I. Letelier en 18-19.

53/ Los empleados del IPS asimismo reciben una asignación de 1.000 dólares anuales por cada uno de sus dependientes. Testimonio de Borosage en 11. Por lo tanto, los cálculos de salarios incluyen 1.000 dólares en cada año para la señora Letelier y 1.000 dólares para cada hijo menor de 18 años de edad, según fuere apropiado. Análisis de Letelier en 6.

En forma similar, el IPS constituye una fuente de oradores para seminarios y reuniones de carácter político. La señora Letelier manifiesta que su esposo fue un disertante activo. Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 6. El señor Borosage declaró que: "con sus antecedentes bancarios (los del señor Letelier) y su singular prestigio en el país como intelectual . . . él hubiera despertado considerable interés en círculos académicos que pagan significativos anticipos . . ." Testimonio de Borosage en 8. Es evidente que el señor Letelier hubiera sido un orador en gran demanda.

Por lo tanto, asociados del IPS, mediante la publicación de sus trabajos y sus presentaciones orales, pueden devengar sustanciales ingresos de fuentes ajenas al IPS. Es razonable presumir que el señor Letelier hubiera ganado por lo menos tanto con estas actividades como lo que gana el típico Asociado Ejecutivo, y con suma probabilidad una cantidad de dinero mayor si se tiene en cuenta su prestigio internacional.

El señor Borosage asimismo declaró que el señor Letelier podría haber anticipado complementar su salario en el IPS con 5.000 a 10.000 dólares anuales publicando sus trabajos en revistas y otros 5.000 a 10.000 dólares anuales con sus disertaciones. Declaración Jurada de Borosage en 5, 8. Se usó un promedio del extremo alto y del extremo bajo de esta escala, o sean 7.500 dólares anuales para cada una de estas actividades. Análisis de Letelier en 7. En consecuencia, el señor Letelier en 1977 habría devengado por lo menos 15.000 dólares en concepto de disertaciones y la publicación de sus trabajos, según se indica en la columna 3. De 1978 en adelante, la cifra en la columna 3 se incrementa de conformidad con la tasa de inflación, puesto que estas cifras habrían aumentado con por lo menos igual celeridad que la inflación.

La cifra consignada en la columna 2 para cada cuarto año a partir de 1980, incluye 20.000 dólares de anticipo en efectivo para un libro. Id. en 7. Si bien el señor Borosage declaró que los Asociados Ejecutivos por lo general publican un libro año por medio, los economistas en forma conservadora han basado sus cifras en la publicación de un libro cada cuatro años, y también en la presunción de que las regalías de libros nunca habrían excedido un anticipo en efectivo de 20.000 dólares. 54/

También debe añadirse como factor el ingreso percibido por el señor Letelier por su trabajo en la American University. Su salario de profesor en 1976 fue de 2.050 dólares. Dado que los salarios en los Estados Unidos por lo general aumentan con igual rapidez que la tasa de inflación, el ingreso en concepto de la cátedra en la American University para años futuros fue aumentado de acuerdo con la tasa de inflación. Id. en 6. El total combinado de salario y beneficios devengados del IPS, honorarios de discursos y disertaciones, regalías de la publicación de libros y el salario devengado de la cátedra, produce el nivel anticipado de ingresos si Orlando se hubiera quedado en el IPS.

54/ El señor Borosage manifestó en su declaración jurada que cualquier persona del prestigio de Orlando recibiría entre 20.000 y 50.000 dólares, dependiendo del libro y el tema tratado. Testimonio de Borosage en 4-5. Cuando se le preguntó en cuánto se podía prever que las regalías excederían un anticipo en efectivo de 25.000 dólares, el señor Borosage respondió que si bien ello es especulativo, Orlando disfrutaba de varias ventajas. Tenía admiradores en el ámbito internacional, lo cual significaba un auditorio mayor y que cada vez que una editorial firmaba contrato por el libro en un país adicional, tal editorial pagaría un derecho fijo en concepto de "regalías". Id. en 7. Si bien se reconoce que es difícil prever el éxito de cualquier libro dado, los economistas presumen que las regalías nunca habrían excedido el anticipo y que, aun después de la publicación de varios libros, el anticipo de Orlando en dólares reales no habría aumentado.

(2) Ingresos Futuros como Banquero Internacional

Si el señor Letelier a principios de 1981 hubiese dejado de trabajar en el IPS para aceptar un cargo en la banca internacional, sus ingresos habrían aumentado considerablemente. El señor Paul Jadot 55/, experto en el campo de la banca internacional, ofrece su opinión profesional expresando que si se tienen en consideración los antecedentes y la experiencia del señor Letelier, inclusive el período de 10 años que trabajó en el Banco Interamericano de Desarrollo, es de presumir que podría haber ocupado un cargo de elevado nivel en la banca internacional en cualquier momento entre 1977 y 1981. Id. en 8; véase el Memorándum de Paul Jadot dirigido a Tim Junkin, de fecha 13 de agosto de 1990, agregado al Análisis de Letelier como Elemento de Prueba 4, en 3-4. En la banca internacional, el señor Letelier en 1981 habría ganado 112.000 dólares, cuyo estimado se basa en los salarios de personas con calificaciones similares a las suyas. 56/ Análisis de Letelier,. Elemento de Prueba 4, en 4, 6.

El salario después de 1981 se calculó teniendo en cuenta pronósticos de la inflación, el incremento promedio anual de la productividad y el efecto edad-remuneración (en el que se presume que la productividad disminuye a medida que la edad avanza), según se refleja en la Tabla 3. Los resultados de estos cálculos (que se explican en el Análisis de Letelier en las páginas 9-11) se consignan en la columna 1 de la Tabla 2.

55/ Véase Antecedentes Profesionales de Paul Jadot, agregados al Análisis de Letelier como Elemento de Prueba 4, en 1-2.

56/ Si bien se pudo haber elegido cualquier año después de 1976 como año en el que el señor Letelier habría llegado a ocupar un cargo de categoría salarial más elevada, los economistas también a este respecto seleccionaron una fecha conservadora. Cuando sus hijos llegaran a la edad universitaria a fines de la década de 1970, es muy probable que el señor Letelier habría cambiado en una fecha más temprana a un cargo mejor remunerado.

Puesto que no hay forma de conocer cuál habría sido la institución elegida por el señor Letelier para seguir su carrera bancaria, los economistas emplearon un estudio de beneficios llevado a cabo por la Cámara de Comercio de los Estados Unidos (Tabla 4) que ilustra que los beneficios son, término medio, del orden de un 23,4 % del salario. Análisis de Letelier en 11. Esta cifra se consigna en la columna 2 de la Tabla 2.

En el resto del Análisis se toman las cifras generadas por cada una de estas dos opciones (continuación en el IPS o retorno a una carrera en la banca internacional) y se efectúan los ajustes descritos más adelante.

b. Ingresos Ajustados

En la Sección III del Análisis, el monto del salario proyectado para cada año se disminuye en un factor igual a la probabilidad de que el señor Letelier no habría permanecido en la fuerza laboral 57/ Análisis de Letelier, en 12-13. Esto es, si, con base en estadísticas generadas por la Oficina de Estadísticas Laborales, hay una probabilidad del 5% de que el señor Letelier habría salido de la fuerza laboral en ese año, el salario que él habría percibido se disminuye en un 5%. Los resultados de estos cálculos se consignan en la columna titulada "total ajustado" en las Tablas 1 y 2.

57/ Este ajuste sustituye a toda otra presunción arbitraria respecto de la probable edad de jubilación y modifica los ingresos proyectados para cada año para dar cabida a una creciente posibilidad de jubilación.

c. Deducción en Concepto de Consumo Personal

Se hace una deducción correspondiente a la porción de los ingresos que habrían sido asignados al consumo personal del señor Letelier y que, por lo tanto, no hubieran estado a disposición de sus dependientes. 58/

d. Valor de Servicios Personales

En la Sección V se agrega a la ecuación el valor de los servicios prestados por el señor Letelier en su casa. En su testimonio, la señora Letelier manifestó que su esposo se encargaba de efectuar reparaciones en el hogar además de hacer trabajos de carpintería y jardinería. Testimonio de I. Letelier en 19; Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 7; véase asimismo Análisis de Letelier en 16. No obstante, puesto que no se dispone de cifras exactas sobre la cantidad de tiempo que él dedicó a tales actividades, para calcular el valor de sus servicios domésticos se empleó un Informe de la Universidad de Cornell titulado "The Dollar Value of Housework" (El Valor Monetario de Trabajos Hogareños). 59/ En este informe se indica que un marido en una familia con dos hijos menores de 18 años, 58/ El consumo personal se calculó por medio de un estudio de Rand Corporation, según se explica en el Análisis de Letelier en las páginas 14-16.

59/ Para la preparación del estudio de Cornell se pidió a los respondientes que mantuvieran un registro de la cantidad de tiempo empleado para realizar tareas diversas. A tales servicios se les asignó entonces una tasa salarial basada en lo que costaría la contratación de alguien para hacer esos mismos trabajos. Análisis de Letelier en 17.

dedica dos horas diarias a servicios no comerciables y que tales servicios en 1979 tuvieron un valor de 2.100 dólares anuales. Análisis de Letelier en 17. Con base en el testimonio de su esposa en el sentido de que él construyó anaqueles y adiciones a la casa y que podía hacer reparaciones eléctricas y de fontanería, parecería ser que el valor de los servicios del señor Letelier para la casa excedía el promedio. En consecuencia, empleando las cifras que se dan en el estudio de Cornell, se subestimaría el valor monetario de las pérdidas de la familia en tal concepto. Id. y también Testimonio de I. Letelier en 19.

Puesto que es razonable presumir que si el señor Letelier hubiera egresado de la fuerza laboral habría tenido más tiempo para desempeñar servicios en su casa, el valor de sus servicios se incrementó de acuerdo con el porcentaje de probabilidad de que el señor Letelier no estaría incorporado a la fuerza laboral en cualquier año dado. Análisis de Letelier en 17-18. Las cifras en la columna 8 de la Tabla 1 y en la columna 6 de la Tabla 2 proyectan el valor de los servicios no comerciables del señor Letelier.

e. Cálculo del Valor Actual

Por último, en la Sección VI, el valor de los servicios del señor Letelier se suma a la cifra ajustada de su salario para un total anual de las familias. El total anual entonces se ajusta a su valor actual. 60/ Véase id. en 18-19. A continuación se suman las cifras consignadas en la última columna de cada tabla.

f. Pérdidas Totales Sufridas por la Familia Letelier

Por lo tanto, si el señor Letelier hubiera continuado en el IPS durante el resto de su carrera profesional, su familia se habría enriquecido monetariamente en un monto equivalente a 2.021.104 dólares de valor actual. Si el señor Letelier se hubiera reincorporado a la banca internacional, la familia se habría enriquecido monetariamente en un monto equivalente a 3.484.352 dólares. Véase Total en la Tabla 2.

60/ Estas cifras constan en la última columna de cada tabla.

2. Las Presunciones Aplicadas en el Análisis de Letelier son de Carácter Conservador

En la formulación de estos cálculos, los economistas citados, utilizaron en forma consecuente las presunciones y la metodología de computación más conservadoras. Por ejemplo, una de las dos proyecciones de alternativa para el cálculo del salario del señor Letelier se basa en la presunción de que él durante el resto de su carrera profesional habría permanecido en el IPS en un cargo de remuneración relativamente baja. Si bien no sabemos cuánto tiempo habría continuado trabajando en el IPS, es sumamente improbable que el señor Letelier, en vista de su educación, experiencia y las necesidades financieras de su familia, habría aceptado un empleo en el que habría ganado menos de lo que estaba ganando en el IPS. 61/ Además, en la opción del IPS, los economistas también presumieron que el señor Letelier, aun después de haber publicado varios libros, nunca habría obtenido más de 20.000 dólares en concepto de anticipo por un libro. Por lo tanto, la proyección en el caso del IPS, representa el cálculo mínimo de lo que el señor Letelier hubiera aportado a su familia durante el resto de su carrera profesional.

61/ En 1976, Orlando tenía dos hijos cursando estudios universitarios y otros dos que pronto los iniciarían. El tuvo títulos avanzados y había demostrado éxito en lo que había emprendido profesionalmente, de modo que no le hubiera sido difícil encontrar empleo en su especialidad. Además, entre empleadores y empleados existe una tendencia general a considerar el salario actual de una persona como requisito mínimo en un cargo nuevo.

La segunda alternativa, que se basa en la reincorporación del señor Letelier a su anterior carrera en la banca internacional, es la más probable de las dos puesto que su fundamento no es lo que él estaba haciendo cuando acaeció su muerte, sino lo que él realmente proyectaba hacer en el futuro. Véase Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 6. El señor Letelier poseía un título en economía y al comienzo de su carrera profesional había trabajado como economista durante cinco años en el Departamento de Cobre en el Banco Central de Chile; durante un período breve en el Ministerio de Hacienda de Venezuela y de 1960 a 1970 en el Banco Interamericano de Desarrollo (en adelante BID), en Washington, D.C. En reconocimiento de su experiencia y pericias, había avanzado rápidamente en el BID para llegar a ser Director de Préstamos para el Cono Sur. Id. en 4; Análisis de Letelier en 3. En contraste, había trabajado en el IPS tan sólo un año y medio. Lo que es más, la reincorporación a la banca internacional tenía el mejor sentido económico. Análisis de Letelier en 6. El señor Letelier, como economista, comprendió esto muy bien.

Sin embargo, aun la alternativa de una carrera en la banca internacional se basa en presunciones conservadoras. Para esa eventualidad se presume que la productividad del señor Letelier habría disminuido a medida que su edad avanzaba cuando, de hecho, se le conocía como una persona de elevada energía y logros extraordinarios. Véase Declaración Jurada de I. Letelier en 2; Análisis de Letelier en 20. También se presume que después de reincorporarse a la banca, o sea el caso de la segunda alternativa, al margen de su sueldo no habría devengado ingresos en concepto de sus escritos, disertaciones o actividades pedagógicas. Además, los economistas reconocieron que con base en las declaraciones efectuadas por la señora Letelier, el valor de los servicios prestados por el señor Letelier a su familia probablemente excedería 2.100 dólares (en dólares de 1979). Análisis de Letelier en 17. Por lo tanto, si bien es la representación más probable de las pérdidas reales para la familia Letelier, la alternativa en la banca internacional también se basa en presunciones conservadoras.

Dado que es más probable que el señor Letelier habría regresado a la banca internacional en lugar de permanecer en el IPS, la suma de 3.484.352 dólares es la que más se aproxima a las pérdidas monetarias para la familia Letelier.

3. Cálculo de las Pérdidas de Michael Moffitt

En forma similar al caso anterior, los economistas calcularon las pérdidas pecunarias directas sufridas por Michael Moffitt como consecuencia de la muerte de su esposa, llegando a la conclusión de que las pérdidas del señor Moffitt ascienden a un monto que oscila entre 1.815.387 y 2.065.345 dólares. Análisis de Moffitt en 1, 17.

a. Ingresos Futuros

Los economistas en primer término examinaron información relativa a la educación de la señora Moffitt, su experiencia y sus planes para el futuro. 62/ La señora Moffitt inició su carrera como maestra pero pasó a la recolección de fondos para el IPS. Los economistas determinaron que las dos trayectorias más probables de la carrera profesional de la señora Moffitt consistían en su reincorporación al magisterio y la continuación de su trabajo como recolectora de fondos. Dado que no habría una diferencia significativa en el análisis de haber reingresado ella al magisterio, los economistas presumen que la señora Moffit habría permanecido en la profesión de recolección de fondos que ella estaba ejerciendo cuando acaeció su muerte. Análisis de Moffitt en 3-4.

Los economistas emplearon el estudio "Compensation in Nonprofit Organizations" (La Remuneración en Organizaciones que Funcionan sin Fines de Lucro), publicado por Abbott, Langer and Associates, para proyectar un salario para la señora Moffitt como 62/ Las fuentes de esta información, en forma del Testimonio de Michael Moffitt durante el juicio y una carta de Diane de Vegh del IPS, se agregan al presente en calidad de Elementos de Prueba 1 y 2 del Análisis de Moffitt.

recolectora de fondos 63/ Id. en 4. Por conducto de este estudio se determinó que personas que dirigen y coordinan programas de recolección de fondos para organizaciones y que posean entre 10 y 14 años de experiencia, en 1989 ganaban 39.091 dólares. De haber continuado viviendo y de poder haber ejercido la profesión de recolectora de fondos, la señora Moffitt en 1989 habría acumulado 13 años de experiencia. Por lo tanto, esta cifra de 39.091 dólares se consigna en la columna 1 de la Tabla 1 del Análisis de Moffitt para el año de 1989. 64/ En el estudio de Abbott, Langer and Associates también se consignan ajustes de salarios para las diversas regiones geográficas de los Estados Unidos. Los recolectores de fondos en la zona de Washington, D.C., con una experiencia de 10 a 14 años, tuvieron un sueldo promedio de 49.251 dólares. Esta cifra aparece en la columna 1 de la Tabla 2. Por ello, los economistas llegan a la conclusión de que la probable gama para el salario de la señora Moffit en

63/ Abbott, Langer and Associates es una organización que efectúa estudios de remuneración y beneficios de empleados por zona geográfica, industria y/o profesión. La Sociedad para Organizaciones que Funcionan sin Fines de Lucro patrocinó este estudio durante el cual se tomó contacto con más de 2.100 organizaciones de este tipo para obtener información acerca de la remuneración y los beneficios que acuerdan a sus empleados. La información que se obtuvo para cada cargo se analizó en función de los años de experiencia, región geográfica y tamaño de la organización en cuestión. Luego la información se recopiló en dos volúmenes que contienen 905 páginas de tablas. Véase Abbott, Langer and Associates Compensation in Nonprofit Organizations, 791-814 (2da. ed., 1989).

64/ Al igual que en el caso del Análisis de Letelier, se han reproducido copias adicionales de las Tablas 1 y 2 para facilitar la referencia. Las cifras en la Tabla 1 se basan en la presunción de que la señora Moffitt se habría ido de la zona de Washington, D.C. En la Tabla 2 se consignan cifras aplicables si se presume que la señora Moffitt se habría quedado en la zona de Washington, D.C.

1989 osciló entre 39.091 y 49.251 dólares 65/ Id. en 5.

Para obtener cifras de los salarios de la señora Moffitt para los años de 1977 a 1989, los economistas computaron la tasa promedio de incremento anual requerido para llevar 15.000 dólares en 1977 a 39.000 dólares en 1989. En forma similar computaron la tasa de incremento anual requerida para llevar 15.000 dólares a 49.000 dólares. Puesto que la inflación fue del 6,2 % durante este período, el crecimiento real de los salarios osciló entre un 1,3 % y un 3,2 % anual. Id. en 6. Las tasas de crecimiento real se añaden a la tasa real de la inflación para ese año con el propósito de computar el salario proyectado de la señora Moffitt para cada año de 1977 a 1989. Las cifras de salarios en las que 65/ Para verificar la admisibilidad de esta gama, los economistas examinaron las cifras proporcionadas por el IPS (Análisis de Moffitt, Elemento de Prueba 2) en las que se indican las remuneraciones anticipadas que la señora Moffitt habría devengado hasta 1990, con base en los niveles de salarios de las personas empleadas en el IPS en cargos análogos. De acuerdo con la información del IPS, la señora Moffitt en 1989 habría ganado 35.000 dólares como recolectora de fondos. Además, recolectores de fondos en el IPS y en instituciones similares por lo general toman un empleo en igual capacidad fuera de su lugar regular de trabajo para suplementar sus ingresos. Véase Declaración Jurada de Leonard T. Conway, que se agrega como Elemento de Prueba 17 del Gob. EE.UU. (en adelante "Declaración Jurada de Conway"). (El señor Conway fue ex-Director Ejecutivo de una organización en Washington, D.C. que funciona sin fines de lucro y posée experiencia considerable en materia de recolección de fondos para este tipo de institución); Carta de Diane de Vegh, agregada como Elemento de Prueba 2 al Análisis de Moffitt. Con base en la proyección de ingresos suplementarios consignada por el señor Conway, la remuneración total de la señora Moffitt anticipada para el año de 1989 habría sido del orden de 41.000 a 43.000 dólares, presumiendo que habría continuado trabajando en el IPS. Declaración Jurada de Conway en 3. Además, si la señora Moffitt hubiera tenido 2 hijos, según había planeado el matrimonio, (véanse Testimonio de Michael Moffitt durante el juicio, agregado como Elemento de Prueba 1 al Análisis de Moffitt, en adelante "Testimonio de Moffitt") en 8-9; Análisis de Moffitt en 3, n. 1.) ella habría recibido una asignación anual de 1.000 dólares por cada dependiente, incrementando la gama proyectada para su salario de 43.000 a 45.000 dólares. Análisis de Moffitt en 6.

se aplica la tasa del 1,3 % de crecimiento real se consignan en la columna 1 de la Tabla 1, y aquellas en las que se emplea el 3,2% para la tasa de crecimiento real figuran en la columna 1 de la Tabla 2.

Las cifras para salarios después de 1989 se determinaron empleando evidencia desprendida de información general correspondiente al mercado laboral, que indica los regímenes de crecimiento de ingresos anticipados para mujeres con educación universitaria. Id. Al igual que en la alternativa bancaria de Letelier, los economistas ajustaron las cifras de los salarios para tener en cuenta la proyectada tasa de inflación, promedios del incremento de la producción y el "efecto edad-remuneración". Id. en 6-8. Las tasas salariales de 1989 se ajustaron por el producto de estos tres ajustes (indicados en la Tabla 3), y los economistas llegaron a las cifras consignadas en la columna 1 de las Tablas 1 y 2, respectivamente.

No obstante, como el salario no fue el único elemento de remuneración que la señora Moffitt podía haber anticipado, es menester agregar el monto que ella hubiera recibido en concepto de prestaciones suplementarias como recolectora de fondos. En la columna 2 consta este monto, basado en un estudio de prestaciones efectuado en 1989 por la Cámara de Comercio de los Estados Unidos. Id. en 8; Tabla 4.

b. Total Ajustado

Los economistas a continuación calcularon la extensión de la vida de trabajo activo de la señora Moffitt, basando su estimado en estadísticas recopiladas por la Oficina de Estadísticas Laborales de los Estados Unidos. Tales estadísticas indican la probabilidad de que una mujer con 15 años de escolaridad habría estado incorporada a la fuerza laboral a una edad dada. Véase id. en 10. Por ejemplo, a la edad de 26 años, hay una probabilidad del 87,6 % de que una mujer que reúne las características mencionadas habría estado en la fuerza laboral.

Por lo tanto, sólo se confiere crédito de un 87,6 % del salario de la señora Moffitt como remuneración anticipada, según se refleja en la columna titulada "Total Ajustado" en las Tablas 1 y 2. Id. en 11. El empleo de estas estadísticas claramente subestima las pérdidas. Si bien el nacimiento de hijos es el motivo de la mayor parte de las ausencias de la fuerza laboral a la edad de 26 años, la señora Moffitt tuvo la intención de seguir incorporada a la fuerza laboral. Véase Declaración Jurada de Moffitt en 4.

c. Deducción en Concepto de Consumo Personal

En la Sección IV del Análisis de Moffitt, el monto en la columna 2 se redujo en función de las sumas que la señora Moffitt hubiera consumido personalmente, para llegar a la columna 3 en las Tablas 1 y 2. Véase Análisis de Moffitt en 11-14.

d. Valor de Servicios Personales

En la Sección V, los economistas calcularon el valor de los servicios no comerciables, o sea hogareños. El señor Moffitt declaró que su esposa había dado acabado nuevo a muebles viejos, había pintado la casa y había hecho trabajos de jardinería. Dado que los economistas no tuvieron a su disposición información definitiva con respecto a la cantidad de horas que la señora Moffitt dedicó a cada una de estas tareas, recurrieron, al igual que en el caso del Análisis de Letelier, al estudio de la Universidad de Cornell titulado "The Dollar Value of Housework" (El Valor Monetario de Trabajos Hogareños). 66/ Los economistas aplicaron las cifras consignadas en el estudio (ajustando cada año por el factor de inflación) para una esposa empleada, sin hijos, hasta que naciera su primer hijo (lo que arbitrariamente se presumió que habría ocurrido en 1981). 67/ Análisis de Moffitt en 13, 15. Presumiendo que en 1983 hubiera nacido un segundo hijo (también a este respecto el año fijado es arbitrario), los economistas calcularon el valor proyectado de los servicios de la señora Moffitt durante el resto de su vida.

66/ Véase nota 59 y texto acompañante precedentes.

Estas cifras se ajustaron con el fin de incorporar la probabilidad de que ella no estaría en la fuerza laboral en un año dado y, en consecuencia, habría tenido más tiempo para prestar servicios en beneficio de su familia. Id. en 15, 16. El valor de sus servicios después de efectuados todos estos ajustes se consigna en la columna 6 de las Tablas 1 y 2.

e. Cálculo del Valor Actual

Las cifras anuales para el "Total Ajustado" y el valor de los servicios (columnas 5 y 6 de las Tablas 1 y 2, respectivamente) se sumaron y el total así obtenido se descontó a su valor actual (columna 7).

67/ El señor Moffitt declaró que él y Ronni habían planeado tener hijos y que su esposa tuvo la intención de continuar trabajando después de haber tenido familia. Véase Testimonio de Moffitt en 8-9. De acuerdo con el Statistical Abstract of the United States (Resumen Estadístico de los Estados Unidos), mujeres casadas en los Estados Unidos tienen, término medio, dos hijos. Véase Análisis de Moffitt en 13.

f. Pérdidas Totales Sufridas por Michael Moffitt

Luego se sumaron las cifras en las últimas columnas de cada tabla. Las pérdidas sufridas por Michael Moffitt, si no se presume que la señora Moffitt habría permanecido en Washington, D.C., habrían ascendido a 1.815.387 dólares. Presumiendo que el señor y la señora Moffitt se habrían quedado en el área de Washington, D.C., las pérdidas serían entonces 2.065.345 dólares.

4. Las Presunciones Aplicadas en el Análisis de Moffitt son Conservadoras

Al igual que en caso del Análisis de Letelier, los economistas calcularon en forma conservadora las pérdidas de Michael Moffitt como consecuencia de la muerte de su esposa. Por ejemplo, para tener en cuenta que cierta cantidad de mujeres no trabajan con horario completo durante el curso de toda su vida, los economistas confirieron crédito por tan sólo una porción del salario de la señora Moffitt como ingreso suyo, dependiendo para este paso en las estadísticas de 1979-1980 correspondientes a mujeres en la fuerza laboral. En la medida en que la participación de mujeres en la fuerza laboral ha aumentado desde 1980, estas cifras subestiman las pérdidas potenciales. Análisis de Moffitt, n. 13. Estas estadísticas se basan en todas las mujeres con 15 años de escolaridad. En las mismas no se tiene en cuenta que la señora Moffitt específicamente tuvo la intención de permanecer incorporada a la fuerza laboral, aun después de haber tenido hijos. Declaración Jurada de Moffitt en 4; Análisis de Moffitt 3, n. 7.

Los economistas consignan una gama de salarios empleando alternativamente el salario de recolectores de fondos al nivel nacional y los salarios de recolectores de fondos en Washington, D.C. Según el señor Moffitt indicó en su Declaración Jurada, es sumamente improbable que el matrimonio Moffitt se habría ido del área de Washington, D.C. - ambos estuvieron entusiasmados con sus respectivos empleos y ambos se interesaban por la política internacional - factores éstos que sugieren que la alternativa más probable habría sido que ellos se hubiesen quedado en Washington, D.C. Véase Declaración Jurada de Moffitt en 1-5. Es así que el monto de 2.065.345 es el que más se aproxima a la pérdida monetaria real sufrida por Michael Moffit como consecuencia de la muerte inicua de su esposa.

B. Determinación del Monto de la Compensación por Daños Morales

En este caso, las familias sufrieron el "shock" y dolor del quebrantamiento violento de sus lazos familiares, lo cual claramente es compensable en el marco del caso Lusitania. 68/ Sin embargo, sufrieron mucho más que el dolor y las angustias que normalmente acompañan la muerte repentina de un ser querido. En la determinación del monto de la compensación que ha de adjudicarse en concepto de daños morales, es menester tener en consideración las circunstancias agravantes inherentes a este caso.

Los factores agravantes o excepcionales presentes aquí incluyen: 1) el "shock" y horror que la forma de muerte brutal causaron a los miembros de las respectivas familias; 2) la ira y los temores causados por la naturaleza maliciosa e intencional del acto; 3) las extensas lesiones sicológicas y sus manifestaciones físicas causadas por el asesinato, y 4) los sufrimientos mentales y las lesiones sicológicas causadas por circunstancias agravantes vinculadas directamente con el asesinato.

68/ Véase Sección III (C) precedente.

Del examen de estos factores se desprende que el carácter excepcionalmente horrible de las muertes provocadas, ha causado a las familias angustia extrema. En un momento, Orlando fue uno de los miles de individuos en camino hacia sus lugares de empleo. Al momento siguiente, su torso inferior había quedado destrozado. Su esposa señaló que cuando ella vio su cadáver, el "shock" y los dolores que él había experimentado se reflejaban claramente en su rostro. Después de la explosión, Michael Moffitt vio a Ronni lo suficientemente alerta como para alejarse del automóvil, sólo para ahogarse lentamente a un costado del camino con la sangre que fluía hacia sus pulmones desde la arteria perforada en su cuello. La forma extraordinariamente brutal en la que sucumbieron las víctimas es fuente de gran dolor para las familias.

Este caso asimismo presenta características extremas en cuanto al grado de los sufrimientos causados por la naturaleza intencional y maliciosa del acto. 69/ Cada uno de los miembros de las familias considera que el asesinato no sólo fue un hecho que arrancó de la vida de cada uno de ellos a un ser querido, sino que también representa una intensa violación personal. El "shock" y el horror de las familias fueron acentuados por su conocimiento de que el asesinato fue cometido por agentes de un gobierno extranjero en suelo de los Estados Unidos. Además, los asesinos actuaron sin consideración alguna de quien, además de Orlando, podría sufrir la muerte o podría ser lesionado por la explosión de la bomba. Puesto que la bomba fue controlada por radio desde un automóvil que seguía al de las víctimas, las familias son del parecer que los asesinos deben haberse percatado de que en el automóvil viajaban otras dos personas, además de su víctima prevista. El conocimiento de que los asesinos habían planeado meticulosa e intencionalmente este atentado que causó la muerte cruel de Ronni Moffitt y de Orlando Letelier, es fuente de indignación y horror extremos para los miembros de las familias.

69/ Este factor es distinguible de una reclamación de daños punitivos, dado que el pedido de compensación es en concepto de los sufrimientos y las lesiones que la naturaleza intencional del acto causó a las familias, y no en concepto de castigo.

Adicionalmente, el asesinato produjo profundas lesiones sicológicas permanentes, en algunos casos causantes de manifestaciones físicas, a las familias de Ronni Moffitt y de Orlando Letelier. El alcance de las lesiones sicológicas es pertinente respecto de la determinación del monto apropiado de la compensación. Según manifestó la Corte Interamericana de Derechos Humanos: "La Corte considera que es obvio que la desaparición de Saúl Gordinez Cruz acarreó consecuencias sicológicas perjudiciales a sus parientes más cercanos, lo cual debe compensarse bajo el concepto de daños morales". 70/

No hay nada, aun remotamente especulativo, que pudiera poner en duda la realidad de las lesiones en este caso. No sólo es obvio en sus respectivas declaraciones juradas que los miembros de las familias han sufrido severas consecuencias sicológicas adversas, sino que los informes de los siquíatras confirman y amplían los detalles de tales lesiones sicológicas enormes.

70/ Godinez Cruz en 30.

B6

Las lesiones sicológicas de los miembros de ambas familias fueron agravadas por las circunstancias específicas inherentes al asesinato, circunstancias éstas que tuvieron un impacto adverso casi tan fuerte como las propias muertes. Estas circunstancias, consignadas detalladamente en las declaraciones juradas de los miembros de las familias, incluyen el retiro del apoyo dispensado por amigos y familiares después del asesinato debido al temor que también a ellos se les daría muerte y la ira y temor que los miembros de la familia sintieron como consecuencia de saber que los autores del crimen aún estaban en libertad. Además, los hijos de Letelier tuvieron ofertas de empleo y otras oportunidades de las que se los privó después de la muerte de su padre, y la otrora unida familia Letelier se desintegró.

Resumiendo, este caso es singular dado el alcance de las circunstancias agravantes que los miembros de las familias han tenido que sufrir más allá de la extrema ansiedad mental que experimentaron como resultado del violento quebrantamiento de su unidad familiar. Los miembros de las familias, en diversos grados y en diversas circunstancias, sufrieron insultos, rechazo, depresión, enfermedades físicas, aislamiento, pérdida de sus acostumbradas compañías, temores, desesperanza y una insasiable necesidad de que se haga justicia. En consonancia con precedentes de derecho internacional, la compensación por daños morales debe adjudicarse en un monto que reconozca los inmensos sufrimientos y traumas sicológicos a que fueron sometidos los miembros de las familias como consecuencia directa del asesinato de Orlando Letelier y de Ronni Moffitt y del intento de asesinato de Michael Moffitt.

En consecuencia, el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos solicita que la suma de 250.000 dólares sea adjudicada a nombre de Hilda Karpen por el daño moral que ella sufrió como resultado del asesinato de su hija y que a Murray Karpen se le adjudiquen 500.000 dólares para compensar el daño moral y las resultantes lesiones físicas que él sufrió debido al asesinato.

El Gobierno de los Estados Unidos solicita 250.000 dólares a nombre de cada uno de los hijos del señor Letelier en calidad de compensación por los daños morales sufridos por ellos. A nombre de Isabel Morel de Letelier se solicitan 500.000 dólares con respecto al daño moral extremo que ella sufrió como resultado del asesinato de su esposo y su secuela.

Michael Moffitt, además de haber sufrido la pérdida de su esposa, sufrió la traumática experiencia de ser, él mismo, una víctima del atentado. Por esta razón, el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos solicita, a nombre de Michael Moffitt, 500.000 dólares para compensar el daño moral que el sufrió como resultado del asesinato de su esposa y 500.000 dólares por el grave daño moral, inclusives las lesiones sicológicas que él sufrió como víctima de un intento de asesinato.

C. Determinación del Monto de la Compensación en Concepto de Gastos Directos

1. Gastos Médicos, de Viajes y Misceláneos

En consonancia con principios de derecho internacional, según se señala en la Sección III (D) precedente, los gastos médicos, de viajes y otros en que incurrieron las familias en relación con su búsqueda de justicia, deberían ser rembolsados a los Estados Unidos a nombre de las familias.

B6

Además de los gastos indicados precedentemente, Isabel Letelier, Michael Moffitt y el matrimonio Karpen son responsables del pago de gastos directos por 48.367.70 dólares desembolsados directamente por varios abogados que han trabajado en el caso. Véase Declaración Jurada de Buffone, # 5. Asimismo son responsables mancomunadamente por los servicios de los economistas contratados en su búsqueda de compensación. Las facturas de los economistas ascienden a un total de 51.443,47 dólares sin intereses, o a 78.075,30 dólares con los intereses facturados por el señor Eden. Véase Declaración Jurada de Buffone, # 6.

2. Honorarios de Abogados

Como es natural y casi inevitable, uno de los resultados de un asesinato es que los sobrevivientes y/o miembros de las familias de las personas asesinadas tratarán de imputar responsabilidad a los autores del crimen y actuarán en busca de una reparación por sus pérdidas. Este caso no es excepción. Aquí las familias han estado abocadas a una intensa y prolongada búsqueda de justicia penal y civil, en gran medida por conducto del sistema judicial de los Estados Unidos. Estos esfuerzos exigieron, además de los viajes, los servicios de economistas y otros gastos que se describen precedentemente, la asistencia de peritos jurídicos para atender complejas y a veces novedosas cuestiones jurídicas. Los servicios desempeñados por el señor Tigar, el señor Buffone y otros abogados que asistieron a las familias en este caso se describen en la Declaración Jurada de Samuel J. Buffone en Apoyo de su Solicitud de Honorarios de Abogado (en adelante "Declaración Jurada de Buffone para Honorarios de Abogado"), que se agrega al presente en calidad de Elemento de Prueba 20 del Gob. EE.UU.

Durante todo el período de quince años transcurridos desde el asesinato, los abogados han prestado asistencia a las familias con respecto a una multitud de cuestiones vinculadas con el caso. Han asesorado a las familias con respecto a sus derechos y opciones legales, tanto en lo que atañe a los aspectos penales como en lo referente a los aspectos civiles y la búsqueda de compensación. Id. en ## 2-22. Llevaron a cabo una investigación de los hechos para determinar responsabilidad por el asesinato.

Id. en # 3. Representaron a testigos ante los Grandes Jurados que investigaron los asesinatos y asistieron a Michael Moffitt y a Isabel Letelier en su preparación para los juicios penales. Id. en ## 2, 4.

Los abogados hicieron las investigaciones pertinentes para la formulación de una reclamación por daños, presentada el 8 de agosto de 1987 al Tribunal de Distrito de los Estados Unidos para el Distrito de Columbia, nombrando como demandados a la República de Chile y a varios otros individuos. Id. en # 4. Durante 1978 y 1979, los abogados litigaron activamente este caso el que, como caso contra un soberano extranjero, entrañó numerosas cuestiones jurídicas complejas y exigió numerosas horas dedicadas a investigaciones jurídicas. Id. en ## 4, 5. Aunque la República de Chile no compareció en este caso, de conformidad con las disposiciones de la Ley sobre Inmunidades de Soberanos Extranjeros, las familias tuvieron que hacer una presentación detallada de los hechos en que se basa su reclamación. Los abogados prepararon y presentaron tales documentos. Id. en ## 5-6. El Tribunal determinó que la presentación era convincente y adjudicó a las familias un total de 2.950.000 dólares en un dictamen contra el Gobierno de Chile. 72/

Cuando Chile no pagó voluntariamente el fallo que se había dictado en su contra, los abogados procedieron a efectuar investigaciones para descubrir bienes contra los cuales se pudiera ejecutar el fallo. Id. en ## 9-13. Después de localizar bienes en Nueva York contra los cuales opinaron que se podría ejecutar el fallo, los abogados iniciaron actuaciones de cobro que fueron complejas y prolongadas. Estos esfuerzos requirieron numerosos viajes a Nueva York por parte de los abogados que tenían su base en Washington, como así también numerosas comparecencias ante los tribunales y la preparación de cuantiosos alegatos. Id. en ## 14, 15. Sin embargo, en última instancia, los abogados no pudieron recobrar compensación alguna por conducto del sistema judicial de los Estados Unidos. Id en # 16.

72/ En el dictamen emitido contra los demandados se adjudicó un total de 5.062.854,95 dólares a favor de los demandantes. De acuerdo con las leyes aplicables de los Estados Unidos, esta adjudicación impaga ha estado acumulando intereses desde 1980 a razón de un 13,67% anual.

Habiendo agotado las vías judiciales, los abogados procedieron a buscar una solución legislativa. Trataron de obtener un cambio en ciertos estatutos de los Estados Unidos, cuyo cambio ellos creían les permitiría cobrar el fallo. Id. en ## 17-19. Con tal propósito sostuvieron reuniones con miembros del Congreso de los Estados Unidos, su personal y con miembros del Colegio de Abogados de los Estados Unidos. A este respecto, el señor Buffone prestó declaración en distintas oportunidades ante comisiones parlamentarias. Id. en # 17.

Los abogados asimismo se reunieron con funcionarios del Departamento de Estado y pidieron que este último los asista en la obtención de compensación. El Departamento de Estado finalmente se manifestó de acuerdo y el 18 de abril de 1988 envió una nota diplomática al Gobierno de Chile en la cual se exigía el pago de las pérdidas para el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos incurridas en relación con la investigación y el enjuiciamiento criminales, como así también por las pérdidas y los perjuicios sufridos por Michael Moffitt y los miembros de las familias de las otras víctimas. Id. en # 19. En junio de 1990, los Gobiernos de Chile y de los Estados Unidos llegaron a un acuerdo para resolver esta controversia, según se estipula en el Acuerdo por el cual se recaba la asistencia de esta Comisión. Véase Id. en # 21; Elemento de Prueba 1 del Gob. EE.UU.

Las familias convinieron en pagar los servicios de los abogados con fondos de la adjudicación que esta Comisión determine. Id. en # 23. De no hacerse una adjudicación en concepto de honorarios de abogados, la compensación respecto de otros perjuicios sería reducida efectivamente. Por lo tanto, a los efectos de que la restitución a las familias sea lo más completa posible, es necesario que se haga una adjudicación razonable para el pago de los honorarios de abogados.

El señor Buffone calculó que su firma dedicó aproximadamente 4.477,46 horas a este caso y en forma conservadora estimó un valor de 150,00 dólares por hora para la tasa promedio de remuneración de los abogados que trabajaron en este complicado caso. Id. en ## 26-27. En consecuencia, con base en un examen de la cantidad de servicios prestados y de los registros de tiempo disponibles, el señor Buffone calculó que el razonable valor de mercado de los servicios de su firma es de 671.619.,00 dólares. La firma de Donovan, Leisure, Newton and Irvine también trabajó en el caso y sus registros del tiempo que dedicaron al mismo indican que fue de 1.815,00 horas para las cuales se facturaron 229.243,25 dólares. Id.

A fin de hacer restitución plena a las familias Moffitt y Letelier, en la adjudicación deberían incluirse gastos directos por un total de 176.885,48 dólares y una adjudicación para los abogados por un monto de 900.826,25 dólares.

V. INTERESES

De acuerdo con el derecho internacional, se adjudican intereses para compensar la pérdida del uso de dinero durante un tiempo dado. 73/ Han pasado ahora quince años desde los asesinatos brutales de Ronni Moffitt y Orlando Letelier. A pesar de sus asiduos esfuerzos, las familias aún no han recobrado compensación alguna por las tremendas pérdidas que sufrieron cuando se produjeron los asesinatos en setiembre de 1976. Para que la restitución a las familias sea plena, es menester que se las compense por esta demora.

A. Principios de Derecho Internacional Respaldan la Adjudicación de Intereses

Los intereses constituyen un componente básico de la obligación de otorgar compensación plena por un perjuicio. El Profesor Lillich señala: "los intereses como parte de una adjudicación hecha por un tribunal internacional . . . son 73/ Véase Illinois Central R.R. (U.S.) v. United Mexican States, 4 Adj. de Arbitr. Intl. 134, 136 (1926) ("En nuestra opinión, daños compensatorios justos en este caso no sólo incluirían la suma adeudada, según se declara en el Memorial . . . sino también compensación por la pérdida del uso de dicha suma durante un período dentro del cual su pago continúa siendo retenido".); 1 Brownlie, nota 20 precedente, en 227; 3 Whiteman, nota 22 precedente, en 1913-2006; 8 M. Whiteman, Digest of International Law 1186-1192 (1967); Eagleton, nota 19 precedente, en 203-5; Borchard, nota 22 precedente, en 428-430; R. Lillich, Interest in the Law of International Claims 59 (1982); véase asimismo McCollough & Co. v. Ministry of Post, Telegraph & Telephone, Iran-U.S. C.T.R. 3, 26-31 (1986),(donde el Juez Virally declara "en circunstancias normales . . . sobre las sumas adjudicadas se asignan intereses en concepto de perjuicios a fin de compensar la demora con la que se hace el pago a la parte exitosa.").

reconocidos en el derecho internacional usual . . . como un elemento de perjuicios, inherente en la compensación justa". 74/ En forma similar, Eagleton declara "[l]a adjudicación de intereses por lo general se considera que meramente constituye una parte de la obligación de hacer reparación plena". 75/ En el Artículo 38 de Harvard Draft Convention of the International Responsibility of States for Injuries to Aliens se dispone, en parte: "1. El monto de toda adjudicación ha de incluir intereses, sea que se incluyan en la suma global adjudicada o por medio de la adición de un monto calculado a partir de la fecha del perjuicio hasta la fecha de la adjudicación . . ." 76/

74/ Lillich, nota 73 precedente, en 59; véase Illinois Central R.R., 4 Rep. Adj. Arb. Intles. en 136 (donde la Comisión sostuvo que "[t]ribunales internacionales han hecho adjudicaciones de intereses . . .[por lo tanto] los intereses deben considerarse un elemento apropiado de la compensación".).

Law, 545, 583 (1961). Este enfoque es aplicado asimismo por la Comisión de los Estados Unidos para la Componenda de Reclamaciones Extranjeras:

> Sea cual fuere la teoría en la que se basa la adjudicación de intereses, estamos limitados a adherirnos al principio de derecho internacional, al cual consideramos es apropiado dar efecto, en el que se señala que es menester considerar que los intereses constituyen un elemento apropiado de la compensación. En consecuencia, la Comisión llega a la conclusión de que la adjudicación de intereses en el caso sometido a su consideración no sólo se ajusta a los principios del derecho internacional, sino que es requerida por razones de equidad y justicia y que, por lo tanto, debe permitirse.

Claim of American Cast Iron Pipe Co., decisión F.C.S.C.inédita, citada en 40 I.L.R. 173 (E. Lauterpacht, ed. 1970).

En el derecho internacional comúnmente se prevé el pago de intereses en reclamaciones de tipo comercial. 77/ Además, el pago de intereses sobre pérdidas pecuniarias y otras que hubieren sido liquidadas como, por ejemplo, gastos médicos, ha sido aceptado con base en el mismo principio que el que se aplica a reclamaciones comerciales - el reclamante ha sufrido la pérdida de la oportunidad de usar los fondos desde la fecha en que se

The Islamic Republic of Iran, 9 Iran-U.S. C.T.R. 153, 167 (1985) ("A fin de compensar a los reclamantes por los perjuicios que han sufrido debido a los pagos demorados, el Tribunal considera que es justo adjudicar a los reclamantes intereses simples . . ."); Blount Bros. v. The Islamic Republic of Iran, 10 Iran-U.S. C.T.R. 56, 80 (1986); Norwegian Shipowners' Claims, (Noruega v. U.S.), Hague Ct. Rep. 2d (Scott) 40, 76-77 (Arb. produjo el perjuicio, o desde la fecha en que se incurrió en el gasto. 78/

Tribunales internacionales han resuelto en formas diversas reclamaciones de intereses en casos de lesiones personales y muertes inicuas. Algunas comisiones se han ceñido a la práctica de adjudicar una suma global para la componenda de todos los aspectos del caso en cuestión. 79/ La demora en efectuar el pago o realizar los esfuerzos necesarios para resolver el caso figura entre los factores que se tienen en consideración para la determinación de una suma global apropiada. Brownlie manifiesta:

> La circunstancia de que la "suma global" adjudicada incluye intereses . . . no contraviene el principio de que la compensación debe incluir intereses respecto de los perjuicios a partir de la fecha en que se produjo el perjuicio. 80/

Otras comisiones internacionales sencillamente adjudicaron intereses en casos de lesiones personales o muerte, en la misma forma en que lo han hecho para intereses sobre pérdidas de bienes. 81/

78/ Véase J. Ralston, The Law and Procedure of International Tribunals, 129-130 (1926); Eagleton, nota 19 precedente en 204.

80/ 1 Brownlie, nota 20 precedente en 228.

81/ Véase, por ejemplo, Heirs of Cyrus Donaghho (Estados Unidos v. México) MS Departamento de Estado, Archivo Nacional, Legajo 703 (Se adjudicó oro mexicano con "intereses anuales desde el día posterior a la muerte de Donaghho hasta la fecha de la adjudicación definitiva".); Theodore Webster's Administrator (Estados Unidos v. Méxivo) MS Departamento de Estado, Archivo Nacional, Legajo 810 (la adjudicación incluyó intereses anuales "desde la fecha de la muerte de Webster hasta la fecha de la adjudicación definitiva".) citado en 3 Whiteman, nota 22 precedente, en 1985.

Si bien algunos tribunales han denegado la adjudicación de intereses sobre reclamaciones no pecuniarias o no liquidadas con base en la teoría de que el monto de intereses en tal concepto es difícil de valorar, este enfoque no es consecuente con el principio de la compensación plena. La dificultad inherente a la deteminación del monto de la compensación por una pérdida o perjuicio no quiere decir que la compensación, por lo tanto, debe ser denegada. 82/ Brownlie expresa: "[L]a circunstancia de que la suma adjudicada está, en algún sentido, falta de liquidación o es arbitraria, no es incompatible con el pago de intereses sobre la compensación". 83/

Es indiscutible que las familias de las víctimas sufrieron perjuicios adicionales en virtud de la demora en recibir pronta compensación. Dado que la fecha de la muerte está claramente establecida y que esta Comisión tendrá que determinar la suma por la cual se tratará de hacer restitución plena a las familias compensando sus sufrimientos mentales desde esa fecha, como así también el rembolso de sus gatos directos, el cálculo de una suma para compensar por la demora en el pago desde 1976 hasta el presente, es una operación relativamente sencilla. 84/

82/ Tal es particularmente el caso cuando la dificultad real consiste en la determinación de una compensación por sufrimientos físicos o mentales -- determinación ésta que los tribunales hacen con frecuencia. Una vez que se ha establecido esta cifra, el cálculo de la compensación por oportunidades financieras perdidas en un caso de muerte no es más difícil que en un caso de perjuicio comercial.

83/ 1 Brownlie, nota 20 precedente, en 228.

84/ El cálculo del Dr. Perl lleva a su valor actual el dinero que el señor Letelier y la señora Moffitt hubieran ganado de 1976 hasta el presente, y el valor de los servicios que ellos hubieran prestado durante ese mismo período. Por lo tanto, sobre esas sumas no se reclama el pago de intereses. Además, tampoco se piden intereses sobre gastos que las familias aún no han pagado. Se solicitan intereses sobre gastos que han sido pagados y sobre la porción de "daños morales" de la adjudicación, para compensar la demora en el pago.

B. Período de Intereses

De conformidad con el principio generalmente aceptado que se describe precedentemente, es decir, que los intereses tienen la función de compensar la pérdida del uso de dinero durante un período de tiempo dado, es menester hacer un cálculo razonable del período de tiempo durante el cual se perdió dinero. Puesto que la reclamación por pérdidas resultantes de muertes inicuas se plantea en la fecha en la que se produjeron las muertes, los intereses deben calcularse en función de la suma que compensa los perjuicios materiales y morales sufridos desde el 21 de setiembre de 1976 hasta la fecha en que se pague la adjudicación. Esta posición es respaldada por los casos de Theodore Webster's Administrator 85/ y Heirs of Cyrus Donaghho, 86/ en los que la Comisión de Reclamaciones Estados Unidos-México adjudicó intereses a las familias a partir de la fecha de la muerte. El Agente mexicano protestó la adjudicación de intereses en estas reclamaciones por muerte inicua. En su respuesta, el Arbitro Thorton declaró:

> [E]l Arbitro tiene que expresar que en estos casos él tuvo en consideración lo que fue el valor de la vida para los herederos en la fecha de la muerte, y que los herederos tienen derecho a recibir de inmediato tal valor; en consecuencia, tuvieron derecho a intereses desde esa fecha. De no haber sido así, el Arbitro habría adjudicado una suma mayor para compensar la falta de intereses desde la fecha de la muerte de las dos personas citadas previamente . . . 87/

86/ Heirs of Cyrus Donaghho, citado en 3 Whiteman, nota 22 precedente, en 1985.

87/ Id. en 1985

Las comisiones internacionales con frecuencia adjudican intereses a partir de la fecha en que se planteó la reclamación. 88/ Tal enfoque ha sido aplicado por el Tribunal de Reclamaciones Irán-EE.UU. la que por regla general adjudica intereses desde la fecha de la pérdida hasta la fecha del pago. 89/ En forma similar, la Comisión de los Estados Unidos para la Componenda de Reclamaciones Extranjeras en el caso American Cast Iron Pipe Company sostuvo que "la opinión prevaleciente en el derecho internacional es que tales intereses deben correr desde la fecha en que se planteó la reclamación hasta la fecha de su pago". La Comisión señala además que "la fecha en que se planteó la reclamación es, en este caso, la fecha de la pérdida". 90/

El caso que aquí se tiene bajo consideración es extraordinario en cuanto a la cantidad de tiempo que ha transcurrido sin que se pagara compensación alguna desde las muertes. La gráfica en el Elemento de Prueba 21 del Gob. EE.UU. representa una lista de reclamaciones por muertes inicuas afirmadas al nivel internacional desde la adjudicación en el caso Lusitania, indicando la fecha del incidente y la fecha de la respectiva adjudicación. La mayoría de los casos fueron resueltos en un plazo de tres a cinco años y en ninguno de los casos los pagos se efectuaron quince años después de haber ocurrido el incidente. Las familias deben ser compensadas por esta extraordinaria y excesiva demora que no puede redundar en beneficio de la parte responsable de la demora.

C. Tasa de Interés

Deberá aplicarse una tasa de interés justa y equitativa. 91/ Según expresó la Comisión de los Estados Unidos para la Componenda de Reclamaciones Extranjeras: "[e]l objetivo de la Comisión en la determinación de la tasa de interés es el de arribar a una compensación justa y equitativa por el daño". 92/ La pregunta a la que debe responder es, entonces: ¿Cuál es la tasa de interés que compensará justa y equitativamente a las familias de las víctimas por la demora de quince años en el pago o la solución que de otro modo satisfaga las reclamaciones?

Hasta alrededor de 1960, se aplicó comúnmente una tasa de interés del 6%. Sin embargo, desde entonces las tasas de interés comerciales han sido mucho más volátiles y en la actualidad el 6% se considera una tasa de interés extremadamente baja. Lillich señala: "En la actualidad, el 6 por ciento por cierto no es una tasa de interés apropiada en el Derecho de Reclamaciones Internacionales . . . 93/ Más indicativas de las actuales prácticas internacionales son las decisiones del Tribunal de Reclamaciones Irán-EE.UU., que regularmente adjudicó intereses a tasas que oscilan entre el 10 y el 12 por ciento. 94/

Otros tribunales internacionales han determinado que la tasa de interés apropiada debería basarse en tasas comerciales que son más elevadas que las tasas adjudicadas por el Tribunal de Reclamaciones Irán-EE.UU. 95/ Pór ejemplo, un tribunal de la Cámara de Comercio Internacional decidió que la tasa de interés apropiada para reintegrar a un reclamante a su condición de status quo ante era un 14,5%. 96/ Esta tasa de interés se determinó con base en la tasa promedio que prevaleció en los Estados Unidos durante el período pertinente, según lo determinó el árbitro. Si bien las tasas comerciales correspondientes al período de tiempo involucrado en este caso claramente darían por resultado una tasa más elevada, una tasa justa o equitativa que proporcionaría a las familias una compensación razonable por la demora del pago, sería del 10% a partir del 21 de setiembre de 1976 (fecha de los asesinatos) hasta la fecha en que se pague la adjudicación. 98/

Dear Ms. Heyser:

Thank you for your letter of September 10, concerning your request to cease military aid to El Salvador.

In deciding how best to administer military assistance for El Salvador, the Administration takes into consideration the delicacy of the ongoing negotiations between the Government of El Salvador (GOES) and the FMLN, as well as the continuing conflict.

On September 25 in New York, under the stewardship of UN Secretary General Perez de Cuellar, the GOES and the FMLN signed an agreement on reintegration of the FMLN into Salvadoran society and agreed on an agenda of remaining issues. Compliance with agreements is to be supervised by the Commission for the Consolidation of the Peace (COPAZ), made up of representatives of the GOES, FMLN and the political parties, with Catholic Church and UN observers. The next round of technical team negotiations will resume in Mexico City on October 12. We hope that these meetings will lead to a cease-fire in the near future.

Unfortunately, the conflict has not abated despite the peace talks. The guerrillas continue to attack civilian targets, such as the country's hydroelectric facilities and urban neighborhoods, and they have escalated the technological level of the war by introducing Soviet-made SA-16 surface-to-air missiles. Therefore we will provide the Armed Forces of El Salvador with $8.455 million for medical supplies, field rations, and spare parts, all non-lethal items necessary for sustaining the government's defense against the FMLN.

We share your desire to support peace in El Salvador. To that end, we have added $8 million to the $5 million already set aside in a "Peace Fund" to support UN cease-fire and human rights verification efforts and demobilization of combatants. The Administration is currently planning ways in which to use future military aid for peaceful purposes as soon as the conflict ends.

Thank you for your concern for U.S. policy in El Salvador. I hope you find this information helpful.

Sincerely,

MEXICO FOR LEGATT

1. ON OCTOBER 4, PRIVATE ATTORNEY ENRIQUE GONZALEZ WAS OFFICIALLY INFORMED OF THE MILITARY COURT'S DECISION, SIGNED BY COURT PRESIDENT NOW-GENERAL JOSE LUIS QUILO AYUSO TO DENY GONZALEZ' FORMAL REQUEST THAT THE COURT SUMMON TWO MILITARY OFFICERS (CAPT. BHOR AVENDANO AND MAJOR PAIZ HERNANDEZ) TO DECLARE WHAT THEY KNOW ABOUT THE FATE OF THE ONCE-WHITE TOYOTA PICKUP TRUCK UTILIZED BY THE DEATH SQUAD IN MICHAEL DEVINE'S MURDER. THESE TWO OFFICERS WERE NAMED BY BENJAMIN PUNTI PERUCH, WHO STATES THAT SOME THREE WEEKS AFTER DEVINE'S MURDER HE HIMSELF DROVE THE VEHICLE FROM THE BASE IN SANTA ELENA TO GUATEMALA CITY UNDER ORDERS FROM CAPTAIN HUGO CONTRERAS, AND WAS ACCOMPANIED BY CAPT. BHOR AVEDANO. MAJOR PAIZ HERNANDEZ WAS IN CHARGE OF THE MILITARY INTELIGENCE UNIT IN SANTA ELENA AT THAT TIME. THE COURT ALSO DENIED GONZALEZ' REQUEST FOR A "CAREO" (THE FACE-TO-FACE QUESTIONING OF THOSE INVOLVED IN PROVIDING CONTRADICTORY TESTIMONY) BETWEEN CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS AND THE 4 REMAINING DETAINEES FROM THE FIRST GROUP. ATTORNEY GONZALEZ' REQUEST THAT THE COURT QUESTION MAJOR GONZALEZ SALAM, WHO ACCORDING TO PUNTI PERUCH RECEIVED THE PICK-UP TRUCK AT THE G-2 BASE IN GUATEMALA CITY, HAS NOT YET BEEN DENIED.

2. THESE DENIALS, ALONG WITH THOSE REPORTED IN REFTEL, HAVE BEEN APPEALED. GONZALEZ EXPECTS THAT THE APPEALS COURT WILL RULE ON ALL THE APPEALS SIMULTANEOUSLY, PROBABLY WITHIN A MONTH'S TIME. FOLLOWING THE APPEALS COURT'S DECISIONS, THE CASE WILL

BE RETURNED TO THE MILITARY TRIBUNAL, WHEN IT SHOULD ENTER INTO THE EVIDENTIARY PHASE ("PERIODO DE PRUEBAS"), PERHAPS IN DECEMBER.

3. THIS IS ONE-MORE EXAMPLE OF THE MILITARY'S REFUSAL TO EXAMINE ACTIONS THAT WOULD REVEAL CULPABLE ACTS ON

THE PART OF MILITARY OFFICERS. GONZALEZ FIRMLY BELIEVES THAT HANDLED IN A CIVILIAN COURT, THE JUDGE WOULD HAVE RULED DIFFERENTLY. TAYLOR

Q: WHAT HAS BEEN THE HISTORY OF USE OF SURFACE-TO-AIR MISSILES BY THE FMLN? HOW HAS THE USE OF SAMS AFFECTED THE MILITARY AND POLITICAL BALANCE?

ON SEPTEMBER 19, 1991 SIX NICARAGUANS WERE ARRESTED FOR ATTEMPTING TO SMUGGLE ARMS, INCLUDING 20 SAMS, TO THE FMLN. IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THE NICARAGUANS MAY ALSO HAVE HAD CONNECTIONS WITH THE COLOMBIAN M-19 AND/OR DRUG TRAFFICKERS.

ON AUGUST 21, 1991 AN FMLN ARMS CACHE WORTH SOME 10 MILLION DOLLARS WAS FOUND IN A SAN SALVADOR SAFE HOUSE. THE WEAPONS FOUND INCLUDED 6 SAMS.

ON MARCH 19, 1991 SALVADORAN TELEVISION VIDEOTAPED AN FMLN INSURGENT WITH A HIGHLY SOPHISTICATED SA-16 IN NORTHERN CUSCATLAN.

MARCH 12, 1991 A UH-1M HELICOPTER WAS SHOT DOWN BY A SAM.

UNDER STRONG INTERNATIONAL PRESSURE THE FMLN RETURNED 17 SAMS TO THE SANDINISTA MILITARY ON FEBRUARY 2, 1991 BUT THE FMLN CLAIMS TO STILL HAVE A NUMBER IN THEIR INVENTORY.

ON DECEMBER 4, 1991 AN AC-47 WAS SHOT DOWN BY A SAM NEAR LA LAGUNA IN CHALATENANGO

ON NOVEMBER 23, 1990 AN A-37 WAS SHOT DOWN WITH A SAM NEAR USULUTAN CITY.

ON ROUGHLY TWO DOZEN OCCASIONS (THE EXACT NUMBER IS DIFFICULT TO VERIFY) GUERRILLAS HAVE FIRED SAMS AT ESAF AIRCRAFT WITHOUT HITTING THE TARGETS. THE MISSES HAVE BEEN CAUSED IN PART BY BETTER EVASIVE FLYING BY THE PILOTS, AS WELL AS MAINTENANCE AND OTHER TECHNICAL PROBLEMS ON THE PART OF THE FMLN.

AFTER SUCCESSFULLY SHOOTING DOWN THREE ESAF AIRCRAFT WITH SAM'S, THE FMLN HOPED THAT IT COULD NEUTRALIZE THE AIR FORCE AND BE BETTER ABLE TO CARVE OUT "LIBERATED ZONES" OF THE COUNTRY.

THE ESAF HAS RESPONDED BY INCREASING INFANTRY PATROLS TO CONTINUE TO DENY THE GUERRILLAS THE ABILITY TO DOMINATE TERRITORY.

THE AIR FORCE HAS ALSO CHANGED THE WAYS IT FLIES, FOR EXAMPLE BY FLYING MORE AT NIGHT, TO COPE WITH THE MISSILE THREAT.

EL SALVADOR: THE ECONOMY

Q: What is the state of the Salvadoran economy?

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

THE CRISTIANI GOVERNMENT IS DEMONSTRATING THAT FREE MARKET POLICIES CAN HAVE SUBSTANTIAL RESULTS, EVEN IN A WAR-RAVAGED ECONOMY.

IN THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1991, THE ECONOMY GREW AT A WAR-TIME RECORD ANNUAL REAL GROWTH RATE OF BETWEEN 3 AND 4 PERCENT. EL SALVADOR'S VOLUME INDEX OF ECONOMIC ACTIVITY GREW AT AN ANNUAL RATE OF 7.4 PERCENT. INFLATION CONTINUED ITS DOWNWARD TREND: THE CONSUMER PRICE INDEX FELL FROM THE 29 PERCENT EXPERIENCED BETWEEN JANUARY AND JUNE 1990 TO 14 PERCENT BETWEEN JANUARY AND JUNE 1991 (BOTH ANNUAL RATES).

ACROSS THE BOARD PRICE DEREGULATION CONTRIBUTED TO A SHARP 9.7% UPSWING IN AGRICULTURAL ACTIVITY IN 1990. RECENT DROUGHT AND WEATHER CONDITIONS, HOWEVER, HAVE ADVERSELY AFFECTED GRAINS PRODUCTION (AS WELL AS HYDROELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT).

PROSPECTS FOR PEACE WILL CONTINUE TO PLAY AN IMPORTANT ROLE IN DETERMINING INVESTMENT ACTIVITY.

WHILE FREEING PRICES HAS HELPED THE RURAL POOR BY INCREASING THE VALUE OF THEIR CROPS, FISCAL AUSTERITY MEASURES ACCOMPANYING ECONOMIC LIBERALIZATION HAVE REDUCED SUBSIDIES ENJOYED BY THE URBAN POOR. THE GOES HAS SOUGHT TO AMELIORATE THIS EFFECT WITH INCREASED HEALTH AND OTHER PROGRAMS FOR THIS SEGMENT OF THE POPULATION.

EL SALVADOR: AGREEMENTS IN NEGOTIATIONS

Q: What agreements have been reached so far in the peace negotiations?

A: -- THE LATEST ROUND IN MEXICO CITY PRODUCED CONSIDERABLE MOVEMENT ON MILITARY REFORM, BUT LITTLE ON A CEASE-FIRE. CEASE-FIRE TALKS MAY STILL REQUIRE THE PARTICIPATION OF UN UNDER SECRETARY GOULDING.

THE SEPTEMBER 25 NEW YORK ACCORDS CENTER ON REINTEGRATION OF THE FMLN INTO SALVADORAN SOCIETY AND AN AGENDA OF REMAINING ISSUES. THE SIDES FORMED A COMMISSION FOR THE CONSOLIDATION OF THE PEACE (COPAZ), INCLUDING THE GOES, FMLN AND THE POLITICAL PARTIES, WITH CATHOLIC CHURCH AND UN OBSERVERS. ON OCTOBER 11 IN MEXICO CITY, THE GOES, FMLN AND THE POLITICAL PARTIES DECLARED THAT COPAZ WILL OPERATE UNDER A TRANSITIONAL PHASE UNTIL THE END OF THE CONFLICT. THE TRANSITIONAL COPAZ IS TO WIDEN PARTICIPATION IN THE PEACE PROCESS, VERIFY COMPLIANCE WITH NEGOTIATED ACCORDS, AND DRAFT IMPLEMENTING LEGISLATION.

IN RESPONSE TO THE URGING OF OPPOSITION POLITICAL PARTIES, THE GOES AGREED TO BEGIN RATIFICATION BEFORE A CEASE-FIRE OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS STEMMING FROM THE ACCORDS REACHED APRIL 27, 1991 IN MEXICO. THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY UNANIMOUSLY RATIFIED REFORMS DEALING WITH HUMAN RIGHTS ON SEPTEMBER 11 AND REFORMS OF THE ELECTORAL SYSTEM ON SEPTEMBER 25. (THE MEXICO PACKAGE ALSO INCLUDES MEASURES ON JUDICIAL REFORMS SCHEDULED TO BE RATIFIED THE FIRST WEEK OF NOVEMBER, AND MILITARY RESTRUCTURING, WHICH WILL BE RATIFIED AFTER A CEASE-FIRE.)

HUMAN RIGHTS REFORMS INCLUDE CREATION OF THE OFFICE OF A NATIONAL ATTORNEY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE DESIGNATION BY THE UNSYG OF A THREE-PERSON TRUTH COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE NOTORIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS CASES.

THE ELECTORAL REFORMS REPLACE THE CURRENT CENTRAL ELECTIONS COUNCIL WITH THE SUPREME ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL AND EXPAND ITS MEMBERSHIP FROM THREE TO FIVE PEOPLE IN ORDER TO INCLUDE A REPRESENTATIVE FROM THE DEMOCRATIC CONVERGENCE COALITION.

MILITARY REFORMS INCLUDE: BETTER DEFINITION OF THE SUBORDINATION OF THE ARMED FORCES TO CIVIL AUTHORITY; CREATION OF A NATIONAL CIVIL POLICE; SEPARATION OF THE INTELLIGENCE ORGAN FROM THE ARMED FORCES; RESTRICTIONS ON MILITARY LEGAL JURISDICTION, ABOLITION OF PARAMILITARY ORGANIZATIONS; ABOLITION OF FORCED RECRUITMENT; AND HUMAN RIGHTS TRAINING.

EL SALVADOR: AGREEMENTS IN NEGOTIATIONS (CONTINUED)

PRIOR TO THE MARCH 10 MUNICIPAL AND LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS, 24 NEW SEATS WERE ADDED TO THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY AS THE RESULT OF AN AGREEMENT REACHED AMONG THE POLITICAL PARTIES. 20 OF THE NEW POSITIONS ARE AT-LARGE SEATS. THIS REFORM WAS INTENDED TO HELP SMALLER PARTIES WIN SEATS. IN THEIR FIRST LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS, THE DEMOCRATIC CONVERGENCE COALITION (WHICH HAS TIES TO THE FMLN) MADE AN UNEXPECTEDLY STRONG SHOWING, GAINING 8 SEATS. IN THEIR FIRST ELECTIONS, THE COMMUNIST PARTY-AFFILIATED NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC UNION WON ONE SEAT. THE RULING ARENA PARTY LOST ITS MAJORITY IN THE ASSEMBLY. THE FMLN HAS SINCE BEGUN PREPARATIONS TO ENTER THE 1994 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS DIRECTLY.

IN JULY 1990 IN SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, THE TWO SIDES SIGNED A HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD THAT INCLUDED SUPERVISION OF IMPLEMENTATION BY A UN ORGANIZATION. THE GOES AND FMLN BOTH URGED THAT THE UN COMMISSION, ONUSAL, BEGIN ITS WORK IMMEDIATELY, RATHER THAN WAITING FOR A CEASE-FIRE. THE UN AGREED ON MAY 20, 1991 AND ONUSAL IS NOW ENGAGED IN HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORING.

IN JUNE 1990 THE GOES PUT FORWARD A COMPREHENSIVE PROPOSAL ON ARMED FORCES REFORM WHOSE PROVISIONS WERE IN LARGE PART EVENTUALLY INCORPORATED INTO SUBSEQUENT ACCORDS. THIS PROPOSAL INCLUDED: SEPARATION OF THE POLICE AND MILITARY FORCES AND STRENGTHENING CIVILIAN CONTROL; REDUCTION OF THE ARMED FORCES TO AT LEAST PREWAR LEVELS; THE DISSOLUTION OF CERTAIN UNITS; EXEMPLARY PROSECUTIONS IN CERTAIN HUMAN RIGHTS CASES; AND SYSTEMATIC REVIEW OF MILITARY OFFICERS' QUALIFICATIONS AND HUMAN RIGHTS RECORDS.

THE GOES HAS SUPPORTED DECLARATION OF AN IMMEDIATE CEASE-FIRE SINCE THE FIRST ROUND OF THE UN-SPONSORED TALKS, IN MARCH 1990. THE FMLN HAS TAKEN THE POSITION THAT A CEASE-FIRE COULD NOT BE AGREED UPON UNTIL POLITICAL ISSUES HAD BEEN RESOLVED. THE PARTIES AGREED IN CARACAS IN MAY 1990 THAT THE "INITIAL OBJECTIVE" OF THE NEGOTIATIONS WAS TO AGREE ON AN AGENDA OF POLITICAL ISSUES IN ORDER TO REACH A CEASE-FIRE BY MID-SEPTEMBER 1990.

EL SALVADOR: POST WAR RECONSTRUCTION

Q: -- What are the GOES and the Administration doing to plan for post-war reconstruction?

A: -- THE GOES IS WORKING ON A NATIONAL RECONSTRUCTION PLAN THAT IT WILL ASK INTERNATIONAL DONORS TO HELP IMPLEMENT.

THE PLAN WILL CONCENTRATE ON PROVIDING EMPLOYMENT, INFRASTRUCTURE AND SOCIAL SERVICES. IT WILL BE AIMED AT DEMOBILIZED EX-COMBATANTS, DISPLACED PERSONS AND REFUGEES, AND PEOPLE IN PARTICULARLY WAR-TORN AREAS OF THE COUNTRY.

WE ARE DISCUSSING THE PLAN WITH OTHER DONORS IN ORDER TO PROVIDE COORDINATED ASSISTANCE AS QUICKLY AFTER A CEASE-FIRE AS POSSIBLE .

EL SALVADOR - POLITICAL PARTICIPATION

Q: -- What is being done to broaden political participation in El Salvador?

A -- THE MARCH 10, 1991 LEGISLATIVE AND MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WERE THE SEVENTH FREE ELECTIONS SINCE 1979.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights

PRIOR TO THE ELECTIONS, 24 NEW SEATS WERE ADDED TO THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY, INCLUDING 20 AT-LARGE SEATS, IN ORDER TO HELP SMALLER PARTIES WIN SEATS.

PARTIES WITH TIES TO THE FMLN MADE AN UNEXPECTEDLY STRONG SHOWING, GAINING 9 SEATS.

THE FMLN HAS SINCE BEGUN PREPARATIONS TO ENTER THE 1994 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS DIRECTLY.

OF THE 84-MEMBER NATIONAL ASSEMBLY, THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN ALLIANCE (ARENA) WON 39 SEATS, THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PDC) 26, THE PARTY OF NATIONAL CONCILIATION (PCN) 9, THE DEMOCRATIC CONVERGENCE (CD) 8, THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC UNION (UDN) 1, AND THE AUTHENTIC CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT (MAC) 1.

EL SALVADOR - GENERAL HUMAN RIGHTS

Q: -- How has the human rights situation changed?

A: -- THE SALVADORAN CIVIL WAR HAS BEEN BITTERLY-FOUGHT, BUT SEEMS TO BE DIMINISHING IN INTENSITY AS MEASURED BY THE NUMBER OF POLITICAL MURDERS. THROUGH JULY 1990, THE NUMBER OF NON-COMBAT DEATHS WHICH MAY HAVE BEEN POLITICALLY MOTIVATED AVERAGED ABOUT 12 PER MONTH. THIS COMPARES WITH A MONTHLY AVERAGE OF 140 IN 1983, AND 750 IN 1980.

SINCE THE EARLY 1980'S, HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES HAVE BECOME THE EXCEPTION RATHER THAN THE RULE AND REPRESENT UNAUTHORIZED BEHAVIOR RATHER THAN AN INSTITUTIONALIZED ACTIVITY. BETTER TRAINING, BETTER OFFICERS, AND TRAINING ON HUMAN RIGHTS HAVE MADE THE DIFFERENCE. NEVERTHELESS, WE CONTINUE TO BE CONCERNED ABOUT THE SECURITY FORCES HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD AND ARE WORKING WITH THE GOVERNMENT TO CONTINUE THE TREND TOWARDS REDUCING ABUSES.

THE FMLN HAS ENGAGED IN WIDESPREAD HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, INCLUDING THE ASSASSINATION OF POLITICAL AND MILITARY LEADERS AND THEIR FAMILIES, ATTACKS ON MILITARY TARGETS USING POOR CONTROL OF FIREPOWER RESULTING IN CIVILIAN DEATHS, AS WELL AS TORTURE AND DISAPPEARANCES. THE FMLN ALSO CONTINUES TO ATTACK CIVILIAN TARGETS AND USE CIVILIANS AS SHIELDS DURING THEIR ATTACKS. IN ADDITION, THE FMLN HAS CONTINUED TO CARRY OUT A KIDNAPPING CAMPAIGN, INCLUDING THE KIDNAPPING OF ARENA OFFICIAL GREGORIA ZELAYA LAST JULY.

THERE IS STILL A LONG WAY TO GO. THE MARCH 1991 UN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION REPORT STATES THAT "IN SPITE OF THE DECLINE IN THE NUMBER OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS AND THE EFFORTS ON BOTH SIDES TO IMPROVE OBSERVANCE OF THOSE RIGHTS, NUMEROUS VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS PERSIST IN EL SALVADOR."

-- THE CRITICAL INGREDIENT IN ENDING HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IS TO BRING THE WAR TO AN END AND ENSURE VERIFICATION OF COMPLIANCE WITH THE PEACE ACCORDS' EXPECTED PROVISIONS ON HUMAN RIGHTS.

EL SALVADOR - JESUIT CASE

Q: -- What is the status of the Jesuit case?

A: -- THE GUILTY VERDICT AGAINST TWO OF THE OFFICERS IN THE JESUIT TRIAL, INCLUDING THE COLONEL ACCUSED OF ORDERING THE MURDERS, REPRESENTS THE FIRST CONVICTION OF A HIGH-RANKING OFFICER FOR A HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

THE JURY APPARENTLY MADE A DISTINCTION BETWEEN THE ORDERING AND THE CARRYING OUT OF THE MURDERS, AND FOUND SEVEN LOWER-RANKING SOLDIERS NOT GUILTY.

SOME OBSERVERS CLAIM THERE WERE OTHER HIGH-LEVEL OFFICERS INVOLVED IN THE PLANNING OF THE MURDERS. WHILE THERE IS NO CONCRETE EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT THIS CLAIM, THE SALVADORAN AUTHORITIES HAVE PROMISED TO INVESTIGATE ANY NEW EVIDENCE PRODUCED.

CONTRARY TO PRESS REPORTS, JUDGE ZAMORA IS NOT PLANNING ON FLEEING THE COUNTRY. SPAIN, FRANCE, BRITAIN, AND GERMANY HAVE ALL OFFERED HIM SCHOLARSHIPS, BUT HE HAS NOT YET REQUESTED A LEAVE OF ABSENCE. IF HE DOES, HE WOULD NOT LEAVE UNTIL NEXT YEAR.

CONVICTED COLONEL BENAVIDES AND THREE LIEUTENANTS STILL FACE CHARGES FOR "CONSPIRACY TO COMMIT TERRORIST ACTS." THE MAXIMUM SENTENCE IS THREE YEARS, BUT THE ACCUSED CAN BE CREDITED WITH TIME ALREADY SERVED.

JUDGE ZAMORA IS EXPECTED TO ANNOUNCE FINAL SENTENCES FOR THE COLONEL AND LIEUTENANT CONVICTED OF MURDER AT THE SAME TIME HE RULES ON PERJURY, OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE AND OTHER CHARGES AGAINST OTHER DEFENDANTS AND ON CIVIL DAMAGE CLAIMS FILED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL AMERICA.

CONVICTED COLONEL BENAVIDES AND LIEUTENANT MENDOZA HAVE BEEN DISMISSED FROM THE ARMED FORCES AND ARE INCARCERATED IN SANTA ANA PRISON, AWAITING SENTENCING.

IF ASKED ONLY: THE FOUR ENLISTED MEN WHO WERE EXONERATED BY THE JURY HAVE BEEN RETURNED TO THEIR MILITARY UNIT. WE UNDERSTAND THAT DISCIPLINARY ACTION IS STILL UNDER CONSIDERATION.

TWO DEFENDANTS WHO STILL HAVE LESSER CHARGES PENDING AGAINST THEM HAVE BEEN RELEASED ON BAIL.

ONE EXONERATED DEFENDANT WHO WAS TRIED IN ABSENTIA DUE TO HIS DESERTION HAS STILL NOT BEEN FOUND.

EL SALVADOR - POSSIBLE AMNESTY IN THE JESUIT CASE

Q: What is the Administration's position on the possibility of an amnesty for the convicted murderers of the Jesuits?

A: -- WE ARE OPPOSED TO AMNESTY FOR THOSE CONVICTED OF MURDERING THE JESUITS.

WE ARE ALSO OPPOSED TO AMNESTY FOR THOSE WHO MURDERED US LT. COL. PICKETT AND PFC DAWSON.

IF, IN THE INTEREST OF NATIONAL RECONCILIATION AND PEACEMAKING, THE GOES DECLARES A SWEEPING AMNESTY, WE WOULD HAVE TO STUDY ITS PROVISIONS CAREFULLY BEFORE FORMULATING AN OPINION.

IT SHOULD BE NOTED THAT THE AMNESTY LAW PASSED ON OCTOBER 27, 1987, SPECIFICALLY EXCLUDED THE CASE OF THE MURDER OF ARCHBISHOP ROMERO AND THE KILLING OF US CITIZENS, INCLUDING THE US MARINES AT THE ZONA ROSA IN 1985, SO THERE IS SOME PRECEDENT FOR EXCLUSION FROM GENERAL AMNESTY.

IF, HOWEVER, SUCH AN AMNESTY WERE TO BE SO SWEEPING AS TO INCLUDE THESE TWO CASES, THEN WE MAY WISH TO URGE THAT THE TWO CASES BE AMONG THOSE TO BE HANDLED BY THE TRUTH COMMISSION TO BE DESIGNATED BY THE UNSYG.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

EL SALVADOR - MILITARY ASSISTANCE

Q: What are the Administration's plans for military assistance to El Salvador?

A: -- WE BELIEVE THAT ADMINISTRATION COOPERATION WITH THE CONGRESS IN RECENT MONTHS HAS HELPED CREATE THE CONDITIONS IN WHICH THE SALVADORAN PEACE PROCESS HAS ADVANCED.

-- THE ADMINISTRATION HAS PLEDGED TO ABIDE BY THE SPIRIT AND THE LETTER OF LAST YEAR'S RESTRICTIONS GOVERNING MILITARY ASSISTANCE TO EL SALVADOR IN THE NEXT CONTINUING RESOLUTION.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

SPECIFICALLY, THE ADMINISTRATION WOULD OBLIGATE FY 92 MILITARY ASSISTANCE IN A MANNER CONSISTENT WITH A WITHHOLDING OF 50 PERCENT OF THAT ASSISTANCE, WHICH WOULD AMOUNT TO A RATE OF $3.5 MILLION A MONTH. THAT WOULD BE SPENT ONLY AS NECESSARY TO SUSTAIN CURRENT LEVELS OF SUPPORT.

THE ADMINISTRATION WOULD CONTINUE TO PRESS VIGOROUSLY ON THE ISSUE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN GENERAL, AND ON THE JESUIT CASE IN PARTICULAR.

WITH REGARD TO THE PROVISIONS IN THE FY 91 LEGISLATION WHICH ALLOW THE ADMINISTRATION TO DETERMINE THAT THE FMLN HAS VIOLATED CERTAIN CONDITIONS AND THEREBY RELEASE THE 50 PERCENT OF MILITARY AID WITHHELD, THE ADMINISTRATION WOULD ONLY MAKE SUCH A DETERMINATION SHOULD THERE BE A RADICAL CHANGE IN THE MILITARY SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR, AND ONLY AFTER PRIOR CONSULTATION WITH THE CONGRESS.

ONCE A CEASE-FIRE IS IN PLACE, THE ADMINISTRATION WILL CONSULT WITH CONGRESS ABOUT HOW REMAINING MILITARY ASSISTANCE COULD CONTRIBUTE TO DEMOBILIZATION OF COMBATANTS ON BOTH SIDES, NATIONAL RECONCILIATION AND RECONSTRUCTION AND TO SUPPORT UN PEACEKEEPING.

EL SALVADOR: PICKETT/DAWSON MURDER CASE

Q: What is the status of the Pickett/Dawson murder case?

A: -- ON JANUARY 2, 1991 A U.S. MILITARY HELICOPTER BASED IN HONDURAS WAS SHOT DOWN IN EL SALVADOR BY THE FMLN. MATERIAL EVIDENCE AND WITNESS TESTIMONY YIELDED STRONG INDICATIONS THAT GUERRILLAS MURDERED U.S. LIEUTENANT COLONEL DAVID H. PICKETT AND PRIVATE FIRST CLASS EARNEST F. DAWSON AFTER THEY WERE TAKEN CAPTIVE. CHIEF WARRANT OFFICER DANIEL SCOTT WAS PROBABLY KILLED IN THE CRASH.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

THE FMLN CLAIMED ON JANUARY 2 THAT ALL THREE HAD DIED IN THE CRASH. ON JANUARY 4 THE FMLN CLAIMED THAT TWO OF THE THREE HAD SURVIVED THE CRASH, WERE GIVEN FIRST AID, THEN TURNED OVER TO THE LOCAL POPULATION, BUT DID NOT SURVIVE THEIR WOUNDS. ON JANUARY 8 THE FMLN ANNOUNCED THE "ARREST" OF TWO OF THEIR MEMBERS ON SUSPICION OF MURDER.

AT PRESENT, THE CASE IS NOT BEING TRIED IN ANY JUDICIAL SYSTEM. AS FAR AS THE UNITED STATES IS CONCERNED, THERE ARE ONLY TWO POSSIBLE VENUES IN WHICH THIS CASE CAN BE TRIED: EITHER THE SALVADORAN OR UNITED STATES JUDICIAL SYSTEMS. THE US DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE HAS ISSUED AN INDICTMENT AGAINST ONE OF THE SUSPECTED MURDERERS. THE FMLN CONTINUES TO REFUSE TO TAKE ANY ACTION. WE ASK NO MORE THAN WE HAVE ASKED OF THE ESAF IN THE JESUIT MURDERS CASE: WE DEMAND A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION, ACCOUNTABILITY, AND JUSTICE.

THE FMLN HAS REFUSED TO TURN THE SUPSECTS OVER TO THE US OR THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR. THE FMLN HAS SAID THAT THEY WILL "TRY" THE SUSPECTS IN THIS CASE WITHIN THEIR OWN SYSTEM OF JUSTICE. WE HAVE NO EVIDENCE, HOWEVER, THAT THE FMLN HAS DETAINED OR TAKEN ANY OTHER ACTION AGAINST THE SUSPECTED MURDERERS.

(IF ASKED) THE FMLN HAS RECENTLY ASKED THE SWISS GOVERNMENT TO ACCEPT AND HOLD IN DETENTION TWO FMLN INSURGENTS. WE DO NOT HAVE INFORMATION ON WHAT, IF ANY, THE SWISS GOVERNMENT'S RESPONSE TO THE FMLN HAS BEEN.

EL SALVADOR: ARMENIA "WELLS OF DEATH" CASE

Q: Why were 13 Civil Defense soldiers acquitted of murdering approximately 29 peasants in the Armenia "wells of death" case?

A: DESPITE OVERWHELMING EVIDENCE, ON OCTOBER 8, 1991 A JURY IN SONSONATE ACQUITTED 13 CIVIL DEFENSE SOLDIERS FOR THE 1981 MURDER OF APPROXIMATELY 29 PEASANTS IN THE LOS MANGOS CANTON, ARMENIA JURISDICTION, SONSONATE DEPARTMENT, "WELLS OF DEATH" CASE.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

PROSECUTORS HAVE APPEALED THE VERDICT. THE ACQUITTAL SURPRISED MOST OBSERVERS SINCE SEVERAL OF THE SUSPECTS HAD CONFESSED TO THE MURDERS.

THE PROSECUTION'S APPEAL ALLEGES THAT THE JURY HAD BEEN INTIMIDATED BY THE MURDER SUSPECTS.

THE ACCUSED HAD BEEN HELD IN DIFFERENT JAILS SINCE THE 1983.

EL SALVADOR: SALVADORAN ANTI-COMMUNIST FRONT (FAS)

Q: WHAT IS YOUR ESTIMATION OF THE SALVADORAN ANTI-COMMUNIST FRONT?

A -- THE GOES IS INVESTIGATING THREATS ISSUED BY THE FAS AND HAS ISSUED REPEATED DENUNCIATIONS OF THE THREATS. PRESIDENT CRISTIANI HAS ASSURED US OF HIS PERSONAL ATTENTION TO THIS MATTER.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

WE ARE ALSO SEEKING INFORMATION ON THE FAS.

WE AND THE GOES TAKE THE MATTER SERIOUSLY, ESPECIALLY SINCE EXTREMISTS ON BOTH SIDES OF THE SPECTRUM MAY USE VIOLENCE TO SABOTAGE THE PEACE PROCESS AND SINCE US GOVERNMENT AS WELL AS OTHER INTERNATIONAL PERSONNEL HAVE BEEN THREATENED.

EMBASSY OFFICERS HAVE OFFERED TO BE OF ANY ASSISTANCE POSSIBLE TO INDIVIDUALS AND ORGANIZATIONS THREATENED.

THE FIRST FAS LEAFLET APPEARED ON MAY 22, 1991, DEMANDING THAT BUSINESSES STOP CATERING TO INDIVIDUALS AFFILIATED WITH INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS, AND THE US GOVERNMENT.

ON JUNE 19, 1991, A SECOND FAS LEAFLET WAS RECEIVED BY VARIOUS NEWS MEDIA AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS. THE LEAFLET ATTACKED HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORDS IMPOSED BY "INTERNATIONAL MERCENARIES" AND THREATENED RELATIVES OF FMLN LEADERS.

ON JULY 15 CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC DEPUTIES AMANDA VILLATORO AND FIDEL CHAVEZ MENA, AS WELL AS LUTHERAN BISHOP GOMEZ AND OTHERS, RECEIVED THE THIRD THREATENING FAS LEAFLET.

A FOURTH PAMPHLET WAS ISSUED THE LAST WEEK IN JULY AND SAID THAT THE FAS WAS PREPARED TO MOVE AGAINST THE FMLN AND ITS ALLIES AND URGED THE FMLN "NOT TO HIDE BEHIND PRIESTS AND JOURNALISTS."

MARIA MIRTALA LOPEZ, OF THE CHRISTIAN COMMITTEE FOR THE DISPLACED OF EL SALVADOR (CRIPDES) SAID THAT SHE RECEIVED FIVE THREATENING LETTERS FROM THE FAS. ON SEPTEMBER 23, THE U.S. CONSUL GENERAL MET WITH MS. LOPEZ AND EXPLAINED THAT STATE DEPARTMENT APPROVAL WOULD BE NECESSARY BEFORE A VISA COULD BE ISSUED FOR HER TO TRAVEL TO THE U.S. SINCE SHE HAD A POLICE RECORD IN EL SALVADOR, BUT THAT IF MS. LOPEZ WISHED TO TRAVEL TO A THIRD COUNTRY IN THE MEANTIME, THE VISA COULD BE ISSUED THERE. ON SEPTEMBER 25, MS. LOPEZ TRAVELLED TO MEXICO, WHERE A VISA WAS ISSUED TO HER ON SEPTEMBER 30.

(IF ASKED ABOUT A GROUP OF AMERICANS, INCLUDING THE BISHOP OF DETROIT AND TWO CONGRESSIONAL STAFFERS, WHO PLANNED TO ACCOMPANY LOPEZ ON HER RETURN TO EL SALVADOR THIS WEEK, BUT WERE DENIED VISAS TO DO SO: WE UNDERSTAND THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR IS REVIEWING THE CASES OF SOME OF THE APPLICANTS. THE ISSUANCE OF VISAS FOR EL SALVADOR IS UP TO THE SALVADORAN GOVERNMENT AND ITS EMBASSY.)

EL SALVADOR: INCIDENTS AT SEGUNDO MONTES

Q: What is the explanation for the Salvadoran military's violation of the Segundo Montes repatriate community?

A: —

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

MEMBERS OF THE SEGUNDO MONTES REPATRIATE COMMUNITY ATTEMPTED TO BAR PASSAGE ON AUGUST 17-19 WHEN THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES MOVED, FOR THE FIRST TIME IN OVER A YEAR, INTO NORTHERN MORAZAN IN PURSUIT OF FMLN GUERRILLAS.

THE ARMED FORCES ALSO REPORT HAVING BATTLED FMLN FORCES WITHIN THE REPATRIATE COMMUNITY, WHILE THE RESIDENTS DENY ANY GUERRILLA PRESENCE. MEMBERS OF INTERNATIONAL HUMANITARIAN ASSISTANCE NGO'S HAVE CONFIRMED THAT BATTLES TOOK PLACE IN THE VICINITY OF SEGUNDO MONTES, BUT DID NOT WITNESS FIREFIGHTS ACTUALLY TAKING PLACE INSIDE THE COMMUNITY.

ONE RESIDENT WAS INJURED BY GUNFIRE AND LOST THE CHILD SHE WAS CARRYING.

A PRELIMINARY REPORT BY ONUSAL DID NOT CLARIFY WHETHER OR NOT GUERRILLAS FIRED ON SOLDIERS FROM INSIDE THE COMMUNITY, BUT DID SAY THAT THE MILITARY RESPONSE TO THE "ALLEGED AGGRESSION OF THE RESIDENTS" WAS "DISPROPORTIONATE."

EL SALVADOR: FMLN SABOTAGE OF THE ECONOMY

Q: How much damage has the FMLN done to the Salvadoran economy?

A: -- THE 12-YEAR WAR HAS CAUSED MORE THAN $2 BILLION IN DAMAGE TO THE ECONOMY.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

THE FMLN HAS SPEARHEADED ITS ECONOMIC SABOTAGE CAMPAIGN WITH A RELENTLESS CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE ELECTRICAL SYSTEM. SABOTAGE HAS KEPT PRIMARY TRANSMISSION LINES OPERATING AT ABOUT 15-20 PERCENT BELOW CAPACITY, DESPITE STRENUOUS EFFORTS BY THE GOES WITH OUR SUPPORT TO REPAIR INFRASTRUCTURE ALMOST AS FAST AS IT IS DESTROYED. POTABLE WATER, SEWAGE AND OTHER SERVICES HAVE BEEN SEVERELY DISRUPTED BY THE LOSS OF ELECTRICAL PUMPING ABILITY.

IN 1990 THE FMLN BOMBED OVER 150 PRIVATE FIRMS, INCLUDING COMMERCIAL BANKS, OFFICE BUILDINGS, MOVIE THEATERS, CAR DEALERSHIPS, TRAVEL AGENCIES AND VENDORS.

SO FAR THIS YEAR, FMLN ATTACKS ON CIVILIAN TARGETS AND INFRASTRUCTURE ARE BELOW LAST YEAR'S LEVELS. FMLN ATTACKS AGAINST CIVILIAN TARGETS, HOWEVER, CONTINUE TO IMPOSE A HEAVY COST ON THE ECONOMY.

EL SALVADOR: SANTA MARTA VISIT

Q: Why did Ambassador Walker visit the Santa Marta repatriate camp, in view of the fact that it is dominated by the FMLN?

A: OVER LABOR DAY WEEKEND, AMBASSADOR WALKER VISITED THE FMLN-DOMINATED SANTA MARTA REPATRIATE COMMUNITY IN ORDER TO DISCUSS ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE PROJECTS WITH COMMUNITY LEADERS.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights Special Project (1993)

WHILE THE AMBASSADOR WAS AT THE CAMP, SOME FMLN GUERRILLAS ENGAGED THE AMBASSADOR IN CONVERSATION. THE AMBASSADOR DID NOT, HOWEVER, TRAVEL TO THE CAMP IN ORDER TO MEET WITH THE FMLN, MUCH LESS NEGOTIATE WITH THEM.

WE HOPE THAT THIS INITIAL CONTACT WILL CONTRIBUTE TOWARDS ENDING THE ISOLATION OF MEMBERS OF THE REPATRIATE COMMUNITIES AND ALLOWING THEM TO PARTICIPATE NORMALLY IN THE NATIONAL ECONOMY.

WE HOPE THAT THIS INITIATIVE WILL LEAD TO SIMILAR PROGRAMS FOR OTHER REPATRIATE COMMUNITIES, AS PART OF A PROCESS OF NATIONAL RECONCILIATION AND REINTEGRATION OF REPATRIATES INTO THE NORMAL ECONOMY.

EL SALVADOR: ROLE OF DE SOTO

Q: It has reported that the Administration is dissatisfied with UN peace negotiator de Soto. What is your view on him?

A: -- THE ADMINISTRATION UNEQUIVOCALLY SUPPORTS THE EFFORTS OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO MEDIATE AN END TO THE SALVADORAN CONFLICT, INCLUDING THE ROLE OF THE SYG'S PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE, ALVARO DE SOTO..

WE NOTE THAT THE SEPTEMBER 25 NEW YORK ACCORDS WERE FACILITATED IN PART BY THE PERSONAL, DIRECT INVOLVEMENT OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL AND BY THE PERMANENT REPRESENTATIVES OF SPAIN, COLOMBIA, MEXICO AND VENEZUELA, ACTING AS THE GROUP OF FOUR FRIENDS OF THE SYG FOR THE TALKS. Q: How is ONUSAL doing?

A: — ON SEPTEMBER 24, 1991 ONUSAL ISSUED ITS FIRST REPORT, AT THE END OF ITS INITIAL 60-DAY SETTING-UP PHASE.

THE REPORT GENERALLY PRAISES THE COOPERATION IT HAS RECEIVED FROM BOTH THE GOES AND THE FMLN.

THE REPORT ALSO NOTES THE DANGER OF UNREALISTICALLY HIGH EXPECTATIONS OF WHAT ONUSAL CAN ACCOMPLISH.

THE REPORT DID NOT DEAL IN DETAIL WITH SPECIFIC HUMAN RIGHTS CASES, ALTHOUGH GENERAL REPORTS ARE MADE ON THE FMLN KIDNAPPING OF FARMER GREGORIO ZELAYA AND INCIDENTS IN THE SEGUNDO MONTES AND SAN JOSE LAS FLORES REPATRIATE COMMUNITIES. ITS SECOND REPORT, DUE OUT SHORTLY, IS EXPECTED TO DEAL WITH MORE SPECIFIC CASES IN GREATER DETAIL.

ONUSAL HAS OVER 100 INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS IN PLACE, REPRESENTING 27 NATIONALITIES.

ONUSAL STRESSES THAT IT IS CHARGED ONLY WITH VERIFICATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AS OF THE DATE OF ITS INSTALLATION, JULY 1991, AND THAT ONLY IN EXCEPTIONAL CASES WILL IT DEAL WITH ABUSES THAT TOOK PLACE BEFORE THAT TIME.

ONUSAL'S ARRIVAL HAS CREATED OPTIMISM THAT THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION WILL CONTINUE TO IMPROVE.

EL SALVADOR: INCIDENTS AT SAN JOSE LAS FLORES

Q: What is the explanation for the Salvadoran military's murder of a child at the San Jose las Flores repatriate community?

A: — A NINE-MOTH OLD CHILD WAS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN KILLED BY A BULLET ON SEPTEMBER 3 IN THE SAN JOSE LAS FLORES REPATRIATE COMMUNITY IN EASTERN CHALATENANGO.

THE ESAF ACKNOWLEDGES HAVING ENGAGED GUERRILLAS IN COMBAT IN THE AREA, BUT DENIES ANY DIRECT ACTIONS AGAINST CIVILIANS.

ONUSAL INVESTIGATORS WERE UNABLE TO DETERMINE IF GUERRILLAS WERE PRESENT AT THE TIME THE CHILD WAS HIT BY THE BULLET, BUT REPORTED THAT ONUSAL PERSONNEL HAD NOTED SUCH A PRESENCE A FEW DAYS EARLIER.

ONUSAL CALLED ON BOTH SIDES TO TAKE URGENT MEASURES TO PROTECT CIVILIANS.

EL SALVADOR: TUTELA LEGAL

Q: The Administration has been reported to be critical of the Catholic Archbishopric of San Salvador's human rights monitoring organization, Tutela Legal. On what do you base your criticism?

A: — WE HAVE A GREAT RESPECT FOR TUTELA LEGAL'S EFFORTS ON BEHALF OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR. WHILE WE HAVE OCCASIONALLY NOT BEEN ENTIRELY IN AGREEMENT WITH TUTELA LEGAL ON SPECIFIC CASES, WE CONSULT AND COOPERATE WITH THEM AT EVERY OPPORTUNITY.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

TUTELA HAS ON OCCASION, HOWEVER, BEEN READY TO JUMP TO CONCLUSIONS BASED ON FLIMSY EVIDENCE THAT MAKES THE GOVERNMENT OR ARMED FORCES LOOK BAD. TUTELA HAS NOT USUALLY ISSUED CORRECTIONS OR CLARIFICATIONS.

(IF PRESSED)
THE POINT CAN BE ILLUSTRATED WITH THREE INCIDENTS IN WHICH TUTELA LEGAL HAS LEAPT TO ACCUSE THE SECURITY FORCES OR RIGHT-WING DEATH SQUADS FOR MURDERS WHEN THE PREPONDERANCE OF THE EVIDENCE HAS INDICATED THAT THE CRIMES WERE NOT COMMITTED FOR POLITICAL REASONS.

THE AYUTUXTEPEQUE (EL ZAPOTE) MASSACRE: TUTELA LEGAL BLAMED THE ESAF FOR THE MURDER OF 15 PEOPLE ON JANUARY 21, 1991. THE PREPONDERANCE OF EVIDENCE, INCLUDING CONFESSIONS, HOWEVER, INDICATES THAT THE MURDERS RESULTED FROM A FAMILY FEUD, NOT POLITICS. TUTELA LEGAL HAS CONTINUED TO ALLEGE THAT THE CONFESSIONS WERE COERCED AND THE ARRESTS ARE AN ELABORATE COVER-UP, WITHOUT BRINGING FORWARD ANY EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT THIS CLAIM. OTHER ORGANIZATIONS, SUCH AS AMERICAS WATCH, HAVE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE MASSACRE MAY HAVE BEEN THE RESULT OF A FAMILY FEUD.

MURDER OF ISAAC MARTINEZ: TUTELA CHARGED THAT DEATH SQUADS MURDERED CD MEMBER ISAAC MARTINEZ. MARTINEZ' WIDOW AND STEPSON CONFESSED TO HAVING KILLED MARTINEZ IN SELF DEFENSE BECAUSE HE HAD BEAT HIS WIFE AND THREATENED HER WITH A MACHETE.

MURDER OF MARTIN AYALA RAMIREZ: TUTELA LEGAL ALLEGED THAT THE NIGHTWATCHMAN FOR THE COUNCIL FOR MARGINAL COMMUNITIES WAS MURDERED AND HIS WIFE BADLY SLASHED BY THE MILITARY. THREE SUSPECTS HAVE CONFESSED TO THE MURDERS AS PART OF A BOTCHED BURGLARY AND ARE UNDER ARREST.

THERE WAS ALSO A MISUNDERSTANDING REGARDING MARIA JULIA HERNANDEZ' STATEMENTS TO JOURNALISTS ON FEBRUARY 5, 1991 WHICH WERE REPORTED BY THE PRESS AS CALLING THE MURDERS OF COLONEL PICKETT AND PFC DAWSON "MERCY KILLINGS." HERNANDEZ LATER SAID, HOWEVER, THAT SHE HAD MERELY REPORTED THE SUSPECTED MURDERER'S CLAIM THAT THE MURDERS WERE MERCY KILLINGS, WITHOUT ADDING ANY COMMENT OF HER OWN.

EL SALVADOR: MILITARY ASSISTANCE PIPELINE

Q: What is in the military assistance pipeline for El Salvador? What would be the effect of restrictions on the pipeline?

A: -- TOTAL ESTIMATED VALUE OF ARTICLES AND SERVICES IN THE SALVADORAN PIPELINE ON OCTOBER 25 IS $72 MILLION.

RELEASED
El Salvador: Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

DEFINITION OF A MILITARY ASSISTANCE PIPELINE: ALL OF THE FMF PROGRAM FUNDS APPROPRIATED BY CONGRESS AND APPORTIONED/OBLIGATED BY THE ADMINISTRATION WHICH HAVE NOT YET BEEN CONFIRMED AS DELIVERED GOODS AND SERVICES (MARCH 1991 GAO REPORT). WITHHELD FUNDS AND IMET FUNDS ARE EXCLUDED. THE VALUE OF THE PIPELINE CHANGES almost on a daily basis AS DELIVERIES ARE MADE AND NEW FUNDS ARE APPORTIONED.

OF THE $72 MILLION, ABOUT $10 MILLION REMAINS UNCOMMITTED TO LOA'S. THIS IS THE SEPTEMBER APPORTIONMENT OF $8.455 MILLION PLUS A SMALL AMOUNT STILL UNCOMMITTED AFTER OUR EFFORTS IN JUNE. THE ESAF INTENDS TO USE THESE FUNDS TO PURCHASE LIFE-EXTENDING MODIFICATIONS FOR TWO C-47S, BUY RATIONS, AND COMPLETE SEVERAL CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS.

THE SALVADORAN PIPELINE REPRESENTS OVER 500 SEPARATE LOA'S. EACH LETTER HAS RESULTED IN AS FEW AS ONE OR AS MANY AS SEVERAL HUNDRED CONTRACTS BEING SIGNED.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS GENERATED, IF RESTRICTIONS ARE IMPOSED ON THE PIPELINE, WOULD MAKE MANAGEMENT OF THOUSANDS OF PREVIOUSLY APPROVED CONTRACTS EXTREMELY DIFFICULT, IF NOT IMPOSSIBLE. THE SECURITY ASSISTANCE SYSTEM IS NOT ORGANIZED FOR PRECISION MANAGEMENT. A COMPLETE CUTOFF COULD RESULT, AT LEAST TEMPORARILY, FROM EFFORTS TO LOCATE AND MANAGE ITEMS AFFECTED BY EVEN A PARTIAL RESTRICTION.

THE IMPACT OF RESTRICTIONS ON THE PIPELINE WOULD BE IMMEDIATE AND SUBSTANTIAL, AND COULD ULTIMATELY HINDER PEACE NEGOTIATIONS, PROLONGING THE WAR. THE FMLN WOULD BE LIKELY TO INTERPRET ANY PERCEIVED REDUCTION IN MILITARY ASSISTANCE, RESULTING FROM RESTRICTIONS ON THE PIPELINE, AS A SIGNAL THAT ITS STRATEGIC AND TACTICAL POSITIONS VERSUS THE ESAF WOULD IMPROVE OVER TIME. THIS COULD INCREASE THE LIKELIHOOD THAT THE FMLN LEADERS WOULD SEEK TO DELAY POLITICAL AGREEMENT AND A CEASE-FIRE DURING NEGOTIATIONS IN THE HOPE OF IMPROVING ITS POSITION.

See attachment for information on impact of pipeline restrictions broken down by specific categories.

RELEASED

Q: Why has the ESAF increased attacks on the FMLN in recent months?

A: -- IN MID-AUGUST THE ESAF LAUNCHED A SERIES OF OPERATIONS THROUGHOUT EL SALVADOR, WHICH REPRESENTED A TOTAL DEPLOYMENT OF ESAF UNITS TO THE FIELD. WHILE NOT EVERY ESAF SOLDIER WENT TO THE FILED SIMULTANEOUSLY, EVERY ESAF UNIT HAD ELEMENTS IN THE FIELD IN SUPPORT OF THE OPERATIONS.

PRESIDENT CRISTIANI AUTHORIZED THIS SERIES OF OPERATIONS IN ORDER TO APPLY PRESSURE TO THE FMLN AND FORCE ITS HAND IN THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

THE COST TO THE FMLN IN TERMS OF MANPOWER, EQUIPMENT, AND ABILITY TO OPERATE OVER TERRITORY MAY HAVE HELPED SPUR THE FMLN TO TAKE RECENT POSITIVE STEPS TOWARD REACHING A SETTLEMENT.

MEXICO FOR LEGATT

1. ON OCTOBER 4, PRIVATE ATTORNEY ENRIQUE GONZALEZ WAS OFFICIALLY INFORMED OF THE MILITARY COURT'S DECISION, SIGNED BY COURT PRESIDENT NOW-GENERAL JOSE LUIS QUILO AYUSO TO DENY GONZALEZ' FORMAL REQUEST THAT THE COURT SUMMON TWO MILITARY OFFICERS (CAPT. BHOR AVENDANO AND MAJOR PAIZ HERNANDEZ) TO DECLARE WHAT THEY KNOW ABOUT THE FATE OF THE ONCE-WHITE TOYOTA PICKUP TRUCK UTILIZED BY THE DEATH SQUAD IN MICHAEL DEVINE'S MURDER. THESE TWO OFFICERS WERE NAMED BY BENJAMIN PUNTI PERUCH, WHO STATES THAT SOME THREE WEEKS AFTER DEVINE'S MURDER HE HIMSELF DROVE THE VEHICLE FROM THE BASE IN SANTA ELENA TO GUATEMALA CITY UNDER ORDERS FROM CAPTAIN HUGO CONTRERAS, AND WAS ACCOMPANIED BY CAPT. BHOR AVEDANO. MAJOR PAIZ HERNANDEZ WAS IN CHARGE OF THE MILITARY INTELIGENCE UNIT IN SANTA ELENA AT THAT TIME. THE COURT ALSO DENIED GONZALEZ' REQUEST FOR A "CAREO" (THE FACE-TO-FACE QUESTIONING OF THOSE INVOLVED IN PROVIDING CONTRADICTORY TESTIMONY) BETWEEN CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS AND THE 4 REMAINING DETAINEES FROM THE FIRST GROUP. ATTORNEY GONZALEZ' REQUEST THAT THE COURT QUESTION MAJOR GONZALEZ SALAM, WHO ACCORDING TO PUNTI PERUCH RECEIVED THE PICK-UP TRUCK AT THE G-2 BASE IN GUATEMALA CITY, HAS NOT YET BEEN DENIED.

2. THESE DENIALS, ALONG WITH THOSE REPORTED IN REFTEL, HAVE BEEN APPEALED. GONZALEZ EXPECTS THAT THE APPEALS COURT WILL RULE ON ALL THE APPEALS SIMULTANEOUSLY, PROBABLY WITHIN A MONTH'S TIME. FOLLOWING THE APPEALS COURT'S DECISIONS, THE CASE WILL

BE RETURNED TO THE MILITARY TRIBUNAL, WHEN IT SHOULD ENTER INTO THE EVIDENTIARY PHASE ("PERIODO DE PRUEBAS"), PERHAPS IN DECEMBER.

3. THIS IS ONE MORE EXAMPLE OF THE MILITARY'S REFUSAL TO EXAMINE ACTIONS THAT WOULD REVEAL CULPABLE ACTS ON

THE PART OF MILITARY OFFICERS. GONZALEZ FIRMLY BELIEVES THAT HANDLED IN A CIVILIAN COURT, THE JUDGE WOULD HAVE RULED DIFFERENTLY. TAYLOR

(C) Peace Talks: Human Rights Sticking Points and Cuban Involvement: The GOG delegation has reached agreement on eight of the eleven URNG proposals on human rights and is now awaiting the guerrilla counter-proposals before deciding whether to attend the fifth round of talks in Mexico on October 21. The Caracas round to discuss indigenous issues has been postponed. GOG delegates also acknowledge talking with the Cubans in Mexico. Claiming that the Cubans are the off-stage advisors to both the Guatemalan and Salvadoran guerrilla negotiating teams, they deride the Salvadoran accords and assert that "that won't happen here."

(U) Devine Case: Military Court Confirms Obstructionist Course: A military court has denied the Devine family attorney's request to interrogate two army officers about the fate of the pickup truck that was used in the murder and later repainted and moved to Guatemala City. The court also denied the request for a face off for witnesses with contradictory testimony. (Guatemala 10347;JRArndt)

(C) GOG Delegation to Peace Talks Asks U.S. to Ease up on Human Rights Criticism: Members of the GOG delegation claim that the guerrillas are using USG human rights concerns as ammunition to strengthen their hand in the peace talks while the U.S.-Guatemala relationship was being held hostage to a "few human rights cases." Emboffs informed the delegation that this year's human rights report will be candid. The GOG has from now until the report's submission early next year to demonstrate some progress by resolving some or at least one of the major cases. (Guatemala 10396;JRArndt)

3. EL SALVADOR IS A CONSTITUTIONAL DEMOCRACY WITH AN EXECUTIVE BRANCH HEADED BY A PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY AND A SEPARATE BUT POLITICALLY APPOINTED JUDICIARY. ALFREDO CRISTIANI OF THE NATIONALIST REPUBLICAN ALLIANCE (ARENA) WAS INAUGUPATED PRESIDENT FOR A FIVE YEAR TERM ON JUNE 1, 1989. SIX POLITICAL PARTIES OR COALITIONS PARTICIPATED IN THE MARCH 1991 LEGISLATIVE AND MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WHERE ARENA LOST ITS ABSOLUTE MAJORITY IN THE ASSEMBLY AND ALL SIX PARTIES OR COALITIONS WON AT LEAST ONE SEAT. PROSPECTS FOR A NEGOTIATED SETTLEMENT TO THE ELEVEN YEAR OLD CIVIL WAR WITH THE INSURGENT FARABUNDO MARTI FRONT FOR NATIONAL LIBERATION (FMLN) ARE BETTER THAN AT ANY TIME DURING THE CONFLICT.

THE ARMED FORCES OF EL SALVADOR (ESAF) INCLUDE THE ARMY, AIR FORCE AND NAVY AS WELL AS THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES (THE TREASURY POLICE, THE NATIONAL GUARD, AND THE NATIONAL POLICE) AND THE CIVIL DEFENSE FORCES (CDF). THE SECURITY FORCES SHARE LAW ENFORCEMENT RESPONSIBILITIES AND REPORT TO THE VICE MINISTER OF DEFENSE FOR PUBLIC SECURITY. IN THE CONTEXT OF ONGOING PEACE TALKS, THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR (GOES) AND THE FMLN AGREED ON SEPTEMBER 25 THAT THE TREASURY POLICE AND THE NATIONAL GUARD WILL BE DISSOLVED AND THE NATIONAL POLICE WILL BE REPLACED BY A NEW NATIONAL CIVILIAN POLICE.

EL SALVADOR HAS A MIXED ECONOMY AND PRIVATE PROPERTY

[redacted]

IS GENERALLY RESPECTED. THE GOES FREE MARKET ECONOMIC ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM HAS BROUGHT SUBSTANTIAL POSITIVE RESULTS. IN 1990, THE ECONOMY POSTED A WAR-TIME RECORD GROWTH RATE OF OVER 3.4 PERCENT. ADHERENCE TO A MARKET EXCHANGE RATE REGIME HELPED BOOST EXPORTS. NON-TRADITIONAL AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS HAVE INCREASED BY ALMOST 40 PERCENT OVER THE PAST YEAR. ALTHOUGH THE FMLN CONTINUED TO ATTACK CIVILIAN TARGETS, WAR-RELATED DAMAGE DECLINED SIGNIFICANTLY IN 1991. DESPITE A DROUGHT, WHICH DAMAGED GRAIN PRODUCTION AND STRAINED HYDROELECTRIC OUTPUT, THE GOES PROJECTED CONTINUED ECONOMIC GROWTH AND LOWER INFLATION IN 1991. THE WAR CONTINUED TO DISCOURAGE PRIVATE SECTOR INVESTMENT.

THE UNITED NATIONS OBSERVER MISSION IN EL SALVADOR (ONUSAL) OPENED IN SAN SALVADOR JULY 26. ONUSAL'S MANDATE TO VERIFY THE GOES-FMLN HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORDS OF JULY 1990 IS UNPRECEDENTED IN U.N. HISTORY AND WILL INVOLVE HUMAN RIGHTS INVESTIGATIONS AND A NATIONWIDE AWARENESS CAMPAIGN. BY SEPTEMBER 15, ONUSAL HAD 101 INTERNATIONAL STAFFERS AT SEVEN OFFICES AROUND THE COUNTRY. IN ITS INITIAL REPORT TO THE UN SECRETARY GENERAL, ISSUED SEPTEMBER 16, ONUSAL NOTED THE DANGER OF UNREALISTIC EXPECTATIONS AND THE DIFFICULTIES THE MISSION FACES IN THE ABSENCE OF A CEASE-FIRE. THE REPORT ALSO NOTED THAT ONUSAL IS RECEIVING FULL COOPERATION FROM THE GOES AND THE FMLN.

MOST HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS AGREED THAT THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EL SALVADOR WAS BETTER IN 1991 THAN AT ANY TIME SINCE THE WAR BEGAN. BOTH THE ESAF

[redacted]

AND THE FMLN HAVE BECOME INCREASINGLY CONSCIOUS OF THE NEED TO PREVENT HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH NOTED SIGNIFICANT IMPROVEMENTS LEADING TO CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR. THE U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR, IN HIS OCTOBER REPORT, CONFIRMED THAT THE SITUATION HAS IMPROVED.

DESPITE NOTICEABLE IMPROVEMENTS, HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS PERSIST. IN 1991, THE FMLN AND THE ESAF COMMITTED SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. THE FMLN ENGAGED IN FORCED RECRUITMENT, ATTACKED CIVILIAN TARGETS, AND CAUSED CIVILIAN CASUALTIES BY THE USE OF INACCURATE WEAPONS IN DENSELY POPULATED AREAS. THE

ESAF ENGAGED IN THE TORTURE OF DETAINEES, ARBITRARY ARREST AND DETENTION, AS WELL AS INTIMIDATION AND ABUSE OF NONCOMBATANTS ALLEGEDLY SYMPATHETIC TO THE FMLN. ESAF CONSCRIPTION IS ARBITRARY. BOTH SIDES IN THE CONFLICT PUT CIVILIANS AT RISK, ALTHOUGH CIVILIAN CASUALTIES CONTINUED TO DECLINE. RUMORS OF A RESURGENCE OF RIGHT WING DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITY PERSISTED.

THE POLITICIZATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS HAS LED TO BOTH MISTAKES AND MISREPRESENTATIONS. COUNCIL FOR MARGINAL COMMUNITIES, WAS KILLED AND HIS COMMON-LAW WIFE SEVERELY SLASHED ON JULY 8. DESPITE CLAIMS OF POLITICAL MOTIVATION FOR THIS MURDER, MOST EVIDENCE INDICATES IT WAS A COMMON CRIME. GUILLERMO SOL, A BUSINESSMAN AND ARENA PARTY TREASURER, WAS KIDNAPPED BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS ON JULY 18 AND IS STILL BEING HELD. DESPITE THE LACK OF CLEAR EVIDENCE OF POLITICAL MOTIVATION IN ANY OF THESE CASES, THE FIRST THREE WERE ASCRIBED TO THE GOES OR "DEATH SQUADS," WHILE SOME HAVE SOUGHT TO BLAME THE FMLN FOR THE GUILLERMO "BILLY" SOL KIDNAPPING.

THE EFFICIENCY OF THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS LIMITED BY POLITICAL MANIPULATION, CORRUPTION, INTIMIDATION, POOR ACADEMIC PREPARATION OF THE JUDICIARY, AND A LACK OF RESOURCES. THE ESAF AND FMLN CONTINUED TO AVOID OR RESIST LEGAL ACCOUNTABILITY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, WITH SOME NOTABLE EXCEPTIONS.

ON SEPTEMBER 28, A JURY FOUND ACTIVE DUTY ARMY COLONEL GUILLERMO BENAVIDES GUILTY OF ORDERING THE MURDER OF SIX JESUIT PRIESTS, THEIR HOUSEKEEPER AND HER DAUGHTER IN NOVEMBER 1989. LT. YUSSHI RENE MENDOZA WAS CONVICTED OF ORDERING THE MURDER OF THE HOUSEKEEPER'S DAUGHTER. SEVEN LOWER-RANKING SOLDIERS, INCLUDING THE FOUR WHO HAD ADMITTED TO THE SHOOTING, WERE EXONERATED BY THE JURY, WHO APPARENTLY BELIEVED THEY HAD LITTLE CHOICE BUT TO FOLLOW ORDERS.

ALTHOUGH THE CRISTIANI ADMINISTRATION PROMISED JUSTICE IN THIS CASE--THE PRESIDENT BROKE TRADITION AND TESTIFIED PERSONALLY IN THE JUDGE'S CHAMBERS--THE ESAF HIGH COMMAND PROVED UNABLE OR UNWILLING TO ANSWER SOME BASIC QUESTIONS ABOUT THE MURDERS. THE COURT TRANSCRIPTS INDICATE PERJURY AND CONTRADICTIONS BY HIGH-RANKING ESAF OFFICERS. MANY CLAIM THAT THE ESAF AS AN INSTITUTION MADE AN EFFORT TO LIMIT THE JUDICIAL INVESTIGATION TO THE NAMED SUSPECTS. NONETHELESS, THE MURDER CONVICTION OF A COLONEL AND MEMBER OF THE SENIOR GRADUATING CLASS OF THE SALVADORAN MILITARY ACADEMY IS AN HISTORIC BREAK IN THE IMPUNITY OF SENIOR MILITARY OFFICERS.

B. DISAPPEARANCE

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL NOTED IN ITS REPORT COVERING 1990 THAT THE NUMBER OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS IS DECLINING. THE CONSTITUTION AND GOVERNMENT POLICY FORBID UNACKNOWLEDGED DETENTION BY THE SECURITY FORCES OR MILITARY. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, A TOTAL OF 79 CIVILIANS DISAPPEARED BETWEEN JANUARY AND JUNE. THIS FIGURE MAY INCLUDE LOST OR RUNAWAY CHILDREN, PERSONS WHO DESERT THEIR FAMILIES, EMIGRATE, OR JOIN GUERRILLA RANKS. MANY PERSONS ORIGINALLY REPORTED MISSING [redacted] BEEN LEGALLY ARRESTED AND REPORTED TO HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS. HOWEVER, SOME OF THOSE REPORTED AS DISAPPEARED IN LAST YEAR'S REPORT HAVE BEEN FOUND MURDERED AND IN 3 CASES ESAF OR CDF PERSONNEL HAVE BEEN CHARGED. OTHERS LISTED REAPPEAR BUT ARE NEVER REMOVED FROM THE RANKS OF THE DISAPPEARED.

THERE CONTINUED TO BE CREDIBLE CHARGES THAT PERSONS DISAPPEARED AFTER BEING SEIZED BY THE ESAF DURING 1991. REPORTED TO BE THE MOST SEVERE PROBLEMS. THE GOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDH) REPORTS COMPLAINTS OF MISTREATMENT TO THE COMMANDING OFFICER OF THE UNIT IMPLICATED AND TO THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE. THE ICRC REPORTS ITS FINDINGS, BASED ON INTERVIEWS WITH PRISONERS OR OTHER SOURCES, TO THE PRESIDENT AND MINISTER OF DEFENSE. THE CDH REPORTED THAT THE HIGH COMMAND IS RESPONSIVE TO ITS COMPLAINTS, ALTHOUGH ESAF PERSONNEL HAVE NEVER BEEN PROSECUTED FOR ABUSE OF PRISONERS.

D. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE

THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS ARBITRARY ARREST. CASES OF ARBITRARY ARREST AND DETENTION DECLINED IN 1991 AS THE [redacted]IC SECURITY FORCES MADE AN EFFORT TO COMPLY WITH NEW STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES GOVERNING ARRESTS.

THE NUMBER OF PERSONS DETAINED ON SUSPICION OF SUBVERSIVE OFFENSES DECLINED BY MORE THAN 50 PERCENT. FROM JANUARY TO AUGUST 1990, 881 PERSONS WERE [redacted]

DETAINED; DURING THE SAME PERIOD IN 1991, 371 WERE DETAINED. OF THOSE DETAINED IN 1991, 195 WERE SUBSEQUENTLY RELEASED AND NEVER FORMALLY CHARGED, WHILE THE REMAINDER WERE CONSIGNED TO THE COURTS.

ACCORDING TO THE SUPREME COURT'S INFORMATION OFFICE, 2,000-3,000 PERSONS WERE ARRESTED EVERY MONTH FROM JANUARY TO AUGUST BY THE SECURITY FORCES AND THE COURTS. NEARLY TWO-THIRDS OF THESE DETAINEES WERE NOT FORMALLY CHARGED AND WERE RELEASED BEFORE SEEING A JUDGE.

THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT ALL PERSONS DETAINED BY THE SECURITY FORCES BE TURNED OVER TO THE COURTS WITHIN 72 HOURS OF ARREST OR BE FREED, BUT THIS REQUIREMENT IS FREQUENTLY IGNORED. ALTHOUGH IT IS A CRIME FOR THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES OR THE MILITARY TO HOLD A SUSPECT LONGER THAN 72 HOURS, VIOLATORS ARE NOT PROSECUTED. THE ESAF ROUTINELY FAILS TO NOTIFY

THE COURTS DURING THE 72-HOUR PERIOD OF ADMINISTRATIVE DETENTION. REGULATIONS REQUIRE THAT SECURITY AND MILITARY FORCES REGISTER DETAINEES AND HAVE THEM EXAMINED BY A DOCTOR OR A NURSE UPON ENTRY INTO A DETENTION FACILITY. IN ARRESTS RELATED TO THE INSURGENCY, THE ESAF IS REQUIRED TO NOTIFY PROMPTLY THE FAMILY OF THE DETAINEE, TUTELA LEGAL, THE CDH, AND THE ICRC.

DURING THE ARRAIGNMENT PROCEEDING, THE JUDGE MAY ORDER THE ACCUSED DETAINED FOR UP TO AN ADDITIONAL 72 HOURS TO DETERMINE IF THE EVIDENCE WARRANTS HOLDING THE

[redacted]

ACCUSED FOR FURTHER INVESTIGATION. THIS TIME LIMIT IS NORMALLY RESPECTED. THE JUDGE IS THEN ALLOWED 120 DAYS TO INVESTIGATE SERIOUS CRIMES OR 45 DAYS FOR LESSER OFFENSES BEFORE BRINGING THE ACCUSED TO TRIAL OR DISMISSING THE CASE. IN PRACTICE, HOWEVER, THESE TIME LIMITS ARE RARELY OBSERVED. ALL PERSONS HELD IN THE PRISON SYSTEM, HOWEVER, ARE INCARCERATED BY JUDICIAL ORDER, IF NOT BY SENTENCE. EL SALVADOR DOES NOT ALLOW [redacted] PRE-TRIAL RELEASE IN SERIOUS CASES AND A SUSPECT MAY SPEND YEARS IN JAIL BEFORE BEING TRIED. PRE-TRIAL RELEASE IN LIEU OF BAIL BOND IS AVAILABLE FOR MANY MINOR OFFENSES. ACCORDING TO THE SUPREME COURT, UNTRIED CASES ARE BEING DRASTICALLY REDUCED

EXCEPT FOR ARRESTS MADE "IN THE ACT," OFFICERS MUST WEAR UNIFORMS, CARRY PUBLIC SECURITY FORCE IDENTIFICATION CARDS, AND MAKE ALL ARRESTS BETWEEN 6 A.M. AND 6 P.M. THE SOP ALSO REQUIRES THAT OFFICERS INFORM DETAINEES, IN EASILY UNDERSTOOD LANGUAGE, OF THE REASON FOR THEIR ARREST AND THE CHARGES AGAINST THEM. [redacted]

IN AN ATTEMPT TO IMPROVE PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FOR DETAINEES' RIGHTS, THE SUPREME COURT OPENED A DETAINEE INFORMATION OFFICE ON AUGUST 1. THE OFFICE IS SUPPOSED TO RECEIVE TIMELY REPORTS FROM THE COURTS, THE MILITARY, AND THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES ON ARRESTS AND THE STATUS OF DETAINEES. IN PRACTICE, THE COURTS PROMPTLY, AND THE PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES IRREGULARLY, PROVIDE TIMELY INFORMATION ON DETAINEES UNDER THEIR JURISDICTION, BUT THE ESAF SOMETIMES REPORTS DETENTIONS LATE OR NOT AT ALL. ONUSAL LAUDED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE DETAINEE OFFICE, WHILE NOTING THE NEED FOR IMPROVEMENT IN REPORTING FROM THE MILITARY AND PUBLIC SECURITY FORCES, ESPECIALLY IN CONFLICTIVE ZONES.

JUDGES ARE FREQUENTLY RELUCTANT TO BRING CHARGES AGAINST THEM, AND MILITARY COLLEAGUES OFTEN FAIL TO COOPERATE IN INVESTIGATIONS OF FELLOW OFFICERS. ALTHOUGH A COLONEL AND A LIEUTENANT WERE CONVICTED OF MURDER IN THE JESUIT CASE, ELEMENTS WITHIN THE ESAF FAILED TO COOPERATE WITH JUDICIAL INVESTIGATION. G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

AS THE BATTLE FOR TERRITORY IN THE COUNTRYSIDE INTENSIFIED PARALLEL TO THE FMLN-GOES NEGOTIATIONS, HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS CONDEMNED BOTH SIDES FOR ENDANGERING THE SAFETY OF CIVILIANS.

ALTHOUGH 1991 BROUGHT CONTINUED CREDIBLE CHARGES OF CIVILIAN DEATHS FROM AIR FORCE BOMBINGS NEAR POPULATION CENTERS, INCIDENTS OF CIVILIAN CASUALTIES DECLINED OWING TO INCREASED OPERATIONAL RESTRAINT. ON APRIL 8 IN JUCUARAN, USULUTAN, AN AIR FORCE BOMB LANDED IN A CIVILIAN AREA KILLING MARIA DOMINGA COREAS AND HER SON JOSE NELSON COREAS. THE AIR FORCE ACCEPTED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEATHS AND PAID COMPENSATION TO THE FAMILY.

NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS SAID COMBAT BETWEEN FMLN COMBATANTS IN OR NEAR REPATRIATE COMMUNITIES AND ESAF [redacted]

FORCES LED TO NUMEROUS CIVILIAN CASUALTIES INCLUDING THE DEATH OF 9 MONTH OLD MAYRA NORELVIS SALAZAR DURING FIGHTING IN THE AREA OF SAN JOSE LAS FLORES, CHALATENANGO ON SEPTEMBER 2. ONUSAL STATED THAT A LINE OF FIRE EXISTED FROM AN ESAF POSITION TO THE HOUSE WHERE THE CHILD WAS KILLED AND URGED BOTH SIDES TO AVOID PUTTING CIVILIANS AT RISK. IN SKIRMISHES IN THE SEGUNDO MONTES REPATRIATE COMMUNITY IN MORAZAN ON AUGUST 18, DORA ALICIA GONZALEZ WAS INJURED AND SUFFERED A MISCARRIAGE. IN THIS CASE, ONUSAL SAID THE ESAF USED EXCESSIVE FORCE IN REACTING TO CIVILIANS CARRYING ROCKS AND MACHETES.

THE ESAF ATTEMPTS TO CONTROL THE FLOW OF FOOD AND MEDICAL SUPPLIES AND ACCESS OF HUMANITARIAN ORGANIZATIONS TO VILLAGES (INCLUDING REPATRIATE COMMUNITIES) IN AREAS OF COMBAT OR HEAVY GUERRILLA PRESENCE. THE INTER-AMERICAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (IAHRC) REPORTED THAT THE ESAF SUBJECTS CIVILIANS

A MARCH REPORT BY THE INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION ON MEDICAL NEUTRALITY AND A JUNE REPORT BY THE NONGOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDHES) ASSERT THAT OTHER HUMANITARIAN WORKERS CONFRONT SIMILAR PROBLEMS. CREDIBLE REPORTS INDICATE THAT SUPPLIES GOING TO REPATRIATE COMMUNITIES ARE DIVERTED TO THE GUERRILLAS. FMLN GUERRILLAS ROUTINELY USE RESETTLEMENT CAMPS AS SUPPORT BASES.

FMLN THREATS KEPT EIGHT CHALATENANGO MAYORS FROM MOVING THEIR OFFICES FROM CHALATENANGO CITY BACK TO THEIR RESPECTIVE LOCALITIES. IN AUGUST, THE FMLN KIDNAPPED FOUR GOES EMPLOYEES IN LA UNION AND THREATENED TO KILL THEM IF THEY CONTINUED THEIR DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS. UNIVERSITY AUTONOMY PROHIBITS LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS FROM ENTERING THE CAMPUS. B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

ANY ASSOCIATION NOT FORMED FOR CRIMINAL PURPOSES IS LEGAL AND PERMITTED IN EL SALVADOR. NUMEROUS POLITICAL, PROFESSIONAL, RELIGIOUS, LABOR AND SOCIAL ORGANIZATIONS, INCLUDING SOME ALLIED WITH THE FMLN, OPERATE WITHOUT LEGAL RESTRICTION. GROUPS FROM THE LEFT AND THE RIGHT CRITICIZE THE GOVERNMENT AND HOLD

[redacted]

MARCHES AND DEMONSTRATIONS WITHOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE. IN ADDITION TO TRADITIONAL MAY DAY AND INDEPENDENCE DAY MARCHES, 1991 SAW DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST U.S. INVOLVEMENT IN THE GULF WAR, GOES ECONOMIC POLICY, AND U.S. MILITARY ASSISTANCE TO EL SALVADOR.

WITH SOME EXCEPTIONS, THE VAST MAJORITY OF

DECL[redacted]IFIED UNCLASSIFIED

DEMONSTRATIONS IN 1991 WERE PEACEFUL. IN FEBRUARY, DEMONSTRATORS FROM CRIPDES AND CODEFAM BURNED TIRES AND THREW GASOLINE AGAINST A U.S. EMBASSY ENTRANCE, AND DEMONSTRATORS WITH METAL POLES THREATENED FIREFIGHTERS CALLED TO ASSIST. CONFRONTATIONS DURING A TREASURY WORKERS STRIKE IN MARCH LEFT ONE RIOT POLICEMAN SERIOUSLY WOUNDED AND SEVERAL STRIKERS UNDER ARREST. AUTHORITIES USED TEAR GAS TO DISPERSE CROWDS ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS AND, IN A FEW, SHOTS WERE FIRED INTO THE AIR.

MEMBERS OF CERTAIN LABOR, HUMANITARIAN, AND PEASANT ORGANIZATIONS WERE HARASSED BY SECURITY FORCES. THE GOES PUBLISHED SEIZED FMLN DOCUMENTS DESCRIBING INSURGENT EFFORTS TO MANIPULATE THESE ORGANIZATIONS. IN RESPONSE, GROUPS CHARGED THAT THE GOES WAS INTIMIDATING OPPOSITION GROUPS.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

FREEDOM OF RELIGION IS PROVIDED FOR IN THE CONSTITUTION AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. HOWEVER, THE POLITICAL ACTIVITY OF SOME RELIGIOUS GROUPS HAS

[redacted]

LED TO FRICTION BETWEEN THOSE GROUPS AND COMBATANTS ON BOTH SIDES OF THE CONFLICT. ROMAN CATHOLICISM IS EL SALVADOR'S DOMINANT AND OFFICIAL RELIGION, BUT A GROWING SECTOR OF THE POPULATION (ESTIMATED AT OVER 20 PERCENT) NOW PRACTICES OTHER, MOSTLY PROTESTANT EVANGELICAL, FAITHS.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

THE CONSTITUTION ESTABLISHES THE RIGHT OF FREE MOVEMENT. ARTICLE 97 STATES THAT FOREIGNERS MAY NOT INVOLVE THEMSELVES IN THE INTERNAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS OF THE COUNTRY, AND THE GOVERNMENT OCCASIONALLY DENIES ENTRY OR DEPORTS FOREIGNERS BELIEVED TO VIOLATE THAT SECTION OF THE LAW. LOCAL MILITARY COMMANDERS REQUIRE THAT FOREIGNERS (EXCEPT ACCREDITED JOURNALISTS) APPLY FOR PERMISSION TO ENTER WAR ZONES AND OFTEN RESTRICT ENTRY WHEN MILITARY OPERATIONS ARE UNDERWAY.

MOVEMENTS BY SALVADORANS WITHIN EL SALVADOR ARE OCCASIONALLY RESTRICTED FOR SIMILAR REASONS. THERE ARE NO OTHER LIMITS ON FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT IN THE REST OF THE COUNTRY. HOWEVER, THOSE WITHOUT PROPER IDENTIFICATION DOCUMENTS ARE SUBJECT TO ARREST.

IN 1985, THERE WERE AN ESTIMATED 525,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN EL SALVADOR. BY SEPTEMBER 1991, ABOUT 50,000 STILL REQUIRED GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE. THERE MAY BE ANOTHER 4,000 PERSONS WHO WERE NOT REGISTERED WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND RECEIVE ASSISTANCE FROM PRIVATE RELIEF ORGANIZATIONS. AN ADDITIONAL

IN JULY 1990, THE GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHED A REPATRIATION ASSISTANCE OFFICE TO FACILITATE REINTEGRATION OF REPATRIATED PERSONS INTO SALVADORAN SOCIETY. SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

RELEASED
El Salvador Human Rights
Special Project (1993)

THE SALVADORAN PEOPLE EXERCISE THEIR RIGHT TO PEACEFULLY CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT THROUGH REGULARLY-SCHEDULED ELECTIONS (EVERY THREE YEARS FOR LEGISLATORS AND LOCAL OFFICIALS, EVERY FIVE YEARS FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT). VOTING IS BY SECRET BALLOT AND THERE IS UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE. INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS, INCLUDING THE ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES (OAS), HAVE CERTIFIED THAT THE 1991 LEGISLATIVE AND MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WERE FREE AND FAIR.

DURING A DECADE MARKED BY THE CONSOLIDATION OF DEMOCRATIC GAINS, THE FIELD OF POLITICAL PARTIES PARTICIPATING IN ELECTIONS HAS EXPANDED BEYOND THE RIGHT TO CENTER OF THE POLITICAL SPECTRUM TO INCLUDE THE DEMOCRATIC CONVERGENCE, A COALITION OF LEFTIST PARTIES, WHICH, AFTER ENDING ITS ELECTORAL BOYCOTT IN 1989, WON EIGHT OF 84 LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY SEATS IN THE MARCH 1991 ELECTIONS, AND CAME IN SECOND IN TOTAL VOTES IN THE CAPITAL. THE FAR-LEFT NATIONALIST

[redacted]

DEMOCRATIC UNION JOINED THE POLITICAL PROCESS IN 1991 AND NOW HOLDS ONE SEAT IN THE ASSEMBLY. LEADERS OF THE ARMED FMLN INSURGENCY HAVE ALSO ANNOUNCED THEIR INTENTION TO FIELD CANDIDATES IN 1994, WHEN ELECTIONS FOR ALL LEVELS OF OFFICE, FROM PRESIDENT TO TOWN COUNCIL, WILL COINCIDE. NOTWITHSTANDING SCATTERED ACTS OF VIOLENCE--A GRENADE EXPLODED IN FRONT OF A DEPARTMENTAL DEMOCRATIC CONVERGENCE OFFICE (NO INJURIES), A CARAVAN OF ARENA ACTIVISTS FRIED UPON UDN SUPPORTERS (A UDN CANDIDATE LOST AN EYE), AND RESIDENTS OF THE SEGUNDO MONTES REPATRIATE COMMUNITY VIOLENTLY PREVENTED THE MODERATE AUTHENTIC CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT FROM CAMPAIGNING IN NORTHERN MORAZAN--THE CAMPAIGN LEADING UP TO THE MARCH 1991 ELECTIONS WAS GENERALLY PEACEFUL.

OPPOSITION LEGISLATORS IN THE ASSEMBLY OPENLY CRITICIZE THE GOVERNMENT AND WITHHOLD THEIR VOTES WHEN THEY DO NOT SUPPORT GOVERNMENT POLICY OR IN ORDER TO GAIN CONCESSIONS FROM THE GOVERNMENT. IN JULY, OPPOSITION LEGISLATORS DENIED THE GOVERNMENT THE TWO-THIRDS ASSEMBLY MAJORITY IT NEEDED TO APPROVE NEW FOREIGN LOANS UNTIL THE ARENA LEGISLATORS AGREED TO RATIFY THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS FORMULATED BY THE GOVERNMENT AND THE FMLN IN THE ONGOING UN-MEDIATED PEACE TALKS.

AS OF SEPTEMBER 15, THE MISSION HAS AN INTERNATIONAL STAFF OF 101, REPRESENTING 27 NATIONALITIES, AND INCLUDING 42 HUMAN RIGHTS PROFESSIONALS, 15 MILITARY AND 16 POLICE OFFICERS. THE STAFF IN EACH OFFICE INCLUDES MILITARY AND POLICE ADVISERS AS WELL AS HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVERS AND RESIDES IN ITS AREA OF RESPONSIBILITY. DURING ITS 60 DAY START-UP PHASE, ONUSAL MADE LIMITED INVESTIGATIONS BUT MOST OBSERVERS AGREE THAT THE MISSION'S MERE PRESENCE IMPROVED THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. ONUSAL'S INAUGURATION REDUCED THE POLITICAL RHETORIC OFTEN ASSOCIATED WITH HUMAN RIGHTS REPORTING IN EL SALVADOR. ONUSAL'S CREDIBILITY WILL DEPEND ON CAREFUL PROTECTION OF THE MISSION'S REPUTATION FOR IMPARTIALITY.

AMERICAS WATCH HAS A PERMANENT REPRESENTATIVE IN EL SALVADOR, AND MEMBERS OF THE LAWYERS COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VISIT REGULARLY. DOMESTIC HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS ACTIVE IN EL SALVADOR INCLUDE THE GOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDH), THE CATHOLIC CHURCH'S TUTELA LEGAL AND THE NONGOVERNMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDHES). THE CDH RECEIVES TESTIMONY ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, CONDUCTS INVESTIGATIONS, VISITS DETAINEES, AND REPORTS TO THE LOCAL COMMANDING OFFICER AND THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE ON CASES OF ABUSE. ALTHOUGH SOME HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS VIEW THE CDH AS A PUBLIC RELATIONS BRANCH OF THE GOVERNMENT, THE CDH REMAINS A VALUED SOURCE OF INFORMATION REGARDING DETAINEES AND A GOOD SOURCE ON THE CONDITION OF THOSE RELEASED FROM CUSTODY. CDH INVESTIGATIONS AND VISITS

EL SALVADOR IS AN ETHNICALLY HOMOGENEOUS COUNTRY, THOUGH A SMALL SEGMENT OF THE POPULATION CLAIMS TO HAVE DESCENDED SOLELY FROM INDIGENOUS PEOPLES. THERE IS NO OFFICIAL DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THEM. THE SALVADORAN NATIONAL INDIGENOUS ASSOCIATION (ANIS) WAS FOUNDED TO PROMOTE INDIGENOUS CULTURE AND LANGUAGE. THE INDIGENOUS POPULATION BEGAN TO CAUTIOUSLY ORGANIZE [redacted]

IN THE 1970'S AND OPENED A SCHOOL IN SONSONATE TEACHING NAHUATL, A NATIVE LANGUAGE. AFTER THE FEBRUARY 1983 LAS HOJAS MASSACRE IN WHICH 18 PERSONS WERE KILLED, APPARENTLY BY THE MILITARY, THE ORGANIZATION REDUCED ACTIVITY AND CLOSED THE SCHOOL, WHICH IT PLANS TO REOPEN THIS YEAR. ANIS IS BECOMING INCREASINGLY MORE VISIBLE AND VOCAL. THE FIRST NATIONAL ASSEMBLY OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, HELD IN SEPTEMBER, FOCUSED ON THE CONSERVATION OF THE ENVIRONMENT AND ANCESTRAL VALUES, AND WAS ATTENDED BY INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

ECONOMICALLY INFLUENTIAL MINORITIES OF MIDDLE EASTERN, CHINESE AND EASTERN EUROPEAN DESCENT MAINTAIN CLOSE COMMUNITY LINKS BUT DO NOT APPEAR TO SUFFER FROM DE JURE DISCRIMINATION. THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT PERMIT OR CONDONE DISCRIMINATION IN HOUSING, JOBS OR EDUCATION.

UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, WOMEN ENJOY THE SAME LEGAL

DUE TO REASONS RELATED TO THE CONFLICT AND INTERNATIONAL MIGRATION, FEMALES OUTNUMBER MALES AND CONSTITUTE A HIGHER PERCENTAGE OF THE WORK FORCE. A RECENT STUDY ON WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT POINTS OUT THAT WOMEN ALSO FACE GENDER-SPECIFIC CONSTRAINTS TO PARTICIPATING IN VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL EDUCATIONS PROGRAMS. TRAINING GEARED TO FEMALES TENDS TO FOCUS ON AREAS WHERE THEY ARE ALREADY ECONOMICALLY ACTIVE AND IN GENERALLY LOW-INCOME OCCUPATIONS: TEACHING, NURSING, HOME INDUSTRIES OR MICROENTERPRISES, HOME ECONOMICS AND GARDENING. MALE-DOMINATED AREAS AS COMPUTER SCIENCES, ENGINEERING, AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS, AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES, AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION TENDS TO BE RESERVED FOR MALES. THIS PERCEPTION OF TRADITIONAL MALE/FEMALE ROLES DISCOURAGES FEMALES FROM MOVING INTO HIGH-GROWTH, HIGHER-PAYING OCCUPATIONS. IN ADDITION, WOMEN DO NOT HAVE EQUAL ACCESS TO ECONOMIC RESOURCES SUCH AS CREDIT AND LAND. NONETHELESS, WOMEN MAKE A SIGNIFICANT ECONOMIC CONTRIBUTION TO SALVADORAN LIFE.

PARTICULARLY IN LOWER INCOME FAMILIES.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, IS WIDESPREAD, BUT THE LACK OF RELIABLE STATISTICS COUNTRYWIDE MAKES IT IMPOSSIBLE TO GAUGE ITS TRUE EXTENT. STATISTICS IN SAN MIGUEL, THE THIRD LARGEST CITY, SHOW 400 RAPE CASES FROM JANUARY TO JULY, AND THAT THE MAJORITY OF THE VICTIMS ARE MINORS. DOMESTIC VIOLENCE CASES ARE RARELY PROSECUTED; JUDGES OFTEN DISMISS RAPE CASES, BLAMING THE VICTIM FOR PROVOKING THE CRIME. A JUDGE IN A SEPTEMBER RAPE CASE RULED THAT A WOMAN CANNOT DENY CONJUGAL PRIVILEGES TO HER HUSBAND. PROSECUTION OF RAPE CASES IS DIFFICULT BECAUSE OF LACK OF SUPPORT GROUPS FOR VICTIMS, LACK OF FORENSIC EVIDENCE, AND CULTURAL ATTITUDES.

HOWEVER, RECENT EFFORTS ARE DIRECTED AT ENCOURAGING RAPE VICTIMS TO COME FORWARD AND PRESS CHARGES. SINCE AUGUST, A PUBLIC PROSECUTOR HAS BEEN ON DUTY 24 HOURS A DAY AT THE SAN SALVADOR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL TO ASSIST VICTIMS AND THEIR FAMILIES IN TAKING LEGAL ACTION. THE NATIONAL SECRETARIAT OF THE FAMILY, HEADED BY FIRST LADY MARGARITA CRISTIANI, HAS ORGANIZED CONFERENCES ON THE PREVENTION OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AND CHILD ABUSE.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS GROUPS ARE ACTIVE IN EL SALVADOR. THERE ARE NEARLY ONE HUNDRED WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS TO HELP LOW-INCOME WOMEN. MAJOR CONCERNS FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS GROUPS ARE EQUAL RIGHTS, UNEMPLOYMENT, ACCESS TO CREDIT AND SKILLS TRAINING, ILLITERACY, HEALTH SERVICES, FAMILY PLANNING, CHILDCARE, AND VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION

THE 1983 CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS THE GOVERNMENT FROM USING NATIONALITY, SEX, RACE, CREED, OR POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY TO PREVENT WORKERS OR EMPLOYERS FROM ORGANIZING THEMSELVES INTO UNIONS OR ASSOCIATIONS. THIS PROVISION WAS INTENDED TO PROVIDE THE LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR SECONDARY LEGISLATION, INCLUDING A REVISED LABOR CODE. ON AUGUST 16, THE INTERGREMIAL, AN UMBRELLA GROUP INCLUDING EL SALVADOR'S LARGEST LABOR ORGANIZATIONS, PRESENTED A DRAFT LABOR CODE TO THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY, TO WHICH EIGHT LABOR LEADERS WERE ELECTED IN 1991, AND THE POLITICAL PARTIES. THE PROPOSED LEGISLATION WAS PREPARED BY THE NATIONAL

MAJOR PROVISIONS OF THE DRAFT INCLUDE: CODIFYING THE RIGHT OF AGRICULTURAL WORKERS TO ORGANIZE, ESTABLISHING THE RIGHT OF PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES TO FORM UNIONS, EXPANDING SEVERANCE PAY BENEFITS, AND IMPROVING LEGAL GUARANTEES OF THE RIGHT TO STRIKE. BOTH THE GOES AND THE PRIVATE SECTOR ARE REPORTEDLY STUDYING THE UNOC DRAFT IN ORDER TO NEGOTIATE FINAL LEGISLATION. LABOR, BUSINESS, AND [redacted]

AUTONOMOUS PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS MAY FORM UNIONS BUT NOT STRIKE. EXISTING LAW BARS AGRICULTURAL WORKERS AND EMPLOYEES OF GOVERNMENT MINISTRIES AND DEPARTMENTS FROM FORMING UNIONS OR STRIKING. THESE EMPLOYEES ARE REPRESENTED BY ASSOCIATIONS WHOSE FUNCTION, INCLUDING THE USE OF STRIKES, IS ALMOST INDISTINGUISHABLE FROM THAT OF UNIONS.

THE LABOR CODE REQUIRES THAT DISPUTES GO THROUGH

DIRECT BARGAINING, CONCILIATION, AND ARBITRATION BEFORE A STRIKE CAN BE CALLED. LABOR COURTS, PART OF THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM AND THUS RESPONSIBLE TO THE SUPREME COURT, ARE COMPETENT TO DETERMINE THE LEGALITY OF STRIKES. IN PRACTICE BOTH LABOR AND MANAGEMENT OFTEN IGNORE THE ONEROUS AND TIME CONSUMING LEGAL REQUIREMENTS, AND MOST STRIKES ARE TECHNICALLY ILLEGAL.

THE RIGHT TO STRIKE HAS NOT DETERRED SUCH STRIKE ACTIVITY. THE MOST IMPORTANT STRIKES IN 1991 WERE ORGANIZED BY PUBLIC EMPLOYEE ASSOCIATIONS AND BY A COORDINATING GROUP OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES CALLED UNASTEMA. WORK STOPPAGES WEE CALLED BY TEACHERS AND EMPLOYEES OF THE EDUCATION MINISTRY, MUNICIPAL WORKERS IN SAN SALVADOR AND OTHER CITIES, EMPLOYEES AT THE TREASURY AND PUBLIC WORKS MINISTRIES, AND THE STATE OWNED TELEPHONE COMPANY. IN ADDITION TO SEEKING IMPROVED WAGES AND BENEFITS, THESE STRIKES SOUGHT AN END TO GOES PRIVATIZATION PLANS AND A REVERSAL OF GOES ECONOMIC POLICY. IN SEVERAL INSTANCES WORKERS HAVE OCCUPIED FACTORY PREMISES AS PART OF A WORK STOPPAGE. IN CASES WHERE SUCH ACTIVITY IS PART OF AN ILLEGAL STRIKE, SECURITY FORCES HAVE INTERVENED.

THERE ARE APPROXIMATELY 150 CURRENTLY ACTIVE TRADE UNIONS, EMPLOYEE ASSOCIATIONS, AND PEASANT ORGANIZATIONS, WITH A COMBINED MEMBERSHIP OF JUST O ER 400,000, ROUGHLY 15 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE. THE NATIONAL UNION OF WORKERS AND PEASANTS (UNOC), CLAIMING SOME 200,000 MEMBERS, REMAINS BY FAR THE COUNTRY'S LARGEST LABOR ORGANIZATION. THESE ORGANIZATIONS FREELY ELECT THEIR OFFICERS IN ACCORDANCE WITH THEIR CONSTITUTIONS AND BYLAWS. LEADERS OF WORKER ORGANIZATIONS APPEAR FREQUENTLY ON TELEVISION, PUBLISH THEIR VIEWS IN MAJOR NEWSPAPERS, AND CONDUCT SEMINARS WITHOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE. UNIONS ARE ABLE TO ORGANIZE AND PARTICIPATE IN PEACEFUL PUBLIC DEMONSTRATIONS WITHOUT GOVEPNMENT INTERFERENCE. THE 1991 ELECTION OF EIGHT LABOR LEADERS TO THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY PROVIDED AN UNPRECEDENTED OPPORTUNITY FOR ORGANIZED LABOR TO EXPRESS ITS VIEWS AND TO PARTICIPATE IN NATIONAL DEBATES ON KEY ISSUES FROM CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM TO THE PEACE PROCESS. THE LABOR LEGISLATORS HAVE BEEN IN THE FOREFRONT OF DEBATES ON AGRARIAN REFORM AND PRIVATIZATION AND ARE EXPECTED TO TAKE THE LEAD ON LABOR CODE REFORM.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

THE RIGHT OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS GRANTED IN ARTICLE 39 OF THE CONSTITUTION, AND ARTICLE 269 OF THE LABOR CODE. UNDER THE LABOR CODE, ONLY PRIVATE SECTOR WORKERS CAN EXERCISE THIS RIGHT, BUT THE CONSTITUTION

IS INTERPRETED BROADLY TO PROVIDE ALL WORKERS THE RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY. PRIVATE SECTOR UNIONS USE THE MECHANISM OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING EXTENSIVELY, AND A SIMILAR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING PRACTICE IS ALSO FOLLOWED, ALTHOUGH MORE INFORMALLY, BETWEEN PUBLIC EMPLOYEE ASSOCIATIONS AND THE GOVERNMENT. HOWEVER, COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENTS SIGNED BY PUBLIC EMPLOYEE ASSOCIATIONS ARE NOT ENFORCEABLE UNDER THE LABOR CODE.

THE DIRECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR IS RESPONSIBLE FOR OVERSEEING THE IMPLEMENTATION OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENTS AND ACTING AS

HOWEVER, THESE LABOR LEADERS CONTINUE TO REPRESENT WORKER ORGANIZATIONS WHILE SERVING IN THE ASSEMBLY. LABOR LEADERS CONSIDER THE CRISTIANI GOVERNMENT'S ECONOMIC PROGRAM, ESPECIALLY PRIVATIZATION, ANTI-LABOR. BUSINESS LEADERS CONTINUE TO TAKE MEASURES TO PREVENT UNIONS FROM BEING FORMED. UNION LEADERS HAVE ALSO COMPLAINED ABOUT LENGTHY AND COMPLEX PROCEDURES REQUIRED TO REGISTER NEW UNIONS. AN OUTDATED LABOR CODE, INADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITY, AND CORRUPTION REMAIN OBSTACLES TO FULLY PROTECTING THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE.

ARTICLE 47 OF THE CONSTITUTION STATES THAT UNION OFFICIALS AT THE TIME OF THEIR ELECTION, THROUGHOUT THEIR TERM, AND FOR ONE YEAR FOLLOWING THEIR TERM SHALL NOT BE FIRED, SUSPENDED FOR DISCIPLINARY REASONS, REMOVED, OR DEBASED IN THEIR WORK CONDITIONS EXCEPT FOR LEGAL CAUSE. THIS PROVISION IS GENERALLY OBSERVED IN PRACTICE.

EL SALVADOR HAS ONE EXPORT PROCESSING ZONE. THERE ARE [redacted]

NO DIFFERENCES IN LABOR REGULATIONS IN THIS AREA AND THOSE WHICH PREVAIL IN GENERAL. THERE ARE NO LABOR UNIONS REPRESENTED IN ANY OF THE FIRMS IN THE ZONE, AND THE FIRMS DISCOURAGE LABOR ORGANIZING. THE LABOR MINISTRY MAINTAINS THAT IT HAS RECEIVED NO COMPLAINTS FROM WORKERS IN THE ZONE.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR EXCEPT IN CASES OF PUBLIC CALAMITY AND OTHER INSTANCES SPECIFIED BY LAW.

THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (ILO)'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS ON THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS HAS FOR A NUMBER OF YEARS NOTED WITH CONCERN THE PROVISIONS IN THE PENAL CODE THAT ALLOW THE IMPOSITION OF SENTENCES INVOLVING COMPULSORY LABOR AND HAS MADE SUGGESTIONS ON HOW TO IMPROVE EXISTING LEGISLATION AND PRACTICE. D. MINIMUM AGE FOR EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN UNDER THE AGE OF 14. THE LABOR CODE STATES THAT EXCEPTIONS CAN BE MADE ONLY IN CASES WHERE IT CAN BE DEMONSTRATED THAT SUCH EMPLOYMENT IS ABSOLUTELY INDISPENSABLE TO THE SUSTENANCE OF THE MINOR AND HIS FAMILY. THIS IS MOST OFTEN THE CASE WITH CHILDREN OF [redacted]

PEASANT FAMILIES WHO TRADITIONALLY WORK WITH THEIR FAMILIES DURING PLANTING AND HARVESTING SEASONS.

THE CONSTITUTION ALSO PROHIBITS THE EMPLOYMENT OF PERSONS UNDER 18 AND ALL WOMEN IN OCCUPATIONS CONSIDERED HAZARDOUS. THE LAW IS ENFORCED THROUGH INSPECTIONS UNDERTAKEN BY THE MINISTRY OF LABOR. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT INSPECTIONS HAVE REVEALED VIOLATIONS WHICH HAVE BEEN CORRECTED.

RECOMMENDS INCREASES IN THE MINIMUM WAGES FOR COMMERCIAL, INDUSTRIAL, SERVICE, AND AGRO-INDUSTRIAL EMPLOYEES. OVER THE PAST SEVERAL YEARS, WAGES HAVE NOT KEPT PEACE WITH INFLATION. IN DECEMBER 1990, THE GOVERNMENT AUTHORIZED AN INCREASE IN THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR WORKERS IN THE COFFEE, COTTON, AND SUGAR CANE INDUSTRIES. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR OTHER AGRICULTURAL WORKERS AND FOR THOSE IN THE COMMERCIAL, INDUSTRIAL, AND SERVICE SECTORS WAS INCREASED IN MAY OF 1991.

[redacted]

WORKERS IN COMMERCE, INDUSTRY, AND SERVICES HAVE A MINIMUM DAILY SALARY OF APPROXIMATELY 3 USD. FOR THE MOST PART, MINIMUM WAGES ARE INADEQUATE TO MEET THE MINISTRY OF ECONOMY'S STANDARD OF BASIC NECESSITY AND AN ESTIMATED 40 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES BELOW THE POVERTY LEVEL.

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE LABOR CODE REQUIRE EMPLOYERS, INCLUDING THE GOVERNMENT, TO TAKE STEPS TO ENSURE THAT EMPLOYEES ARE NOT PLACED AT RISK IN THEIR WORKPLACES. DESPITE EXTREMELY LIMITED BUDGETARY RESOURCES, THE MINISTRY OF LABOR ATTEMPTS TO ENFORCE THE APPLICABLE REGULATIONS. ACCORDING TO MINISTRY FIGURES, ITS INSPECTOR GENERAL CONDUCTED APPROXIMATELY 58,000 WORKSITE INSPECTIONS BETWEEN JUNE 1990 AND JULY 1991. THE INSPECTOR GENERAL'S CORPS CITED EMPLOYERS FOR NUMEROUS INFRACTIONS AND ASSESSED FINES. SALVADORAN HEALTH AND SAFETY REGULATIONS ARE OUTDATED, HOWEVER, AND INADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT REMAINS A PROBLEM.

1. (U) THE DEPT OF LABOR HAS ASKED FOR UPDATED INFORMATION ON WORKER RIGHTS TO PREPARE FOR THE TRADE POLICY REVIEW GROUP'S DISCUSSION OF CHILE'S TRADE AND INVESTMENT POLICIES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE DECEMBER 9 MEETING OF THE BILATERAL CABINET-LEVEL TRADE AND INVESTMENT COUNCIL. WE SUBMITTED THIS INFORMATION IN OUR DRAFT HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT (REF A), BUT IT WILL NOT BE WIDELY CIRCULATED UNTIL NEXT YEAR. 2. (C) DURING LAST YEAR'S GSP REVIEW, THE INTERAGENCY GSP COMMITTEE FOUND THAT CHILE WAS TAKING STEPS TO AFFORD INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED WORKER RIGHTS FOR ITS WORKERS. SINCE THEN, THE CHILEAN CONGRESS HAS ACTED ON LABOR REFORMS PROPOSED BY THE AYLWIN ADMINISTRATION AFTER CONSULTING WITH THE UNITARY WORKERS CENTRAL (CUT), AND PASSED ALL OF THEM, EXCEPT ONE FOR INDIVIDUAL CONTRACTS CONSIDERED BY LABOR LEADERS TO BE OF LITTLE IMPORT. THE REFORMS ENACTED CONTAINED THE MAJOR PROVISIONS WHICH THE INTERAGENCY COMMITTEE CITED IN ITS JUSTIFICATION FOR RESTORING GSP BENEFITS, AND THE FRAMEWORK FOR LABOR/ MANAGEMENT RELATIONS IS MORE EQUITABLE. SPECIFICALLY:

- A "TRIPARTITE GUIDELINE AGREEMENT" SIGNED BY BUSINESS, LABOR AND GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES IN APRIL 1990 HAS PROVIDED A BASIS FOR LABOR/MANAGEMENT COOPERATION.

CONFIDENTIAL

- THERE IS A PROCEDURE FOR LEGALIZING LABOR CENTRALS, AND THE UNIFIED WORKERS CENTRAL (CUT) SHOULD BECOME THE FIRST LEGAL CENTRAL AFTER ITS CONGRESS LATER THIS MONTH.

- FAMILY ALLOWANCES ARE ONCE AGAIN AN IMPORTANT PART OF EARNINGS FOR LOWER PAID WORKERS AND MINIMUM WAGES HAVE RECOVERED LEVELS OF 1970, CONSIDERED THE BASE YEAR.

- EMPLOYERS PAY A TEN PERCENT PREMIUM IF WORKERS HAVE TO TAKE LEGAL ACTION TO RECEIVE SEVERANCE PAY. SEVERANCE PAY INCREASED FROM A MAXIMUM OF FIVE TO ELEVEN MONTHS.

- EMPLOYERS MAY NO LONGER DISMISS WORKERS WITHOUT CAUSE. THE LAW DEFINES UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICES AND FAILURE TO BARGAIN IN GOOD FAITH, AND ALLOWS BOTH CIVIL AND CRIMINAL SANCTIONS.

- WORKERS IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR AND STATE-RUN ENTERPRISES MAY ESTABLISH LABOR ORGANIZATIONS WITHOUT PRIOR AUTHORIZATION.

- NEGOTIATIONS MAY OCCUR ON AN INTRA-COMPANY OR INDUSTRY WIDE BASIS PROVIDED ALL PARTIES AGREE TO THE VENUE.

3. (C) THE AYLWIN ADMINISTRATION'S TACTICAL DECISION TO PRESENT THE LABOR REFORMS LAST YEAR IN THE CHILEAN SENATE -- CONTROLLED BY THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION -- FORCED COMPROMISES. THE MODIFIED REFORMS GAINED THE BACKING OF THE NATIONAL RENEWAL PARTY (RN), BUT THE GOVERNMENT'S LABOR SUPPORTERS COMPLAIN PRIVATELY THAT THE FINAL REFORMS

THE GOVERNMENT'S LABOR CRITICS GO EVEN FURTHER, CLAIMING EMPLOYERS ROUTINELY FIRE WORKERS WHO ATTEMPT TO FORM UNIONS. THEY WANT FURTHER LIMITS ON EMPLOYERS' RIGHT TO LAY OFF WORKERS.

EXERCISING PRESSURE THROUGH THREATS OF LOSS OF EMPLOYMENT OR BENEFITS, THE CLOSING OF THE COMPANY OR ELIMINATION OF A POSITION." THE LAW IS CLEAR, BUT PROBLEMS STILL EXIST IN IMPLEMENTATION. THE VICE "INISTER OF LABOR ACKNOWLEDGED IN THE PRESS THAT WORKERS ARE FIRED IN SMALL BUSINESSES WHEN THEY ATTEMPT TO FORM UNIONS. IT APPEARS LABOR LAWYERS ARE ACCUSTOMED TO BLANKET RESTRICTIONS ON FIRING AND HAVE NOT ASKED THE COURTS TO RULE ON POTENTIAL UNFAIR PRACTICES. SINCE THE LAW HAS BEEN IN EFFECT ONLY A FEW MONTHS, WE EXPECT THIS PROBLEM TO CORRECT ITSELF OVER TIME. HOWEVER, THE LAW (EVEN AS REFORMED) DOES NOT HAVE A REINSTATEMENT REMEDY.

5. (C) THE LABOR CODE DOES NOT PROVIDE A MECHANISM FOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR. AFTER RECENT ILLEGAL PUBLIC SECTOR STRIKES, THE GOVERNMENT USED DECADES OLD STATE SECURITY LAWS TO INITIATE JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST STRIKE LEADERS. THE GOVERNMENT HAS DROPPED THE CHARGES AND IS INTRODUCING ADDITIONAL REFORMS, NOT PART OF ITS EARLIER PACKAGE, WHICH WILL RE"EDY THIS SHORTCO"ING. WE EXPECT LEGISLATION TO PASS THE CONGRESS LATER THIS YEAR

6. (C) ALTHOUGH THE REFORMED LABOR CODE GIVES WORKERS THE RIGHT TO FORM UNIONS WITHOUT PRIOR AUTHORIZATION, ARTICLE 201 PROVIDES THAT NEGOTIATIONS BY "UNIONS OF TRANSITORY WORKERS ... WILL NOT HAVE THE LEGAL STATUS OF A LABOR CONTRACT." THESE PROVISIONS, DENYING THE RIGHT TO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING, APPLY TO THE MERCHANT MARINE, PORT WORKERS, CONSTRUCTIONS WORKERS, AND ARTISTS. SENSITIVE TO INTERNATIONAL LABOR SINCE THESE UNIONS HAVE BEEN ACTIVE IN THE ICFTU, ORIT, AND THE INTERNATIONAL MARITIME UNION. WE KNOW OF NO PLANS BY THE AYLWIN ADMINISTRATION TO REVISIT THIS QUESTION SOON.

7. (LOU) THE FOLLOWING IS THE DRAFT TO SECTION 6 OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT:

A. WORKERS IN CHILE HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM AND JOIN UNIONS, AND APPROXIMATELY 12 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED, WHICH IS LOW BY HISTORICAL STANDARDS. PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES ARE NOT ALLOWED TO FORM UNIONS UNDER THE LABOR CODE, BUT THEY FORM "ASSOCIATIONS" WHICH HAVE LEGAL STATUS AND PARTICIPATE IN LABOR CONFEDERATIONS. ONLY THE POLICE AND MILITARY ARE NOT PERMITTED TO ORGANIZE. THE LABOR CODE WAS AMENDED IN 1991 TO ALLOW FOR THE FORMATION OF NATIONWIDE LABOR "CENTRALS," BUT THE REQUIREMENTS ARE ONEROUS AND NONE OF THE EXISTING DE FACTO CENTRALS HAVE YET OBTAINED LEGAL RECOGNITION. THE GOVERNMENT DISCUSSED LABOR CODE REFORMS WITH THE UNIFIED WORKERS CENTRAL (CUT) AND PROVIDED IT WITH A HEADQUARTERS BUILDING, IMPLICITLY RECOGNIZING ITS EXISTENCE. THE GOVERNMENT'S FAILURE TO CONSULT MORE CLOSELY WITH SMALLER CENTRALS, INCLUDING THE DIVIDED DEMOCRATIC WORKERS CENTRAL AND THE CONSERVATIVE CHILEAN WORKERS CENTRAL WAS STRONGLY CRITICIZED BY THESE GROUPS AND OPPOSITION POLITICAL PARTIES.

UNIONS ARE INDEPENDENT OF THE GOVERNMENT, BUT THEY MAINTAIN TIES WITH POLITICAL PARTIES. ONLY THE DEMOCRATIC LABOR CENTRAL HAS MAINTAINED ITS POLITICAL INDEPENDENCE, BUT IT HAS SUFFERED A DECLINE IN MEMBERSHIP AND POWER.

LEGALLY RECOGNIZED UNIONS DO NOT NEED PERMISSION TO HOLD UNION MEETINGS OR CONFERENCES. UNION OFFICIALS MUST BE EMPLOYED IN A BUSINESS THEIR UNION REPRESENTS, EVEN IF THEY WORK FULL-TIME FOR A LABOR CONFEDERATION. PERSON UNDER INDICTMENT MAY NOT BE NOMINATED TO UNION POSTS, EVEN IF THE OFFENSES WERE COMMITTED DURING THE PINOCHET ERA.

REFORMS TO THE LABOR CODE REMOVED SOME SEVERE RESTRICTIONS TO THE RIGHT TO STRIKE. EMPLOYERS MAY NO LONGER FIRE STRIKING WORKERS AFTER 60 DAYS, WITHOUT PAYING THEIR SEVERANCE BENEFITS, AND THE BENEFITS HAVE INCREASED FROM A MAXIMUM OF FIVE 5 TO 11 MONTHS SALARY. EVEN BEFORE PASSING THE LABOR REFORMS, THE GOVERNMENT RESTORED THE RIGHT TO STRIKE AT COPPER MINES AND OTHER MOST ENTITIES WHICH HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN INCLUDED ON A LIST OF STRATEGIC ENTERPRISES. THE LARGEST COPPER MINE, CHUQUICAMATA, AND ANOTHER MAJOR MINE, EL TENIENTE, EACH HAD TWO-WEEK LEGAL STRIKES. HEALTH WORKERS, TEACHERS, AND BUS DRIVERS HELD ILLEGAL STRIKES, AND THE GOVERNMENT ASKED THE COURTS TO APPLY STATE SECURITY LAWS AGAINST THEIR LEADERS.

ORGANIZED LABOR CONTINUED TO PRESS DURING THE YEAR FOR A FULL INVESTIGATION OF THE 1982 MURDER OF LABOR LEADER TUCAPEL JIMENEZ, THE MOST SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE RECENTLY COMMITTED AGAINST A LABOR LEADER. THE CASE IS IN THE HANDS OF A SUPREME COURT JUSTICE, BUT THERE HAS BEEN

NO VISIBLE PROGRESS.

IN FEBRUARY 1988, CHILE WAS FORMALLY SUSPENDED FROM BENEFITS IN THE U.S. GENERALIZED SYSTEM OF PREFERENCES

(GSP) FOR ITS FAILURE TO TAKE STEPS TO AFFORD INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED LABOR RIGHTS TO CHILEAN WORKERS. IN JUNE 1990, PUBLIC HEARINGS WERE HELD BY THE U.S. CONGRESS TO REVIEW CHILE'S PETITION TO HAVE GSP PRIVILEGES RESTORED, AND THE BENEFITS WERE RESTORED BY THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH IN FEBRUARY 1991.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

THE CLIMATE FOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IMPROVED WITH THE PASSAGE OF THE NEW LABOR REFORMS, BUT THE PROCESS IS STRICTLY REGULATED. THE ENTIRE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING PROCEDURE CAN BE NULLIFIED IF ANY OF A SERIES OF LEGALLY IMPOSED DEADLINES ARE MISSED BY EITHER THE UNION OR MANAGEMENT. A UNION DOES NOT HAVE THE OPTION TO DELAY THE BARGAINING PROCESS IN ANTICIPATION OF A MORE PROPITIOUS FUTURE BARGAINING ATMOSPHERE. A DECISION NOT TO NEGOTIATE A NEW CONTRACT UPON EXPIRATION OF THE FORMER ONE RESULTS IN AUTOMATICALLY EXTENDING THE CURRENT CONTRACT FOR A MINIMUM 2-YEAR PERIOD.

PUBLIC SECTOR WAGES ARE SET UNILATERALLY BY THE GOVERNMENT AND THERE IS NO FORMAL BARGAINING. OTHER VITAL SERVICES, LIKE THE BUS COMPANIES, ARE NOT ALLOWED TO STRIKE, BUT CAN TAKE DISPUTES TO NEUTRAL ARBITRATION. IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR, UNIONS HAVE THE OPTION WHEN NEGOTIATIONS REACH AN IMPASSE OF USING AN ARBITRATOR, BUT MOST WOULD PREFER TO TAKE LEGAL STEPS TOWARD A STRIKE. BARGAINING CAN OCCUR AT OTHER THAN THE COMPANY LEVEL, FORMALLY SPECIFIED BY LAW, BUT ALL PARTIES MUST AGREE TO THE VENUE.

ALTHOUGH CHILEAN LAW PROTECTS THE RIGHT OF WORKERS TO FORM UNIONS, IN PRACTICE SUCH LAWS ARE NOT EFFECTIVE, ESPECIALLY IN SMALL WORK PLACES. EMPLOYERS CAN NO LONGER DISMISS WORKERS WITHOUT CAUSE, BUT THEY CAN USE TECHNICALITIES IN THE LABOR CODE TO FIRE UNION LEADERS EVEN WHEN THE ENJOY LEGAL PROTECTIONS. REFORMS TO THE LABOR CODE PROVIDE THAT THE EMPLOYER MUST PAY A 20 PERCENT

PENALTY TO THE WORKER IF COURTS RULE THAT HE WAS FIRED WITHOUT DUE CAUSE, BUT THEY DO NOT REQUIRE THAT THE WORKER BE REHIRED. EMPLOYERS ARE ALLOWED TO NEGOTIATE WITH AD HOC WORKER GROUPS, WHICH UNDERMINES THE BARGAINING ABILITY OF THE UNION.

THERE ARE NO EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES IN CHILE OR OTHER SPECIAL DISTRICTS WHERE DIFFERENT LABOR LAWS APPLY.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR IS IMPLICITLY PROHIBITED IN THE CONSTITUTION AND LABOR CODE, AND THERE HAVE BEEN NO COMPLAINTS ON THIS ISSUE SINCE THE MID-1970'S.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

CHILD LABOR IS REGULATED BY LAW. YOUNG PEOPLE AGED 14 AND 15 MAY BE EMPLOYED ONLY WITH THE PERMISSION OF THEIR PARENTS OR GUARDIANS AND IF THEY HAVE COMPLETED THEIR SCHOOLING, AND THEN ONLY IN RESTRICTED TYPES OF LABOR. THOSE AGED 15 TO 18 CAN BE EMPLOYED IN A LARGER VARIETY OF JOBS AND AT EXPANDED HOURS, BUT ONLY WITH THEIR PARENTS' OR GUARDIANS' PERMISSION. ENFORCEMENT OF THESE REGULATIONS IN THE FORMAL SECTOR IS GOOD, BUT ECONOMIC FACTORS HAVE FORCED MANY CHILDREN TO SEEK PART-TIME AND FULL-TIME EMPLOYMENT IN THE INFORMAL ECONOMY WHICH IS GENERALLY DIFFICULT TO REGULATE.

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

MINIMUM WAGES, HOURS OF WORK, AND OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH STANDARDS ARE REGULATED BY LAW. THE NORMAL WORK WEEK IS 48 HOURS LONG. THE MINIMUM WAGE IS APPROXIMATELY US DOLLARS 92 PER MONTH BUT LOWER PAID WORKERS ALSO RECEIVE A FAMILY SUBSIDY WHICH IS

DESIGNED TO RAISE THEIR EARNINGS TO A DECENT LEVEL. THE GOVERNMENT ESTIMATES THAT WORKERS EARNING THE MINIMUM WAGE HAVE RECOVERED THE EARNING POWER THEY ONCE ENJOYED. WHEN THE WAGE WAS RAISED IN 1991, THE TRIPARTITE COMMITTEE AGREED IN PRINCIPLE THAT FUTURE WAGE INCREASES WOULD BE TIED TO INCREASES IN PRODUCTIVITY. THE MINISTRY OF LABOR HAS INSPECTORS TO ENFORCE LAWS COVERING WAGES AND HOURS OF WORK, BUT THEY ARE NOT ALWAYS EFFECTIVE. THERE ARE COMPLAINTS OF OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY LAWS NOT BEING ADEQUATELY ENFORCED IN SMALL INDUSTRIES. GREENLEE

SUBJECT: SEPTEMBER BRINGS SWEEPING CHANGES AS
- EL SALVADOR PREPARES FOR PEACE

1. THE SKEPTICS WHO CLAIM NOTHING EVER CHANGES IN EL SALVADOR WILL UNDOUBTEDLY FIND SEPTEMBER 1991 DIFFICULT TO EXPLAIN AWAY. OVER LABOR DAY WEEKEND, THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR VISITED AN FMLN-CONTROLLED REPATRIATE COMMUNITY FOR THE FIRST TIME TO DISCUSS ASSISTANCE PROJECTS; RESIDENTS HAVE SINCE INDICATED THEIR WILLINGNESS TO END THEIR ISOLATION AND ESTABLISH A COOPERATIVE RELATIONSHIP WITH THE GOES AND USG. AFTER RESISTING PRESSURE FROM THE OPPOSITION TO RATIFY THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS AGREED TO BY THE GOES AND FMLN APRIL 27 AND APPROVED BY THE OUTGOING ASSEMBLY APRIL 29 AND 30; THE ARENA PARTY, WITHOUT WHOSE VOTES A TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY IS IMPOSSIBLE, AGREED TO MOVE AHEAD WITH RATIFICATION, AND ON SEPTEMBER 11 AND 25, CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS AFFECTING HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE ELECTORAL SYSTEM WERE RATIFIED. AT THE CONCLUSION OF A NINE-DAY SESSION WHICH PRESIDENT CRISTIANI ATTENDED AND UN SECRETARY GENERAL PEREZ DE CUELLAR PERSONALLY MEDIATED, THE

GOES AND FMLN ON SEPTEMBER 25 SIGNED A FRAMEWORK ACCORD IN NEW YORK, UNTYING THE "GORDIAN KNOT" WHICH HAD STALLED PROGRESS AND PAVING THE WAY FOR A CEASE-FIRE.

2. FINALLY, ON SEPTEMBER 28, A FIVE-PERSON JURY FOUND COLONEL GUILLERMO BENAVIDES, A MEMBER OF THE POWERFUL "TANDONA," GUILTY OF ORDERING THE MURDER OF

SAN SA 13487 242223Z SHB7947

SIX JESUIT PRIESTS AND TWO WOMEN. WHILE THIS WAS NOT A VERDICT WHICH MET ALL NEEDS OR ANSWERED ALL QUESTIONS (THE ENLISTED MEN WHO ACTUALLY FIRED THE SHOTS WERE ACQUITTED), AND THE COOPERATION OF THE SALVADORAN ARMED FORCES LEFT MUCH TO BE DESIRED, ITS HISTORIC IMPORTANCE CANNOT BE MINIMIZED; FOR THE FIRST TIME IN SALVADORAN HISTORY, A COLONEL HAS BEEN HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR ORDERING MURDER, THE MOST SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE. THE NIGHT THE VERDICT WAS HANDED DOWN, ROBERTO D'AUBUISSON USED WHAT MAY HAVE BEEN THE LAST MAJOR SPEECH OF HIS LIFE TO CALL ON THE FAITHFUL OF THE ARENA PARTY TO BACK THE PEACE PROCESS AND WELCOME THE FMLN BACK HOME AS SALVADORAN CITIZENS WITH EVERY RIGHT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE POLITICAL PROCESS.

3. EL SALVADOR PROBABLY SAW MORE CHANGE IN SEPTEMBER OF 1991 THAN IT EVER HAS IN ANY SINGLE MONTH IN ITS HISTORY. ALTHOUGH ONE COULD WISH FOR MORE IN EACH CASE--PERFECT COOPERATION FROM THE ARMED FORCES IN THE JESUIT TRIAL, A COMPLETE PEACE ACCORD WITH AN IMMEDIATE CEASE-FIRE--THESE WERE REMARKABLE AND HISTORIC EVENTS WHICH IN THEIR TOTALITY INDICATE

MOVEMENT ACROSS THE BOARD, AND IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION. WE BELIEVE THE SALVADORAN NATIONAL PSYCHE HAS UNDERGONE A SUBTLE BUT DRAMATIC CHANGE IN THE LAST SIX MONTHS. NO LONGER A COUNTRY AT WAR, EL SALVADOR HAS BECOME A COUNTRY PREPARING FOR PEACE AND NATIONAL RECONCILIATION.

FROM: ARA - Bernard W. Aronson

SUBJECT: Meeting with Charles A. Gillespie, Jr., U.S. Ambassador to Chile
October 30, 1991
Your Office
10:00 a.m.

I. KEY POINTS TO MAKE

Letelier/Moffitt Case

-- Significant progress is being made with the criminal prosecution. A special investigating judge is conducting a thorough inquiry, and has formally charged the intellectual authors of the crime and ordered them held in detention.

Bryan Commission

-- It met for the first time October 3 to receive the USG submission on behalf of the Letelier and Moffitt families. Total compensation requested by the USG amounts to approximately $14 million.

Security Relations.

-- Relations in this area have been steadily improving since lifting the Kennedy-Harkin sanctions last year.

-- An IMET agreement is in place and staffing a Military Liaison Office is in progress.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
UNCLASSIFIED

-- The one sour note is a pending amendment that would impose a 15-day congressional notification requirement for arms sales to Chile.

Free Trade Agreement

-- We expect a TPRG to meet in November on whether to undertake a negotiation. To do this, the TPRG will need information on congressional attitudes, particularly in the context of NAFTA and the Uruguay Round.

SCENESETTER

-- Ambassador Gillespie is in Washington for several days of consultations in the Department. He is also meeting with members of congress as well as NSC and DOD officials.

Charles A. Gillespie, Jr.
United States Ambassador to Chile

On October 14, 1988, the United States Senate confirmed the appointment of Charles A. Gillespie, Jr., to be Ambassador of the United States of America to Chile. Ambassador Gillespie took the oath of office on November 9, 1988.

From August 1985 until September 1988, Gillespie served as Ambassador of the United States of America to the Republic of Colombia, where he headed a United States Mission comprising the Embassy in Bogota and a Consulate in Barranquilla. With a staff of over 700, the Mission is one of the largest in Latin America.

From August 1983 until he was named Ambassador to Colombia, Gillespie served as Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for the Caribbean and Deputy for Operations in the State Department's Bureau of Inter-American Affairs. In that position he was responsible for formulating and implementing United States policy in the Caribbean region and for execution of United States policy throughout Latin America and the Caribbean.

On October 24, 1983, the President named Gillespie Ambassador and Chief of Mission in Grenada, concurrent with his other duties, and instructed him to head the United States Mission on that island as of the time United States forces landed on October 25. Ambassador Gillespie established the first United States Embassy on Grenada, which was officially inaugurated on February 7, 1984. Gillespie returned to his Washington duties in March 1984.

Ambassador Gillespie is a career Foreign Service Officer, with rank of Minister-Counselor. Since he entered the Service in 1965, he has served at Embassies in Manila, Djakarta, Brussels, Mexico City and Managua, at the United States Mission to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and at the State Department in Washington, D.C.

A native of California, Ambassador Gillespie graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles. Before joining the Foreign Service, he served as a commissioned officer in the United States Army overseas. He has done graduate work in public administration at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Public Affairs and is a graduate of the National War College in Washington, D.C. Ambassador Gillespie is married and has two grown children.

INTRODUCTION

On June 11, 1990, an Agreement and Compromis, was signed between the Governments of the Republic of Chile and the United States of America, through which a diplomatic dispute was settled between both Governments concerning the responsibility and cooperation of the Chilean Government in clarifying the deaths of former Chilean Foreign Affairs Minister Mr. Orlando Letelier and of United States citizen Mrs. Ronni Karpen Moffitt, and the injuries to the United States citizen Michael Moffitt, event occurring in Washington on September 21, 1976.

In said Agreement, N° 3, the Government of Chile, "without admitting liability in the matter" and as a way of expediting the normalization of relations between both countries, expressed its willingness to make an "ex gratia" payment; that is, without there being a legal obligation to make this payment.

This Agreement was negotiated by the new Administration of Chile, through official representatives of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, for the purpose of terminating pending disputes with the Government of the United States, and in this way normalizing relations between both countries.

The Agreement was first approved by the Chamber of Deputies, followed by the Senate of Chile, although, in the latter, was approved by a narrow majority. Finally, the Agreement and Arbitration Agreement were published in the Official Gazette on October 9, 1991, after notifying the United States Government of the Agreement's entrance into force on September 4, 1991.

On October 3, on the basis of the Arbitration Agreement subscribed to between both parties, the Commission -- stipulated in the Treaty of 1914 for the settlement of disputes between Chile and the United States (designated "Bryan-Suárez between Chile and the United States (designated "Bryan-Suárez Mujica") -- was constituted. The establishment of the Commission took place in the city of Washington, at the headquarters of the Organization of American States (O.A.S.), and was presided by Dr. Andrés Aguilar of Venezuela. On that same date the extensive United States presentation was received, which includes its estimate of the amount of compensation that should be decided upon concerning the murders of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Karpen Moffitt and the injuries suffered by Michael Moffitt.

The Chilean party was represented by the President of the State Defense Council and by one of its advisory attorneys, Mr. Juan Pablo Román, both officials appointed by the Chilean Government as its representatives in the aforementioned International Commission that will set the amount of ex gratia compensation to be paid by the Chilean State to the United States Government, which, in turn, acts on behalf of the immediate families of the victims of the bomb attack of September 21, 1976.

3. ON NOVEMBER 1, SECRETARY OF THE PRESIDENCY EDGARDO BOENINGER AND FOREIGN MINISTRY DIRECTOR GENERAL CARLOS PORTALES, ACCOMPANIED BY AMBASSADOR PATRICIO SILVA AND DCM DEMETRIO INFANTE, CALLED ON ARA A/S BERNARD ARONSON. ALSO PRESENT WERE DAS PHIL MCLEAN, ARA/SC DIRECTOR ANDREW SENS AND CHILE DESKOFF KATHRYN STEVENS (NOTETAKER).

AYLWIN STATE VISIT

---

4. BOENINGER INDICATED THE GOC IS EAGER FOR CONFIRMATION OF THE PROPOSED STATE VISIT FOR PRESIDENT AYLWIN AS THEY ARE NOW TRYING TO PIN DOWN AYLWIN'S 1992 TRAVEL SCHEDULE. THEIR PREFERENCE IS FOR APRIL OR FIRST HALF OF MAY, BECAUSE MAY 15 - 21 IS NOT POSSIBLE FOR AYLWIN. NOTING THAT THE WHITE HOUSE HAD NOT YET MADE A DECISION, ARONSON SAID THAT AN AYLWIN STATE VISIT WAS FIRST ON THE BUREAU'S LIST OF RECOMMENDED VISITS FOR NEXT YEAR.

---

15-DAY CONGRESSIONAL NOTIFICATION AMENDMENT

---

5. ARONSON OBSERVED THAT, GIVEN THE RECENT HOUSE VOTE AGAINST THE FOREIGN AUTHORIZATION BILL, THERE MAY BE AN OPPORTUNITY TO DROP THE AMENDMENT CONCERNING NOTIFICATION TO THE CONGRESS OF PROPOSED ARMS SALES TO CHILE. HE SAID THAT HE HAD HAD DISCUSSIONS WITH WITH HOUSE STAFF ABOUT REMOVING THE PROVISIONS AND WHAT NOW REMAINED WAS TO APPROACH THE SENATE.

---

---

6. ARONSON REMARKED ON THE EXCELLENT WORK THAT JUDGE BANADOS HAS DONE TO DATE. BOENINGER NOTED THAT THE CUARTA SALA IS NOT THE BEST ONE FOR HEARING THE INDICTMENTS APPEAL, GIVEN THE COMPOSITION OF ITS MEMBERSHIP, BUT AGREED THAT BANADOS HAS DONE A FINE JOB. "WE'VE DONE OUR BEST," HE SAID.

UNCLASSIFIED

---
---

7. ARONSON INDICATED USG WILLINGNESS TO BE FLEXIBLE ABOUT THE TIMETABLE FOR THE GOC TO SUBMIT ITS RESPONSE (NOW SLATED FOR NOVEMBER 7) TO THE COMMISSION. BOENINGER SAID THAT THE GOC TEAM IS WORKING HARD TO MEET THE DEADLINE, BUT THAT THEIR SUBMISSION, ONCE COMPLETED, HAD TO UNDERGO A PANEL REVIEW WHICH COULD DELAY ITS SUBMISSION TO THE COMMISSON.

---

8. ARONSON SOUNDED A CAUTIONARY NOTE ABOUT EXPECTATIONS REGARDING PROSPECTS FOR BILATERAL FTA NEGOTIATIONS, INDICATING THAT RESERVATIONS HELD BY SOME INTEREST GROUPS IN THE UNITED STATES OVER THE NAFTA MIGHT DELAY THE MEXICO TALKS. ALTHOUGH CONCERNED THAT SUCH A DEVELOPMENT MIGHT DELAY AN AGREEMENT WITH CHILE, BOENINGER WAS ENCOURAGED BY WHAT HE SAW AS POSITIVE SIGNALS FROM USTR CARLA HILLS. ARONSON OBSERVED THAT REACHING OUT TO U.S. ENVIRONMENTAL GROUPS TO INFORM THEM ABOUT THE PENDING ENVIRONMENTAL FRAMEWORK AGREEMENT MIGHT BE HELPFUL, GIVEN HOW IMPORTANT THIS ISSUE IS TO SOME ANTI-FREE TRADE GROUPS. ARONSON ADDED THAT A SUCCESSFUL URUGUAY ROUND WOULD ALSO DO A LOT TO BOOST THE CASE OF THE NAFTA, NOTING THAT AT THIS POINT THE FRENCH ARE KEY TO PROGRESS ON AGRICULTURE.

---

9. IN RESPONSE TO ARONSON'S INQUIRY ABOUT GOC EFFORTS TO COMBAT TERRORISM, BOENINGER SAID THAT THE GOC HAD IMPROVED ITS POLICE CAPACITY IN RECENT MONTHS, AND WAS GRATEFUL FOR USG ASSISTANCE.

UNCLASSIFIED

---
TRAVEL ADVISORY
---

10. BOENINGER RAISED WHAT HE REFERRED TO AS "THE THORNY ISSUE" OF THE CURRENT TRAVEL ADVISORY, WHICH HE CHARACTERIZED AS GIVING AN IMPRESSION OF INSECURITY THAT IS INACCURATE. MCLEAN NOTED THAT WE ARE NOW IN THE PROCESS OF REVIEWING/UPDATING THE ADVISORY. ARONSON SAID THAT THE DECISION TO REISSUE ONE OR NOT WOULD BE DETERMINED BY WHETHER CIRCUMSTANCES HAD CHANGED ENOUGH TO WARRANT RECONSIDERATION, ADDING THAT EVER SINCE THE DESTRUCTION OF PAN AM FLIGHT 103 OVER LOCKERBIE, THE DEPARTMENT FELT IT WAS IMPORTANT TO NOTIFY THE TRAVELING PUBLIC OF THE POTENTIAL FOR VIOLENCE ABROAD.

MCLEAN-PORTALES MEETING
---

11. A FOLLOW-UP MEETING BETWEEN BETWEEN DAS PHIL MCLEAN AND FOREIGN MINISTRY DIRECTOR GENERAL CARLOS PORTALES WAS ALSO ATTENDED BY DEMETRIO INFANTE AND KATHRYN STEVENS. PORTALES RAISED THREE CONCERNS: THE PERU-ECUADOR BORDER DISPUTE, U.S.-CHILE POLITICAL CONSULTATIONS AND THE TRAVEL ADVISORY. MCLEAN OPINED THAT WHAT WAS REQUIRED TO DEAL WITH THE BORDER ISSUE WAS AN APPROPRIATE MECHANISM FOR MONITORING MOVEMENT OF MILITARY FORCES ALONG BOTH SIDES OF THE BORDER. PORTALES AGREED AND VOICED THE HOPE THAT BY THE TIME THE RIO GROUP MEETS IN DECEMBER THE PERUVIANS AND ECUADORIANS WOULD HAVE "COOLED DOWN" ENOUGH TO BE RECEPTIVE TO DISCUSSING WHAT THAT MECHANISM MIGHT BE. HE ALSO NOTED THAT THE PERUVIANS SEEMED TO BE SHOWING A HIGHER DEGREE OF FLEXIBILITY AND APPEARED MORE WILLING TO RECONSIDER THE BORDER ISSUE. MCLEAN ADDED THAT THE ONLY VALID APPROACH THAT WOULD BE EFFECTIVE OVER THE LONG TERM WOULD BE TO INVOKE A SYSTEM OF "GARANTES" TO SETTLE THE DISPUTE. THE CHILEANS ARE EAGER TO ARRANGE A TIME FOR CONSULTATIONS AS A FOLLOW-UP TO THE ARONSON-VARGAS DISCUSSIONS HELD LAST JULY AND AS A PRELUDE TO AN AYLWIN STATE VISIT. PORTALES PROPOSED THE LATTER PART OF JANUARY. MCLEAN THOUGHT THIS AN EXCELLENT IDEA AND AGREED TO PRESENT THE REQUEST TO ARONSON. ON THE ISSUE OF THE CURRENT TRAVEL ADVISORY, MCLEAN PROMISED TO GIVE IT A THOROUGH, FAIR REVIEW AND TO APPROACH THE GOC FOR FURTHER INFORMATION, IF NECESSARY.

THE AGREEMENT AND COMPROMIS OF JUNE 11, 1990.

A. Background and frame of reference of the diplomatic negotiations which culminated in the Agreement and Compromis.

It is important that the Commission weigh the events surrounding the aforementioned diplomatic Agreement.

In the wake of the bomb attack and assassination committed in Washington on September 21, 1976, police and judicial investigations in the United States pointed to the participation of agents of the ex-DINA, National Intelligence Direction, which was later dissolved and whose directors are being accused of perpetrating the crime and who may have conspired with Cuban agents to carry out the deplorable bombing. In the course of the investigation, the United States courts have convicted Michael Townley, a United States citizen who resided in Chile, several Cuban agents, and a former officer of the Chilean Army, Armando Fernández Larios.

However, the steps for extraditing the former Army officer who headed the ex-DINA, Mr. Manuel Contreras Sepúlveda, and his immediate colleague, officer Mr. Pedro Espinoza Bravo, were not accepted by the Supreme Court of Chile in judgements rendered in 1979. As a consequence of this refusal and of the unfavorable course of the criminal investigation before the Chilean Military Courts, the Government of the United States deemed, and accordingly communicated, that the Government of Chile had not cooperated in the investigation and in discovering all the guilty parties, a position that the former Government flatly rejected.

On the other hand, the families of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt filed a civil suit before the Court of the District of Columbia in order that the accused parties and the Republic of Chile indemnify the civil and moral damages suffered by them as a result of the death of their relatives and the injuries of the survivor, Mr. Moffitt.

Since the Republic of Chile invoked the privilege of immunity from jurisdiction for being judged by a foreign court, the suit carried on in default, ending in a judgement condemning Chile to pay several benefits in favor of the plaintiffs. While the position of the Chilean Government regarding immunity from jurisdiction was not accepted by the United States court, subsequently in a second suit seeking enforcement of the prior judgement by attaching assets of Línea Aérea Nacional (LAN), a New York Court accepted the Chilean arguments and ordered that the embargoes affecting Chilean planes be canceled.

It is also relevant to note that the decision rendered in 1980 by Judge Joyce Hens Green of the District Court of the United States ordered the Republic of Chile to pay the following amounts:

I. Concerning Orlando Letelier.

(a) Pursuant to the Survival Statute, the Republic of Chile was ordered to pay, jointly and severally with the other defendants, the sum of US$ 30,000 as compensation for the pain and suffering of Isabel, Cristián, José Ignacio, Francisco, and Juan Pablo Letelier.

(b) Pursuant to the wrongful death Statute, the Republic of Chile was ordered to pay, jointly and severally with the other defendants, the sum of US$ 1,526,479 to the plaintiff, Michael Maggio, as Orlando Letelier's personal representative.

II. Concerning Ronni Karpen Moffitt.

(a) Pursuant to the Survival Statute, the Republic of Chile was ordered to pay, jointly and severally, the sum of US$ 80,000 as compensation for the pain and suffering of Michael Moffitt and Hilda and Murray Karpen.

(b) Pursuant to the wrongful death Statute, the Republic of Chile was ordered to pay, jointly and severally, the sum of US$ 916,096.

III. Concerning Michael Moffitt, widower of Ronni Moffitt.

The judicial decision stated that no judgement for damages can be entered in his favor, other than as to pain and suffering, since the record is barren as to of any specific information concerning the psychiatric therapy, other than vague references thereto. It added that the expenses accordingly incurred and expected to incur in the future, if at all, are only speculative.

Wherefore, the judgement only ordered the Republic of Chile to pay to Michael Moffitt the sum of US$ 400,000.00, jointly and severally with the other defendants, as compensatory damages for personal injury and pain and suffering.

In other words, the total compensation that the Republic of Chile was ordered to pay by a judgement rendered by default and without proper defense amounted to the sum of US $2,952,575.00, without the Chilean State being ordered to pay any sum for fees and expenses of the plaintiffs' attorneys, or for punitive damages, or for financial damages caused to Mr. Michael Moffitt. (Annex I).

In view of the fact that the plaintiffs' family could not execute the judgement rendered against the Republic of Chile, the Government of the United States of America resolved in 1988 to extend diplomatic protection in favor of its citizens,

Mr. Michael Moffitt, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Karpen, and Mr. Juan Pablo Letelier (the latter whom it would seem is a United States citizen, notwithstanding the fact of being a congressman in the National Congress of Chile).

Indeed, the Embassy of the United States in Santiago, Chile, through note Nº 082 dated April 18, 1988, informed the Ministry of Foreign Affairs that Chile should fulfill the international obligation of compensating the United States for damages suffered by said persons and by the Government of the United States, damages that included those incurred during the criminal investigation over the past 12 years, as well as the economic and other losses suffered by the families of Mr. Orlando Letelier and Mrs. Moffitt. Note Nº 082 added that the United States was willing to accept that the Government of Chile pay as a complete and final settlement for financial responsibility the sum of US$ 12,000,000.00, without the international action affecting the judgements that United States courts might render against the Government of Chile, unless both Governments could reach an agreement; the note ended urging the Government of Chile to settle the pending matter through diplomatic channels, which would make the question of the jurisdiction of United States courts superfluous.

The Government of Chile at that time, through note Nº 9988 of May 24, 1988, rejected the assertions and requests set forth in the mentioned note, declaring that it had cooperated in the investigation of the assassination already discussed, and that with regard to the civil claims, the State of Chile did not recognize the validity of the judgement rendered by the United States of America, since it violated the international principle of immunity from jurisdiction.

The Chilean note ended by reiterating that the controversies between sovereign states can only be settled through settlement procedures recognized by international law, and that the Chilean Government would not consider any U.S. claims associated with this matter as long as the jurisdictional aspect had not been recognized and settled by an appropriate international court, for which reason it reiterated its proposal of turning the jurisdictional problem over to the decision of an international court.

It is relevant to add that, previous to this latter Chilean note, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs on several previous occasions had represented to the Government of the United States its rejection, on the principle of immunity from jurisdiction, to the validity of the judgement of the United States court against the sovereign State of Chile. On several occasions the Government of Chile enclosed legal memorandums which set forth the Chilean argument on immunity from jurisdiction and how this principle was recognized in the national legislation as well as in international instruments, calling on the United States Government to represent these points of view before the United States courts, as it had done in other cases of international disputes. (Annex II).

And so, at the end of 1989, a deadlock existed in the settlement of this delicate international problem, and there was not a glimmer of how an agreement could be reached that would allow for a compensation for damages without the Chilean State having to admit liability.

Without doubt, this unsettled problem affected the normal relations between both States. For that reason, the new Government of Patricio Aylwin entrusted the Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Edmundo Vargas, the mission of carrying out a diplomatic negotiation with the Government of the United States in order to attempt an agreement of mutual advantage that would put an end to the pending dispute. The referred negotiation culminated in the Agreement between both Governments signed on June 11, 1990.

B. Collaboration of the new Chilean Government toward the complete investigation of the Letelier case and attitude of moral repair in favor of the deceased persons who, during the period between 1973 - 1989, suffered violations of their human rights.

The new Government promoted the passing of a law in the Chilean Parliament that would enable the matter (designated the "Letelier Case") concerning homicide and passport forgery, then subjected to the jurisdiction of the Military Courts, to be transferred to the Civil Courts; for which purpose, Law 19,047 (designated "'Cumplido' Law") incorporated a new provision to that effect. (Art. 7, that modifies and adds a new number to Art. 52 of the Tribunal Organic Code). (Annex III).

Furthermore, the new Government, based on Article 52, No. 2 of the Organic Courts Code, added by the new Law 19,047, requested that the Supreme Court appoint a Judge of the Supreme Court to devote himself to carrying out the proceedings which had been discontinued by the Military Courts and pending an appeal before the Supreme Court, a request that was approved by the Court, which appointed Mr. Adolfo Bañados, member of the referred to Supreme Court, as Prosecuting Judge.

Before the new Prosecuting Judge and with the determined cooperation of the State Defense Council, the investigation has gone forward, and former officers Messrs. Manuel Contreras and Pedro Espinoza are under preventive detention, notwithstanding the defendants' pending appeal.

Furthermore, the families of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt, all of which having been considered in the Presentation, have appeared before the Chilean courts to file criminal actions, which have been declared admissible; therefore, if the proceedings continue on to the following stage of the penal action in the presence of both parties, it is possible for said plaintiffs to file civil suit against the State of Chile, claiming compensation for damage, being possible to claim damages notwithstanding the claim of the same made by the United States in the Presentation concerning the ex gratia compensation filed with the Commission.

With respect to this, the Agreement omits stating that once the ex gratia compensation determined by the Commission is paid and all respective U.S. civil claims are satisfied, whether it is possible for the families to insist upon obtaining a higher compensation from the State of Chile through a law suit before Chilean Courts. In view of this omission, we point out that from the formal or procedural point of view, the possibilities for suing the State of Chile are open, which does not preclude the defenses that the State of Chile might present if a new action is brought against it. This situation must be considered by the Commission, in determining the amount of the Compensation.

Furthermore, the Government propitiated the formation of the Commission for Truth and Reconciliation which investigated, without having the capacity or category of a court, numerous cases of deceased persons, against whom there presumably existed a violation of their basic rights. The report (issued by said Commission) singles out, among these cases, the one concerning Orlando Letelier and R. Moffitt, and briefly explains the opinion formed about the matter, in all conscience, by the Commission. (Annex IV).

Also, the new Government sent a bill of law to Congress that establishes several regulations relative to compensations in benefit of the families of the victims referred to in the National Truth and Reconciliation Commission report, among whom are included the late Orlando Letelier and R. Moffitt. This bill of law remains pending in the Chamber of Deputies and has an approximate cost in benefits to be paid by the State of Chile of CH$ 8,000,000,000 during the first year and of CH$ 4,500,000,000 for the following years, estimating a total of 6,000 beneficiaries. (Annex V).

It is worthy to mention the clearly compensatory attitude of the new Chilean Government from the point of view of moral satisfaction, and how it expects to favor all the victims, without discrimination, in a manner compatible with the austerity of Chilean finances.

The new Government's attitude of giving compensation, insofar as is possible, for the excesses committed during the former Government must be considered by the International Commission in deciding this case. It was also expected that the family of Mr. Orlando Letelier would have duly understood this, since in several statements made before the Chilean and United States mass media, they have indicated that the compensation was requested to punish the Chilean Military Government which did not collaborate in the investigation and conviction of those responsible for the assassination of Letelier and who remained unpunished in Chile. (Annex VI).

In conclusion, the new Government has collaborated in the investigation of the incident occurred in Washington, the case is being prosecuted by the competent Chilean court, and in general, a clear disposition for moral and material compensation has been evidenced in favor of the persons whose rights were violated, among whom are included the late Orlando Letelier and R. Moffitt.

C. The meaning and scope of the Agreement and Compromis.

In the opinion of the Chilean defense, it is opportune to clarify the meaning and scope of the Agreement and Compromis subscribed to with the United States of America relative to determining the amount of ex gratia payment that the Government of Chile must pay.

(a) What is involved here is an agreement that does not constitute an act of execution or application of the Treaty of 1914, since the International Commission is not going to investigate anything related to the possible responsibility of the State of Chile, but rather of determining only the amount of compensation Chile is to pay, notwithstanding the fact that this country neither acknowledges nor accepts responsibility for the incident which occurred on September 21, 1976, which caused the death of Mr. Orlando Letelier and of Mrs. Ronni K. Moffitt and injuries to Mr. Michael Moffitt.

What is involved is a new international obligation that the State of Chile undertakes, which is that of making an ex gratia payment to the Government of the United States; and, inasmuch as Chile does not acknowledge responsibility for the incident, it was necessary to establish that the "ex gratia" payment "should be equal to that which would be due, if liability were establish," opting for this way of calculation in the absence of another objective element that could be used in this matter, and also because, to carry out the estimate of the amount of compensation, the International Commission must confine itself to the applicable principles of international law, without allowing to prevail those set forth in the internal legislation of the States parties to the Agreement, except to the extent to which such principles might concur.

For that reason, the Message of the Government of Chile to Parliament requesting approval of the Agreement and Compromis involved with the Government of the United States of America, indicated textually that: "By resorting to the ex gratia payment, and thereby settling a claim that the United States of America had previously formulated as an alternative to the alleged compensation for damages, it is no less true that in this way a practice accepted by international law is followed, and that, moreover, all other possible civil claims relating to the matter, which the Government of that country might have against the Government of Chile, are considered settled."

"In this way, the new international obligation of making an ex gratia payment will substitute the United States claim for compensation, which Chile does not accept, as well as the international obligation of responding to the summons of the International Commission, in the terms agreed to in the Treaty of 1914, in order to investigate and inform on all the aspects involved in said crime and which entail the responsibility of the State of Chile."

"But, moreover, this new obligation is based exclusively on the purpose of expediting the normalization of relations between the United States of America and Chile, and therefore, lacking legal relation with the dispute that existed, expressly does not admit any responsibility regarding it, which, on the other hand, is considered settled and, therefore, cannot be brought up again in the future." (Annex VII).

(b) The Agreement between both countries states that Chile will pay a "compensation" ex gratia for the deaths of Mrs. Moffitt and Mr. Letelier and for the personal injury caused to Mr. Moffitt. Nowhere in the Agreement does it speak of the Government of Chile paying an "indemnification" for those acts.

According to the Dictionary of the Royal Spanish Academy of Language, which contains the natural and obvious meaning of the words, "compensation" and "indemnification" are not synonymous.

In fact, the word "indemnification" is the "action and effect of indemnifying," and "to indemnify is to repair for damage or injury"; in other words, to procure that the indemnified be undamaged, that is, "free or exempt from damage."

On the other hand, the word "compensation" is the "action and effect of compensating" (and, formerly, according to the above mentioned dictionary, a synonym for indemnification). In turn, "to compensate," in the corresponding meaning, is "to give some thing or make a benefit as repair for damage, injury, or annoyance that has been caused." In other words, compensation does not attempt to leave the compensated person "undamaged".

(c) In merit of the aforementioned, it was placed on record in the Chilean Parliament that the "ex gratia" payment would be a compensation and not an indemnification. The sum determined by the International Commission would only cover the said compensation for the referred to deaths and damages and would include no other item, such as costs pertaining to lawsuits, personal costs and fees, possible damages to other persons, etc... (Annex VIII).

(d) The following conclusions were also placed on record in the Chilean Parliament when the Senate approved the Agreement:

- "That by means of this Agreement a dispute affecting the relations between Chile and the United States of America is settled";
- "That this Agreement does not affect the Republic of Chile from the principle of immunity from jurisdiction";
- "That by means of the 'ex gratia' payment, a practice universally accepted in international law is followed, without causal relation to the proceedings brought before the Courts of the United States of America;
- "That we understand that the Government of the United States considers settled all possible prospective claims that could be brought against Chile as a consequence of this matter"; and

- "That the first part of point 3 of the Agreement; ('The United States requested from Chile, on behalf of the families of Letelier-Morel and Moffitt, the payment of a compensation on the basis that the United States regards the State of Chile legally responsible, under international law, for the deaths of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt and the damages suffered by Michael Moffitt'), constitutes an opinion of the Government of the United States in regard of which the Senate is not called to issue an opinion." (Annex IX).

D. Characteristics of the Commission.

The Commission is not a court, but rather an international organism whose purpose is to issue a report in which the amount of the ex-gratia payment to be made by the Government of Chile is determined (No. 7, letter (e) of the Compromis).

This determination is carried out pursuant to the principles of applicable international law and according to the rules of procedure that the Commission establishes, in addition to those contained in the Compromis.

In doing so, the parties must put forth presentations and observations in writing, containing their allegations and evidence on which they are based.

The beforementioned characterizes the Commission as an organism for the reception of allegations and written evidence, personal appearances not being necessary. Once the reception period has been completed for the allegations and evidence, the Commission must determine the amount of the compensation that the Government of Chile will pay ex-gratia.

The Commission is also by nature a passive organ, during the period of the reception of the allegations and evidence, until the moment of making its determination on the ex-gratia payment.

Any written evidence that must be or that is desired to be provided to the Commission must be self-sufficient and if it is not, it must be accompanied by a written document that gives it a self-sufficient characteristic.

The procedure is of extreme rapidity and simplicity, as indicated in No. 7 of the Compromis.

All of the preceding reveals that both Governments do not constitute a Court of Arbitration, nor an arbitral procedure. Under the protection of the Bryan - Suárez Mujica Treaty, they established a Commission in order to determine a compensation whereby the Government of Chile must pay the Government of the United States.

Evaluating losses and damages of an indemnifying nature by way of the Commission, is impossible to carry out, since it has no investigational faculties. Only one means of proof exists, that of written documents, and the procedural activity of the Governments is strictly limited to perform the presentations and observations determined by the Compromis. The evaluation of the indemnification may only be carried out in a formal indemnifying trial, whose example is given precisely by the Presentation of the Government of the United States of America, upon quoting the Godinez case, resolved by the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, in which the Government of the Republic of Honduras was charged with the damage of human rights of Mr. Godinez Cruz, producing a contested proceeding, just as in the Velázquez Rodríguez case.

The ex-gratia nature of the obligation accepted by the Government of Chile, reveals that the Government of the United States is not exercising an action of a legal nature, in order to obtain an indemnification for damage, but rather the international petition by both Governments will bring about the determination of a payment for granting a compensation destined to redress, in some form, the damage suffered by the family members of Mr. Orlando Letelier and Mrs. Ronni K. Moffitt.

E. Overall critique of Presentation of the United States of America.

One's attention, of course, is called to the lack of congruity that the "Presentation of the Government of the United States of America" has with the end that said Government and Chile had in view on subscribing, in conformity with the Treaty of 1914, the Agreement and Compromis published in the Official Journal of Chile, dated last October 9th.

In fact, if through said Agreement a way is found to expedite the normalization of relations between both States and conclude the diplomatic disagreement pending between both countries for more than 10 years, the wording and the content of the "Presentation" reflect in no way the aforementioned purposes, since it exaggerates the details of a terrible and unnecessary crime and claims compensation for an entirely exaggerated and exorbitant amount, superior to any amount paid in Chile for illegal acts, resulting in death of persons.

So that the Commission may judge the exaggeration of the United States Presentation, it is pertinent to point out as comparative data, that the claimed compensation is in all items far superior to the one ordered to by a United States court of the District of Columbia for US$ 2,952,575.00, which is known from the suit filed by the family members of Mr. Orlando Letelier and Ronni K. Moffitt and is even far superior to the US$ 12,000,000 claimed by the United States in its note of April 18, 1988, a sum which included expenses that the U.S. would have had in the criminal investigation of the incident.

The Government of Chile believes, that it is not a good way to normalize relations, to repeat in detail acts about which the Agreement itself indicates that the State of Chile admits no responsibility, nor is it to expect a compensation clearly superior to the aforementioned appraisals by United States Courts, as well as the U.S. Embassy itself in Santiago, Chile.

Then, the "Presentation" conjectures on the assumption that it is a law suit for damages, before a court that has ample powers to weigh the facts and determine responsibility.

The proceeding taking place before the International Commission, is not a civil suit for damage where all kinds of evidence are possible and where the parties would be able to oppose or inspect contrary evidence. The Commission's only mission is to determine the amount of a voluntary and "ex gratia" compensation that the Government of Chile shall pay to the United States, and for such reason it shall listen to the parties, but this limited power does not convert the Commission into an International Court to which the parties have given their full jurisdiction over the matter.

Without detriment to the aforementioned, the way the "Presentation" explains and considers the damages demonstrates a clear intention to convict the State of Chile for its responsibility in the incident.

Nothing else can be implied by claiming interest on moral damages which must be reimbursed as of the date of the incident, September 21, 1976, rather than from the date of the Commission's decision. Nor can anything else be implied by the Presentation when it claims payment of fees, during 12 years, for legal actions taken by private attorneys, including even the actions they carried out to prepare the Presentation.

Additionally, it is particularly meaningful that the Chilean State, which has not admitted liability in the incident, is expected to pay the cost of legal actions of the professionals who acted before the court of the District of Columbia, under which circumstance the Republic of Chile invoked the international principle of immunity from jurisdiction and by so doing did not accept to defend itself and appear before a foreign court. If through the Agreement, a dispute is put to an end which arose precisely, among other reasons, because of the immunity from jurisdiction invoked by Chile in connection with a United States court decision, it is self-defeating, to say the least, to expect that the State of Chile be penalized or punished with the cost of litigations carried outside of Chile and before courts of which Chile admits no jurisdiction.

If, hypothetically, the Commission were to accept the United States claim in this part, it would mean that the purpose of the Agreement had not been fulfilled, and it would additionally create a new political or historical disagreement even more serious than the one that diplomatic negotiation has endeavored to settle.

The Governments of Chile and the United States, have resolved, by means of direct agreements or arbitration, problems that affected their good diplomatic relations, for which reason precedents exist between the parties that must be analyzed. Such are the cases of: (a) the Convention of the Frigate "Franklin", which was subscribed on September 10th, 1858, as a result of the ship having been detained for suspicion of infringing the customs laws of Chile; (b) the Convention related to the Bergantín "Macedonian", by means of which it was agreed to submit for arbitration of His Majesty the King of Belgium, concerning the legitimacy or illegitimacy of the seizure of an amount of silver coins and bars, subscribed on November 10th, 1858; and (c) the Baltimore case, resolved in 1892.

It is well-known in international law that punitive damages against States are unacceptable. Nor is this claim acceptable even though it be disguised under other terms suggesting implicitly that the State of Chile is delinquent in fulfilling its obligations by delaying the execution of the decision of the United States Judge rendered in 1980 by invoking the international principle of immunity from jurisdiction.

Furthermore, in the Presentation, damages for expenses incurred after the signing of the Agreement on June 11, 1990, are expected to be included.

We reiterate that Chile, by entering into the Agreement, did not admit liability and that the payment that it will carry out will be made for the sake of international harmony. It is improper that the Presentation invoke Chile's delay in the claimed payment of moral damages, surcharging the amount to be paid with high yearly interests of 10% beginning from the date of death.

Finally, the Government of Chile wishes to emphasize within its compensatory intention, the promulgation of law 18,979 issued by the initiative of the new Government of Mr. Patricio Aylwin and published in the Official Gazette of May 11th, 1990, which is the same date that both governments reached an Agreement ending diplomatic differences. (Annex X).

In said law, Mr. Orlando Letelier del Solar was reinstated posthumously as of June 8th, 1976, as a Chilean citizen, redressing the injustice that was committed having arbitrarily deprived him of said essential tribute, a gesture that was appreciated by Deputy Mr. Juan Pablo Letelier in representation of his family.

CHAPTER II.

A. Principles of Generally Accepted Private Law.

I. Introduction.

The Compromis concluded between both Governments establishes that "the Commission shall determine the amount of payment to be made by the Government of Chile in accordance with applicable principles of international law, as though liability were established"; and that the "ex gratia" payment will be made in favor of the members of the families affected by Orlando Letelier's assassination, and for the personal injuries sustained by Michael Moffitt.

It is relevant, therefore, to determine what the principles of generally accepted private law are on this matter. These are pursuant to what has been provided for in article 38, letter (c) of the Statute of the International Court of Justice, incorporated in the Charter of the United Nations dated June 26th, 1945. "The general principles of law recognized by civilized nations" are a source of international law, without prejudice to the use "of judicial decisions and teachings of the most qualified publicists of the various nations", as an auxiliary means for determining rules of law.

In dealing with a legal institution so specific and delimited as is tort liability, and particularly in what is important here, treating the subject relative to the regulation of damage subject to indemnity, there can be no doubt that those general principles of law are developed from both those that have been accepted in general international practice, as well as those that are common to the generality of positive internal systems of different nations. The determination of such principles must be made with the assistance of the doctrines of the most qualified publicists of different nations and of the relevant legal decisions, pursuant to that provided by Article 38 cited above.

Incidentally, the principles to which we refer have no bearing upon the responsibility of a State for the damage caused by it or by its subjects to another State, but rather with those that they have caused to private individuals whose protection has been assumed by the State which the affected parties are nationals. This is the situation presented in this case, since in the Agreement subscribed by both Governments it is expressly stated that the "ex-gratia" payment will not be received by the Government of the United States for itself, but rather on behalf of the families of the victims; and this latter Government declares that upon receipt of this payment from the Government of Chile, its claim will be considered settled, "and any other possible civil claim of the United States Government in regard to this matter".

Therefore, while being concerned with compensating damages caused to an individual and not to a State, that is, with relations subject to private law from the point of view of who has suffered the damage, the generally accepted principles of law for nation's internal systems in what refers to damages subject to indemnity, become considered, as such, rules of international law. It is made clear by Louis Cavaré, in expressing that when the damage has been caused, not to a State, but rather to an individual, the State does not intervene, except for protecting its nationals and the situation is equivalent to the one that generates liability pursuant internal to law. (1)

II. The principle of equivalency between the damage and the reparation.

It is a general principle of recognized law by the civilized nations as a basis or support of the regulatory system of civil liability that the reparation must be equal to the amount of the damage, which means that the victim must end up, whenever possible, in the same state had the damaging act not occurred. From this principle it can be deduced that the reparation must not be less than the damage, nor greater. This latter consequence implies that the indemnification or compensation can never constitute a source of income or profits for the receiving party, in that wealth would be produced without cause. If one obtains the reimbursement of what was actually lost, - actual damages ("Damnum Emergens"), - and what was surely prevented from receiving as a direct and necessary consequence of the injurious act, - loss of profits ("Lucrum Cessans"), - the victim remains completely indemnified. On the contrary, should a reparation be achieved that exceeds the true and certain amount of the "damnum emergens" (actual damages) and the "lucrum cessans" (loss of profits), an unlawful gain or unjustified profit is brought about in his favor, which would leave him in a better situation than he had before suffering the damage and that, for the same reason, would constitute an enrichment devoid of a cause.

This principle has received formal recognition both in international law as well as in comparative jurisprudence.

Charles Rousseau, professor of the Law School of Paris, expresses that "the principle of the integrity of the reparation carries with it two consequences: (a) the reparation must not be lesser than the damage; (b) nor must it be greater." And, developing the idea, he adds: "This second principle is found to be in direct relation to the first and means that the illicit act cannot be the source of enrichment for the victim." (2)

III. The principle of certainty of the damage.

UNCLASSIFIED

The principle of the universally accepted law that requires the certainty or factuality of the damage in order that it be compensated, that is, in order to consider it a constituent of a damage susceptible for reparation, is intimately related to what has been discussed.

That the damage be certain or factual means that the entreated economic reduction, whether it be due to actual damages or loss of profits, has actually occurred, that its existence is positively known, that had the injurious act not come into the picture the victim would have conserved something lost or would have necessarily received something that as a consequence of this act has failed to obtain. The reality or certitude of the damage encompasses not only the present, but also the future, conditioned upon this latter necessarily coming about.

It is inferred from the indicated principle that a hypothetical or eventual damage, based on suppositions or conjectures, however probable they may seem, does not give the right to indemnification. The probable profits or income, whose coming about depends on the occurrence of certain suppositions or that hypothetically determined information or future circumstances are given, do not constitute definite damages, because for its establishment it is necessary to enter into the area of conjectures, in such a way that they cannot be considered in the calculation of indemnification. The same is worth mentioning about the deprivation of a simple expectation: its loss is not subject to indemnity since it does not introduce a certain or real damage.

This principle has had formal acceptance both in the doctrines of international law as well as comparative jurisprudence.

Louis Cavaré, honorary professor of the School of Law and Economic Sciences of the University of Rennes and member of the Institute of International Law, in his work titled "Positive Public International Law", regarding this point expresses:

"In order for the damage to implicate the State's responsibility, a certain number of characters must be presented. It is agreed that it must be certain, and that it must not have been repaired".

And in referring especially to the first, adds:

"The damage must be certain. This is a condition that has been affirmed by numerous judgements and we will continue to see with the study of the direct damages. The damage must not, indeed, be contingent. There must be no doubt concerning this point". (3)

Eduardo Jiménez de Aréchaga, in his work entitled "El Derecho Internacional Contemporáneo" (Contemporary International Law) is equally explicit in affirming the principle. In the separate paragraph in relation to "Indemnification", after indicating that this is the normal form of reparation, adds:

"The indemnification must compensate all the damages produced as a consequence of the illicit act,... but not the presumed earnings that are of a highly problematic or conjectural nature, "too remote or speculative" or "possible damages, but contingent and undetermined". (4)

In Uruguay, Jorge Peirano Facio, professor of Civil Law of the School of Law and Social Sciences in Montevideo, in his complete and documented work "Responsabilidad Extracontractual" (tort liability), in referring to "certain damages" characterizes the principle as follows:

"According to the teachings sustained on the doctrine, the first characteristic of the damage that must be present in order to be considered relevant to the effects of tort liability is that of being certain". And after indicating that the meaning that some attribute to this word is unacceptable, affirms that damages are certain when their existence is certain, but the responsible party cannot be referred to with absolute conviction", adding that in its correct sense: "uncertain damages are spoken about whose existence is not entirely established, enabling doubts to be set forth concerning their reality. It is notorious that when one speaks in this matter about certain damages, the second interpretation of the word is alluded to, since in the first meaning, this word is connected to the problem of a causal relation. In the meaning that we now attribute to it, we consider, then, certain damage that which is real and actual, and not merely hypothetical or possible". (5)

Later on, this same author treats "eventual damage" in these terms: "Eventual damage can be found close to future damage, but it is distinguishable in the majority of cases. The fundamental difference between these two types of damages is characterized sufficiently when it is remembered that future damage is only a variety of certain damage, while the concept of eventual damage is precisely and radically the opposite of certitude: eventual damage is equivalent, then, to damage that is not true; in other words, damage merely based on suppositions or conjectures".

"Our jurisprudence always has been final in the sense of not admitting the reparation of problematic or eventual damage. In this sense, it has been decided that it is not admissible to consider, that which is derived from the non-realization of future sales as damage to the effects of tort liability; - that they are eventual damages and therefore non-eligible for indemnity, those related to the difference between a salary that a fired official could normally earn and that which would have been received had he stayed in his administrative career in a higher office-; that only the earnings that, according to the natural course of events, the victim of an offense could have received should be considered and not mere and vague hopes-; that it is inadmissible to indemnify the damages in relation to what a person could have earned that left his business in order to take care of his wife, particularly when she is not seriously ill".

"In our law, then, eventual damage cannot be considered damage to the effects of tort liability. This solution, on the other hand, is also final in foreign jurisprudence and doctrine." (6)

In Argentina, Jorge Joaquín Llambias, author of in important treatise on Civil Law, in his "Manual de Derecho Civil - Obligaciones" (Manual on Civil Law - Obligations), he indicates expressly that "the requisites for receiving indemnity for damages are: 1) that the damage be factual and not eventual; 2) that it be subsistent at the time of its calculation; 3) that it be personally of the injured party; 4) that the equity loss have a bearing on the legitimate interest of the injured party; 5) that the damage have a relevant legal causal relation to the illicit act. (7). And he defines eventual damage saying that "eventual damage is the problematical or conjectural, that may or may not occur and therefore is not, in principle, subject to indemnity. If indemnity is given, then, and afterwards the damage does not take place, the only eventual injured party will become wealthier without cause at the expense of the responsible party." (8)

The French doctrine is also categorical.

Louise Josserand, Honorary Dean of the Lyon School of Law and Counsellor of the Court of Appeals, in his "Civil Law, General Theory of Obligations", affirms:

"In order to assume tort liability, it is indispensable that damage has been caused, and that this damage be certain"; and in defining this last requirement, adds: "It is also indispensable that the damage be certain: a merely eventual or hypothetical damage is not taken into consideration..." (9).

Henri and León Mazeaud and André Tunc, professors of the Paris School of Law, in their classic "Theoretical and Practical Treatise on Tort and Contractual Civil Liability", in asking in which cases damage exists as an element of liability, answer with the following: "when it is certain. When it has not already been repaired. When it is personal of the plaintiff. When it makes an attempt against an acquired right".

In developing these constituents, they comment on the certitude of damage:

"Upon requiring that the damage be certain, it is understood that it must not be wherefore, simply hypothetical, eventual. It is indispensable that the judge be certain that the plaintiff would have found himself in a better situation had the defendant not carried out the act for which he is being reproached", indicating further on that the future damage must also be considered if it presents the same characteristics of certitude (10).

Farther on, they add: "Jurisprudence has never created any difficulties in accepting these principles. From the moment that the damage is certain, its reparation is granted, even when it may be future. The action of responsibility is denied only when the damage claimed by the victim is eventual."

"In order to put an end to the vacillations that may arise in the use of one for the other, between the adjectives "current" and "certain", "future" and "eventual", the Chamber of Admission of the Court of Appeals, in three dictated verdicts before the luminous decision of the Pilon magistrate, on June 1st, 1932, formulated the rule in clearer terms: 'Whereas, if it is not possible to concede the payment of loss and damages as a reparation for purely eventual damages, a different way occurs when the damage, although future, appears to the judges as a certain and direct extension of a current state of affairs and susceptible to immediate estimation". (11)

In Italy, Francesco Messineo, professor of the University of Milán in his well known "Manual of Civil and Commercial Law", in what concerns the principle of certainty of damage indicates:

"In order for the damage to give claim to indemnity it is necessary, in addition, that it be certain and true; in other words, indemnity cannot be given to hypothetical damage, that is, potential or eventual, but not already manifested in reality (and that, therefore, may also not be manifested), while for the moment the affected patrimony is intact"; and then adds: "future damage (not current) can be a matter of responsibility as long as its survival is certain". (12)

IV. The principle that reparation does not have a sanctionary or punitive nature.

From the principle that the reparation must be the equivalent to the caused damage, it is inferred that in order to regulate it, neither the seriousness of the act nor the degree of guilt of the responsible party, can be taken into account, but rather only the true extension of the damage as seen from the point of view of the suffering party. Therefore, international law rejects all possibility of increasing the indemnification through or by way of penalty or punishment.

Charles Rousseau, in his already mentioned work, in referring to the nature of the reparation, emphasizes that "international responsibility does not have a punitive nature. The reparation does not have a punitive but rather a compensatory nature", and he cites several precedents to thereby confirming it. (13)

Eduardo Jiménez de Aréchaga, in his beforementioned work, indicates that "compensations of a punitive or exemplary nature, based on the disapproval of the illicit act and as a measure of dissuasion or reform of the offensor, are incompatible with the basic idea that serves as a basis for the obligation to repair. The imposition of such sanctions go beyond the jurisdiction conferred upon the International Court of Justice in its by-laws, and what is normally attributable to the international tribunals to whom it is not conferred "the power of repression" (14).

The Inter-American Court of Human Rights, in the cases of Velázquez Rodríguez and Godinez Cruz, based on the same principle, refused the charge for punitive damages as part of the indemnification, charge which was based on "the extremely serious violations of human rights" that were produced in those cases. In its judgement dictated in the year 1989, the Court said:

"Although some internal courts, particularly the North American courts, establish indemnities whose values serve exemplary or dissuasive purposes, this principle is not applicable in the current state of international law" (15).

The same principle is accepted by Paul Reuter, in his "Public International Law" (16) and in the judgements cited in the "Manual of Public International Law" of Max Sorensen (17) and in the "Public International Law" of Alfredo Verdross (18).

B. Principles of international law applicable in determining the amount of payment of the ex-gratia compensation.

I. Introduction.

The international responsibility of a State is derived from acts or omissions to which they are attributable and that constitute violations of its obligations under international law. (19) States can consent to submit differences occurring between them without accepting the existence of an obligation arising from a violation of international law. (See ex gratia payments, infra Section VI).

The basic principles regarding reparation in international law were established in the Chorzow Factory Case by the Permanent Court of International Justice in 1928. The Court indicated that the existence of responsibility generates the obligation to redress the damage caused.

"The essential principle contained in the actual notion of an illegal act--a principle which seems to be established by international practice and in particular by the decisions of arbitral tribunals--is that reparation must, as far as possible, wipe out all the consequences of the illegal act and reestablish the situation which would, in all probability, have existed if that act had not been committed. Restitution in kind, or, if this is not possible, payment of a sum corresponding to the value which a restitution in kind would bear; the award, if need be, of damages for loss sustained which would not be covered by restitution in kind or payments in place of it--such are the principles which should serve to determine the amount of compensation due for an act contrary to international law." (20)

International law has gradually made more concrete the legal basis and extension of the obligation to compensate, including cases of ex gratia payments. The following considerations are relevant in the current case:

- International law establishes in principle the obligation to compensate property damage, on account of actual damages and loss of profits, mental or psychological damage and moral damage inflicted upon individuals in whose favor diplomatic protection is duly exercised. Such obligations arise in cases of death as well as bodily injuries, even though the extent of the compensation is not the same.

- Punitive damages are contrary to the law and cannot be considered, therefore, neither explicitly nor implicitly (as aggravating circumstance or moral damage) for determining the amount of the compensation due.

- International law also requires a direct causal relation so that damages can be compensable.

- The burden of proof of damages correspond to those claiming their occurrence and, international law establishes criteria for weighing the evidence presented.

- International law is also applicable in analyzing the legal basis of payment of expenses incurred by the parties in the preparation of their petitions and in attorney fees made in advance of the situation presented for arbitration. As well, international law determines the situations in which it is lawful to pay interest.

- Essential circumstances exist, valid under international law, which should be considered determining the amount of the ex gratia payment.

The Presentation of the United States Government does not satisfy the criteria prescribed by international law for determining the amount of the ex gratia payment which Chile must make.

Following reference is made to the pertinent legal standards and its violation in the Presentation of the Government of the United States. Chapter III, containing Observations made by the Chilean Government, will individually analyze the different charges and their justification, if any, made in the Presentation.

II. Types of Damage.

(a) Material Damage:

i. Legal principles.

In regard to the loss of life, compensation should cover the damage occasioned to third parties as a result of the violent death of the victim. (21) The normal criteria for establishing the quantum of the compensation is usually the direct loss caused to the dependents. This loss should be measured according to the degree of economic dependence that existed between the petitioner and the victim. (22) In the matter of damage or destruction of property, the essential element of compensation is the replacement value. (23)

In the Lusitania Case, (24) profusely cited by the United States Government, numerous petitioners sought to persuade the Mixed Claims Commission to take into account the "value of the life lost" in order to set the respective compensation. As Whiteman explains, the Commission refused to act in this manner. "Instead, he repeatedly asserted that the measure of damage was not the 'value of the life taken', but, the pecuniary loss sustained by the claimant on account of that death." (25)

The Inter-American Court of Human Rights also followed the legal principles of international law in this same matter, establishing that the compensation due to a surviving victim of a wrongful act, is different than that due to the dependents of a deceased victim.

According to the Velázquez Rodríguez Case (26), the Court manifested that:

"However, it is necessary to keep in mind that the calculation of the loss of profits should be made considering two distinct situations. When the person entitled to the indemnification is a victim affected by total and permanent disability, the indemnification should take in all that he no longer receives, with the corresponding readjustments, and according to his probable life expectancy. Under this assumption, the victim's only income is the amount he would have received as loss of profits and which now he does not receive."

"If the beneficiaries of the indemnification are relatives, the matter is set forth in different terms. The relatives in principle have the current or future possibility of working or having an income of their own. The children, who must be guaranteed the possibility to study up to an approximate age of 25 years, could, for example, work from that moment on. It is not justified, then, in those cases, to adhere to rigorous criteria, more appropriate to the situation described in the paragraph above, but rather to make a prudent appraisal of the damages, according to the circumstances of each case." (Emphasis added).

In the above terms, the material damage caused by the loss of life, only covers the income that the victim would have provided to the dependent individual, if the victim had not died. (27) In order to fix this amount, the petitioner's age and the relationship of real proven economic dependency must be taken into account, indicating the amounts received prior to death. The Department of State of the United States in its Suggestions for Preparing Claims for Personal Injury or Loss of Life, dated July 1, 1955, recommended that in the case of death: "The claims .... should be supported with evidence that states the following:... c. The extent of the contributions made by the deceased for the maintenance of the claimant." (28) According to the above mentioned, the victim's income (i.e. salary, investments) and the reasonable probability of its increase achieves relevance beginning only upon identification of a condition of proven economic dependence and a reasonable time period for its continuation. The Inter-American Court of Human Rights, in the previously mentioned case, set the age of 25 for the victim's children.

The dependent's monetary loss, due to the personal services provided by the victim in the field of care, education and personal supervision, should also be considered to compensate for material damages. (29)

The burial costs are compensable only if they have been made by the dependents receiving financial support from the victim. (30)

ii. Valuation of material damages in the Presentation of the United States Government.

The valuation presented by the United States Government for property damages resulting from the deaths of Orlando Letelier and Ronni Moffitt, do not satisfy the requirements prescribed by international law and will not permit, therefore, in the language used by the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, the realization of "a prudent estimation of damages."

In both cases, the total amount that the deceased would have earned, without offering concrete evidence regarding the existing real economic dependence, is considered. International law does not permit the calculation of future earnings and the mere discount of personal expenses, as is done in the Presentation of the United States. The utilization of such a method of economic analysis -- carried out by two professionals that, as set forth in the Presentation of the United States Government, have been involved in internal cases before courts of the United States -- unjustifiably reverses the terms required by international law. In the compensation claimed for the death of Mr. Letelier, no reference is made or is any evidence given of the amounts that he would have allotted to his spouse and children, in consideration of their ages. The Presentation of the United States Government fails to give clear information regarding when Mrs. Letelier and each of their children began to work. Added to the above, is a mechanical application of criteria invoked by the claimants as valid for other collaborators of the I.P.S. regarding Mr. Letelier's income, resulting from possible books and future conferences. The short stay Mr. Letelier had in said Institute makes it unwise to reason by analogy. Mr. Letelier's personality as a Chilean politician and prominent public figure, makes it possible to set forth that the most reasonable would be comparing Mr. Letelier to those he really associated with: public men, of the highest level, from his country. For the same reason, utilization of a more exaggerated projection, on the basis of estimating his income as an international banker, lacks all grounds, as analyzed in Chapter III.

The calculation of material loss inflicted upon Michael Moffitt by the death of Ronni Moffitt is, as previously set forth, unjustified. Indeed, in the Presentation of the Government of the United States, the value of all Mrs. Moffitt's life is calculated and, with a deduction, for personal expenses, presuming two children, the claimants arbitrarily proceed to transfer to Mr. Moffitt's benefit, the monetary loss that the victim hypothetically would have earned during her whole life. The Presentation of the United States Government does not include any evidence of the existence of Mr. Moffitt's financial dependence with respect to his wife's income. The Presentation of the United States does not indicate the dates when Mr. Moffitt remarried and when his children were born. Keeping in mind the criteria established by international law for fixing the proper amount of compensation, the Chilean Government deems that the information omitted is essential for making a prudent estimation of damages, provided, it is further proven that Mr. Moffitt depended financially on his wife. The Chilean Government also points out that Ronni Moffitt's parents did not receive any type of financial assistance from her, therefore they fortunately did not suffer any type of material loss.

iii. Injuries inflicted upon survivors. Applicable principles.

In the case of injuries inflicted upon survivors, in general, the courts of arbitration have indicated that the damages to be considered in establishing the amount due for indemnification includes: physical injuries, economic loss as a result of convalescence, decrease in future work capacity. (31)

iv. Injuries inflicted upon survivors in the Presentation of the United States Government.

The United States Government has not set forth any petition based on the material damage that could have been caused to Michael Moffitt for the bodily injuries he received. This shows that fortunately Mr. Moffitt did not suffer any direct economic loss. Neither has Mr. Moffitt experienced a decrease in his work capacity.

(b) Damages to Health, Psychological and Mental.

i. Applicable principles.

Psychological and mental health damages are those of an organic or pathological nature, provoked by suffering or shock caused by the wrongful act. These damages include physical suffering of the survivor with organic consequences, as well as harmful psychological consequences in the surviving victims and in the immediate family members, originating directly from the illicit act that generates the responsibility. (32)

On account of psychological and mental damages, medical and travel expenses made for these purposes, are compensated. All expenses must be duly supported by trustworthy documentation. (33)

ii. The psychological and mental damages in the Presentation of the United States Government.

The Chilean Government, in accordance with the applicable standards of international law, does not dispute the validity of medical and travel expenses made to receive said attention. The Chilean Government, points out, however, that expenses in the preparation of the Presentation of the United States Government are included in medical expenses, and that such expenses should therefore be paid by said Government. The Chilean Government also points out that the medical expenses are not duly verified. Also, it should be born in mind that the Judgement of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia did not grant damages for this purpose to Michael Moffitt, since "...the file does not have any specific information, except for vague references, regarding psychiatric therapy. As a result, the expenses he incurred and expects to incur in the future, if they do take place, are merely speculative."(34)

(c) Moral Damages.

i. Applicable principles.

Moral damages are those which are effectively produced as a consequence of attacks to the victim's honor or reputation or as a result of the suffering caused to the survivor or to a close relative. The moral damages must be real and direct, and not merely sentimental or vague.(35)

The existence of moral damage should be irrefutably proven and also be directly related to the illicit act. If the causal relation is remote or is due to factors external to the wrongful act, it is not possible to argue the need for indemnification. (36) In evaluating the existence of moral damages, all relevant factors must be taken into account, among others, the real impact that the act generating the damage has had, the existence of permanent damages, alteration in the lives of those claiming the existence of damage and the existence of legitimate declarations or rulings of acknowledgement. The Inter-American Court of Human Rights in the Velásquez Rodríguez Case (page 13, paragraph 36) ruled that: "...the Court understands, in merit, that the Judgement of the July 29, 1988 constitutes in itself a form of redress and moral satisfaction of significance and importance to the relatives...." (See also Chapter I of the Observations of the Chilean Government).

The moral damage has a compensatory character, therefore this kind of damages should not be a disguised way of achieving the imposition of punitive damages, unauthorized by international law. (37)

The report of Dr. Armando Roa, Professor of the University of Chile, analyzes the insufficiency of Dr. Kaufman's psychiatric report. (See Exhibit N° XI.)

ii. The moral damages in the Presentation of the United States Government.

The Government of Chile does not deny the admissibility of claims for moral damages which meet the requirements of international law. The Presentation of the Government of the United States, does not give complete information which would permit a reasonable way of evaluating the magnitude of the moral compensation, according to the applicable rules of said law. The amounts that are expected to be achieved are also arbitrary.

Regarding Mr. Letelier's four children, the same amount is requested for each of them. Taking into account the ages, activities and different life styles of the children, the arbitrariness of the amount requested is manifest. The amount claimed, for each of his children, is not based on the real moral damages caused by the death of their father. The Presentation of the Government of the United States does not state that any of them have been placed under any psychiatric treatment and limits itself to including a psychiatric report, made without examining Mr. Letelier's children. In the case of the disappearance of Saul Godinez Cruz, determined by the Inter-American Court of Human Rights and cited by the Government of the United States (see page 73, note 70 of the Presentation of the United States), the Court fixed an amount for moral damages on the basis of the testimony of a psychiatrist who personally examined, and on numerous occasions, the victim's relatives. The Government of Honduras had ample opportunity to cross-examine the psychiatric expert, which effectively took place. The nature of the proceeding before the Commission requires that it receives founded and reasonable written evidence, which must not be limited to declarations of those affected without a direct examination by competent professionals. The Government of Chile also represents that, what concerns the psychiatric situation of the affected persons is also extended to their social and work situation. The Presentation of the United States also fails to deliver information about the current status of the Letelier-Morel family, among whom includes a respectable congressman of the National Congress of Chile. For the Chilean Government, the important political position attained by Juan Pablo Letelier in representation of one of the political parties that forms the current coalition that governs the Republic, cannot be claimed to be an expression of moral damages that he has been inflicted. The Government of the United States has abstained from furnishing concrete evidence regarding the situation of the other family members. It does not furnish proof regarding the indignity suffered in the withdrawal of job offers, nor does they it information as well about the substantial international solidarity the family received. In Isabel Letelier's case, certain information that permits the fixing of a reasonable moral compensation and which is of public knowledge, is not given. This includes the international solidarity and the public acknowledgement on behalf of the Chilean people and Government to Isabel Letelier, including the support of the President of the Republic in declarations made before and after assuming his distinguished position. The United States has also abstained from giving information regarding Isabel Letelier's work situation, including a description of her duties. The Chilean Government also points out that it is relevant to consider that the democratic Chilean Government has unceasingly continued its search in resolving Orlando Letelier's murder and this is known and appreciated by all family members involved.

The Presentation of the United States Government does not fully justify the amounts requested by reason of Murray Karpen and Hilda Karpen's moral damages. In the first instance, they do not give information regarding the impact of the assumed loss of memory and other consequences affecting the work and social condition of Mr. Karpen. The evolution of Mrs. Karpen's ulcers cannot, with any certainty, be traced to a single act.

Regarding the moral damages claimed by Mr. Moffitt, the Chilean Government sustains that it is important to consider that Mr. Moffitt got married again and had children. The Chilean Government also sustains that it is important to consider, in determining the moral damages demanded for Mr. Moffitt's bodily injuries, that this damage fortunately did not cause a decrease in his capacity to earn a living, progress in society and reconstruct his family life.

III. Illegality of Punitive Damages.

(a) Juridical Background.

International courts have not been willing to order payment for vindictive or punitive damages. These damages imply the determination of indemnifications for vindictive or dissuasive purposes in the case of particularly repudiated illicit acts. The umpire, Mr. Parker, in the Lusitania Case indicated that "...The fundamental concept of 'damages' is satisfaction, reparation for the loss suffered; a judicially ascertained compensation for wrong.... The superimposing of a penalty in addition to full compensation and naming it damages, with the qualifying word exemplary, vindictive or punitive, is a hopeless confusion of terms..." (38) The Inter-American Court of Human Rights, gathering legal principles of international law in connection with indemnification, indicated that in its present state international law does not recognize what are known as "punitive damages". The Court indicated in its Judgement of July 21, 1989 (Compensatory Indemnification Velázquez Rodríguez Case) that:

> Counsel also request payment by the Government for punitive damages, as part of the indemnification, for dealing in the case of extremely grave Human Rights Violations.
> The expression "adequate compensation" utilized in Article 63.1 of the Convention, referring to a part of the redress and directed to the "injured party", is compensatory and non-penalizing. Even though some internal courts, particularly the Anglo-American courts, fix indemnifications whose values have vindictive and dissuasive purposes, this principle is not applicable in the current state of international law. (Emphasis added).
> For all of the preceding, the Court considers, therefore, that the adequate compensation, which the judgement on the merits of July 29, 1988, qualified as "compensatory" includes reparation to the victim's family members for the material and moral damages they suffered due to the forced disappearance of Manfredo Velásquez (pages 23-24)."

UNCLASSIFIED

The Court's opinion reflects the universal doctrine. (39)

(b) Punitive damages in the Presentation of the United States Government.

The Presentation of the Government of the United States, considered in its context, in fact seeks to achieve that punitive and vindictive damages are ordered against the Government of Chile.

Such a pretension violates international law and the arbitration agreement agreed to by both Governments. See, inter alia, in the Presentation of the United States: page 5, "The amount of the award must reflect the egregious circumstances accompanying this act of terrorism."; page 44, "The amount and circumstances in which awards for "mental suffering" or "moral damage" have been made, have varied widely based on the particular facts of the case and the egregiousness of the manner of injury."; page 45, "All the attendant circumstances are taken into account, including aggravating factors which serve to increase the compensation."; page 75, "The family members' psychological injury was compounded by the particular circumstances surrounding the assassination, circumstances which had almost as strong an adverse impact as the deaths themselves."; page 72, "This case appears to be extreme also in the extent of suffering the intentional and malicious nature of the act has caused." The Government of the United States seeks only here to distinguish this last phrase from a claim for punitive damages, indicating in its note number 69 that the classification that is made of the act is meant to evaluate the damage caused to the families and not meant to be a punishment.)

UNCLASSIFIED

The Presentation of the United States does not mention the concrete actions taken by the Chilean Government destined to establish respective criminal liabilities, nor those destined to give satisfaction to the victims (see Chapter I above).

IV. Damage and Causal Relation.

(a) Applicable Principles.

The concept of compensable damage is of a legal nature, inasmuch as an act and its effects have juridical consequences only if the law thus specifies. (40) Indeed, the notion of "compensable damage" is a concept of a technical-juridical nature that does not necessarily correspond to what is understood as such in common language. According to the standards of interpretation accepted under international law, words should be interpreted in accordance with their ordinary sense or meaning, unless they have been defined in a technical sense. (41)

To specify the concept of compensable damages under international law, firstly, the terms direct and indirect damages must be distinguished.

Direct damage, that which has a direct relationship with the damage caused (42), is of two kinds:

- Damage that is, in its totality, attributable to a sole generating act (simple causal relation) and
- Damage, although not exclusively caused by the individual responsible for the illicit act, since other causal factors intervene in addition to the illicit act, causes damage that is directly derived, without any doubt or external disturbance, from the generating illicit act, (simple causal relation in the second degree). (43)

The previous classification has fundamental importance for the present case, since it influences the amount of compensation to be paid, whether dealing with actual damage or loss of profits. It is generally accepted that actual damage is also indemnified, as in the case of simple causal relation in the first or second degree. The loss of profits, on the other hand, is indemnified only in the case of causal relation in the first degree. (44) Based on the aforementioned, income expectations that depend on nominations involving the intervention of other persons, are not reimbursable.

Indirect damages (unforeseeable, personal or non-compensatory) are those in which the causal relation with the illicit act is remote and doubtful. This type of damages are not compensable. (45)

In brief, compensation for damage is the result of its causal proximity originated by the illicit act. If the causal relation is remote, there is no right to indemnification. If the damage caused is the result of the illicit act, plus other intervening factors, (simple causal relation in the second degree), only the actual damage is compensated for and not the loss of profits. For that reason it is not compensable, nor can it be taken into account for fixing the proper amount of indemnification, what an individual could have earned if he had changed jobs and had the illicit act not intervened. Regarding simple causal relation in the first degree, the direct damage as well as the loss of profits is compensated.

(b) Damages and Causal Relation in the Presentation of the Government of the United States.

The Presentation of the United States Government includes indemnification for non-compensatory damages. This Presentation seeks to ignore the nature of the juridical technical concept of the notion of compensatory damage, by including expenses in the preparation of the Presentation and legal fees. To the aforementioned it is added as legal expenses; steps constituting lobbying activities in the United States (travel, meetings and conferences) directed at changing the legal standards of that country and particularly its Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act. The necessary condition of simple causal relation between the act and the damage is also violated, including, in the calculations, Mr. Letelier's probable income, resulting books and future conferences. In an even more notable manner, this occurs with the hypothesis that Orlando Letelier would work as a banker in the future. The Government of Chile suggests that the natural course of Mr. Letelier's working life, as a prominent Chilean public figure and politician, is equivalent to the highest degree of public service to his country.

Neither does the indemnification requested on Mr. Moffitt's behalf for the death of his wife, satisfy the notions of compensatory damage, since the claimants do not provide information regarding the real financial support that she would have contributed to Mr. Moffitt. As was previously noted, there is no presentation of concrete information regarding the dates of remarriage and births of Mr. Moffitt's children.

Nor does the Presentation by the United States provide concrete information that would permit a prudent evaluation of the moral damage on the basis of demonstrating connexions of current causal relation.

V. Burden of Proof and Criteria for Weighting the Evidence.

(a) Applicable Principles.

According to international law, the burden of proof rests upon the person claiming the illicit act and its consequences. (46) Regarding evidence, international law is inspired by the principles of law accepted by civilized nations, which may be applied at an international level. International tribunals have accepted that there are occasions when the required evidence, does not have to be the highest level required by municipal legal systems. Therefore, for example, the Inter-American Court of Human Rights has indicated that, for an international tribunal, the criteria for weighting the evidence is less formal than in the municipal legal systems. In order to establish a criteria for weighting the evidence, the international order admits different classifications according to the nature, character and seriousness of the lawsuit. (47) According to the Court: "The practice of international and national tribunals demonstrates that direct evidence, whether testimonial or documentary, is not the only legitimate consideration on which the sentence is based. Circumstantial evidence, indications and presumptions, can always be used when consistent conclusions regarding the acts can be deduced from them." (48)

UNCLASSIFIED

In the same ruling, the Inter-American Court added that to justify the admissibility of the indicial or circumstantial evidence, that: "Unlike internal criminal law, in trials regarding human rights violations, the State's defense cannot rest upon the claimant's impossibility to put forward evidence which, in many cases, is unobtainable without the State's cooperation. It is the State who has control over the means for revealing events occurring within its territory. The Inter-American Commission, even though it has the authority to carry out investigations, in reality, in order to carry them out within the jurisdiction of the State, depends upon the cooperation and the means provided by the government." (49)

A contrario sensu, if evidence of the damages inflicted is accessible to the government claiming it, inter alia (these having taken place within its territory) the application of a strict criteria of evidence should be expected, excluding simple presumptions and circumstances.

In applying the above mentioned principle, many charges have been rejected due to the lack of sufficient evidence. In the C. H. White versus Russia Case, Arbitrator Asser rejected the petitions formulated, indicating that "the interested parties' declarations could not, on their own, be accepted as sufficient evidence." (50) Arbitrator Thornton as well, "refused to decide in favor of the petitioners when their only evidence of complaint were their own declarations." (51)

In numerous occasions the arbitral commissions have concluded that a legal presumption exists against a petitioner who does not present evidence which he is able to present, since it is in his possession. (52)

(b) Evidence in the Presentation of the United States Government.

The Presentation of the United States includes insufficient evidence, even though it refers to acts and documents that the Government of that country should have in its possession. It is reasonable to suppose that the Government of the United States has in its possession the tax declarations of all those who claim material damages. Numerous psychiatric expenses are charged even though they are old and not presented in the internal proceedings (were these entered as a loss?). A large number of trips or negotiations are presented on the basis of declarations made by the involved parties. Almost all of them are neither related to nor justify the damage caused and refer to activities of lobbying groups or of others, that are not proven as compensable damages. In order to prove the existence of moral damage to Orlando Letelier's children, the Presentation is based exclusively upon sworn declarations of the affected parties and the report of a psychiatrist who examined one member of the family. The existence of a causal relation between the moral damages alleged for the parents of Ronni Moffitt is remote and no background information is given regarding the work and social condition of the parents. No information is given which permits a reasonable evaluation of the moral damage inflicted upon Michael Moffitt, including his second marriage and the constitution of his family. Nor is evidence provided concerning the relation of economic dependence between Orlando Letelier and Isabel Letelier and each of their children. In the same manner, proof of the relation of economic dependence between Michael and Ronni Moffitt is not presented. All the above is particularly relevant because it relates to a written proceeding, in which the experts were chosen by the Government of the United States or the family members.

VI. Special Matters.

(a) Expenses involved in the Presentation of Claims and Legal Fees.

i. Preparation of the Claims.

The preparation and presentation expenses of claims, in silence of an arbitration compromis are borne by the party which incurs them.

Under international law there is no obligation binding one party to pay for the preparation and presentation expenses of the petitions that are made by the other party, including legal fees for motions before the tribunal or the pertinent international commission. As Whiteman explains: "It may be stated that there appears to be no duty to compensate the respondent government for the expenses incurred in the settlement of the claim. Usually the expenses of arbitration are borne equally by the two governments. And frequently the claimant government's expenses are deducted from the total amount of the awards before payment of the individual claims is made." (53)

The Mixed Claims Commission between the United States and Germany never accepted to order payment for reasons of legal and other expenses needed for the preparation and presentation of the claims. (54)

The practice before the Claims Tribunal between Iran and the United States, cited frequently in the Presentation, confirms that express authorization is required for determining the above mentioned expenses. Indeed, Article III, 2nd paragraph of the Claims Settlement Declaration prescribes that the Tribunal members will be designated and the Tribunal will conduct its business in accordance with the rules of the United Nations Commission for International Trade Arbitration Law (UNCITRAL), except when these rules are modified by the parties or by the Tribunal to assure the performance of the Arbitration Agreement. (55)

The UNCITRAL rules, confirming the need for express provisions authorizing the Tribunal to rule on expenses, are particularly referred to in its Articles 38, 39 and 40, specifically to the proceeding expenses before the Tribunal and the way in which they will be settled by the parties.

Pursuant Article 38, modified by the Tribunal, the Claims Tribunal has jurisdiction to rule about arbitration costs. The term "costs" only includes: a) the cost of experts and other special assistance required by the Court of Arbitration in a particular case; b) trips and other expenses of witnesses, as long as these expenses are approved by the Claims Tribunal; c) costs of legal representation and assistance to the successful party, if these costs were claimed during the proceedings before the Claims Tribunal and only as long as the Claims Tribunal considers them to be reasonable. (56)

Article 39 of the UNCITRAL rules and regulations establishes criteria used by the Tribunal in deciding expenses, indicating that these should be reasonable, taking into account the amount of the dispute, the complexity of the issue, the time dedicated to the case by the arbiters and any other relevant circumstance. (Ibid.)

Article 40 of these same regulations establishes, in general, the principle that the arbitration costs will be paid by the defeated party in the proceedings, even though the Tribunal can decide upon this considering the circumstances of the case. (Ibid.) This UNCITRAL rule follows, in general, the commonly accepted legal principle, that the defeated party must pay the expenses of the trial. This principle is not applicable in situations that cannot be conceived in terms of a successful and a defeated party.

The proceedings before the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, are irrelevant in the current case for establishing the legal basis of the expenses paid in the preparation of the claims. In the case of the American Convention on Human Rights, the proceedings follow the norms of due process. The parties have ample opportunity to question, verbally or in writing, the evidence presented. The Court has the authority to name experts or skilled experts. The proceeding concludes with a successful and a defeated party. Moreover, the jurisprudence of the Court, in the sense of admitting expenses, is based on an express text, an international treaty, which should, therefore, be ratified so that its obligations are legally binding on the parties. Neither is the mere ratification of the American Convention enough for the Court to have adversary jurisdiction. An express declaration is also required accepting such authority on behalf of a State. (57) It is also important to indicate that in the proceedings before the Inter-American Commission of Human Rights, each party pays his own expenses.

ii. Preparatory expenses in the Presentation of the Government of the United States.

The Presentation of the United States includes preparatory expenses, in violation of the Compromis and the relevant rules of international law.

iii. Legal expenses prior to the proceeding, before arbitration and international courts.

These expenses can be distinguished from those previously described, since they refer to the feasibility of presenting as costs, the legal and other expenses incurred in the proceedings within the municipal legal order of one of the States that is a party in a dispute. When these expenses are claimed as preparatory costs of the presentation, the claims are unjustified for the reasons indicated above.

Insofar as they are not related to the preparation of the parties's claims they are not compensable, unless the parties have given their express consent in the respective arbitration compromis. In this sense, it is important to note that the Claims Tribunal between Iran and the United States, to which reference has been previously made, even though it is expressly endowed with the authority to decide on expenses made in the proceedings before the Tribunal itself, has not accepted to order payment resulting from legal expenses made in other proceedings than those that have taken place before the same Tribunal.

The Claims Tribunal between Iran and the United States, ruling in the Computer Siemens Corp. vs. The Islamic Republic of Iran Case [1986] rejected the American claim to demand compensation for the legal expenses incurred during the course of the litigation before their national courts, made prior to the establishment of the "The Hague" Tribunal. The court determined that "the costs incurred by the claimant in the lawsuit in the United States were not included in Article 38 of the Tribunal's regulations."

Confirming the aforementioned, the Claims Tribunal in the Iran vs. the United States Case, sentenced, in a series of cases (58) that "only expenses produced by the proceedings of this Tribunal are compensable. Only some of the costs requested by the claimant satisfy this requirement. Also, the costs claimed include a number of items which constitute damages rather than costs. Moreover, the charge for the latter will in no way be compensable, when violating the terms of the contract." In the case of the inter-American system the proceedings in force are the result of the existence of express norms and, as was stated previously, payment has not been demanded for legal expenses, incurred under the municipal legal order of the States by the Inter-American Commission of Human Rights. (See below.)

To this should be added that the concept of costs is a technical concept different from that of compensation for bodily injuries or compensation for the loss of life. This deals with different legal notions. Therefore, it is unjustified to claim legal expenses, not permitted in the compromis, by way of including them as damages. (59)

The Rainbow Warrior Case (60) confirmed the need for express consent for demanding payment of legal expenses prior to proceedings before international tribunals. Firstly, the United Nations Secretary General decided the case ex aequo et bono, and not on the basis of international law. Secondly, the matter was resolved by awarding a lump sum, to satisfy the parties claims.

iv. Legal fees prior to the arbitration proceedings included in the Presentation of the United States Government.

UNCLASSIFIED

The Presentation of the Government of the United States unjustifiably includes these expenses, since they can not be claimed as damages. In the same manner, the Presentation of the United States does not prove the causal relation between these expenses, the illicit act and the proceedings before the Commission. The Presentation includes numerous expenses of an undetermined nature and others resulting from typical lobbying activities to amend United States legislation. It should be taken into account that, in accordance with the United States legal order, it is impossible to order the payment of costs against a State in cases like the one initiated in that country against the State of Chile. For this reason, the verdict of the U.S. Court for the District of Columbia did not order such payment.

Therefore, those who initiated legal proceedings against the Chilean State in the United States, should have known that they could not recover legal expenses, even if they won the case.

(b) Payment of Interest.

i. The payment of interest under the applicable rules of international law.

Even though there are contradictory decisions regarding the payment of interest in the case of monetary indemnifications, such as García Amador, Sohn and Baxter explain, "the most common decisions are those which do not accept interest, whether explicitly or implicitly." (61) These same authors add that though this conclusion is of general value, the greatest uniformity exists in cases of illegal arrests or physical injuries to persons. (62) In cases relating to violent death, the general rule has also been to not pay interest. (63) To the above mentioned rule, it should be added that with reference to ex gratia payments, precedents exist where no interest is paid. In the Pinzón Case, the President of the Franco-Mexican Commission pointed out that when Mexico's responsibility was based on an ex gratia pledge, payment of interest should not be ordered. The General Claims Commission between the United States and Mexico paid interest only in the case of breach of contract. Even though there are certain exceptional decisions in which interest has been awarded, as in the Wimbledon Case, it has been calculated as of the date of the court decision, and not from the date when the damages occurred, thus the rejection of interest has been the general norm. (64)

This reasoning was confirmed in the Lusitania Cases, in which it was decided, that: "There is no basis for giving an indemnification in interest when the damage is not settled nor is the amount possible to determine by mere computation.... Belonging to this class are claims for damages based on bodily injuries, death...." (65)

The jurisprudence of the Claims Tribunal between Iran and the United States, though it only decided upon disputes not having to do with bodily injuries or death, confirms the interpretation that the most acceptable doctrine is that no interest is paid in non-commercial matters. (66)

Bouchard confirms this conclusion in cases of diplomatic claims made by States relating to bodily injuries or death. (67)

ii. The payment of interest in the Presentation of the United States Government.

The Presentation of the United States Government includes claims for interest in the case of damages for lóss of life and bodily injuries, whereas, in the absence of an express agreement, this is not accepted under international law. Moreover, the Government of Chile suggests that the nature of the compromis and the combination of applicable circumstances in the case of an ex gratia payment do not permit the payment of interest.

(c) Diplomatic Protection offered by the Government of the United States to the Family of Orlando Letelier.

Traditional rules of international law do not permit the exercise of diplomatic protection without the existence of a constant nationality bond between an individual and the State that protects him. (68)

It is an established rule in international law that, "a State may not file a complaint in the name of a person who does not have its nationality. (69)

The opinion of the most competent publicists categorically supports this principle: "As concerns the presentation and execution of international claims, no other rule is more strictly observed."(70)

In cases of dual citizenship, as is already reinforced by international law, a State can fail to provide diplomatic protection given by a foreign State to their native citizens, even when such citizens have dual nationality. Indeed, Article 4 of the Hague Convention of 1930 states: "a State cannot offer diplomatic protection to one of his native citizens against a State whose nationality that person also has." Said principle is also supported by the opinion of the major publicists (71) as well as by international decisions. (72)

It is only possible to exercise diplomatic protection by the State with which this individual whose rights have been violated, has an effective nationality bond. (73)

These principles cannot be ignored in the solution of an affair before the Commission. Its relevance is particularly noted because one of the victims was a Chilean public figure, who saw and foresaw his destiny bound to that of his native land. The natural course of a personality like Orlando Letelier was, had he not been assassinated, to return to the service of his country.

In the current situation submitted to the Commission, it is essential to consider, as well, that Isabel Morel and all of her children are Chileans. It is of public knowledge that Isabel Morel is now living in Chile and that one of her sons is a member of National Congress. The Chilean State is currently discussing indemnifications for suffering that occurred in the past, in the spirit of achieving national reconciliation. The payment of compensation to Chilean citizens, totally disproportionate with the amounts that will be granted to other Chileans, is an element of unreasonable discrimination. This is of particular interest considering the personal history of Orlando Letelier and his patriotic conceptions which made him see his country as the center of his work.

In conclusion, the Commission must consider the particular circumstances of the Chilean acceptance of diplomatic protection offered by the United States to the Family of Orlando Letelier. Under other circumstances this protection would be unacceptable, by virtue of the close relationship between the affected party and the petitioners, also considering, the initiation of legislation in Chile for compensation to the family members of victims of political violence.

VII. Circumstances to be taken into account in order to determine the compensation to be paid.

The aforementioned factors, to be considered in determining the extension of the compensation do not exclude others that may be taken into account to evaluate in a prudent manner the damages and which are part of the context in which the affected parties are involved. (71) The identification of an act as malicious for the purpose of creating an aggravation, is not, however, pertinent, since it implies evaluating motives and, further, punitive damages are not allowed. On the other hand, the Government of Chile considers that the agreement requires taking into account the valid circumstances which are enumerated as follows, given that reference is made to the amount of the ex gratia compensation to be paid (See Chapter I).

(a) The attitude of the Chilean Government of giving satisfaction to the families that have suffered, by way of actions and declarations at the highest level of the Chilean State (See Chapter I). To the forementioned is added the revival of criminal actions, as a consequence of the steps taken by the Government of President Aylwin, directed at establishing the respective criminal responsibilities. These measures cannot be ignored, according to international law, for the purpose of deciding whether means of satisfaction have been presented which should be taken into account. (See García Amador, Sohn and Baxter op. cit. 108)

(b) The Government's willingness to make an ex gratia payment. The States, including the United States, have accepted the legal basis of these payments, which are those made, as explained by the Legal Adviser of the Department of State of the United States, "...without acknowledging, and irrespective of legal liability." (75) Referring to a situation where the United States did not accept legal responsibility, said Legal Adviser indicated that the United States "...is not paying 'reparations', a word which implies wrongdoing...Instead, the President has decided to make an ex gratia payment as a humanitarian gesture to the families...." (76) Examples of utilization of ex gratia payments by the United States include payment to Switzerland, after the Second World War, as compensation for the bombarding of Schaffhausen, the payment to Japan for injuries and damages caused to a Japanese fishing-boat and its crew, as a consequence of radiation caused by nuclear testing in the Pacific, the payment of 1.6 million dollars to individuals who suffered personal or material damage during the invasion of Grenada. (77)

In regard to the downing of Flight 655 of Iran Air on July 3, 1988 by U.S.S. Vincennes, the United States offered to make an ex gratia payment in benefit of the victims. In the case of the nationals of India, Italy, Pakistan, Yugoslavia and the United Arab Emirates, who died in the flight, the United States offered to pay $ 250,000 dollars for victims that were full-time workers and $ 100,000 dollars for the others. (78) An official of the Department of State indicated that the United States was offering less than the amount requested by the victims in the Stark Case because there was no similarity between both incidents. (79) Involving Iranian victims on the flight, no agreement has been reached. Iran has not collaborated with the United States in its efforts to obtain information about victims of their nationality, and has brought a case against the United States before the International Court of Justice at The Hague requesting, inter alia, that the Court declare that the United States is responsible to pay compensation "...in the measure of the damages suffered by Iran Air and the affected families..." (80)

The importance of ex gratia payments is based upon the fact that they can assist the victims in circumstances where it is impossible to investigate the facts or the acknowledgement of the existence of a violation of an international obligation is unacceptable. (81)

In the above mentioned frame of reference, the level of compensation to be paid is, in accordance with that expressed by Legal Adviser of the Department of State of the

DECLASSIFIED

United States in 1988, a matter "... essentially within the discretion of the State offering such payments." (82)

Even though a State may accept, in the terms of a compromis, to submit to a Commission the fixing of compensation, it is relevant to consider the ex gratia nature of a payment. Given that the compromis refers to international law and authorizes the taking into account of all the relevant circumstances, the inexistence of international responsibility is a part of the combination of factors to be considered. The practice of ex gratia compensations, which is often reflected in the granting of lump sums, is in accordance with this interpretation. In standardizing these norms, professor Harold G. Maeier stated that "an attempt to calculate the value of each individual life would be not only administratively unfeasible, but politically intolerable. The normal method of computing damages for the wrongful death in the United States and in many other countries, is to determine the monetary value of the life of each person to his or her survivors. This 'value' is determined on the basis of the deceased's, earning capacity, and the standard of living where he or she lives...The political difficulties created by attempting to compute compensations on an individual basis would be even greater than the mechanical ones. The standard of living, life expectancy and earning capacity vary greatly with the nationality and domicile of each of these victims. Determining the amount of each award in the traditional way would necessarily result in an implicit finding that some nationalities were 'worth more' than others." (83)

CHAPTER III.

ANALYSIS OF THE PRESENTATION OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

I. Introduction.

As has been pointed out in Chapter I of this presentation, if the Commission were a Court of Justice deciding a lawsuit between parties, whether between States, or between individuals and a State, consideration should be given to the damage suffered by the victims, which must be compensated for by the responsible party. In such a hypothetical lawsuit, the parties would have all the guarantees of due process.

In the matter which constitutes the Commission's purpose, in accordance with the Agreement subscribed with the Government of the United States of America, the State of Chile does not admit negligence or malice, for which reason it is not admissible to demand compensation in the manner set forth in the Presentation filed with the Commission.

In fact, the Presentation of the Government of the United States of America is filed on the basis of an indemnification claim for damages, which is not the Commission's purpose, in such a way that the facts and basis of Chapter IV of said Presentation are absolutely erroneous, and all theoretical and practical structures of said Chapter do not agree with the purpose nor the meaning of the Agreement subscribed to by both Governments.

It is a principle of law that in order to establish the amount of a compensation, one must not take the responsible party into consideration, but rather the victim, inasmuch as it is not a question of guilt, but rather of damage and those suffered by the victim.

UNCLASSIFIED

The Commission, having been converted into to a Court of Justice by the Government of the United States of America, is being dragged into penalizing the State of Chile by transforming the indemnification for damages into a punishment. Furthermore, it should be added, that by nature, the procedure agreed upon in the Agreement does not admit such a focus, since "inter alia" implies a written procedure, the experts are chosen and paid by the parties and the witnesses cannot be cross-examined. By virtue of the beforementioned, the Presentation, together with its petitions, should have satisfied the highest assessment requisites of the submitted evidence.

In order to determine the compensation claimed by the Government of the United States of America for each of its protected claimants, the Commission should ascertain the damage actually suffered by each one of them, and not the abstract damage that any person might have experienced. The evaluation of the damage must be specifically made; the damage is appraised through the victim, since it is he who has right to the complete compensation for the damage suffered. In any case, the Commission must consider the significant circumstances mentioned in paragraph VI, Chapter II, of these Observations. The Presentation does not satisfy the requisites of: (a) considering the current and effective damage suffered by the victims; (b) the weight of the evidence and assessment criteria of the same; (c) considering the set of valuable circumstances in order to demand a just compensation.

The Presentation is analyzed in detail as follows:

II. Damages and the amount of compensation claimed in favor of Mr. Michael Moffitt.

A. "Damnum Emergens" and "Lucrum Cessans".

The Presentation filed by the Government of the United States of America, in Mr. Moffitt's case, states that the actual damages ("Damnum Emergens") and loss of profits ("Lucrum Cessans") consists of:

i. Medical, travel and other expenses, which were incurred by the families in relation to the pursuit of justice. (It is specified that Michael Moffitt paid medical, travel, and various direct expenses for a total of US$ 18,207.48.)

ii. Direct expenses disbursed by several lawyers (specifying that the Letelier, Karpen, and Moffitt families would together be creditors to US$ 48,367.70).

iii. The loss of profits ("Lucrum Cessans") amounts to US$ 2,065,345.00.

In this paragraph the titles indicated by the letters (a) and (c) will be analyzed, inasmuch as the "direct expenses disbursed by various lawyers" (b), will be analyzed in Chapter V.

B. Actual damages ("Damnum Emergens") corresponding to medical, travel, and various direct expenses.

The Presentation states that the expenses incurred by Mr. Moffitt are contained in a list that is attached as Annex Nº 18.

The State of Chile is demanded to pay the Government of the United States of America the sum of US$ 18,207.48 on account of:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| (a) | Expenses related to travel | US$ 4,614.03 |
| (b) | Psychiatric sessions | US$ 13,575.00 |
| (c) | Copies and Typing | US$ 18.45 |

UNCLASSIFIED

T o t a l US$ 18,207.48

(a) Travel expenses and others related thereto.

(a.1.) Without any basis whatsoever in the Presentation, US$ 4,614.03 is calculated for travel expenses.

The Government of Chile rejects said claim because there is no basis for demanding the payment of such expenses, there is no evidence whatsoever supporting that they pertain to a direct detriment to Mr. Moffitt, and the expenses incurred have no direct relation to the loss suffered by the victim.

The Presentation of the Government of the United States of America is mistaken in pretending to obtain said amount, US$ 4,614.03, for Mr. Moffitt, for the reasons indicated in Exhibit Nº 18, since the travels, actions, meetings (lobbying), and telephone calls referred to in the minutes, form no part of the damages which occurred to Mr. Moffitt, but are rather due to his activity in obtaining from a State, which enjoys immunity from jurisdiction, compensation for the death of his spouse and for his own personal suffering.

It can be seen that the travels, meetings, and telephone calls with no documentary support whatsoever, except for Mr. Moffitt's own statement listed in Exhibit Nº18, attached to the presentation, would denote relation to the legal proceedings which he attempted to carry out in order to obtain his legitimate indemnification against the perpetrators of the crime committed to his spouse.

These would form part of the legal expenses.

(a.2.) The purpose of condemning the defendant to pay for the plaintiff's legal expenses is to compensate the latter for the damage caused by the proceedings, whenever the defendant has been unwilling to voluntarily fulfill the plaintiff's claim or petition.

UNCLASSIFIED

In the matter submitted for the Commission's consideration, there is no law suit, nor has the State of Chile been part of any law suit, whereby it is not admissible, nor should payment be imposed for the proportional legal expenses destined to reimburse the expenses incurred by Mr. Moffitt with regard to the different petitions filed with state agencies of the United States of America, in order to obtain the compensation he is claiming.

On the other hand, the amount of the expenses he claims, have neither been necessary nor beneficial, for the Government of Chile to have consented to subscribe to the Agreement which gave rise to the Commission. Moreover, within the procedures established in the Agreement, the State of Chile cannot be accused of resisting use of legal avenues in resolving the problem that grieves Mr. Moffitt. The State of Chile has done nothing except represent to the Government of the United States, as has been stated in Chapter I, that it cannot be taken before any foreign court without its prior consent. Nor does this imply an abuse of international law, since immunity from jurisdiction emanates from, among other rules, the Code of Private International Law (Bustamante Code), subscribed to by the Government of Chile in the Sixth International American Conference, in which the Government of the United States of America was represented by 9 persons and declared that, notwithstanding its inability to approve the Bustamante Code at that time (February 20, 1928), it maintained the firm idea of not withdrawing itself from Latin America, reserving its vote with the hope of being able to adhere to part of, or to a considerable portion, of its stipulations.

As such, the Government of the United States knows, or should know, that in said convention, the valid legal standard within Inter-American International Law stipulated that a State, through its judges and courts, has no jurisdiction to decide a civil suit for indemnification of damages (Art. 333) against another State.

In this way, the travel and other related expenses are claimed as direct damages, since they cannot be claimed as legal expenses, because they do not meet the two basic requirements to be considered as such, namely: (a) to be indispensable or useful; and (b) evidence proving the responsibility of the defendant in forcing the plaintiff to overcome his resistance to abide by the law.

It is insisted, that the submission of the existing dispute between the Governments of the United States of America and of Chile, to the decision of the commission is not due to a culpable or malicious resistance by the latter Government. Said culpable resistance would occur if the Government of Chile refuses to pay the sum that the Commission might determine as compensation.

(a.3.) Carrying out a detailed analysis of expenses, the reason for making these trips is unknown; that is, from what location to Washington D.C., what were the means of transport (planes, buses, trains), etc.

-- Nor is it stated the reasons or purpose for making such trips. Such is the case of the trip that apparently was made from Washington D.C. to New York in December of 1981, which indicates: "Meeting about: Central Bank of Chile."

It is obvious and clear that the Central Bank of Chile has nothing, nor had anything to do with the payment of an indemnification for damages to the families represented by the Government of the United States of America.

It is not stated with which Bank representatives the meeting was held, not to mention the matters discussed, in order to learn something about the trip's benefits.

-- The same thing occurs with 12 trips intended for "Lobbying". The State of Chile is required to pay US$ 1,068.00 for lobbying matters, but without knowing their benefits so that the current democratically elected Government of Chile, would subscribe to the agreement that brought the Commission into existence and which must determine the amount of ex-gratia compensation.

There is no doubt that the benefit obtained from those trips is irrelevant, since the Agreement between both Governments was negotiated in 1990, scarcely 4 months after the establishment of the present Government, presided by Mr. Patricio Aylwin A.. This implies that all lobbying subsequent to June 1990 has no relevance whatsoever, since the agreement had already been adopted between the Governments and it only depended on them to put it into practice, without requiring any lobbying on the part of Mr. Moffitt. The uselessness of the lobbying prior to 1990 is clear and explicit in the diplomatic notes exchanged between both Governments and which are attached as Exhibit N°2, already analyzed in Chapter I.

-- Also, payment is demanded for a trip made in relation to a press conference. It is not stated where he is travelling from, what the press conference is about, what benefit said conference has for the Commission's determination of an ex-gratia compensation, nor is it given at least some illustrative information regarding this point.

-- The State of Chile is demanded to pay expenses that Mr. Moffitt may have incurred in a number of meetings with the Department of State. There are 7 meetings in all. The Government of Chile rejects this demand for payment, since such expenses have nothing to do with the Presentation filed in accordance with the terms of the Agreement by the Government of the United States of America. Moreover, the usefulness of such meetings is not proven, and if such usefulness exists, it would also have been useful to the Government mentioned.

For this reason, from every point of view, the meetings in the Department of State, carried out by Mr. Moffitt with officials who have not been identified, cannot be nor should be considered by the Commission.

-- It is demanded the payment of the cost incurred in making three trips for attending meetings in which different American politicians and congressmen hypothetically may have made reference to the matter that should be resolved by the Commission. The cost of said meetings amounts to US$ 672.24. The Government of Chile rejects such claim, since they show no relation to any valid proceedings associated with the compensation that the State of Chile has undertaken to pay the United States of America. The Commission must only confine itself to completely reject such claim, since it is not within the scope of its jurisdiction, inasmuch as these expenses cannot be qualified as a direct damage caused to Mr. Moffitt and thereby be considered in the compensation.

-- The Government of Chile rejects the claim of US$ 1,362 for trips to Washington D.C. for "meeting with lawyers". In fact, such expenses cannot be considered a damage caused to Mr. Moffitt by the Government of Chile, since such trips, assuming their certainty and occurrence, depended only upon Mr. Moffitt's will, who was able to make them at his sole discretion, without their having any relation whatsoever with the decision that the Commission must adopt.

In the opinion of the Government of Chile, it is absolutely inappropriate that the United States Government claim as direct damage, resulting from the assassination of Mrs. Ronni Moffitt or of injuries suffered by Mr. Michael Moffitt himself, expenses which lack association to said direct damage suffered by those for whom the claim is made. Such is the case of, among others, those incurred in the meetings held with unidentified lawyers, and even when they might have some connection, have no relation to the compensation that the Commission must determine.

It is important to point out that in diplomatic note N°082, attached as Annex II, the Government of the United States of America stated that it would not claim any of its own expenses. The expenses now claimed contradict said undertaking which was taken into consideration in order to subscribe to the Agreement.

The meetings with lawyers, or the meetings which Mr. Moffitt held in the Department of State, would imply a charge for the negotiations taken place for undetermined purposes, completely unrelated to the demanded compensation for damages.

For the same reasons pointed out previously, the Government of Chile rejects the meetings with the representatives of "Human Rights Watch", the preparation of a Memorial, and the telephone calls, whose recipients are unknown.

-- The Government of Chile cannot be condemned to pay the cost of work carried out by the lawyers of the Department of State in order to justify the claim of the compensatory damages contained in the Presentation, since said cost does not constitute damage to Mr. Moffitt, but rather an expense he voluntarily assumed and which his Government has not wished to bear, charging the Government of Chile US$ 500,000 for reason of mental anguish and psychological trauma. In addition, the Agreement does not state that the Government of Chile must pay the expenses of the Presentation filed by the Government of the United States of America. (See Chapter V).

(c) Photocopies and Typing.

The Government of Chile is required to pay US$ 18.45 for photocopies and typing.

Nowhere in the Presentation does it state the basis for said damage, which supposedly the State of Chile has caused Mr. Moffitt. Nor has any bill been presented indicating what has been photocopied and typed, nor who did it, nor the length or duration of the work.

Said demand for payment is merely a desire to compensate for damage occurring to Mr. Moffitt, and is unrelated to either Government's objectives.

The Commission should reject the above mentioned claim, for lack of basis and for inappropriateness.

C. ("Lucrum Cessans") Loss of Profits.

As has been indicated, the Presentation states that Mr. Moffitt's losses total US$ 2,065,345.00 according to the calculations which have been worked out for that purpose.

Said calculations are based upon reports prepared by a consulting firm, on the basis of an hypothesis or probability.

Such calculations are exaggerated even for a compensatory damage law suit, where it is possible to contradict the presented evidence, with all guarantees to the parties which, in theory, is known as due process, which allows for the possibility of challenging and analyzing the evidence.

The Presentation of the Government of the United States of America states the following as future truthful facts:

- That Mrs. Moffitt would have remained in her profession as a fund-raiser for non-profit organizations.
- That Mrs. Moffitt would have had two children.
- That Mrs. Moffitt performed non-commercial, or domestic services of great worth (refinishing of old furniture, house painting, and gardening).
- That during her pregnancies, Mrs. Moffitt would have performed even greater non-commercial jobs of value.
- That Mrs. Moffitt would have received supplementary benefits as a fund-raiser.

It is evident that the hypothetical presumptions of Mrs. Moffitt's life can be questioned at length. Some of these doubts are indicated below:

(1) Mrs. Moffitt, according to what her spouse explained under testimony on Friday, June 20, 1980 -- as per the document which is attached as Exhibit Nº 16 -- indicated that after her graduation she worked in an elementary school in Montgomery County. She taught there, as she had been trained, for 1 year.

Mr. Moffitt points out that she quit her job voluntarily. There is no evidence of this in the Presentation.

Afterwards, without indicating a date, she becomes employed as a secretary in an insurance company. Mr. Moffitt stated that in 1972-1973, his wife worked as an elementary school teacher and in Washington D.C., she devoted herself to directing and promoting a music center, sponsored by the National Foundation for the Humanities, which held evening classes. Also Mrs. Moffitt collaborated in the music education of children. The music center was closed down due to its inability to pay its bills.

Subsequently, she developed activities in a public mall in Washington related to the exhibition of handicrafts, at which time she becomes associated with the I.P.S., working as a secretary.

As can be seen from the curriculum described by Mr. Moffitt, his spouse, in some three years of activity, was engaged in five different jobs, some different from others and some without pay. All this is ignored by the experts paid by the State Department, who presume that Mrs. Moffitt would have a high degree of stability in her hypothetical jobs.

It is obvious that even in a contested proceeding for compensation of damages, the hypothesis of NERA found in Exhibit Nº 16 could be extensively challenged. What has been expounded upon only serves as an example that the Commission cannot consider such hypotheses as definitive, nor as the basis of evidence. It is insisted that precisely for not being a typical lawsuit for compensatory damages, the Presentation should have satisfied the highest criteria of evidence assessment.

(2) Mr. Moffitt states that they would have had two children had their marriage continued. That constitutes a hypothesis based upon the statement of the affected person and which moreover serves as foundation for increasing Mrs. Moffitt's hypothetical salary. To that is added the declaration of Mr. Conway, stating that Mrs. Moffitt would have obtained other additional resources from other sources not mentioned.

With the hypothetical raising of two children, moreover presupposing that she would perform additional fund-raising jobs, nothing is known about Mrs. Moffitt's fertility and her work stability as a fund-raiser.

The hypothesis of NERA lacks human reason, and even in a contested proceeding it would not be admissible.

(3) Mr. Moffitt also stated that Mrs. Moffitt performed household chores of important economic worth.

How is that proved?

No evidence is submitted before the Commission, and yet the consultants of the Department of State appraise such services at a sizable sum, which they project indefinitely during all the hypothetical life of Mrs. Moffitt.

The report does not take into account current statistics concerning the length of marriages in the United States of America.

Why is it envisioned that the Moffitts would always live in houses with a garden, whose extension is unknown, and that they would always paint the house?

Why should Mrs. Moffitt assume responsibility for such tasks and not Mr. Moffitt?

All these and many other questions should be asked and answers should be given before the Commission. The procedure agreed upon by both Governments is not a suit but rather an institutional process of an international nature to determine a compensation and not an indemnification, the State of Chile being presumed responsible, in order to normalize the relations between both States. The Presentation does not take into account the nature of the procedures agreed upon and its evidence does not satisfy the highest criteria of assessment as required, attempting to produce improbable hypotheses.

(4) NERA forms the hypothesis that Mrs. Moffitt would have increased the worth of her valuable household services during the periods of pregnancy and the raising of her hypothetical children.

It is highly feasible that Mrs. Moffitt would not have been able to perform such services during the periods of pregnancy and child-raising, whose prolongation could be established.

This is a matter that NERA does not study.

(5) NERA's study emanates from the hypothesis that Mrs. Moffitt would work overtime, as well as supplementary or shared hours with the IPS in raising funds for other organizations.

NERA forgets that Mr. Moffitt indicated in his judicial statement, that his wife "had expressed a desire about going back to graduate school and perhaps getting back into the educational area, because she believed that it could have been done a lot better than she observed it being done." (Exhibit Nº16, Element of Evidence Nº1)

It is probable that the NERA's staff had no reason to consider such declarations, but since the statements of Mr. Moffitt are considered for increasing the valuation, it is certain that they also ought to consider those that can decrease said calculations.

The above confirms the total and complete absence of the necessary certainty that must exist in the determination of lost profits ("Lucrum Cessans"), a certainty non-existent in the explanation made by NERA.

The only existing certainty is that which is deduced from the certificate issued by Mrs. Diana de Vegh, dated July 20th, 1990, that Mrs. Moffitt's salary was US$ 15,000 a year. However, said certificate does not fulfill the requirements for evidence, which must be required and proven in the solution of an international conflict, which must be sufficient to withstand the highest assessment criteria.

In fact, for it to be sufficient, the documents related to the labor association between the IPS and Mrs. Moffitt, receipts of salary payments, tax declarations on the wages received by Mrs. Moffitt, among others, must be attached.

Until the above mentioned elements of evidence are furnished, the Government of Chile formally objects to the document provided by Mrs. Diana de Vegh, attached as "Element of Evidence 2" in Exhibit Nº 16, as it is a mere salary estimate.

In conclusion, the Government of Chile entirely questions the calculations totalling US$ 2,065,345.00, regarding the loss of profits ("Lucrum Cessans") that Mr. Michael Moffitt might have experienced, and which is requested as compensatory payment based upon an hypothesis lacking certainty and constituting an indemnification alien to the Commission's objectives and attributions.

D. Moral Damages.

The Presentation requests that the Commission determine that the State of Chile pay the sum of US$ 500,000 to the Government of the United States of America, in order that it, in turn, transfer said amount to Mr. Michael Moffitt for moral damage suffered as a consequence of the death of his former spouse.

In Mr. Moffitt's case, it is claimed that the injury in his feelings of affection towards Mrs. Moffitt, are the basis of the moral damage. Such damage must be certain and such certainty has only existed during the period of time which has elapsed since September 21, 1976, until the time that he became sentimentally attracted to his current spouse, inasmuch as his affection is replaced to such a degree that he marries her.

The Presentation makes no mention of these facts, in such a way that the moral damage caused by the death of Mrs. Moffitt, is limited to an event in time.

This situation is quite complex, since the victim's parents are added to the Moffitt family, so that the whole family, parents and son-in-law (former spouse), claim for joint compensation for the same moral damage; the loss of a family member, which is valued at US$ 1,000,000. (It is presumed that the moral damage to Mr. Murray Karpen is equal to that of his spouse, the latter being appraised at US$ 250,000).

Mr. Michael Moffitt's moral affliction has disappeared, turning now towards his actual spouse and in their offspring.

Today, seeking to compensate Mr. Moffitt's moral damage for the loss of his former wife, without considering his affection for his present wife and children is not legally admissible. The Commission ought to consider that Mr. Moffitt has completely reconstituted his emotional life, forming a family.

Today, Mr. Moffitt does not show any moral damage for the death of his former spouse, without detriment to the fact that he had at one time. Before the Commission, Mr. Moffitt presents an historical damage for the purpose of being compensated.
